DOUBTS CHANCE FOR RETURN OF CORNER SALOON

Liquor Legislation Would Prove Disastrous, Representative Says; Believes Congress Cannot Rout Prohibition

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Return of the corner saloon, legislated out of existence by the prohibition law, would follow an amendment of the act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wine, Representative Kelly, republican, Pennsylvania, declared at a conference of the students' conference on law observance and citizenship.

Representative Kelly was the chief speaker on the night program of the conference, which opened today. The conference will hold seven sessions, several being scheduled for tomorrow and is attended by college and university students from all sections of the country.

Doubts Authority.
"The delinquency of those who say congress will pass laws permitting the manufacture and sale of light colored liquors are pitiful," said Mr. Kelly. "Congress cannot pass such a law even if it desires. Any act of congress must conform to the constitution. This constitution declares that making and selling intoxicating liquors are unlawful acts."

Mr. Kelly asserted that if a majority of congress should ever repeal the Volstead act, to provide for beer and wine, the supreme court "would be bound to declare it unconstitutional."

Beer Was Favored.
"So long as the constitution prohibits intoxicating liquors," he declared, "beer and wine will not come back. Ninety-nine per cent of the people in the nation's saloons today was beer and wine—52 per cent of all the saloons were owned by the brewers. Their beer and wine program simply means the overthrow of prohibition."

W. Guyer Donnelly, managing editor of the Yale Daily News, declared it is "rapidly becoming bad taste for an undergraduate to appear in an inebriated condition."

"By that," he added, "I do not mean that undergraduates are not drinking because they are. Isolated cases are far more prevalent at the present time than they were, say ten years ago. And the very fact that they are isolated, noticeably so, shows that those who do drink are becoming more and more conspicuous."

Woman Speaks.
Speaking on the topic "What the Modern Woman Thinks of Prohibition," Miss Esther McElwain, university student, declared the so-called "upper class" girls who are "feeling a wonderful new freedom" are not typical of all classes. The speaker said she had found among industrial women the feeling that prohibition "means freedom and since they love freedom, they will not give it up."

Wendell Herge, University of Nebraska undergraduate, declared the "law-flouting tendency in our country is all to prevalent," and urged a campaign in behalf of enforcement.

Patriotism of Peace.
The Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, dean of the Catholic university, who asserted, "a genuine patriotism of peace" won the patient approval of the country, and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, who declared only a small percentage of college men and women are "wasting golden youth in drunken parties" were the principal speakers at the morning and afternoon sessions.

FIRPO WINS IN OPENING ROUND

South American Makes Good on Promise and Kayos Reich After 1 Minute, 45 Seconds

BUENOS AIRES, April 5 (AP)—Luis Firpo knocked out Al Reich tonight in the first round.

The end came in one minute, 45 seconds, Firpo landing a terrific right to the jaw. Reich dropped to the canvas with a crash and remained there. He rolled over on his face.

After the count of ten he rolled over again in an attempt to rise, but fell flat on his back. He was picked up and carried to his corner.

The weights of the men as announced were: Firpo 220 pounds, Reich 210 1/2 pounds. Reich was the first to enter the ring, a few minutes after 11 o'clock. He was followed a half minute later by the South American champion.

Firpo fulfilled his promise to what he called his last fight quickly. He pushed furiously at Reich when the going sounded, landing a heavy right to the body.

Reich clinched, but a moment later Firpo landed another right and Reich replied with a left to the face.

The men clinched. When they broke away Firpo came back with another furious attack. He sent his terrific right to the jaw, which terminated Reich's hopes for a championship.

TRACK AND BASEBALL INTEREST LOCAL FANS

Buhl and Twin Falls will open the local baseball season next Friday when the local high school will play Buhl's batmen. The place has not been decided. Evans is rapidly whipping the blue and white squad into shape and promises a real team.

About April 15 the blue and white track men will meet Wendell at the Lincoln field for a dual meet with the northside school. Negotiations are also under way for a meet with Rupert, either here or at Rupert. This should largely determine the winner of the district meet, in the opinion of many.

The Buhl track team will be lined up following the interclass track meet which will be held there Tuesday of this week. The Buhl athletes are planning on several dual meets preceding the district contest.

The unveiling of the monument will be in charge of the Florida conference, Daughters of the American Revolution. The monument, the cornerstone of which has just been laid, is to be erected on the same spot where Ribault set up a crude stone marker soon after his landing, on May 1, 1565, at the mouth of the St. John river, which he named the Riviere de Mai. ## ACTION STARTS ON QUOTA BILL

Vote Expected in House in
Few Days on Immigration
Law; Reduction Is Favored

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—The House got off to a flying start today in its race with the Senate to pass immigration legislation. The Johnson bill, which would fix immigration quotas at two per cent based on the 1890 census, was taken under an agreement to conclude debate Tuesday night. A vote on passage late next week was predicted. For more than five hours the measure, which also provides for overseas examination of prospective immigrants and would practically bar Japanese from the United States was alternately commended and criticized by more than a score of representatives without show of partisanship. Meanwhile the Senate had placed the House under a handicap by beginning consideration of another immigration measure.

Both the Johnson bill and the measure pending in the Senate which would reduce quotas two per cent and would base them on the 1890 census, are designed to supplant the present restrictive immigration law which expires June 30 next. The existing law is three per cent quotas based on the 1910 census.

SPORTSMEN WILL PLANT WILD DUCK FEED SEEDS

One hundred pounds of each of the following seeds were purchased by the association for experimental planting at this time: Wapato duck potato, wild millet, wild rice, wild celery.

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls

From News Files, April 6, 1909

The Faris-Kee Construction company started work on Monday on the main canal of the Salmon River project, which is to be completed in time for the delivery of water on April 1, 1910.

In the city election held on Tuesday, April 6, Carl Hahn was elected mayor; Stuart Taylor, city clerk; W. E. Nixon, city treasurer; W. J. Smith, police judge; E. V. Berg, city engineer; aldermen for the first ward, J. M. Maxwell and L. L. Pettit; for the second ward, J. J. Pilgerim and L. E. Salladay.

Fifteen Chinese or Mongolian pheasants were liberated in Twin Falls last evening. The birds were given to the county by State Game Warden W. N. Stephens and the farmers are urged to protect them. They devour noxious insects and are a great benefit to farmers and orchardists. The state game law protects them and the Twin Falls Rod and Gun club will furnish the funds with which to prosecute anyone who molests them.

Many a Twin Falls farmer sold his hay last fall for $5 a ton. Today the construction companies are paying $12 per ton. Oats sold for 90 cents last autumn and they are now worth $2.25. The man who has hay or oats to dispose of now is lucky.

Henry Smith of Contact signed the contract yesterday with W. H. Eldridge for the latter's store location in the copper camp. Mr. Smith says the camp is rapidly filling up with prospectors and mining men and he predicts a prosperous season.

At the annual meeting of the Synagogue club on Tuesday, April 6, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Alken; vice-president, Mrs. Morse; secretary, Mrs. Nixon; treasurer, Mrs. Ault; parliamentarian, Mrs. Clouche.

The apricot trees have been in bloom along Snake river for several days and the peach blossoms are making an appearance. The bloom is unusually heavy and rather early, but no damage from frost is anticipated.

Mrs. D. E. Regan entertained at bridge on Friday afternoon, April 3, at her home on West Main avenue. Mrs. Homer Craven and Mrs. Sieret carried off the favors, handsome hand-painted plates.

COURT DENIES DEFENDANT'S PLEA TO USE "TRUTH SERUM"

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 5. (AP)—A plea that the court ordered the administration of "truth serum" in order that he might be questioned while he was "under the influence" of the serum and could not tell a falsehood was made in district court here today by Jack Gaskill, charged with killing Tom Griffin, a railroad detective. But Judge W. G. Bonner frowned upon the proposal, and following the verdict of guilty sentenced Gaskill to life imprisonment. Gaskill claimed he was the victim of "framed testimony."

Falls, Idaho, under the act of March 3,

BETTER DAYS!

Appearance of the kind of prosperity Twin Falls was used to 'way back in nineteen hundred nineteen and twenty were duplicated on the streets and in the stores Saturday.

Warm, sunny weather coupled with the well-defined conviction that railroad construction is to start in the very near future, was probably largely responsible. The atmosphere up and down the business streets was cheerful. Men and women are feeling better, and many of them are not afraid to say so.

Hope, it is said, springs eternal in the human breast, but there have been times in the past few years when the wellsprings of hope have well-nigh dried up, not only in these parts but in most agricultural sections. But it is different now. By and large, the conviction gains ground that the turning of the corner is very near.

Twin Falls people will shortly be called upon to raise a sum of money to defray the final item of expense in connection with the new railroad, and Twin Falls people will do this, just as they always have. And Twin Falls people will very largely get it back during the first sixty days of construction. After that the returns will be all profit.

This section will get its railroad cheap in comparison to the money in the form of donations raised for similar advantages elsewhere. Parting with the actual cash may be hard, but no signal advantage is ever gained without a sacrifice. No forward step is ever possible in mundane affairs without a wrench or two along the line.

And the new road itself is but the vehicle for the bringing of other things to Twin Falls. Things which will make possible an era of growth which is very apt indeed to equal the record of development during any year or term of years in the entire history of the City.

A POSSIBLE MARKET

It would be a great thing if the people of California would decide to raise their quarantine against Idaho hay to a sufficient extent to permit of the shipment of the surplus stocks now in hand in the Twin Falls country.

California has many weevil-infested counties, and probably as high if not a higher percentage of suspected alfalfa as has Idaho. Then, too, there is alfalfa meal, the shipment of which to California would net the grower more than he could make by selling the hay.

The matter is being looked into, it is understood. If such a concession could be gained it would be of splendid advantage to all concerned.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS

SPRING FUN
by DADDY

CHAPTER I.
King Fisher's Fun.

JACK and Janet played joyfully in the Great Woods.

"It is fun to be in the woods in the springtime," cried Janet. "I like to sing with the birds and to dance with the baby breezes."

"Yes, there is a lot of fun in the springtime," agreed Jack. "I wonder what is the most fun of all?"

A queer, rattling laugh from up a tree answered Jack. The children looked up and saw King Fisher grinning at them. "I can tell you what is the most fun in the springtime," rattled King Fisher in his harsh but friendly voice. "The most fun is going fishing."

Jack's eyes glinted. "It is fun to go fishing," he promptly nodded. "I haven't been fishing yet this year. Let us go, Janet."

Janet was not so fond of fishing as Jack, but still she was ready to go with him.

"Will you put the worms on my hook?" she asked Jack. "I don't like that part of fishing."

"Yes, Jack would not put the worms on her hook. He would not mind that in the least, being a boy."

So Jack and Janet ran home to get poles and lines and hooks. Janet packed a lunch of cookies while Jack dug worms behind the stable.

They set off in high glee. "Don't go out in a boat," called Janet's mother after them.

No, the children would not go out in a boat. They understood they were going in a boat only when grownups were along.

King Fisher was waiting for them when they came to the bank of the creek.

"Rattley-rattley-rattle. Up! Up! Up!" laughed King Fisher when he saw them.

Janet's eyes glinted. "It is fun to go fishing," he promptly nodded. "I haven't been fishing yet this year. Let us go, Janet."

Janet was not so fond of fishing as Jack, but still she was ready to go with him.

saw their poles and lines and hooks and box of bait. "Humans are silly folks. They don't know it's best way to fish."

Jack did not fancy being laughed at. "What is the best way to fish?" he demanded.

"Rattley-rattley-rattle. Why any fishing bird knows that," replied King Fisher. "The best way to fish is to sit in a tree above the water until you see a fish. Then dive in and get him. It is foolish to bother with poles and lines and hooks and bait."

Jack and Janet, never before had thought in just that way about fishing. Jack looked into the chilly, muddy waters of the creek.

"Hark! I'll wait until summer before I try your kind of fishing," said he with a smile. "Right now with the creek muddy and cold from the melting snow, I prefer to stay on the dry bank."

"Rattley-rattley-rattle. My way of fishing is best," insisted King Fisher. "Your feathers will keep you dry and warm when you dive into the water."

Jack and Janet grinned at each other. King Fisher had forgotten children did not have feathers.

Jack's eyes began to twinkle. "You think your way of fishing is best and we think our way is best," he said. "The only way to settle the matter is to have a fishing race. We will fish our way and you fish your way. Whoever catches the most fish will win."

"Rattley-rattley-rattle. That is a good idea!" said King Fisher. "Let us begin our race right away." With that King Fisher began to peer eagerly down into the muddy water of the creek, while Jack quickly baited his hooks with wriggling worms.

"Funny things" that happen in the fish-ponds will be told in tomorrow's chapter.

"Matrimonial Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband gets convenient headaches.

They always come on him just at time when there's something I want to do.

He says that I'm a cruel and heartless woman to look at it that way—but he has to admit that the circumstantial evidence is all on my side.

Every Sunday morning that I suggest his going to church he begins to look for aspirin tablets.

Whenever I ask him to move some furniture for me or put up some certain rods, he tells me that he certainly would do it—if he didn't feel that he ought to be down and take care of his headache.

And every time I try to get him to go to see some friends of mine that he doesn't like he says he'll go any other time—but, really, his head is splitting this evening.

There's one thing about Hugh that I'll have to admit—he certainly does use his head.

"And our love of learning helped to push them along," I suggested.

"True. Our people have been mostly like you and me," he went on. "We long for knowledge of the truth. We build schools and libraries and colleges. We have pushed on out of the eighteenth century into a new time. There you were born. Now you have stepped a hundred years backward into Europe. You are astonished, and this belongs me to my point. Here I am with a great task on my hands. It is to enlist the sympathy and help of France. I must take things, not as I could wish them to be, but as I find them. At this court women are all powerful. It has long been a maxim here that a diplomatist must stand well with the ladies. Even though he is venerable, he must be brilliant, and I do not use the word in a shady sense. The ladies are not so bad as you would think them. They are playthings. To them, life is not as we know it, filled with realities. It is a beautiful drama of rich costumes and painted scenes and ingenious words, all set in the atmosphere of romance. The players only pretend to believe each other. In the salon I am one of these players. I have to be."

"Mirabeau seemed to mean what he said," was my answer.

"Yes, he is one of those who often speak from the heart. All these players live the note of sincerity when they hear it. In the salon it is out of key, but away from the ladies the men are often living and not playing. Mirabeau, Condorcet, Turgot and others have heard the call of Human Liberty. Often they come to this house and speak out with a strong candor."

"I suppose that this great drama of despotism in France will end in a tragedy whose climax will consume the stage and half the players," I ventured to say.

"That is a theme, Jack, on which you and I must be silent," Franklin answered. "We must hold our tongues as with a trifle."

SPUD INDUSTRY ON RECORD FOR CAR DIVERSION

Idaho—Growers and Shippers Declare for Re-Consignment Privilege; High Standard and Rigid Inspection

Growers and shippers representing the Idaho potato industry, at a meeting held here Saturday under auspices of the potato committee of the American Railway association's western regional board, went on record in favor of the following propositions as making for betterment of marketing and transportation conditions for the industry:

1. Maintenance of existing provisions for diversion and reconsignment of loaded cars in transit.
2. Maintenance of high standard and rigid inspection for Idaho potatoes.
3. Enactment of national legislation to require all produce dealers to be licensed under jurisdiction of the federal department of commerce.
4. Completion by the potato committee's secretary of estimates as soon as possible of the number of ventilated box cars that will be required for movement of Idaho potatoes during September and October, which estimates are to be submitted to the car service divisions of the American Railway association and Union Pacific Railway system.

Purpose of the American Railway association to serve the agricultural industry and assist in solution of problems arising between carriers and shipper without recourse to action of commerce commissions, was explained at this meeting by Elmer Knutson, Washington, D. C., agricultural supervisor for the association, and R. E. Shepherd, Jerome, Idaho state chairman for the association, and A. C. Arnett, Denver, representative of the association's central western regional board car service division. The Union Pacific system was represented at this meeting by A. J. Priest, Boise, Idaho general agent, and C. C. Gignoux, assistant agricultural supervisor.

Each of the propositions on which the meeting took action was submitted to general discussion, C. J. Carlson, Idaho Falls, chairman of the potato committee, serving as presiding officer.

A general survey of marketing problems and suggestions for improvement by H. H. Payne, Idaho Falls, manager of the Idaho Falls Potato Growers, followed discussion of the problems of the industry in the western part of the state by Carl L. DeLong, Twin Falls, and in the eastern part of the state by C. C. Whipple, manager of the Idaho Potato Growers' exchange.

Merits and demerits of free and unlimited diversion of loaded cars in transit were discussed by Lincoln W. Wier, Burley, and Alvin Harbour, Twin Falls, argument against diversion pointing out its effect in increased freight charges, and argument for diversion holding that it makes for stabilization of marketing and higher average price level.

Discussion of proper equipment to be furnished by the railways for long distance shipment of Idaho potatoes, was led by Mr. DeLong.

Standardization and inspection of potatoes was discussed by M. L. Dean of the Idaho bureau of plant industry, and Mr. Payne pointed out deleterious effect of shipment of ungraded potatoes to Idaho's markets.

Endorsement of federal licensing for produce dealers as a means of curbing unwarranted rejection of produce on delivery was urged by Harry Yost, Boise.

Potato growers, shippers and carriers participating in the meeting assembled Saturday evening in the Hotel Perrine at a banquet for which arrangements had been made by the chamber of commerce. Alvin Harbour was toastmaster, and brief talks relating to various phases of the potato industry and suggestions for its betterment were made by W. H. Gibson, Boise, member of Idaho public utilities commission; M. L. Dean, director of Idaho bureau of plant industry; E. C. Whipple, Idaho Falls; L. T. Yoder, Nampa; Harry Yost, Boise; John Brooks, Burley; James Tuedelberry, Blackfoot.
