COURT RULES IN RAILROAD RATE CASES

Shippers Must Establish Proof Before Damage Award in Long and Short Haul; Coast Corporation Brings Suits

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Shippers charged higher rates for short hauls than the published rates for longer hauls on the same railroad and in the same direction can only recover such actual damages as they can prove, the supreme court held today.

In an opinion by Justice McReynolds it declared the fact that the rate for the longer haul was lower than the rate for the shorter haul would not of itself establish which of the two was the unreasonable rate.

The question reached the court in four cases. Three came from the Pacific coast, being brought against the Portland Seed company and A. J. Farlington, who won in the lower courts. The fourth case came from Minnesota and was brought by the Great Northern railway against the McCall-Dismore company.

Rates Unfair

In all the cases the evidence showed that the railroads had in effect without the permission of the interstate commerce commission made rates which were higher for a short than for a long haul. The shippers in the lower courts succeeded in recovering alleged overcharges of freight, the essential charges being "that the carrier demanded and received greater compensation for transporting freight for a shorter distance than its published rate for transporting like property for a longer distance over the same route and in the same direction."

The shippers contended that under the long and short haul clause the lower published rate became the maximum which the carrier could charge, notwithstanding the higher published rate and that any amount collected above the rate for the long haul amounted to an illegal exaction, recoverable without other proof of actual damage and without regard to the intrinsic reasonableness of either rate.

Pointing out that the shippers had not asked an injunction against illegal rates, the court said that it was an effort to "secure something for itself, themselves without proof of pecuniary loss consequent upon the unlawful act."

The records of the case showed, the court declared, that the carrier violated the statute by publishing the lower rate for the longer haul without

New Gasoline Can Be Used in Motors And As Appetizer

Midgely Claims Recently Discovered Product Serves as Stimulant and Spring Tonic as Well as Auto Fuel

ST. LOUIS, April 7 (AP)—Ethyl gasoline, a recently discovered product of the General Motors corporation, will not only eliminate all "knock" from high compression motors, but serves as a drink, according to Thomas Midgely, vice president of the corporation, who addressed members of the National Petroleum Marketers' association at the first day's session of their four day convention here.

Before drinking the fluid as an appetizer, after a preliminary period of lassitude and depression, Midgely pointed out, develop great appetites and often gain in weight 25 to 35 pounds.

The discovery of the new gasoline was the result of an exhaustive research involving the study of some 25,000 chemicals, he explained. His company worked in conjunction with the federal bureau of mines in making tests.

ASSIST IN SURVEY

BOISE, April 7 (AP)—Co-operation with the United States geological survey in a proposed topographical and geological survey of the area known as "craters of the moon" is one of the projects approved for immediate work by the state bureau of mines and geology in its annual meeting held in the office of Governor C. C. Moore today.

Machinist's Search for Home for His Boy Is Ended by Tragedy

Chicago Man, Balked in Efforts to Find Flat, Found Dead; Son's Body Near By

CHICAGO, April 7 (AP)—Edward Schneider, a footcure machinist, late last night found a place where children are not turned away—but not in Chicago.

With his two-year-old son, Edward, Jr., he had spent the day trudging throughout the city to find a flat within his means where the child, as well as his father and mother would be welcome. He had stayed home in evening while the mother took up the search.

In the meantime a neighbor smelled gas and called the police. Three burners of the gas stove had been left open. In a rocker, clasped in farewell embrace, were the bodies of father and son.

WOULD DEFER WATER CHARGE

House Passes Measure to Defer for Three Years Levies Due from Settlers

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—As a substitute for a senate bill, the house today passed a measure to defer for three years reclamation charges due from settlers on lands in the west.

As passed by the house the bill would provide for interest charges at five instead of six per cent as fixed by the senate. The secretary of the interior also would be given authority should application be made prior to January, 1925, to distribute payments over the contract period which in no case would exceed 20 years.

Passage of the measure was urged in the committee report "to enable the secretary of the interior to furnish water to settlers on irrigation projects who are in arrears in payment of construction charges."

IDAHO GUARD TO ENCAMP

BOISE, April 7 (AP)—Summer encampment of Idaho cavalry units of the Idaho National Guard will be held at Payette lake June 14 to 28. It was definitely announced today by Lieutenant-Colonel H. A. Padgham, state adjutant-general. Announcement followed a visit Sunday of Colonel Edgar A. Sirmey, in charge of national guard affairs of the Ninth corps area at San Francisco.

STRESSES NEED OF MAKING NEW IMMIGRANT LAW

California Senator Asserts Quota Bill Is More Important than Any Other Business Now Before Congress

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Determination of a permanent immigration policy transcends in importance every problem now before congress, Senator Shortridge, republican, California, told the senate today in urging adoption of his amendments to the pending immigration measure, which would have the effect of excluding Asians.

Listing the major issues awaiting consideration as taxes, agriculture, and reclamation, he said that, although pressing in character, they could not be rated with immigration, which strikes at the very vitals of the nation.

Senator Shortridge described his amendments as comprising "the house provision" on Asiatic exclusion with further amendment which would remove the exemption now given to students of that nationality who desire to enter temporarily.

Is Non-Partisan

"This matter is non-partisan," he continued, "and cannot be otherwise because of the very vital interests at stake. For this government to be maintained requires the perpetuation of a certain type of citizenry and the desired type can only be established and perpetuated by being drawn from certain races of the human family." A certain degree of homogeneity in citizenship is a primo requisite of national existence, he said, adding that the history of republics from ancient days has shown the fatality of any compromise.

Oriental Not Desirable

Japanese and other Orientals are "either racially, industrially or socially desirable," he insisted.

"We of California, Washington, Oregon and other great western states tell you that we cannot compete with the Oriental and maintain the American standard, and I don't believe the able states want us to attempt the impossible. I speak not only for those states, but also for the American Federation of Labor, the American Legion and other great patriotic organizations."

"Do you agree with Secretary Hughes' recommendation for a quota basis for Japanese which would admit

Los Angeles Authorities Apprehend Noted Woman Criminal and Male Companion

LOS ANGELES, April 7 (AP)—Lola McClung, alleged "blonde bandit" under arrest here, is believed by police to have been linked with a number of crimes in several parts of the United States.

According to Los Angeles authorities, the woman and her male companion, George Ferguson, who are being held on suspicion of having recently robbed a cafeteria here, have tentatively been identified as persons who either robbed or assisted in the robbery of the Smithsonian state bank of Smithsonian, Mo., the Dover National bank of Kansas City, Mo., and a bank in Dallas, Texas.

VOTE TO EXEMPT PRODUCE FIRMS

Brokers Tax of $50 Knocked Off in Committee; Senate to Get Revenue Bill

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Pin-balling touches were put on the revenue bill today by the senate finance committee preparatory to reporting it to the senate where it will be taken up probably next week.

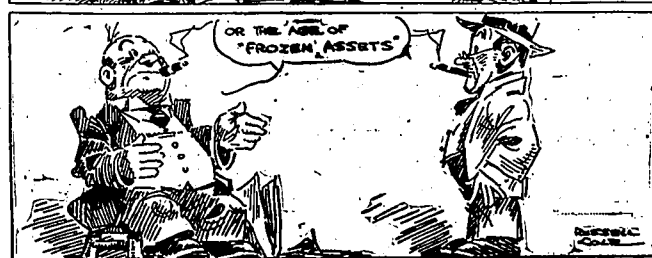

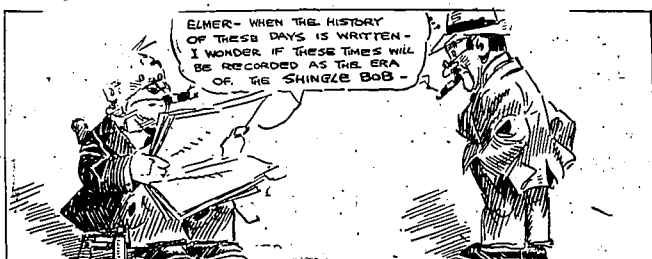

The committee decided to exempt from the brokers' tax of $50 all produce and merchandise brokers and also voted several minor changes in the administrative section of the bill.

Most amendments placed in the bill on the floor of the house have been knocked out by the senate committee in favor of the treasury draft sent to congress by Secretary Mellon.

Among important changes made in the bill by the house and disagreed to by the committee were the Longworth income compromise rates; the increase in estate taxes and imposition of the gift tax.

The Mellon income rates were adopted by the committee in place of the Longworth compromise. They provide for a reduction in the present normal rates of four per cent on incomes of $4,000 and under and eight per cent above that to three and six per cent respectively. The Mellon surtax rates start at one per cent on $10,000 gradually rising to a maximum of 25 per cent at $100,000, whereas the present surtaxes start at one per cent on $8,000 and increase to a maximum of 50 per cent at $200,000.

TWIN FALLS CALLED UPON TO RAISE $15,000.00 FOR RIGHT OF WAY PURCHASE

E. F. Gray of Contact Enters Agreement on Behalf of Nevada to Take Care of Balance Required for Utah Construction Company Land; Public Mass Meeting Called for Tuesday Night; Drive for Funds to Start

LAST OBSTACLE IN WAY OF NEW ROAD REMOVED WITH OFFER OF MINE MAN

The sum of $15,000.00 will be called for from the people of this section as Idaho's share of the $25,000.00 required to purchase the right of way of the Roger-Son-Wells line through the properties of the Utah Construction company.

A balance of around $6,000.00 remains in the fund raised in Idaho and Nevada to purchase the certificate of necessity of the Idaho Southern Railroad, for which $25,000.00 was used. Total collections for this fund amounted to about $31,000.00.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the railroad committee of the same body, on Monday afternoon, E. F. Gray of Contact agreed definitely on behalf of Nevada to relinquish all rights to any part of the balance of $6,000.00 now on hand and unpaid and in addition to deposit his check for $5,000.00 to guarantee the collection of another $5,000.00 to be turned into the right of way fund.

TEXT OF AGREEMENT FOR RAISING OF THE FUNDS

At a conference held in the office of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce April 7, 1924, it was agreed that the people of Nevada will secure the right of way over lands in private ownership, exclusive of the lands owned by the Utah Construction company, and also exclusive of lands necessary for the right of way in the state of Idaho, and inclusive of lands required for terminals at Wells, Nevada, either by direct purchase or condemnation by and through the railroad attorneys, and will relinquish, insofar as E. F. Gray is trustee of the funds collected in Nevada for the purchase of the certificate of necessity of the Roger-Son-Wells line through the Idaho Central railroad, which funds are now in bank in Twin Falls, Idaho, and further, that E. F. Gray will deposit $5,000 in the bank, all of which will be applied to the purchase of the Utah Construction company lands for right of way, and will deposit of $5,000 conditioned, however, that E. F. Gray shall receive any amounts of money which Twin Falls committees may collect in Contact, Nevada, as reimbursement to him on said $5,000.

The fund for collecting upon Twin Falls raising in cash the remainder of the $25,000 required for the purchase of the Utah Construction company lands for right of way and the deed to said lands has been passed upon and approved by George H. Smith, chief attorney of the Oregon Short Line Railroad company, and securing title to lands for right of way within the state of Idaho.

It is also understood that no money shall be paid to the Utah Construction company for said right of way until work shall be well under way and until authentic advice are received from and assurances given by qualified officials of the Union Pacific system that said work will be carried to a conclusion without undue delay. The above proposition is hereby accepted and agreed to.

One of American Aviators on World Trip Expects to Leave Prince Rupert for Sitka, Alaska, Early Tuesday

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., April 7 (AP)—Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, whose earlier Chicago succeeded the Seattle as flag-plane of an American army aerial squadron winging its way around the earth, was tonight preparing to rise from Seal Cove here early tomorrow to jump to Sitka, Alaska, 300 miles away.

Major Frederick L. Martin, who commanded the expedition when it started from Santa Monica, Cal., March 17, was devoting himself to rehabilitation of the Seattle, which so seriously damaged two port struts in landing last night from Seattle, Wash., that installation of new wings necessitated his remaining here.

Lieutenant Smith, born a Californian, has several times distinguished himself as an aviator on the pacific coast. In the summers of 1920 and 1921 he won a reputation for vigor in patrolling the air above the forests of western Washington and western Oregon looking for signs of fire. In 1923 he and Lieutenant John Paul Richter, by achieving for the first time the feat of refueling a plane in the sky, were able to stay up 37 hours and 15 minutes over Rockwell field, San Diego, Cal., and make a record for endurance flying that still stands.

MORE TOURISTS GOAL OF AUTO SERVICE BODY

Guy Flenner Takes Place with Idaho Association; Announces Plans of Much Importance to Gem State Residents

Guy Flenner, of Boise, is in Twin Falls on private business matters. He is accompanied by Charles B. Sampson, of Boise, author of the Sampson trail, who is en route to Ogden to attend the Rotary district convention. Mr. Flenner has consented to serve as executive of the Idaho State Auto association this year, after the organization had been put on a public service basis, involving the expenditure of funds for service and not for salaries, as officially announced by the directors some time ago.

"The association is advertising in the east to interest tourists in Idaho," said Mr. Flenner. "Inquiries by the hundred are receiving the association's new touring map and a scenic folder, containing high spots of Idaho scenery, such as the Sawtooth country, the Valley of the Moon, Shoshone falls, Payette lakes, scenes on the north and south highway, etc."

"We plan to establish a touring bureau at Yellowstone, and also at Green River or Rock Springs, to meet the tourist outpouring before it comes to the diversion point. Many tourists are being diverted to California direct, through Nevada and to Yellowstone park direct through Wyoming who can be influenced to come into Idaho. Our aim is $50,000 more for 1924."

"We have quarrel with California or Wyoming or any other state. We have to hand it to them for having done what Idaho should have started long ago. Such associations as the Idaho A. A. A., however, have not functioned properly because the money was expended for personal compensation instead of for service. It can't be done that way in Idaho at this time. If it is not of enough concern to enlist the volunteer service of men who can give some time to it, then it might better be dropped, because under the other plan it cannot perform any real service."

First Got Them into Idaho

"The association will go just as far as its finances will permit. It asks the cooperation of Idaho motorists in getting more people into our state and the support of motorists generally for their own protection in legislation and other matters."

The A. A. A. emblem on a car is in motorland what a lodge emblem on the lapel is in fraternalism. We find that all responsible motorists who can are anxious to affiliate.

"In the tourist part of the program our first thought is to get them into Idaho. If we do not succeed there, no community will benefit."

"In routing them through Idaho we shall try to ascertain what they want to see and will route them accordingly."

"We cannot, however, route them over poor roads merely to satisfy the desires of a community. The A. A. A. would not permit it and we are a member of that great organization, tied up with a contract giving our members full reciprocal privileges in every state."

Auto Taxation

"Motorists over the country are expressing their keen appreciation of the work of the A. A. A. and its subordinate associations, like ours in Idaho, in securing such marked reductions in the federal auto excise taxes. Motorists have been paying from $15 up, with an average close to $10, per car in excise taxes besides 5-per cent on parts, while this tax had been removed from most everything in the so-called luxury class. Adding the state taxes, the auto taxation has been very heavy and somewhat discriminatory."

"In Idaho we hope to secure more equitable taxation for the motorist. Pictured any way, it can be shown that the auto is paying more taxes than any other class of property, actual value considered."

Commercial Motor Vehicles

"Our organization will also take an active part in securing legislation to compel some fair compensation for use of the highways by commercial trucks and passenger cars."

"These motor transportation lines should be franchised. Many of them are highway parasites, and merely pay for use of the road, which is very heavy and certainly none too good for the roads."

"Franchises should be granted to legitimate concerns so long as they operate on regular schedules, at fair rates, and pay their share of taxation. At present they have highways furnished for them by the public and pay only a tin tag as their share of taxation. This plan will be much better, for those engaged in commercial motor transportation in a legitimate way."

"The association shall oppose, however, any attempt to prevent farmers from operating their trucks. Such trucks come under the classification of personal, instead of commercial, usage. Local express trucks should be licensed if at all by the towns and cities and not forced to take out a state franchise."

Auto Dealers Co-operate

"The association in many places has the support of auto dealers, garage men and service stations, as evidenced by the official A. A. A. sign in front of their places of business. In this way they are co-operating with their customers, the auto owners, in all matters of concern to them. This is also true of many hotels and restaurants, who are, with all the other members, aiding in the work of bringing more 'population to our state.'"

LIQUOR SLEUTH BARES SCANDAL IN BOOZE TRADE

Chicago Prohibition Agent Tells of "Hands Off" Policy of Daugherty; Says Breweries Operated "Wide Open"

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Prohibition enforcement conditions in Chicago and Indian lands fraud prosecutions in Oklahoma occupied attention of the senate Daugherty investigation committee.

Brice F. Armstrong, Chicago, prohibition agent, testified that eight breweries were allowed to run in Chicago under protection, "in the manufacture of high power beer."

Dealing into this charge, the committee also sought regulations for a two-year halt in the institution of legal proceedings to recover from Miller Brothers of Oklahoma some 10,000 acres in the 101 ranch involved in transaction where fraud against Indians was charged.

Armstrong, the continuation of whose story is promised tomorrow, said "local politicians" held up the federal government's moves to stop the brewing. Even in the face of repeated violations of the law by breweries, he declared, federal injunction proceedings were not successful because of official influence and in this connection he mentioned C. W. Middlekauff, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement legal work at Chicago as one whose name had been reported to him as involved in "agreements."

Testifying as "to protection" money Armstrong said he had been offered $5 a barrel from the output of seven breweries if he would just "stay away" while they worked. He told of threats to "get him" made by Terry Daugherty, whom he named as a brewer, operator, and of instructions from John Glazer, whom he identified as an "attache of the office of Attorney General Brundage of Illinois," to him as a prohibition agent, to leave liquor sellers alone.

Senator Harrell, republican, Oklahoma, made a voluntary statement that he had seen "need for scandal" in the removal from office of H. E. Peck, federal district attorney for the western district of Oklahoma by the incoming republican administration in 1921. He intervened to have Mr. Peck, who had been appointed by the Wilson administration, retained in service to prosecute the Miller Brothers and their associates which was done, and also "stirred things up a bit" recently to see that civil suits were brought by the government to recover the lands when he found the delay in this matter.

1920 CAMPAIGN AGAIN ENTERS INVESTIGATION

Figures on Party Receipts and Expenditures Called in Evidence in Oil Quiz; Hamon Story Is Continued

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Witnesses passed before the senate oil committee in rapid succession today, but little new information was contributed. They were questioned both about campaign expenditures in 1920 and stories of oil deals at the republican national convention in that year. The committee adjourned until Wednesday after a decision to summon Leonard Wood at Chicago by which Wm. H. Miller, of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Jake L. Hamon, widow of the late republican national committeeman from Oklahoma. Subpoenas also went out for Wm. D. Nichols, former police chief of Oklahoma City Major General E. F. Glenn, retired, of Glendon, N. C., and a "Mr. Himrod" of Mooseheart, Ill.

Miller was mentioned in testimony before the committee today as one of the Harding managers at Chicago and was identified as a former attorney general of Ohio. His subpoena requires him to produce "books, papers and records showing receipts and expenditures of the pre-convention campaign of Senator Warren G. Harding and in connection with the republican national convention in 1920."

Hamon Records Wanted
Mrs. Hamon, who, according to information given the committee, is administratrix of the estate of Jake L. Hamon, is requested to produce all records, papers and cancelled checks showing all receipts and expenditures by Jake L. Hamon, for the seven months preceding his death, "in November, 1920."

The subpoenas for Miller and Mrs. Hamon grow out of testimony today by J. B. French of Oklahoma City, that Hamon had told him he had spent $100,000 in carrying Oklahoma for Harding and $25,000 for the hotel expenses of the Harding headquarters at the Chicago convention. French said Hamon told him he had paid this money to "Bill Miller," who was described by the witness as a former attorney-general of Ohio.

Denies Knowledge
Robert F. Wolfe, of Columbus, publisher of the Ohio State Journal, told the committee he had no information of any offer having been made to Leonard Wood at Chicago by which he could have been nominated. He also asserted he had received no positive information about the "2 o'clock morning conference in Chicago at which the nomination of Harding was agreed upon."

W. L. Kistler, an oil man of Oklahoma, and William W. Marsh of Iowa, former treasurer of the democratic national committee, were the other witnesses. Marsh said the committee would have to consult the democratic committee records as to campaign contributions by E. L. Doheny, California oil magnate, to the democratic "war chest" in 1920, while Kistler disclaimed any connection with the republican campaign collections in that year.

NEBRASKANS TO DECIDE ISSUES

Clear-Cut Contest Develops Between Coolidge and Johnson in Corn-Belt State

OMAHA, April 7 (AP)—A clear-cut state presidential preferential contest between President Calvin Coolidge and United States Senator Hiram Johnson has developed in this state during the last two months and the issue will be decided, probably, without the injection of other candidates, in the primary here Tuesday. Supporters of each have been at work for some time and both sides express confidence in the outcome.

The democratic contest for presidential preference, however, is somewhat clouded. The contestants have up until a few days before the primary in which to file as candidates. William C. McAdoo, wired Governor Charles Bryan that he would not contest this state with Bryan, who was at that time mentioned as a presidential possibility. However, since then Governor Bryan has announced he would be a candidate for re-nomination as governor and would not enter the presidential lists. No other democratic candidates have put in an appearance thus far.

After saying for some time that he would not be a candidate to succeed himself, Senator George W. Norris has finally come out for re-nomination and may be confined to the senator, former Congressman Charles H. Sloan, whose platform indicates he is an administration man, and Lieutenant Governor Fred Johnson of Hastings. Sloan has come out for virtually all of the leading Coolidge policies, except that he promises support of the soldiers' bonus. On the democratic side, Treasurer Cone, a business man of Valley, Neb., is the only candidate for U. S. senator that has thus far filed.

Three candidates are in the field for the republican gubernatorial nomination, while Governor Bryan is the only democratic candidate to file to date. The republican candidates are C. H. Gustafson, of Lincoln; A. N. Mathers, of Gering, and Adam McMullen, of Beatrice. Gustafson was formerly connected with the Farmers' Union and at one time president of the United States Grain Growers, Inc. McMullen was a candidate at the last gubernatorial primary and was only beaten by the republican nominee, Charles Randall of Randolph, by about 500 votes in one of the closest and most sensational contests Nebraska ever experienced.

WILLIAMS SEES LEAGUE ADVANCE

President of Coast Outfit Says Baseball Experts Note Improvement in Playing

LOS ANGELES, April 7 (AP)—Baseball experts seem to be agreed that the Pacific Coast league as a whole is 25 per cent stronger than it was last season, according to an opening statement by President Harry A. Williams, issued at his office here today.

The statement continues: "And in addition to this increased strength there certainly is better balance which is the most vital factor in a successful race. The spring games proved this balance. San Francisco, which last season made a runaway race of it, having even in its series with Kansas City. Vernon, last season's tailender, defeated Kansas City this spring. San Francisco and Vernon are mentioned simply because they were the two extremes of 1923.

"Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Oakland, Salt Lake and Sacramento all appear to have strengthened. Any club which falters will have opportunity to bolster as the season advances."

President Williams has gone to Salt Lake where he will pitch the first ball of the season game tomorrow.

AT THE IDAHO THEATER

Betty Compton in the Joseph Henabery Production "The Stranger" A Paramount Picture

SETTING IN ORPHEUM FILM

Interior settings that mark a new epoch for artistic taste in staging motion picture productions will be seen in "The Governor's Lady."

The screen version of David Belasco's stage hit was directed by Harry Milbrandt, who made a number of the biggest pictures of the past few years, including the screen version of "Hutchinson's novel, "If Winter Comes."

The series of interiors in the mansion of Senator Strickland have been constructed with great care. They are a triumph of artistic taste and create a real home atmosphere.

The celebrated restaurant scene which was a prominent feature of the original production, has been arranged in a manner to out-Belasco Belasco. The dramatic climax of the play is enacted in this scene.

This photoplay is being shown here for the first time at the Orpheum theater.

STREETS OF LONDON BUILT FOR BIG SCENES IN "THE STRANGER"

Whole blocks of London came into existence in Hollywood recently for the exclusive purpose of serving as background for much of the action of the Joseph Henabery production, "The Stranger," with Betty Compton, Richard Dix, Lewis Stone and Tully Marshall featured.

Although no attempt was made to duplicate any of the famous scenic points of London, the various streets, public squares, alleys and exteriors of houses are careful reproductions of actual British scenes.

"The Stranger," with Robert Schach, Frank Nelson, Clarence Burton, Robert Traver and others appearing in the supporting cast, came to the Idaho theater for a run of two days, starting yesterday.

ELABORATE SETTINGS FOR FILM VERSION OF NOVEL

Palatial palaces and gorgeous mansions in settings of tropical splendor form the lavish backgrounds for "The Man From Brimley," a Vitaphone super-feature, which opened at the Idaho theater on Monday.

The story is one of love and intrigue, with much of the settings on the island of Japan, in the South Seas. It is based upon the famous novel of the same name by George Barr McCutcheon, and is played by an unusually brilliant all star cast headed by Warren Kernan and including Alice Calhoun, Miss DuPont, Wanda Hawley, Pat O'Malley and Kathleen Key. David Smith directed the production.

TWIN FALLS CALLED ON TO RAISE RAIL FUND

$25,000.00 were gone into thoroughly. Heretofore Mr. Gray has taken the position that the entire sum of $4,582.00 which was the amount raised in Nevada on the drive for funds for purchase of the old Idaho Central certificate, should be held to apply on Nevada's share of the $25,000.00 required for the Utah Construction company right of way purchase, the proposition being to raise a further sum to bring this amount up to $5,000.00 in all Nevada's share of the latest expense.

Sun Is Quarantined

Yesterday's announcement by Mr. Gray changes this in effect so that the $4,582.00 will be permitted to apply on the Utah Construction company purchase together with another $5,000.00 which Nevada will raise and send in, this last amount being guaranteed by Mr. Gray through the deposit of a check for this amount, all collections received from other Nevada sources to be credited against the guarantee check. By this arrangement Idaho people are assured of a maximum collection of a little over $10,000.00 in all.

Mr. Gray also, by agreement with the chamber of commerce yesterday, engaged that all other expenses of Nevada, including the purchase of terminals at Wells, the securing of title to seven pieces of privately owned property out from Wells and through which the right of way passes, the obtaining of deeds to right of way through the Central Pacific land grants adjacent to Wells, will be the expense of and defrayed by the people of Nevada.

At Tuesday night's mass meeting it is planned to go over every detail of the entire railroad matter in the interests of full public understanding of the situation in every respect. M. J. Sweeney will be the principal speaker with other members of the railroad committee and those officials of the chamber of commerce as have kept in touch with the development of the situation.

The drive for funds is expected to start Wednesday morning and it is hoped to have the entire collection made in cash and completed in one day. The funds collected will be the performance of Edward A. Paulsen's famous comedy success, "Her Temporary Husband," to be the attraction at the Orpheum theater Monday, April 14, with a matinee at 2:30 p. m. To miss it will be to lose one of the greatest treats of the present theatrical season.

"Her Temporary Husband," which was originally produced in New York by Harry H. Frazee of the Frazee theater with William Courtney in the chief male role, is distinctly a comedy based on a love story. Hundreds of thousands have hugged their heads at all in New York, Chicago and Salt Lake.

"Her Temporary Husband" hinges around a woman's desire to secure an aged husband who will die shortly.

NO DISEASE FOUND IN CITY'S MEAT SUPPLY

Two hundred and thirty-five inspected beef animals entered into Twin Falls' meat supply during the month of March, and not one was infected with tuberculosis, according to report made Monday to the municipal commission by Dr. W. C. McPherson, meat and dairy inspector. The city's meat supply for the month, according to the inspector's report, was composed of 166 cattle, 69 calves, 39 sheep, 324 hogs.

At the meeting Monday R. C. Leitch was elected treasurer of the chamber of commerce committee to succeed C. N. Beatty, resigned.

Early Start Looked For It is the understanding that with the purchase of the Utah Construction company right of way completed, the contract can be let and work commenced at once without waiting for the outcome of the negotiations for the purchase of the other Nevada land required.

The first donation to the fund was made yesterday when the Twin Falls Kiwanis club, upon motion, subscribed an amount equal to one month's dues of the members. The total it is understood will amount to about $200.00.

Women's Club to Help The Business and Professional Women's association, at a meeting last evening, voted to assume responsibility for soliciting subscriptions for the right of way fund among local employers. This action was taken after the meeting had heard William Stinson of the railroad committee explain the agreement reached yesterday.

DAIRYMEN PUT MARKET PLANS IN OPERATION

County-Wide Co-operative Association Launched with Control Over Disposal of 40,000 Pounds of Butterfat

Organization of the Twin Falls County Co-operative Dairymen's association, with control, at the beginning of its operations, over marketing of 40,000 pounds of butterfat monthly, was completed at a meeting in Parish hall Monday of about 200 members of the new association. Operations of the organization were entrusted by vote of the members to a board of directors composed of Gustav Kunze, Buhl; E. S. Wood, Kimberly; D. J. Keenig, Hansen; C. H. Hemphill, Twin Falls; and L. S. Otto, Pocatello.

Under provisions of the association's by-laws adopted by the members at their meeting Monday, one member who had been elected to the board at each subsequent annual meeting to fill vacancy occurring through expiration of term.

Gustav Kunze, chairman of the temporary organization which began work about a year ago, looking toward organization of this association, was elected chairman of the association, at a meeting of the directors following the members' session.

Marketing Up to Directors

Disposition to be made of the cream delivered by members to the association did not enter into discussions of the members' meeting, that matter being left to the directors to work out. Quality as well as quantity production of butterfat is essential to the success of the association, the members were told by J. R. Brown, Caldwell, formerly manager of a co-operative creamery at Paretto, who referred to the records of that institution, which showed its growth from 1915 when it turned out 200,000 pounds of butter, to 1923, when its butter output totaled 1,385,000 pounds. He warned the association members that they must expect organized opposition and severe competition, but advised them to maintain steadfast in their confidence in the association.

Chris Johnson, Salt Lake, representative of the federal dairy division, addressed the meeting on advantages of quality production.

End of Long Pull

Completion of the dairymen's association is a result of effort put forth during the past year in this district. The dairymen's marketing of butterfat production of 30,000 pounds monthly was set as a minimum requirement for the organization when the movement was launched. Since the filing of the association's articles of incorporation about two weeks ago, the membership increase has advanced the number of dairymen to 200, through the association from 30,000 to 40,000 pounds monthly.

The membership campaign is not to be discontinued with the completion of the organization, but will be pushed in an effort eventually to enroll all of the producers of cream in the county as members of the association, it was stated at the meeting.

The membership now enrolled represents an area extending from Murtough to Castleford and the vicinity of Bliss.

Builds Tractor at Cost of $15 from Automobile Wreck

California Streetcar Motorman Says Useful Farm Machine Cost Him Only Small Sum

FRESNO, Cal., April 7 (AP)—From the wreck of a small obsolete automobile R. E. Barrett, streetcar motorman, who also owns and cultivates a farm, has built a home-made tractor at a cost of $15. Those who have seen the machine "do the work."

The tractor is mounted on a wooden frame that Barrett built. The gear is from a worn pump. It runs on the wheels of an old automobile stripped to its rims. On one set of wheels he fastened four rims from wheels that one did duty on a mower, this pair giving him the required traction.

"Many farmers could build serviceable tractors at small cost," declares Barrett.

BABSON EXPECTS BONDS WILL REMAIN IN FAVOR

Statistician's Prediction Proved True when Other Experts Scoffed; Cites Main Factors in Finance

BABSON PARK, Fla., April 7.—(Special to The News).—Roger W. Babson, one of the first to predict the recent strength in bonds today gave reasons for his belief that gold bonds will continue to strengthen.

On August 5, 1923, at the Wellesley conference, Mr. Babson predicted a sound bond market, arguing that large gold reserves and the prospect for lower commodity prices must help the investor's position. Most authorities at the time expected inflation, which would have shot commodity prices upward and driven bonds to lower levels.

Subsequent developments have proved Mr. Babson's prediction and the fact that the strengthening process will continue.

"The twentieth century," says Mr. Babson, "has not favored the bondholder to any special degree. During the twenty years between 1900 and 1920, the investor occupied the unenviable position of being a victim of the fixed dollar income who sees the purchasing power of his interest and cash value of his holdings decline at an alarmingly steady rate. During these last four years a new phase has been in and bonds are again in a favorable position."

"The tremendous reserves of gold accumulated in this country argue for lower interest rates that would, of course, place a higher value on outstanding bonds. The danger in this surplus of money lies in the possibility of possible inflation which would drive commodity prices up and eventually force higher money rates to the detriment of the investor. The federal reserve board is watching the situation very carefully and there is little chance for inflation to get under way so long as the board maintains its vigilance."

At this season a decline of 3-4 of 1 per cent in the 40-day time money rate compared with a year ago is a great factor in favor of the investor. A gradual decline in money rates is under way.

"Commodity prices meantime have declined to the advantage of the investor. Professor Irving Fisher's index stood at 166 the first week of April, 1923. On March 21, 1924, we find it at 149.2, a decline of 10 per cent. The index of interest rates, on the other hand, declined from 184.3 to 165 or 9 per cent during the same period. This down trend in commodity prices and interest rates is a factor in favor of the investor."

"Declining commodity prices affect bond holders in two ways. First, lower prices mean lower living costs and the real income from the investment is increased. In the second place, interest is really the price on money as a commodity, and lower prices eventually spell lower interest rates. This naturally helps any security of fixed return. This present trend of commodities toward lower levels must therefore of necessity strengthen the position of the bondholder. The intrinsic value of his securities will increase and his dollar return will buy more."

"Conditions abroad. The third factor that has helped bonds has been the unsettled European situation. Threatened collapse with its affirmative social revolution and destruction of capital naturally does not appeal to the investor. The collapse of central Europe has been adjusted as far as our markets are concerned. The recent rescue of the franc from bankruptcy is distinctly encouraging. It restores the confidence of the French in themselves and in American financial co-operation. French business will find it difficult to carry an additional tax of 20 per cent, but this is better than national insolvency. The move has strengthened the credit situation all around."

"So long as interest rates and commodity prices work down together," concluded Mr. Babson, "the bond market cannot but be helped by both factors. Should commodity prices rise up while money rates are still declining we will get some degree of inflation. Continuation of the present readjustment between the farmer and the industrial worker will allow the bond market to resume its long swing toward higher values."

"The four group leaders are Mrs. Taggart, Donald McClaffin, Bessie Johnson and Glenn Wilcox. Following are committee chairmen: Mrs. Lionel Dean, socially; Lionel Dean, membership; Edith Martha Williams, mission; Genevieve Wilcox, advertising and publicity; Sue Smith, house and equipment; Gladys Wilcox, usher; Helene Sherlock, seal.

Miss Newman is hostess. Miss Mary Newman entertained the Tri-C club Saturday evening. The social gathering of bridge was enjoyed, favor for high were being won by Miss P. Cook. At the conclusion of the games the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Salmon Social Club Meets. Mrs. Mary Cray was hostess to the Salmon Social club last week. The social business was transacted after a clever game furnished amusement. Late in the afternoon a dainty luncheon was served to 12 members and three visitors. The club will meet with Mrs. Julia Giffin on April 10, and it is hoped all members will be present. Officers will be elected for the coming year.

Business Session Held. The music department of the Twentieth Century club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Merline Batley. There was a brief business session followed by the program of which Mrs. Kenneth Bench was leader. She read an exceedingly fine paper on the growth of the modern orchestra.

Mrs. Batley favored the club with two piano solos. Mrs. Beach gave two violin numbers accompanied by Mrs. Batley on the piano, and Mrs. I. H. Musters sang "Scherbert's Serenade," accompanied by Mrs. Batley on the piano, and Mrs. Beach on the violin; she also responded to an encore.

The next meeting will be held April 21, at Mrs. M. P. Duval's.

IDAHO EGG PRODUCERS MAKE INTENSIVE DRIVE

Map-out Committees at Work in 14 South Idaho Counties to Complete Sign-up for Marketing Association

Intensive membership campaign is in progress this week in 14 southeastern Idaho counties to complete the sign-up required for organization of a branch of the Idaho-Oregon Egg Producers' association for this region, according to statement of R. E. Broadard, Twin Falls county agricultural agent, who, with James Kilpatrick, Hansen, attended a conference in Pocatello last Friday of county agents and poultrymen to review progress already made in the campaign.

"Map-out" committees in each county were named at this conference following the canvass of the campaign; results showing at that time that members had been enrolled representing 61,500 hens out of a total of 75,000 required for proceeding with the organization, leaving a balance of 14,000 yet to be signed up.

"These committees will meet in Pocatello Monday of next week to make final arrangements for organization of the association."

It would be possible, Mr. Broadard said, to sign up several thousand hens in this county in addition to those already represented in the sign-up.

The Pocatello conference also named a committee to negotiate with railway officials relative to granting of a lower rate for transportation of eggs to the central marketing station for the association, which is to be situated in Pocatello.

THE STRUGGLE FOR FOOD

An American statistician is much pleased with the notable saving in baby lives and the extension of average human life in recent years, but he foresees great difficulties as a result of the attendant increase of population, especially if peace prevails.

"The race is increasing faster than substance," he says.

But is it? This is the old idea made familiar by Malthus two generations
ago, and long believed by many economic students. Today it is easily discredited. The situation here in America surely shows the falsity of it.

What is the most distressing economic fact in the United States today? The lack of food? Far from it!
It is the distress of the American farmer because there is not enough demand for what he raises to give him a decent living. Our farms cannot sell all they produce, and they could easily produce a great deal more if there were a market for it.

The development of agricultural machinery, the increase of farm intelligence and efficiency, the improvement of grains, vegetables and fruits, the advancement of transportation, the manufacture of fertilizers, all these make it continually easier to produce the food needed, and require fewer farmers and acres for the sustenance
of a given population.

What is true of this country is true of the world in general, in time of peace, though agricultural progress elsewhere is less rapid than here. Texas alone could easily feed America, and America could feed the world if it had to; and the tropics, the most fruitful regions on earth, are as yet hardly scratched by the plow.

If the race is to perish, it will be from war rather than peace-time hunger.

CROSS-COUNTRY AIR MAIL

A daily coast-to-coast air mail service is provided for in the postoffice appropriation bill before Congress. The plan includes night flying between Chicago and Cheyenne. The airway along that part of the route is already well illuminated. Continuous day and night flying is expected to reduce the time for mail transportation to twenty-six and one-quarter hours.

At the same time that better service is planned, certain economies are to be effected which will cut down the ten mile cost from five dollars and forty cents to two dollars and forty cents.

With such an air mail schedule running promptly and safely, it will not be long before passenger service follows the same example, and the person who wants to cross the continent in a big hurry can do so.

WORK

"Work hard and don't worry."
That is the longevity recipe of the President's father on his seventy-ninth birthday. And it is a good one.
Its triteness is nothing against the advice. Every little while forgetful man has to learn the same old truths all over again. Lately we have been inclined to forget the precept and example of our fathers in this respect.

Work that is too hard, or too long continued, is killing. Millions still work too hard for their own good.
But too much leisure is killing, too.
And this is one of the national dangers today.

Material progress and prosperity
have made it possible for a large part of the population, the most active-minded and ingenious part, to exist
with far less effort than was necessary for former generations. If such leisure were used wisely, in constructive effort not connected with the job of earning one's living, it would be all right for the individual and would

Dreamland Adventures

SPRING FUN
By DADDY

Jack, Janet and King Fisher go fishing. King Fisher says the best way to fish is to dive into the water
after the fish. The children say the best way is with a hook and line. They decide to have a fishing race to settle the matter.

CHAPTER II.

The Fishing Race.
JACK and Janet entered with high glor into their fishing race with King Fisher. After Jack baited their hooks with wriggling worms they threw their lines into the muddy waters of the creek. The hooks sank out of sight and the children waited for a while.
Up above on the bare branch of an old tree, King Fisher sat intently,
his keen eyes were fixed on the ripples
below. Presently King Fisher began to frown.

"Rattity-rattity-rattle. The mottled snail waters have made the creek
so roily I can't see a single fish," he complained.
Jack laughed when he heard that.
"Ha! Ha! In our way of fishing we don't have to see the fish in order to catch them," he boasted. "Our hooks sink down to where the fish are
and when the fish grab the bait we get them."

"King Fisher shook his head as his frown deepened.
"That is a silly way to fish," he muttered. "I want to see the fish I am catching."

They sat silent for a few minutes,
all watching the surface of the creek.
Suddenly Janet jerked her pole and her line flew up with excitement.
"I have one," she squealed. "I have hooked a fish."

"Be careful!" warned Jack. "Don't let it get away."
Janet tugged desperately at her pole.
"It is a big fish," she cried. "I can hardly pull it in."
"Shall I help you?" asked Jack.
"No, no! I want to catch it all myself," gasped Janet. She gave a stronger pull than before, and out from the water came what looked like a long, spinning fish.

King Fisher, whose eyes were sharp er than those of the children, began to laugh. "Rattity-rattity-rattle! Ha! Ha!
This is a fine fish—a string of water weeds."

"And King Fisher was right, as Jack and Janet quickly saw. The squirming thing on Janet's hook was only a string of weeds.

Jack took the weeds off the hook and put more worms on his bait. Up in the tree King Fisher kept chuckling.
He thought he had a good joke on the children.

help society along. But used unwisely, it wastes time, money and energy and brings boredom and unwholesome
brooding.

It is idle minds, rather than busily occupied minds, that worry. Minds filled with useful work have little time
or disposition to worry.

Worry is a disease of the soul.
Worry kills, physically, mentally and spiritually, more than work does.

The soul's disquiet is eased, as the physical nerves are, by wholesome work.
It is eased, too, by religious faith; but that is a commodity not plentiful nowadays. In the absence of faith, work is a good substitute. "To labor is to pray." "Labor—all labor is noble and holy." That is true in principle, at least. Next to religion, work, steady and constructive, is what the civilized world needs most.

Hot Water for Sale.

In nearly all Chinese cities a large percentage of the inhabitants live in a sort of hand-to-mouth fashion, buying food from restaurants. Hot water is sold from stands by people who make a business of providing it. The great necessity for economy in fuel seems to be the primary cause of this mode of living.

Watching Church Doctors.

One of the queerest wits on record was left in 1725 by John Rudge of Trysull, Staffordshire, England. It bequeathed the sum of 20 shillings a year to a poor man to go "about the parish church during the sermon to keep people awake and to keep dogs
out of the church."

England's State Newspaper.

England's only state newspaper, as such, is the London Gazette. It is 258 years old, having been first published for Charles II, when it was known as the Oxford Gazette. The court at that time had fled to Oxford on account of the plague.

Evening Schools.

The first successful evening schools
in this country were established about the middle of the Nineteenth century,
although an attempt without permanent results was made in New York in 1824.

"It is a big fish!"

When they began fishing again Jack felt a tug on his line.

"I've got a fish—a whopper!" cried
he. "I've got a fish—a whopper!" cried
he. "I've got a fish—a whopper!" cried
he. "I've got a fish—a whopper!" cried
he.

"Rattity-rattity-rattle! Ha! Ha! Ha!" Again King Fisher laughed. An with good cause. Jack's big fish was just an old rusty pole with a hole in the bottom.

"Rattity-rattity-rattle! I told you my way of fishing was best. I see what I catch." Suddenly King Fisher stopped chuckling and grew intent.

"And I see something now," he rattled as he dove off his perch and flashed down into the muddy water.
He vanished from sight, only to come bobbing up in a moment. In his beak
he held something black that flopped
as King Fisher proudly held it to his perch.

"Rattity-rattity-rattle! There! I told you,
my kind of fishing was best," boasted King Fisher, grasping his catch with one foot. "I saw this fish swimming
by and I got him!"

But now Jack and Janet were laughing. King Fisher's fish was only an old shoe.

"Ha! Ha! That certainly was a fine
fish you saw swimming by," laughed
Jack. "Ha! Ha!"

King Fisher gazed at the old shoe in disgust and then threw it back into the water. "Rattity-rattity-rattle! This creek is too muddy to fish in," he complained. "I know a better place."

Away flew King Fisher, and after him ran Jack and Janet. They, too, wanted to find a better place to fish.

(Where the better place is and how the fishing race grows exciting will be told in tomorrow's chapter.)

Paradise Butterflies Valuable.

The Paradise butterfly, when first discovered, probably in the heart of Papua first, was very desirable and valuable, a single specimen selling for as much as $150. Some recent specimens have also been brought out of Papua and have sold for much less, between $40 and $50. The scientist who caught the most recent specimens lost his life in the effort, being killed
and consumed by cannibals.

Where Moses Was Found.

Opposite Colera lies the island of Roth, where, according to Arab tradition, Pharaoh's daughter found Moses in the bulrushes. At the southern extremity of this island is the Nilemer, by which the rise of the Nile has been measured by the Caldeas for 1,000 years. It is a square well with an occasional pillar marked in cubits in the center.

"For a moment he sat looking sadly
into the glowing coals on the grate.
Franklin loved to talk, but no one could better keep his own counsel."

"At heart I am no talkative," he said presently. "I believe in purifying —not in breaking down. I would to God that I could have convinced the British of their error. Mainly I am with the prophet who says:

"Stand in the old ways. View the ancient paths. Consider them well and be not among those who are given to change."

"I sat for a moment thinking of the cruelties I had witnessed, and asking myself if it had been really worth while. Franklin interrupted my thoughts."

"I wish we could discover a plan
which would induce and compel mankind to settle their differences without cutting each other's throats. When will human-wisdom be sufficient to see the advantage of this?"

He told me the thrilling details of his success in France, how he had won the kingdom for an ally and secured
loans and the help of a fleet and army
then on the sea.

"And you will not be surprised to learn that the British have been bounding me to see if we would be base enough to abandon our ally," he laughed.

"In a moment he added:
"Come, it is late and you must write a letter to the heart of England
before you lie down to rest."

"Often thereafter he spoke of Margaret as the heart of England."

CHAPTER XXIV

The Pageant.

Jack began to assist Franklin in his correspondence and in the many business details connected with his mission.

"I have never seen a man with a like capacity for work," the young officer wrote. "Every day he is conferring with Vergennes or other representatives of the king, or with the ministers of Spain, Holland and Great Britain. The greatest intellect in the chancellery is naturally in great request.
Today, after many hours of negotiation with the Spanish minister, in came M. DuRoi, the most distinguished physician in Europe."

"Mon cher malgre," he said "I have a most difficult case and as you know more about the human body
than any man of my acquaintance I wish to confer with you."

"Yesterday, Doctor Ignaceau, physician to the emperor of Austria, came to consult him regarding the vaccination of the royal family of France."
In the evening, M. Bibeclerc, in slim, dark-skinned, studious young attorney from Arras, wearing gold-rimmed spectacles, came for information regarding lightning rods, the having doubts of their legality. While they were talking, M. Joseph Ignace Gutierrez, another physician, arrived.
He was looking for advice regarding a proposed new method of capita-punishment, and wished to know if, in the Doctor's opinion, a painless death

could be produced by quickly severing
the head from the body. Next morning, M. Jourdan, with hair and beard
as red as the flank of my bay mare and a loud voice, came soon after breakfast, to sell us mules by the shipment.

"So you see that even I, living in his home and seeing him almost every hour of the day, have little chance to talk with him. Last night, when
M. Voltaire, dramatist and historian
—now in the evening of his days. We were at the academy, where we had gone to hear an essay by D'Alembert.
Franklin and Voltaire—a very thin old gentleman of eighty-four, with piercing black eyes—sat side by side on the platform. The audience demanded that the two great men should come forward and salute each other. They arose and advanced and shook hands."

"A la Française," the crowd demanded.

"So the two white-haired men embraced and kissed each other amid loud applause."

"As we were leaving the table one day he said: 'Jack, I have an idea worthy of Demosthenes. My friend, David Hartley of London, who still has hopes of peace by negotiation, wishes to come over and confer with me. I shall tell him that he may come if he will bring with him the Lady Hare and her daughter.'

"More thrilling words were never spoken by Demosthenes," I answered.
"But how about Jones and his Bonne Homme Richard? He is now a terror to the British coast. They would fear destruction."

"I shall ask Jones to let them alone," he said. "They can come under a special flag."

"Commodore Jones did not appear again in Paris until October, when he came. I stayed to report upon a famous battle."

"I was eager to meet this terror of the coasts. His impudent courage and sheer audacity had astonished the world. The wonder was that men were willing to join him in such dare devil enterprises."

"I had imagined that Jones would be a tall, gaunt, swarthy, raw-boned, swearing man of the sea. He was a sleek, silent, modest little man, with delicate hands and features. He wished to be alone with the Doctor, and so I did not hear their talk. I knew that he needed money and that Franklin, having no funds, provided the sea fighter from his own purse."

"One evening our near neighbors,
Le Comte de Chaulmont and M.
LeVillier, came to announce that a dinner and ball in honor of Franklin would occur at the palace of Comte de Chaulmont less than a week later."

"My good friends," said the philosopher, "I value these honors which are so graciously offered me, but I am old and have much work to do. I need rest more than I need the honors."

"It is one of the penalties of being a great savant that people wish to see and know him," said the count. "The most distinguished people in France
will be among those who do you honor. I think, if you can recall a talk we had some weeks ago, you will wish to be present."

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonially Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My wife ruins all the pens and pencils that I bring home.

We have a fine writing desk in our living room, but the only trouble is that there's never anything on it to write with.

It sits down in the evening to do a little figuring. I have to do it on my fingers.

I find that the pencils I have brought home so neatly sharpened are all point-less stubs. My wife has apparently been keeping them in use by breaking off pieces of the wood near the writing end.

The pens that I furnished for our desk are so battered out of shape that they look like miniature pitchforks. If I try to write with one of them it immediately splinters ink all over the page and my face.

When I call these things to my wife's attention she says that she doesn't know what I mean and that she never has any trouble in using our pens and pencils.

She must write all her letters in hieroglyphics and sign her name with an "X."

old newspapers to build up fire and

You Can Have
Beautiful Floors

Of course you have noticed how many more homes have beautiful floors these past few years and maybe you know the reason.

It's so much easier to have them now—and so much less expensive. This is because it has been possible to develop a varnish
especially suited to floors—a tough, elastic,
durable varnish that goes on easily, dries
quickly and will not scratch or mar white.

McMurtry Rubber Floor Varnish is just this kind of varnish. It's made to walk on. Dries hard over night. Gives you a beautiful floor that stays beautiful—the very kind of a floor you want.

COUNCIL TAKES OFFENSIVE IN WAR UPON PEST

Emergency Ordinance Requires Property Owners and Tenants to Spray Elms for Kill Scale; City Looks to Sprayer

Declaring war on scale, which, horticultural experts advise, threatens destruction of elm trees in Twin Falls, the municipal commission, at a regular meeting Monday evening, adopted an ordinance requiring property owners, tenants or occupants to spray trees and shrubs for kill scale. The ordinance provides that if the owner, tenant or occupant fails to attend to it. The commission, however, was unable Monday evening to work out definitely a plan by which the city might undertake this work, and left the solution to the city council.

Sets Limit for Spraying.
Under provision of this ordinance the city will undertake to spray trees that have not been sprayed by April 25, next, and will then take care of the work against the property.

The ordinance provides also for removal of snow, rubbish and ice from sidewalks, and for cutting and removal of grass weeds and rubbish from private property with similar provision for the work to be done by the owner, tenant or occupant of the property, owner, tenant or occupant to attend to it.

The ordinance was adopted under suspension of the rules requiring reading on three occasions, and action taken in this regard followed discussion of the subject at previous recent meetings of the commission.

The action taken leaves it up to Commissioners All and Dwight to obtain, without purchase, a high power spraying device, with which this work can be done effectively by the city.

Machines.
Purchase by the city of such a sprayer was declared out of the question at this time for the reason that no appropriation for the purpose was made at the beginning of the fiscal year about 11 months ago, and there are now no funds available for the purpose. It was estimated that about $900 in the machine would be required, it was estimated.

Only a few machines of the required type are in the country, the commissioners were told, and all of them, as far as the commission can learn, have all the work they can do this spring. "Scrapping" of the elm scale situation was pointed out to the commission at this meeting by H. T. Blakk, deputy state horticultural inspector, who declared that the question is one of spraying the elms or losing them. He offered to supervise the spraying of the trees if the city could place a sprayer at his disposal for the purpose.

Street Sprinkling Advances.
On its third reading, the ordinance declaring the intention of the commission to create a local improvement district for the purpose of sprinkling streets and alleys during the coming season, was adopted at this meeting. Estimated cost of the sprinkling is given at $6000, which is practically the cost of the work last year. The ordinance provides that protests against inclusion of any designated street in the district must be presented to the commission not later than Monday, April 21.

Water to Save Lawns.
Announcement that the season for sprinkling lawns is not limited to the period beginning May 1 was authorized by the commission after Commissioner W. T. Leckie pointed out present need for sprinkling lawns because of the unusual dearth of precipitation. Completion of the installation of cast iron pipe to replace defective wooden water pipe leading from the purification plant was announced by Commissioner All.

Kiwanians Donate for Right of Way

Members Authorize Contribution of $200 by Club to Rogerson-Wells Lino Fund

Contribution by Twin Falls Kiwanis club of $200 to a fund for purchase of the Rogerson-Wells line right of way was authorized by unanimous vote of the club's membership at a regular luncheon meeting Monday in the Rogerson hotel.

Guy Plummer, Boise; C. B. Sampson, Boise; and J. R. Brown, Caldwell, were guests. Mr. Plummer invited support of the Idaho State Automobile association in its plans this season for diverting tourist travel through Idaho, and explained that the association would maintain two stations for this purpose just outside the state's borders and would issue literature calling attention especially to Idaho's scenic attractions.

Offer of a gift of trees to be set out near Hansen bridge or elsewhere as a means of beautifying highways of this region, made by Mrs. Florence Wright of the Kimberly nurseries, was read to the club by M. J. Sweetley.

FRAUD ALLEGED IN FARM SALE

Foreclosure Suit of Alfred Carlson Against H. W. Leveke Involves Sensational Charges

Whether Alfred Carlson represented to H. W. Leveke that dairy cattle which he sold along with his farm to Leveke in 1919 were healthy, thereby influencing Leveke to make the purchase, is a question to be decided in the trial begun Monday before a jury in district court here wherein Carlson seeks to foreclose a mortgage executed by Leveke covering the property.

Leveke alleges that such representations were made by Carlson and that they were fraudulent for the reason that soon after the purchase was negotiated, federal and state veterinarians advised him to destroy several of the animals found to be infected with tuberculosis. Loss of these animals, Leveke claims, caused default of his payments to Carlson for the property. Purchase price of the 80-acre farm and dairy herd was $30,000, of which Leveke is said to have paid $20,000.

The plaintiff Carlson is represented in this suit by Attorney T. K. Hackman, the defendant Leveke being represented by Attorneys J. W. Taylor and J. W. Porter of the firm of Porter and Witham.

Jurors impaneled in the trial of this case were selected from among 20 citizens summoned for jury service under an open venire ordered by Judge Babcock, and are Carl Hahn, William Baker, W. L. Epler, William Scott, R. D. Strobridge, H. P. Yantia, C. H. Burton, E. Prothro, G. B. Ludlum, B. W. Magel, L. I. Benoit, O. D. Quessnell.

The kitchen was unoccupied when the explosion occurred. Mr. Meni had just left the room after replenishing the supply of fuel in the stove.

"A NEW SHOE EVERY DAY"

INVOKES SPIRIT OF 'OLD WEST'

Boy Scout Executive Asks for Fair Play on Part of Persons Using Cabin

"The spirit of the old west seems to be departing," said F. Douglas Hawley, scout executive, who was away from a trip Sunday to the Boy Scout cabin in Shoshone basin. The scout executive's remark was provoked by discrepancy that the cabin had been used by persons who failed before leaving to cleanse dishes and utensils, so that some of the guests had become rusted and unfit for further use.

"In the old days," Mr. Hawley said, "it was customary for persons to make use of conveniences in cabins that were left unworked; but it was an invariable rule that guests in such instances should leave everything such and span, and restitute the supply of firewood. There is no objection to anyone using the scout cabin, but we feel that it is only right that we should not have to suffer inconveniences and loss through our hospitality."

The scout executive made the trip to the cabin in Shoshone basin, near the town of Burley, to determine whether scouts might like from Rock Creek to the cabin, and to inspect the premises with view to erecting additional shelters for scouts at the summer camp. This trip was made from the forks of Rock creek on foot, the last five miles being negotiated on snowshoes. Snow at the cabin now stands three feet deep, the scout leaders reported. Grass in that region is from one to one and one-half inches high and deer are feeding on the bottoms.

A total of 37 arrests were served in the city jail during the month. Forty-five persons were warned during the month for minor violation of various ordinances, four for infraction of the traffic regulations and 15 for violation of sanitary rules.
