RAIL FUND IS RAISED AND READY

Committee Goes Over the Top with Better than $1,000.00 to Spare; Outside Donations Swell Total

THE FIGURES UP TO 6 P. M. MONDAY

First day's collections	$8,240.77
Second day's collections	2,125.78
Third day's collections	2,664.50
Fourth day's collections	$1,288.95
Fifth day's collections	1,853.05
TOTAL	$16,144.05

Over $1,800.00 received at the office of the Chamber of Commerce between 10 p. m. Saturday and 6 o'clock Monday evening put the drive for funds for right of way purchase over the top yesterday with $1,144.05 to spare. The total collections as quoted include a number of post-dated checks as well as the sum of $500.00 out of a total of $750.00 collected in Buhl, but with the exception of the $250.00, not yet received in Twin Falls.

U. C. Bonds $200

Among the out-of-town checks received yesterday was one from the Utah Construction company for $200.00 sent to the Twin Falls Business Women's club which has undertaken to assist in the collection and which through its secretary, Miss Gladys Torburn, has dispatched a frank appeal for assistance to the company.

In a lengthy letter in reply President Wadsworth took occasion to explain the situation of his company with respect to the new line, pointing out that a cattle ranch such as those operated by the company was not materially benefited by rail facilities and calling attention to the reduction in the price of the land from over $60,000.00 to $25,000.00.

Willing to Assist

Because of the generosity of other lands in Twin Falls county, at Rock Creek and elsewhere, the company through its president expressed its entire willingness to assist in the movement and the check by way of contribution was enclosed.

The letter was written at a time when it was probably apparent to the company that the fund would be successfully raised and that such a contribution was not an actual necessity, according to Secretary Dwight of the chamber of commerce, who voiced an expression of appreciation of the donation.

Other outside donations received since Saturday are W. H. Wright & Sons company, $100.00; John Crocker, $100.00; Al Page, $100.00; Mull and Cavanaugh, $100.00; Idaho Fire Insurance company, $75.00.

"Play Ball" Is Cry Anxiously Awaited In Baseball World

Big League Forces Have Machinery Well Oiled and Fans Are All Set for Opening Day of 1924 Season

NEW YORK April 14 (AP)—The forces of major league baseball gathered and infused with the hope that springs eternal at the barrier, even among those clubs that must inevitably find their own level in second division depths—inaugurate their 1924 pennant campaign tomorrow.

Fandom east and west is keenly awaiting the opening show of "Play Ball" that will mark the close of the long off season, the end of the spring training grind, and send the 16 American and National league outfits off on a battle for supremacy that will not close until the last week in September. Fair weather is promised for the inaugural games and indications point to record outpourings of the faithful to complete previous ratings of their favorites with actual performances. Linups, a majority of them showing decided shakiness since the last out was called in the 1923 races, have been picked for the initial skirmishes. The rookie products of spring training, nearly three score of whom apparently have earned regular berths, will be put to the acid test for the first time. But for the most part, veterans will be back at their old posts.

Husband, Wife and 4 Children Killed as Train Hits Auto

Family Moving to Minnesota Meets Tragedy at Rail Crossing; Furniture Destroyed

WEST LEBANON, Ind., April 14 (AP)—Robert Wilson, 33 years old, his wife, aged 28, and four of their children, ranging in age from one year to 15, were killed tonight when an automobile in which they were traveling from their home in Cincinnati to Danville, Ill., was struck by a Wabash passenger train at a crossing near here.

The Wilson family was moving to Minnesota, part of their household effects being carried in the car. They had planned to make a brief stop in Danville, according to Gordon.

CITE DAUGHTERY FOR CONTEMPT

Brother of Former Attorney-General to Be Summoned for Refusal to Aid Probers

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Decision was reached by the senate committee investigating the department of justice at an executive session today to cite M. S. Daugherty, president of the Midland National bank of Washington, and brother of the former attorney general, before the bar of the senate on a charge of contempt.

The committee, which held no public hearings today, also conferred at length behind closed doors with Attorney General Stone regarding questions before it, members later expressing satisfaction with the interview. Although the attorney general said he had nothing to contribute to the committee's work, senators declared they would be no difficulty in the future in obtaining files and records of the department of justice bearing upon the investigation and left the intimation that Mr. Stone's attitude and conduct of the department might cut short their labors.

The contempt resolution against M. S. Daugherty will be given to the senate as soon as it can be prepared, possibly tomorrow, and will declare that the Ohio banker has refused at the best of a senate subpoena both to testify himself and to permit the records of financial transactions involving M. S. Daugherty, the former attorney general, declared to be in his possession, to be inspected by the senate or its agents.

Meanwhile the committee will proceed with its inquiry by a resumption of its public hearings tomorrow when Chairman Brookhart plans to seek more light on contacts between the Wright-Martin Aircraft corporation and the department of justice arising from "over payments" on airplane contracts during the war.

EASTON ELECTED HEAD OF BOARD OF EDUCATION

BOISE, April 14 (AP)—Stanley A. Easton of Kellogg, was elected president of the state board of education, when members met in their annual meeting today in the state house. Huntington Taylor of Coeur d'Alene was chosen vice president, and J. A. Lippincott of Idaho City, was elected secretary.

Mr. Easton is manager of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating company of Kellogg. In his new position as head of the board he takes the place of T. E. Brown of Bellevue, retiring president. Mr. Rockefeller continues on the board, however, his term not expiring until next April.

FIND BODY AT POCATELLO

POCATELLO, April 14 (AP)—The body of an unknown man was found floating down the Snake River by four boys Sunday afternoon, a short distance west of Pocatello. The body was in a bad state of decomposition and the authorities are of the belief that it had been in the river for approximately six months. The clothing consisted of a sheep-lined leather coat, vest and heavy work shoes. A cornob pipe was the only article found in the pockets.

The body found Sunday is the second taken from the Portneuf river since the first of the year.

CONFESSES KILLING.

LOS ANGELES, April 14 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret B. Willis, formerly of Denver, went with authorities to her apartment today and calmly recounted details of the killing of Dr. Benjamin Baldwin, which she confessed to police today.

SENATE ACTS ON EXCLUSION OF ORIENTALS

Answer Japanese Ambassador's Protest by Ignoring "Gentlemen's Agreement"; Regard Letter as a "Veiled Threat"

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The senate answered Ambassador Hanihara's protest against Japanese exclusion legislation today by voting, 70 to 2, against recognition of the "gentlemen's agreement" with Japan on the immigration question.

Whatever the result would have been without the incident of the ambassador's letter, that communication served to change the votes of a number of administration leaders, including Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the foreign relations committee.

Sees Veiled Threat.

The republican leader informed the senate in open session that he regarded the Hanihara letter as a "veiled threat" and declared that in the face of that threat he could not support the immigration committee's proposal to recognize by law the "gentlemen's agreement."

A number of other senators took the same view and only one voice, that of Senator Satriang, republican, South Dakota, was raised in defense of the ambassador's action. Senator Clegg, chairman of the immigration committee, joined Senator Sterling in the vote but did not speak.

Senators generally threw off the usual restraints in dealing with international questions. They were blunt and outspoken in their declarations that in view of the "grave consequences" warning in the ambassador's letter there was nothing for them to do but to make it clear, once and for all, that immigration is a domestic question in the handling of which no independent power could have its sovereignty questioned.

While the debate proceeded, Secretary Hughes, who transmitted Mr. Hanihara's letter to the house and senate immigration committees last week, twice conferred with President Coolidge. He declined to say what the nature of the conversations had been and no information was forthcoming from the White House.

Hughes Expected to Sound Keynote at New York Conclave

Delegation of 985 on Hand for G. O. P. Convention; Two Days' Program Arranged

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—A delegation 985 strong began arriving in New York today for the republican state convention, opened at Town Hall tomorrow, at which Secretary of State Hughes is scheduled to sound the national party keynote for the 1924 campaign.

The convention program covers two days, beginning with a session of the state convention tomorrow afternoon. Secretary Hughes, who is a former governor of New York, is expected to be named temporary presiding officer over the main convention session tomorrow night, at which he will be the principal speaker.

FIVE U. S. ARMY MEN ARE KILLED

Fatalities Occur when Truck Overturns Near Hawaiian Barracks; Several Injured

HONOLULU, April 14 (AP)—Five enlisted men of the United States army detachment at Schofield barracks were killed and five others injured this afternoon when an army truck carrying 15 men overturned on the road between Schofield and Heliwai.

The dead are Corporal Giles Parker, Private Anthony Urnis, Lawrence Kennedy, Harry Kimes and Chester Wallace.

The accident, said to have been the worst in the history of the Hawaiian department, occurred at "hairpin turn," a particularly treacherous spot in the Schofield barracks road. Survivors stated that the road was wet and the truck skidded at the turn, going completely over before the driver could regain control.

GERMANY READY TO NEGOTIATE

Complete Accord Reached Between Governments as to Parleys on Reparations

BERLIN, April 14 (AP)—A complete accord between the central government and the premier of the federal states on the subject of the German reply to the reparation commission's notification that it was prepared to receive the views of Germany on the experts' report was reached tonight.

The German reply, in the draft of which will be completed tomorrow, set forth the government's acceptance of the report as a basis for negotiations as proposed by the reparation commission. This action therefore is viewed in political circles as definitely settling the position of the reparation commission, which has already indicated its acceptance of the experts' recommendations as a basis for parleys.

The visiting premiers are in full accord with the Marx-Stresemann government on the essential issues involved or projected by the experts in their recommendations. They expressed the conviction that the present central government was possessed of sufficient authority and was wholly competent, so far as its parliamentary mandate was concerned, to act for Germany. There was a full attendance of state presidents at the conference today, including Dr. von Kaillig of Bavaria. Chancellor Marx will confer with the reichstag leaders tomorrow.

SPEAKING OF LABOR SHORTAGE

Intelligent Participation in Public Affairs Most Important; American System of Government Must Stand, He Says

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—An appeal to the women of America to exercise fully their newly-gained right of suffrage in the November elections was made by President Coolidge in an address tonight before the thirty-third continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The president combined with this appeal a warning against departure "in this country's troubled period" from the American system of government providing for co-ordinate legislative, executive and judicial authority and for government by the majority. He made no direct reference, however, to the recent clashes between the executive and legislative departments nor did he mention specifically recent combinations of the democratic minority with insurgent republicans to override the republican majority in congress.

Stresses Equality.

The American people, the president declared, may well be summoned "to the preservation, the guardianship, and the gradual perfection of this system" of government which assures the people "equality against the tyranny of any despotic executive and the tyranny of any despotic legislature."

Pointing out that American women this year for the first time are able to know year in advance of the national elections that they are to have the right of the ballot, Mr. Coolidge asserted that the country wants not only the votes but the influence of its women in the coming elections.

High Purpose Needed.

"Every voter ought not merely to vote, but to vote under the inspiration of a high purpose to serve the nation," he continued. "It has been calculated that in most elections only half of those entitled to vote actually exercised their franchise. What is worse, a considerable part of those who neglect to vote do it because of a curious assumption of superiority to this elementary sovereignty of the citizen. They presume to be rather too good, too exclusive, to soil their hands with the work of politics. Such an attitude can not too vigorously be condemned. Popular government is facing one of the difficult phases of the perpetual trial to which it always has been and always will be subjected. It needs the support of every element of patriotism, intelligence and capacity that can be summoned.

Cites Obligations

"I suppose even among the Daughters of the American Revolution there are some women who sincerely feel that it is unbecoming of their sex to take an active part in politics. It is a little difficult to comprehend how such an attitude could be maintained by any woman eligible to such a society as this, (Continued on Page 4, Col. 3)

Reports Feature Opening Day of D. A. R. Congress

More Than 2,000 Delegates Representing Every State on Hand; Society Growing at Rate of 1,000 a Month

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The thirty-third continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution opened at the Continental Hotel here today for a week's session. Delegates from every state, numbering more than 2,000, heard the annual message of the president-general, Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, and reports of its officers during the day. Tonight they were addressed by President Coolidge, French Ambassador Jules Cambon, and the British Ambassador, Sir Esmé Howard. Tomorrow's sessions will be given over to reports to committees and meetings of state delegations.

The president-general in her annual message urged women to exercise their right to franchise, planned for straight law enforcement and warned against continued disregard for governmental authority. In her annual report Mrs. Cook stated the growth of the society had been at the rate of almost 1,000 a month during the last year. Steps for expediting action upon applications were taken, she said.

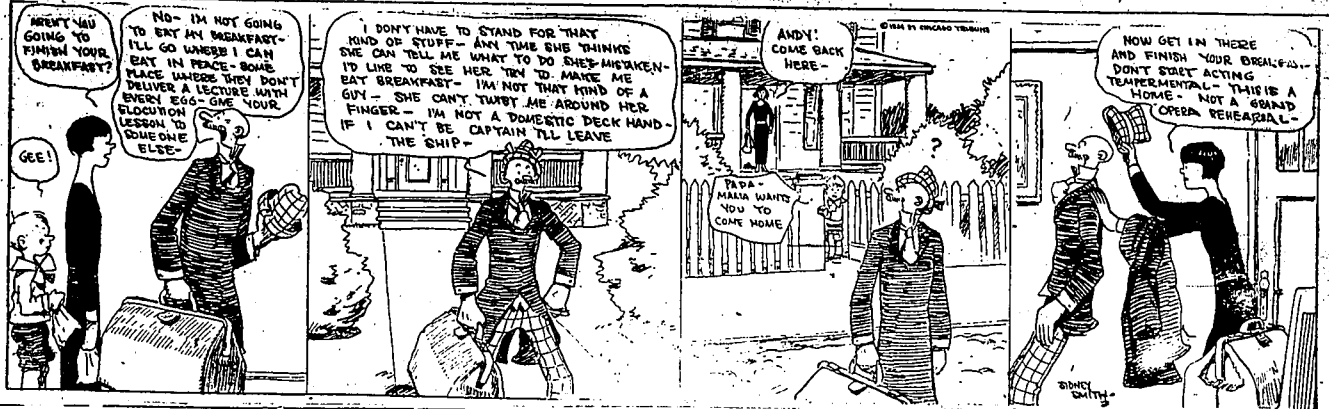

Funds for the erection of the pilgrims' mothers' memorial fountain at Plymouth, Mass., have been raised, she reported, and the work will be started as soon as the plans are completed.

THE GUMPS—HIS MASTER'S VOICE

MEMORIAL WILL CARRY NAMES OF WORLD WAR DEAD

At Least 500 Idaho Men Paid Highest Price in Late Conflict; Names to Be Placed on Tablet at New Armory

MOSCOW, Idaho, April 14.—(Special to The News).—At least 500 Idaho soldiers, sailors, and marines lost their lives in the world war, according to Paul Davis, department commander of the American Legion, and director of the Idaho memorial building project at a recent meeting of the board of directors for the memorial.

"This number," said Mr. Davis, "is based upon a list supplied legion headquarters by the war department. Every effort, however, will be made to verify this list before the names of Idaho's dead are graven upon the bronze tablets that will line the 'Hall of Memories' in the memorial building." In gathering and verifying this list, said Mr. Davis, the co-operation of every community and organization in Idaho will be requested.

Offer to Help. The roll of county chairmen to head the Idaho memorial building project is almost complete, and will be announced within the next two weeks. "Offers of co-operation and support are coming from every quarter of the state," said Mr. Davis, in his report to the board.

Board members present at this meeting were Robert Leeper, Lewiston, president; Paul Davis, Boise, director; George Horton, Moscow, secretary; Colonel L. V. F. Caldwell, Payette, War Army, Coeur d'Alene, and Dr. Harry Elmhous, Moscow. Conferences were held with alumni representatives and with the undergraduate committee headed by Ted Turner of Caldwell.

The A. E. F. club, an undergraduate organization of ex-servicemen who fought overseas, will co-operate with Colonel Patch in an effort to secure suitable private collections of war relics will be turned over by owners to the state whenever suitable quarters for them are available in a memorial building.

The board adjourned and will meet again in May to present completed plans to the board of regents of the university, upon whose grounds it is proposed to build the memorial.

POULTRY TRAIN IS SCHEDULED TO TOUR IDAHO

First Project of Its Kind Is Planned by Railroad and State University; Will Be in Twin Falls on June 6

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, April 14 (Special to The News).—

Forty towns will be visited on the 10-day trip of a Union Pacific and University of Idaho special poultry train through South Idaho, probably the first of its kind to be run for demonstration and information purposes in the United States.

It will start from Boise June 2, according to an announcement by Dean E. J. Iddings, head of the Idaho college of agriculture. Demonstrations, exhibits and talks for people interested in poultry and the poultry industry will make up the program in each town.

The train will be in Twin Falls from 2:30 p. m. until 5:30 p. m., Friday, June 6. Arrangements in Twin Falls will be in charge of a committee composed of Charles F. Dwight, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and County Agent E. E. Broadard.

It reaches Hansen at 11:30 a. m. and stops until 2:00 p. m. of that day. County Agent Broadard and Rev. Tom Blodgett will be in charge.

The train will leave Boise Monday, June 2, and will stop in Nampa, Caldwell, Parma, Weiser, Ontario, Payette, Emmett, Mountain Home, Glenns Ferry, Shoshone, Rupert, Eden, Jerome, Wendell, Burley, Hansen, Twin Falls, Bull, American Falls, Postville, Blackfoot, Aberdeen, Mackay, Arco, Moreland, Idaho Falls, Roberts, Rigby, Rexburg, St. Anthony, Victor, Driggs, Ashton, Ririe, Paris, Glacie, McCammon and Downey, completing the itinerary Thursday evening, June 12.

Carries Model Plant A flat car carrying numerous model poultry houses and a stripped car containing both demonstrating the proper breeding, culling and feeding of poultry will form part of this train, which is being furnished by the Union Pacific Railway company. The university and its extension division have been invited to prepare the whole program, which will aim to encourage better methods of poultry producing and marketing, to explain the place of poultry in diversified farming, and to show the importance and possibilities of the industry to the Idaho farmer.

Moore to Speak

Speakers who will give the actual demonstrations during the trip are Prentiss Moore, poultry expert of the extension division, and R. T. Parkhurst, head of the poultry department of the college of agriculture. C. C. Gignoux, agricultural agent for the Union Pacific, and Dean E. J. Iddings will probably accompany the train.

Provisions will be made to allow the townspeople at each stop to enter the train and carefully inspect the model poultry houses and the demonstration booths. Explanations will be made and questions answered by the poultry experts in charge.

Show Modern Breeders

On the flat car will be models to scale of the "half-monitor" laying house, two-room brooding house, a "half-monitor" colony house, and the "Idaho" open colony house. These houses will be built and donated by the Boise-Payette Lumber company, who will also send a man with the train to explain the construction work.

The stripped car will contain seven booths facing an aisle down one side of the car. The first booth will show poliolegged breeding with single-comb white leghorns from the flock of R. S. L. Larsen of Weiser. The second will demonstrate line breeding by selection with birds from the E. D. Ford flock at Weiser. The third booth will contain four birds—two culls and two high producers—and charts showing the difference between the two kinds of poultry.

Demonstrate Brooding

The fourth booth is to demonstrate brooding, and will contain baby chicks in a colostate brooder. Charts on proper management will be displayed. The fifth booth will give different feeding combinations. Here the results of the experimental feeding work done at the extension experiment station will be shown on charts and with jars of actual feeding combinations. Marketing of eggs will be the subject handled in the sixth booth, which will be prepared by the Idaho-Oregon Producers association of Caldwell. Idaho turkeys donated by the Idaho Turkey Breeders' association will be shown in the last booth.

Carries Big Sign

The whole car will be placarded with University of Idaho building and campus pictures, and on each side of the whole train will be placed a large banner with the words: "Union Pacific University of Idaho Poultry Specialist."

Much of the work in arranging for the train and its program has been done through the efforts of Joel L. Priest of Boise, general agent for the Union Pacific in Idaho, and Prentiss Moore, university extension poultry specialist.

MINOR CHANGES MADE IN CODE FOR BASKETBALL

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Minor changes in the basketball playing code to ensure a greater uniformity in interpretation and to eliminate fouling were made yesterday by the joint basketball rules committee representing the A. A. U., the international N. C. A. A. and the national collegiate athletic association. While the changes will not materially affect the style of the amateur game as it is now played by the amateurs, they tend to clarify the code by shifting the burden of proof to the defense instead of the offense, thereby giving officials a tangible basis for a decision instead of making them a matter of judgment.

SAYS PLANNING FOR TOURISTS NOT GOESSWORK

Landscape Architect Here to Study Scenic Values of Shoshone Falls District; Stresses Need of Business Methods

Planning for tourists and recreation service is past the stage where it is a matter of good guessing as to what is appropriate, according to Arthur H. Carhart, of McCarty, Gulley and Carhart, landscape architects and city planners of Denver. Mr. Carhart is spending the week in Twin Falls, having been sent here by E. J. Adams of Gimha, to study the recreation values which center around Shoshone falls.

"The old order of things in tourist developments was to copy something seen elsewhere," Mr. Carhart declares. "It was a sort of a gamble as to whether the man who started a project of the kind hit the right thing or missed it. Now the tourist business is a business and not in the class of prospecting. Plans for a development to serve recreation demands can be as definitely worked out as plans for a factory."

Caution Important. "Taking known standards of tourist attractions such as Estes park, Pike's peak and similar sections, a general standard may be established on which any scenic feature can be measured. Often features which are not of national importance are loomed by local boosters in an effort to make them a factor in the entire country. Later these men find that they have tried to produce nation-wide recreation from a recreation producing plant which is adapted to serve only local needs. This mistake is made time and again, often at a small cost to the proponents. The first step is systematic planning is to ascertain the relative value of the scenic unit which has to be planned. That is, is it of national importance, is it of state-wide appeal, or should it be developed to meet local demands only?"

Development. "With this determined the next step is to decide on appropriate development. If a man had a shoe factory and tried to produce pitchforks everywhere, he would be a little crazy. But the fellow who has an ideal place for a dude ranch with horseback and other ranch activities predominating, often tries to produce golf, tennis, bridge and a lot of other recreation services which are not fitting at all."

"With the appraisal and classification determined one can then block out a scheme of development of the values to produce the maximum of recreation for which the area is suited. Occasionally these plans are bound to go wrong. Any human-made plan will go wrong occasionally. But an overwhelming number of planned projects to serve recreation and tourist use will succeed. Many unplanned projects are hard keeping about of the man with a mortgage and wondering why the tourist trade is not better."

Real Business. "The tourist business is today a real business. It is past the speculative stage. And if anyone is going to make a real success of it he must treat it as a business. There are definite tourist markets. One is a same service, another plan ranching; pack trips are another, mountain climbing is still another, and so on through the list of real outdoor recreational activities. Golf, tennis and the like are urban pastimes and belong in the city, not in the scenic class."

"The old system of handling recreation service was to offer a little of everything. Golf, horseback, bridge, fishing, tennis, rodeos, and every other kind of activity the resort keeper might think of were all mixed together. If you come to that resort for one specific activity you have to sort it out of all the rest."

Spotting Needed. "The new system is to offer 'department store' service in dude wrangling. It means specializing to meet a certain recreation market. It holds the same relation to the old kind of resort service that the department store does to the rural general store with a little of everything and not much of anything worth while to offer. Such highly organized service means satisfied customers and those who do not want that sort of recreation are going to go some other place which does offer it."

Shoshone falls and the canyon has potential recreational values. Just what magnitude and what value it is not prepared to say. For planning such as we expect to do for Mr. Adams is not a matter of opinion or guessing, but is rather a matter of analysis, of study and of rational, business-like planning. I may not reach a final decision on some points regarding a recreation scheme until I get far enough away from the surroundings to get a better perspective than is possible when one is working right on the ground. If I outlined any scheme now, it would be a guess, adding nothing to what I feel certain there are some values there which may be made to serve recreation use. Study will develop it, whether or not first impressions stick. But I am not prepared now to even suggest these first definite impressions."

"Some features will have to be taken into consideration along with the actual site of the falls. The city of Twin Falls will get the benefit of some of these suggestions if Mr. Adams sees fit to make public our report. It's a pretty big sort of a move for a man to have such a study made on his own initiative when it is going to benefit the whole community. I'm glad he called us in. The problem is going to be a mighty interesting one and we are going to give it just as systematic an analysis and sound suggestions for development as possible."

BONUS MEASURE GIVEN PRIORITY

Soldier Compensation Gets Right of Way Over Program for Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The soldier bonus bill won the right of way over the tax measure in the senate by vote today of the finance committee and will be brought up for consideration before the end of the week.

Senator James McPherson, New Mexico, joined republicans in approving such a program, while other democrats did not vote. Chairman Smoot said. Senator Curtis, Kansas, republican member of the committee, will report the bill formally to the senate tomorrow and there were indications tonight that the legislative calendar would be cleared for it by Wednesday or Thursday.

Parity of the bonus bill has been freely predicted even by opponents, and Chairman Smoot expressed the opinion today that it would be disposed of by early next week. The revenue bill, he said, would be taken up immediately thereafter.

Wants Cash Payment. The main fight on the bonus measure will be on the proposal of Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking minority member of the finance committee to incorporate an option for full cash payments. The bill as agreed to by the finance committee is practically the same as approved by the house and its passage in this form would insure a speedy report from conference to the president.

This bill provides for 20-year endowment life insurance policies and cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service compensation. Some republicans lead have indicated the belief that in this form it would pass both houses over the veto of President Coolidge, who has declared opposition to a soldier bonus.

Democrats of the committee indicated today that no determined effort would be made to upset the program for consideration of the bonus bill ahead of the tax measure.

The scene shows a big touring car plunging over a cliff, being smashed to bits on the rocks below. When rescuers reached the spot they found among the wreckage a beautiful girl, who was identified as the most popular actress on Broadway. It was not until many years later that it was discovered that the actress was alive, and that the victim of the accident was her understudy.

"Chastity" is from the famous novel by Ernest Pascal, and was directed by Victor Schertzinger for Producer B. P. Schulberg. In the cast are J. Gunnis Davis, J. Gordon Russell, Huntley Gordon, Frederick Truesell and Edythe Chapman.

PHOTOPLAY CREATED TO MAKE PUBLIC THINK

"Unless immediate action is taken by those empowered by law to take such action, no child will be safe from the ravages of the dope peddler," says Mrs. Wallace Reid in a recent interview on the subject of the drug evil which furnishes the basis for "Human Wreckage," which is at the Rialto today.

"Emboldened by the protection they have enjoyed from unscrupulous politicians these brats of prey are venturing to the very school house itself. The school house, pride of our vaunted civilization, at the mercy of dope vendors—imagine that, and then ask yourself what you are going to do to assist in this world-wide movement to check the spread of addiction."

"We undertook the production of 'Human Wreckage' for one great purpose—to make the people think."

CITIZENS ARE URGED TO HELP ENFORCE RULES

Recent Embargo Against Products from California Must Have Support and Assistance of Everybody

BOISE, April 14.—(Special to The News)—Idaho is in the shadow of a great menace, that of the hoof and mouth disease. This epidemic has spread over several sections of California and has caused losses in livestock conservatively estimated at $1,500,000. Identities and other losses will bring the total losses of this disease in that state before it can possibly be eradicated to at least $5,000,000. The Idaho state department of agriculture has taken a firm stand against the shipment of all livestock and agricultural products from California into Idaho, as Commissioner Marcus A. Means and Dr. Wendell R. Smith, director of animal industry, are keenly alive to the situation which imperils the livestock industry of this state.

Sheep men state that there are $25,000,000 worth of lambs and wool in Idaho, besides hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of cattle and hogs. The outbreak of this disease in Idaho with an immediate quarantine against it would be a blow which would seriously affect every person in the state. Idaho must depend on outside markets for its livestock and in the emergency of a quarantine could not slaughter its own stock and take care of it in the limited packing houses of the state. Governor C. C. Moore realizes the danger of the situation and has approved the most rigid quarantine. Doctor Smith, who is directing the enforcement of the quarantine, passed through a hoof and mouth disease epidemic which swept over Virginia a few years ago and he is especially qualified to handle this work. He is making every effort toward a most strict enforcement of the new quarantine order.

Revised Quarantine Issued.

The Idaho state department of agriculture has issued a revised quarantine on all shipments from California of fresh fruits, vegetables and all raw farm products, including trees, shrubs, vines, plants, cuttings, bulbs, scions, seeds, roots, tubers, flowers or green-house plants and all kinds of poultry, day-old chicks, pet stock, bees and bee supplies. All livestock and hay and grain are refused entrance under previous order.

The citizens of the state are urged for the common good to assist in the enforcement of this necessary embargo. Incoming shipments of stock should be reported to officials and all recent packing on California products should be burned. "Better be safe than sorry."

Following is the text of the official foot and mouth disease quarantine against California promulgated by M. A. Means, commissioner of the Idaho department of agriculture, and Dr. Wendell R. Smith, director of the state bureau of animal industry:

HARRIS SCORES G. O. P. REGIME

Speaker at Meeting of Jefferson Club Severely Criticizes Republican Party

Republican administration of the national government, as seen in the measured denunciation at the hands of Charles H. Harris of Pocatello, addressing an assemblage of about 100 persons at an open meeting of the Jefferson club held Monday evening in the Parish hall here in observance of the anniversary of Thomas Jefferson's birthday. The speaker referred incidentally to Jefferson to contrast "crimes" of the present administration with Jeffersonian ideals.

Mr. Harris spoke here in the absence of C. Ben Ross, Pocatello's mayor, who was unable to attend. He was introduced by W. Orr Chapman, chairman, as a former candidate for congress from the state of Washington and manager of the campaign of Senator Bill from that state two years ago.

He referred to President Coolidge's cabinet as a "what-not," and caustically criticized each member, declaring that Secretary Hoover is "more of an Englishman than an American" and that H. M. Daugherty, former attorney general, was a "political pirate" who hoisted the jolly Roger on the ship of state. He characterized as a "corrupt decision" the supreme court's decision declaring taxation of stock dividends unconstitutional. He referred to percentage of increased profits earned by "protected industries" in connection with an arrangement of the "infamous tariff act of 1922."

An appreciation of the life and work of Jefferson was the contribution made to the program by Mrs. C. M. Hecker of Dulh, and Mrs. James B. Whelan of Twin Falls told of a recent meeting of democrats in Salt Lake which she attended.

The musical program included vocal numbers by Mrs. I. H. Masters and piano solos by Mrs. A. Gilbert. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by members of the Democratic Women's club.

Out-of-town visitors at the meeting included Mrs. S. Grover Rich of Burley, candidate for delegate to the democratic national convention in New York; L. Williams of Boise, former collector of internal revenue, and G. L. Tyler of Pocatello.

Veterans' Committee Is Appointed to Obtain Two Big G. P. F.'s for This State; Recall Success of 146th

MOSCOW, Idaho, April 14.—(Special to The News)—A veterans' committee, composed of Colonel E. R. Christman, commandant of cadets, chairman; V. R. Kirkman, assistant professor of geology; E. A. Eastman, Lewiston; "Lefty" Marineau, Coeur d'Alene; R. E. Beverly, Nampa; Don Fisher, Grangeville, and "Bing" Rowe, Boise, has been appointed to cooperate with Colonel L. V. Hatch of Payette, in the matter of securing from the war department two of the great G. P. F. guns which were used in action by the 146th field artillery overseas, and which, if obtained will be placed on the campus in front of the Idaho war memorial building proposed for erection at the University of Idaho.

The project was taken up at the suggestion of Colonel Hatch, who commanded the 146th field artillery during the major portion of its operations on the western front from July, 1918, to the armistice. Colonel Hatch in person will negotiate with the war department for the guns, while the details of transportation and installation on the Idaho campus will be arranged by the committee at the university.

Invented During the War.
These guns, if secured, will be by far the most impressive war relics ever brought into the state of Idaho. The G. P. F., or "great power 155mm," was invented and manufactured by the French during the great war. It was a six-inch rifle, similar in design to the famous French 75mm, and in reality was intended to be a giant 155mm, with increased range and explosive power. Its manufacture dated only from July, 1917, and the 146th and 148th field artillery regiments, composing the 66th field army brigade, were the second groups of American troops to whom the new guns were given, the first group having been recipients of the coast artillery corps.

Range Was Ten Miles.
In the hands of the American troops the great rifle more than fulfilled the expectations of its inventor. Weighing in traveling position 14 tons, mounted on rubber-tired wheels, drawn by tractors along the roads at 12 kilometers an hour, and firing 98-pound projectiles six inches in diameter at an accurate range of 10 miles, these 21-foot tubes gave the Germans a convincing argument when they spoke.

The official manner in which they were handled by the western American artillerymen, accustomed before that time to no more high powered guns than Springfield rifles, was a source of constant wonder and astonishment to the experienced French artillery specialists. The western troops guided the destinies of 48 of these long range artillery pieces through the offensives from the Alamo-Marne to the last day of the Meuse-Argonne.

Used by Idaho Men.
It is considered peculiarly fitting that at least two or three of these big guns find their last resting place on Idaho soil, for the 146th field artillery was the first battalion of the old Second Idaho infantry, which left Idaho in 1917 as a unit of the 41st (Sunset) Division. If the project for obtaining them is successful, it is planned to install them on the campus of the university, with appropriate ceremonies which will be in charge of world war veterans. Their location at the University of Idaho will add a great deal to the significance of the war memorial building which it proposed for erection by the citizens of the state.

GERMAN CAPITAL

A letter accompanying the report of his committee of experts to the reparations commission, Chairman Dawes makes this luminous suggestion:

"That Germany might grant an annuity for a limited time, who violated German law in sending it abroad, and that special terms be offered for subscriptions to government loans which are made in foreign currencies."

This touches the root of the matter. The basic reason for the economic difficulties hindering German reparation payments has been the flight of German capital. It is estimated that as much as two billion dollars belonging to wealthy Germans has sought refuge in Switzerland, Holland, America and other neutral countries, to avoid heavy taxation at home. The resulting lack of capital has starved German industry at the same time that it lowered German tax resources.

It is only right that such capital should be returned to Germany and taxed, as the report provides, at no less a rate than property in allied countries. German capitalists who will not share the burden deserve the contempt of their fellow-countrymen even more than of the outer world.

MUSCLE SHOALS HEREAFTER

It is said that there is more power in Muscle Shoals than in Niagara Falls. With the greatly improved methods of power transmission now available, and improving right along, that power might be made available soon throughout the South. It might furnish all the light and power needed in several southern states for many years to come.

There is a growing feeling that it might be a mistake to turn over such an enormous power to one man or one business concern for so long a period as one hundred years. This feeling accounts for the hesitation shown by Congress in giving Henry Ford the lease he asks for.

It may be granted that Mr. Ford is an honest man and an excellent business man, and means to handle this great national resource in the interest of the nation. It may be granted that the terms he offers are as good as the government can obtain at present, though the terms and safeguards seem rather vague. Yet recent experience with oil leases suggests caution in the allocation of public resources, even though the new custodian be a Henry Ford.

A century is a long time. Half a century, the limit of power leases under the present law, is a long time.
Though Mr. Ford may be the ideal master and guardian of Muscle Shoals, in the nature of things he cannot remain in charge of the project for even as much as a quarter of a century. If he leaves, then, is necessary, why need it be so long?

THE MOST IMPORTANT PEOPLE

Where does supreme power lie today? With school teachers, says H.
G. Wells. But do they realize it?
They are, as a class, "shy and retiring souls." In an address to teachers in London, Mr. Wells maintains that they ought to be arrogant and aggressive, and take hold of the world, because they are the most important people on earth.

Some of those listening pedagogues laughed. But Mr. Wells did not laugh.
"I want to teach shamelessness to school teachers," he declared. "I want to teach them arrogance and aggressiveness." He insists that such

THE FORUM

AS OTHERS SEE US

Editor Twin Falls News.

Dear Sir: Now that we are about to go over the top with our railroad drive, would it not be well for Twin Falls people to turn their attention to lesser, but by no means trivial, matters of interest to the community?

In a few weeks tourists over the Old Oregon Trail will be passing through our city; some perhaps not even stopping over for a casual glance, a birdseye view, which will leave an impression for good or ill to the future of Twin Falls. In view of this fact, would it not be wise for us to look about and determine just what that impression will be; put ourselves in their places and "see ourselves as others see us?" Let us, for instance, ride down Main street, which route we have so often traversed that objects have familiar grown, but which route drivers, but once. Might it not be possible that we have overlooked a few empty buildings filled with debris left by some tenant recently moved, perhaps made less visible by discarded signs hanging thereon? Have we any doorways cluttered with papers, signs, etc.? How about the empty lots along the "line of march," and the shadows which a small expan-diture in paint would so greatly improve? These things and others too numerous to mention will all leave their impression on our visitors, as those who have made like trips through towns on route will readily attest. We have so many places of business of which any city might be proud and these will in a measure help to offset others which have been neglected; but we refer now to improvements which may be made with little, if any, expense.

It is to be regretted that so few of our citizens see the residence portion of Twin Falls, which would be a credit to cities many years our senior.
Some effort should be made to induce them to drive about and thus have a better idea of our advantages as a home town. Here, however, much in the way of improvement might be made. In too many instances have yards and alleys been neglected, too many small outbuildings and other out-croppings erected without an introduction to a cent of paint, and too many unsightly chicken-coops abound.

Some weeks ago Boise devoted a week to the business of cleaning up.
Why not Twin Falls? Not alone a week, but an entire summer, that our city may benefit thereby. Let us all join forces; sweep out our own doorways, so that Twin Falls may be known as the place where the Gold Dust twins have left their imprint.

qualities belong by right to the powerless to the soldiers and militaristic statesmen.

Human life has to be reconstructed, and when it is, school teachers will be the very soul and center of it, he says. Only by and through heroic teachers can there be any escape from the "distressful and unsatisfactory life that mankind lives today."

Many Americans may not regard this life as so "distressful and unsatisfactory," and think that their teachers are doing well enough as matters stand. But as regards the civilized world in general, the British author is probably right. And even here in America, where teachers occupy a most honorable and influential position that they do in many other lands, they are far from being rated at their worth—or rating themselves at their true worth. They need to hold their heads higher, trust more to their own judgment, insist on more freedom and teach with more power.

Olders of Airy Times

Short gliders in the air were made as early as the reign of King Harold of England by a monk named Eilmer, who, after several successful flights, jumped from a lofty tower with wings strapped to his body. He glided for a furlong or more, when, striking a cross air current, or "air pocket," he fell to the ground, breaking both legs.
He attributed the accident to his neglect to fit on a tail.

THE WEATHER MAN'S JOKE

BY DADDY

Jack and Janet and the birds plan a spring picnic in the woods.
Jonathan Changeable, the Weather Man, chuckles over their plans and when they awaken in the morning they find the ground covered with snow.

CHAPTER II.

Laugh or Frown?

WHITE snow covered the grass which the day before had been bright green. Snow bowed down the boughs of the trees, clinging heavily to the tender new leaves. Gladness spring had changed over night to dreary winter.

Jack and Janet frowned as they gazed out at the falling flakes. Their plans for a picnic in the woods seemed spoiled.

The birds, shivering in the trees, had no songs today. They chirped dully as they complained about the weather.
"I wish we had stayed in the sunny south," peeped Brown Thrush. "It is warm down there."

"Let us go back," suggested Blue Bird.

"Cheer! Cheer! Let us go back south," chattered all the other birds, agreeing with him. But no one started. They seemed too cold and miserable to set forth on such a long journey.

One cheerful face could be seen—only one cheerful face could be seen—
Jonathan Changeable, the Weather Man, was chuckling to himself. "What a joke!" he said. "What a joke!
Laugh or frown, what a joke!"

And shaking with glee, the Weather Man skipped gaily away.

Jack looked at Janet and Janet looked at Jack. Both were frowning. Then suddenly Janet's face crinkled up. She began to giggle. And at the same instant Jack's face wrinkled up and he began to chuckle. Soon they were both laughing.

"It is sort of a joke to have spring turn suddenly into winter just when we were planning a picnic," said Janet.

"Don't the birds look surprised and glad?" smirked Jack. They never expected the jolly old Weather Man to play such a trick on them. Let us cheer them up."

Jack and Janet put on their winter wraps and went out of doors.
"Ha! Ha! Ha!" they laughed at the shivering birds. "This snow is a

Wasted Words

Johnston missed his train the other evening, so he went to have his hair cut. When he entered the barber's shop he was met by the barber's framed of art.

"It is without conversation," he growled, as he took his place in the chair. "Don't want any hair restorer, scalp invigorator, dandruff eradicant,
face lotion, pomade or anything else.
I've read about the New-Ford hair preparation and it interests me in boxing, racing or football. As regards the weather—"

Here a customer nudged Johnston's elbow.

"You'll have to write it down on his slate, mister," he said. "If you want to tell him anything, it's his dear and dumb."—Tuesdays Journal.

King George Saves Time

King George's estate at Sandringham is the one spot in England where daylight saving is used the year around. It means to the king more than fifty years. Turning all this time the clocks have been kept half an hour ahead of Greenwich time, and the reason was to insure punctuality. King Edward, who had the reputation of never being late, used to tea. Introduced the idea when he was more than fifty years old. It was soon taken up by the nobles who lived in the community.

Hard Boiled

The waitress, very much out of sorts, sailed lightly up to the table at which sat the grouchy customer.
She stamped down the cutlery, snatched a napkin from a pile and tossed it in front of him.

Then, striking a furious pose, she glared at him.

"Whatabout want?" she snapped.
"Couple of eggs," growled the diner.
"How ya want 'em?"

"Just like you are."—Notre Dame Juggler.

Watchful Idling

The world treats the momentous business of spooning as a joke.
"My little man," a deacon said to a small boy, "have you no better way of spending this holy Sabbath afternoon than idling away your time on your front yard?"

The little man exploded. "There's a feller laid spoonin' with my sister, and she's payin' me a nickel an hour to watch out for pop and mom."

An Easy One

"That artist daubing his brush upon his palette reminds me of two women
I know," said a man.
"How so?"
"He's mixing paint."

A Duplicate

A citizen was seen standing in a dejected attitude before a lamp post.
"Well, Martin," he mumbled, "I know I'm drunk. Why don't you say something?"—Hushonville Hingle.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!"

fine joke on you. Why don't you laugh and be merry over it?" But the birds looked far from being in a laughing or merry mood.

"Say! Say! How can we be gay when the snow has spoiled our play?"
grumbled Blue Day.

"We can't have our picnic now," complained Brown Thrush. "The mean old Weather Man's jokes has ruined it all."

"Ha! Ha! Ha! These who laugh with the Weather Man are happier than those who frown at him," said Janet, repeating the Weather Man's own words. "We will have a picnic on the snow. That will be something new for you birds that go south each year."

"And we will start the picnic with a surprise for you," cried Jack. "Guess what it is." He and Janet held up paper scraps, which they had kept behind their backs.

The birds shivered, and as they shivered they shook their heads. "We are too cold to guess," they chirped through chattering beaks. "We are too cold and hungry."

"Ha! Ha! Ha! We have toasted bread crumbs," laughed Jack and Janet together. "We will start our winter picnic with a fine breakfast."

At that the birds perked up quickly.
They quit their shivering, and as Jack and Janet scattered the warm bread crumbs, they darted from the trees and began busily to pick them up.

The toasted bread crumbs and the flying about seemed to warm up the birds.
They quit frowning; they grinned and then they began to laugh.

Jack smiled at Janet. The Weather
Man's words seemed to be true.

(The fun the children and birds have in the snow picnic will be told tomorrow.)

Bach Showed the Way

to Pure Modern Music

The fountain source of all was,
of course, Bach. When Bach had shown the way, there was a surge and uprush of pure music in central Europe to which nothing in the history of the art can be compared, unless it be the building of the French cathedrals. It was as if a vast gold mine had been discovered, opening out to those happy mortals who had first sight of entry long galleries of metal, precious and pure; nor did they waste their time in wondering what their invention dictated. And what they dictated was, broadly speaking, all good. Haydn's symphonies, Schütz's songs, remain.
Countless, they still have meaning for us—more meaning than most of the music of the day. The world had not changed, but the human mind had changed, and it meant to appreciate it newly, and the whole story of creation, all the sumptuous diversities of human life, all the accumulated experience of the ages, was virgin soil, a child's garden of rich and freshness (inexhaustible)—that's De-Smet's secret.

Myth of the Amazons

Older Than Greek Fable

The Amazons are best known from Greek mythology. The origin of the myth, however, is said to antedate even the heroic age of Greek fable and to come from Asia Minor.

Far back in antiquity these female warriors are said to have come from the shores of the Caspian sea and, conquering Asia Minor, to have built the cities of Ephesus, Smyrna, Myrina and Kyme, says the Detroit News.

The worship of their goddess, a sort of "war bee," was carried on with barbaric ceremonies, even to the time of authentic Greek history.

Always known as "Ma," this arch priestess was said to be served by 6,000 minor priestesses and by eunuchs who came from the Amazon, a sort of South America they encountered on every hand, from the Gulf of Mexico to Paraguay, an Indian legend of a re-douable tribe of female warriors who had their home somewhere along the banks of the river of the Amazon, who now been their names no doubt given them by the European settlers, who were familiar with the Amazons of ancient fable.

CHAPTER XXVII

Love and Treason.

When Jack and Solomon returned to headquarters, Arnold and his wife were settled in a comfortable house overlooking the river. Colonel Irons made his home in a small house in the chief complimented him and invited the young man to make a tour of the camp in his company. They mounted their horses and rode away together.

"I learn that General Arnold is to be in command here," Jack remarked soon after the ride began.

"I have not yet announced my intention," said Washington. "Who told you?"

"A man of the name of Henry Thornhill."

"I do not know him but he is curiously well informed. Arnold is an able officer. We have many like him. He is needed here for I have to go on a long trip to eastern Connecticut to confer with Rochambeau. In the event of some unforeseen crisis Arnold would know what to do."

Then Jack spoke out: "General, I ought to have reported to you the exact words of Governor Reed. They were severe, perhaps, even unjust. I have not repeated them to any one.
But now I think you should know their full content and judge of them in your own way. The governor insists that Arnold is bad at heart—that he will sell his master for thirty pieces of silver."

Washington made no reply, for a moment, and then his words seemed to have no necessary relation to those of Jack Irons.

"General Arnold has been badly cut up in many battles," said he. "I wish him to be relieved of all trying details.
You are an able and brave man. I shall thank you for your help. He has the rank of brigadier general. He needs rest and will concern himself little with the daily routine. In my absence, you will be the superintendent of the camp, and subject to orders I shall leave with you. Colonel Binkus will be your helper. I hope that you may be able to keep yourself on friendly terms with the general."

Jack reported to the commander in chief the warning of Thornhill, but the former made light of it.

"The air is full of evil gossip," he said. "Do not let it trouble you."

When they rode up to headquarters Arnold was there. To Jack's surprise the major general greeted him with friendly words, saying:

"I hope to know you better for I have heard much of your courage and fighting quality."

On the third of August—the precise date named by Henry Thornhill—Arnold took leave of his camp and departed from his post. The major general rode with Washington every day until, on the fourteenth of September, the latter set out with three aides and Colonel Binkus on his trip to Connecticut. Solomon rode to the party for two days and then returned. Thornhill's aide left Jack work of his office to Jack and gave him time to the enjoyment of the company of his wife and a leisure that suffered little interruption. For him, grim-visaged war had smoothed his wrinkled front. Like Richard he had been a soldier, but he was a man. The day of Washington's departure, Mr.
Arnold invited Jack to dinner.

The young man felt bound to accept this opportunity for more friendly relations.

Mrs. Arnold was a handsome, vivacious, blonde young woman of thirty.
The officer speaks in a letter of her lively talk and winning smiles and seldom figures well fitted with a costume that revealed him of the court ladies in France.

"What a contrast to the worn, patched uniforms to be seen in that camp!" he added.

Soon after the dinner began, Mrs.
Arnold said to the young man, "We have heard of your romance. Colonel and Mrs. Hare and their daughter spent a week in our home in Philadelphia on their first trip to the colonies. Later Mrs. Hare wrote to my mother of their terrible adventure in the great north bush and spoke of Margaret's attachment for the handsome boy who had helped to rescue them.
So I have some right to be interested in you. I happen to know a detail in your story which may be new to you.
Miss Hare is now with her father in New York."

"In New York?"

"Indeed! In New York! We heard in Philadelphia that she and her mother had sailed with Sir Roger Wulfe to March. How jolly it would be for the general and I could bring you together and have a wedding at headquarters!"

"I could think of no greater happiness."

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH McKAY

My husband never invites me to lunch with him when he knows I'm down town at noon.

Mary's the time I've phoned and let him know that I was somewhere within easy walking distance of his office and a good restaurant—and hungry, too.

But never once has that information stirred his entertaining instinct.

"So you're going to stay downtown this noon, are you?" he replies over the phone. "Well, now, be sure to go somewhere and get yourself a good lunch, won't you?"

And when I ask him where he thinks he'll go to eat, he always says something like this:

"You see, dear, Jack Nelson and one of his friends and I are going to have lunch together about 1. Business, you know. I hate to do it, but a man simply has to give up his lunch hours to his work these days."

And then, I let, he and his hard-working friends go and sit around a restaurant table for an hour and a half —talking about the opening of the baseball season and the prospects of another Dempsey-Firpo fight!

Tomorrow: "My wife knows some terrible ways to cure colds."

ness save that of seeing the end of the war," Jack answered.

"The war? That is a little matter.
I want to see a proper end to this love story."

She laughed and ran to the spinnet and sang "Shepherd, I Have Lost My Love."

Jack and Solomon exercised unusual care in guarding the camp and organizing for defense in case of attack.
It was soon after Washington's departure that Arnold went away on the road to the South. Solomon followed, keeping out of his field of vision. The general returned two days later. Solomon came into Jack's lab about midnight of the day of Arnold's return with important news.

Jack was at his desk studying a map of the highlands. The camp was in a "V" shaped valley. Jack's hut was the only sign of life around headquarters when Solomon, having put his horse, came to talk with his young friend. He stepped close to the desk, unwinded nervously and began his whispered report.

"Suthin' nervous be goin' on," he began. "A British ship were tyin' back the mouth of the Croton river.
Arnold went aboard. An officer got into his boat with him and they pulled over to the west shore and went into the bush. Stayed 'till mornin' night.
If 'twere honest business, why did they go off in the bush alone for a week?"

Jack shook his head.

"Soo-as I s'guess that I went to one of our batteries of 'ol' the cap'n what were on my mind."

"D—n the ol' British tub. We'll make 'er back up a little," sez he.
"She's too big anyhow."

"Then he let go a shot that tipped the water front of his bow. Say, Jack, they were some hopplin' around on the deck of the big British war ship. They hated 'er anils an' she fell away down the river a mile 'er so. The sun were set when Arnold an' the officer came out of the bush. I were a feller."

In a boat with a fish rod an' could jes-see 'em with my spy glass, the light were so dim. They stood 'tack lookin' for the ship. They couldn't see her.
My went back into the bush. It come to me when they was goin' to take the British over to the house of that ol' Tory, Reub Smith. I got that 'st' an' hid in the bushes front o' the house. Sure 'nough—that's what were done. Ar-

CITY EXPENSES POT IN BUDGET TOTAL $60,271

Commissioners Estimate Cost of Municipal Government for Coming Fiscal Year; Under Current Year's Revenue

Twin Falls municipal expenditures for the coming fiscal year, exclusive of sewerage and waterworks, which are authorized, is estimated at $60,271 in a budget adopted by the municipal commission at a regular meeting Monday evening. Cost of waterworks operation was estimated at $31,000, bringing the total estimated expenditures up to $91,271. As against this, the clerk estimated municipal revenue of the year now closing at $94,000.

The new budget provides for slightly increased expenditures in the fire, police and streets departments, the total increase, as compared with the appropriations for the current year, amounting to less than $1000. Members of the commission approved increased estimates of expenditures in these departments, principally for the purpose of increasing salaries of municipal employees occupying positions of authority and responsibility, such as chief of police, fire chief and street and waterworks superintendent.

Promises Out With Meters
It was estimated that the revenue of the waterworks department would approximate $40,000 during the coming year. In this connection, J. S. Keel, commissioner of finance, predicted that the metered water rate would not produce as much revenue as the flat rate. Decision to install a meter and charge the school district for water delivered to Elginville school would be made after Commissioner Keel advised the commission that a movement is under way to sow the premises to blue grass with view to providing a sand, requiring use of additional water. Several local organizations are sponsoring the movement, he stated.

Authorization was given by the commission on motion of R. S. All, street commissioner, for relocation of Oregon Short Line spur track in the alley at the rear of the Idaho Wholesale Grocery company warehouse on Fourth avenue south to permit travel through the alley.

Removal of 38 stumps and covering of sidewalk dealing with an irrigation ditch in the street on which the tourist park fronts was suggested to the commission by Mayor Hodgkin, and referred to the commissioners of streets and parks with directors to take such action as was deemed necessary.

Comparative Figures
In preparation of the budget for the coming year, appropriations of the current year were taken into consideration, and comparative figures as follows were compiled:

	1923	1924
Administration	$13,285	$13,250
Fire	14,571	13,266

WELL AT ROCKLAND SHOWS LITTLE EVIDENCE OF OIL

Twin Falls citizens who Sunday visited the scene of a reported important discovery of oil in the Rockland Valley Oil company's well, about 12 miles southeast of American Falls, gained little information as a result of their excursion. The well, in its present stage of development, at least, is not a "gusher," and to most of the visitors it seems to have presented the appearance of nothing more than a hole in the ground.

Some of the visitors who remained late on the ground saw a bucket brought up from the bore which contained a quantity of oil, they reported. The bucket is said to have been filled from the top of water standing 750 feet deep in the well. J. O. Noggle of Twin Falls, who has had much experience in oil well drilling, is quoted as saying that oil flow that will force oil through 750 feet of water indicates an oil well of approximately 150 barrels production.

Junior Officials To Assume Office

Plans Are Completed Here for Observance of Boy Scout Week in Twin Falls

Boy Scouts will assume administration for one day of city, county and school offices in accordance with a program for Boy Scout week in Twin Falls, April 27 to May 3, worked out Monday by a committee composed of T. M. Robertson, president of the Twin Falls Boy Scout council; Mrs. E. M. Wolfe, Mrs. L. E. Jostin, Donald McLean and Howard E. Sablin.

Assumption by the hands of the reins of government will consummate the observance of the week, which opens Sunday, April 27, when every troop will attend church services in a body, and observance of the week will be taken in conjunction with the agencies.

Arrangements for registration Monday and election Wednesday of the boy scout officials were given in charge of a committee headed by Mrs. E. M. Wolfe, who will be assisted by Camp Fire Girls serving as registrars and judges and clerks of election. Registration blanks, nomination petitions and ballots are to be prepared for use in these activities.

Thursday of boy scout week has been designated as schools day, and under arrangements in charge of Mrs. Jostin every scout is to take day or mother or both to school with him. This event in the scout week it coincides with the exhibit to be held in the high school.

A scout parade in which all troops are to appear in uniform under direction of Dr. P. C. Beebe, and a program of athletic contests are to be the features of the following day, the sixth of Boy Scout week.

MARY R. FISHER BOARD'S CHOICE FOR PRINCIPAL

Former Head of Home Economics Department Invited to Return to Twin Falls in Charge of High School

Miss Mary Ruth Fisher, who was for two and one-half years head of the home economics department of the Twin Falls high school and has for two years past served in a similar capacity in the Toledo, Ohio, schools, was Monday night elected by unanimous vote of the board of education to be principal of Twin Falls senior high school. The position was re-created in Twin Falls schools by recent action of the board, and was declined by Miss Elizabeth M. Shetwell, supervisor of grades in Twin Falls schools, who was elected to it a month ago. The position has not been filled heretofore by a woman educator.

Word of Clinton W. Evans, since 1918 coach and director of athletics in the Twin Falls high school, that he does not expect to return to Twin Falls and does not desire to be considered as an applicant for re-election, was read to the board at this meeting. The board at this time also received Miss Shetwell's letter declining the high school principalship.

Other Elections Postponed

List of teachers recommended by Ernest H. Bloom, superintendent, for reelection was considered by the board, but action in all cases was deferred to an adjourned meeting to be held Wednesday evening next. Evidence that a surplus of approximately $7,500 will remain in the district's treasury at the close of the present school year was seen in a financial report and estimates by P. C. Lynch, bookkeeper for the district, of the probable expenditures during the remaining months of the year. The report showed a surplus at this time amounting to $19,300.42.

Inclusion, at an auspicious time, of a hollow square between the senior and junior high school buildings to provide additional gymnasium room was suggested by Arthur L. Swin for the board's consideration.

WANT POSTAL SHIPMENTS PUT UNDER QUARANTINE

BOISE, April 14 (UP)—The destruction of 200 dried baby chicks, requests for modification of the embargo against California products and action by Idaho officials to bring about a quarantine similar to the one now in effect to include postal shipments, marked today's development in Idaho's efforts to check the foot and mouth disease now raging in California.

Governor C. C. Moore wired Senator Frank H. Gooding in Washington Monday asking his co-operation with the secretary of agriculture and the chief of the United States bureau of animal industry in bringing about a quarantine on postal shipments similar to the state's embargo on other shipments.
