FIRST RELIEF
WORK AT UTAH
MINE STARTEDRed Cross, Salvation Army and
Other Organizations Get Plans Going; Searchers for Bodies Meet Obstacles

CASCADE GATE, Utah, March 12 (AP)—Rescue work in the Utah Fuel company mine No. 2 progressed extremely slow during the night and at 12:15 o'clock this morning the total number of men recovered was but 115, but two bodies were removed between the hours of 9 o'clock and midnight.

Representatives of the American Red Cross, the Salvation Army and fraternal organizations are in the midst of a survey in the Cascade Gate district in an effort to determine the relief measures necessary. The work is centralized under the supervision of the Red Cross, under the direction of Elizabeth W. Stevenson of Price, Utah, chairman.

Headquarters Fixed.

Headquarters and food and clothing depots have been established near the basement of the recreational hall and all contributions are being received there.

Funds for the initial work of relief are being furnished out of the treasury of the local chapter of the Red Cross.

CASCADE GATE, Utah, March 11 (AP)—Portulide today gave way to viscous slurry in Cascade Gate. One hundred and ten of the 173 victims of Saturday's explosion in the Utah Fuel company mine No. 2 had been recovered at 7 o'clock.

Hope Fades.

That display of hope which has been so apparent throughout Price-Canyon was cast aside as widowed wives, or planned children, parents, brothers and sisters of the 173 victims of the fatal blast of last Saturday morning in mine No. 2 of the Utah Fuel company were permitted to spend a few minutes with their dead. For three days they have been waiting in a dazedly hoped that their nearest and dearest might have miraculously escaped from the fatal blast, but as they watched the rapid work of the rescue teams in removing the bodies from the interior workings of the ill-fated mine, slowly they abandoned these hopes and joined with the throng who had learned the fatal word.

Helmet crews have penetrated the last of the workings and have gone into the rising. From air men are exploring in eight right, where a number of bodies have already been recovered. But all hope of finding living miners has been definitely abandoned.

U. P. DEPOT BURNED

LOS ANGELES, March 11 (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin early tonight destroyed the Union Pacific depot here. The value of the frame structure which was built almost 40 years ago, was less than $14,000, fully covered by insurance, according to railroad officials.

Work Announces New Reclamation Program Must Await Fact-Finders' Report; Borah
Outspoken in His Protest

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Promulgation of a new irrigation and reclamation program must await the report of the interior department's fact-finding commission, Secretary Work today advised a group of western senators who asked him to take action immediately. The commission is sitting night and day, he said, in an effort to expedite its findings.

Senators in whose states projects have been held up were outspoken in their protests. Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, declared the work of the commission "can't prevent our legislating and indicated he would press for action by congress.

Secretary Work said the commission's report would be very detailed, including recommendations on existing and proposed projects as well as an outline of a permanent policy.

Attending the meeting were the senators from Oregon, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Arizona, Minnesota, Nevada and New Mexico.

Wisconsin Senator Retires as

Major Defends McLean in Grilling Examination

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Retirement of Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin as chairman and member of the oil committee today overshadowed other developments in the oil inquiry.

He will be succeeded by Senator Ladd of North Dakota, a republican identified with the LaFollette group who has been actively in charge of the committee since the departure of Senator Lenroot for Southern Pines, N. C., a week ago to recuperate.

Senator Ladd's letter of resignation was made public after the oil investigators had cleared up some of the remaining mysteries in the celebrated McLean telegram by a grilling cross examination of John P. Major, agent of the Washington publisher.

Before questioning Major for the third time the committee examined in secret session another batch of telegrams including those from Three Rivers, N. M., home town of former Secretary of the Interior, Paul, after the oil leases. Committee men said the messages shed little additional light on the question, although some

STORM LASHING
EASTERN COAST

Trail of Disrupted Wire Communication Left Behind by Blizzard on Atlantic Seaboard

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—The blizzard which was whirling northward along the eastern seaboard tonight had left a trail of disrupted wire communication extending far into the southern states.

Snow and rain, lashed by the heavy gale from the Gulf of Mexico, has fallen all along the coast, and storm warnings still are up from East Port, Maine to Jupiter Inlet, Florida. Miles of telegraph and telephone wires have been laid low. Washington tonight had no direct wire communication with the south and many wires to the north and west also are down.

The storm described by the weather bureau as one of the worst ever experienced at this season, was said to be central over Delaware tonight. Continuance of snow and rain was predicted for the north Atlantic states tomorrow, while clearing weather was in sight for the south Atlantic region.

MAN, TWO WOMEN, SLAIN

LINDEN, N. Y., March 11 (AP)—A man and two women were found murdered in a burning house here tonight.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whaley and Mrs. Mabel Morse. Neighbors saw flames coming from the windows of the Whaley home and they succeeded in extinguishing the fire. A search of the house disclosed three murdered persons.

COOLIDGE GETS SUPPORT

The convention voted its faith in David W. Mulvane, national committeeman from Kansas, recently under attack by one faction of the party.

UTAH MAN IS CHARGED WITH GIGANTIC IDAHO-MINE FRAUD

NEW YORK, March 11 (AP)—Charles Peter of Salt Lake, Utah, charged with grand larceny in connection with promotion of stock in a silver mine at Pocatello, Idaho, succeeded in causing several hundred persons to invest $1,100,000 in the stock, Assistant District Attorney Hart said today.

Peter's arraignment on a charge preferred by Peter Roeder who said he invested $1500 and induced relatives to buy $10,000 worth of stock, has been adjourned to Friday to permit the summoning of witnesses.

COAL MINING PROPERTY

POCATELLO, March 11 (AP)—The confirmation of the sale of the Idaho Coal Mines company, whose properties are located at Tipton, to the Columbia Trust company, trustees of Salt Lake, Monday, by Federal Judge F. S. Dietrich, is of paramount interest to residents of southern Idaho. On motion of P. W. Reed, attorney for the plaintiff, the court ordered P. E. Tideman, local attorney, and special master in the case, after cancellation of bonds of the Idaho Coal Mines company, aggregating $300,000 and also cancellation of the interest coupons attached or separate, to deliver the bonds to the Columbia Trust company, plaintiff in the action, for their use during the final settlement of the case or until further order of the court. The Idaho Coal Mines company, the Gem State Coal company, J. C. Hunter and H. H. Hartley, were the defendants.

The property was sold last September under a foreclosure trust deed to the Columbia Trust company for $508,374.50 and the action of the court was a confirmation of this sale. A check of the last payment on the deal was presented to the court Monday by H. P. Samuels, well known politician of north Idaho, who will probably take over the management of the mines.

American Authorities Told of Disregard by Foreign Vessels
for Rules as to Philippine Fortifications

MANILA, March 11 (AP)—American authorities have reported to Washington several alleged violations of regulations regarding American fortifications in the Philippines on the part of Japanese merchant vessels, it was learned today.

It is asserted the steamer Itokushima Maru when entering Manila bay February 14, 1934, passed so near the fortified zone at Corrigidor island that she could not be sighted from the signal station. An officer signalled the vessel to stop but the order was ignored, it is stated.

It is also stated that two other Japanese ships recently violated the regulations. Discussing the matter today, Governor General Wood said: "I will report these cases to Washington and the government may take up the matter through diplomatic channels with the Japanese government."

Difficult Problem

Art Folks Hold Complexions
Must Match Gowns; Favor
Black and White

CHICAGO, March 11 (AP)—Everything in the Easter parade will go into the washbasin except the complexion, delegates to the Fashion Art League of America, in session here announced today. The perfectly gowned woman must have a complexion to match every gown, according to this year's style decrees. To make the answer harder, these fashion rules for 1934 are black and white.

Tub frocks, brilliant plaids and stripes and checks will be in great demand, delegates said.

HOUSE ACCEPTS
PROPOSAL FOR PROJECT FUNDS

Senate Amendment Providing
$645,000 for American Falls Reservoir Approved; Must Pay $1,000,000 in Back Dues

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—A senate amendment to the interior department bill which would make $645,000 available for work during the fiscal year beginning July 1 on the American Falls reservoir in Idaho was accepted today by the house.

The amendment stipulates, however, that before the money can be expended, title to certain Indian lands which would be overthrown must be vested in the United States and water-users must pay the government back dues aggregating approximately $1,000,000 and deposit about $1,500,000 in cover future assessments.

The house refused to agree to a senate amendment appropriating funds for the Nevada Nevada reclamation project and that provision was sent back to conference.

Insisting on a provision for acquisition of a government trail into the Grand Canyon from the south rim, the house instructed Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, and its other conferees to insist on an amendment which would appropriate $100,000 for the purchase of Bright Angel trail, in Arizona, or the construction of another pathway into the canyon.

The Bright Angel trail was purchased from Coconino county, the amendment provides that the county expend $100,000 in improving the highway between the canyon and the Santa Fe trail.

A house provision in the bill to appropriate $100,000 for purchase of Bright Angel trail was eliminated by the senate. The Newhouse amendment broadens the original provision to enable the government to construct a road into the canyon. Bright Angel trail cannot be purchased.

COOLIDGE PLEA FOR TAX SLASH MEETS REBUFF

Unfavorable Reaction Follows Special Message Asking Congress to Act at Once to Cut Income Rates for This Year

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—President Coolidge made request of congress today to adopt immediately a resolution making effective the 25 per cent reduction in personal income taxes payable this year now carried in the revenue bill, but it met with an unencouraging response. This reaction was especially pronounced in the house, where such legislation would have to originate and where leaders yesterday turned down an attempt to obtain such action.

The president urged through a message to congress that the proposed cut be made effective before Saturday when first installments on the taxes must be paid.

"Impossible," Green Says
Chairman Green of the house ways and means committee, which would first have to consider the proposed resolution, declared tonight that "at this late date it is absolutely impossible to pass the 25 per cent reduction in taxes to be paid in 1924 as a separate measure."

Both he and Congressman Longworth, republican leader, argued that as a unanimous consent agreement would be necessary to get the resolution before the house for action, a previous effort to kill the provision entirely as carried in the revenue bill appeared to foreclose any possibility of obtaining such an agreement.

The message of the president was not read in the house until late in the day after disposition of the Daugherty resolution, and the house adjourned without considering it on the floor.

The decision of the republican members of the ways and means committee against reporting out a resolution yesterday was criticized today by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, a republican member of the committee.

"The message of President Coolidge voices the opinion that several members of the ways and means committee have had for some time," Mr. Treadway said, "but there are even repub-

Aged War Vet Urges Early Marriage; Has "Baby," 68 Years Old

"Marry Young and Stick to It" Is Advice of William Human; Has 70th Anniversary

SPOKANE, March 11 (AP)—Marry at an early age and then stick to it" is the advice of William Human, 87-year-old Civil War veteran, former politician and traveler, passed out to "the young folks" as he and Mrs. Human celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary here recently. He did not state whether his philosophy was a formula for longevity, happiness or what, but apparently Mr. Human and his wife, who is 89, have had their share of all these widely attained aims.

"They were married in Humansville, Mo., in 1854. The Civil War broke and passed. The dark days following that bitter struggle swept down upon the family, but through it all the Humans kept smiling. Finally they came west and settled in Spokane in 1895.

"An open air life and my family, have been one of my pleasures," Mr. Human said. "I've got one little girl in California and the baby lives back east."

The little girl is 69 years old and the baby is 68.

Members of the committee who do not approve of such action as well as Floor Leader Longworth.

Representative Garner of Texas, ranking democrat on the ways and means committee, asserted that more than three days would be necessary for passage of the resolution, and added that "it is difficult to understand why the president has not urged this matter at an earlier date."

Hints at Veto
"I wonder," Mr. Garner added, "if it is for the reason that Mr. Coolidge fears that any tax reduction bill sent to him for his signature will not meet his approval and that he would veto it, or does the republican organization plan to delay the passage of a tax reduction bill until after the next election?"

Likewise in the senate, democratic members of the finance committee at a conference today said they were disposed to investigate and determine the need and reason for passing the resolution before taking action on the revenue bill. Leaders on both sides of the senate agreed that passage of a resolution before Saturday was hardly possible.

INQUIRY TURNED TOWARD RUMOR OF STOCK DEALS

New and Sensational Fields Opened by Daugherty Investigators; Witness at Forbes Hearing Will Be Called In.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Explorations into new fields of testimony in its investigation of Attorney General Daugherty were made today by the special senate committee.

Among the new lines were said to be the veterans' bureau case and also parts of stock market speculation by high government officials. Attention in prospect for the former was indicated by issuance of a subpoena for Elias H. Mortimer, star witness against former Director Forbes in the veterans' bureau case before the senate investigating committee and also the Chicago grand jury.

Senators on the Daugherty committee today declined, however, to indicate the nature of testimony expected from Mr. Mortimer.

Probe Stock Deals.
That reported stock market deals of officials also was to come under the committee's scrutiny was disclosed by Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, chairman of the Daugherty committee.

He said the committee has "received letters from informants suggesting sources which might disclose stock gambling by high officials."

"These leads will be run down," said Senator Brookhart, "and we expect to receive evidence definitely establishing such dealings."

The committee's information regarding stock transactions, Senator Brookhart said, was in addition to that obtained by the oil committee in its examination of local brokers' records. These also will be examined by the Daugherty committee, he declared.

Used "Dummies."
Senator Brookhart said he was informed that some of the official stock deals had been covered up in the names of "dummies."

This and other new testimony, said by the committee chairman to be "important" and received from many new sources, including members of both branches of congress, will be developed later. The first subject to be brought, he reiterated, would be reports of aid by American oil interests in financing arms and ammunition to Mexican revolutionists.

Several witnesses already under the committee's subpoena arrived today and were examined in a preliminary way by Chairman Brookhart and Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, who is prosecuting the case against Mr. Daugherty.

There was a possibility that the committee might open meetings tomorrow on Mexican affairs but tonight Senator Brookhart said it was "almost certain" that the committee would not hold any hearings before Thursday.

Senator Wheeler was in session all day, going over documents and other information in preparation for the hearings.

Montana Man on Hand.

A. B. Mohrner of Butte, Mont., an attorney engaged by Senator Wheeler, under the committee's authorization as law clerk to aid the investigation, arrived today. Several more subpoenas, kept secret temporarily, were issued but Senator Brookhart would not confirm reports that some were for Texas oil men.

Among subpoena service of which was completed, was that upon Gaston H. Means, former department of justice agent.

Senator Brookhart said that the department of justice was being called upon by the committee for files of its papers in connection with "several lines of inquiry" which he would not disclose.

Attention, Beet Growers

The success of the Factory is dependent upon the success of the grower. These few remarks are offered in the interests of both, and in pursuance of a policy designed to offer every assistance in our power to the men who grow the beets.

JAMES SCILLEY, District Manager.

NOW is the time to get busy on the land.

Fall plowed land or potato ground should be gone over and seed bed prepared by spring-tooth harrow, or disc, then floated so that low places in field where dry ground has been dragged will have a chance to get soaked up with any moisture we may get, thus insuring an even germination of seed, also to start weeds, then worked again before planting to destroy weeds.

Experience has proved that beets planted the latter part of March or early in April has made the best tonnage.

Drills should be examined to see that each shoe is depositing at the same depth. Each time a turn is made in the field see that shoes are not clogged up. Do not plant more than one and one-half inches deep. A good seed bed well packed and seed evenly deposited at the proper depth will go far to insure a satisfactory crop. All spring plowed land should be worked down, corrugated and irrigated before planting.

Glover and alfalfa ground should be crowned as shallow as possible to cut off crowns properly, then harrow and leave long enough to get crown dried up, then plow about seven inches deep, irrigate and plant as above.

This work should be done so beets can be planted by the 20th of April, and if possible by April first. Do not plant on smooth surface. Always harrow ahead of planter.

THEATER WINS FROM SHOE MEN

Idaho Bowlers Score a Two to One Victory Over Shoe Market Team

The Idaho theater team strengthened their claim on the titular honors of the bowling league by beating the Shoe Market from the Shoe Market Tuesday evening.

The victory was a close affair throughout and the shoe men came back strong after two defeats and topped the last game. Bowling in the 500 class predominated on the theater team and accounts for their first game of an even 500. Phil King was the only man on the shoe squad failing to qualify for a 500 total and Moore at the other extreme of the show program took high honors for the evening with a total of 557 with a high game of 215 followed closely by his teammate McDonald, who drew a trio of fives for 555.

This match will keep the theater well in the front. Their exact position will, of course, largely depend on the Times-Laundry clash Thursday night which will be viewed with much interest as well as the News-Gleaner Rule team tonight. Top Kieffer has hopes of capturing the 500 total and Moore at the other extreme of the show program took high honors for the evening with a total of 557 with a high game of 215 followed closely by his teammate McDonald, who drew a trio of fives for 555.

PAS DOG GETS UNDER WAY

Ten Drivers Nearing End of First Lap in 200-Mile Event; Send Word Out by Pigeons

THE PAS, Man., March 11 (AP)—Struggling along through the ideal wilderness of the north country tonight ten drivers are nearing the end of the first lap of the annual 200 mile nonstop The Pas dog derby.

The long grind started at 11:08 this morning under ideal weather conditions and the finish is expected before noon tomorrow.

Sixty-eight of the fastest dogs of the continent are competing. The trail over which the race is being run is in ideal condition. Many expect a new world's record to be established.

The old record, made in 1922, was 24 hours and 52 minutes. A. E. Warren, general manager of the Canadian National Western fair region, started the race and immediately "shorty" Russek's huskies sprang into the lead, with Grayson, driving the Chrysler, second, followed by second, Solomon Cook, third, and B. L. Baker, St. Paul, bringing up the rear, carrying one dog on his sled.

Progress of the race will be made known to the world by means of carrier pigeons released along the route.

Scientist Prescribes Gland Treatment

Dr. Arnold Leonard, physician in charge at Carlsbad, Austria, an internationally recognized authority on medical progress, recommends gland treatment as a safe and sure method of preventing ill health and warding off premature old age. The famous scientist in his book, "Old Age Deferred," says: "Considering the great importance of the glands in preventing premature old age, we must insist on the reinforcement of their functions, if changed by age or disease, by means of extracts obtained from similar organs of young, healthy animals."

Such a compound is now offered to the public in the form of Glandogen, an highly concentrated and efficient tonic, prepared by convenient tablet form from the glands of young, healthy animals and compounded with other valuable ingredients. This tonic has actually achieved some remarkable results.

Glandogen is obtainable at the Bohrmann-Johnson Drug company. Mail orders given prompt attention.

Success Predicted For Bruin Baseball Club This Season

First Call for Candidates Brings Out a Wealth of Material for First-Class Nine; Season to Start Soon

At the initial meeting of the baseball team Tuesday evening at the high school prospects for a season which promises to recompense for any defects of the past were evident in a group of 41 candidates with 15 or more possible candidates failing to show up at the first meeting.

From last year's team Captain Musell and Coach Evans have the great hope of building a crack nine that should go a long way this year in basketball circles. With a nucleus of six letter men from last year to work from and several of last year's promising subs to start on, the chances are very good.

In the battery Twin Falls will be particularly strong this year. Garretty, Ladd, Johnson and Eddie Martin are all set for a chance on the twirling end and every man has shown his worth. Behind the bat Captain Musell is a general scholastic as seldom seen in high school circles. Judson Timm also is a catcher of an mean ability, although, at only 17, he will be asked to be relieved. His health at that time was poor and a short time afterwards he went to Southern Pines for a rest.

Ladd in Line. Senator Ladd is next in line for the chairmanship of the Senate. The former chairman was relieved of the post because of his elevation to the chairmanship of the powerful finance committee. Republican leaders said selection of Senator Ladd would be made by the republican committee on committees, which also will name some other senator to fill the vacancy on the committee. Both selections will be subject to senate approval.

The resignation of Senator Ladd will not interfere in any way with the oil investigation which from the financial standpoint almost exclusively under the direction of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana.

Major was the only witness heard today by the committee. He was emphatic in his declaration that McLean, who has been summoned to appear tomorrow, had no hesitation in taking the witness stand that the almost ferocious activity of his employees here during January was solely in the interest of having his deposition taken in Florida so as to make unnecessary a trip to Washington at a time when he was ill and Mrs. McLean and their son had just undergone operations.

Work under Phil King in the track squad is also progressing rapidly. This distance men are fast getting into condition and it is thought that their next week work will commence on the specialty events.

The interest in track work is uncommonly high this year and there is every evidence that failure to win the district football title and the basketball title has not discouraged the local athletes in the slightest degree and a strong comeback in baseball and track is predicted.

PUBLICIST WILSON LETTERS LATER

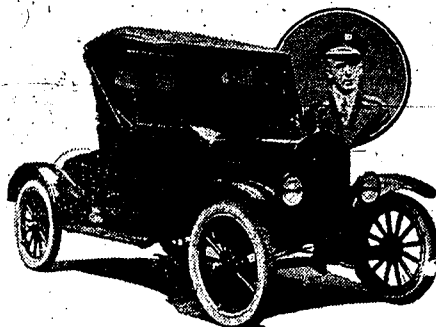

Widow Stands on Legal Rights and Decides to Keep Manuscripts Private for the Present

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson has decided to avail herself of her legal rights to check publication of new letters from her late husband's letters and manuscripts until she can determine in what manner the war president's papers will be given to the public as a whole and in an authorized way.

It is Mrs. Wilson's intention, either to have her letters and manuscripts assembled and published by someone who will act on her authority, or to gather them into a collection and make it available to the public, probably depicting the papers in some national institution such as the library of congress.

Mrs. Wilson has been advised by her attorney that as executrix of Mr. Wilson's estate she has legal rights in the publication of his letters and manuscripts not alone under the law and authorities, but under an amendment to the copyright law.

Mrs. Roosevelt, acting under the same provision of law, Mrs. Wilson has been advised, has stopped unauthorized publication of President Roosevelt's letters. Since Mr. Wilson's death some of his letters have been published, some others have been offered for sale and others have been in process of publication and widely advertised. Mrs. Wilson determined upon her action. One publisher, whose output runs into millions of copies, made over a whole number of his publication after it was on the presses, and is now taking steps to recall copies already on their way to circulation.

Gave Warning. Senator Ladd's retirement was not wholly unexpected as he gave warning of it in the senate two weeks ago during debate over his visit to Fall River with Senator Smoot of Utah, and the former interior secretary misled the committee with his statement that he obtained $100,000 from Edward B. McLean.

At that time Senator Ladd told the senate that if the investigation continued indefinitely he would have to ask to be relieved. His health at that time was poor and a short time afterwards he went to Southern Pines for a rest.

Major was the only witness heard today by the committee. He was emphatic in his declaration that McLean, who has been summoned to appear tomorrow, had no hesitation in taking the witness stand that the almost ferocious activity of his employees here during January was solely in the interest of having his deposition taken in Florida so as to make unnecessary a trip to Washington at a time when he was ill and Mrs. McLean and their son had just undergone operations.

FARM AID SUBSTITUTE IS UNDER DISCUSSION

tended the same objections would be brought it up against the measure it sought to replace.

Defeat Harrison Plan. Debate which at times became bitter preceded the elimination of a committee amendment offered by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, which would have added $25,000,000 for loans to cotton farmers.

Senator Ladd, republican, North Dakota, who had charge of the measure, urged the defeat of the amendment, declaring it had been added "solely for the purpose of getting this bill out of the committee." Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, immediately denounced such procedure, declaring it furnished the country a "pitiable spectacle."

Senator Harrison denied that the amendment had influenced the committee vote, asserting the Norbeck-Burton bill would have been reported regardless of his modification.

Calls It Political Gift. The bill was described as a "pure political gift to the farmers of four states" by Senator George, democrat, Georgia.

"The American farmer," he said, "never will be assisted by a project which transfers his burden to the whole people." In addition to Senator Howell's substitute proposal there remained tonight to be acted on the amendment of Senator Burton, republican, New Mexico, appropriating $20,000,000 to bolster the credit of weakened banks in the northwest.

Skeletons Reminders of Montana's Legal Code of Early Days

Finding of Bleached Remains Recalls Pioneers' Methods of Obtaining Justice

WEEKSVILLE, Mont., March 11 (AP)—Mute evidence of a page from Montana's early history, when pioneers of the state instituted stern measures to uphold a not too well established code of laws, is reflected in the discovery here of two skeletons which have been identified as those of former highway bandits.

The discovery was made by a road building crew on a spot where 42 years ago, in 1882, the Northern Pacific Railway company was constructing its line through western Montana. One of the principal railroad camps was then established at Weeksville.

Holdups were being staged with alarming frequency which finally terminated with the organization of a body of men calling themselves the "Vigilantes."

One evening a character known as "Ohio Jim" and another whose name is not remembered, but who was a barber by profession, were caught while committing a highway robbery. Without delay the "Vigilantes" hanged them in the nearest tree. The bodies were placed in a four-foot hole.

When the shovels of the road crew uncovered the skeletons, the broad brimmed hats which the bandits wore when executed, were still recognizable as such while the razor strap which the barber carried with him was still at his belt, although it fell into pieces when touched.

URGE INSURANCE AS BONUS PLAN

House Sub-Committee Favors Administration of Policies by Bureau Department

WASHINGTON, March 11 (AP)—Decision to place administration of the new soldier bonus, providing principally for paid-up life insurance policies, in the hands of the veterans bureau rather than private insurance companies, was reached today by a subcommittee of the house ways and means committee in drafting the bill.

While no decision was reached as to the form of the insurance policies, or the basis on which they should be valued, special attention was directed to plans of Representative Backlund, New Jersey, Andrew, Massachusetts, and Fish, New York, republicans. In general these provide for endowment policies to run from 20 to 30 years. Two of the schemes would base the value of the policies on the adjusted service credit provided in the bill passed last session—$1 a day for home service and $1.25 for overseas service, plus a 25 per cent credit. Mr. Fish suggested policies valued at $400 for each six months' service with a maximum of $1000.

IDAHO SPUR ON BETTER FOOTING

California Crop Shortage Improves Market Position of Gem State Russet

TWIN FALLS, March 11.—As was indicated last fall when the shortage of the California crop became apparent, the market position of the Idaho Russet has strengthened as the season progressed, according to the United States department of agriculture. The Idaho late crop is composed of approximately 50 per cent Russets, and this situation has created a better feeling among the potato growers, whose spirits have been at a low ebb during the recent seasons of low prices.

The Russet, which must move mainly to the southwest and central west, is selling in wagonloads late the first week in March at 65-70c per cwt., which is 20c to 25c higher than the lowest prices reached last fall. The lowest price paid for Russets last fall in wagonloads was 75c. This price has steadily advanced to $1.25 the first week in March with some dealers of best stock being bought as high as $1.35-$1.40.

Wide Distribution
The quality and outstanding appearance of the Idaho Russet has enabled its distribution to extend from coast to coast. The "Russet Baker" is a potato term gradually becoming well known in New York City as it has been in Chicago and Los Angeles. One concern in the central west is packing the Idaho Russet in 15 and 30-pound cartons and after advertising considerably during the season, is now being built up a good demand for these quality Russets in this unique package.

While the movement of Russets to California has been much greater than last season, it is apparent that more than 80 per cent of Idaho's shipments to that state are Russets. Last season Idaho shipped about 190,000 cwt. to California up to April 30, while the present movement this season has reached the 300,000 mark February 29. Over 500 cars of Idaho moved into California during the month of February. Thus, while we find Idaho faced with the handicap of high freight rates, the state is fortunate in having soil, climate, altitude and irrigation facilities which produce a potato that compares itself upon the market to successfully compete with potatoes from sections having no such handicap of distance from the great centers of population.

Shipping Rate
The Idaho Russet, U. S. No. 1 grade, has generally been selling at a premium of 70c to $1 per cwt. over all other varieties on the market. At the end of this winter, market reports indicate that the California Burbank is the only potato to sell in competition at a higher price. Idaho shipments to California this season have exceeded the movement at the same time last season by 200,000 cars.

While the Idaho crop this season, the increased movement to date has been caused chiefly by the California demand. The consensus of local estimators seems to indicate that the total shipments from Idaho this season will be around 14,000 cars or about 2,500 after March 5. Some estimates are placed higher on account of the amount of No. 2s that may move this spring, but if the total movement exceeds 14,000 cars to any extent, most of these estimating the movement will be greatly surprised.

Rates Differ
During February growers sold No. 2 Russets at the same price and sometimes higher than was paid for the best U. S. No. 1. In last season in the best U. S. No. 1 Yakima valley in Washington with a freight rate of 34 1/2c by rail and boat to San Francisco, moves a great many Russets to California, and at the same time this has limited the Idaho movement to northern California during the period of heaviest shipments from Yakima. However, it is estimated that the Yakima valley and only 1000 cars left to move March 1, of which a large share will be required to supply Portland, Oregon, Seattle, and other points on the Puget Sound. Thus, other points may come this spring when the extreme west will look to Idaho for its supply. The prolonged drought in California and the Jap labor shortage may also provide Idaho with a greater outlet in California for the 1924 crop.

BETTER HEALTH SERVICE

Public Health Is Public Wealth

Issued by the Public Health League of Idaho

THE SOCIAL DISEASES.

The so-called social diseases are undoubtedly the greatest single cause of wrecked brains and damaged bodies in our life today. Syphilis kills more people than tuberculosis.

In the world war a large percentage of men examined for military duty failed because of social diseases. Two great railroad wrecks were caused by the disregarding of signals by the engineers. In each case the engineer's brain became disordered, due to syphilis acquired years before.

Our state institutions for the insane, the blind, the feeble minded, and many millions annually, are largely peopled by the victims of the social diseases.

Social diseases are often acquired through immorality, then passed on to innocent victims, usually in the same family. Persons infected with these diseases often believe themselves cured, only to spread sickness and death to others later.

For the cure of these diseases, the victim should depend only on expert medical treatment. Their prevention is a problem for city state and national health departments.

These diseases are entirely preventable, but prevention will only come when a better understanding of the subject creates universal public education.

Education promises the hope for the future. Teach the young the truth of sex life and social hygiene. Men become infected with these diseases through ignorance.

When we tear away the cloak of prudery and false modesty and throw the light on this plague, we shall mark the beginning toward destroying it entirely.

FORUM CLUB APPEARS IN DIVERTING PROGRAM

High School Students Present Comedy Debate and Burlesque Trial Before More Than 200 Persons

More than 200 persons attended the program of the high school Forum club Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium, which netted a substantial financial return to the organization and convulsed the audience for the better part of a two-hour program.

The program, under the direction of Marshall Barzaga, furnished the first number of the varied program, with a few musical numbers in which from home school by the leaders of the Forum. This was followed by another debate between the members of the club on the question, "Resolved, that one should cultivate thinness in preference to fatness," with the vote of the judges unanimously in favor of the affirmative side of the question, which was upheld by Gertrude Roxroat and Kenneth Roush, members of the Forum. The latter part of the program was a mock trial of a burlesque damage suit instituted by Gertrude Roxroat as the plaintiff, Jinks, against the defendant, Jones, George Harrison, on the charge of ridicule of the plaintiff by the defendant. The arguments presented by the opposing attorneys, Alton Blackburn for the plaintiff, and Jerome Krivanek for the defendant, the antics of Herbert Carter in the role of bailiff, Spencer Miller, who presented several clues as a detective, and Lee Miller, Hazel Parish, Walter Weaver and James Tucker, members of the jury contributed to the comedy at the heated trial, which was presided over by Walter Battelore as judge, and finally closed with a settlement out of court. Twenty-one students participated in the trial. The Forum club now numbers approximately 75 members and its next activities will be given in a banquet for the active members in the near future.

Bridge Club Meets

at Thorp Home

The Wednesday Bridge club met this week on Tuesday with Mrs. J. G. Thorp. Favor for high score was won by Mrs. Wilbur H. Hill and Mrs. W. H. Greenhow received the consolation.

Miss Ida Peairs

Is Honored

Complimenting Miss Ida Peairs, who is leaving the latter part of the week with her parents to make their home at Longview, Wash., Miss Jane Hall entertained with a dancing party Monday evening at her home on Heyburn avenue.

Punch was served throughout the evening and later refreshments were enjoyed. The guests were Jerome Krivanek, Peggy Wall, Katherine Newman, Marjorie Waggie, Betty Wilson, Dorothy Harger, Lily Nelson, Howard Berg, Holman Gray, Neilson, Lamborn, Edward Barrett, Edwin Deist and Frank McMaster.

Mrs. H. W. Olouchek

Is Hostess

The current events department of the Twentieth Century club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. H. W. Olouchek. Mrs. Packard presided over the meeting and the usual current events were given in answer to roll call.

Mrs. B. F. Ratcliffe read a paper on the abuse suffered by Indians in Oklahoma at the hands of the white people. Mrs. O. W. Witham had a paper on the Indians of the southwest, dealing especially with the Pueblos.

Mrs. Mary V. Norton completed the reading of an article on the education of the youth abroad. A social hour was enjoyed during which Mrs. Olouchek and the assistant hostesses, Mrs. P. J. Costello, Mrs. Kenyon Green and Mrs. Earl Alworth, served delicious refreshments.

Insect Punctures.
Bites on trees, caused by a blow on the bark or by punctures of insects, when large, prettily mark the wood and make it popular for furniture and cabinet work.

Peggy Wall, gorgeously arrayed as a colonial page, conducted the guests to the dressing rooms on the second floor. The regent of the Twin Falls chapter, Mrs. L. L. Breckenridge, dressed as George Washington, and Mrs. Wilton Peck as Martha Washington, received the guests in the sun-room, fitted up as a colonial reception room.

Following a brief business session an interesting program was given which Mrs. A. K. Seaver, who had planned the event, called "an endless chain." Each character gave a little story, or an unusual bit of history, and then called on another, who continued the chain. Miss Emma Smith was charming. George and Martha Washington presided, and Sambo, the butler, was especially attentive.

Refreshments rather unusual and distinctive were served as fitted the theme.

M'ADOO SWINGS AT WALL STREET

Charges Financial Interests with Attempt to Nominate Candidates for Both Parties

LOS ANGELES, March 11 (AP)—William G. McAdoo, candidate for the democratic presidential nomination, departed for his old home in Georgetown Monday to conduct a brief primary campaign and left in his wake a message of defiance for Wall street, the "powerful, and selfish interests," Senator Reed of Missouri and those Democrats in California who are opposing any instruction McAdoo delegation to the national convention.

The former Secretary of the treasury charged "Wall street and the interests" with trying to nominate both the republican and democratic presidential candidates, and the "interests" had accused of attempting to "destroy progressive candidates."

With regard to Senator Reed, he said that "the crushing defeat administered by the democrats of Missouri to Senator Reed on Saturday is a striking rebuke for the example of cunning and personalities he directed at me."

He added, "the same kind of a campaign is being attempted in California. It will not succeed."

IT HELPS

Six thousand acres of beets have been signed up as of March 10 by the Amalgamated Sugar company, according to James Selley, District Manager of the company.

Last year, at this time, but fifteen hundred acres had been secured, the total beet acreage for the entire year being but three thousand six hundred acres.

A part of this gain in acreage is of course due to a new contract, but we are inclined to wonder at times if much of it does not come about because of an improved viewpoint on the part of the farmers as a whole toward the various industries which supply
the market for the products of the farm.

Last year's crop of beets resulted in the distribution of something like eight hundred thousand dollars to the growers hereabouts. This year, on the basis of the acreage secured to date,
about one million five hundred dollars
will be distributed.

Probably there will always be points
of difference as between the factory
and the grower; some of these points may be sound, others will not be, but the average of the known views will come pretty close to expressing the true attitude of the public as a whole and as human instrumentality yet devised is one hundred per cent satisfactory to all concerned.

There is no getting away from the fact that the Twin Falls Sugar Factory is an institution which it would be difficult to replace and a million and a half dollar beet crop is one of the biggest single factors in the progress and prosperity of the Twin Falls country.

TRUTH IN PUBLICITY

The publicity chairman of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce proposes to "headline" that city at seventy-five thousand dollars a year for the next three years. The purpose is to bring new business enterprises into Kansas City by advertising the city's natural resources and opportunities.

Other communities have already done
the same thing, the promoter points out, spending large sums for the purpose. Minneapolis, New Orleans, St.
Louis, Omaha, and Joplin, to mention only a few, have spent sums varying from twenty-five thousand dollars to one hundred twenty-five thousand dollars to make themselves better known to citizens and capital in other localties.

State and municipal advertising along such lines and with much the same purpose always in view is becoming quite common. It isn't quite so common for the leading publication in such a community to sound the note of warning and advice that the Kansas City Star does in an editorial.

"There is need," says that paper,
"to consider how the city would impress people who might be attracted here by any advertising that might be done."

"When a dealer starts advertising a soap, he wants to be sure that his product is attractive in every particular. Isn't it just as necessary to see that the city is all to the good before advertising it? Sloppiness in little details, in unswampy, dusty streets and ugly vacant lots will do much to offset the favorable impression made by the city's substantial advantages."

It is good advice that any community would do well to follow. Truth in advertising has long been an ideal of reputable commercial advertisers. It should be, also, for municipalities or states that want to attract new settlers. Kansas City undoubtedly has the advantages and opportunities it is

DR. JACK
By DADDY

Jack and Janet, while playing doctor and nurse, are called by Hoppy Hop Rabbit to attend Lonesome Bear, who is ill. Jack gives Lonesome Bear sugar pills for a pain in his head.

CHAPTER III.
What Ailed Lonesome Bear.

JACK and Janet were startled when they saw the effect of Jack's sugar pills upon Lonesome Bear. Instead of curing Lonesome Bear, and making him in his head easier, they seemed to drive him wild.

Lonesome Bear went roaring and howling up and down his cave. "Oh Wag-tail! You have made my pain bore more than ever," he yelled.
Jack could not understand that.
"The pills were only sugar," he whispered to Janet. "How could sugar make his pain worse than ever?"

Janet shook her head. "I do not know," she replied. "When I had mumps, a pickle made my pain horrible, but sugar didn't bother me."
"I remember eating candy once
when I had the toothache," he said slowly. "The candy got in my aching tooth, and made me jump and holler and hold my head." Then Jack gave a sudden shout. "I know what is the matter with Lonesome Bear. He has the toothache. That is what is making his jaw swell up that way—and not the mumps, as we thought."

Janet agreed that Jack was right.
Lonesome Bear had the toothache.
"I know what is the matter with you, Lonesome Bear," said Jack. "You have the toothache."

"Wag-tail. To be sure I have a toothache," roared Lonesome Bear.
"I don't need any doctor to tell me that."

"Let us see how bad your tooth is,"
said Jack. "Open your mouth."
Lonesome Bear halted in his pacing
up and down and looked at Jack suspiciously.

"Will you promise not to throw any more of those hurting pills
in my mouth?" he asked.
Jack promised not to give him any more pills, and Lonesome Bear opened his mouth.

Jack and Janet gave a gasp of surprise when they saw the tooth that was aching. It was a big tooth and Lonesome Bear's jaw was swollen angrily
all around it.

"That tooth will have to come out,"
declared Jack.
"Wag-tail! Will it stop aching if it comes out?" asked Lonesome Bear.

"To be sure it will!" answered
Jack.
"Wag-tail! Then take it out! Take it out quickly!" roared Lonesome Bear.
"I can't stand this pain any longer."

Jack looked again at the tooth. He didn't know how to take it out. But there was a dentist in the village.
"We will have to go to Dr. Pallen, the dentist," said Jack. "He will pull your tooth out and make you better."

(So they go to the dentist, and the funny thing that happens
there will be told in tomorrow's

Days of Poor Richard

"I hope you are right, he answered.
"I am told that the whole matter rests with your Doctor Franklin. If we are to go on from bad to worse he will be responsible."

"If it were with him I can assure you, sir, that our troubles will end I said, looking only at the surface of the matter and speaking confidently out of the bottomless pit of my inexperience as the young are like to be.

"I believe you are right," he declared and went on with a smile. "Now my young friend, the girl has a notion that she loves you. I am aware of that —so are you, I happen to know. Through Doctor Franklin's influence we have allowed her to receive your letters and to answer them. I have no doubt of your sincerity, or hers, but I do not foresee what has come to pass. She is our only child and you can scarcely blame me if I balk at a marriage which promises to turn her away from us and fill our family
with dissension."

"May we not respect each other and disagree in politics?" asked Franklin.
"In politics, yes, but not in way. I begin to see danger of war and that is fall of the bitterness of death. If Doctor Franklin will do what he can to re-establish loyalty and order in the colonies my fear will be removed and I shall welcome you to my family."

"I am quite indifferent to war," he had cynically declared at last. "The confessions it would produce will provide for many of our friends."

"It was an astonishing bit of frankness."

"Take this opportunity of assuring your lordship that for all the property
you seize or destroy in America, you will pay to the last farthing," said
Franklin.

This treatment was like that he had received from other members of the government since the unfortunate publication of the Hutchinsons, Rogers and Oliver letters. They seemed to entertain the hope that he had forfeited the respect due a gentleman.

A few days after Franklin had given air to his suspicion that the government party tried to tow him into port three stout British ships had broken their cables on him. An invitation not likely to be received by one who had really forfeited the respect of gentlemen was in his hands. The shrewd philosopher did not think twice about it. He knew that here was the first step in a change of tactics. He could not properly decline to accept it and so he went to dine and spend the night with the most distinguished company at the court of Lord Howe.

Some of the best people were there
—Lord and Lady Cathcart, Lord and Lady Hyde, Lord and Lady Dartmouth,
Sir William Pitt, Sir Henry Clinton,
Sir James Hald, Sir Benjamin Harrison
and their ladies were also present. Doctor Franklin said that the punch was calculated to promote cheerfulness and high sentiment. As was the custom at like functions, the ladies sat together at one end of the table, Franklin being at the other end of Lord Howe, who was most gracious and entertaining.
The first toast was to the venerable philosopher.

The dinner over, Lady Howe conducted Doctor Franklin to the library, where she asked him to sit down. There were no other persons in the room.
She sat down and began to speak of the misfortune of the colony of Massachusetts Bay.

Lord Howe joined them in a moment.
He was most polite.
"I am sensible of the fact that you have been mistreated by the ministry," he said. "I have not approved of their conduct. I have been disconnected with them save through personal friendship.
My zeal for the public welfare is my only excuse for asking you to open your mind. The plan is now to send a commission to the colonies, as you have urged."

Then said Lady Howe: "I wish my brother Franklin, that you were to be sent there. I have heard that much better than General Howe, going to command the army there."

A rather tense moment followed.
Franklin broke its silence by saying
in a gentle tone:
"I think, madame, they should provide the general with more honorable employment. I beg that your industry will not misjudge me. I am not capable of taking an office from this government while it is acting with so much hostility toward my country."

"The ministers have the opinion that you can compose the situation if you will," Lord Howe declared. "Many of us have been disappointed in your abilities. I would not think trying to influence your judgment by a selfish motif, but certainly you may, with reason, expect any reward which it is in the power of the government to bestow."

Then came an answer which should live in history, as one of the great speeches of human nature and all men,
especially those of English blood, should feel a certain pride in it. The answer was:
"Your lordship, I am not looking for rewards, but only for justice."

"Let us try to agree as to what is the justice of the matter," Howe answered. "Will you not draft a plan
on which you would be willing to cooperate?"

"That I will be glad to do,"
persisting in his misjudgment, Howe
suggested:
"As you have friends here and constituents in America to keep well with,
perhaps it would better not be in your hands. Send it to Lady Howe, and she will copy it and return the original."

Then said the sturdy old Yankee: "I desire, my friends, that there shall be no secrecy about it."

Lord and Lady Howe showed signs of great disappointment as he bade them good night and begged to be sent to his room.

"I am an old man, and have to ask for like indulgence from every hostess," he pleaded.
Howe was not willing to leave a stone unturned. He could not dismiss the notion from his mind that the purchase could be effected if the bid were raised. He drew the Doctor aside and said:

"We do not expect your assistance without proper consideration. I shall insist upon generous and ample appointments for the men you take with you and especially for you as well as a firm promise of subsequent rewards."

INDIANS IN FILM PROLOGUE.

For some of the scenes in the prologue of "Pioneer Trails," the David Smith production which will be shown at the Orpheum theater room, a tribe of Cree Indians is used. David Smith obtained special permission to use these Indians because it was necessary to take them away from the reservation. Many of the number were old and during the journey traveled through the country with Wind Wolf and met at the Orpheum theater a tribe
is a far from graduate and thoroughly Americanized in dress and manner, yet he has not forgotten the traditions of his tribe and people, and when he donsawpaw and feathers he reverts to type.

Eden Rancher Buys Bickel School Bell

The big bell that summoned children of pioneer days in Twin Falls to school in the Bickel school building, has been sold for $10 by the Twin Falls school district to a ranchman of the Eden district, who expects to put it to use on his ranch, according to report made to the board of education Monday evening by W. H. Wenner, member of the board, to whom arrangements for sale of the bell had been delegated. The Bickel school bell was the first and only bell ever purchased for use in Twin Falls schools, and its use was discontinued several years ago when a system of gongs was installed in all local school buildings.

TRAIL BUILDING CALLED FEASIBLE

American Legion Post Committee Reports Favorably on Making Falls Accessible

Construction of a trail from the canyon rimrock to Twin Falls to make one of the outstanding scenic wonders of the region more accessible to Twin Falls citizens and their guests is entirely feasible and may be accomplished with a nominal expenditure of money and considerable hard work, according to a report made Tuesday evening to Twin Falls post, American Legion, by a committee named recently by the veterans' organization. Definite action on the report was deferred until later meeting and in the meantime the committee is to continue its study of the undertaking.

A membership campaign launched a week ago is being prosecuted with a degree of success that maintains the position of the Twin Falls post at the head of the list of Idaho legion posts in regard to membership rates, according to a report submitted by the special membership committee. The campaign, it was decided, will be continued for two weeks, to be concluded at the next regular meeting of the post, for which an entertainment program is to be provided by members who survive during the world war in the infantry arm of the service.

EXPLAINS NEW RATES ON ELECTRIC WATER HEATING

Logging of Tank Suggested as One Way to Reduce Increased Costs May Be Cut Down

Water heaters which now cost two dollars a month to operate will carry a minimum charge of $3.50 per month when the new rates for electrical energy go into effect, according to Charles Neely, local manager of the Idaho Power company.

This minimum, however, will provide for the operation of the heater only 19 hours a day instead of 24 hours. On the new schedule of charges to operate the heater for 24 hours a day will cost approximately $4.32 per month. Because of the apparent misunderstanding on the subject the above information was obtained from the local offices of the company. The actual change in rate for water heating, according to the company, will amount to an increase of one-third of the present rate, or to six-tenths of a cent. In this connection it is pointed out by Manager Neely that a saving of from 25 to 50 per cent in the power used may be effected by logging or covering the tank.

The new rates are not effective for 60 days after the installation of the meters, during which period it is proposed to present a memorandum to the board of service under the new rates together with the regular monthly bill at the old rate.

Opening Offer for Right of Way Land Is Not Considered

Utah Construction Company Turns Down Local Proposition and Declines to Enter Conference

A definite offer of $30,000 made as a basis for negotiations for the necessary right of way by the local railroad committee was yesterday turned down by the Utah Construction company, on the ground that the offer was so far out of line as to preclude consideration.

The message to which yesterday's wire was in reply suggested that in the event the offer was not acceptable a conference be held in Twin Falls between representatives of the Utah Construction company and the local committee, to be followed by an inspection of the lands in question if this seemed to be necessary. The message, in addition to declining to consider the offer, stated that the suggested offer to confer was also declined.

General Manager Platt of the Oregon Short Line was last night advised by wire by Chairman Sweeney of the action of the committee and requested to take the necessary steps looking to the condemnation of the land, advising the local committee as to whether or not the request will be complied with.
