Nearly $3,000 Added in Third Day's Efforts and Keen Interest Continues; Only Small Sum is Now Needed.

THE FIGURES UP TO 6 P. M. FRIDAY

First day's collections	$8,240.77
Second day's collections	2,125.78
Third day's collections	2,664.50
TOTAL	$13,031.05
Balance to be raised	1,988.96
Total required	15,000.00

Completion by this evening of the campaign to raise $15,000 for purchase of the Rogers-Wells line right of way through Utah Construction company lands loomed as a strong possibility last evening when a canvass of the results of the day's work showed a gain of $2,664.50, bringing the total amount subscribed to within $2,000 of the goal.

Members of the committee expressed satisfaction with the results of the day's work, the gain of $2,664.50 exceeding by more than $500 the amount collected Thursday, the second day of the campaign.

Mayor Shad L. Hodgins, serving as chairman of the finance committee during the absence of Chairman A. J. Peavey, expressed confidence last evening that the campaign would be completed today. Additional voluntary subscriptions were received during the day at the committee's headquarters in the chamber of commerce offices, he stated.

Rivalry is developing between a number of the committees which have turned in large contributions as to which group shall report the greatest amount of collections at the close of the campaign.

Committees will continue at work today, and while near approach to the goal tends to infuse the undertaking with a spirit of optimism, it is recognized that hard work still is required for completion of the task and effort is to be unremitting until it is finished, the committee stated.

TWO MEN ARE INJURED IN BOISE SHOOTING AFFRAY

BOISE, April 11 (AP)—Two men were shot, one probably fatally, this afternoon by M. M. "Tex" Brown, a construction laborer, in a rooming house fray, resulting from, witnesses said, a dispute over the ownership of some change.

Law Enforcement

National Committee Would Transfer Prohibition Work to Classified Civil Service to Curb Traffic.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Adoption of a platform urging political parties to adopt "a strong plank for law enforcement" in their national platforms and the imposition of stricter penalties for law breakers, marked the concluding sessions of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

The platform also favored the transfer of prohibition enforcement personnel to the classified civil service and "drastic steps" to shut off the supply of liquor obtained through the "misuse of permits issued by the federal government."

Mrs. Henry Peabody of Boston, was re-elected as chairman. Speakers today included Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, of Philadelphia, who declared the women of her city "stand behind our mayor, our director of public safety and our governor" in the fight against liquor; Mrs. Peabody, who appealed for a return to old-fashioned religion; and Miss Charlotte O. Williams of the National Education association, who made a strong plea for raising the standard of teachers in the country.

Officers Needed to Maintain Order in Front of Shop Showing Musical Instruments.

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—There's one "Saxophone" in Saxony, and it is attracting so much attention that special police guards are kept in front of the shop which exhibits it to keep the crowds in order, the commerce department has been informed by Consul D. S. Haven at Leipzig, in a report suggesting a new market for these instruments.

Jazz music has taken Saxony's cabarets by storm, says the consul and he added that enough saxophones should be sent there to enable Saxony musicians to learn their secrets.

SALMON WAITS
UPON DECISION

Irrigation District Delays Action as to Bond Issue Until Court Rules in Foreclosure.

Salmon River irrigation district will take no steps toward issuance of its bonds until after Judge F. S. Dietrich has rendered his decision in a group of suits now pending in federal district court at Boise, in which Salmon River Land and Water company bondholders seek foreclosure on water contracts held by 11 of the project's landholders.

Decision on this effort was reached at a mass meeting convened by the Salmon River district administration and held Saturday evening of last week at Hollister. Purpose of the meeting was to ascertain sentiment as to whether authorization for issuance of the district's bonds should be based on an election in the immediate future.

Proceeds from the sale of the district's bonds would be used in clearing title to water rights by removing incumbrances caused by judgment, mortgage or other means. It was decided at the Hollister meeting that the aggregate of the bond issue should not exceed $45 for each acre of land deriving benefit from it.

Involves Settlement. Decision in the pending foreclosure suits is regarded as bearing upon the bonding proposition because of possibility that such decision may affect the terms on which delinquent landholders are to make settlement with the bondholders for their water rights.

One of the principal addresses at the Hollister meeting was delivered by Alex McPherson, one of the spokesmen of the organization of the district, who urged early authorization of the bond issue with view to purchase by the district of title to less desirable lands within the project and further restriction of its area as a means of solving the project's problems both of finance and water supply.

The meeting was presided over by R. A. Carter, chairman of the district board.

IDAHO PLACES BAN ON CALIFORNIA SHIPMENTS

BOISE, April 11 (AP)—What amounts to practically an embargo of all California products was issued today by Mark A. Means, state commissioner of agriculture, in the form of official quarantine No. 8. The quarantine is signed also by Dr. Wendell R. Smith, director of animal industry.

Under its provisions, all fresh fruits and vegetables, raw farm products and products of the soil are excluded from Idaho until the quarantine is revoked.

FORMER PROSECUTOR IS ORDERED TO FACE TRIAL

BOISE, April 11 (AP)—Vern L. Taylor, former prosecuting attorney of Elmore county, must stand trial in the district court on a charge of first degree murder, filed in connection with the shooting of Dan McLaughlin, also a former prosecuting attorney of Elmore county. This was ruled by Probate Judge W. R. Manion, following a preliminary hearing this morning at Mountain Home.

WATER HEATER USERS TO PAY INSTALLATION COST

BOISE, April 11 (AP)—Electric water heater users will be required to pay the cost of changing their wiring to have a meter installed, it was learned at the public utilities commission today when some users inquired if the Idaho Power company did not have to stand that expense.

JUSTICE QUERY
SUDDENLY HITS
SEVERE CHECK

Bank Controlled by Former Attorney General's Brother Refuses to Allow Senators to Trace Transactions.

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, O., April 11 (AP)—An almost complete check was administered today to the senate Daugherty inquiry. A phalanx of lawyers, filing into the temporary hearing room set up by Chairman Brookhart and Senator Wheeler, democratic Montana, of the special subcommittee of the senate, made clear and certain the refusal of M. S. Daugherty and his associates to allow the financial transactions of Henry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, as Jess E. Smith, the ex-attorney general's "friend and bumper," now dead, in the Midland National bank, to be traced out by examination or testimony.

The bank, controlled by M. S. Daugherty, struck back at the senatorial inquiries by a hastily arranged legal proceeding which resulted in a temporary restraining order directed at the senators, and served on them as they sat, seeking to stop their inquiry. No recourse was left the committee. Chairman Brookhart said, but to return to Washington and take up proceedings which have been temporarily suspended and seek to array the bank officials before the bar of the senate on charges of contempt.

The senate subcommittee did, however, through John Phelon, an examiner in its own employ, who was allowed to search the Midland bank records for hours several weeks ago, learn that Harry M. Daugherty's name was shown on certificates of deposit in the Midland bank to the sum of $75,000. Phelon further said, testifying from memory, that he found two or three certificates of deposit ranging up to $30,000 and $40,000 in totals in the bank records. He likewise said that four certificates, cancelled as "paid," made out to "J. E. Gray," or to "J. A. Gray," but indorsed by H. M. Daugherty, were reported.

Famous Cook Preparing Gigantic Bouillon for National Event; 5,000 Eggs on Menu.

MOHAWK CITY, La., April 11 (AP)—Twenty-five thousand trout, bass and perch to be served in one vast homeless court bouillon prepared by J. A. (Turtle Soup) Gunderly, they Teche county's most famous cook, is planned for the 25th annual banquet on national firemen's day, May 7, according to Judge (Samuel) Blum, chairman of the executive committee. Five thousand eggs are among the other necessities to be used in the court bouillon.

One hundred and fifty gallons of coffee will be served at the feast, which is to be held on the city hall plaza.

Whirlwind Campaign to Be Waged Here to Attain Marketing Association's Goal.

A whirlwind campaign will be waged in Twin Falls county during the next few days in connection with the completion of the sign-up of 75,000 hens in southeastern Idaho required for organization of a branch at Pocatello of the Idaho-Oregon Egg Producers' association, it was announced Friday by R. E. Brossard, county agricultural agent.

A survey of the campaign returns up to that time made at a conference in Pocatello April 4 of county agents and poultrymen, showed a total of 60,000 hens signed up in the southeastern Idaho zone, leaving a total of 15,000 yet to be signed up.

Objective in View.

To complete the drive and arrange for an assembling and grading station at Pocatello, a committee was appointed at the Pocatello conference which is composed of Penn Moore, University of Idaho poultry specialist; Paul Nash, secretary of the Idaho state farm bureau; L. S. Otto, farmer, Ellery; P. P. Wade, poultryman, Idaho Falls; County Agent J. W. Thometz, Pocatello; L. E. Tildeson, American Falls; R. J. Smith, Malheur. President and Senate Democrats Close to Open Break Over Future Investigations; Executive Admonishes Committees and Insists on Common Sense Program.

CLASSES ATTACK ON MELLON AS NOT WITHIN LEGITIMATE REQUIREMENTS

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—President Coolidge and senate democrats verged today toward an open breach over future conduct of senate committee investigations.

In a special message the president admonished the senate to confine its committees within "constitutional and legal rights." "Return to a government under and in accordance with usual forms of the law of the land was required, the president said, by 'the state of the Union.'"

The message evoked a storm of democratic protest. Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor for the Teapot Dome oil investigation, declared the message was a "rebuke" to all senate investigating committees.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, Senator Jones of New Mexico, and others from the democratic side joined in the attack which held the senate far beyond its usual closing hour. It went unanswered from the republican side.

Shoshone lodge's degree team won the degree team competition that featured the evening session. Twin Falls lodge's team was awarded second, and Bull lodge's team third place in the contest. A handsome silver loving cup was awarded to the winner of the competition. Each of the competing teams conferred the degree of knight upon a candidate.

Covers were laid for about 300 members of the order at a banquet served by Shoshone lodge, following the afternoon session.

Twin Falls lodge was represented by about 30 members including members of its degree team and officers. Other lodges of the district, all of which were represented at the convention, were those of Glens Ferry, Mountain Home, Rupert, Bull and Gooding.

Prison Conference

Western States' Representatives Also Indorse Plan for Establishment by U. S. of Youths' Reformatory.

SALT LAKE CITY, April 11 (AP)—The international prison industrial allocation conference which has been in session here for three days adopted the "states use system" plan as detailed in a series of resolutions which were signed by the representatives present at the closing session today.

The conference also indorsed the establishment of a young men's reformatory by the United States for first-time offenders and also for the establishment of a federal prison for women prisoners.

The conference was attended by official representatives of the states of Mexico, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey and the United States department of justice.

Convicts in the state prisons of the several states included in the conference, are to be put to work as soon as practicable under the states use system, including public works, as the fairest method of employment, able to taxpayers to capital, to free labor and to the prisoners themselves. Under the states use plan the several state prisons will select those industries whose products will find a ready, stable and adequate market among state and local governmental agencies within or without the state and for which adequate raw materials are available at reasonable prices.

Acceptance of Report To Settle Big Issue; Secret Liaison Seen

Solution of Reparations Problem Dawns on Paris as Dawes Findings Are Approved by Commission; Experts Reported to Their Chiefs as Negotiations Proceeded.

PARIS, April 11 (AP)—The reparations commission today officially approved the report submitted to it by the experts committee Wednesday on the German reparation question.

PARIS, April 11 (AP)—What appeared to be the dawn of a solution of the reparations problem broke over Paris tonight with the unanimous adoption by the reparations commission of the experts committee and a recommendation by the committee that the respective governments accept the findings of the experts. The recommendation was couched in such a manner that it seems practically impossible that the interested governments can evade the issue.

The action of the reparations commission in accepting the report of the experts and recommending approval of it was greeted everywhere with gratification. "The semi-official conference accomplished what all the supreme councils failed to do," was the verdict of one of the members of the reparations commission this evening.

Secret Negotiations.

The prompt acceptance by the commission of the report of the experts was taken as evidence that the experts did not form such a "non-official" body as the various governments were at pains to make it appear to the public at large. It now develops that M. Parmentier, the French representative on the Dawes committee, was in constant touch with M. Barthou, president of the reparations commission, who in turn conferred with M. Doumergue, the French premier, virtually daily. Sir Robert Kindersley and Sir J. C. Stamp, the British representatives on the Dawes committee, were continually in communication with Premier Ramsey MacDonald, and M. Pranga, the Belgian member, with Premier Thumys.

Hughes Was Advised.
The state department at Washington

also was kept in close touch with the situation by Colonel James A. Logan, the American unofficial observer, who reported extensively to Secretary of State Hughes with regard to the progress of the negotiations. Members of the committee said today that any "American suggestions" emanating either from Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes or Owen D. Young, always received sympathetic consideration from all the European experts.

No Time Limit.

Although no official time limit has been set for Germany to reply to the reparations commission's invitation to accept the experts' report, it is said the reich has been requested to decide within the shortest possible time what action it will take, it being the commission's purpose to ascertain Germany's decision before May 11, the date for the French legislative elections which are to be held May 4. It is understood here that Premier Poincare also is desirous of having the question settled before May 11, the date for the French legislative elections. M. Poincare, it is asserted, is ambitious to go down in history as the man under whose tenure of office the reparation problems were settled.

Pyramids of Egypt.

The Pyramids of Egypt, some 75 in number, date from the period between the fourth and twelfth dynasties and were built as tombs for the kings. The most important group is at Gizeh which includes the great Pyramid, the tomb of Cheops. Its perpendicular height is 451 feet and its base length is 750 feet. The pyramids are built of stone, the material for which was taken from the hills on the opposite bank of the Nile.

$2,100 in Cash Prizes

We are running through this month in addition to our regular advertising—a series of what we style "Aditorials" on subjects that are cogs in the machine of merchandising.

The first Aditorial was run on April 2nd, on "Advertising and Selling Methods"—the second one was published on April 4th, on "The Cash Way." The third one will be published in tomorrow's paper. There will be six in all.

We are anxious to obtain from the public the best possible Aditorials on subjects applicable to our business and covered by us. Hence this contest. Liberal cash prizes are offered as an incentive to compete.

Two more days still remain within which to get your Aditorials to us on the first subject. Four more days still remain within which to get Aditorials to us on the second subject.

The Buhl Store and the Stores at Nampa, Caldwell, Emmett, Weiser, Payette, Mountain Home, Ontario, Boise, New Plymouth, Parma and Midvale will each pay a $25.00 cash prize for the best Aditorial submitted to them on each subject in accordance with the rules of the contest.

And in addition, the Boise Store offers a Capital Prize of $50.00, which amount will be paid to the author of the best of the winning Aditorials on each subject covered by us in this contest.

EVERYONE IS ELIGIBLE

This contest is open to everyone—doctors, lawyers, business men, business women, newspaper men and women, advertising men, school men and women, school children. Every man, woman and child is eligible to compete—under the following conditions:

Contributions to the Contest must not exceed in number of words the Aditorial we publish on each subject. They may be shorter, but must not be longer.

Each contribution must be on some particular subject that we use. One may contribute on all subjects or simply on one or more of them. That's optional.

Each Aditorial of ours forms the basis of a separate Contest.

Contribution need not be set up as Ads.

We will own for all purposes all Aditorials entered in the Contest.

The winner of each Capital Prize of $50.00 will necessarily be one of the winners of a $25.00 prize either at Boise, Nampa, Caldwell, Emmett, Weiser, Payette, Mountain Home, Ontario, Buhl, New Plymouth, Parma or Midvale. So that a person really competes each time for a $75.00 CASH PRIZE.

Isn't that worth your while?

To the end that our judging may be absolutely disinterested—please keep your name off the Aditorials you submit, but enclose your name and address with them in a separate envelope. As your Aditorial is received it will be given a number and that number will be placed on the envelope containing your name and address.

We do not want to know the authors of the winning Aditorials until they are selected as the winners. Each of our stores will do its own judging.

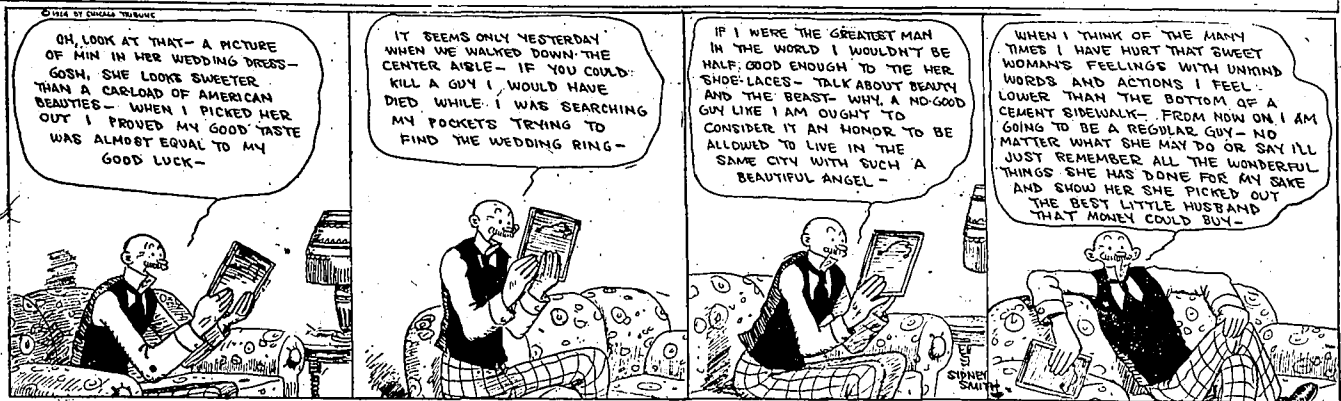

Winners of each contest will be announced the week following the close of that contest, when their prizes become immediately payable.

Your Aditorial on each subject must reach us within 7 days from the date of our Aditorial on the same subject.

Each of our Aditorials will carry a date line together with notice of the date of the publication of the next succeeding one.

THE GUMPS—HERE COMES THE BRIDE

Request More Federal Cash as Dread Plague Continues to Spread

Additional Appropriation of $1,500,000 Asked of Congress; Western States Draw Lines Still Tighter.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Additional appropriation of $1,500,000 to carry on the campaign in California against the foot and mouth disease, was requested today of congress by the budget bureau.

The $1,000,000 appropriated last month has proven insufficient in view of the spread of the epidemic, the bureau said. At that time the disease prevailed in four counties, but since has appeared in five more and has made its appearance in the stockyards of Los Angeles and San Francisco, congress was informed.

Prompt action by congress was requested so that the fight to suppress that disease "which threatens the livestock industry of the country" will not be interrupted.

Eight New Cases

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 11.—Eight additional outbreaks of the foot and mouth disease in different parts of the state that had been quarantined were announced today by the state department of agriculture. Governor Richardson informed a committee of 50 men representing the agricultural, business, banking and other industries of the state that he does not favor at this time calling a special session of the legislature to deal with the problem caused by the epidemic.

The governor said that what is needed is action on the part of organizations the committee recommended in underwriting a fund to reimburse immediately those whose stock is slaughtered in the campaign against the disease.

"I do not propose to allow any delegation or flood of telegrams to bowl me off my feet in calling together a hostile legislature that must resort to politics," the governor said.

35,000 Animals Killed

One of the outbreaks reported was in Contra Costa county and was the first in several weeks in an area where it was hoped the disease had been brought under control. The new outbreaks involve 7,480 head of livestock. The best reports to the state board indicate a total of 35,000 animals have been destroyed since the disease was discovered.

Western states continued to issue new orders to combat the carrying of the disease into their territory. Nevada announced tramps and hobos who hop off at Reno from trains from California will be fumigated. Colorado issued an embargo on all shipments from California of foodstuffs and many other articles. Washington will inspect all tourists from California at the Oregon-Washington line and take measures to prevent the disease entering that state. Livestock men of Oregon asked Governor Walter M. Pierce to provide funds to protect Oregon against the disease. All automobiles entering Oregon from California are inspected and tagged.

Proper Brewing of Tea Told by Chinese Poet

High tea could have been deemed an abomination by the Chinese poet Lu Wuh, who held that no food should be taken in conjunction with the most delicious of all beverages. Lu Wuh maintained that only three ingredients are necessary for its perfection—tea, water and salt—but each should be selected with care.

"The leaves of the tea plant must have creases like the leathern boot of a Tartar horseman, must curl like the dewlap of a mighty bullock; must unfold like the mist rising out of a ravine, must gleam like a lake touched by a zephyr; and be wet and soft like flange-earth newly swept by rain." According to this authority a mountain spring furnished the best water for tea making, with river water and ordinary spring water next in order of excellence.

"There are three stages of boiling," Lu Wuh goes on to say. "The first boil is when the little bubbles like the eye of fishes swim on the surface. The second boil is when the bubbles are like crystal beads rolling in a fountain. The third boil is when the billows surge wildly in the kettle." Salt is put in the second boil, tea in the second boil; at the third a dipper of cold water is poured into the kettle to settle the tea and revive "the youth of the water," after which the decoction is poured into cups and drunk.—Manchester Guardian.

Paine Helped Create and Named the U. S. A.

To the average American Thomas Paine is known merely as an "infidel." He has been told that Paine wrote a book entitled "Age of Reason" that attacked religion and Christianity. He may not know that two decades before the "Age of Reason" Paine, a native of England, wrote a pamphlet that started the American colonists really to think of separating themselves from England and joining themselves together as a new nation, says the New York Times. When the revolution first started it was only a revolt against oppressive measures of taxation and unjust political discrimination. Even Washington as late as May, 1775, declared himself against separation.

Then, early in January, 1776, Paine published "Common Sense," in which he not merely proposed an independent nation to the dissatisfied colonists, but raised the rebellion to the higher plane of a war for liberty. Washington was converted immediately. Paine declined to accept any profit from the work for himself, but gave the volume to the Continental Congress. It was in "Common Sense" that the present name of the nation, "the United States of America," first appeared.

Paranip Has Double Growth.

A parasite which extended its growth through the neck of a bottle, is among the garden freaks of the year. This unusual growth is reported from Ryde, Isle of Wight, and it was a healthy specimen when displayed. It resembles a double paranip in that from the surface down the paranip grew to good proportions, then pointed a course through the neck of a broken bottle and again grew to fair proportions on the other side of the temporary obstruction.

The Nineteenth Hole.

At an English inn a group of golf enthusiasts were discussing over the drinks their wonderful performances on the greens that afternoon, when the jolly proprietor said: "I'm sorry, gentlemen, but it's time to put up the shutters, so we'll have to shut up the putters."—Boston Transcript.

INITIAL GAME GOES TO BUHL; SCORE, 10-14

Bruins Calmly Follow West-Enders into Camp in Opening Session of Baseball Season; Errors Cause of Defeat.

Buhl fastened a ring to the nose of the Twin Falls Bruin and led him docilely into camp Friday afternoon on Lincoln lot before a comparatively large crowd of fans who watched the blue and white nine take the small end of a 10-14 score.

Starting out the first inning against "Moose" Garity the west-enders knocked the ball all over the lot, and the ones that were not hits were as good as such for the blue boys were well supplied with grounder fingers that positively would not hold down a ball. Mullins capped the first inning climax with a home run. Buhl made nine runs.

This was enough for the Twin Falls pitcher, who retired with one strikeout and fouls to his credit. In the latter half of the inning Twin Falls got a hit and run when Cron lined out a piece one for a single and when the blue team moved Stein's drive. The game from then on settled down to a slow battle, Hodgins holding the invaders to two hits and no scores for the next five innings, and Dolana, the Buhl twirler, performed creditably with Twin Falls getting one more run in the second and two in the fourth.

Bruins Get Five Runs.

In the last of the sixth the Bruins awoke from their stupor long enough to garner in five runs on neat hits and messy fumbles. Mussell's three-base drive was the feature of this inning. Dolana retired in favor of Machechek, and Buhl came to bat in the seventh with the score tied for the first time of the game.

Hodgins hit in three hits in the first of the seventh and Buhl once more took a one-run lead which the Bruins failed to see through in the latter part of the inning.

The eighth inning still found Hodgins holding the Twin Falls line down to fine shape, but the eighth proved to be his undoing, for he immediately filled the bases and let in a pair of runs. Evans was in a quandary and sent in a left-hander to relieve Hodgins.

Anderson Stars.

"Bub" Anderson took over the pitching job like a veteran. The young southpaw made his debut with the bases full and none out. He breezed the ball swiftly by two men but Evans, the third man up, took the ball for a wicked spin down the first base line and scored two more. Anderson came out splendidly, however, and struck out the next man.

The locals scored one more in the eighth, retiring Machechek who was replaced by Mullins and held Buhl scoreless in the ninth. Buhl held Twin Falls to the 10-14 count in the latter half of the ninth inning.

Buhl has some better ball players who have the ability to hit, a feature which, coupled with the blue and white errors, proved to be the undoing of Twin Falls in the opening of the baseball season.

Credit of the Buhl victory goes to Dolana who upheld the pitching job for Buhl in first class shape for the better part of the game, getting three strikeouts. Hodgins was easily the pitching ace of the game with seven strikeouts to his credit.

Mullins, Martin and Timm are all accredited with some runs and Mussell has a three-base hit.

Says Engine Whistles Need to Be Improved

A whistle is only a whistle, but even a whistle is susceptible to improvement. Locomotive whistles in particular are open to criticism, according to Prof. Arthur L. Foley of Indiana university, says the New York World.

Professor Foley is head of the physics department and also of the Waterway Institute for Scientific Research at the university.

Professor Foley's objection to the present type of locomotive whistle is twofold. It criticizes both the tone and the position. His suggestion for improvement is based on discoveries made during a series of researches into sound intensity and cost of operation of many types of whistle. The article continues as follows:

The popular "chime" whistle, with its comparatively low-pitched notes, is inadequate, is only about one-sixth as effective as a whistle as would be a high-pitched single note.

As for the position, Professor Foley contends that it's all wrong. The ordinary whistle has in front of it the smokestack, bell, steam dome and electric generator, not to speak of a blanket of hot air.

The result is that its sound is broadcast to the sides of the track instead of directly ahead where it is desired. By altering the position and changing the note many lives could be saved.

Another factor against the chime type of whistle is its cost. According to Professor Foley's calculations it takes 2,434,028 tons of coal per year to utter the toots of the nation's engines.

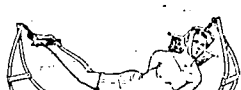

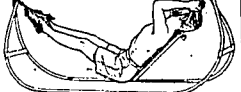

The adoption of a shrill, single-tone whistle would effect, according to his figures, an annual saving in railroad coal bills of approximately $5,000,000.

Wall Paper Designs.

Jeon Papillon, the second wood engraver to bear the name, was the first to plan and execute continuous repeating designs in wall papers, matching on the sides the sheet that was placed next to it. These were first used in 1888 and were soon an established fashion.

Exercise in Hammock Helps to Reduce Weight

To exercise the parts of the body in which fat accumulates, and help users improve their physical condition, a revolving hammock has been invented. It is said to stretch the spine and the muscles, stimulate circulation, and reduce weight.

The device consists of a metal framework, with straps at one end and head grip at the other. A strap goes under the chin. Canvas webbing, shaped like a "Y," supports the body.

Farms in Cities Predicted in Seventy-Five Years

Small farms within the city limits, double and triple-decked streets, and greatly congested traffic conditions of all kinds will be needed by New York within the next seventy-five years, it is predicted, to care for the 29,000,000 inhabitants who by that time are expected to call the city their home.

YOU NEVER MISS THE WATER UNTIL THE WELL GOES DRY

The people of Twin Falls are buying more meat for a dollar now than ever before, although cattle and sheep are higher now than they have been for the last three years. You go to any town in the state and you will find all meats from 25 to 50 per cent higher. There is a reason for it.

The U. S. Meat Co. has done all that and at a great expense to themselves. They have the latest up-to-date equipment for keeping and curing meats.

Without a liberal patronage we cannot exist in business, and would have to quit. You will take it to heart when it is to late, the above quotation "You never miss the water until the well goes dry."

If you patronize us, you are insuring yourself against being robbed as you have been before our entrance in the meat business here. Therefore, we solicit your patronage, and it will be to our mutual advantage. We meet all prices, quality considered.

We appreciate all the patronage we have received and invite all those who never have given us a trial, to give us one now, as we have been instrumental in their savings account, and merit at least a part of their trade.

senser trains. A mountain of solid rock 5,000 feet high and the same distance through the base, if placed on an immense track, could be lifted by the force required to operate the vessels, at the rate of a foot a day. Connected to pumps, it is enough to drain Lake Michigan at such speed that the level would be reduced ten feet a year, or it could light, heat, and furnish power to 500 towns with populations of 5,000. Were it possible to use the energy in artillery, 200 tons of shells could be shot onto the moon each day.

Simple Method of Making Rag Mats

Excellent dormants can be made at home from strips of rag or burlap. The strips must all be of the same width and twisted until they are about the thickness of a finger. The strips are tacked, about 4 in. from one end, to a length of wood, and are secured 2 in. apart. The width of the mat depends on the number of strips used, which must be an even number.

After fastening the length of wood to a table or bench, the strips are ready to be woven, which is done by tying them together with square knots until the mat is completed. The first knot is tied with the first and second strips, the second knot with the third and fourth strips, the third knot with the fifth and sixth strips, and so on to the end. The second row of knots is begun by tying the second and third strips, then the fourth and fifth strips and so on. The knots are all tied in the same way, and the method of doing this is plainly shown in the detail. A spacing peg must be used so that all the knots will be of the same size; the knot is tied around the peg, which is then slipped out. The peg should be about 1 in. square and tapered to a point.

Lead-It Fits under Windows

Fitting under a closed window, a flexible lead-in now on the market is very popular with radio fans. The lead-in is thin and flat, and can be bent to any shape to fit closely to the window ledge. It is covered with a fire-proof, insulating material which prevents grounding of circuits on wet window sills, and eliminates the necessity of drilling holes and fitting curtains in the window frames. Tabs are provided at the ends for soldering the lead-in down from the aerial and lead to the instrument. The fitting will prove of special benefit to radio enthusiasts living in apartments, where the drilling of window frames is usually prohibited.

Preventing Windows from Steaming

Steamed and frosted windows are a source of annoyance to many housewives, as the moisture not only obstructs the view but also soils the glass through the accumulation of dust when sweeping or cleaning. A cloth bag containing a few spoonfuls of tobacco, placed in the water used to wash the windows, will overcome this trouble and will also impart a clear crystal effect that is very pleasing.

Supporting Miss Dana is a cast led by Warner Baxter, Rosemary Theby, Mabel Van Burel and Templar Saxe. As the title indicates, Miss Dana is a thrill-seeker whose quest leads her from high social circles to the lowest dives in the Montmartre and the Paris underworld.

"In Search of a Thrill" is distinguished throughout by lavish production. The slum quarter has been faithfully reproduced and the dens of the Montmartre Apaches are realistic in detail. Miss Dana's performance is said to be one that her admirers will continue over. "In Search of a Thrill" is a Metro production.

TO COVER IDAHO FIELD.

L. E. Ross has been appointed to take charge of the M. J. B. coffee and Tea tea sales in southern Idaho by M. J. Brandenstein and company. He will make his home in Boise.

Chan Griswold, as a member of the executive committee of the Nevada Land and Livestock association, urged all ranchers in Idaho county to hire no workers who cannot show a certificate from a quarantine officer. Any man who has no certificate may be a potential carrier of the disease, and it is only a self-protective measure for ranchers to take this precaution, he declared. In event the laborer is a carrier of the disease, a fumigation and disinfection will eliminate any possibility of his transmitting this dread ailment to stock. The price of eliminating possible germs is simple. The subject is submitted to no pain or discomfort, and the process takes only an hour or two of his time.

VINDICATION IS GIVEN REALTOR

Jury's Verdict Denies Ameal Hansing's Claim for $500 from J. W. Laubenheim.

Ameal Hansing's claim against J. W. Laubenheim, Twin Falls realtor, for $500 alleged to have been misappropriated in connection with a deal for land in this district two years ago, was denied by a jury in district court Friday afternoon, which returned its verdict in favor of the defendant, Laubenheim at 3:15 o'clock following 15 minutes' deliberations.

The deal in question was negotiated by Richard Hansing for his son Ameal Hansing, then a resident of Oklahoma, and involved exchange of Twin Falls residence property for an 80-acre farm owned by W. S. Starr. Richard Hansing testified that in the course of the negotiations he had paid to Laubenheim $500 with which to satisfy a mortgage on the residence. Defendant Laubenheim testified that this amount had been delivered to Starr under an agreement to which Richard Hansing was a party.

Plaintiff Hansing was represented by Attorneys Homer C. Mills and Turner K. Hackman, and defendant Laubenheim by Attorneys J. R. Bothwell and W. Orr Chapman.

THAT PREMIER BENITO MUSSOLINI was in earnest when he declared he intended to give Italy supremacy in the air is illustrated by this photograph of 300 fighting airplanes at one aerodrome outside Rome. In addition to airplanes, Italy has a remarkably large assortment of dirigibles, the latest being the M-1, 400 feet long. Receives Intrusion.

With reference to these, the message characterized the attack being made on the treasury department, "as going beyond the limits of legitimate requirements." Constitutional rights of the senate and executive departments should be maintained, the president said, adding: "But these rights ought not to be used as a subterfuge to cover unwarranted intrusion. It is the duty of the executive to resist such intrusion and to bring to the attention of the senate its serious consequences. That I shall do in this instance."

The message referred specifically to a request made by Senator Couzens last Wednesday in the revenue bureau investigating committee on bureau officials who were present for a list of companies in which Mr. Mellon was interested, other than those corporations on which secrecy of tax returns had been waived by the companies and the tax records presented for committee examination.

"Seemingly, the request for a list of the companies in which the secretary of the treasury was alleged to be interested for the purpose of investigating their tax returns must have been dictated by some other motive than a desire to secure information for the purpose of legislation," the message said.

Secretary Mellon's letter declared that "it is now obvious that his (Senator Couzens) sole purpose is to vent some personal grudge against me."

Tact Makes an Honest Employee of a Thief

A salesgirl in a department store was caught stealing. The superintendent confronted her with the evidence and asked her to sign a confession. After she had done so, he sealed the confession in an envelope and put his own name on it.

"This goes into a strong box," he said, "and nobody but you and I will ever know about it—provided you will let me ask. First, I want your promise never to do it again and then I want to know just why you thought you must have more money." She told her story. There was sickness at home, and her need for money was not because of mere craving for luxuries.

The superintendent sent her invalid sister to a hospital at the store's expense.

That was nine years ago, and the salesgirl is today not only one of the store's valuable employees but one of the most loyal. The little envelope has been burned long ago—Nation's Business.

Fate on Strange Career

The Paris courts report one of the most curious series of incidents yet laid before legal students in the case of a Paris woman who, on the occasion of two previous weddings, had lost her husband in an auto accident while en route home from the wedding ceremony. She recently married a third time and as the burial car was speeding home it collided with a vehicle and the third husband was killed in a manner almost identical with the fate of the first two. The courts took cognizance of the series of strange mishaps, because in the case of the second husband's death the woman asked damages.

This One Doesn't Pucker

Persimmons are scheduled for a rise in popularity. At last a persimmon has been found which will not pucker when eaten. It is the Fuyu persimmon, which the United States Department of Agriculture has introduced from Japan and predicts will become one of our leading varieties. The Fuyu has a beautiful golden orange color, is late for shipping and, what is more to the taste, is never astringent and can be eaten with enjoyment even when still hard.

A number of the students who will represent Twin Falls high school at the commercial contest to be held April 25 at Gooding were selected in tryouts conducted Thursday at an assembly of the local high school commercial department in charge of Mrs. Jean Lucas, one of the instructors.

The tryouts resulted in selections as follows:

Beginners' department—Lorraine Owen and Ruth Tolliver.

Advanced typewriting department—Viola Selk and Genevieve Wilcox.

Beginners' shorthand—Naomi Anderson, Dorothy Shears, Eleanor Keefe and Harriett Clapp.

Advanced shorthand—Viola Selk and Dorothy Seely.

At the close of the assembly Thursday a one-act play, "Hiring a Stevedore," was presented. The play was written by Mrs. Lucas.

Views With Wary Eye Twin Springs Revival

Move toward re-opening of the Twin Springs resort, near the Nevada-Idaho line, is regarded in some quarters in Nevada with an element of caution, in view of the past reputation of the place, according to the Elko, Nevada, Independent, which, in its issue of last Tuesday, says, editorially:

Twin Springs, famous resort near the Idaho-Nevada line, is to be reopened, it is said. Its opening comes as one of the advance guards of population incident to the construction of the Wells-Rogerson railroad.

When Idaho went dry, some years before Nevada followed suit, Twin Springs was a very popular resort, especially over weekends. Many cars came from Idaho towns and cities, their occupants spending two or three days at a time at Twin Springs satisfying their appetites for the goods that Idaho was forbidden to sell. Thus the owners of Twin Springs became fairly wealthy and the resort itself grew into a certain magnificence.

When Nevada went dry it was closed.

We wonder whether Twin Springs is to be reopened for a like purpose—save that it will have to be operated covertly. Border-line resorts, far removed from the arm of the law, oftentimes yield to the temptation to reap riches against the law.

Of course it will prove popular, if it is so operated. There are numerous resorts running in dry territory that attract great crowds of holiday seekers. It might be well to satisfy ourselves upon the legitimacy of the purpose which will be behind the re-opening of Twin Springs, and thus save much future trouble.

ALLEGED LIQUOR OWNER MUST REPEAT HIS STORY

Henry Prough Falls to Convince Magistrate That Broken Bottle Contained Only Coffee, and Is Held to Answer.

Henry Prough will answer in district court to charge of illegal possession of liquor under an order issued Friday by Probate Judge O. P. Durall at the close of a preliminary hearing in the case. Prough has been held a prisoner awaiting hearing for about two weeks since the police took him in custody at an early morning hour in a local cafe.

The prosecution introduced in evidence at the hearing the fragments of a half-pint bottle which, according to testimony of Patrolmen Peterson and Kenison, had contained an alcoholic beverage before it fell from Prough's hands and was broken at about the same time that the officers entered the cafe.

Attorney C. E. Hall, representing Prough, called several witnesses to the stand to substantiate by their statements the story told by Prough to the effect that he had taken the bottle to the cafe to be filled with coffee and that it had been used as a container of coffee immediately prior to that time.

Celebrate Wedding Anniversary.

The ladies of South Park arranged a pleasant surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. Louis Knocks Wednesday evening, in celebration of their twentieth wedding anniversary. Eighteen guests enjoyed the evening and partook of the supper which was served at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Smith Entertains Luncheon Club.

Mrs. Leonard Smith was hostess to the Luncheon club Friday at her home on Shoshone street. Covers were laid for ten at a handsomely appointed table, the decorations for which were in lavender and yellow. The centerpiece was a lavender bowl of yellow jonquils. Crystal candlesticks flanked with yellow and lavender nosegays flanked lavender candles with yellow shades and the nut cups and place cards were in the same colors.

The usual games of bridge followed the luncheon, favor for high score being won by Mrs. L. Closs.

Girls Are Guests at Wasson Home.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Wasson was the scene of a delightful party Thursday evening when their daughter, Miss Marian, assisted by the Misses Margaret Scilley, Mattie McMaster and Vera Richlin, entertained the girls of the Red and White.

After a brief business session the evening was spent with cards, dancing and music. Punch was served throughout the evening from a table having as a centerpiece a bowl of jonquils, with candles to match the flowers in crystal sticks at either end of the table.

About 48 of the senior girls with their preceptors, Miss Olive Joy, were present, and Miss Olive Johnson was a guest of the club.

Dr. and Mrs. Beebe Surprised.

Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Beebe were pleasantly surprised Thursday evening when a number of their friends arrived with all the eatables necessary for a fine dinner which they served at 6 o'clock. The event was in honor of their wedding anniversary and the guests were all in costume.

Following dinner the evening was spent with cards. The guests departed at a late hour wishing their hosts many more anniversaries.

Mrs. Loser Entertains T. S. S. Club.

Mrs. R. S. Loser entertained the T. S. S. club Friday afternoon at her home on Eighth avenue east. The usual social time was enjoyed, combined with needlework. Ten members were present, among them Mrs. M. B. Nelson, who has been attending the Albion Normal for some time and has recently returned to the city. Late in the afternoon Mrs. Loser served delicious refreshments.

HOME CLEANING
House cleaning? Everybody's doing it except two classes. One is composed of those few, rarely perfect, housekeepers who keep everything clean all the time and thus feel no need of a general overhauling. The other comprises sloppish folk who never get houses or lives really clean at all. All others feel some urge of the lengthening sun to make wholesale cleanse and cleanness in house and yard and start the new season with possessions sweet, fresh and sanitary.
Home cleaning is a different process. How many housewives take stock of mental, moral and spiritual growth of the family as a whole at semi-annual or any other intervals?

Every soul, especially that of a small child, is entitled to its own privacy of spirit—its own hopes, plans and judgments, without interference from anyone else. The wise parent knows this and does not try to do the thinking for any other member of the family. But the family as a whole is a sort of individual, as a house is,
and over this the wise mother has some supervision. It is this family life, the life of the group within the glow and gracious walls that in so many cases needs attention and gets none.

Are there left-over grudges, lar-nesses or unfairnesses which ought to be cleared out along with the ash-tray? As the waste paper goes, would it be well to put in a wholesome magazine of two, to lay a couple of books of sound worth on the clean corner of the polished library table, a bit of good music on the rack? Might it not help everybody's happiness if after an especially appetizing Sunday breakfast a "family meeting" were called in which every member of the group contributed some idea tending to make the home pleasanter?

Finding fault with the home as an institution is not useful. Taking thought for the individual home might succeed in growing sweetness, fun, mutual consideration and live, constructive interests where there had been selfishness, inharmonious and mental and moral deadness, just as winter's dust and debris are made to give place to cleanliness and spring flowers.

GERMAN BARBAGINOING

It was believed some weeks ago that when the Dawes plan for restoring German finances and settling reparation payments was submitted, Germany would gladly accept it. Later the German attitude has grown more doubtful. Pessimism has settled over Berlin. The provisions contemplated are declared to be unjust. There is a great chorus of complaint about
"French hatred and revenge," "burden too heavy to carry" and "new enslavement by the allies", with all the other cries made familiar since the Versailles treaty. There is much talk, too, from German sources, about German revolution and restoration of the monarchy.

Some of this is doubtless due to genuine monarchist plots and some to popular ignorance and prejudice. There is a large group that would like to recall the Hohenzollerns and the German masses have never accepted responsibility for the war, with the obligation to pay damages to the injured nations. Yet most of it may be inspired by a spirit of shrewd bar-bargaining. The Germans are probably trying, by painting as dark a picture as possible of German conditions, to prepare the minds of the allies for big concessions.

Some concessions may be made. But the allies seem to have a high degree

FISHING
By DADDY

Jack and Janet have a fishing race with King Fisher. The children win. Then Jack fishes for Giant Musk-ellunge, a huge fish, and hooks him.

He did not want to catch another.

CHAPTER VI.

Caught by a Fish.

JACK yelled with glee when he hooked Giant Musk-ellunge, the monster fish. But Jack's yell was drowned by a scream of alarm from Janet.
Janet screamed because the boat, which had been partly drawn up on shore, was not afloat. The weight of the children in the stern had raised the bow from the beach, and the boat was drifting out into the lake.

Jack was too busy with his pole and line to do anything about getting back to shore then. Giant Muskellunge, after his first bit of amazement when the hook hit into his fish, rushed away in anger. He nearly took the pole out of Jack's hands.

But Jack hung on for all he was worth. The line was strong and Giant Musk-ellunge was powerful. The monster fish began to tow the boat toward the water. Faster and faster until the boat was racing into the lake
like a motor launch.

Again Janet screamed. But Jack hung on to the pole and line.

"He can't get away," gasped Jack.
"I've caught him!"

"Obey! You mean he has caught us," cried Janet. "He is carrying us away."

"He will get tired after a while," gasped Jack. "Then perhaps, we will catch him."

"Oh, let him go," cried Janet. "He is taking us far from shore, and we have no way to reach him."

Indeed, the children did seem in a bad fix. Giant Musk-ellunge was dragging them farther and farther into the open lake. They had no way of getting back. Jack thought fast. He knew he must use his wits to save Janet and himself.

Giant Musk-ellunge grew a bit tired. He sunk into the water for a short rest. Quick as a wink Jack drew the pole in until the could grasp the fishing line. He caught the line around a cleat in the stern of the boat. And he did this not a minute too soon, for Giant Musk-ellunge after his brief rest, came boiling up again, setting off a splash that was over the middle of the lake.

"Out the line," cried Janet. "He is towing us far away from shore and we can't get back."

Jack thought the matter over. Yes, of confidence in the economic survey of Germany made by the Dawes commission, and in its conclusions as to what Germany can pay and when and how she can pay it. Neutral nations, including America, seem to regard the new plan as fair, in its general outlines, at least. No great concessions, therefore, need be expected. Germany may be obliged to accept the terms offered, not only as just but as the only practical alternative to economic and political ruin.

CITIZENS' TRAINING CAMPS.

The Women's Overseas Service
League is offering prizes to girls throughout America for the best essays giving briefly reasons why young men should attend the citizens' military training camps this summer. The idea, of course, is additional publicity for the camps and that is a good thing. It hardly seems possible that vigorous young men who understand fully the opportunities of the government camps will fail to avail themselves of the free vacation offered them.

But the essay contest may have results not anticipated by the League.
The girls who compete for the prizes and all their girl friends are going to learn a good deal about the citizens' military training camps, and the first thing anyone knows, they will be demanding citizens' camps for themselves where similar discipline and athletics and organized recreation are maintained, and where only the strictly military training is replaced perhaps by courses in first aid or home nursing or some other activity in which an able-bodied woman citizen should be proficient.

The avowed purpose of the men's training camps is twofold: to observe the lesson of the world war through reasonable preparation of a body of competent leaders, and at the same time prepare young men for the tasks of everyday life. In peace or war, it is equally essential to train
young women for competent leadership and for the tasks of every-day life.

That's the idea.

You can't bear another man's sorrows; you can only jolly him up into bearing them easier.

He did not want to catch another.

Giant Musk-ellunge was towing them far from shore. There was no way to get back—no way unless—Jack gave a whoop.

"I'll make Giant Musk-ellunge tow us back," he shouted. Jack took out his knife and cut the pole from the line. The line he fastened more securely around the cleat and the pole
he poked out toward Giant Muskellunge. He found he could just reach Giant Musk-ellunge's head.

Jack gave a little shove on the pole knocking Giant Musk-ellunge's head to one side. Giant Musk-ellunge swung away from the pole.

In a wide circle. Soon he was headed for the shore. Jack toward him he went almost as fast as he had come out. He stopped to rest, and Jack prodded him on. He tried to turn back into the lake, but Jack pulled the boat on the other side of the head, keeping him going straight for shore. It was like driving a horse with a stick—a water horse instead of a land horse.

Jack began to laugh. King Fisher up above chuckled.

Giant Musk-ellunge was growing very tired. Jack knew, from stories he had heard that the only way to catch a big fish like that was to get him so tired he couldn't move. So Jack prodded and prodded until presently Giant Musk-ellunge ran up on shore, so tired he could not move, not even to rest when Jack pushed the boat to shore, and with Janet's aid dragged the monster fish on land.

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" cried Janet. "You win!
Your way of fishing is best," rattled King Fisher. But Jack, as he and Janet hurried home to tell of their adventure and to ask forgiveness for getting into the boat, was not so sure. He did not want to try to catch another. Giant Musk-ellunge until he grew to be a much larger boy.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Arnold and Henry Thornhill.
Margaret and her mother returned to England with David Hagley soon after Colonel Irons had left France. The British commissioner had not been able to move the philosopher. Later, from London, he had sent a letter to Franklin seeking to induce America to desert her new ally. Franklin had promptly answered:

"I would think the destruction of our whole country and the extirpation of our people preferable to the infamy of abandoning our allies. We may lose all but we shall act in good faith."

Here again was a new note in the history of American international conduct.

Colonel Irons' letter to Margaret Lafayette, with part of which the reader is familiar, was forwarded by Franklin to his friend Jonathan Shipley, Bishop of St. Asaph, and by him delivered. Another letter, no less vital to the full completion of the task of these pages was found in a faded pocket.

It is from General Sir Benjamin Hare to his wife in London and is dated at New York, January 10, 1780. This is a part of the letter:

"I have a small house near the barracks with our friend Colonel Ware and the best of negro slaves and every other convenience of a land house. I secure from attack, and, but for the soldiers, one might think it a provincial English town. This war may last for years and as the sea is, for a time, quite safe, I have resolved to ask you and Margaret to take passage on one of these frigates and come to a safe place for New York, after this reaches you. Our friend Sir Roger and his regiment will be sailing in March as I am appointed by a recent letter. I am, by this post, requesting him to offer you suitable accommodations and to give you all the assistance in his power."

ence. It was the middle of the afternoon of that memorable July day.
They were bound for the neutral territory between the American and British lines, infected by "cowboys" from the South and "skinner" from the North who were raiding the farms of the settlers and driving away their cattle to be sold to the opposing armies. The two scouts were sent to learn the facts and report upon them.
They parted at a cross-road. It was near sunset in a letter to a beautiful brook, bordered with aspen and wild iris, Jack watered and fed his horse and sat down to eat his lunch.
He was thinking of Arnold and the new danger when he discovered that a man stood near him. The young scout bent and took off his hat. It was a circumstance in no way remarkable since the road was little traveled and covered with moss and creeping herbage. He thought not of this, however, but only of the face and form of a man of middle age. The young

UPTURN IN CORN PRICE
ONLY TRANSIENT CHANGE

Reactionary Trend Sets in at Close of Fairly Brisk Trading Gold Weather
Hits Low

CHICAGO, April 11 (AP)—Snow and rain likely to delay corn shipments as well as to hinder field work led to considerable buying of corn and oats today, but the resulting upturn in prices turned out to be largely transient. Corn closed unsettled at 23 1/2 off to 1-4 advance, May, 77c. Oats, in which was also unsettled, 1-1/2 to 1-3/4 down, May $1.01 1/2 and July $1.03 1/4 to 1-3/4 down, with oats 1-1/2 lower to 1-3/4 up, and provisions showing 2-1/2 to 1-4 decline.

With as much as eight inches of snow reported to have fallen in some sections of Iowa and with unseasonable cold weather expected over a wide area, corn took the lead in point of activity. The increased demand for feeding and other purposes proved broad enough to keep corn values trending upward until the last hour of the board of trade session especially as prospects pointed to a good sized decrease of the visible supply total on Monday next. Profit taking in the price of early buyers, however, brought about more or less reaction as the day drew to an end.

Offerings of wheat increased whenever the market scored price gains. Reports that Italy was in the market as a buyer had a temporary stimulating influence and so did gossip about some export buying of hard winter wheat for shipment by way of the Gulf of Mexico. On the other hand, sales of a liberal amount of wheat to go into storage here were announced, increasing the total available for delivery on May contracts.

Further evidence of good call for oats at Minneapolis tended to uphold the oats market here.

In provisions the effect of higher prices on hogs was more than offset by a little foreign selling of meats.

STOCK MARKET RECOVERS

Acceptance of Reparations Commission of Dawes Report Inspires Better Feeling Among Speculators.

Total stock sales 1,000,500.
Total stock sales average 92.53; net gain, 49. High, 124, 101.24; low, 91.61.
Twenty railroads averaged 81.83; net gain, 54. High, 124, 86.32; low, 81.25.

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Short covering operations, apparently inspired by the news that the reparations commission had accepted the Dawes report, brought about a sharp recovery in today's stock market after an early period of heaviness during which most of the motors established new low records for the year.

Standard Industrials, such as United States Steel, General Electric, American Can, General Electric and United States Industrial Alcohol, closed at net gains of one to two points. Supporting orders in a number of these issues were in evidence from the start.

Call money held steady at 4 1/4 per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged, the bulk of the business being done at 4 1/2 per cent.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet with the principal rates fluctuating within a narrow range. Demand for sterling held fairly steady just above $4.33 and French francs were quoted just below 6 cents.

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Liberty bonds closed:
3 1/2s $9.94
First 4 1/4s 99.25
Second 4 1/4s 99.23
Third 4 1/4s 100.0
Fourth 4 1/4s 99.23
U. S. Government 4 1/4s 100.25

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—An earlier feeling developed in the raw sugar market today owing to increased offerings from operators and prices declined 1-8c to the basis of 6.28 for Cuban, duty paid. Sales embraced 5000 bags of Cubans for second half April shipment to a local refiner.

The decline in the spot market continued reports of increasing supplies led to renewed general selling pressure in raw sugar futures. Final prices were at the lowest of the day and from 18 to 25 points below the previous close, after having opened 1 point higher to 1 point lower. May closed 4.56, July 4.71, September 4.60.

EVEN BALANCE HELD BETWEEN MEN AND JOBS

Employment Situation in Twin Falls Area Compares Favorably With Conditions Over State as Shown by Federal Report

Unemployment has been practically negligible in the Twin Falls area since the opening of spring work, and a fairly even balance has been maintained for several weeks past between calls for workers and supplies for work, according to records of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce employment service.

The situation here compares favorably with employment conditions throughout the state as reported in the industrial employment survey report covering the mountain district for the past month just made public by the federal department of labor employment service.

Cheese Factories Figure.

Employment conditions in Idaho, says this report are gradually improving and within 30 days, weather permitting, all classes of labor now unemployed will have opportunity for employment, more especially on the farms, in metal mining, building activities, and on railroad and general construction work.

Metal mining operations, particularly in the Wallace-Burke district in the northeastern section of the state, industrial plants other than seasonal are running steadily and expansions are being made in some lines, particularly the cheese industry which is assuming mammoth proportions. One half of the 56 cheese factories in this state were established during the past year and others are in process of construction. A large sawmill near St. Joe has resumed operations. The $1,000,000 Black Canyon dam across the river will be completed within 30 days. Work on the new townsite of American Falls consisting of sewer and water main construction and the grading and surfacing of streets is progressing rapidly. Highway construction will open up to a considerable extent during the next 30 days. Railway employment has increased and is evidenced in shop and track work and new construction. Double tracking of the railway line between Blainmont and Clark is nearing completion.

The usual winter surplus of seasonal workers, principally common labor, is gradually being absorbed in outdoor pursuits in the Boise district. Increased agricultural activities are indicated and calls for farm labor have commenced, with a supply at present sufficient, but a shortage of farm hands within 30 days is prophesied. All industrial plants are running on a steady basis. Local sawmills resumed operations the first of the month after a several weeks' shutdown for repairs. Building, while quiet for the past several weeks, will be quite active within 30 days, in which time several large buildings will be under construction. Construction work on the new Boise Orchard railway line is being carried on with a full force. There is sufficient local labor of all classes available to meet present demands.

By the first part of April, the report says, practically all classes of labor in the Pacific district will have opportunity for employment on farms, building and general construction and railway work. Increased agricultural acreage, principally sugar beets, in nearby vicinities will soon cause heavy demands for farm labor. Steady operations of industrial plants continue. An old packing plant is being reconstructed, to be used in the manufacture and distribution of cheese products. This plant will be operated in conjunction with various small cheese factories in outlying towns. Railway shop employment has slightly increased and is normal for this season. Building will experience another season of extensive activity, and within 30 days construction will begin on two junior high schools and an administration building at the State Technical Institute.

Illinois Dealer Asserts Claim to Insurance on Animals Destroyed in Filer Barn Fire.

Claim of S. Metz and Sons, horse dealers of Homestead, Ill., to $3,000 insurance on two stallions destroyed by fire caused by lightning on the farm of E. R. Waltz in the Filer district in July, 1921, was asserted by H. E. Metz, one of three brothers composing the plaintiff group, who was called to the stand in district court here Friday afternoon as the first witness in the trial of the case of S. Metz and Sons against E. R. Waltz and others.

Under examination by his attorney, T. K. Hackman, the horse dealer testified that he had sold to Waltz in February, 1920, a Percheron and a Shire stallion, which were the animals later destroyed in the fire, and that he had received in payment two horses, owned by Waltz and a title note for $2,500. The animals, he testified, were insured by agreement of purchaser and seller in order to protect the seller's interests.

He testified that he had been told by Waltz that the insurance money had been retained and applied to other of Waltz's indebtedness by Guy H. Shearer, cashier of the First National bank of Filer, named as a defendant in this action.

Metz admitted, under cross-examination by Frank L. Stephan of Stephan & North, attorneys for the defendants, that he had known that the insurance policies were made payable to Waltz, and that there was no provision in the contract of sale providing that insurance should be paid to the seller in event of loss of the insured animals.

Cross-examination of Metz had not been completed when the court session was recessed to Monday morning. Jurors, other than members of the panel in this case, were excused until Tuesday morning. Members of the panel in this case are William Scott, J. P. Avant, L. I. Benoit, George D. Aiken, H. P. Barger, W. W. Magel, William Baker, O. D. Queenell, J. P. Jewett, E. Prethorne, R. M. Strohbridge, G. R. Ludlum.

To Join Army—Gilbert L. Edwards and Ferrard W. Nelson, both of Twin Falls, were accepted at the United States army recruiting station here for enlistment in the 35th infantry regiment which in service overseas won the name of the "Rock of the Marne" and left for Salt Lake to join this organization.

NOTICE

The Pioneer Shoe Shop has changed hands and will be under the MANAGEMENT of the ROYAL SHOE REPAIR SHOP, and will carry the same name as the Royal Shoe Repair Shop. The place is absolutely cleaned up and you can come in and sit down and wait until you have your shoes fixed. You will not have to be scared to get your stockings dirty. There is a place for ladies and a place just for gentlemen to sit down and wait for their work. I have put an expert shoemaker in there to do your work and I am satisfied that you will be awfully pleased when you receive your work back from his hands because he is an expert mechanic in that line of trade. You will know the man better than I do because he has done work for you before. If he makes any mistake please call at my other place and you will receive satisfaction. You will receive the best material the market can afford in either one of the places of those two and the work will surprise you when you get your shoes back. All I ask from the public is to give the other place as well as they give me the best support.
