Fourth day collections in the campaign to raise $15,000 for purchase of the Rogerson-Wells line right of way through Utah Construction company lands amounted to $1,288.95 and brought the total of subscriptions to within $789 of the goal.

Chairman Sweeney, anticipating the favorable outcome of the drive has notified the legal department of the Oregon Short Line as well as the Utah Construction company that the necessary funds would be available early in the week to come, suggesting a conference to take up the best means of arranging for payment of the money.

Agreement Expected.
It is anticipated that an agreement will be entered into providing for the turning over of the cash last night, provided that, in the meantime, work on the grading of the new road will be diligently prosecuted from the letting of the contract on.

The proposition to pay the money next November came from Mr. Watts of the Utah Construction company, and it is thought there will be no objection to a provision that the purchase be not completed in the event that the construction program fails to materialize.

While no further definite word has been received from the Short Line as to the opening of bids it is assumed from unofficial information that this will be done practically as soon as the agreement for the right of way is closed up.

Flier Contributions.
Collections Saturday included contributions by Flier citizens of a total of $400, and word was received that Bull citizens were actively engaged in the collection of a fund to be applied toward the purchase price of the right of way.

Canvases of the campaign returns were made Saturday evening by Chairman A. J. Peavey who returned from Ogden, and relieved Mayor E. H. Hodgins, acting chairman, who had been on duty constantly for two days.

This canvass showed approximately 550 persons or concerns had contributed the total amount of $14,290, an average of $26. The contribution, $800, was credited to the Idaho Department store, and the smallest, five cents, was brought in to committee headquarters in the chamber of commerce offices Saturday by a small boy, who grinned bashfully, when

Historic Report of
Associated Press
Recorded by MoviesMotion Pictures Taken of Delivery of Dawes Report in New York Office; Longest
Dispatch Ever Transmitted

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Motion pictures showing the delivery of the Dawes report from Paris in the New York office of the Associated Press, the longest cable dispatch ever transmitted, were exhibited in New York theaters today simultaneously with their release for distribution in 6000 theaters.

"Eighteen million people will thus be able to visualize the feat which the Associated Press accomplished the other day when it brought the 40,000 word report to this country over the cable," said Emanuel Cohen, editor of Pathé News.

"We asked permission to make the picture not only because we recognized the historic importance of the occasion, but also the magnitude of the task involved in transmitting, assembling and distributing such a volume of copy."

The films depict an Associated Press operator "cavorting in" the four cables that carried the report direct from Paris. It shows other operators transmitting into English on a typewriter at a rate of 200 words an hour the way lines of the cable cipher as they slid from the sensitive needles.

With the matter taken under advisement by the men officials expressed the belief that the matter would be settled without delay.

Butler Calls Senate Probes Unlawful; Mellon Cites Distasteful Results

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 12 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, in speaking before his "home folks" tonight at a banquet given in his honor by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, declared that the senate investigation of the bureau of internal revenue has destroyed the morale of the entire treasury organization and that "unless some end is brought to this unnecessary interference, government will cease to function."

Because of the investigation, he declared, production in the income tax unit had dropped 50 per cent and work in the national resource division, where values are obtained, has practically ceased, the personnel devoting its time to providing information to the senate committee. Throughout the bureau, he declared, employees are more interested in reading about and discussing the investigation and adequate supervision can scarcely be maintained.

Declaring that neither the house or congress has any authority under the constitution to investigate the affairs of any one, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, characterized as "lawlessness personified" what he termed the "forcible manifestation" of authority by senate committees. The investigating authority of either house is limited to matters pertaining to legislative policy, Dr. Butler declared.

SENATE TO TAKE ACTION ON TWO PRINCIPAL BILLS

Finance Committee Sends Bonus Measure to Upper House on Trail of Tax Bill; Early Vote Is Promised

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Final congressional approval of the legislative fiscal program involved in the soldier bonus and tax reduction bills was put up to the senate today when the finance committee sent the bonus measure on the trail of the revenue bill to the senate floor.

Republican leaders immediately called a party conference for Monday to determine which measure would be given priority while spokesmen of the two parties promised early action on both bills.

No Vote Taken
The bonus measure was approved by the finance committee as passed by the house without the formality of a vote. At the same time Chairman Smoot made public a report estimating the revenue bill as framed by the committee would cut taxes in the next calendar year $50,989,444, below the amount of revenue which will be needed to meet the cost of the bonus bill next year. The "apparent deficit" which the revenue bill would cause, he predicted, would be offset by increased returns in government revenue as a result of the proposed tax revision.

Predict Passage
Despite the dispute over the cost of the bonus bill and whether funds will be available to pay for it, its passage by a comfortable majority has been freely predicted. The bill, which provides for cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service compensation and 20 year endowment life insurance policies, would reduce the house by a vote of 37 to 24.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking demagogue on the finance committee, announced today he would propose an amendment to the bonus bill from the floor to incorporate an option for full cash payments. This proposal is expected to have considerable support, particularly from democrats.

Favorable Report Made by Senate Committee on Two Bills for Farmer Relief

Action Is Taken on McNary-Haugen and Norris-Sinclair Measures; Farm Bloc Plans to Have First Proposal Entered as Permanent Legislation; Will Substitute Second Scheme

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The McNary-Haugen and the Norris-Sinclair bills, designed for the relief of agricultural districts, were reported favorably today by the senate agricultural committee. Several minor amendments were attached to the McNary-Haugen bill but the Norris-Sinclair bill was reported without change.

Action on the McNary-Haugen bill is expected to be taken by the house before its consideration in the senate on account of its tariff provisions which are required to originate in the house. The house agricultural committee is now engaged in redrafting passages of the bill.

Objections Listed

The tariff features of the McNary-Haugen bill brought a communication from the tariff commission to the house ways and means committee today in which the commission contended if domestic prices of agricultural staples are raised substantially above world prices as a result of such legislation, the application by foreign nations of anti-dumping laws would prevent the sale in those countries of surplus American farm products. The commission further said that the foreign countries also may claim that the policy is inconsistent with the tariff act of 1922.

Runs Five Years

The life of the McNary-Haugen bill is limited to five years, it being framed as an emergency measure. The farm bloc plans to have the Norris-Sinclair bill entered as permanent legislation and eventually to substitute the McNary-Haugen bill.

The McNary-Haugen bill provides for the creation of the "United States Agricultural Export Commission" and the "United States Agricultural Export corporation."

An appropriation of $200,000,000 would be authorized as capital stock for the export corporation.

Ratio Price

The commission would be directed to determine a ratio price for basic agricultural commodities by computing the average price of all commodities for the period of 1905 to 1914 inclusive. When the commission finds that the domestic price of a farm commodity is lower than the ratio price it shall recommend to the corporation the purchase of a sufficient amount of this commodity to bring the domestic price up to the level of the ratio price.

The corporation's function would be to sell the surplus crop to the export trade but it also would be permitted to sell in the domestic market at not less than the ratio price, any commodity in its custody as the commission may designate.

The bill authorizes the president to direct the United States tariff commission or the secretary of agriculture to make investigations from time to time to determine the ratio of duty upon any agricultural commodity necessary to maintain its domestic price at the level of the ratio price.

The great courage and tireless efforts of the fliers and their aides yesterday prevented the crashers Chicago and New Orleans from being blown to pieces on the shore in a windstorm. In their eight hour battle with the elements to save the ships the army men won the praise of residents and seamen here who watched their domestic price at the level of the ratio price.

JAP EXCLUSION BILL IS PASSED IN LOWER HOUSE

Johnson Immigration Bill Carrying Provision Protected by Japanese Government Approved, 322 to 71

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Carrying a Japanese exclusion provision against which the Japanese government has protested vigorously, the Johnson immigration bill was passed today by the house, 322 to 71.

No effort was made to eliminate the Japanese section, which provoked only brief and perfunctory discussion. There was nothing to indicate that any of the opposition votes were directed at the Asiatic policy contained in the bill but rather against the provision fixing the 1920 census as the basis of the two per cent quota which was adopted.

G. O. P. to Get Together.

While the senate was getting back to its consideration of the immigration question in a night session, republican leaders issued a call for a party conference next Monday at which an effort will be made to agree upon a policy both as to Japanese exclusion and the census quota basis.

The existing law which expires on next June 30, fixed the quota at three per cent on the 1910 census and had no provision relating to Japanese immigration which for years has been regulated by the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan. Secretary Hughes has urged that the American government continue to recognize this agreement and the Japanese placed on the same quota basis as the nationals of other countries.

Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee, announced today that when the time comes for the house and senate to reconcile their differences on immigration legislation the managers on the part of the house will insist to the end on the retention of the Japanese exclusion provision.

Mrs. Maude Thompson Says She Knocked Fulton Unconscious After Argument

MINNEAPOLIS, April 12 (AP)—An unreported knockout scored against Fred Fulton, heavyweight boxer of Minneapolis, administered by a woman, was claimed today by Mrs. Maude Thompson, who with her husband, Earl Thompson, filed two suits seeking $21,000 damages from Fulton.

Charging assault and battery, Mrs. Thompson asked $10,000 for alleged injuries to herself and $5000 for an alleged attack on her two children.

Mrs. Thompson's complaint charges that Fulton struck her during an argument. She returned the blow, knocking Fulton unconscious, according to her suit. She charged that Fulton had kicked her children.

PRESIDENT IS DEFENDED IN FIERY DEBATE

Republicans Break Long Silence Attending Partisan Attacks; Pinchot Urged Employment of Heney

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Breaking the silence which has heretofore marked this side of the chamber during many democratic onslaughts on the administration, republicans of the senate today came to the defense of President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon in a long and fiery debate surrounding the intervention by the president in senate investigation committee procedure.

Senator Watson of Indiana, chairman of the senate committee inquiring into affairs of the internal revenue bureau, was the chief spokesman for the republicans, being supported by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania.

Pinchot Mentioned.

New light was thrown on events which prompted the president to send his message yesterday on the senate investigation situation when Senator Watson injected the name of Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania into the situation.

The Indiana senator informed his colleagues that Governor Pinchot, who has had a row with prohibition officials under the treasury department, had suggested employment of Francis J. Heney of San Francisco, as special counsel for the senate investigating the internal revenue bureau. Mr. Heney's services would be paid for personally by Senator Cozans, republican, Michigan, author of the investigation resolution and the committee "prosecutor."

Gave Mellon Facts.

Senator Watson said that he had himself given Secretary Mellon information of the Pinchot development and the result, he added, was Mr. Mellon's letter to the president and the special message sent to the senate yesterday by Mr. Coolidge in protest.

Senator Watson interpreted the message as dealing only with the internal revenue bureau situation and asserted his purpose to press his resolution to quash that investigation committee.

Democratic senators were not satisfied, however, that the language of the message was not designed to rebuke all senate investigation committees and for hours they directed a heavy fire of criticism at the president and Secretary Mellon. Late in the day Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, introduced a resolution to "expunge the message from the senate records," asserting that it was "insulting to the senate."

Don't overdo the Choke

YOUR dash choke is an all-too-handy temptation at this time of the year... There is a bite in the early morning air—motor is cold—you are anxious to get her spinning and ready for a quick pull out of the garage. Cr—she goes the starter—out comes the choke—motor takes hold but acts rather stiff, so out stays the choke "to help warm her up"—and what happens?

Raw gasoline goes into the combustion chambers—too rich a charge for the spark to handle. The surplus, unburned gasoline works down the cylinder walls, washing off the oil that protects these surfaces, and on into the crankcase to dilute the oil supply. The lubricating quality of your oil is weakened—friction gets in its work and along come those extra repair bills.

Be a bit stingy with the choke this winter. Its use is necessary when the motor is cold but be sure to return it to normal position as promptly as possible—as soon as the engine begins to warm up.

What happens after a "quick start"?

Does your motor act lazy in the long run, after an initial display of "pep" and fireworks? Does it fail to deliver all the power and mileage you expect from each gallon of gasoline?

Very often these shortcomings can be traced to so-called "high-test" or "high-gravity" gasoline—fuel that usually "starts something it can't finish", simply because in giving it a highly volatile initial "kick" something has been sacrificed in its range and proportion of intermediate and higher boiling point fractions. And this nice proportion or balance is the source of full power and long mileage. Without it your gasoline can't do a complete, dependable, economical job.

CONOCO is balanced gasoline—uniform, sure-hitting, trustworthy fuel at lowest cost per mile. Wherever you see this circular sign.

L. O. B. Detroit

Why Commercial Users Prefer the Ford

There is much significance in the fact that more than 75% of all commercial cars of one-ton capacity or less in the United States are Fords.

This overwhelming preference for Ford haulage units has its basis in the low cost of Ford transportation, the rugged construction of the truck itself, and its unusual adaptability to every line of industry.

Mechanical excellence, simplicity of design and ample power are further factors that have contributed to the popularity of the Ford One-Ton Worm Drive Truck.

The Ford One-Ton Truck equipped with an all-steel body and cab is now available as a complete unit, priced at $490 l. o. b. Detroit. Screen sides and canopy roof that may easily be fitted to this unit are supplied at small additional cost.

SCOURGE TAKES HEAVIER TOLL OF LIVESTOCK

Reports of New Cases of Infection Received; Figures Show 311 Herds of 49,000 Animals Destroyed

SACRAMENTO, April 12 (AP)—Reports of six new infections of the foot and mouth disease were received today by the state department of agriculture from the branch offices in the quarantined districts.

Figures by the department show the total number of livestock destroyed to date in combatting the epidemic is 49,000, consisting of 311 herds. The total is made up of 25,210 cattle, 9,515 hogs, 14,694 sheep and 239 goats. Members of the legislature are rapidly pledging their support to the necessary appropriation of $2,000,000 created yesterday by Governor Richardson and the state board of control for use in the campaign against the epidemic. The pledges indicate the governor will cash in on a lot he made yesterday by C. Thorpe, manager of the California Walnut Growers' association, during a heated argument on what the legislature should do.

Thorpe said he would accept $100,000 the legislature will refuse to raise the financial interests if they advance money to pay stockmen for cattle destroyed during the epidemic. The governor quickly explained that he would take the bet and drew out his check book. Thorpe covered the check with currency.

The board of agriculture of the Hawaiian islands, according to advices received, has extended the embargo because of the epidemic in California to all meats, except canned goods, eggs and all products of the soil, except rice and flour, originating in or shipped through California. Cargoes now afloat are exempted.

BETTER HEALTH SERVICE

Public Health Is Public Wealth

Issued by the Public Health League of Idaho

INHERITING TUBERCULOSIS.

An army of more than 100,000 people give up their lives every year to tuberculosis. Yet adequate rest, plain, nourishing food and fresh air day and night are the very important items in the cure of this disease—and they will prevent it.

Some have the impression that this disease is inherited because so many children of tubercular parents become infected during infancy through the carelessness or ignorance of their parents. But tuberculosis is never inherited. Even with father and mother both infected it is quite possible to raise a healthy youngster under proper care. It must not be forgotten, though, that babies and children can catch this disease easily. They are much more susceptible than older folk.

The nose and the mouth are the invitations to tubercular germs to enter. They may come in with dust, impure milk, improperly washed bottles and nipples, unclean toys, unwashed hands or napkins or handkerchiefs which have been used by somebody else may serve to deliver these germs. Any part of the body is subject to this attack. In children the lungs are commonly infected. Certain glands, as those in the neck under the ears, or those in the abdomen and bones are also places where tuberculosis develops.

Eternal vigilance is the price of good health. The baby and the older child must be watched carefully. If the baby loses weight, is pale and thin, a physician should be consulted. Perhaps the food needs changing, or something else is the matter, but don't neglect expert advice.

The older child, if tubercular, will lose weight, be pale, irritable and have no endurance or pep. His appetite is poor with stomach upset, and he sleeps badly. It may be noticed that he is feverish a great deal. Children do not have "night sweats."

Other things may be the cause of such symptoms, but if they follow measles or whooping cough or influenza a physician should be consulted. Tuberculosis in children may be prevented in two ways. Keep them away from the germs, and keep them in the best health possible—then, if exposed, they have the opportunity of not catching it. Children should not live in the same house with a person with consumption. House with a person with consumption, care, involving rest, fresh air, sunshine and good food. The diet should include plenty of good milk, butter, green vegetables, fruits and cereals. Keep them, then, from the tubercular one, build up their resistance—that will help us conquer this disease.

SALT LAKE, April 12 (AP)—Utah's fight to prevent the foot and mouth disease from gaining a foothold in this state resulted in the issuance Friday by Governor Charles H. Mabey of a new quarantine proclamation prohibiting the shipment through Utah of any livestock from California. The new proclamation embodies the uniform regulations adopted by representative western stock men at a recent conference here.

LEAGUE SCHEME TO BE TALKED AT BOARD MEET

Questions as to Reorganizing Baseball for the Present Season in This District to Come Up for Action

Questions as to the organizing of a baseball league this year are to be decided at a meeting of the board of directors of last year's league Tuesday evening with R. G. Lettice in charge.

Already the sugar factory has a team which is holding regular practice on the league ball park and several other players are anxious to get under way.

The sugar factory squad is under the leadership of A. M. Squires and is anxious to start the Twilight season as soon as possible.

Plans for additions to the ball grounds in the way of bleachers and dressing rooms and a roof to the stands are under consideration and the meeting Tuesday will largely decide what will be done in this matter as well as the probability of reorganizing a Twilight league or a team which will meet the various other teams of the district which are organizing ball clubs in games twice every week.

Material in addition to some very valuable additions from the high school squad points to a successful team when the students begin to arrive from colleges. The infield will undoubtedly be filled by "Sybil" Kleffner and "Skip" Byrnes, two regulars on the University of Idaho nine; Jim Seilvie, a Denver university player, and Bob Whitel of Twin Falls.

The battery for this year will be mutually strengthened by a semi-professional catcher who is eager for the season to commence. "Lefty" Oliver is reported to be in better condition than ever and several other twirlers of no little ability are ready for the season.

Taking these facts into consideration the local players should receive the entire support of the community which will be well advertised throughout the state provided the team has the proper backing to insure its success.

BIG LEAGUERS READY FOR OPENING OF 1924 SEASON

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—The finishing touches to preparations for what promises to be among the most heavily fought pennant race in baseball history will be applied over the weekend by major league players who have practically completed the annual spring task of training out veterans and gauging the worth of rookie talent.

Fans who flock through the turnstiles for the opening American and National league games Tuesday will view probably a greater array of new faces than any recent season has witnessed. Reports gathered from the various outfields show that more than 50 newcomers have earned their spurs for 1924, resulting in shakeups that appear most notable in the ranks of the New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves in the National league, and the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox in the junior circuit.

YANKS LOSE TO DODGERS

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—(Exhibition)—Playing their first game of the season in the Yankee stadium, the New York Yankees lost 10 to 8 to the Brooklyn Dodgers today when Hoettger, a recruit pitcher, blew up in the ninth, the Dodgers scoring five runs.

Score: R. H. E. Brooklyn 10 11 2 New York 8 9 2

Batteries: Hoettger, Vance, Dickerman and Deberry; Shawkey, Jones, Hoettger and Schang.

GRANTING OF PERMIT FOR POWER SCHEME PROTESTED

Burley Irrigation District Opposes Action Taken by Commission Approving Project at Twin Falls

The recent granting by the federal power commission of a permit of the Idaho Power company for a project site at Twin Falls has been protested by the directors of the Burley irrigation district, according to word from Burley.

The protest, which was addressed to John W. Weeks, chairman of the power commission, asks that the proposition be held up until the settlers are given an opportunity to present their case to the commission and the newly appointed commissioner of reclamation.

The protest of the Burley district recalls the controversy which arose two years ago when the settlers on the Minidoka project protested against a siting being granted the power company.

The proposed development at Twin Falls, according to word received here, will consist of a dam at the head of the falls, penstocks and a power plant having a proposed ultimate capacity of 10,000 horsepower.

DEATH RUMOR ASCRIBED TO MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Relatives Here of Oleo Bush Ate Advised that Body at San Pedro, California, Is Not That of Their Son

Anxiety caused in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bush by word received Friday evening that the body of an unknown man at San Pedro, California, was believed to be that of their son, Oleo, was allayed Saturday evening when William Bush, a younger son, received a telegram from a friend of his brother in California stating that the case was one of "mistaken identity."

Further information was awaited by the family here. Oleo Bush, who is commonly known hereabouts as "Slim" Bush, has resided in California for several months past. His relatives here have had no word from him since about two weeks ago when in a telephone conversation from Bakersfield, California, he told them he had suffered injury to his right hand in an automobile accident and would not be able to write for a time.

KATHERINE MADONALD

SCORES IN "CHASTITY"

"Chastity," Katherine MacDonal's latest First National picture, which opens at the Orpheum Tuesday, takes the spectator behind the curtain of a big New York theater, with its colorful life and interesting personalities.

The star, most admirably beautiful than ever, and gorgeously gowned, delights her many admirers. Her interpretation of the character of Norma O'Neill, the actress, was marked by sincerity and feeling.

The Ernest Panzer story revolves about the efforts of a girl to "make good" on the stage in spite of the dangerous influences that arise to intercept her. Her struggles form the nucleus of a story of unusual interest.

The star is given splendid support by a cast including such well known players as Huntley Gordon, Gordon Russell, Edythe Chapman, Gunnis Davis, Lew Mason and Frederick Truesdale.

AUTOMOBILE ROW HAS MOVING DAY

Bowling Alleys Take New Location and Two Garages Get Change of Quarters

Twin Falls bowling alleys are leaving automobile row, and, under supervision of Manager Jack Tritt, the work of moving the alleys and equipment from the location on Second avenue north to the new location in the Brize building, Second avenue east, was begun Saturday.

Quarters vacated by the bowling alleys will be occupied by the Empire Auto company, which will move from its present location a few doors further up the street, to make way for the Empire Auto shop, Henry George, proprietor, which will be moved from its present location at 138 Third avenue south.

The first floor of the building on Shoshone street, south, occupied for several months past by the Salvation Army corps, will become the location of a billiard room to be established by P. Withrow, who has sold to J. T. Thips and R. E. Webster the billiard room on Main avenue south known as "Pete's Place" and has purchased tables and other fixtures of an establishment at Burley to be installed in the new location.

A Season of Sports Wear

The "sports model" girl has come into her own; never was sports wear so attractive and so universally worn.

And she who hikes not, motors not, plays neither tennis nor golf—she dresses the part just the same.

The Sweater and Skirt Costume

From our dozens of pretty sweaters, let us select an orchid summer weight sweater, bound in silk braid ($8.50), as the basis of an unusually attractive sport costume.

THE SKIRT might be of orchid sport silk, box pleated ($8.95) that matches exactly in color. A dainty brassiere ($3.95) of lace over satin furnishes all the blouse or vest needed.

COMPLETE OUTFIT

With the above costume we suggest our new white kid sandals. —Price $7.50

A Youthful Sport Costume

The young girl, or small woman of youthful figure, may choose a red flannel sleeveless jacket, bound in white silk braid ($4.95); a PLEATED SKIRT of white homespun ($6.95); a simple, dainty white wash blouse ($2.50).

COMPLETE OUTFIT
$14.40

Footwear chosen to wear with the above costume might well be low-heeled sandals of soft red kid —at $7.50.

Easter Special

These new coats are just in time for Easter selling. Every one will look well on Easter Sunday—and every one is a real value.

Most are in modified sport styles, and there are a few dress coats in town. All full lined, either in crepe or flannel. At these prices we expect every coat to be gone by Easter.

$18.95 $26.95

A Real Outing Costume

The real outdoor girl will want a suit of heavy khaki colored twillcord ($13.75), with trousers in the riding pants style, and a smart belted coat; for easy comfort she chooses a khaki shirt in regular mannish style ($2.50).

$16.25

A pair of high-topped boots complete the above outfit. They must be comfortable and well-fitting, and may be had for $7.50.

NEW FEDERAL TAXES

Naturally there is a roar of protest against the Senate proposal to tax radio sets and supplies. Radio fans and dealers are not appeased by the statement that the tax will be paid by the manufacturers and "absorbed, by them." The radio fans, being an intelligent lot of citizens, know that manufacturers' taxes are almost invariably passed on, and the ultimate consumer is lucky if the original tax is not multiplied before it reaches him. It seems odd that the Senate finance committee should have decided to impose a radio tax at the same time that it cut the automobile tax. Radio, if not quite so necessary as the automobile, nevertheless plays a great and increasing part in the life of the nation, for amusement and instruction. Its educational value is greater than that of any other aid in our history. The tax is wrong in principle, too, as is the tax on automobiles, because it means an added and discriminatory levy on industries already paying their regular share of taxes.

MONEY FOR EUROPE

After all, America hasn't left Europe altogether without help. Not to mention the various American experts of one kind and another who have been devoting their best efforts to solving Europe's economic problems, there is the little matter of hard cash. And it is an eye-opener. A government estimate credits American tourists with having left five hundred million dollars abroad in nineteen hundred twenty-three. During the same year foreign-born residents of this country sent three hundred fifty million dollars to their friends and relatives abroad, and the Red Cross and other philanthropic institutions added seventy million dollars. That makes a total contribution of over nine hundred million dollars. The canny Europeans made a neat profit on the tourist traffic. The rest was nearly all "velvet" for our foreign friends. Such a sum, however, need not be grudged. It is easily spared by a nation worth some three hundred thirty billion dollars, with an annual income around sixty billion dollars. And it is more blessed to give than to receive.

A THESIS SYNDICATE

A firm in the Middle West is said to have circularized students at the University of Chicago with this interesting offer:
"Let us do your thinking for you. Give us your subject and ten dollars—and we'll do the rest."
That is, the concern will write the theses and shorter papers that begin to fall due about graduation time. It is said that the faculty at the school are undecided as to what action they will take.
It is our guess that they won't need to do much of anything about this. Not a high percentage of students is likely to be tempted by the offer. Even in these days of overcrowded halls of learning and football-hypnotized students, there are still men and women with a serious purpose in life who go to college to study as well as to have fun. These are not to be easily interested in theses at ten dollars apiece. As for the others who might jump at the chance to buy such documents—they would probably cheat in some other way without this handsome offer.
What is useless to you may be valuable to others—advertise it in the classified columns.

THE WEATHER MAN'S JOKE

BY DADDY

CHAPTER I.
A Morning Surprise.

"WHAT shall we do tomorrow?" asked Jack of Janet on a fine spring evening.
"Let us go into the woods and pick flowers and play by the babbling brook and listen to the birds sing," answered Janet.
"Come out! Come out! Come out into the woods," warbled Brown Thrush. "Come out tomorrow and the birds will sing their prettiest. Our nests are built, and we are ready for a play day."
"Yes, come," urged Cat Bird. "I'll sing the gladdest song I know."
"Say! Say! We will play all day!" screamed Blue Jay.
"We will come," answered Jack. "These nice spring days are the finest kind of play time."
"And we will bring our lunch and have a picnic at the woods. We will have enough crumbs for all the birds," promised Blue Jay.
"Cheer! Cheer! Hurrah! Hurrah!" sang the birds. "We will have a lovely time in the dreamland spring weather."
"Goodbye! We shall see you at our picnic tomorrow," cried the children. They started for home as the birds flew away, but Janet was in surprise at the sight of a little old man who sat half hidden among the bushes. The little old man, who had long white whiskers and wore a high pointed hat, was chuckling to himself.
"Good-day, sir!" said Jack politely. "Who are you, may we ask? And what are you chuckling about? Is it a joke?"
"Ho! Ho! Ho!" The little old man burst into laughter. "I am Janet's grandfather, the Weather Man. And I am chuckling about something that will be a joke tomorrow."
The Weather Man spoke so jolly that Jack and Janet found themselves smiling at him.
"Can't you tell us your joke so we can laugh with you?" asked Janet.
"Ho! Ho! Ho!" The Weather Man, but some folks laugh and some folks frown," was the Weather Man's queer answer. "These you laugh with me are happier than those who frown at me."
"I've seen Twin Falls at a distance, and I've seen it near at hand; It's certainly one of the nicest towns there is in this land."

me. Which will you be? Which will you be? Tomorrow we'll see! Tomorrow we'll see! And with that the little old man sprang nimbly to his feet and danced away like the children could not follow him.
"I wonder what he means!" asked Janet.
"Tomorrow we will see," answered Jack, using the words of the Weather Man. "But what shall we see?"
The children went to bed early so they could get up while the new day was fresh and bright.
But when they jumped out of bed in the morning and ran to the window they got a surprise. The balmy spring weather had vanished. The ground was covered with snow and the branches of the trees sagged low under the burden of heavy white flakes. In the trees sat the birds, shivering and shaking.
"Oh, winter has come back!" cried Janet in dismay.
The little old man all muffled up in coat and scarf went chuckling past the house. "Ho! Ho! Ho!" he laughed. "What a fine joke! Ho! Ho! Ho! Those who laugh with me are happier than those who frown at me."
But Jack and Janet did not feel like laughing. Their happy day in the springtime woods seemed to be spoiled.

(How Jack and Janet come to look upon the Weather Man's joke in another way will be told in tomorrow's chapter.)

TWIN FALLS.

By L. S. TOOLE.

I've seen Twin Falls at a distance, and I've seen it near at hand; It's certainly one of the nicest towns there is in this land.
There isn't a place in Idaho where I think I'd rather live; As an up-to-date town it has something to gain, but it has a lot to give.
It seems to lie at the center of the orchards of Idaho, In a soil where thousands of bushels of delicious apples grow.
In a land of corn and alfalfa, a home of cattle and sheep, Where things you sell command a good price and things you buy are cheap.
Twin Falls has a fine situation where the value of nature calls, The sound of running waters where the little Snake river falls.
The broad and open spaces, the view of the hills far away, The sound of the breeze in the orchard trees, the song of the bird through the day.
I've never been taken with cities, would rather live near the land, But I think I could live in a city like this for I think that Twin Falls is grand.

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls

From News Files, April 16, 1909.

The Pacific Express company has agreed to deliver and collect express matter within the business district of Twin Falls free of charge. This will be a great saving to the merchants who are now obliged to pay for having their express matter hauled from the depot to their places of business.
Edwin Snow, assistant attorney general under the administration of Governor Gooding, was over from his farm on the Milner segregation this week accompanied by Mrs. Snow. Mr. Snow is making final proof on his ranch.
George D. Aiken closed a deal with the Twin Falls Cattle company this morning for the purchase of 100 lots, comprising blocks 141, 150, 151, 152, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162 on which Dave Seaman's residence stands. These blocks were set aside and withdrawn from sale for terminal facilities for the Idaho, Nevada Southern railway. Now that the southern road is to be built by the Oregon Short Line the lots have reverted to the company and Mr. Aiken paid $25,000 for them this morning. This is the biggest city really dealt yet consummated.
Perrine and Burton vacated their old store Saturday, moving the remainder of their stock into the Hotel Perrine corner, where it is now being closed out. The old store building was torn down early this week and work commenced on the magnificent structure of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company.
Governor Brady has appointed Mrs. Martin J. Swoley of Twin Falls a delegate to the National Peace conference to be held in Chicago the first week in May.
F. B. Allen and E. J. Finch of Elmer, spent the latter part of last week in Atwell and Jerome in an endeavor to interest the citizens of the North Side in the proposition of bridging the Snake river at Clark's grade.

The Hotel Perrine annex was opened this week though there is still some fitting and carpet laying to be done in the building. The furniture for the house is in, and the guests are being received in the annex.

"You are John Irons, Jr., and I am Henry Thornhill," said I. I saw you at Kinderhook where I used to live. I liked you then, and since the war began, I have known of your adventures. I saw you passing a little way back and I followed for I have something to say to you."
"I shall be glad to hear of it," was my answer.
"Washington cannot be overcome by his enemies unless he is betrayed by his friends. Arnold has been put in command at West Point. He has planned the betrayal of the army."
"Do you know that?" I asked.
"As well as I know light and darkness."
"Have you told Washington?"
"No. As yet I have had no opportunity. I am telling him now, through you. In his friendship he is a singularly stubborn man. The wiles of an enemy are as an open book to him, but those of a friend he is not able to comprehend. He will discern it or only half believe any warning that you or I may give him. But it is for you and Solomon to warn him and be not deceived."
"I shall turn about and ride back to camp," I said.
"There is no need of haste," he answered. "Arnold does not assume command until the third of August." He shaded his eyes and looked toward the west where the sun was setting and the low-lying clouds were like rose-colored islands in a golden sea, and added as he hurried away down the road to the south:

"It is a beautiful world."
"Too good for fighting men," I answered as I sat down to finish my luncheon for I was still hungry.
"While I ate, the tormenting thought came to me that I had neglected to ask for the source of his information or for his address. It was a curious oversight due to his masterly manner and that sense of the guarded tongue which an ordinary mortal is apt to feel in the presence of a great personality. I had been, in a way, self-bridled and cautious in my speech, as I have been wont to be in the presence of Washington himself. I looked down the road ahead. The stranger had rounded a bend and was now hidden by the bush. I hurried through my repast, bridled my horse and set off at a gallop, expecting to overtake him, but to my astonishment he had left the road. I did not see him again, but his words were ever with me in the weeks that followed.
"I reached the Corlies farm, far down in the neutral territory, at ten o'clock and a little before dawn was with Corlies and his neighbors in a rough fight with a band of traitor thieves, in the course of which three men and a boy were seriously disabled by my pistols. We had salted a bed and concealed ourselves in the midst of it and so were able to shoot from good cover when the thieves arrived. Solomon and I spent four days in the neutral territory. When we left it, we found our cattle thieves were in need of repair and three had moved to parts unknown. Save in the southern limit, their courage had been broken.
"I had often thought of Nancy, the blase-faced mare, that I had got from Reuben Smith and traded to Mr. Paulding. When we left it, I got her by meeting a man who had just come from Tarrytown. Being near that place I rode on to Paulding's farm and spent a night in his house. I found Nancy in good flesh and spirits. She seemed to know and like the touch of the halter, standing by the door when the notes came to me that I ought to own her. Paulding was reduced in circumstances. Having been a patriot and a money lender the war had impoverished him. My own horse was worn by overwork and so I proposed a trade and secured a steed to boot which I promptly accepted. I came back up the north road with the handsome, high-headed mare under my saddle. The next night I stopped with one Reuben Smith near the northern limit of the neutral territory below Stony Point. Smith had presided by selling the parties to the war, and I had heard that he was a Tory and so I wished to know him. I found him a rugged, jovial, long-haired man of middle age, with a ready giggling laugh. His jokes were spoken in a low tone and followed by quick, stertorous breathing and roars and gestures of appreciation.
"He looked my mare over carefully before he led her to the stable.
"Next morning as he stood by her head, he asked if I would sell her.
"You couldn't afford to own that mare," I said.
"It had touched his vanity. In fact I did not realize how much he had made by his overcharging. He was better able to own her than I and that he proposed to show me.
"He offered for her another horse and a sum which caused me to take account of the situation. The money would be a help to me. However, I shook my head. He increased his offer.
"What do you want of her? I asked.
"I've always wanted to own a boss like that," he answered.
"If you intend to keep the mare," said I. "But if you will treat her well and give her a good home I shall let you have her."
"A man who likes a good joke will never drive a spavined horse," he answered merrily.
"It happened that the mare Nancy fell into the hands of Reuben Smith."

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY
"My husband decides to get up early these fine spring mornings. He says that it's a waste of nature's gift of sunshine and fresh air to lie in bed until quarter to eight every morning when we might be out walking and doing ourselves good. And when I don't rise to my feet and cheer him on, he makes a lot of remarks about the kind of people whose idea of a good time is to sleep all day. After he's been talking this way for a week or so, I feel called on to ask him why he doesn't get up some mornings and take one of these long, healthful walks he's yearning for.

"All right!" he shouts in a fit of sudden determination. "I'll show you I mean business. I'll not let alarm for an o'clock tomorrow morning. I'll be out and take one of these long, healthful walks he's yearning for.
And then the next morning the darned old alarm clock wakes me up at 6, and when I finally succeed in rousing Hugh to tell him that it's time to get up and take his walk, he rolls over and murmurs:
"Don't be foolish. Just go back to sleep and let me alone!"

OIL DISCOVERY REPORTED FROM ROCKLAND FIELD

Twin Falls Citizens to Visit Bore in which Heavy Flow of Oil Is Reported to Have Haunted Drilling Operations

Scene of a reported important oil discovery in the vicinity of Rockland, about 12 miles southwest of American Falls, will be visited today by a number of Twin Falls citizens who learned Saturday evening of word received here to the effect that drilling had been suspended when a heavy flow of oil was encountered after piercing the cap rock Saturday in a well on which drilling was begun last spring.

This information was received here by B. A. Drake, salesman, in a telephone conversation Saturday evening with Ed Morris of Rockland, secretary of the Rockland Valley Oil company, on whose property the well was put down. Mr. Drake is vice president of this company, which has been financed by 30 persons.

Backers Take Chance.

Heavy flow of water was encountered in the bore about three weeks ago, Mr. Drake said Saturday evening. Unsuccessful attempts were made to ease off the water and it was feared that the well would prove a failure. Although indications had been increasingly favorable as drilling proceeded down from a depth of about 300 feet. The bore now has a depth of about 1000 feet. It was known that a hard rock formation had been encountered, Mr. Drake said, and backers of the enterprise decided to risk drowning out the well by penetrating the rock. That was done Saturday, Mr. Drake said, and the flow of oil was encountered in such volume that drilling had to be halted.

Arrangements are being made now to "shoot" the well with view to determining its output.

BOARD OF EDUCATION WILL ELECT TEACHERS

Election of a principal of the senior high school and teachers of the Twin Falls schools for the coming school year is scheduled to take place at a regular meeting of the Twin Falls board of education Monday evening. Ernest D. Bloom, superintendent-elect, while here two days last week from his present home in Murfreesboro, made known to the board his choice of applicants for a number of the places to be filled.

Election of the high school principal is made necessary at this time by reason of the fact that Miss Elizabeth M. Chatwell, supervisor of grades, who was elected to the position by the board at its last meeting, declined to accept the place.

WOULD PAY CONTRACT OUT-OF-DAMAGES AWARD

O. W. Strickling, Salmon River Land-Owner Offers Basis for Settlement in Foreclosure Suit

Claim to $10,000 damages based on alleged failure of the Salmon River Land and Water company and its successors to deliver adequate irrigation water supply to his 50-acre farm on the Salmon River project, is set up by O. W. Strickling in his answer filed Saturday in district court here to the complaint in a suit instituted by the Commonwealth Trust company of Pittsburgh, trustee, to foreclose the water contract.

Strickling alleges in his answer that the actual delivery of water since 1912 has been 30 per cent, on an average, of the amount provided for in the water contract, all of which, he declares, is necessary for successful general farming. He declares that the value of the water contract does not exceed $10,000; and that he has paid $900 on account of the contract. He asks the court to determine the value of the water contract and to award him judgment for $10,000 minus the value of the contract as thus determined.

Strickling is represented in this action by Attorney Homer C. Mills.

WANTS LAND OUT OF TOWN

A. H. Froelich Petitions District Court for Exclusion of 10-Acre Tract from Hansen Township

Petition for the exclusion of 15.83 acres of land from the Hansen township was filed in district court here Saturday by A. H. Froelich, through his attorneys, Stephens and North. Hearing on the petition was set for May 17 by an order issued by Judge Babcock.

The land in question, Mr. Froelich states, is agricultural land and does no benefit through inclusion in the township. It is separated from the principal part of the town by a coulee and swamp the petition recites.

What Makes Her Smart?

The woman who is admired is not always beautiful but certainly she is always smart. What makes her smart? It is nothing but a studied harmony of detail—and for effect she very often depends entirely on her jewelry. For afternoon with a frock of black she wears coral or jade—for evening lustrous pearls—and for sport and work severe ornaments. And you'll find them all in this vast collection of new spring jewelry—bangles, bracelets, earrings—in designs and colors to set off any costume. They are, too, priced at much lower sums than their fine appearance implies.
