Wheeler Is Indicted For Alleged Graft In Securing Oil Leases

Warrant Will be Telegraphed to Washington for Senator's Arrest

Prosecutor of Senate Daugherty Investigation Charged by Federal Grand Jury with Unlawfully Receiving Money for His Influence; Claim $10,000 Was Paid

GREAT FALLS, Mont., April 8 (AP)—United States Senator B. K. Wheeler, prosecutor of the senate Daugherty investigating committee, was indicted here today by a federal grand jury on a charge of unlawfully receiving money as retainer fees to influence the issuance of oil and gas prospecting permits by the secretary of the interior and commissioner of the general land office.

With Senator Wheeler were indicted Gordon Campbell, oil geologist and operator, and L. C. Stevenson, oil promoter and principal owner of an oil refinery. Campbell and Stevenson were the discoverers of the Sunbury-Kevin oil field in Montana. Other oil men of lesser prominence also were indicted on charges of using the mails to defraud.

Accepted Cash.
The grand jury charges that on two occasions Senator Wheeler accepted money after he had been elected United States senator but before he had qualified for office and on a third occasion agreed to accept money.

The size of the fee which it was alleged Senator Wheeler received was not stated officially, newspaper men being told by the department of justice officials that it was $10,000.

The Montana junior senator is accused in the indictment of having taken money from Gordon Campbell and others to secure for them oil and gas prospecting leases giving them the exclusive right to develop oil on government lands for a period of two years.

Campbell and Stevenson are known in virtually all of the oil districts of the west, the former having more than a local reputation as a geologist.

E. J. Daley, who was among those charged with unlawful use of the mails, was caught in the recent roundup in Texas when the evidence was secured which led to the conviction of D. Cook. Daley himself was convicted and at present is serving a prison term of a year.

John L. Slattery, United States district attorney who presented the cases to the grand jury, stated that a warrant for Senator Wheeler's arrest would be telegraphed to Washington. The technical charge is violation of section 113 of the United States penal code.

WILL STAY AT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Senator Wheeler declared tonight that he would not return immediately to Washington as a result of his indictment at Great Falls, but would remain here and proceed with his work as prosecutor for the senate Daugherty investigating committee.

MANNINGTON SUBPOENAED
NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Howard T. Mannington was served with a subpoena to appear before the Daugherty investigating committee in Washington upon his arrival tonight on the French liner Chicago.

In an hour's talk with newspaper men coming up the bay, Mr. Mannington declared all the talk about little green houses in K street, Washington, during his residence there was "ridiculous."

President Coolidge Takes Big Majority In Michigan Voting

Overwhelming Victory for Chief Executive and Success for Ford Feature Presidential Primary

DETROIT, April 8 (AP)—Overwhelming victory of Calvin Coolidge on the republican ticket, the apparent defeat of Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris by Henry Ford on the democratic ballot and a see-saw contest between two women candidates for a place on the democratic national committee were outstanding features of Monday's presidential primary.

Each additional tabulation of returns served to increase the lead of President Coolidge over Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, 2105 of the state's 2890 precincts giving Coolidge 172,066 and Johnson 76,114. Coolidge supporters tonight were claiming a plurality of greater than 100,000 votes.

Ford's advantage over Ferris was narrow, 2,000 precincts giving him a lead of only 2,533 somewhat under the margin made earlier in the day. There was a possibility that complete returns might upset the Ford lead late returns in the main favoring Ferris.

REGULARS WANT CHANGES MADE IN TAX SCHEME

Movement within Ranks of Republicans Has Compromise on Mellon Rates as Its Goal; Revenue Bill Reported

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—A movement within the ranks of senate republicans for a compromise on the Mellon income tax plan developed today as the revenue bill, carrying the rates in the plan, was ordered sent to the senate by the finance committee.

Senator McCormack, Illinois, a republican member of the committee, announced he soon would call a conference of some republican leaders, particularly those of the farm bloc, with a view to working out a substitute schedule for the Mellon rates. Proponents of the Mellon plan have admitted, Senator McCormack said, that it cannot be adopted in the senate.

Centers on Income Rates.
The fight on the bill will center on the income tax rates as in the house where the Mellon plan was rejected in favor of the Longworth compromise. A similar compromise is predicted by some republicans as the plan that will be agreed upon.

The only other contest of consequence looked for now by leaders of both parties will be on the miscellaneous and excise rates, some of which were restored to the bill by the finance committee after their repeal by the house.

AVIATORS ARE READY TO RESUME WORLD FLIGHT

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., April 8 (AP)—Barring bad weather the four United States army aviators, flying around the world and who have been here since last Sunday, will resume their flight tomorrow. Their next stop will be Sitka, Alaska, a minor supply base about 300 miles north of here. The flying officers were guests tonight of the city of Prince Rupert at a banquet.

Revolution Leaders Have Plan to Band States in Republic

Manifesto Is Being Prepared Naming Huerta Aide as New President

VERA CRUZ, April 8 (AP)—Revolutionary leaders in Merida, Yucatan, have decided to proclaim a republic composed of the states of Yucatan, Campeche and Tabasco, according to advice received here today.

A manifesto is in course of preparation, the advice states, naming General Canido Aguilar, one of Adolfo de la Huerta's principal lieutenants, as president. It is reported that General Canidaupe Sanchez and Epitacio Estrada, de la Huerta commanders in the east and west, respectively, are now at Merida.

EXPERTS FINISH FINANCE STUDY

Delivery of Dawes Report to Take Place Wednesday; Work Arduous Much Praise

PARIS, April 8 (AP)—The preparation experts have completed their task.

Shortly after 8 o'clock tonight the last correction was made in the text of the report and marked the end of the formidable work undertaken January 14. Tomorrow's meeting with the reparations commission will be a mere formal ceremony for the delivery of the report.

When the committee convened in January it was confidently expected six weeks would suffice to draw up a report, and two months was given as the extreme limit of time in which the experts would be ready to present their conclusions. The work lasted longer than was originally expected because the experts made the most of the scope allowed them in the investigation of the various problems involved and went into every detail with careful scrutiny, consulting numerous specialists, railroad and banking monopolies as well as representatives of the German ministries interested.

POPE TO ATTEND EVENT.
ROME, April 8 (AP)—Pope Pius to-morrow will attend the dedication of Knights of Columbus welfare building.

STAGE SET FOR RAISING OF CASH FOR PURCHASE OF RIGHT OF WAY LAND

Enthusiastic Audience Listens to History of Railroad Movement and Manifests Approval of Project; Finance Committee Plans Call for Completion of Fund in Single Day

CO-OPERATION OF ALL URGED IN WORK OF PUTTING OVER FINAL NEEDED STEP

NOTICE TO COMMITTEES

Members of all committees named in connection with the work of soliciting funds are asked to report at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

It is hoped to raise the entire sum of $15,000.00 in a single day and it is anticipated that one or two hours' work by each committeeman will be sufficient to bring about this result.

Subscription lists and full information will be ready for each committee so that work may be commenced by each as rapidly as each reports.

ARTHUR J. FRAVET,
Chairman Finance Committee.

An audience which made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers heard a complete account of the history of the railroad movement from its inception clear down to the present time and manifested its warm approval of the result, at the high school auditorium last night.

M. J. Sweeley was the first speaker. He was introduced by D. D. Alvord, president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, who served as chairman of the meeting. Following Mr. Sweeley, Judge J. R. Bottwell spoke briefly upon the work accomplished to date by the railroad committee and the necessity of the further and final step, the raising of the necessary funds for the purchase of the Utah Construction company's right of way.

Mayor Shad L. Hodgkin next delivered a strong plea for united and wholehearted action with respect to the raising of the needed cash, referred to in the place held by Twin Falls in the estimation of the entire balance of the state, and painted in warm colors the advantages which would accrue to a large to all northern Idaho upon the completion of the project.

Means Added Values
C. A. Robinson spoke briefly along general lines, stressing the added value which would attach to every acre of real estate in the Twin Falls county by reason of the improved shipping facilities brought about by the new railroad. This added wealth he declared would compensate and over again for the outlay called for to secure the railroad.

J. A. Crom, the final speaker of the evening, delivered an address, which was well received and punctuated by frequent applause, as were the remarks of all the speakers.

Mr. Sweeley, who delivered perhaps the longest address of the evening, followed closely the text of a written statement given to the press during the day, which was as follows:

History of Movement
Because of the conviction which is to be started immediately for the purpose of raising funds to obtain the right of way for the Hopewell-Wells road and in order that the public may know why the raising of this money is necessary, the committee which has had the negotiations with the railroad company in charge makes this statement:

Identify Youth As Missing Paymaster; Victim of Amnesia

Man Taken in Custody at San Francisco Believed to Be Executive Who Disappeared with Navy's Funds

SAN FRANCISCO, April 8 (AP)—A youth identified as Lieut. Ervin R. Brown, United States navy paymaster who disappeared with $15,000 in government funds from Mobile, Ala., March 10, was found last night in Golden Gate park here, apparently a victim of amnesia.

The man taken into custody had $1,200 in his pockets. He talked incoherently and under persistent questioning became violent and had to be subdued. He is under guard in a hospital.

Identification of the youth as the missing paymaster was made by Lieutenant Commander James K. Nielsen of the Twelfth naval district, who had seen Brown's severe amnesia.

In addition the lieutenant commander compared a complete description of Brown, furnished by naval intelligence workers, with the appearance of the prisoner, and asserted they tallied even to a small scar on one of the fingers and a tattooed figure of a girl on the left shoulder.

WASHOUT DELAYS TRAINS
A washout in Nugget canyon, south of Kemmerer, Wyoming, Monday night delayed main line trains on the Union Pacific system and caused the west-bound train due here at 4 o'clock in the afternoon to arrive Tuesday one hour and 40 minutes behind schedule.

BEES EXCLUDED.
BOISE, April 8 (AP)—Exclusion of shipments of bees and bee supplies and grains and cereals unless packed in clean, new bags from California, is provided for in a supplementary quarantine issued today by Idaho state department of agriculture.

BANDITS KILLED IN FIGHT
ROME, April 8 (AP)—Two of the bandits who murdered Robert Lewis Coleman and George B. Delong, American citizens, in Albania, have been killed in a fight with a posse of gendarmes, says a Stefani agency dispatch from Tirana, Albania.

HAWAIIANS FOR COOLIDGE.
HONOLULU, April 8 (AP)—Definite announcement that the Hawaiian delegation to the republican national convention, chosen yesterday, would support President Coolidge for re-nomination was made today after a meeting of the delegates. The delegates were unanimous in electing but it was understood tacitly that they would favor the Coolidge aspirations.

ARK CLUBS TO ASSIST.
BOISE, April 8 (AP)—Co-operation of Idaho's civic organizations in keeping the foot and mouth disease out of Idaho, is asked in a letter sent out today to all commercial, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of the state by the state department of agriculture.

$2,100 in Cash Prizes

Isn't

Bargain Day

Every Day

the

Better Way?

We are running through this month in addition to our regular advertising—a series of what we style "Editorials" on subjects that are cogs in the machine of merchandising.

The first Editorial was run on April 2nd, on "Advertising and Selling Methods"—the second one was published on April 4th, on "The Cash Way." The third one will be published in tomorrow's paper. There will be six in all.

We are anxious to obtain from the public the best possible Editorials on subjects applicable to our business and covered by us. Hence this contest. Liberal cash prizes are offered as an incentive to compete.

Two more days still remain within which to get your Editorials to us on the first subject. Four more days still remain within which to get Editorials to us on the second subject.

Isn't

Bargain Day

Every Day

the

Better Way?

The Buhl Store and the Stores at Nampa, Caldwell, Emmett, Weiser, Payette, Mountain Home, Ontario, Boise, New Plymouth, Parma and Midvale will each pay at $25.00 cash prize for the best Editorial submitted to them on each subject in accordance with the rules of the contest.

And in addition, the Boise Store offers a Capital Prize of $50.00 which amount will be paid to the author of the best of the winning Editorials on each subject covered by us in the contest.

EVERYONE IS ELIGIBLE

This contest is open to everyone—doctors, lawyers, business men, business women, newspaper men and women, advertising men, school men and women, school children. Every man, woman and child is eligible to compete—under the following conditions:

Contributions to the Contest must not exceed in number of words the Editorial we publish on each subject. They may be shorter but must not be longer.

Each contribution must be on some particular subject that we use. One may contribute on all subjects or simply on one or more of them. That's optional.

Each Editorial of ours forms the basis of a separate Contest.

Contribution need not be set up as Ads. We will give for all purposes all Editorials entered in the Contest.

The winner of each Capital Prize of $50.00 will necessarily be one of the winners of a $25.00 prize either at Boise, Nampa, Caldwell, Emmett, Weiser, Payette, Mountain Home, Ontario, Buhl, New Plymouth, Parma or Midvale. So that a person really competes each time for a $75.00 CASH PRIZE.

Isn't that worth your while?

To the end that our judging may be absolutely disinterested—please keep your name off the Editorials you submit but enclose your name and address with them in a separate envelope. As your Editorial is received it will be given a number and that number will be placed on the envelope containing your name and address.

We do not want to know the authors of the winning Editorials until they are selected as the winners.

Each of our stores will do its own judging.

Winners of each contest will be announced the week following the close of that contest, when their prizes become immediately payable.

Your Editorial on each subject must reach us within 7 days from the date of our Editorial on the same subject.

Each of our Editorials will carry a date line together with notice of the date of the publication of the next succeeding one.

Quantity Buying and Values

THE C. C. Anderson Company Golden Rule organization consists of 13 busy stores operating at Boise, Nampa, Caldwell, Weiser, Payette, Mountain Home, Buhl, Emmett, Parma, New Plymouth and Midvale, Idaho; Ontario, Oregon, and Pueblo, Colorado.

The Golden Rule with its big outlet for goods buys them in great quantities, chiefly from primary sources—largely eliminating the middleman's profit from what it has to pay and from the cost to its customers.

The Golden Rule does a larger volume of business at a smaller profit—the larger volume cuts down the cost to its customers because there's economy in large scale buying and selling.

Through Golden Rule's quantity buying and distributing power it is enabled to sell goods at as low prices as any organization in America and IT DOES.

Comparisons prove the Golden Rule habitually sells for LESS—as witness the goods now being exhibited in Golden Rule Stores with their prices in comparison with goods from a large mail order house with its prices.

With the Golden Rule it is Volume vs. Profits and the verdict is Savings for its customers.

An index of the extent to which the public appreciates Golden Rule Values is shown by the name given these Stores in their various localities by the citizens thereof—of "The Store that's always busy."

So—every day is Bargain Day
at the Golden Rule

And the Golden Rule believes in quality as well as quantity. There are always large stocks of quality goods in ample assortment. Quality is not sacrificed for the sake of price.

Service

GOLDEN RULE salespeople realize they are employed not for the sole purpose of selling merchandise but to render service to their customers as well.

Service is an essential part of their work.

The Golden Rule insists that everyone who enters its doors is a guest and is due every courtesy which the store may extend.

The ambition of the Golden Rule is to serve as well as sell and no distinctions are drawn between customers and shoppers. Every day at the Golden Rule is a day of investigation without obligation and of courtesy without the need of currency.

The Golden Rule prizes the good will of its patrons just as highly as it does their patronage. To merit that good will, it merchandises harder, to the end that for every dollar spent with it there shall be a full measure of 100 cents in fine value.

The every-day occupation of the Golden Rule is to anticipate the public's needs in the lines it carries—to save its customers time and add to their pleasure of selection with extensive stocks at moderate pricings.

The Golden Rule maintains a corps of expert buyers—men who through years of experience have qualified for their positions. Periodically they personally comb the markets to supply Golden Rule stocks.

How well they have done so far this season is attested by the completeness of Golden Rule assortments and the outstandingness of its values.

And the Golden Rule brings to its customers—when they are new—the season's best style features—a service quite on a par with that performed by stores in large cities.

But, dependence is not put upon the Golden Rule's own buyers, alone. The C. C. Anderson Golden Rule organization is affiliated with the New York buying office of Alfred Fanti—said by the editor of the American Magazine some months ago to be the largest "resident buyer" office of its kind in the world.

The Golden Rule assures you of its most interested attention to every service that it may perform.

PROBE LEADER PLANS TO END LEASE INQUIRY

Walsh Seeks to Bring Long Investigation to Close; Washington Democrat Renews His Assaults on Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—While Senator Will, democrat, Washington, was rousing his assault on Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, in the senate today in connection with the oil leases, Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, the oil committee prosecutor, was laying plans to bring the long inquiry to a close.

Senator Walsh said he hoped to end the investigation this week as examination of several witnesses now under subpoena would not consume a great deal of time.

Senate process servers still are seeking to have a subpoena served on William Boyce Thompson of New York, former chairman of the finance committee of the republican national committee, but they have been unable to locate him. The committee desires to question Thompson about contributions. Witnesses subpoenaed for tomorrow include William H. Miller of Columbus, Ohio, former assistant attorney general of Ohio, and J. P. Baughman of Hartland, Texas, a friend of the late Jake L. Haman, republican national committee chairman from Oklahoma. They will be asked regarding gossip of oil deals at the Chicago republican convention in 1920.

Dr. Ballard, Jr., of Los Angeles, who was summoned last week, will not be called to Washington as a result of a telegram from him stating he had received from him today asking for $250 for expenses. His message said he was without the necessary funds to equip himself for the journey. Information regarding the committee has been that Ballard will tell a story similar to that given investigators by allegations regarding statements made by Haman.

AUTO MEN CLAIM IDAHO MEASURE IS NOT FAIR

BOISE, April 8.—(Special to The News).—An opinion of Attorney General Cramer reveals another injustice. The law leveled at auto owners seems a hulloin of the Idaho State Automobile association. The attorney general says:

"If a motor vehicle is designed by the manufacturer, or by the person, for the transportation of commodities, etc., it is a motor truck; whether it is used for that purpose or not. On the other hand, a motor vehicle not so designed, which is used for the transportation of commodities, is a motor truck, where that use is the principal one and not merely incidental."

"Under this construction many cars might be construed as motor trucks. For example, a farmer using his car to haul milk or other produce might be penalized as a truck owner," says the attorney's bulletin. "We have submitted the matter to our attorneys but expect we shall have to await legislative relief. The present tariff laws place caps on car owners, plus various plans to add to the costs, through additional gas taxation and added revenues for straight car taxation, emphasizes the necessity of car owners uniting for their own protection. It is only through organization that they will get anywhere."

GERMANY LACKS SAILORS
HAMBURG, April 8 (AP)—Sixty thousand German sailors and officers had to find other jobs when the German fleet was dismantled under the Versailles treaty. Consequently Germany is now forced to begin the training of large numbers of sailors, and new schools for sailors are being organized.

BURBANK'S HULL-LESS BARLEY
SANTA ROSA, Cal., April 8 (AP)—Luther Burbank's new hull-less barley has been named "California hull-less." The creation is the result of many years of work. It threshes out like wheat and is said to be an enormous yielder.

The Burbank tomato again has been introduced. It ripens in June, and the seeds can be replanted immediately and will produce another crop in the same season.

Potatoes 3 Cents a Bushel in President Lincoln's Day

Civil War Veteran, Friend and Former Office Boy of Immortal "Abe" Recalls Many Interesting Incidents

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams
Telephone 396

OMAHA, April 8 (AP)—Ephraim Webb McIntosh, 79, civil war veteran and former office boy for Abraham Lincoln when the latter was a lawyer at Springfield, Ill., became a member of the Emancipator started him at this trade. He continued as a painter until his age no longer would permit him to climb ladders and paint buildings.

McIntosh, who was the first member of the Grand Army of the Republic, recalled that Lincoln had mixed his first white lead for him and then described how he spent two days painting Lincoln's fence. When the job was completed, Lincoln selected McIntosh to clean out his office, which he continued to do for about three years.

Spuds, Three Cents a Bushel
"Sometimes he would give me a quarter and then again he would give me fifty cents, but in those days you could buy a bushel of potatoes for three cents," said McIntosh in telling of his pay.

When he was seven years old, McIntosh related, he bought him a drum, carried by the aged veteran throughout the war, and which now hangs in the national museum in Washington.

Recalls Debates
When Lincoln was debating the wool question with Stephen Douglas, his opponent for the presidency in 1860, McIntosh accompanied him as his attendant on several of his campaign tours. The only compensation he ever received, McIntosh declared, were his expenses.

"After Douglas had completed his talk, Lincoln got up, in sections, took off his coat and laid it behind him. As he did so he stretched his long arms above it and said: 'Lie there, American, while I stone Stephen.' He won this debate by a wide margin," McIntosh asserted.

Mrs. L. P. Nissen and Miss Johnson were guests and both made brief remarks expressing their pleasure at being present. Dr. Emma C. Crossland, in a clever little speech, presented Miss Mary Robinson, president of the club, with a lovely orange bouquet as a token of appreciation of her splendid leadership during the past year and pledged the hearty co-operation of the members for the coming year.

EVANS NINE SET FOR FIRST GAME

Locals to Meet Buhl on Lincoln Field Friday; More Dates Being Arranged

Coach Evans is putting the high school baseball squad through final workouts preparatory to their game with the Buhl high school but willers Friday afternoon on the Lincoln lot.

As was the early prediction, the pitching staff of the blue and white team is the brilliant spot. All of the twirlers are showing nice form and with proper backing will be prepared to give Buhl a neat demonstration of the national game Friday.

In the infield the Bruins have Stan Cron holding down shortstop, and the remaining places scattered about seven, any of whom seems to be as good as the next. Slim Hammond, the elegant first-sacker, is not in uniform yet and probably will not face the Buhl team. Nalin, another of the most promising infield men, is still out of uniform, but will show up later in the season.

Laval Jarman and Swin are practically sure of a place in the outfield. Both are hitting nice and fielding with mid-season form. Laval, of course, will pitch a fair share of the time, but his batting average is necessary on the lineup, hence the outfield for Laval during the odd moments.

Following the game with Buhl a game will be arranged with Pocatello high school for the following Friday on the Lincoln field. As yet no definite settlement has been made. After the first three weeks Coach Evans will determine the ability of the squad, but better teams and should they prove capable of the task games will be arranged with some of the Utah league leaders.

The juniors were second with 51 points, the sophomores a close third with 40 and the freshmen scored 37. Wingar, senior, was high malf with five firsts, taking the 50 yard dash, the 100 yard, the 200 yard, the 400 yard and the 800 yard. For the 50 yard dash the time was 5.4, Gleentanner coming in second. C. Layno was second in both the 100 yard and the 200. Shelley, frosh, took the high jump, five feet 4 inches 2. Davis, frosh, the pole vault, 8 feet 3 inches. Joyce, of the juniors, the 220 low hurdles, with Peck second; Heilmann, the javelin, 133 feet, and Peck the high hurdles.

The girls competed in some of the events, making a good showing in the 50 yard, the 100 yard, putting the shot, and the broad jump and the high jump.

Science Explains How Actress Renewed Youth By Gland Treatment

Vivacious as a girl of twenty, with sparkling eyes and dimpled cheeks, Connie Eddis, the popular English actress, brought no end to exclamations of surprise from her friends who knew she was over 50 years old. She then told her secret—that glandular treatment has restored her youth and beauty.

The object of glandular treatment is to awaken the devitalized glands, so they may continue their normal function of supplying the vital glandular secretions, so necessary to physical energy, beauty and perfect health.

The new scientific discovery, Glandogen, furnishes a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen combines the important elements of the vital glands withabor efficacious ingredients and is prepared in convenient tablets in two forms, one for men and one for women. Glandogen is obtainable at Schramm-Johnson Drug Co.—adv.

STAGE SET FOR RAISING RIGHT OF WAY MONEY

ment. Conferences looking to the building of the road began a year and a half ago. At that time the representative of the Oregon Short Line asked what this community would do toward encouraging the building of the line. In reply the committee made a written statement and among other things, said that a right of way for the road would be procured by the public. Nothing definite developed until March, 1923, at which time President Carl H. Gray of the Union Pacific system with other officials of the road visited Twin Falls. Mr. Gray then stated to the committee that the road would be built if we could comply with certain conditions named by him. The principal one was that we get control of the capital stock of the Idaho Central Railroad company, so that the outstanding certificate of convenience and necessity then held by that company and which gave it the right to build a road through the territory under consideration, could be retired and a like certificate obtained by the Oregon Short Line. That was accomplished by the payment of $25,000 which was raised by popular subscription.

Later, on May 10th, 1923, President Gray sent to the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce his telegram number specifically the terms upon which the road would be built. The telegram was as follows: "If the committee will acquire all of the capital stock of the Idaho Central Railroad company, and thereupon accomplish the cancellation of the existing certificate of public convenience and necessity issued to that company by the interstate commerce commission, and, in addition, will provide free cost to the Oregon Short Line the necessary right of way, including the grounds for terminals at Wells, Nevada, the said Oregon Short Line will immediately apply to the interstate commerce commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to be issued and when granted will promptly begin the construction of the line from Ogden to Wells, prosecuting the same with proper and reasonable diligence to completion. (SIGNED) "C. H. GRAY."

No objection to the proposition of President Gray was made by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. As soon as the outstanding certificate referred to was under our control, the Oregon Short Line applied to the interstate commerce commission for a like certificate which would give it authority to build the road. In its application the Short Line set out the fact that the right of way was to be furnished by the public and the certificate which was issued authorizing the construction of the line contained the following statements:

"The Chamber of Commerce of Twin Falls, Idaho, with the assistance of the Chamber of Commerce of Wells, Nevada, has undertaken to provide free of cost to the Oregon Short Line the right of way for this extension, also grounds for terminals at Wells, Nevada."

STEREOSCOPIC PICTURES BROUGHT TO SCREEN

Frederic E. Ives, one of America's foremost inventors, renowned as the inventor of the half-tone process now universally used wherever illustrations in either black and white or color, are printed, has given to the amusement world an invention which promises to revolutionize the motion picture industry as his photo-engraving process revolutionized the printing art. The invention is employed in the photographing of motion pictures in such a manner that they are entirely stereoscopic, giving a long sought effect of depth to the motion picture as the old-fashioned stereoscopic which graced our grandmother's tables in the latter part of the nineteenth century, did to pictures of still life. His first picture, "Theatricals," will be shown at the Orpheum theater this week as a special added attraction.

LYTELL MOST POPULAR. Bert Lytell, star of "The Meanest Man in the World," which opens at the Orpheum theater tomorrow, was for years one of the most popular leading men in the spotlight profession. Lytell has appeared on the stage in practically every large city of the United States and it was only the insistent demands from the movie producers and their assurance that he would be able to entertain countless thousands via the silent drama, that he heeded to his lure. During the past few years, Lytell has enacted leading roles in many of our biggest productions. His work in "The Meanest Man in the World," a First National picture is said to be one of his finest portrayals. He is surrounded by an all-star cast of players, including Blanche Sweet, Bryant Washburn and a dozen others of equal importance.

$5000 LOSS IN BUHL FARM FIRE

Blaze Destroys Barn and Other Outbuildings and Quantity of Grain

BUHL, April 8.—(Special to The News.)—Fire discovered Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock at the ranch home of Samuel Brothers destroyed the barn, granary, machinery, harness, beans, hay and other property amounting to a loss of about $5000.

The Buhl fire department responded promptly to call, making the three and a half mile run in 12 minutes from the time the call was sent in, but the fire had already gained considerable headway, and efforts centered toward saving the two houses, also, above sheds and machine shop. Eleven head of horses also were rescued from the corral adjoining the burning barn.

The barn, a 60x80 foot structure was owned by Thomas Costello and is thought to be insured. Of the other property lost only 100 bushels of wheat and about 20 bushels of feed were insured.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that sparks from a burning straw stack a quarter of a mile away may have been carried by the strong east wind.

is your husband
in this square?

Does he like his coffee just about "average strength"?
Fine! But—does he always get it? And (if he doesn't) who gets the blame—the coffee, the cook or the climate?

Yes, Friend Husband may be a bit unreasonable at times about his morning cup of coffee. But coffee plays a big part in a man's day. Besides, it's easy to give "your man" the same contentment-cup of coffee every time if you'll do just two things:

First—find his exact taste in coffee (with the aid of this chart).

Second—stick to it; make the coffee the same way every time.

Years of experience in buying, blending and roasting coffee have taught us what men like in coffee. We have learned how to put into M-J-B a full-fledged flavor that makes a man feel the world is good and the coffee is better.

But remember—that's flavor!
When it comes to strength, men differ as they do in size and stature. Some men like a strong,

"sturdy" cup of coffee. Others (like the man in the square) prefer an "average" cup of coffee.
Others still like a milder cup.
But every man is strong for flavor.

And M-J-B is ready to give it to you. There's nothing tame or weak-kneed about the flavor of M-J-B. No matter what method of coffee-making you use—no matter how much or little of M-J-B you use—flavor is always in the cup.

And so is economy. It's extra-rich in "body" and flavor—that's why M-J-B costs less per cup.

M-J-B
meets every taste in

Coffee

OUR JOB TODAY

So far as can be seen there is now no single fly in the ointment as regards the new railroad.

Every possible safeguard will be thrown about the matter of the forthcoming expenditure for the Utah Construction Company right of way. The money will not actually be paid out until work is well under way and until definite assurances shall have been received from officials of the United Pacific System that, once started, there will be no undue delay anywhere along the line.

With these points covered Twin Falls may feel sure of her railroad.

The actual raising of the money should not prove anything like an insurmountable difficulty. Fifteen thousand dollars is a good deal of cash, but it is not as much as twenty thousand. All should help, even if only to the extent of a ten dollar bill.

Complaint has been voiced as to the delay in the negotiations; it would seem that Twin Falls has been saved five thousand dollars because of lack of undue haste—a fact which should go far towards compensating for the few days which might otherwise have been saved.

Twin Falls will get her railroad cheap after every penny of expense is counted in.

Meet the soliciting committees with a grin today; we can all afford to.

SENATORIAL LOVE FEAST

There occurred in Congress, the other day, what a correspondent calls
"a startling fall." Members astonished the gallery, and each other, by exchanging bouquets instead of brickbats.

"Republicans praised the Democrats for working hard in the committee rooms and burning the midnight oil in drafting tax reduction and soldier bonus bills, while the Democrats lauded the Republicans as models of industry. The love feast on the Senate floor lasted for two hours, and then both parties agreed to call it a day."

This is indeed, as spectators described it, "touching." The public, after all the harshness that has assailed its ears and eyes in recent weeks, cannot but feel a thrill and a softening of the heart at the mutual affection exhibited upon each other by rival factions in the Senate, even though the public finds it harder perhaps than the senators do to take their generous words at face value.

It is something, at any rate, to have the bickering stopped, even if competitive tributes to senatorial industry in legislative duties are a trifle exaggerated in the sudden flow of sentiment. The public now begins to entertain more hope than it has for some time that the loving senators will do less political sniping and throat-slitting for the rest of the session, and really get on to the nation's business.

WHEN HASH IS HASH

A controversy of long standing has been renewed by Congressman Britten of Illinois, who objects to French menus on the Levantian. He gives a long list of dishes disguised under foreign names, the most horrible example being "chicken volaille aux har-cot verts," which being interpreted is "chicken hash."

The congressman seems to have a good case. Just why the French language should be used exclusively to describe the food on an American liner patronized chiefly by Americans is not clear. True, the same thing has been done for decades by leading American hotels, but the reason for that is not clear, either. In recent years, hotel men themselves have been urging that bills of fare be printed in English, but

FISHING
By DADDY

Jack and Janet have a fishing race with King Fisher. They use hooks and lines, and he fishes with his hawk, diving after the fish.

Saw no more fish.

CHAPTER III.

Why the Fish Hid.

JACK and Janet ran fast to see where King Fisher was going to find better fishing than in the muddy creek. But King Fisher had wings and they had only legs. It is easy for folks with wings to lose themselves from folks with only legs.
And that is what King Fisher did.
He flew away so fast that Jack and Janet could not keep him in sight.
"Where do you suppose he has gone to find other fishing?" asked Janet.
"If we, too, can't find better fishing we will lose our race with him." Jack nodded. "We can't find where he has gone," said Janet. "He has legs," said he. "But perhaps we can find him with our wits." That sounded interesting to Janet. "What can your wits find him?" she asked.

"Well, our wits tell us that King Fisher has gone to some place where the water is clear enough so he can see the fish," replied Jack. "He left the creek because the water was too muddy. Now there is only one place where the water is clear when the melting snow streams are pouring into the creek. That one place is the lake. We will go there, and I am sure we will find King Fisher." Jack was right.
When they got to the shore of the lake they heard a queer, rattling chuckle.
Looking up into a tree that overhung the deep water they saw King Fisher.
He was chuckling "because he had been through the children of his trail so they could not find the good fishing place."

"Did we have found you?"
laughed Jack.
"Hush-hush!" answered King Fisher, peering down into the lake. "I see a fish."

King Fisher darted from the tree and dove into the water. Up he came a moment later bearing a small perch.

"Battley-rattley-rattley," he crackled when he gained the bank where he had been sitting. "I told you I knew how to fish. I am going to take this perch to my mate. No away fishing until I get back." And away he flew.

Jack and Janet got their lines ready and when King Fisher came back they threw their hooks into the water.
Quickly Jack got a bite and pulled out a perch. Then Janet got a bite and pulled out another perch. But King Fisher, sitting on the branch of the tree, saw no more fish.

"You have scared the fish away," he complained. "I can't see any of them."

"That fish is because the fish are scared," said Jack. "If you fished with a line like we do you would get fish." And as Jack said this he pulled in another perch, and so did Janet.

King Fisher peered down, straining his eyes to see a fish. But not a fish could he see. And it was not strange, for as Jack had said, the fish were scared down deep. But they were not hiding because Jack and Janet had scared them away. They were hiding from a fish giant.

(Who that fish giant is will be told in tomorrow's chapter.)

Play of Oedipus Rex
Is Tremendous Tragedy

The play begins. The crowd enters the stage driven by passion toward their king and toward the god, writes Stark Young in the American Review. The prophet comes; a curse is on the land. Oedipus sets out upon the search that is to be his fate. The woman who is his mother and also his wife throws herself between Oedipus and the knowledge that will destroy them. And, finally, in shame and frenzy Jocasta hangs herself, and Oedipus with the clasp of her mantle digs out his eyes. He enters then in that most terrible slough in all drama; he feels the pain, his soul floats far from him, shining in this world and in the next he feels, everything: even his children are taken from him, and he goes out to wander alone over the world. And meanwhile the chorus has sung and moved, and carried into a wider region the events of the play and the thoughts of the characters. The music of the instruments has widened yet further the whole, giving it a yet more general and essential abstraction and seemingly to spread upon it an aspect of the eternal. The changing lines of the chorus and the actors have rendered clear about the story's destiny and all his thought; the Salamis or inland wind, blowing another rhythm into those bright garments, has carried into universal space that flow of movement under the white light.

What Proof Marks on Old Firearms Mean

Those unfamiliar with ancient firearms are frequently puzzled by finding certain characters, or letters, or both, stamped on and into the barrel of gun or pistol. "In their ignorance they take them to be the initials or mark of the maker," and from these seek to gain light as to his name.
It is true that Spanish and German makers usually have, instead of the maker's name, a seal, frequently of gold, depicting characters—animals and letters—of which, if possessed of a list of such seals, one might determine the manufacture of the weapon, and hence its approximate date.
English and French gunmakers, however, if marking the arm at all, do so by placing their name and that of their town on the lock-plate or barrel, or on both.

The marks known as "proof marks" were stamped on, usually by a government official, after he had tried out and "proven" the arm to be all right.
As a rule the method of "proving" was to load the piece with several times its normal amount of powder and shot, and then discharge the same. If it survived the test it was considered "proven" satisfactorily. Thus, as different marks were not adopted until a certain date, we may ordinarily be assured that an arm bearing them was not manufactured before the date.

"Oh, then, you have heard from the Hornet."

"I have a letter here which you may read at your convenience."

"My dear friend, be pleased to receive my apologies and my hearty thanks," said Franklin. "Not even the good could keep me away."

"Next day I received a formal invitation to the dinner and ball. I told the doctor that in view of the work to be done, I would decline the invitation. He begged me not to do it and insisted that he was counting upon me to represent the valor and chivalry of the New World; that as I had grown into the exact stature of Washington and was so familiar with his manners and able to imitate them in conversation, he wished me to assume the costume of our commander in chief. He did me the honor to say:

"There is no other man whom it would be safe to trust in such an exalted role. I wish to see you, my son, you would see what can be done at the costume's and let me have a look at you."

"I did as he wished. The result was an astonishing likeness. I dressed as I had seen the great man in the field.
I wore a wig slightly tinged with gray,
a blue coat, buff waistcoat and buff and sword and the top boots and spurs. When I strode across the room in the masterly fashion of our great commander, the doctor clapped his hands.

"You are as like him as one pea is like another," he exclaimed. "Nothing would so please our good friends, the French, who have an immense curiosity regarding Le Grand Vasanton, and it will give me an opportunity to direct them to us to our spirit."

"He went to his desk and took from a drawer a cross of jeweled gold on a long necklace of silver—a gift from the king—and put it over my head so that the cross shone upon my breast.
"That is not the faith of our people," he declared. "The guests will beuse on the grounds of the count late in the afternoon. You will ride among them on a white horse. A beautiful maiden in a white robe held at the waist with a golden girdle will receive you. She will be Human Liberty. You will dismount and kneel and kiss her. In the white robe of Margaret of France will you wear each blessing and to you a sword and a purse. You will hold them up and say:

"For these things I promise you the friendship of my people and their progressive and noble future."

"You will kiss the sword and hang it beside your own and pass the purse to me and then I shall have something to say."

"So it was all done, but with thrilling details of which no suspicion had come to me. I had not dreamed, for instance, that the king and queen would be present and that the enthusiasm would be so great. You will be able to judge of my surprise when, riding my white horse through the cheering crowd, throwing flowers in my way, I saw suddenly upon Margaret's face in the white robe of Human Liberty. Now facing me these years of trial, her spirit was equal to her part. She was like unto the angel I had seen in my dreams.
The noble look of her face thrilled me. It was not so easy to maintain the calm dignity of Washington at that moment. I wanted to lift her in my arms and hold her there, as you may well believe. But, alas, I was Washington! I dismounted and fell upon one knee before her and kissed her hand not too fervently, I would have known, in spite of my temptation. She stood rigid, although her eyes were streaming down her cheeks and her hand trembled when it reacted on my brow and she could only whisper the words:

"May the God of your fathers aid and cheer you."

"The undercurrent of restrained emotion in this little scene went out to that crowd, which represented the wealth, beauty and chivalry of France. I suppose that some of them thought it a bit of good acting.

"But we were to find in this little drama a climax wholly unexpected by either of us and of an importance to our country which I try in vain to estimate. When the prime minister handed the purse to Franklin he had him open it. This the latter did, finding therein letters of credit for three million livres granted, of which we were in sore need. With it was the news that a ship would be leaving Boulogne in a couple of days and relays on the way had been provided for his messenger. The invention of our beloved diplomat was equal to the demand of the moment and so he announced:

"Washington is like his people.
He turns from all the loves of this world to obey the call of duty. My young friend who has so well presented the look and manner of Washington will now show you his spirit."

"He looked at his watch and added:
"Within forty minutes he will be riding post to Boulogne, there to take ship for America."

"So here I am on the ship L'Etoile and almost in sight of Boston harbor, bringing help and comfort to our great chief."

"I was presented to the king and queen. Of him I have written—a stout, fat-faced man, highly colored, with a stooping forehead and large gray eyes. His coat shone with gold embroidery and jeweled stars. His celestine waistcoat of milk white satin had golden buttons and a curve which was not the only sign to him of richness and good nature. The queen was a beautiful, dark-haired lady of some forty years, with a noble and gracious countenance. She was clad in no vesture of gold, but in sober black vel-

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH McKAY

My husband gets old newspapers to burn a fire, and then sits down and reads them.

He piles the logs in the fireplace and brings in an armful of newspapers from the cellar. Everything seems all prepared for a pleasant blaze, when suddenly he happens to fall on something in one of the papers that interests him.

Then he sits down on the floor and starts reading. And that's as far as the fire gets for a while.

After he has finished with the top newspaper he tucks it carefully under the logs and picks up the next one.
And a thorough search of that generally furnishes at least 15 minutes' amusement.

Next in the pile comes a picture section and there some funny pages that hold him spellbound for many minutes.
A Sunday magazine section proves unusually fascinating.

Finally, in an hour or so, he finishes his literature, puts a match to it—and we have a fire.

WHEAT DROPS AS SPRING
WORK GETS UNDER WAY

Conditions Held Favorable for Both Sowing and Growing and Large Crop Is Held Not Impossible

CHICAGO, April 8 (AP)—Owing largely to favorable conditions both for sowing and growth, wheat today eased down in price. The market closed unsettled at 1-5 to 1-8 net decline, May, $1.02 1-8 to 1-4 and July, $1.07 1-8 to 1-4. Corn finished 1-2 to 1-4 off with oats steady, varying from 1-4 to 1-8 and provisions varying from 1-4 to 1-8 and a like advance.

It was generally recognized by wheat traders that with continued auspicious weather a larger crop than last year was by no means impossible, notwithstanding that the 1924 acreage is smaller. Besides, there was evidence of any export demand of consequence. Selling, however, lacked volume except from the northwest, where sales were reported to have taken place at a number of places. On the other hand, dearth of buying kept the market devoid of important rallies, primary election activities doing a good deal to curtail business. The best upturn came at the last, and resulted almost entirely from squaring of accounts of small previous sales.

Predictions of low receipts of corn after sowing of oats is complete led to persistent selling of corn. Moreover, eastern demand for corn was again slow and reports were current that gluten and other manufactured feeds were being heavily substituted for corn.

Wheat was depressed by advices that sowing was likely to be finished at some Illinois points within a few days. Receipts of oats here meanwhile showed a decided falling off in the quantities.

BEAR DRIVE IS RENEWED

Professional Selling Pressure Again Brings Reaction in Stock Market;
Public Interest at Low Ebb

Total stock sales 57,000 shares. Twenty individual issues 33,712; net loss, 22. High, 1924, 101 1/2; low, 93.08.

Twenty railroads averaged $5.01; net loss, 63. High, 1924, 36.32; low, $2.74.

NEW YORK, April 8 (AP)—Renewal of professional selling pressure, brought about further reaction in today's stock market although independent strength was shown by a wide variety of issues. Public interest was at a low ebb, the day's transactions totaling only about 600,000 shares.

Wall street speculative community apparently depressed the major part of the day's trading to the cotton market, which futures were bid, up 70 to 170 points on a running in of the short interests.

Early selling in the stock market centered principally in the industrial list, United States Steel common touching a new low on the movement at 98 1/4 and new low records being established by Kelly-Springfield, 48 and Union Steel, Willy-Overland preferred and several other issues.

Call money opened at 5 percent and then dropped to 4 1/2 where it closed. Time money and commercial paper markets were quiet with the bulk of the business being transacted at 4 1/2 to 5 percent.

Foreign exchanges maintained a firm tone. Demand sterling ruled about a cent higher at $4.33 3/8 and French francs climbed about 10 points to 20.45 cents. South American exchanges were slightly reactionary.

LEGION VOTES CONTRIBUTION FOR RAILROAD

Veterans' Organization Indicates Appreciation of Benefits to Community with Donation of $100 to Fund

Twin Falls post, American Legion, at a well attended meeting in the Elks lodge room Tuesday evening, voted to contribute $100 of the post's funds to the fund for purchase of the Rodgers-Wells right of way of the Utah Construction company lands in accordance with an agreement entered into Monday by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce committee and E. P. Gray of Council.

Discussion preceding the vote indicated keen appreciation on the part of the world war veterans of the benefits accruing to this community and region in consequence of the building of the line.

CARRIES CONDEMNATION SUIT TO SUPREME COURT

Idaho Farm Development Company Asks Appeals for Denial of New Trial in Reservoir Case

Idaho Farm Development company, in district court here Tuesday, filed notice of appeal to the state supreme court from orders of the district court denying new trial in the suit brought by the company against Chester B. Smith and others to condemn certain ranch lands in the vicinity of Roseworth for a reservoir site.

The suit, which was instituted about four years ago but was twice in the district court here, and was appealed following the first trial to the supreme court for decision as to question of admissibility of certain evidence, the question being decided in favor of the company and re-trial ordered.

The defendant landowners were awarded damages amounting to approximately $25,000 by the jury in the second trial. This award was reduced by the court to approximately $14,000, acceptance of the diminished award being made in consideration of the company's motion for new trial.

The lower award was accepted by the landowners, who thereafter moved for immediate payment of the amount of the award. This motion was overruled in view of certain stipulations to the effect that payment should not be made until final determination of the action.

Since the inception of the suit the defendant landowners have been paid 7 per cent annual interest on deposit of $45,000 put up by the company.
