Wadsworth Sees Further Evidence of Politics and Unfairness in Dill's Resolution to Force Navy Man Out

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—While the senate committee was in recess today opponents of the leasing of the naval reserves were restricted in their action to the floor of the senate, where developments centered around a resolution by Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, calling for the resignation of Assistant Secretary Roosevelt. It proposes to express the "sense of the senate" that President Coolidge should ask for the assistant secretary's resignation.

Attacks Motive

Senator Dill introduced his resolution without comment, but Senator Wadsworth, republican, New York, attacked the "evident motive behind it," declaring the author of the resolution "has deliberately withheld the facts bearing upon his preamble." Senator Wadsworth contended the purpose was "to bare attempt to be smugly by false insinuation the name of a public official." He referred to the Washington senator as "another snip-er riding from the political trenches." A letter from Assistant Secretary Roosevelt to State Senator Wm. M. Campbell, of New York, was read into the record. Recalling the assistant secretary's connection with the oil reserves it declared he had opposed their transfer to the interior department and was ignorant of the leases which ensued until they had been announced publicly. Senator Wadsworth also presented a letter from Rear Admiral Robert S. Griffin, retired, a leader of the anti-leaseists in the department, confirming Mr. Roosevelt's statement of the facts.

Witness Missing

Chairman Ladd, republican, North Dakota, announced there had been no change in the schedule recording of the oil committee despite the failure of subpoena servers to locate Wm. Boyce Thompson, former chairman of the republican national finance committee, who is to be questioned respecting campaign contributions. Plans for forthcoming hearings do not go beyond the delving into campaign contributions from oil interests, members of the committee said, but there was no confirmation of reports that an early conclusion of that body's activities was now foreseen.

Vanderlip Answers
Ohio Publisher's
Suit for $600,000

Denies Charges of Libel and Slander in Connection with His Statements as to Sale of Harding Newspaper

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Counsel for Frank A. Vanderlip today filed in federal district court a hundred page answer to the $600,000 suit brought against him by owners of the Marion, Ohio Star, the newspaper formerly published by the late President Harding.

Mr. Vanderlip denied charges of libel and slander upon which the three suits are based. He maintained that statements he made in an address at Oshkosh, N. Y., on February 12, concerning terms under which President Harding sold the Star to Louis G. Brush and Roy D. Moore, represented an honest effort by a public spirited citizen to dispel, by instigating an investigation of rumors, the "general suspicion concerning the integrity of public officers charged with the administration of the United States laws."

The suits filed after Mr. Vanderlip's appearance before the senate investigating committee as a result of the Oshkosh speech, were based on three charges that the plaintiffs were charged by Vanderlip with being financially irresponsible, insolvent and not entitled to credit; that the retired banker caused his speech to be reported in the New York Tribune; and that he approved a report of the speech submitted to him by the Associated Press, thus authorizing publication of the report.

"God has forgiven me and I hope you will too," Ostergard wrote. Van Dyke made a thorough search of his records and could find no neglected taxes owed by Ostergard.

APPEAL RULING
IN SCHOOL CASE

Federal Judges Hold Oregon Compulsory Law as Being Not Constitutional

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31 (AP)—Appeal to the United States supreme court will be taken from the decision rendered here today by three federal judges holding unconstitutional the Oregon compulsory public school law adopted by the voters as an initiative measure in 1922.

Circuit Judge William B. Gilbert, who with District Judges C. E. Wolverton and R. S. Bean rendered the decision, said the case could go to the highest court. Governor Walter M. Pierce, one of the defendants enjoined from enforcing the law, also announced today at Salem that the state would appeal.

The opinion of the three judges defended the right of private schools to exist in the state, holding that "their privilege to teach grammar grades must be regarded as natural and inherent."

"The act could not be more effective for utterly destroying the business and occupation of the complainant schools, except perhaps the colleges and preparatory grades, if it had been entitled 'An act to prevent parochial and private schools from teaching the grammar grades,'" the opinion holds. The decision was in cases brought by the Hill millinery academy of Portland, a private school for boys, and by the Society of Sisters of the Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, a Catholic institution, having charge of parochial schools. The defendants are Governor W. M. Pierce, Attorney-General I. N. Winkle and Stanley Myers, district attorney of Multnomah county.

McADOO MOTION THROWS
DEMOCRATS IN DEADLOCK

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 31 (AP)—Deadlocked in a bitter forensic contest over a motion to endorse William G. McAdoo for the presidency, the convention of the state democratic central committee recessed tonight for one hour when the faction opposed to the motion refused to allow a vote on the motion and threatened to bolt the meeting. The convention elected 12 delegates, with a voting strength of six, to represent Arizona at the national democratic convention in New York. W. L. Barnum of Phoenix, was re-elected national committeeman over C. P. Hinchcliff of Tucson, and Mrs. Theodore March of Nogales, was again named national committee woman.

INCOME TAX CUT

GIVEN APPROVAL

Provision for Reduction on Income Taxes, Payable This Year Voted by Senate's Finance Committee

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—The provision in the revenue bill for a 25 per cent reduction on income taxes payable this year was approved unanimously tonight by the senate finance committee.

This action was taken after a day in which the pruning knife had been used vigorously when the rate schedules were taken up. Other actions of the night session included modification of the corporation tax, insertion of a provision to prevent insurance hereafter of tax exempt securities and rejection of a sales tax proposal.

Stock Tax Ruled Out

It was agreed to increase the corporation tax of 12 per cent to 14 per cent and eliminate the special tax on capital stock amounting to $1 for each $1000 of stock.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, who proposed the action, said it would make no material change in the amount of revenue collected from this source but that present administrative difficulties would be lessened by elimination of the capital stock tax. The vote on the motion was five to four.

Amendment Carries

Senator Reed also proposed the amendment which was carried by a similar vote to make taxable the income from state and municipal securities hereafter issued. Opponents argued such action was unconstitutional and would have to be brought about by constitutional amendment. Such an amendment was defeated this session by the house which also rejected the proposition.

Former Elmore County Prosecutors Figure in Affray; One Fatally Injured

BOISE, April 1 (AP)—Dan McLaughlin, prosecuting attorney of Elmore county, who was shot at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, died at 1:30 a. m., according to the Harley hospital authorities of Mountain Home.

Vern Taylor, a former prosecuting attorney of Elmore county, is held in the county jail, charged with the shooting.

No motive is known for Taylor's attack. Mr. McLaughlin told Dr. O. P. Hamilton, of Mountain Home, surgeon in charge, that although he was at a hospital at Mountain Home, he thought he (Taylor) was nursing "an imaginary grudge." Taylor, placed under arrest immediately following the shooting, would make no statement.

McLaughlin has been practicing law in Mountain Home for 24 years. Taylor, a graduate from the University of Idaho law school with the class of 1914, came to Mountain Home from Gooding four years ago. He was a second lieutenant in the army during the world war but did not serve overseas.

Mellon Ouster Drive

Resolution is Tabled

Tennessee Democrat Is Only Senator to Urge McKellar Scheme for Investigation of Treasury Secretary's Record; Solons Confer on Wisdom of Insisting on Action

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A resolution designed to ouster Secretary Mellon from office on technical legal grounds, launched last Friday by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, bobbed up in the senate today only to land on the table with no one demanding action upon it.

It was baffled severely by Mr. Mellon's republican defenders who it stranded, while Senator McKellar's was the only voice urging it on its way. Whether it will be floated later is a matter of dispute among senate democratic chiefs, who conferred during the debate on the wisdom of pressing it, while Senator Robinson of Kansas, democrat leader, who returned to Washington after several days absence, disclaimed responsibility for the move initiated by the Tennessee senator.

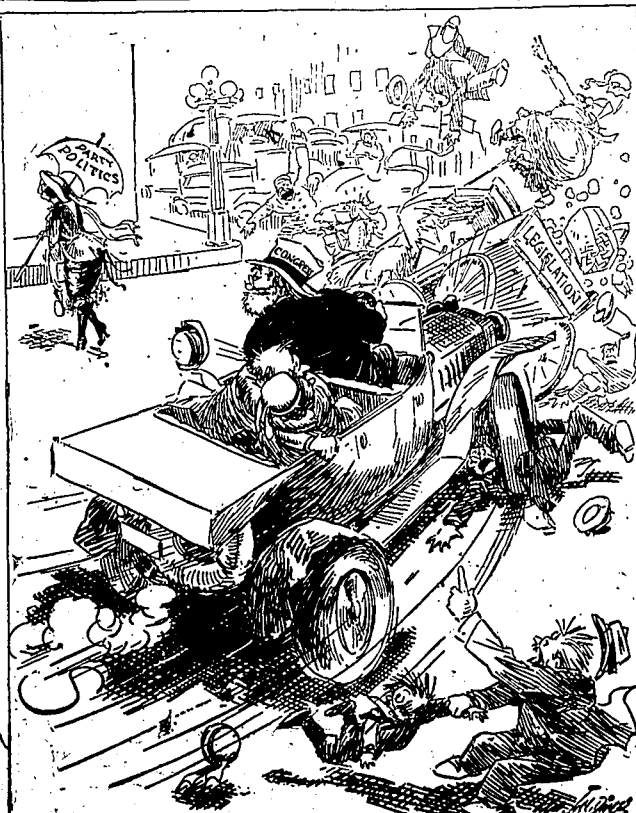

McKellar Explains
Senator McKellar declared he was not charging Mr. Mellon with any wrongdoing or failure, but merely insisting upon enforcement of old statutes forbidding the appointment as federal fiscal officers of men "interested or concerned" in the carrying of commercial enterprises.

Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, who led the defenders, asserted from personal knowledge that Mr. Mellon had divested himself of every commercial and industrial connection that could be questioned in any way before he went to the treasury.

The names of the "Mellon" companies were refused action in general terms during the senate debate. Before the special senate committee investigating the life insurance bureau, however, the intimate tax affairs of the Gulf Oil corporation, in which Mr. Mellon is a minority stockholder, were aired in detail. Sparks flew in the committee room between Senators Couzens, republican, Michigan, director of the inquiry, and Senator Ernst, republican, Kentucky, who sprang to the defense of the treasury when Senator Couzens started a line of inquiry that the Kentucky senator insisted looked like the committee was "after Mellon."

Details Mellon Interests
The McKellar resolution was the last thing before the senate when it adjourned Friday and the instant it was reproduced for disposition, Senator Reed plunged into a detailed statement of the interests Mr. Mellon had at the time he was tendered a cabinet position by President Harding.

Goldfield Citizens Oust Orientals Who Failed to Observe Custom of Over Twenty Years Among Nevada Miners

RENO, Nevada, March 31 (AP)—Six Chinese returned to Tonopah from Goldfield yesterday escorted by under-Sheriff Benton of Esmeralda county, in which Goldfield is situated, and declared that they had been ordered to depart from Goldfield under arrest.

They opened an office 10 days ago and Saturday night, under-Sheriff Benton said, they were warned by five "hoodlums" to get out of the camp. They asked the sheriff for protection and were taken to the hotel for the night, promising to depart in the morning.

Benton denied that threats were made against the Chinese but says they are "scared." Three of them are American citizens.

In 22 years no Chinese have ever been allowed to stay in Goldfield and none of them has ever attempted to break the rule until now, Benton said.

WEEK'S LINEUP ARRANGED FOR JUSTICE PROBE

Daugherty Committee Decides to Continue Work and Program Made for Week; Bank Books Under Examination

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A decision to continue its work was reached today by the Daugherty investigating committee. Disregarding the resignation of the former attorney general the committee in two executive sessions held out a tentative program which will, Chairman Brookhart announced, keep it in open session for taking testimony until the end of this week.

Notwithstanding the indicated purpose of the committee's members to seek new light in the further proceedings on the department of justice record of war fraud and anti-trust prosecutions, its chief sessions today were given over largely to consideration of the rising out of its ranks the firing of charges against Mr. Daugherty.

Dawes Called.
Comptroller of the Currency Dawes was called to discuss the means of bringing under examination the books of the Midland National Bank at Washington Courthouse, Ohio, of which Mr. S. Daugherty, the former attorney general's brother, is president. The bank president has refused to answer the committee's subpoena or to allow its agents to inspect all the records, but a motion before the committee to cite him to the senate for contempt was left pending.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, the committee prosecutor, also interviewed Acting Attorney General Beck today and arranged tentatively to have Gaston B. Means, a former government investigator, left temporarily in the committee's custody in spite of the issuance of a bench warrant today requesting his presence in the federal court in New York.

Means, who has testified to carrying money to Jess W. Smith in alleged bootlegging and war fraud "denies" is now assisting the committee in its inquiry, Chairman Brookhart said, and can be brought to answer the federal charge of conspiracy against him later. The negotiations between Mr. Beck and the committee representatives, the chairman added, had resulted in the giving of practical assurance that Means' trial would be delayed until his service to the committee was no longer denied.

TAKE STEPS TO CURB EPIDEMIC

Committee Named at Salt Lake Conclave to Draft Quarantine Against Cattle Disease

SALT LAKE, March 31 (AP)—A committee to draft uniform quarantine regulations for western states was appointed at the afternoon session of the meeting of representatives of western states which is being held here to consider methods of preventing the spread of foot and mouth disease which broke out in California four weeks ago.

The possibility of the disease spreading beyond the confines of California will be limited by the regulations, delegates emphasized, and accordant preventive measures will prove beneficial to all interests or persons concerned in the livestock industry.

State veterinarians and officials of state agricultural departments represented western states. Livestock associations, banks, railroads and express companies also were represented.

The afternoon session was taken up with discussion of the disease and the meeting adjourned until evening.

RABBITS AND HUMAN LIFE

The last few decades have witnessed marvelous advances in the ability of science to conserve human life and health. Greater progress in determining the cause, prevention and cure of disease has been made in the last 50 years than in all previous history. These achievements have been made possible to a great extent by modern methods of experimental research.

There are two principal ways of adding to our knowledge of disease. One is through observation of the sick and the other is through experimenting with lower animals where conditions can be controlled. The latter method is a feature of modern science, and through it investigators have opened up almost unlimited fields of discovery.

The fundamental discovery in this field was made by Pasteur, a French scientist, who became interested in conditions which produced bad taste in wines. He proved that they were due to minute plant growths or germs by introducing these germs into good wines. He later discovered the growth which caused a disease in silk worms, and devised a means of preventing it. Pasteur gave to the world the means of preventing rabies and anthrax, and in his research opened up an unexplored field.

Lord Lister, acting on Pasteur's ideas, watched the healing of wounds on men and by careful experimentation on such animals as guinea pigs and rabbits was able to show it was the presence of certain germs that prevented healing. His research, the foundation of modern aseptic surgery, has resulted in the saving of countless thousands of human lives. During the civil war blood poisoning was frequent and brought a death rate of 97 per cent. The abdomen and other body cavities were forbidden fields for surgical aid, as the patients were almost certain to die. With modern methods the chances of infections are negligible, and operations formerly impossible are performed daily all over the world.

It was through animal experimentation that the world received the benefits of antitoxin which has so reduced the deaths from the dreaded disease of diphtheria. The scourge of motherhood, "child-bed fever," so common 50 years ago, has been banished. Without scientific animal experimentation the discoveries we now know which prevent malaria, yellow fever, rabies, lockjaw, would not be available. Bubonic plague, typhus and cholera no longer menace this country, and localities at one time sink holes of disease and pestilence are now beautiful—due to the advance of science, made possible by this research.

And the lower animals themselves are benefactors from the knowledge thus obtained, as the lives of tens of thousands are being saved annually from the knowledge of and the power of control over such diseases as hog cholera, anthrax, Texas fever and others which have claimed millions of victims.

Is Five Cents on the Dollar of Valuation Too Much to Earn?

If a business worth $10,000 earned $500 net income in a year (or $41 a month), would it be considered an unreasonable profit and proof that its prices were too high?

The railroads are in that situation today. The 1923 net return for the whole country was less than 5 per cent. As of December 31, 1919, the Interstate Commerce Commission gave to the railroads a tentative valuation of $18,900,000,000. With actual figures for 1920, 1921, 1922, and with 1923 conservatively estimated at $1,100,000,000, there has been invested in the railroads since this tentative valuation a net amount of $2,371,583,000, making the value as of December 31, 1923, $21,271,583,000. On this amount the railroads in 1923 earned an aggregate net operating income of approximately $997,610,000, or 4.69 per cent.

The Government guarantee of earnings expired August 31, 1920. If this guarantee had been continued—as repeatedly but erroneously claimed—the Government would owe the railroads more than a billion dollars.

Last year the roads handled a record volume of business but could not earn the fair return of 5 1/2 per cent to which the Interstate Commerce Commission, under the Transportation Act, has found they are entitled. If the roads cannot earn 5 1/2 per cent in a big year, what will they do in a small year?

The Transportation Act provides that if a road in any year earns more than 6 per cent it shall pay one-half of the excess to the Government. The Act is, therefore, a limitation rather than a guarantee.

Give Transportation Act Fair Trial

The Transportation Act should be given a fair test and its merits judged by the results of a normal period of reasonable length. The year 1923 was the first since the war under conditions approaching stabilization.

What the railroad situation demands just now is not more law but more confidence. The railroads have emerged from the walter of the war, restored their morale, made enormous investments of new money, and in 1923 handled a peak business with universal satisfaction.

The Transportation Act is the only really constructive railroad legislation of a generation. Previous acts were almost solely repressive. In framing the Act the public interest was paramount. The Act directs the Interstate Commerce Commission to "give due consideration to the transportation needs of the country and the necessity of maintaining railway facilities in order to provide the people of the United States with adequate transportation."

Give the Act a chance. Don't amend it. If the roads are let alone they should make as good a record for efficiency this year as last. Constructive suggestions are always welcome.

INDICTMENT OF OIL MAN RAISES COURT PROBLEM

Charge of Grand Jury Against Sinclair Sets Precedent; Supreme Court May Rule; Ten Counts Are Listed

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—Indictment by a federal grand jury here today of Harry F. Sinclair, to whom the government leased the Teapot Dome oil reserve, on contempt charges resulting from his refusal to testify before the senate oil committee, constituted the first action of the kind to grow out of the senate's investigation of oil leases. The action eventually, it is believed, may lead to a ruling before the United States supreme court on the authority of congress to develop evidence along lines followed by the present inquiry.

Counsel for Sinclair stated that the oil operator was not in Washington but that it was their belief he would return voluntarily to face the indictment. Ten counts were listed in the indictment, signed by District Attorney Gordon and Alice Hammer, and Owen A. Roberts as special assistants, each referring to specific questions asked Sinclair by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, during the oil committee's inquiry.

Questions Pertinent.

The questions which Sinclair declined to answer, declaring he would reserve any evidence he might be able to furnish for the courts, were declared by the grand jurors to have been "pertinent to the matters and questions then under inquiry before the said committee."

The indictment recited at length the oil policy determined upon by congress and declared the senate oil committee was authorized to inquire into all phases of the leasing of naval oil reserves which, it was held, was being done when Sinclair refused to answer questions.

The case has been in the grand jury's hands only a few days and with the expiration today of the tenure of the present jury, a new panel is expected to be formed, probably sometime this week, to receive evidence to be presented by the special oil counsel regarding alleged criminal phases attached to oil leases.

Counsel States Case.

Involvement in the contempt case are the contentions of counsel for Sinclair that the evidence thus far adduced by the oil committee already was in the hands of government attorneys for civil and criminal action when he declined to submit to interrogations.

Colonel James W. Zerkow, Sinclair's Washington attorney, said tonight he had not had an opportunity to discuss the indictments with his client. He indicated, however, that Sinclair would not oppose his return here to furnish the necessary bail.

Section 102 of the revised statutes, under which the indictment was turned, provides for both a fine of from $100 to $1,000 and imprisonment of from one to 12 months in the district jail.

Western Club Notes

Edited by
ALICE JEAN SWEETLEY
President, Western Federation.

We feel that we are indeed fortunate to have the privilege of rare chance of space in The News to further publicity of the General and Western Federation work. This is, indeed, most opportune, as it does, just before the two federations will convene at Los Angeles in June. The General Federation will be in session from June 2 until June 14. The Western will be in session two of three days during this period, exact date to be given later. A weekly report of our work will indeed be appreciated by the entire west.

The News made this most kindly offer to me over two weeks ago, but it has been impossible until this hour to get material ready. The Western Federation has been in existence less than five years, and yet in that short while three noted women of the west, and connected with this organization, have been called to higher work. The first, Mrs. C. P. Balabanoff of Tacoma, Washington, president of Washington, and the first woman from that state to join the Western Federation, died very suddenly while in office. The next was Mrs. J. E. Church of Reno, Nevada. She was our going president of that state, and was first vice president of the Western Federation—elected with me at Salt Lake. Her death occurred in November, after the June meeting. She was a wonderful woman, was such a help to me in my work; was so loved in her own state.

And now comes to us the sudden death of another most efficient officer—our beloved Mrs. Fitzgerald, the corresponding secretary of the Western Federation. As the local papers have given the facts of her birth and a full write-up of her life among us, I will not go into that.

The corresponding secretary of this organization is appointed by the president. She is not elected. She is a member of the board and is a delegate, by virtue of her office to any meeting of that organization.

She came to the work a stranger to most of the west save Idaho, where she has endeavored herself to every one connected with the work by her most loyal and capable support. Letters are coming to me from every state expressing sympathy for those bereaved, and giving praise for her promptness and never failing courtesy to all.

She could not go to Ancon, to the Western Federation last June.

Many were the expressions of regret that the woman they had learned to know through her work could not be with us. They desired to take her by the hand and tell her what she had meant to them and to the west.

She was much touched over their regard for her. She, too, died in the harness. Was any most faithful helper when death came to her. The report that she had resigned from the Western Federation is a mistake. She never resigned, nor did she ever intimate to me that she desired to do so. She turned over her reports, nor any other papers connected with this work. They are all at her home.

She was with me the morning of her last day. I had not expected her as I was going to Boise with my husband at noon. But she had received some mail which she thought needed prompt attention, and we went over it together.

She was a woman who seldom complained of being ill. I noticed almost at once that she was far from well. I spoke to her about it, and she said she had what was a rare thing for her, a very hard headache. I urged her to let everything rest until Monday when I would be home.

She insisted that we look up one or two matters, leaving those not urgent to be taken up Monday. When she got home she showed saying she had forgotten to bring over a letter from Mrs. Flynn of Colorado, which she thought important. I again urged her to let it go. She wanted to attend to it and I gave her the necessary information.

She wrote the letter at once, about half past 12 o'clock. She must have done so, as a letter received from Mrs. Flynn states that while she was reading of her death in a Denver paper the postman brought her a letter from Mrs. Fitzgerald, written Thursday noon, and she thought perhaps it was the last letter she ever wrote.

I speak of these seeming trifles to show how faithful she was, in every part of her work. After all, life is made up of little things. No woman ever had a more faithful or a more loyal helper. She was a life member of the Western Federation, which made her a life delegate to that body.

I feel that the west and myself are to be congratulated that Mrs. Marshall P. Browne, 197 Adams street, Twin Falls, has consented to take the office of corresponding secretary of the Western Federation, until the election of officers of this body at Los Angeles in June.

Mrs. Browne is a young woman of unusual ability, experience and love for the work. She is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

HOLDUP ENDS IN FATAL SHOOTING

One Man Killed, Another Injured and in Prison, Following Robbery and Bandit Hunt

LOS ANGELES, March 31 (AP)—G. D. Whicker, 21, of Maywood, near here, is dead, and Jack Rogers, alias James A. Rogers, believed to be from Kansas City, is wounded and in prison as a result of the bank holdup and bandit hunt here today.

The women of Lapland are among the smallest in the world, averaging only four feet nine inches in height.

When the bandits dashed to the street after holding up the financial institution, their automobile refused to start. They commandeered a passing truck, but Whicker was shot by a garage owner to whose car they transferred. Rogers abandoned the automobile and his companion's dead body but was cornered by officers at Huntington Park, a suburb, after he had been wounded in the groin.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK GOOD

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Wall street-bankers generally state that the nation's business is fairly well balanced, and that the immediate future holds prospects of continued industrial activity at a high rate. Statistics of trade and industry for the first quarter of 1924 reveal a greater volume of business than many corresponding periods of previous years.

McTigue Whipped By Georgia School Boy

Young Stribling Wallops Champion to Point of Knockout in 12-Round Go, But Laws Prevent Change in Title

NEWARK, N. J., March 31 (AP)—Young Stribling, sensational Georgia schoolboy boxer, decisively whipped Mike McTigue, world's light heavy-weight champion, in a 12-round match tonight before a crowd of more than 13,000 in the First Regiment armory. Stribling battered the champion from start to finish and had McTigue on the verge of a knockout in the tenth round.

Although he gained the unanimous verdict of newspaper men at the ringside, the victory did not give Stribling possession of the light heavy-weight crown; under the decision laws a title cannot change hands except by a knockout or refusal.

Stribling Applauded.

Stribling was the first to enter the ring and received an ovation. The veteran Irishman followed soon after and they shook hands while a battery of cameras clicked. Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, and Harry Wills, were greeted noisily when introduced in the ring. Tommy Laughran of Philadelphia, flung a challenge at the winner of tonight's evening.

Stribling's father and younger brother were in his corner, while "Ma" Stribling was in a nearby ring-side seat, looking confidently at her stalwart son.

The referee was Harry Lewis.

An appeal for fair play on the part of the crowd toward both fighters was voiced by Joe Humphreys, a veteran announcer.

The weights were: Stribling 165, McTigue 160 1-2.

THE FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

FIRST ROUND—They were called to the center of the ring for instructions.

ROUND TWO—McTigue landed a right and left to the body and they clinched. The youngster drove in a left to the stomach and followed with a battery of lefts to the jaw that drove the champion to the ropes. Stribling blocked a right to the head and they both protested to the referee after a clinch, each claiming the other was hitting unfairly. Stribling landed a left to the jaw and they battled furiously at close range. McTigue clipped Stribling's head with a right, but took several stiff belts to the body and head. They bell rang as they were sparring.

Youngster Misses.

ROUND THREE—Stribling rushed McTigue but missed, the champion landed his right. Stribling snapped McTigue's head back with a left and easily dodged the champion's counter, as they came to grips the youngster pounded McTigue's head. McTigue took the aggressive but was not back with a stiff right to the head that put the crowd in an uproar. The champion was missing repeatedly as they came to close quarters. They were in a clinch at the bell.

ROUND FOUR—Stribling stung McTigue with a left jab and pounded the champion fiercely as they came to close quarters. McTigue gave ground under the Georgian's slashing attack, but did not seem badly hurt. Stribling missed a right swing and took a left hook to the ribs. McTigue took two left to the head and failed to land a center blow. Stribling forced the champion to the ropes with a left, landing his left several times. McTigue was jabbing the youngster back when the bell rang.

ROUND FIVE—They sparred at long range and the champion blocked two of his rival's rushes. They clinched repeatedly amid the bores of the crowd. McTigue landed a light right and they clinched again. The challenger easily ducked a right and dug his left into the champion's ribs and chin. They were in a clinch at the end of the round.

McTigue Not Aggressive.

ROUND SIX—Stribling rushed and landed his left to the jaw. They wrestled in a clinch and the Georgian pounded the back of McTigue's head.

DOUBLES MATCH STARTS STRONG

Kieffner and Bailey Place at Top of First Session of Bowling Tourney

Good scores predominated in the opening of the doubles tournament at the local bowling alley Monday evening and pushed the Bailey-Kieffner combination to win first place in the first section.

The distribution of prizes by Roy Cull at the annual banquet served in the Rogers hotel dining room to the winners of the longer were made in the presence of some 30 bowlers and fans who attended the final meeting.

Following the banquet, competition for the last week of the bowling season was started with a group of eight pairs competing for the doubles title. Good scores were made by everyone and the handicaps made the contests more interesting.

Charlie Larsen rolled the highest game of the evening at the very last of the meet with a 242 score. However, his partner, Evans, failed to have enough of a handicap to overcome the Kieffner-Bailey duo, and the latter took the first night's contest.

This evening eight more pairs will take the alley, to complete the season.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING SUCCEEDS IN CALIFORNIA

WATSONVILLE, Cal., March 31 (AP)—The latest of the numerous co-operative marketing organizations in California is a company known as the Watsonville Apple Distributors, comprising apple growers and packers in the range valley. The yearly apple crop in this district totals more than 1,000,000 boxes.

There are now 53 co-operative marketing associations in the state. They are declared to bring California farmers much greater returns than through the old method of individual sale.

During 1923 farm crops of the state returned their growers approximately $331,000,000.

CALIFORNIA ADVISES BOOSTING FOR IDAHO

Los Angeles Man Sees Gem State as Greatest Dairyland in Country; Points to Kraft Removal

All Idaho needs to make it the richest state in the Union is some of the California boosting spirit, declared P. W. Lynn of Los Angeles, who is a visitor in Boise, says the Idaho Statesman.

"The climate and natural advantages are such that Idaho will naturally become the greatest dairymaking center of the United States, and that result will come much sooner with judicious boosting, Mr. Lynn believes. The overflow from California alone will almost double your population in the next five years," Mr. Lynn continued. "It is coming to be that land in California is too expensive for use in a business way, so many are buying land there for pleasure or home use. Here values are more near an equitable level, and raw materials are cheap. Farmers in the middle west pay $25 or more a ton for their hay and make money from their cheese. Why can't Idaho farmers make even more money from cheese with hay at $3 to $11 a ton?"

In Modesto, Cal., the farmers all tried to raise mules and sweet potatoes, and all went into bankruptcy. Then someone conceived the bright idea of culling the cow to the rescue, and today I doubt if there are many cities in the United States with a greater per capita wealth than Modesto.

"The movement of the Kraft factory from San Francisco to Modesto is merely an indication of the trend of coming events, and your Idaho real estate men and farmers should see the handwriting on the wall."

High School Lads Complete for Priced Offered for Market Type Hogs; General Invitation Extended

The agricultural department of the high school, under the direction of J. S. Fehlbush, will conduct a hog show in the McMaster sales barn this afternoon.

Everything is being done to make this affair of interest to the farmers of the community who are earnestly invited to attend the show, after which the exhibits will be sold.

The exhibits entered by nine boys who have raised the hogs and are limited to three hogs per exhibitor, the record of each hog will be open for inspection and the boys will be on hand to discuss them with the interested public. H. H. Sehlmann of Filer, will judge the entries at 1:30, and the sale of hogs will commence at 3 o'clock.

The furthering of the work of the agricultural department of the high school depends largely upon the interest shown by the farmers of this highly important course, says Fehlbush, and the co-operation of farmers in maintaining interest in the part of the students is requested.

TWO IDAHO MEN MENTIONED FOR CABINET PLACE

Federal Judge Dietrich and Senator Borah Considered by Coolidge Among Possibilities for Daugherty's Job

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—President Coolidge got down to cases today in his task of selecting a successor to Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general.

Having determined during the week-end the type of man he desires for the cabinet place the president called into consultation two close advisers in the legal profession, Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, and Secretary of War Weeks. With them he went over a list of those he has under consideration.

The list is understood to contain the names of Harlan P. Stone, dean of the Columbia university law school; Federal Judge Frank S. Dietrich of Idaho; Judge William S. Kenyon of the federal court of appeals, and former Governor Nathan L. Miller of New York.

Indications were given today that others still in the president's mind were Arthur P. Rugg, chief justice of Massachusetts supreme court; Governor Alexander J. Grohbeck of Michigan, and Senator Borah of Idaho.

Studies Qualifications.

The president during his conferences today was understood to have inquired relative to the qualifications of the various men on his list and to have sought advice respecting the wisdom of appointing each of those mentioned. Chief Justice Taft called at the White House late in the day on another matter but it was indicated that Mr. Coolidge inquired of the chief justice as to the legal qualifications of those with whom Mr. Taft was acquainted.

The post-graduate student was named at the White House that a tender of the portfolio should be made but that the appointment probably would be made within a few days. The only concrete developments of the day beyond the conference appeared to be the addition of the name of former Governor Miller to the list of those being considered and the virtual elimination of Chief Justice Rugg from the list.

Favors Rugg.

The general belief of those close to the president is that he would like to appoint Chief Justice Rugg, but feels that Massachusetts already has more than its share of federal officials. Numerous telegrams and letters urging appointment of various men were received at the White House today and indications developed of considerable protest from the progressive wing of the republican party in favor of Judge Kenyon. Senator Pepper has been mentioned for the office, but the general belief is that Mr. Pepper would not take the place if it were offered to him and that moreover the president regards his services as more valuable in the senate.

NEWEST GUARD COMPANY MAKES RAPID PROGRESS

Captain H. G. Lauterbach, Commander, Praises Men at Close of Drill Demonstrating Effective Training

Company L, Twin Falls, the newest unit of the Idaho national guard, is progressing in its military training in a manner that will make it a factor when the several units of the organization assemble next June at Camp Lewis, members of the company were told by Captain H. G. Lauterbach, its commanding officer, at the close of the drill period Monday evening.

The company drilled out of doors Monday evening for the first time since its formation about two months ago. More than 60 members were in line, and the company drill executed an intricate maneuver with the precision of veterans.

Wednesday evening drill periods held last month under an arrangement whereby members contributed their pay for the extra drill each week to the company's mess fund, will not be held this month, it was announced.

TUBERCULIN TESTS SHOW FEW ANIMALS AFFECTED

Only 11 Reactors Found in First 1800 Cattle Tested in Vicinities of Buhl, Filer and Twin Falls

Out of the first 1800 cattle subjected to tuberculin tests by deputy state veterinarians in the vicinities of Buhl, Filer and Twin Falls, only 11 have been found to be infected with tuberculosis, according to announcement made Monday at the county agent's office, through which the veterinarians' reports are submitted to state officials. The percentage of infection disclosed by these tests, a little less than one-sixth of one per cent, is considered indicative of an unusually favorable situation.

Tests now being made by the deputy veterinarians will be augmented within the next few days with the arrival of federal and state veterinarians to conduct a county-wide "area drive" to eliminate tuberculosis in cattle in this county.

COUNCIL INDORSES NEW PIPE LINE

voir at the municipal water purification plant had been filled before water had been shut out of the canal.

Possibility of increasing the city's supply of storage water through installation of a check in the canal near the intake for the purification plant was pointed out by Commissioner All. He argued that installation of such a structure was necessary in any event to provide for delivery of water to the plant in low water periods without resorting to use of a "booster" pump, operation of which, he said, jeopardized the entire plant. Commissioner All reported that he had consulted with Burton Smith, manager of the canal company, relative to the installation of such a check in the canal, and had been given assurance of co-operation.

Would Enlarge Clear Well

Extension of "clear well" storage capacity was declared by Superintendent Bayburn to be necessary "sooner or later." The clear well is the container provided for storage of water that has been put through the purification process. The existing clear well, Mr. Bayburn said, has a capacity of about 5,000,000 gallons, and, during the summer months, is drained about four times daily by demands of water users. He estimated the cost of doubling the capacity of the existing clear well at approximately $50,000.

Statement made to the commissioners by Commissioner All that state horticultural authorities would require spraying of all trees found to be infected with insect pests led to an informal discussion of various problems in connection with the preservation and control of trees in Twin Falls. Commissioner All, a horticulturist, volunteered to mix kerosene emulsion for use in exterminating the bugs on the trees in the city park.

Some Trees to Be Trimmed

Talk of tree spraying led to talk of tree trimming, and Dr. W. H. Dwight, commissioner of public grounds, renewed his proposal for employment by the city of workmen to trim trees on parkings. This suggestion previously had been disapproved on the grounds that responsibility for care of trees on parkings rests with individual property owners. The city has the right, Mayor S. L. Hodgins stated, to remove at least such portions of trees as are lifting sidewalks, in a manner to cause danger to persons using the walks, and the mayor stated further, the city is liable for damage if an accident results from such dangerous condition of sidewalks. There was general agreement among the commissioners that roots of trees should be removed where they are found to be lifting sidewalks to a dangerous extent.

Bill for Motors Paid

The commissioners denied without discussion an application for license to operate a rooming-house which had been disapproved by the chief of police.

Warrants were ordered drawn in payment of claims against the city in the sum of $10,297.28, which amount

"HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME" MAGNIFICENT ENTERTAINMENT

The audience which assembled at the Idaho theatre last night to see the first presentation here of the widely heralded Universal production "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" witnessed a picture as beautiful, as profoundly stirring, as anything ever hoped for. Universal has taken Victor Hugo's famous novel and converted it into a production that will reach a great many more people and impress them more deeply than the book ever did. It is indisputably a fine achievement. The conversion process has not been a polite one, in that many changes were made, but they are changes that were decidedly for the better. Entertainment is for all people and it is only right to make changes in points that were offensive to a religious creed.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" has been produced on a magnificent scale. The settings are magnificent beyond words and stamped with authenticity and fidelity to detail that places them far above anything that has come out of Hollywood heretofore.

EXCEPTIONAL PICTURE IS ON VIEW AT ORPHEUM

There was revealed at the Orpheum theatre last night a motion picture which deserves a rank with the finest thing of the sort yet done. It is Emmett Flynn's production "In the Palace of the King," adapted from F. Marion Crawford's popular novel. There are a number of spectacular episodes in this production, but the spectacular is never emphasized to the detriment of the dramatic and absorbing story which is woven around half a dozen highly pleasing personages in the royal court of Spain in the sixteenth century.

"In the Palace of the King" is a picture which will appeal to every patron of the films and one that can be seen again and again with both pleasure and profit.

Included $7,626 for purchase of water meters and connections.

The intentional ordinance providing for creation of the sprinkling district for the coming year was placed on its second reading, with adoption scheduled for the next regular meeting of the commission.

Discussion of budgets submitted by the heads of each municipal department to serve as the basis for compiling the municipal budget for the coming year was postponed to the next meeting.

March Makes Exit With Lamblike Mien

Exit of the month of March in the Twin Falls area was decidedly lamblike, weather conditions Monday coming as a gratifying contrast to the wintry blasts of the preceding day. Mercury's range was lower on the last day of March than on the first, records of the government weather observer's station here showing Monday's maximum at 50 above and minimum at 18 above, as against 58 above and 29 above for the month's initial day, but a reading of the thermometer at 9:30 o'clock Monday evening, showing the mercury at 42 above, indicated an auspicious entry for the month of April.

Sunday's temperature was high at 41 above and low at 17 above.

MAKING CLOCKS KEEP TIME

Charles V., emperor of Germany and king of Spain in the sixteenth century, was a great ruler, the greatest of his time. But eventually he grew tired of ruling and did what historians and biographers have always considered a very strange thing. He renounced his throne, retired to a monastery and started tinkering with clocks.

First he took one clock that wouldn't go, and made it go to suit him. Then he took another clock and made it keep time with the first. He continued until he had gathered around him more than one hundred clocks, and then, with passionate enthusiasm, devoted his life to making them all keep the same time. He succeeded, too, within a very close margin. Wherefore
Charles was happy.

Was there anything really strange in that? Charles had learned by hard experience, as every statesman does somewhere or later, the impossibility of making men's minds keep time. Any President, with a Congress on his hands and refusing to go, or a nation that will not tick in unison for twenty-four hours together, must plan for the triumph of the royal German clockmaker.

ROVING FARMERS

If the "Own Your Own Home" movement is meeting success in the cities of the country, it is certainly not doing so in the agricultural districts.
In the past forty-five years the ratio of farm owners and farm tenants has changed from three-to-one to three-to-
two. At the present rate of change it is likely that the next generation will show only half the farms of America worked by their owners and the other half worked by tenants.

Many of the arguments against living always in a rented dwelling apply also to working a rented farm. In a tenant group frequent shifting from place to place is the rule. Farmers today are said to be moving restlessly from farm to farm and from state to state, not for the purpose of developing new land, but simply to try for success in another locality. A tries a farm that B has abandoned and B tries a farm which C has moved from
and C, likely enough, is to be found working A's deserted farm.

A thorough shaking up is sometimes beneficial to persons who have gotten into ruts in their work. But a restless, roving spirit among farmers, which leads them to change from farm to farm without improving their situation in any way, is not just a wholesome shaking up but a mere drifting from one failure to another.

Running a farm successfully requires intelligence and skill as well as perseverance. The farmer who owns his own land is more likely to develop and use all three qualities than the one who does not and who thinks, by a change of scene, to cheapen the work and thought necessary to make farming pay.

NO "PETROLEUM WEEK"

Plans recently made for a "petroleum week" intended to "inform the public regarding the facts of the oil industry," have been abandoned. The reason for abandonment is said to have been the cost.

The people back of the project were presumably oil men. It is a novel situation when oil men are deterred from any kind of publicity because of its expense. This fact alone is illuminating, showing a new psychology in the industry.

"The facts about the oil industry,"
are sadly-needed and much desired,
but it may be just as well that the oil

Man-Made Quakes Test Building's Stability

Tests to determine the type of building
best adapted to withstand earthquakes
are made on a machine which reproduces with realistic intensity, the horizontal and vertical vibrations caused by a seismic tremor. The device is the invention of two Japanese professors, and consists of a platform on which a model house is constructed on a reduced scale. The base is then made to sway and shake as the surface of the earth does in a seismic disturbance, by means of levers. The longer the house is able to withstand the vibrations, the better suited it is to resist the earthquake's power. Results of the experiments have shown that many previous experiments, like it, have proved that fire-resisting rigid headway in crumbled buildings, have frequently caused more damage

than the actual vibrations of the earth.
A type of construction that will be immune in heavy shocks is sought by builders in countries where such disturbances are likely to occur.

Laughter-Proof Tribe Found in Wilds of Ceylon

For more than 2,000 years, it is said, laughter has been unknown to the Ved-das, a tribe of aboriginal inhabitants of Ceylon, who have maintained a secluded existence in caves and jungles of the region. Cut off from other peoples and subsisting on bats, owls, and crows that they shoot with arrows, these strange people are said to have lost entirely the sense of humor. They are thin and fallow, and a fishman is unknown to them.
Efforts of a scientist, who recently visited
them, to produce smiles by tickling them on the soles of their bare feet or in the nose met with no success. Their story continues did not even wince.

Women Play Part in Building of Modern Skyscrapers

That the needs of women must be given as much attention as is accorded the sinking of the foundations of a modern skyscraper, is disclosed in the report of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers. This consideration is reflected chiefly in planning for adequate and attractive rest rooms which, it is declared, can no longer be classed as luxuries. Also human frailties must be taken into consideration, including the habits of messengers boys penning corridors and jumping down the stairs. The pencil habit has given rise to the term "pencil
line" for the height of marble wainscots, which is raised to such a level that marks may be easily cleaned from the walls. Avenue fires are being prevented through dipping of the fabric in a fireproofing substance.

SPRING FUN

By DADDY

(In yesterday's story the birds
played a joke on Blue Jay by eating an apple which he selfishly
wanted all for himself.)

CHAPTER II.

When the Rain Comes.

BLUE JAY wanted to get even with the birds that had eaten the apple which he greedily sought to save for himself. He sat on the limb of a tree and worked his wits hard trying to think of a joke to play on them.

While Blue Jay was fussing over his revenge the birds went on with their nest building.

"Chee-chee! I hope it does not rain
until we get our nest built," sang Cocky Robin.

"Chee-chee! We wish the same,"
sang Blue Bird, Jenny Wren, Purple Martin and Brown Thrasher.
"Chee-chee! We don't want to get up an apple!"

When the birds sang about not wanting it to rain an idea popped into the head of Blue Jay.

"Say, say!" he screamed. "It is going to rain!"

When the birds heard this they clipped with dismay and stopped their work. Blue Jay, who was a very pretty good weather bird, he usually could smell rain coming long before there was any sign of it. And when he smelled rain he would give warning screams telling the other birds and the farmers to get ready for bad weather.

So when the birds heard Blue Jay scream, "Say, say!" they were going to rain," they naturally believed a storm was near at hand.

"Chee-chee! Isn't it a shame that rain is coming?" wailed the birds. "We must stop work and find shelter."

And this the birds did. They quit their work in a hurry and rushed away to find a snug, dry spot where they would be safe from the expected storm.

Blue Jay chuckled to himself.
"What a joke," said he. "It is going to rain some time. The birds can't blame me if they think it is going to rain right now."

After a time, when the rain did not come, the birds came out of their shelters and went back to work.

"Chee-chee! Blue Jay made a mistake," said they.

Blue Jay let them get well started on their nest building again, when once more he screamed his warning. "Say, say! It is going to rain!"

Hurry, hurry, the birds quit their work and fled back to their shelter.

people themselves are not putting on any elaborate presentation of those facts. Justly or unjustly, any information from that source would be regarded dubiously.

There has been already not only a
"petroleum week" but a petroleum winter. The Senate itself has deluged the country with oil facts. If there is to be anything further in the way of petroleum exposition and interpretation, it had better come from calm and disinterested experts telling what they know in a few thousand words.

"Say! Say! It is going to rain!"

They thought a storm surely was coming this time. But it didn't come, and Blue Jay sat in the tree chuckling and giggling to himself at the joke he was playing on the birds.

A third time and a fourth he screamed his warning, stopping the work of the birds. And at last the birds saw he was fooling them. The eyes of little Jenny Wren snapped in anger.

"You birds pretend to find something to eat and tempt Blue Jay away,"
she whispered. "Then I'll fix him."

This the birds did, pretending they had found food. When Blue Jay flew greedily to see what they had, Jenny Wren darted to his perch with a string and made a snare. Then she flew away.

Blue Jay saw he had been tricked and returned to his perch, putting his feet right into the snare. He sat sit-tled for a time, waiting until the birds
were all busy again.

"Say, say! It is going to rain!" he screamed. Once more the birds fled to shelter. Once more Blue Jay chuckled and giggled. But he chuckled and giggled too soon. While he was busy playing his joke on the birds he had noticed a real storm that was coming up. The storm broke suddenly. Blue Jay tried to fly, but his foot was caught in Jenny Wren's snare. He fluttered and flapped while the rain came down in torrents. It soaked Blue Jay through and through.

And the other birds, safe in shelter,
laughed at him. "Say, say!" they cried. "It is raining Blue Jay. Why didn't you come in out of the wet?"

"Automatic" Car Jack

When working on the rear end of an automobile, or under it, it is usually necessary to jack up one end of the car to provide more room to work. The illustration shows a pair of simple homemade jacks for this purpose. They are made of 2 by 6-in. unplanned lumber, and constructed as shown in the upper figure,
each consisting of a 2 by 6-in. base, two support blocks, and a top board of the same material. The top board is pivoted on one of the support blocks by means of a piece of 1/2-in. iron pipe, loosely held in place by large staples; it must be about twice as long as the base and beveled at one end as shown, this end being slightly heavier than the other so that the board will fall to the position indicated in the upper figure.

The jacks are placed close to the wheels
at the front or rear, and the car driven on.

A hook is provided on one support block
to keep the top board down, and a short length of iron pipe or rod, fitting loosely in holes drilled through the sides of the top, prevents the wheels from running off
the jack while the work is being done,
thus making the work perfectly safe.

A can of crushed coke placed in an ice
box or basement is highly effective in absorbing unpleasant odors.

In half a moment they met Herkimer.
"Oh ready to fight," said Solomon.
"We're surrounded."

The men were spread out in a half-circle and some hurried orders given,
but before they could take a step forward the trap was sprung. "The Devils
of Iran" were rushing at them through the timber with yells that seemed to shake the treetops. The regiment fired and began to advance.
Some 40 Indians had fallen as they fired. General Herkimer and others were wounded by a volley from the savages.

"Come on, men. Follow me an' use yer 'gunnetae," Solomon shouted.
"We'll cut 'em out!"

The Indians ahead had no time to load. Scores of them were running. Others fled for their lives. But a red hawk was swooping up from behind and diving into the regiment.
Many fell, many made the mistake of turning to fight back and were overwhelmed and killed or captured. A goodly number had cut their way through with Jack and Solomon and kept going. They were wounded in some degree. Jack's right shoulder had been torn by a bullet. Solomon's left hand was broken and bleeding.
The savages were almost on their heels, not 200 yards behind. The old savage chief followed on a steed
at the top of a knoll with an open grass meadow between them and their enemies. There they reloaded their rifles and stood waiting.

"Don't fire—no more o' ye—till I give the word, Jack, you take my rifle. I'll throw this 'ere burnin' lightning!"

Solomon stepped out of the thicket
and showed himself when the savages entered the meadow. Then he leaped up the trail as if he were badly hurt, in the fashion of a hen partridge when one has come near her brood. In a moment he was down in a thicket and crept back into the thicket.

There were about 200 warriors who came running across the flat toward that point where Solomon had disappeared. They yelled like demons and overran the little meadow with astonishing speed.

"Now hold yer fire—hold yer fire till I give ye the word, or we'll all be up. Keep yer fingers off the triggers now."

He sprang into the open. Astonished, the foremost runners halted while others crowded round him. The "burnin' lightning" began its curved flight as Solomon leaped behind a tree
and shouted, "Fire!"

"Taint too much to say that the cover flew off o'—I right that at the edge of the bloody meadow that minute—ye hear to me? He tried to tell his friends. "The air were full o' burnin' injun an' a barrel o' blood an' grease went down into the ground. A dozen or so that wasn't hurt run back across the meadow like the devil were chasin' 'em all with a red-hot iron. I reckon I'll allus be called the Bloody Meddler."

In his retreat Jack had lost too much blood that he had to be carried on a litter. Before night fell they met Gen.
Benedict Arnold and a considerable force. After a little rest the tired Solomon went back into the bush with Arnold and two regiments and the wounded Herkimer. If possible, and others who met him in need of relief.
They met a band of refugees coming in with the body of the general. They reported that the far bush was echoing with the shrieks of tortured captives.

"Heats all what an amount o' sufferin' it takes to start a new nation," Solomon used to say.

Next day Arnold fought his way to the fort, and many of St. Leger's Rangers and their savage allies were slain or captured or broken into little bands and sent dying for their lives into the northern bush. So the siege of Fort Schuyler was raised.

Experience.

And now, to experience. "Experience keeps a dear school, but fools will learn in no other, and scarce in that";
for it is true "We may give advice,
but we cannot give conduct," as Poor Richard says. However, remember this, "That that won't be counseled can't be helped," as Poor Richard says; and further, that "if you will not hear reason, she'll surely rap you

International Expositions.

The first industrial exposition in France held an exposition universelle in 1855 and in 1889 the English held their second great international exposition in London.

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonially Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My wife is always sending me to look for her things where they're not.
"Oh, Hugh!" I seem to hear about every five minutes. "I won't you run upstairs and get my sewing-ign out of the bottom drawer of the bureau!"
Or else she wants her glasses that she thinks she left on her desk; or her book that she's positive she left on the little table in her room.

I always know where I start that none of these things are ever by my chance where she thinks they are. I've wanted too much time trying to find her belongings according to the instructions she gives me. I do my hunting in my own way now.

If she wants her knitting needles that are on her bureau, I look on all the chairs in the living room and the hall.

And if she sends up to her room for her glasses, the natural place to look,
of course, is on the telephone stand at the head of the stairs.

I can recommend this system of search to all husbands. It's based on sound principles—and it works!

Tomorrow: "My husband complains whenever we're not invited to parties."

Rates Dogs for Food.

The dog which enters into the dietary of the Chinese is obtained from a special race, raised for the purpose, of which the characteristic is the color of the tongue. That organ should be of a blue-black color. These dogs are fed on milk and rice for about two months until they reach a certain weight. The number of viable dogs eaten annually in China is estimated at 5,000,000.

Fireplaces as Heaters.

One hundred years ago 50 to 65 degrees was considered a good house temperature. Fireplaces provided the heat in those days. When stoves came into use, about seventy years ago, the temperature rose to about 62 degrees. With the increasing use of furnaces, some thirty years ago, a heat of 72 degrees was quite usual.
Today a temperature of 70 degrees is considered standard.

Largest Coal Hoist.

The largest coal hoist in the world,
operated by electricity, with a capacity of lifting 20,000 pounds and a speed of 4,000 feet a minute, has been recently installed in an American col-mine. Two 2,200-horsepower electric motors operate the hoist, upon which a coal car, with a load of 15 tons, is raised from the bottom of the mine to the coal dump above, a distance of 907 feet, in 16 seconds.

To Repair Rubber Heels.

When old rubber heels have become worn off on the sides or at the heels,
they may be strengthened by trimming
off the entire heel with a sharp knife.
Of course this reduces the thickness of the rubber, but the appearance is much better and the feeling more comfortable than the worn, uneven surface.

COUNCIL GIVES INDORSEMENT TO NEW PIPE LINE

Problems of Waterworks Maintenance and Operation Come in for Attention at Commission's Session

Twin Falls municipal commission, after receiving the report of E. V. Berg, engineer, indicating dangerous deterioration of wooden pipe forming part of one of the city's water supply lines, approved steps taken by E. V. Berg, engineer, to replace the defective pipe with new cast-iron pipe recently purchased for this purpose.

Commissioner All announced that he had arranged for publication of notices requiring Twin Falls residents to use no water for sprinkling lawns while the work of replacing the pipe is in progress. The city's water supply during that time will be drawn through a 10-inch main. It is believed that if weather conditions are favorable for "running" lead installation of the new pipe will be completed by next Sunday.

The city is fortunate that it had the new pipe on hand to replace the old pipe," Mr. All stated.

Engineer's Report Dangerous

The engineer's report was to the effect that the wooden pipe was so defective that it was likely to break at any time and advised its replacement "now or before the heavy draft on the system next summer." The engineer's investigation showed much leakage from the wood pipe and corrosion of the wire binding the wood staves from the effects of exposure to alkali.

Removal of two sections of the wood pipe Monday when the work of replacing the pipe began, showed the old pipe deteriorated to even a greater extent than had been disclosed by the engineer's investigation, Harley Rayburn, waterworks superintendent, told the commissioners.

Another problem in connection with the operation of the waterworks was presented by statement of Commissioner or All and Superintendent Rayburn relative to maintenance of an adequate water supply.

Water Runs Short

These statements disclosed the fact that Twin Falls' stored water supply was almost exhausted Saturday evening when water was again made available through the canal which had been practically dry for two days during an inspection of the canal system made by the manager and directors of the canal company. The storage reservoir

Name Committee to Go to Wells On Right of Way

Chamber of Commerce Board Wants to Know What Share of Purchase Price of Lands Will Be Borne in Nevada

At a meeting of the entire board of directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, attended by the members of the railroad committee, Monday afternoon, decision was reached to send a committee at once to Wells, Nevada, in order to definitely ascertain what portion of the expense of acquiring the right of way through the property of the Utah Construction company would be paid by the Nevada committee.

Mr. A. Sweeney, chairman of the local committee, submitted a full report upon the recent visit of himself and John N. Clear to Salt Lake, which visit resulted in the obtaining of a verbal option upon the necessary Utah Construction company land at $25,000.00. The question as to what share of the expenditure would be assumed by the Nevada people resulted in a motion to send a committee to confer with E. F. Gray of Contact and the balance of the Nevada committee members at Wells and Elko.

During the discussion it was brought out that the spring session of the district court in Elko county being over, there would be no further session of the court until next November, and unless by special arrangement, no opportunity to try a condemnation action. It was the general feeling that for many reasons a purchase of the lands would be preferable to condemnation, the principal point being as to what share of the expense would be borne by the people of Nevada.

The committee chosen consists in part of M. J. Sweeney, chairman; Shad L. Hodgson, Asher B. Wilson, John M. Maxwell, L. T. Wright, John N. Clear, and may be enlarged later. The committee expects to leave for Wells today.
