HUGHES OFFERS OBJECTIONS TO IMMIGRANT LAW

Forwards Protest from Rumania as to Quota Restrictions; Urges Measure Be Made Fair to All

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Secretary Hughes today outlined to congress further objections of the state department to details of pending immigration legislation and forwarded to the house immigration committee a protest from the Rumanian legation which Chairman Johnson described as "impudent."

Writing to Senator Colt, republican of Rhode Island, chairman of the senate immigration committee, and to Mr. Johnson, Secretary Hughes urged that proposed legislation should avoid any "discrimination of which just complaint can be made." He called attention that the plan of the Johnson bill to substitute the 1890 census figures as a basis for future quota restrictions had already "evoked representations from Italy and Rumania," but did not amplify views he previously had expressed regarding the Japanese feature of the measure.

Stresses Fairness

"I desire," said Mr. Hughes' letter to Senator Colt, "to make no suggestions to the basis of the quotas further than to state that it is hoped that a basis will be found that will not involve any discrimination of which just complaint can be made."

In his letter to Representative Johnson, Secretary Hughes said the Johnson bill as now framed, while designed to carry out recommendations of President Harding for avoiding disappointments of immigrants, would not in fact meet the Harding suggestions. Under certain conditions American consuls could not deny immigration certificates, he continued, although they had knowledge that the immigrants would have to be excluded upon arrival in America. He expressed suggestions for continuing passport visas and immigration certificates to simplify consular work.

"It seems to me," said Mr. Hughes, "that it would be very unfortunate to pass a law generally understood to accomplish something which, as a matter of fact, it does not accomplish. If it is the sense of congress that there should be a thorough examination of prospective immigrants in the (American) consulates to ascertain, as far as possible whether they are subject to exclusion under the immigration law and that the consuls should have authority to refuse immigration certificates to those who appear to be subject to exclusion, a bill of course, he glad to meet with the committee for the purpose of formulating the necessary amendments to the bill."

EDITOR RESIGNS

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP)—Rollin G. Eberhart, editor of the American Press, tonight submitted his resignation as editor to the board of directors of the Anti-Saloon league of New York, declaring that he could not "consistently with my conscience" certify that all was now well with the league following the appointment as successor to William H. Anderson, former state superintendent, of Arthur J. Davis, former head of the Massachusetts league.

Cox Is Thinking of Entering Race For Presidency Again

Democratic Candidate in 1920 Consents to Use of His Name in Party's National Convention

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 20 (AP)—James M. Cox, democratic presidential candidate in 1920 and former governor of Ohio, contemplates entering the race for the presidency again this year, it developed here today.

Twelve blank declarations, bearing the signature of Mr. Cox, giving his consent to Cleveland delegates to the democratic national convention to use his name, were received here today by Thomas B. Brandon, treasurer of the democratic Cuyahoga county executive committee.

The blanks were accompanied by a letter written on the stationery of the democratic executive committee, Columbus, and was signed by Mark E. McCurry, Mr. Durlin's secretary.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—Former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, tonight told a representative of the Miami Herald that he had authorized the use of his name as a candidate for president on a declaration of candidacy received at headquarters of the Cuyahoga county democratic party.

Mr. Cox said that a few days ago he received a letter from former Governor James E. Campbell saying that the democrats of Ohio were united in their desire to present his (Cox) name to the convention as their choice for president.

Wants Pictures of Tree-Climbing Fish; Will Wager $25,000

Former Mayor of Chicago Undertakes New Venture in South Sea Islands

CHICAGO, Feb. 20 (AP)—That there are fish that climb trees in the South Sea Islands is so firmly believed by William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, that he has embarked as a motion picture impresario, it was learned today with the incorporation of his South Sea research company at Springfield.

The former mayor has offered to wager $25,000 that he can obtain films of the climbing fish and if he is successful he is confident the company will be a financial success. In connection with the incorporation of the company the former mayor has arranged to send an expedition to the South Sea islands to have the films made.

FEAR FRANC MAY GO STILL LOWER

Paris Editor Sees Gloomy Future if Exchange Rate Decline Is Not Halted

PARIS, Feb. 20 (AP)—"Can the franc fall like the mark?" is the query in large type heading the first article in La Liberté today, being the first time that such a possibility had been placed bluntly before the public by a newspaper outside of the consular organs.

The article hastens to say that such a question is a scandalous and impious utterance, but is one which everybody is asking himself. The franc, it says, now is where the German mark was in October, 1919, when the pound sterling was worth about 109 marks. In less than a year the pound was worth 200 marks, 10 months after that 300 marks, and then in three months later it went to 1,000 because of unlimited inflation.

La Liberté declares if the slightest inflation is admitted the franc is doomed to follow the mark, adding that it is not enough to increase the country's receipts, as there is a limit to such an increase, but the outlay must be reduced and Mussolini's example of stopping waste and parliamentary demagoguery must be followed.

Sinclair, Arriving Home, Is Willing to Talk About Everything But Oil Lease

CARTER PERMIT CANCELLED BY OFFICIAL ORDER

Dispute Over Conduct of Work at Tomb of King Tut Ends Abruptly; Refuse to Submit an Apology

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 20 (AP)—The dispute between the Egyptian government and Howard Carter over the conduct of the work on Tutankhamen's tomb was suddenly terminated today by a ministerial order cancelling the license of Countess Cameron, under which Mr. Carter was operating. It is believed here that this action ends Mr. Carter's connection with the most wonderful of all Egyptian archaeological discoveries unless, as has been intimated, there is recourse to legal procedure.

The ministerial order after tracing recent events which already have been related in detail, describes Mr. Carter's action in closing the tomb and abandoning the work as a grave infraction of the obligation assumed by him. Moreover, it contends that, as Mr. Carter himself has avowed, it exposes the treasure to irreparable damage and thus gives the government the right to cancel the license.

This measure was further indicated by the order by Mr. Carter's constant disregard of the authority and rights of the Egyptian antiquities service and by his published letter of February 3 in which he openly denied the rights of the state over the antiquities discovered.

The minister of public works said today that Mr. Carter's alleged apology from the Egyptian government and also making other stipulations, made a compromise impossible and in the presence of such an attitude the ministry had no alternative but to take the course decided on today. He also admitted that Mr. Carter had been legal proceedings the first hearing of which will be February 23, claiming that 50 per cent of the treasures discovered which the minister declared is totally contrary to the agreement.

IDAHO WEATHER

Thursday: Fair.

Discusses the Weather, Horse Racing, Gas Prices in Europe and Politics, But Wants Time for Other Opinions

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP)—Harry F. Sinclair arrived on the liner President Harding today, smilingly willing to discuss the weather, international politics and horse races, the gasoline business in Europe, the kingdom of Albania—everything but oil and the Teapot Dome.

As his ship, already delayed by blizzard and heavy seas, reached quarantine and lay there for several hours waiting for the quarantine to lift and the fog to clear, he met reporters and photographers who swarmed aboard with handshakes all around and a prepared statement.

He, with Mrs. Sinclair, M. V. Baldwin, his confidential secretary, and Colonel J. R. Simpson, vice-president of Sinclair Consolidated, were dining when the newspaper men sent him word they'd like to hear what he had to say about the Teapot Dome affair.

Declines to Talk

"On account of my absence from home for several weeks," Mr. Sinclair said, "I'm not entirely familiar with what has happened in connection with the recent investigation of the granting of oil lease number 1 to the Mammoth Oil company. Until such time as I may be able to familiarize myself with what occurred I do not wish to make any comment."

Before submitting to questioning Mr. Sinclair turned himself over to photographers and posed for a score of still and movie cameras—always smiling or laughing. At last a cameraman said "Look, sir, for just one picture, Mr. Sinclair."

"Ah, he replied, straightening himself, planting his cane firmly at the deck and frowning, 'You want my committee face. Well, this is it.' He posed pitching quarts for one picture. But he wouldn't get up 'closer to the camera.' 'For that you'd be cheating,' he said, Colonel Simpson adding 'and sufficient grounds for a congressional investigation.'

"Of course, I'll go to Washington," Mr. Sinclair said later. "I'm here and ready if they want me. I'll have to go if they ask me to."

Both Sinclair and Colonel Simpson pleaded almost total ignorance of recent Teapot Dome developments and professed an eagerness to get all the details. They had heard of Mr. Denby's resignation.

"And what about Roosevelt and McAdoo?" asked Colonel Simpson. "He also asked many questions about the case."

New York Governor Holds Officers to Enforce Dry Laws

Responsibility for Enforcement Laid Directly on Shoulders of Executives

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 20 (AP)—The problem of enforcing the federal prohibition laws was laid squarely upon the shoulders of law enforcement officials of each county of the state by Governor Alfred Smith, in an address tonight to a conference which had called for a general discussion of the prohibition enforcement laws.

Six counties of the state were charged directly by the governor with having made little or no attempt to increase their staffs of enforcement officers since the prohibition laws went into effect and these six were selected, he declared, because they lie either along the Canadian border or the Atlantic ocean, two of the routes over which the largest amount of illicit liquor now enters New York state.

NET CHIEF HITS LETTER SCHEME

National Legion Commander Slaps Employers' Plan to Coerce Their Employees

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Charges that employers of corporations which he said, "are still known as the Mellon interests," were being "coerced" into writing letters to members of congress in opposition to a soldiers' bonus were made in an address here tonight by John B. Quinn, national commander of the American Legion, before the National Press club.

He further asserted that through these channels the "Mellon interests" are being used in part to promote a "paid propaganda" against the bonus. Mr. Quinn read a letter which he said was addressed to Captain Knowlton Durham, the ex-Servicemen's Anti-Bonus league, by H. B. Rust, president of the Koppers company of Pittsburgh, in which the latter said he hoped to "make a substantial contribution to your cause" through George Davidson, who, the letter said, was raising a fund for the league.

Both Mr. Rust and Mr. Davidson, who is vice-president of the Gulf Oil corporation, are of Pittsburgh, and "business associates of Andrew W. Mellon," Mr. Quinn asserted, adding, however, that "I suppose technically Mr. Mellon has severed his connections with all private enterprises."

The Legion commander read another letter from an employer of the Chicago By-Products Coke company, which he said enclosed a copy of a letter of that corporation to its employees with instructions "commanding" them, the employees' letter said, "to tell their representatives in congress certain things."

COLD WEATHER AND SNOW STRIKE WESTERN STATES

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 20 (AP)—Thirteen degrees below zero in the Great Falls section of the state was the coldest in Montana at 8 o'clock this morning. Zero was the minimum for Sheridan, Wyo. The cold wave which struck Sheridan last night reached a minimum of 15 degrees below zero. Thermometers registered a drop of 48 degrees in 48 hours. About four inches of snow is on the ground.

Denver, Colo.—Four inches of snow fell in Denver last night and during the forenoon today. The snowfall was accompanied by a decided drop in temperature throughout the entire Rocky mountain district, according to the local weather bureau.

EASTERN PACKER SAYS COMPETITION ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP)—Active competition between Armour and Company and Morris and Company is still going on, despite the merger of the two concerns, George Franklin, president of the Dunlady Franklin Packing company of Pittsburgh, testified today at the hearing called to determine whether the merger created a monopoly in the meat-packing industry. He declared there was no friendliness among the packers and no possibility of their combining to force prices.

SLIGHT HOPE HELD OUT FOR GREENE'S RECOVERY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Slight hope was held out tonight for the recovery of Senator Frank L. Greene of Vermont. After showing a slight improvement early today, attending surgeons called to determine whether the merger created a monopoly in the meat-packing industry. He declared there was no friendliness among the packers and no possibility of their combining to force prices.

VANDERLIP IS DEFENDANT IN $600,000 SUIT

Joint Owners of Marion Newspaper File Suit in Federal Court for Damages as Result of Retired Banker's Charge

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP)—Roy D. Moore and Louis H. Brush, joint owners of the Marion, Ohio, Star, today filed suit in federal court against Frank A. Vanderlip, retired banker, for $600,000 damages, alleging slander and libel as the result of the bankers' purported utterances in an address at Ossining on February 12.

The first charge sets forth that Mr. Vanderlip "felicitously and maliciously charged Brush and Moore with having charged Warren G. Harding, then president of the United States, to fail to perform certain of his official duties and neglect and that the suit was filed in the payment to former President Harding of $550,000 in the purchase of the Marion Star, which was more than twice its fair value."

Charles E. Harding

The Vanderlip speech, it was charged, was regarded as an attack upon the integrity of the late President Harding by implying that the sale of the late president's newspaper was involved in the naval reserve oil leases investigation.

The defendant's statements, it was further charged, accused the plaintiffs of being financially irresponsible and insolvent and that the suit was filed in the payment to former President Harding of $550,000 in the purchase of the Marion Star, which was more than twice its fair value."

The second cause of action was based upon the charge that Mr. Vanderlip caused his speech to be printed in the New York Tribune. The third cause is based upon the admission of Mr. Vanderlip before the senate investigating committee that he approved the copy of the speech which was presented to him in his office in New York on February 12 by a representative of the Associated Press, and which speech later was delivered to Associated Press members.

It was alleged in the complaint that Mr. Vanderlip had caused his speech to be published in the Tribune, which was read by millions of persons. Publication of the speech, it was stated, was the basis of the libel charges, while the address itself was said to be slanderous.

YOUTH MURDERS PARENTS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—After repeating it orally three times, Frank McDowell, 19, last night signed a confession to the murders of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDowell, here last night and the murders of his two sisters in Decatur, Ga. once again today. The confession was sworn to before a notary public.

PORTERS GET RAISE

CHICAGO, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Pullman company announced today an eight per cent wage increase, the annual total of which will exceed $1,000,000, for its porters.

Demands Action by Congress on Bill for Soldier Bonus

New England Representative Says Settlement Can Not Be Delayed; Would Offer Loan and Insurance Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Early action by congress on soldiers' bonus legislation was demanded in the house today by Representative Andrew, republican of Massachusetts, who declared this belated settlement cannot and will not be much longer delayed.

Mr. Andrew, who is a former assistant secretary of the treasury, advocated passage of his adjusted compensation bill which would confine benefits to those who served as enlisted men during the world war.

He said the bill eliminating former officers as beneficiaries of the bill drafted from the measure voted by President Harding in that it substitutes the privilege of loans from incorporated banks and trust companies for farm and home aid and government loans. It also eliminates the option of vocational training and would make paid-up insurance policies its most attractive feature.

Such policies would be payable to beneficiaries at the end of 45 years or to their beneficiaries and heirs in the event of death and would be available as collateral for bank loans. Mr. Andrew estimated that enactment of his bill would not call for the expenditure of more than $100,000,000 in government funds in any of the first four years and would not cost on the average more than $35,000,000 annually for the 20 succeeding years.

THE GUMPS—"CHARITY, SWEET CHARITY"

BOURBONS VOTE FOR AMENDING INCOME RATES

Democrats and Insurgents Continue Drive on Revenue Bill; Republicans Plan to Defeat Garner Proposals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—House democrats, flushed by their victory in the fight on the income tax rates, continued their drive on the revenue bill today, gaining two important amendments.

Republican insurgents, who made possible the substitution of the Garner income rates yesterday for the Mellon schedule, joined again with a practically solid democratic vote today to make stock dividend profits subject to regular income taxes rather than to the 12 1/2 per cent capital assets tax, and to extend the provisions of the earned income tax reduction.

Republicans continued to put up a fight, however, and Representative Longworth, the party leader, declared hope was still held of gaining a majority to amend the Garner plan when the bill is brought up for passage, declaring several republicans who voted yesterday for the Garner plan had made indirect overtures indicating a desire to vote for a republican measure.

Want Compromise.

A vote on the tentative compromise advanced yesterday by Mr. Longworth and carrying a 37 1/2 per cent maximum surtax rate with the Mellon nor income rates, was not possible yesterday after adoption of the Garner plan. Republicans are now studying preliminary rules with a view to defeating the Garner plan and gaining an opportunity to amend their compromise. A clear cut majority on several preliminary votes would be necessary, it is admitted, to make such a move successful.

Suggests Final Vote.

Reading of the measure section by section, each paragraph being open for amendment, proceeded rapidly today under the constant urge of Chairman Green of the ways and means committee, in charge of the bill on the floor. When the house adjourned such progress had been made that Representative Garner of Texas, in charge of the democratic fight on the floor, suggested an agreement be reached to bring the measure up for a final vote on passage by next Tuesday. Chairman Green indicated he thought an earlier day might be set, but Mr. Garner asked that it be voted on not before Monday, indicating a desire to make sure a full party presence which might not be possible on Saturday because of week-end absences.

Numerous Suggestions.

Although numerous amendments were offered, only those submitted by the leaders received any substantial support. The democratic stand almost solidly behind both the major amendments adopted, which were proposed by Representative Garner. Mr. Green chided these on both sides, not members of the ways and means committee, which framed the bill, who sought private amendments which the committee had considered impossible. He declared at one point, in seeking to limit debate, that "you are making a joke of the measure if you continue such actions."

HANSEN

HANSEN—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Hansen at their farm home east of town on Thursday, February 14.

Mrs. H. M. Smith entertained the Hansen bridge club on Thursday afternoon. All members were present except Mrs. McCoy of Twin Falls and Mrs. Griswold from Inhl.

The box social and entertainment given by the Young People's society on Friday evening was a success in every particular. Each number on the program was heartily enjoyed, and after the program Arthur Scott auctioned the boxes, about three dozen in all, which netted the sum of $30. The money will be used to help defray the expenses of decorating the interior of the church and furnishing the seats.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moreland of Jerome, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis east of town, Saturday evening and Sunday.

Charles Calvert was numbered among the sick list on Saturday and Sunday.

Ida Klingman entertained the little folks belonging to her Sunday-school class Friday afternoon.

Mr. Scott's Booster Boys will have a party in the basement of the church Friday evening. Promoting the entertainment of the evening the regular election of officers will be held.

vin Krum; second vice president, Theo Scott; third vice president, Florence Friar; fourth vice president, Bernice Kirkpatrick; secretary, Burton Hill; treasurer, Rita Howler.

Mrs. E. F. Walker of Murtaugh, visited the latter part of the week with Mrs. Gus Stom.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hubbard has been quite dangerously ill with measles the last two weeks.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grades perpetrated a much appreciated surprise on their teacher, Mrs. Blakeley on Thursday afternoon in the form of a Valentine party. During the recess period while the teacher was attracted outside the young ladies filled a long table with cakes, sandwiches, pickles and salads and a generous supply of candy, nuts and popcorn, furnished by the boys. After the past noon delivered 500 valentines to the 35 pupils the young ladies acted as hostesses in a very able manner and with delicious cocoa which was sent over by Mrs. Pledger, the cats were served.

The pupils in the fifth and sixth grades also enjoyed a party which was planned by their teacher, Mrs. Lewis.

Mrs. Stella Hughes and children are convalescing from the mumps.

Alma Deaning, formerly of Hansen, visited friends in town over Sunday.

A Business Story

Rich in meaning to every motor car buyer

How Studebaker reached the heights

THE story of Studebaker has been told by many men in many ways. Now let us tell it to you.

Studebaker growth has in late years been Motordom's sensation. Sales have mounted until last year 145,000 buyers of quality cars selected Studebakers. They paid over $200,000,000 for them.

All must realize that a new situation has arisen in high-grade cars. You who are interested should now analyze the reasons.

72-year traditions

The Studebaker principles have become traditions in their 72 years of existence. They have never wavered. In all changing conditions they have brought new lustre to that name.

Men come and go, but a name like this becomes a heritage to foster and enhance. That's what we've done — we who have that name in keeping for a time.

Studebaker has always been a leader. For two generations it led in horse-drawn vehicles, now products of the past.

Most of you remember Studebaker carriages — queens of their time. They were used by multitudes of people who loved quality and style.

When motor cars succeeded them, Studebaker became the logical leader in that field. Any other place would have been an anomaly.

The only way to the top

A concern of this age has one fact ingrained in its fiber. The only way to leadership is through super-service.

The leader must excel in all you seek — in quality, in beauty and in value. There is no other way to the top. Every stretch of the road is strewn with wrecks of those who tried another.

What others say — not what you say — determines your place in the long run. In every field of endeavor one must accept that fact.

We had the money, the plants, the prestige. We had the incentive of Studebaker traditions. In time we secured the men.

We told those men to build for us the utmost in fine motor cars, regardless of all costs. We pledged them our good faith and our resources.

The cost was $50,000,000

We built new factories — modern plants. We fitted them with new equipment — 12,500 up-to-date ma-

Find Out Why

People paid over $200,000,000 last year for Studebaker cars.

The result is now a demand for 150,000 per year.

Over $50,000,000 in modern plants and equipment to build the finest of fine cars.

One of these cars, built in 1918, has run 475,000 miles. That means 80 years of ordinary service. In December this car made the trip from coast to coast.

chines. Of the $50,000,000 in our plants and equipment, $32,000,000 has been invested in the past five years. So it represents the last word in efficient manufacture.

We established a Department of Methods and Standards, to fix for every Studebaker detail the maximum of quality.

We created a Bureau of Research and Experiment, employing 125 skilled men. They make 500,000 tests per year to maintain our supremacy.

They fixed countless standards, including 35 separate formulas for steels. Then on the most important steels we offered makers a bonus of 15% to conform to those standards exactly.

We invested $8,000,000 in a drop forge plant to make all our own drop forgings. $10,000,000 in body plants, to build all bodies to our standards.

We employed 1,200 skilled inspectors to see that all standards were fulfilled. There are 30,000 inspections on Studebaker cars during manufacture, before they go out from the factory.

That's the whole story

That's about the whole story. We simply followed the never-changing Studebaker principles. We gave to our buyers the utmost — values they could not match. Then they turned by tens of thousands to Studebaker cars.

Over 750,000 of those cars have gone out. Their performance has developed a demand for 150,000 per year.

Every increase in sales brought a lowered cost, which we promptly gave our buyers. Today these fine cars are offering values which no rival can approach. They have made us the world's largest builders of quality cars.

We deserve a hearing

Now we deserve a hearing. All who consider a car at $1,000 or over should learn what Studebaker offers. That in fairness to yourself and us. Check one by one the advantages we offer. You'll find them by the score.

Remember that 145,000 who did that last year chose a Studebaker car. There are nine chances in ten that you'll do it.

Consider our record, our accomplishments, our policies and principles. Consider that we have $90,000,000 at stake on satisfying men like you. Don't buy a car in this high-grade class without seeing what we give.

THE CHILD AND ADENOID.

Adenoids, the abnormal growth of tissues back of the nose, up behind the palate, or between the nose and the upper part of the throat, occur most commonly from the third to the thirteenth year, and are usually caused by some form of nose or throat irritation. Some children seem more susceptible than others, and the growth is more apt to appear in fat than lean people. Sometimes diseased tonsils will cause adenoids, sometimes obstructions in the nose following injuries or falls; but perhaps the most common form of irritant is the pernicious habit of sucking the thumb or other objects; and the pacifier should be condemned in the strongest language, not only as one of the causes of adenoids, but from the sanitary point of view.

Mouth breathing, particularly when the child is sleeping or lying down, is the most prominent symptom of adenoids; another prominent symptom is frequent and chronic colds in the head called "snuffles." The complications resulting from adenoids vary from minor ills to great and lasting deformities. The adenoids obstruct the child's natural breathing, interferes with the normal development of the lungs and chest and this in turn interferes with the normal development and growth of other organs and parts of the body. BULGARIA AND RUMANIA WOULD BECOME FRIENDLY

Hope Negotiations Now Under Way Between Nations Will Patch Up Breach Caused by War Operations

BUCHAREST, Feb. 20 (AP)—Negotiations are in progress here which, it is hoped, will remove the last obstacle to friendly relations between Bulgaria and Rumania, broken off as a result of Bulgarian operations in Rumania during the World War.

One of the most important problems has been solved, in principle, by Bulgaria's agreement to pay approximately $30,000,000 for release of the Rumanian claim on the properties of Bulgarian citizens seized here after the war. The question of restitution by Bulgaria for war requisitions in Rumania during the war is still pending, and proving more difficult of solution.

ELKINS ADMITS DEALINGS WITH SINCLAIR FIRM

West Virginia Senator Willing to Tell What He Knows of Oil Transactions; War on Daugherty Grows Spirited

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Announcement by Senator Davis Elkins, republican, West Virginia, that he has had transactions in Sinclair oil stock furnished the one sensation today in the oil scandal.

Asserting that there was no law against him in his position buying and selling stocks, Senator Elkins said he was perfectly willing to go before the oil committee and tell all about his transactions in this stock, which he said were much smaller than those in cases of several other companies.

The oil committee took no cognizance of his public statement, but members said unofficially that he would not be invited to appear except at a public hearing to go before the completion of the audit of a number of brokerage firms now in progress both in Washington and New York.

Name Was on Record—The senator's name was on record that he is the senator whose name appears on the records of J. P. Benard and Company, a New York stock brokerage firm, which were presented to the committee yesterday in executive session.

Coincidentally with Senator Elkins' statement, the oil committee conferred behind closed doors with Harry Payne Whitney, New York financier, and friend of Harry F. Sinclair, who expressed entire willingness to have his business books examined by committee experts.

Sinclair May Testify—Unofficial word of the arrival of Mr. Sinclair at New York today from Europe reached the committee during the day, but Chairman Lenoir said he had received no communication from the oil magnate. He declined to say whether a subpoena would be issued for Mr. Sinclair's appearance, but some committee members said that Mr. Sinclair had hastened his return from abroad to appear before the committee, they assumed he would avail himself of the first opportunity to do so.

While there is no present intention of having any more committee sessions until the public hearings are resumed next Monday, members said there might be developments in the meantime that would make necessary an earlier meeting.

Disclosing that the funds of the oil committee had been replenished, Chairman Lenoir said the senate voted another $125,000 for the prosecution of the investigation. The appropriation measure was adopted without debate or opposition.

SINCLAIR EAGER TO TALK ON ANYTHING BUT LEASES

The testimony of the Denver and Chicago newspapers, which the committee had examined, and about the circumstances surrounding President Coolidge's appointment of the special prosecutors. "What did it mean to have against 'Straw'?" he wanted to know.

Politics—Asked if he thought politics was playing any considerable part in the inquiry, Mr. Sinclair said: "Politics? Yes, I think so—some of it. Maybe a lot of it."

Mr. Sinclair asked if, perhaps, he had brought down the crown of thorns, which kingdom was reported some months ago to have offered him the throne, if he would disengage himself from the inquiry.

"Now, don't try to blow the lid off this interview," was the answer.

Theatrical—A "LITTLE OLD NEW YORK" twin at the Empire today. TUCKER CONTENDS CITY DID NOT WIN METER SUIT

Former Mayor Asks that Court Bill Be Stricken and that Court Declare Repealed Ordinance Unreasonable

On the grounds that the city of Twin Falls and members of its present administration were "not the prevailing parties" in a suit instituted in district court by A. D. Tucker, former mayor, to restrain carrying out of a contract for purchase of water meters to complete the municipal water distribution system, the former mayor Tuesday filed a motion asking that costs and disbursements of the city in this action be stricken from the record. The city had filed its memorandum, showing its total disbursements in the case amounting to $3, which amount was paid as fee for filing its demurrer.

A temporary injunction obtained by the former mayor in this action was dissolved by Judge W. A. Babcock, who rendered his decision last week. The former mayor also filed another motion requesting the court to adopt additional findings of fact and conclusions of law and "amend the proposed judgment" in the case by declaring that an ordinance fixing water rates in effect at the time the action was instituted be voided for the reason that it provided "unreasonable, exorbitant and unnecessary charges for water," and fixed the rates approximately 40 per cent too high.

This ordinance already has been repealed by adoption of another ordinance fixing the water rates approximately 10 per cent lower than they have ever been since the municipality came into possession of its waterworks system.

A few reserved seats for "Little Women" still at Majestic pharmacy. Tickets 50c and 25c.—adv.

BURIED TREASURE
It is regarded in fiction as the normal thing for discoverers to quarrel over buried treasure. Life is true to fiction in regard to the greatest buried treasure ever unearthed—that of King Tutankhamen, among which the mummified king himself is the chief jewel.

Archaeology and government have fallen to fighting over the remains.
Howard Carter, the American excavator and discoverer of the tomb, believes he has a right to half the treasure, and to a reasonable liberty of action in his operations. The Egyptian government, official custodian of the tomb, believes it has a right to boss
the job and take everything in sight.

Technically the quarrel is based on a legal interpretation. If the tomb is regarded as a "violated tomb," that is, a tomb broken into before its discovery by Carter, there is nothing illegally sacred about it, and Carter may share his find with Egypt. If the tomb was discovered "intact," it is all Egypt's. Carter bases his claim on the circumstantial evidence that thieves had broken into the tomb many centuries ago. The government bases its claim on the fact that in spite of that evidence, the outer door was sealed when discovered, the seal having been replaced apparently by ancient governmental authorities who drove away the thieves before the latter had accomplished their purpose. It is a pretty case for a lawsuit.

It might be supposed that the Egyptian government, as a matter of deceit, would share up with Carter, because if it had not been for him, the treasure might never have been found.
On the other hand, Carter is an alien,
and the tomb and its treasure are Egyptian, and the mummy itself may well be regarded with patriotic reverence as that of a celebrated Egyptian sovereign. Would any other country like to have foreigners digging up its historic personages, with all their funeral wealth, and carting them away?
Suppose Egyptians started digging in Westminster abbey!

JUDGE OWL'S LETTER
By DADDY

(The postmaster gets a queer letter with no address on it except a picture of Judge Owl and his hollow tree. Jack and Janet take the letter to Judge Owl.)

CHAPTER IV.
A Talking Letter.

JACK and Janet looked in wonder at the queer letter they had found in the large envelope addressed to Judge Owl. Never had they seen a letter like it. Instead of writing on paper it was just a thick round leaf, marked with a fine line running around and around in a circle.

"Please read my letter for me," hugged Judge Owl.

"No one could read that letter," declared Janet very positively. "It doesn't say anything. The fine line just runs around and around in a circle."

Jack was staring at the letter, trying to figure it out.

"That line runs around and around like—like—what?—then it runs around like?"

Then Janet gave a squeal of joy. "I know," she cried. "It runs around and around like the line on a talking machine record. If this leaf were black it would be just like a record we play on our talking machine."

"Yes, sir, that is just what it does look like," declared Jack. "Perhaps this letter is not meant to be read.
Perhaps it is a letter that is meant to be listened to. Let us try to play it on a talking machine."

"Whoo! That is the kind of a letter I like to get—a letter that is to be listened to instead of read," hooted Judge Owl. "I can listen to letters even if I cannot read them."

"Can you leave your job here at the barn long enough to go to the house to play this letter on the talking machine?" asked Janet.

"Whoo! Whoo! To be sure I can," hooted Judge Owl. "I'll give a few hoots to scare all the mice and rats deep into their holes, and then I'll go with you. The mice and rats will not dare to come out before I get back and then I can catch them for my supper."

No Judge Owl flew around the barn, giving such hoots that Jack and Janet covered their ears to keep out the terrifying sound. As for the mice and rats, they must have trembled in their holes.

Then the three set out for the homes of the children. When they got there understanding that will reduce international hatred and prejudice such as have caused wars in the past.

The organization is already international in scope. It appears to be foreign in origin. It is said to have three million members in Europe, all young people, with the number growing rapidly.

There is hope in any such movement as this. What old people think may be of small importance, because it is hard for them to imprint their ideas on a new age. The important thing is to have the rising generation developing the right ideas for itself, and getting ready to translate them into action. If millions of young men and women, all over the world, can grow up imbued with a desire to understand each other across national boundaries, and a disposition to appreciate each other's good qualities, there will be a solid foundation for international peace.

"Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband never shows any interest in a magazine until he sees me reading it. Then he asks: "Nearly through with that, dear? I thought I'd look at it, if you were."
Of course I'm not—and I never can see any reason why I shouldn't tell him so.

But my answer invariably seems to hurt him. He sighs in an abused sort of way and mutters something about
"a man getting a lot of chance to read the magazines he subscribes to." If I don't pay any attention to this display of his, he's sure to go on and remark:

"I can't see why you don't read the stories you're interested in while you're sitting around here all day, instead of in the evening when I have a little time for reading."

Well—really!
So I hand him the magazine without a word. Because I know that within ten minutes he'll be tired of it—and I can go on with my story.

Tomorrow: "My wife makes too many new friends."

Such popularity must be deserved

TO BE singled out for public honor, a man must have proved his quality. And to be chosen by millions, even a cigarette must have "made good."
So Chesterfield's swift rise to means better taste.

And better taste is the sole reason

Under habeas corpus proceedings ordered Wednesday by Judge W. A. Babcock, Fred Grenz was released from his confinement in the county jail since his arrest here last week in connection with alleged theft of horses at Blackfoot.

Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted by Grenz through Attorney Charles W. North.

Following on the application of the prosecuting attorney for revocation of parole to which Grenz was admitted last fall when he pleaded guilty to charge of burglarizing a chicken house, had been set for Wednesday, but was continued until after completion of trial before jury in criminal cases of the term.
