Senate Foreign Relations Committee Sets Tentative Date for Discussion of American Adherence to Tribunal Plan

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Proposals for American adherence to the world court which have been slumbering in the senate foreign relations committee will be brought out for a public hearing in the near future.

This was decided upon today by the committee, but Chairman Lodge and other members indicated this did not mean an early report would be made to the senate on any of the several propositions advanced, among them the original proposal submitted by President Harding more than a year ago.

Committee decision today was confined solely to the granting of a request of a number of organizations favorable to the world court idea that they be heard. A sub-committee of five with Senator Pepper, republican, Pennsylvania, as chairman, was named to conduct the hearings.

Charges Not Renewed

Sensors said there had been little discussion in the committee and there were no renewals of charges recently made in the senate by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, that Senator Lodge was preventing action on the matter. At that time the republican leader said no senators had pressed for action.

The sub-committee is without any authority, Chairman Lodge said, to make any recommendations to the committee as to the several plans that have been suggested and embodied in resolutions in the senate. It is limited wholly to the conducting of hearings and a report of them.

Tentative Date Set

Senator Pepper said he had hoped to begin the hearings April 28 but at the request of some of those who desired to be heard he had postponed the time to April 30. That date is tentative, he added. The Pennsylvania senator declared that he proposed to complete the hearings within 10 days and to hold continuous sessions, even sitting at night, if necessary, to get through on schedule.

Organizations which have asked to be heard include the Federal Council of Churches, the Non-partisan League of Nations association, and the Association of University Women. Opportunity also will be given to opponents of the world court idea to present their views.

RUMORS DENIED.

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Reports from Athens that two members of the crew of J. P. Morgan's yacht Cunard had been murdered in Albania were declared to be without any foundation in a message received from the Albanian government today by Professor Coker, Albanian commissioner to the United States.

DETROIT FIREMAN KILLED.

DETROIT, April 18 (AP)—Fire Lieutenant George Hawkins was killed and five firemen were injured, two probably fatally, when a rescue truck overturned here tonight while answering an alarm. The driver swerved to avoid an automobile and the truck overturned, pinning the men under it.

BOISE, April 18 (AP)—Charges by Governor C. C. Reports Indicate Snow Squalls Hold Fliers Up at Shigalik; Communication Faulty

SEWARD, Alaska, April 18 (AP)—Although three of the four United States army aviators were expected to hop off from Chignik, Alaska, today for a 400-mile flight to Dutch Harbor (Unalakleet) on the next leg of an attempt to encircle the globe, it was believed here that reported snow squalls prevented the fliers from leaving. The fourth world cruiser was still at Kaktavik, Alaska.

Owing to poor wireless communication to the southwestern points of Alaska during daylight hours, it was impossible to obtain any definite information concerning the fliers.

Ralston Advances Proposal to Set Bids Aside in Order to Adopt Definite Plan

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Senator Ralston today urged action on the senate committee's Muscle Shoals hearing today that all of the pending bids be set aside and the government adopt a definite plan with respect to the property, and then call for bids and execute it. Senator Ralston, democrat, Indiana, advanced the proposal and Chairman Norris said he saw no objection to the idea and added that he understood it conformed with the Muscle Shoals policy of the United States as set forth in his message to congress.

"As it stands now," Senator Ralston said, "the government has no plan for disposal of Muscle Shoals and before bids are considered a policy should be adopted."

All of the witnesses at today's hearings attacked the bid of Henry Ford, R. D. Bowen, national lecturer for the non-partisan league, said if Ford obtained Muscle Shoals the committee would be "selling the nation's birthright." J. P. Graft, president of the Seattle Nitrogen Products company, Seattle, Wash., said he opposed the Ford bid and all of the other bids because on the basis of their terms no private enterprise could face the competition, and Hugh McVane, of Wilmington, N. C., a land reclamation expert, declared the Ford proposal contained a "virtual gift" from the government.

Ousted Secretary of the Navy Explains Why He Sought to Have Control of Reserve Lands Given to Interior

ADRIAN, Mich., April 18 (AP)—Full responsibility for the initiation of the policy which resulted in the leasing of the naval oil reserves was assumed here tonight by Edwin Denby, around whom raged a storm of criticism in the senate before his retirement last month as secretary of the navy.

"Had I not taken the action I did to protect the interests of the navy in these reserves against the tremendous loss of drainage," he declared in an address, "I would have been false to my trust and culpably negligent in the performance of my duty."

Denby's Conclusion.

Replying to what he said had been an insinuation of collusion on his part in connection with the oil leases, Mr. Denby said he had never been talked to about the naval petroleum reserves before he entered the cabinet by the president-elect or by any of his cabinet or other advisers.

"My appointment was somewhat unexpected," he said, "and was not announced until about February 25. Therefore there was no collusion as to any acts to be performed by me, although even that insinuation has been made."

Sought Advice.

"Shortly after taking office, it was represented to me that drainage of the reserve was proceeding rapidly and offset wells were necessary. Believing that the department of the interior was best qualified to handle for the navy its enormously valuable reserves," he turned to the interior department for advice on the subject. I then asked the secretary of the interior if he could not take over the administrative control of the naval petroleum reserves. Secretary Fall did not ask me. I asked him. I wanted to stop the squandering of an invaluable resource. Together, then, the secretary of the interior and I presented the matter to the president of the United States and after he had given it careful study, he decided to issue an executive order."

Illinois Republicans Pledge Confidence in Coolidge; Brennan Heads Democrats

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 18 (AP)—Democrats and republicans in biennial state conventions today applied healing balm to the wounds of the primary struggles and focused their energies upon the contest for victory in November.

In the democratic gathering the leadership of George E. Brennan, Cook county chairman, whose candidates swept the field in last week's primary, was affirmed.

Across the street the Small-Thompson-Landis combination jumped into the saddle at the outset and organized the republicans.

Enthusiastic endorsement of the national administration and an unequal pledge of support to President Coolidge was given after an insurgent movement failed to develop support for a program withholding formal mention of the presidency.

Stubborn Blaze in Moorman Building Causes Heavy Damage; Fireman and Aides Overcome

A stubborn basement fire originating from an unknown cause in the D. B. Moorman building, Main avenue north, at 6:15 o'clock last evening, caused an aggregate loss estimated at $25,000, most of which is covered by insurance. One fireman, Homer Adams, was carried out of the burning building in an unconscious condition caused by inhalation of smoke and fumes, and a volunteer assistant, Donald "Pat" Flynn, who served last summer as a member of the department, recovered a deep gash on the forearm from broken window glass.

Heavy property loss was suffered as a result of the fire by the Logan Music company and by the Davis Optical company, occupying the first floor, and by D. B. Moorman, owner of the building. Owners of the second floor suffered little or no loss. They were H. C. Gettler and H. B. Johnson, realtors; Dr. J. R. McMillan, osteopath, and Drs. Wyatt and Brown, osteopaths.

Smoke Hampers Work.

Smoke pervaded adjoining buildings occupied by the Eldridge Clothing company in its own building, and the Woodworth company in the E. C. Smith building, and water entered the basements without, however, causing any considerable damage.

Insurance Carried.

Damage to the Moorman building, which was built 16 years ago and is valued at $25,000, will it be believed be covered largely by $10,000 worth of insurance carried on the property. First floor partitions and about two-thirds of the floor were destroyed, and gaping holes were cut in the west wall through which firemen poured streams of water when, after nearly two hours of strenuous fire fighting, the blaze finally was conquered.

Logan Music company stock, practically all of which was destroyed, was valued at $300.00 and $10,000 and $8000 worth of insurance was carried.

Prescriptions Lost.

Equipment and stock of the Davis Optical company, practically all of which was destroyed, was valued at $4500 and $2000 worth of insurance was carried. Dr. Harry Davis, proprietor, stated last evening that he considered the destruction of his accounts and records, including prescriptions, issued during the past several years, his most serious loss and one that he estimated at not less than $4000. Dr. Davis had left the establishment at 6 o'clock, he said, and had gone to call on friends there in observance of the Jewish Passover, and received word of the fire in his arrival there.

There had been no fire in the basement in the future since early morning, according to Robert K. Logan of the Logan Music company, who arrived on the scene soon after the alarm was turned in.

Crowd Gathers.

The fire attracted one of the largest crowds ever assembled here on a similar occasion. Increasingly gradually from a handful of spectators who watched the initial efforts of the firemen to locate the center of the fire, the crowd grew in numbers to several hundred persons and a line was put out by the

Modern Horsemen to Follow Route Once Taken by Paul Revere; Anniversary of Battles to Be Celebrated

BOSTON, April 18 (AP)—Two lights burned in the belfry of Boston's old North church tonight, on the eve of the 140th anniversary of the battles of Lexington and Concord, opening conflicts of the Revolutionary war.

Early tomorrow three roads, which a century and a half ago echoed with the hoofbeats of the horses of Paul Revere and William Dawes, will re-echo as two horsemen, starting from Boston will pass over the historic routes followed by the Revolutionary heroes in awakening the countryside.

In sharp contrast to the old-time touch of the re-enacted ride will be the roar of the motors of airplanes which will follow the two riders.

SAYS CHEAP POLITICAL PROBERS DANGEROUS TO BUSINESS AFFAIRS

Babson Discusses Weather and Present Conduct of Investigations; Breaking of Public Confidence Disastrous

BABSON PARK, Pa., April 18.—(Special to The News.)—Roger W. Babson, discussing the general business situation today with newspaper men, touched on two interesting intangible factors which he believes are largely responsible for the recent slump in general activity.

"The weather is not a fundamental factor in the general business situation," says Mr. Babson, "but unreasonable conditions are liable to have a decided temporary effect. Whether the long swing is upward or downward, unexpected development and discouraging reports from the weather bureau may upset things temporarily. An unreasonable fall last year, for instance, left retailers all over the country with a large stock of goods which either has to be sacrificed at a loss or carried over for another year. Nor has this spring been any better. The worst storms of the winter came in March, when they should have come in January or February. At the season of the year when spring should be in evidence trains have been blocked, wires down, motor cars and trucks stalled in snow drifts. Naturally this belated winter has greatly interfered with spring business. It has interrupted the marketing of grain, delayed the shipping of oats and other crops, building has been held up and since most of us buy our spring goods by the weather rather than by the calendar general retail trade in many sections has come almost to a standstill.

Business to Strengthen.
"Business men should keep in mind, however, the fact that weather conditions seldom hurt trade permanently. Unseasonable weather tends to delay business just as a dam may temporarily delay the water in a stream, but just as soon as the weather gets back on schedule this volume of accumulated business comes with a rush just as water may be depended upon to come down stream if the dam is removed. Often when trade is checked by bad weather conditions it is abnormally good later on. The wise merchant will keep this fact in mind and will be ready to take advantage of the good business weather as soon as it appears.

Cheap Politics.
"The other disturbance at this time," continued Mr. Babson, "is of a more fundamental nature. Real damage to business has resulted from the cheap politics indulged in at Washington. This sort of 'mud-slinging,' in place of the constructive legislation which should be attended to in destroying business confidence and confidence is a fundamental factor in our business situation. Weather conditions are mere atmospheric disturbances; but confidence is the very soil in which prosperity must grow. A storm may temporarily delay the growth of a field of wheat; but if the earth itself is washed away, the crop is permanently destroyed. The politicians have undermined the whole field of business activity.

Over-Confident.
"The great republican victory of 1920 without doubt caused certain of the party leaders to become careless. The natural result which we witness today followed automatically. This is merely in accordance with the eternal law of action and reaction. Moreover, these present developments at Washington were foreshadowed directly by the overwhelming election figures when published four years ago. But anything, even an investigation, can be overdone.

"There never was a bough which could not be broken and the breaking point in this situation has been reached. If the enemies of the administration carry it any further they will lose any advantage which they may have obtained.

Public Is Disgusted.
"People have been willing that the right should go on so long as their pocketbooks have not been touched; but when sales begin to fall off, or when cancellations of orders are made and men are thrown out of work because of this muck-raking then there comes a reaction. The democrats are likely to suffer from this same law which is causing the republicans to sweat today. The investigating committees have already accepted testimony which every smart in the land would have thrown out. The unsubstantiated stories of comparatively unknown individuals have been accepted as the truth and have been broadcast through the newspapers to the great mass of our people. When the case reaches a point where the only testimony congress can take must come from extraneous robbers and men and women or more or less uncertain standing a reaction may be expected. The public is heartily sick of this business and trade is beginning to suffer.

Confidence Necessary.
"We little realize," concluded Mr. Babson, "what a sensitive machine business has become. Little things make men cheerful and slight changes cause them to become cautious. The attitude of men toward life, whether they are hopeful or discouraged, is a great factor in determining the immediate business outlook. The major changes in the commercial world can be forecast with accuracy, as these movements depend upon economic law and the position of certain fundamental business barometers. But what is to happen during the next few months will depend largely upon the confidence or the lack of confidence displayed by the American public. Immediate business will depend upon whether men are actuated by faith or by fear.

"If congress is trying to throw the country into a business depression, it is going about it in the right way. If, however, congress is truly interested in bettering American conditions it will turn from the diverting pastime of berating the character of anyone connected with the opposite political party and will pass the tax reduction bill and enact other constructive legislation. Already the index of the Babsonhart reflecting general business activity has fallen 14.6 per cent below as compared with 5 per cent above normal a few weeks ago."

SCANDAL MILL GOING STRONG

Witness Bases Liquor Charge Against Gillette on Hearsay; Committee Members Balk

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Testimony during an unexpectedly arranged session today of the senate committee investigating the department of justice dealt with a variety of subjects, including mysterious disappearances of liquors, bootlegging and bootlegging prosecution and war fraud cases.

Once or twice committee members balked at the ramifications introduced, notably when one witness said he had heard that two bottles of confiscated intoxicants had been sent at one time to the office of Speaker Gillette of the house. Mr. Gillette later denied the charge in a formal statement. Adjournment was taken until Monday when committee members said the handling of anti-trust cases by the department of justice and the federal trade commission would be given attention.

H. L. Seafie, former investigator of war fraud cases for the department of justice, spent most of the day on the stand. Called to testify for the fourth time, he promptly introduced the subject of whiskey smuggling through Savannah and then was excused to permit Clark Grier, another former agent of the department of justice, to tell about that matter from first hand information.

Grier said in 1921 he developed the facts as to extensive conspiracy for importing liquor through Savannah, and was discharged almost immediately through the influence of John L. Phillips, republican state chairman of Georgia. Later, after President Coolidge took office," he added, federal agents went into the situation and 78 persons were sent to the penitentiary, but he insisted that "graft payments" from the whiskey ring to federal agents was neglected as an element in the prosecutions.

Copy Contest Subject No. 6 "Reductions" and "Sales"

THE C. C. Anderson Company Golden Rule Stores price their merchandise RIGHT, right at the beginning of the season. Hence, "Every Day is Bargain Day at the Golden Rule."

THERE'S economy in large scale buying and selling. This enables the Golden Rule to sell at a small margin of profit and IT DOES.

BUT, it is an unchangeable fact that no one could or can stay in business long on the basis of selling merchandise at cost or less. Yet, few of those who constantly pretend to offer merchandise on this basis go out of business. How do they do it?

THE Golden Rule has been in business for 28 years, but it has not learned how to give its merchandise away and still have enough left over for its own expenses. It cannot be done—for every school child out of the primer age knows it costs money to do business.

BUT nevertheless, THE GOLDEN RULE SELLS FOR LESS. The explanation of this lies in the fact that the Golden Rule never puts a higher price on goods in order that it later might offer them at "sensational reductions."

Golden Rule Goods Are Priced RIGHT in the First Instance. And Isn't Bargain Day Every Day the Better Way?

ONE rarely (if ever) sees "Sales" at the Golden Rule. The word "Sale" was tabooed years ago from Golden-Rule advertising because of its loose use by others—because of the abuse of the real significance of the word as it was understood in the time of our Grandparents.

So—Again
Isn't Bargain Day
Every Day
The Better Way?

Isn't
Bargain Day
Every Day
The Better Way?

THE C. C. Anderson Golden Rule could not and never will understand the justice of penalizing by a higher price those who buy at the beginning of and during the season. As a matter of fact it is those who buy their goods when they are most seasonable—who make it possible for a store to succeed. So, by all the rules of fairness, they are entitled to the best possible price—first.

THEY should get the benefit and pleasure of a full season's use and wear—they should be encouraged by goods first priced RIGHT. And—The Golden Rule prices its goods RIGHT, right at the beginning.

AND so again one sees the Golden Rule's reasons for eliminating Sales and Reductions from its merchandising.

Aren't They Just and Ample Reasons—and Isn't Bargain Day—Every Day—
the Better Way?

SENATE PASSES REED MEASURE ON IMMIGRATION

Proposal Carrying Practically Same Provisions as House Bill Carried by Big Majority; Goes to Conference

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The immigration law of 1924, carrying substantially the same provisions relating to Asiatic exclusion and other important changes in basic policy recently approved by the house, was passed tonight by the senate by a vote of 62 to six.

On the final roll call, as upon every important test vote taken since the measure was first reported, the senate registered its decision by a larger majority even than in the house, where the vote on passage was 322 to 71.

Six Oppose Bill

The six senators opposing the bill in its amended form on the roll call were: Chairman Cull, Rhode Island, and Weller, Maryland, republicans, and Bayard, Delaware, Gerry, Rhode Island, King, Utah, and Walsh Massachusetts, democrats.

As it goes to conference, the new bill contains few changes which are expected to prolong discussion. Attention, however, has been called to the possibility of important changes being worked out there. Slight differences in philosophy exist between the house and senate drafts in many sections, one of them the vital Japanese exclusion provision, and while no evidence has been shown on either side of a lack of disposition to concede in the slightest degree, parliamentary observers called attention to the possibilities offered for modification in conference.

White House spokesman declared President Coolidge had no comment to offer on the senate action or on the situation which has grown out of the failure of congress to accept the advice of the state department against bringing the Japanese into the definitely excluded classes.

The senate bill was described by its author, Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, "as even more restrictive than that passed by the house." Both measures adopted two per cent of the census of 1920 as a basis for the fixing of quotas, but the house bill permits certain non-quota classifications which are not included in that of the senate. Among the exceptions are the children and other dependent relatives of citizens and skilled labor and families.

A maximum preference of 150,000 a year is fixed by the senate bill, against an estimated "quota total" of 162,000 in the Johnson bill, exclusive of exemptions. Senator Reed estimated that the house bill actually will provide for the legal admission of "twice the total" or 324,000.

These new estimates compared with the existing law, show a reduction of 250,000 under the senate bill, and of about 208,000 under the house measure. In the final hours of debate the senate refused to extend the quota restrictions to North and South American countries as proposed by Senator Willis, republican, Ohio, democratic and republican leaders joining in opposing the move as tending to destroy the work of years toward Pan-American harmony.

HISTORIC TRAIL IN OREGON TO BE OPENED SHORTLY

EUGENE, Ore., April 18 (AP)—The historic Scott trail, an old Oregonian and well-known road across the summit of the Cascade mountains over which hundreds of the pioneer families of the upper Willamette valley traveled to reach the Pacific coast, will be opened to the public this week.

The opening of the trail, which passes south of Baker crater and touches McKenzie pass slope of the North Star mountain, will mean that in the future the highway across the summit of the Cascades will not be blocked by thousands of sheep as has been the case occasionally in the past, according to forest officials.

The trail, still marked by abandoned wagon wheels of the pioneers, will be used as a stock trail. The opening of the road, which passes south of Baker crater and touches McKenzie pass slope of the North Star mountain, will mean that in the future the highway across the summit of the Cascades will not be blocked by thousands of sheep as has been the case occasionally in the past, according to forest officials.

Meanwhile, Senator Walsh, democratic, Massachusetts, introduced a substitute bill providing for the insurance policies of a full cash payment option which he said may offer.

Political skirmish marked its official entry before the senate, with democrats withholding temporarily their proposal for inclusion in the bill of an option for full cash payments to the veterans.

Senator Harrison, democratic, Missouri, asked Senator Curtis to seek the views of President Coolidge on the bill as passed by the house and ordered reported by the senate finance committee with the 20-year endowment policy provision.

"If reports coming to us through the American Legion officers, that President Coolidge will sign the pending bill but would veto a measure with a full cash option, are true," Senator Harrison said, "we democrats will gladly expedite passage of this measure."

CUBAN YOUTHS TO TRAIN ALONG AMERICAN LINES

HAVANA, April 18 (AP)—The establishment in Cuba of an institution founded along American lines and designed to teach the younger generation how to be modern farmers, sugar mill engineers and practical bankers and business men, is the object of the Cuban Association of Education recently organized here.

FREE STATE ARMY OF 20,000 MEN DUBLIN, April 18 (AP)—It has been decided that the permanent establishment of the Free State army shall consist of 27 battalions, nine brigades and three commands. In addition there will be various separate services, an army school of instruction, a school of army music and a training camp at Curragh. The army will total almost 20,000 men.

Senate Studies Compensation Measure; Democrats Opposed to Cash Payment

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The soldier bonus bill was taken under consideration by the senate tonight with the prediction by Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, its sponsor, that only a "few days" would be necessary for its passage.

Political skirmish marked its official entry before the senate, with democrats withholding temporarily their proposal for inclusion in the bill of an option for full cash payments to the veterans.

Senator Harrison, democratic, Missouri, asked Senator Curtis to seek the views of President Coolidge on the bill as passed by the house and ordered reported by the senate finance committee with the 20-year endowment policy provision.

LOCALS SCORE VICTORY OVER VISITING NINE

Opening Game of Twin Falls-Pocatello Series Goes to Evans' Men; Errors Figure; Two Games Today

Twin Falls high school nine took the lead Friday afternoon in the Pocatello-Idaho series on Lincoln lot by winning 14-4, before a crowd that braved a continual dust storm for over two hours to see the final result of a slow baseball game in which errors figured.

Bull, Pocatello twirler, performed creditably in the box by retiring 11 men, but he lacked the infield support which was granted Jarman, the local pitcher, who got eight strikes outs. Both moundmen went the full route, Hammond's homerun in the fifth when the Twin Falls first-baseman sent the ball to the left field fence was the feature for the locals and Shurtlett's catch of Jarman's drive into the right field fence was the feature play for the visitors.

Twin Falls got off nicely in the first inning when the red and blue infield fumbled three times running, allowing the locals to score three runs without a hit. Bull's pitching kept the blue and white from scoring in the second and with the score 3-0 in the third Lamb, visiting shortstop, started a rally with a nice hit. Donat and Leute, next men up, both got hits from Jarman and scored Lamb, but Jackson dribbled the ball to Timm, who caught Leute on second and saved the blue and white. Twin Falls retaliated in the last half when Mussell started another rally which netted the red boys three runs and two hits before they were retired.

In the fourth frame "Poky" again forged ahead with Cox making a nice hit. Cornell, next man up, sent a hot one to second and got on when Hammond tripped his long legs over the first sack. Nunamaker got a hit and second base. He was followed by Cornell, who also hit and tallied another run. The third came when Nunamaker, presumably caught between home and first, worked his way out on Cron's error. Jarman struck out two more and the side was retired on Leute's grounder to second base. In the last half of the inning Twin Falls forged ahead for a big lead when Timm, Mussell and Jarman all got hits and whole-sale errors by Lamb and Leute let these three and two more in. Stolen bases were also a feature of this round. The blue and white proved themselves capable of taking everything but the catcher's mask. At the end of the fourth the score stood 4-11 in favor of Twin Falls. The fifth was one-two-three for Pocatello and Twin Falls once more battled ground, Timm and Hammond getting nice hits, Slim sending the ball for a circuit clout.

Moose Steals Home

In the last of this inning "Moose" Garrity attempted a steal home on the last out, but the big boy got there too late, and as he struck the dirt the batter struck out and the catcher caught the ball all about the same time. The last four innings were mediocre affairs, both sides retiring in rapid succession.

Timm led the Twin Falls batsmen with two hits out of three times up. He was closely followed by Hammond and Mussell, who each hit the apple for .500.

FILER LOSES TO BUHL, 5 TO 2

Several Errors Checked Up Against Both Sides; Love and Mullins Pitch Well

BUHL, April 19.—(Special to The News.)—Buhl took a 5-2 victory this afternoon from the Filer baseball squad in a hotly-contested battle on Ferris field.

Wind and dust were the chief drawbacks to this game, which was marked by numerous errors on both sides. Mullins in the box for Buhl performed in a very creditable style, allowing but five hits, while "Eck" Love, the opposing twirler, confined Buhl batsmen to six hits. Buhl failed to demonstrate the slugging ability which marked their triumph over Twin Falls a week ago. Oweany for Buhl still retained his supremacy with the wilflow in the Buhl club.

The score: R. H. E.
Filer.....2 5 7
Buhl.....5 2 5
Batteries—Love and Lapp; Mullins and Evans.

BUHL IS READY TO JOIN SOUTHERN IDAHO LEAGUE

BUHL, April 18.—(Special to The News.)—Interest in the Buhl summer ball team is running high. Calvin "Cal" Griswold, who is to manage the Buhl team this summer, and who is well known throughout southern Idaho, baseball circles, is anxious to build a strong team out of material he has on hand in addition to some that will undoubtedly appear in Buhl when the season gets under way. Actual practice will start as soon as a definite agreement has been made with other towns of the district.

The Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Pocatello	001	300	000
Twin Falls	000	303	50x
Umpire:	Whitlitz and Bailey.
Time:	2 hours 10 minutes.

Twin Falls is greatly in need of financial assistance and from the crowd on hand Friday a big turnout is anticipated today. The few loyal fans who attended Friday's game will probably be on hand this morning at 10 o'clock and again at 2:30 in the afternoon. The management has made arrangements to prevent the wind from removing the lot to the stands and in view of the expense involved in bringing first-class high school teams to Twin Falls it is imperative that enough be taken in to pay for the expenses. Friday's game was a loss financially.

BUHL, April 8.—(Special to The News.)—The Hagerman-Buhl track meet, which was to have been held this weekend, has been postponed until the latter part of next week. By that time the Buhl squad will be in better shape to meet the Hagerman school following their desirable trimming of 91-37 last Friday at Wendell.

Winigard, crack sprinter, will probably be unable to compete for the rest of the season except in the weight events, due to sprained ankle.

Buhl's athletic schedule for the next few weeks reads as follows: April 22, Gooding at Gooding, baseball, and Hagerman at Buhl, track; April 30, Twin Falls at Buhl, baseball; May 2, district track meet at Filer.

PACKERS FREED FROM DISEASE CLOSURE RULE

Stockyards and Plants at Los Angeles Allowed to Open as Epizootic Grows Less Severe; Want Embargoes Lifted

SACRAMENTO, April 18 (AP)—Plans were made today for the establishment of a foot and mouth quarantine deadline from the eastern boundary of California to the Pacific ocean in the northern section of the state as a result of a meeting at Newcastle of fruit growers and stockmen. This will be done to keep the disease from being carried into counties not under quarantine.

Although three new outbreaks of the disease were reported in Los Angeles county, state and federal inspectors ordered the Los Angeles animal stockyards to begin receiving livestock after 6 p. m. Saturday for killing with in 24 hours. Fifteen packing plants also were permitted to begin operations after having been closed for some time.

Merced county, which has had outbreaks of the epizootic almost daily for more than a week, today reported no new cases. In the Merced area the total number of animals infected and exposed, include 12,752 cattle, 783 hogs, 288 sheep and 24 goats.

State authorities were appealed to by motorists who are being held on the Arizona-California line because of the regulations Arizona has put in effect, but the state authorities were not able to suggest any plan of relief. Efforts are being made to have changed the embargoes of neighboring state on the movement of products of the soil.

GOVERNOR MOORE SCORES POSTAL AUTHORITIES

in the enforcement of Idaho's regulations.

"Idaho's people are not panicky," the governor warned Congressmen French, "but are making a sincere and earnest effort to prevent the spread of this disease to Idaho's livestock. We feel that these shipments must cease and the responsibility for an outbreak in Idaho from this source must be placed on bureau heads of the federal government. While postal authorities may not be accepting baby chicks and other forbidden products from infected areas, they are assuredly accepting them and transmitting them through infected areas to Idaho. This is what we wish to stop, and in the meantime nearly 2000 baby chicks have been destroyed upon arrival in Idaho."

The governor also issued a proclamation today calling on the people of Idaho to familiarize themselves with the state's quarantine regulations and report all deviations. Mayors, peace officers of cities and villages, sheriffs and all other health and peace officers of the state are urged to unite in the prevention of the disease by careful enforcement of the regulations now in force.

"Club officials and ministers have excellent opportunity to impress upon the general public the seriousness of the situation," the governor says, "and the co-operation of the press is most essential in the successful operation of this quarantine. A greater unity of purpose is needed among our citizens."

Two out of four purchased Shorthorn cows brought here from South Dakota by Twin Falls district dairymen have been condemned as being afflicted with tuberculosis. POSSIBILITIES SEEN IN FALLS

Landscape Architect Discovers Scenic Value at Shoshone for Tourist Attraction

If Shoshone Falls and its environs were near some of the older tourist centers it would be nationally advertised and famous, according to Arthur H. Carhart, of McCarty, Callender and Carhart, landscape architects and city planners, of Denver, who has just completed a study of this area for F. J. Adams of Omaha.

"The falls must have been magnificent when no waters were diverted," said Carhart. They were then unquestionably an attraction of the highest magnitude. They may have merited consideration as a national monument. Even now with the waters pouring over them only a fraction of the flow which formerly went over the ledge there is a scenic value there which might be made a decided tourist attraction.

"One point which has impressed me in this study has been that few people mention any other local attractions besides the falls and Blue Lakes. The canyon in a location where the people are accustomed to make a bid for tourist traffic would be made a big feature. Some of the lesser attractions near by are well worth consideration too. Any of these would be developed and advertised extensively if they were near other established tourist centers."

Mr. Carhart declined to make public the features of his report to Mr. Adams or speculate as to what might develop in the way of improvement, but said definitely that the canyon of the Snake near Shoshone falls and the falls even with a limited amount of water going over them have recreational values which if properly developed would annually attract and serve many people. Just what form of development in the recreation production will be recommended has not been fully determined, but will be incorporated in the report of this study. The report will outline some sort of a definite plan for improvement according to Carhart.

AT THE THEATERS

AT THE IDAHO

Those who are inclined to regard the Order known as the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine as a sort of playground of higher Free Masonry will have an opportunity to see a part of the more serious work of the Order in the release of a picture at the Idaho theatre next week showing a part of the hospital work of the Order in the interests of crippled children.

The Shrine, as it is generally known, has accepted as its own particular mission the work of caring for, in so far as possible, those children handicapped by deformity or other physical ailments.

Five general hospitals over the country are maintained by members of the Order, and others are to be built and equipped as funds for the purpose accumulate. The services of these institutions are free in the highest sense of the word. White or colored, gentle or Jew, the little crippled children are welcome. No fee is charged, no account is kept of expense, no limit is placed upon the extent of the service whether the patient be an inmate for six days or six months. Members of the Order in Twin Falls contribute annually to the upkeep of the institutions; they are compelled to do so in order to remain members. Any child needing surgical attention, in Twin Falls or anywhere else, may obtain it at the nearest of these hospitals—any Shrine anywhere stands ready to point the way.

The picture is worth seeing, not because it is a Shrine picture but because of the subject it depicts. The Shrine, in common with other orders, has selected a means of serving humanity and has hit upon the proposition of caring for crippled children, many of whom, without its aid, would make but sorry work of life's endeavor. It's interesting.

HART PICTURE SETS NEW STANDARD FOR WESTERNERS

SEVEN FIREMEN ARE KILLED IN CHICAGO BLAZE

Department Chief Expects More Bodies Will Be Brought Out of Ruins of Factory; Damage at Quarter Million

CHICAGO, April 18 (AP)—Seven firemen and an unidentified civilian are known to have been killed and several others are injured so badly that they may die and a dozen firemen and spectators suffered minor burns when a four-story stone building housing a west side factory, collapsed tonight while scores of firemen were battling the flames.

The ruins are being searched for other bodies and Fire Chief Buckley, who made the announcement that several are dead, said that several other bodies possibly may be found in the ruins.

Hook and ladder truck company No. 12, composed of five men, the first to respond to the alarm, was reported to have been completely wiped out.

Roof Brakes

Firemen first to arrive on the scene found the entire upper stories of the brick structure, located at Blue Island avenue and Fourteenth street, in flames, and calls were sent in for more apparatus. The firemen mounted to the third floor in an effort to confine the flames to the floor above them. The roof started to buckle, firemen were ordered from the blazing building. Some of them stepped to the roof of a building adjoining but about a dozen attempted to escape by way of a fire escape.

The last time at the Idaho theatre, is a real achievement. For Bill not only stars in the picture but wrote the story himself and produced the picture himself for Paramount.

If you don't see "Singer Jim McKee" you'll never see the real Bill Hart.

POPULAR FOX STAR

IN STIRRING FILM

In "Stepping Fast," the latest picture which stars Tom Mix, the action starts in the ruins of the cliff dwellers, who formerly lived in the Arizona desert. Mix plays the role of a young cowboy who goes to the aid of a scientist. The stranger tells the ranchman that he holds the secret of a hidden gold mine which a band of international criminals are trying to locate. The scientist dies and wills the cowboy a half interest in the mine and tells him that his daughter in China is to own the other shares.

This picture is at the Orpheum today.

MYSTERY SUBTURNS STORY

"HIS MAJESTY, THE AMERICAN"

"It's too good to give away," said the manager of the Rialto theatre when he was asked to tell the story of Douglas Fairbanks' production, "His Majesty, the American."

"Now, I am out going to spoil the anticipation of my patrons by telling the story of Douglas Fairbanks' new film, 'His Majesty the American,' in advance. But I will say this: Fairbanks has spent more money on this picture than he has ever spent before, because he has made it for release direct to the theatres of the country by the United Artists—the 'Big Four'—which is made up of Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and D. W. Griffith.

Country Women's Club Elects Officers

Mrs. Ida Miller entertained the Country Women's club Wednesday afternoon at her home west of the city. Election of officers resulted in the choice of Mrs. Rose Allen as president; Mrs. Clarice Miller, vice president; Mrs. Ritchey, treasurer; Mrs. Des Beaureaux, secretary.

The day being the tenth anniversary of the club, the program was on the order of the story of a voyage taken by

"Mrs. Country Women," and different members read the "log" of the good ship "Progress" with the captains and officers, the past presidents and other officers of the club, telling of various pleasures and useful activities of the voyage. Some very humorous touches were given and fully appreciated by the members and several guests. Letters were read from about charter members, among whom were Mrs. Carrie Harper White, who now resides in Oklahoma, and Mrs. Maime Redman, now living in Ceres, California.

During the social hour Mrs. Miller, assisted by Mrs. Kane and other neighbors, served a delectable lunch. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Whistler on Blue Lakes boulevard.

BIG MERGER IN GOLD MINES

NEVADA CITY, Cal., April 18 (AP)—A large merger of gold mining interests is being consummated in this region. Forty-two properties, ranging from developed mines to prospects, are included, and the investment required is placed at $25,000,000.

The properties are grouped in the center of a 25-mile circle credited with having yielded $800,000,000 in gold since 1848 when the first miners reached here.

BRINGING 'EM UP
For too many complaints are heard these days about the pernicious activities of the Twin Falls youngsters. Too many gasoline tanks are emptied by youthful joy riders, too many early flowers stolen, too many shrubs and lawns unnecessarily trampled and defaced by the careless.
Youth will be served, and perhaps too strict discipline is responsible young men and women as a too lax discipline. But nobody will pretend to argue that there is much danger to the rising generation from the first cause.
Above all things the present is an age of indulgence for youth. High schools enough more and more upon the field of colleges and universities, young men of seventeen to twenty years have their own social and amusement clubs even in small towns; youngsters under the Boy Scout age of twelve form junior troops. Every forward step in life is anticipated, if there is any way in the world in which it can be done.
Corporal punishment in the school and the home is a thing of the past;
no task but what is paid for, no service of any kind but what requires its quid pro quo.
It's the tendency of the times and no man shall say that it is not right.
But it is different to what it used to be and there are times when the thought suggests itself that there isn't any very striking manifestation of an improvement in the morals of the rising generation as a result of the system.

One dislike to be considered old-fashioned to swim with the current was always easier than breasting the stream. But there is ground for the belief that the end of the way is being rapidly reached along the present road and that the reverse movement, when it comes, is apt to carry us a long way in the opposite direction.

WATER POWER AT WASHINGTON Congress is turning its attention to water power right at home. The Senate has taken the remarkable action of voting, without a dissenting voice, an appropriation for the hydro-electric development of Great Falls, in the District of Columbia. That project will cost about forty-five million dollars and is intended to provide light, heat and power for the national capital and its environs, with a surplus for the use of consumers in neighboring Maryland and Virginia towns. The construction is to be handled by the Rec-retary of War, under the authority of the federal waterpower commission.
It will be purely a federal project, owned and controlled by the government.

This undertaking naturally invites comparison with the great Muscle Shoals project, already owned by the government, and the proposal to alienate it for one hundred years under the plan submitted by Henry Ford. It readily occurs to any intelligent citizen that if it is a good thing for the government to go into the hydro-electric business in one case, it may be bad business to release its control in the other case, where it has already spent something like one hundred million dollars, and has a property of immense productive power and meaningless value to the southeastern states. There is, however, a good deal of sober second thought just now at Washington regarding Muscle Shoals.
A direct interest in hydro-electric development at Washington is a good sign, in any event. Properly directed and sustained, such an interest may be of great value in utilizing the nation's latent power resources.

FORTY FOR FOUR DOLLARS
A tale is told of a farm home in the Twin Falls section, where a housewife, who had been married for many years, was one day sitting at her kitchen table, when she was startled by the entrance of a stranger. He was a man of about fifty years of age, with a friendly face, and he introduced himself as "Mr. Jones." He then proceeded to tell her that he had just been appointed as the new school teacher for the district, and that he was going to start work in the morning.
The housewife, who was a very kind and hospitable person, invited him to stay for the night, and she prepared a comfortable bed for him.
The next morning, when Mr. Jones was about to start for school, he found that the housewife had prepared a very special breakfast for him, and that she had also given him a very valuable present. He was very much surprised and thankful, and he promised to write her a letter when he had time.

The Ideal Radio Set for Hikers Henry Farkouh, a Brooklyn amateur, is the designer and builder of a novel radio set that should prove ideal for the hiker.

It is a three-tube receiver, operating on small batteries and is complete in all details. The instruments are fastened to a canvas web bag, and each tube has its own shield; a potentiometer is also provided. The set has sufficient power to operate a loud speaker, and it is said that stations as far away as Chicago have been heard on it. The antenna consists of two wire sewn between two canvas sheets so that it may be carried under the shirt, or in a pocket.

Monkey's Bites Test Money
Owing to the spread of counterfeit coins in Siam, monkeys are being employed in the banks to test the spurious currency, it is reported. Installed behind the counters, the monkeys test the coins between their teeth. If good, no marks are left on the metal, and the coins have been thrown into a box at the animal's side.
Should the coins be bad, the metal bears visible marks and is thrown on the floor, to be swept up and destroyed.

THE SERVANT FIRE
By W. E. TANGREN, Ranger, Fishlake N. F.

When camping in the forest hills,
"Play Safe With Fire," shall be my guide.
Lest by some careless act of mine
A fire should spread through forest wild.
I'll build my campfire in a place That's free from needles, cones and leaves;
Away from twigs and fallen trees,
All clear of brush and living trees.
I'll guard this fire while it burns,
And never leave it from my sight.
Lest while I'm gone some passing wind Should fan its flames to savage flight.
The gentle fire that cooks my food
And warms me 'gainst the mountain breeze
Might soon become a burning wild Devouring logs and living trees.
If lightly fed and well confined
The fire will be as a friend indeed;
Should I must keep it in control
To have it serve my want and need.
And when this servant's work is done
Upon the embers then I'll spread
Some water or some moistened earth.
Till every lingering spark is dead.

which forty improvements were offected in the kitchen at a total cost of four dollars. That kitchen won first prize in a kitchen improvement contest in Wyoming, which was directed by extension agents of the Department of Agriculture. Improvements in other homes in other parts of the state ranged from this low cost of four dollars up to ten dollars and possibly a little more.
Many of the improvements were such simple things as rearrangement of utensils in more orderly and convenient ways. Others were the making or installing of iceless refrigerators, kitchen cabinets and stools, washing machines, fireless cookers, cisterns, new floors, and so on. In one home a cistern which had been partially dug for ten years was completed as a result of the contest and the housekeeper was thereby saved a two hundred yard walk to the irrigation ditch for water.

The outstanding fact about most of the improved kitchens was the low cost involved in making them more attractive, convenient and efficient.
The item that had to be spent for these improvements was thought.
There are probably few homes or offices in the whole country in which the same thing would not be true.
Thought and ingenuity together with application of both to the daily routine would give a great many persons more of the leisure they crave but fail to get.

Strange Animal Being Sought in Heart of Jungle

Deep in the depths of East African jungles, the "Nandi bear," depicted by natives as a ferocious species of man-eating hyena, with striped skin, is being sought by scientists. The tales of frightened villagers and fragmentary reports from hunters indicate that the animal is taller and much more powerful than the ordinary hyena. In the last ten years, extensive explorations have resulted in the discovery of many new animals, among which the okapi, a large zebra-like creature, is regarded as the most important.
Smaller animals are constantly being found and the old Roman adage, "Out of Africa, always something new," is almost daily proved true. Scientists believe, however, that there are few of the larger species that have escaped identification.

Auto Death in U. S. Every Thirty-Five Minutes

Every time the clock recorded thirty-five minutes during the last year, a person was killed on the highways of the country, and each minute, approximately three persons were injured, delegates to the convention of the American road builders were told. In twelve months, highway accidents claimed a total of 15,000 lives and caused 1,700,000 injuries, according to the figures given. Uniform traffic regulations, established by all states, strict enforcement of these laws, systematic maintenance of roads and safety education in schools were urged to curb the ever mounting number of fatalities.
In Wisconsin, a survey of accidents during the past two years was said to have proved that most of them occurred on straight roads, largely due to attempts of drivers to pass one another. Railway grade crossings, however, were declared to be the most dangerous.

THE WEATHER MAN'S JOKE

By DADDY

CHAPTER VI
The Weather Man Laughs.

DOWN came the rain. It spoiled the snow picnic of Jack, Janet and the birds.
The children ran into the shed and the birds followed after them. "Cheer!
Cheer! All our fun is spoiled!" complained the birds. And so it seemed,
for the rain was melting the snow, turning it into water that sank quickly into the ground.

But Jack and Janet did not let themselves catch the "cheery" looks of the birds. They smiled.
"We will not let the rain spoil our fun," they cried. "We will laugh with the Weather Man instead of frowning at him. This rain may be another of his jokes, but it will not bother us."

Saying this Jack and Janet spread out their picnic lunch on a box. They had sandwiches, pie and cake and cookies for themselves and plenty of tempting crumbs for the birds.

"Cheer! Cheer! What a fine picnic feast," chirped the birds, and they began to eat as fast as they could, forgetting all about the rain pattering down outside. And after they had eaten they began to sing, each trying to sing sweeter than the others. The melody filled the air, turning it into a delightful music room.

Jack and Janet heard a chuckle.
There stood the Weather Man.

"Ho! Ho! What a joke!" he laughed. "You are laughing with me instead of frowning at me. That is the way to make jokes good all around.
You have made yourselves happy in spite of my snow and my rain, and that is what you should do. The joke is on me and it is on you too. Look out of doors!"

The children and the birds flocked

There stood the Weather Man.

to the door. There they got another surprise. The rain had stopped. The snow was all gone. The sun was shining! Spring was smiling at them again.
They could have their picnic in the wonder after all.

"Ho! Ho! Ho! That is the way with all the jokes of Jonathan Changeable the Weather Man," chuckled the little old man, holding his top hat.
"If you take them as they come, snow, rain or shine, and have a good time, you will be happy. If you let them make you miserable you will be unhappy. Ho! Ho! Ho! Wise children and sensible birds always laugh with the Weather Man instead of frowning
at him."

"With that the Weather Man danced away.
"How true!" said Janet. "If we had waited and frowncd when we saw the snow this morning our whole day would have been spoiled. Now it has been jolly and merry."

"Yes! It has been jolly and merry!" sang the birds.

wish to feel your hand again."

"Let us go to him at once," said the other. "There has been no greater man in the army."

Together they went to the bedside of the faithful scout. The general took his hand. Margaret put her lips close to Solomon's ear and said:

"General Washington has come to see you."

Solomon opened his eyes and smiled.
Then there was a beauty not of this world in his lonely face. And that moment, holding the hand he had loved and served and trusted, the heroic soul of Solomon Binkley went out upon "the lonely trail."

Jack, who had been kneeling at his side, kissed his white cheek.

"Oh, general, I know and loved this man," said the young officer as he arose.

"It will be well for our people to know what men like him have endured for them," said Washington.

"I shall have to learn how to live without him," said Jack. "It will be hard."

Margaret took his arm and they went out of the door and stood a moment looking off at the glowing sky about the western hills.

"Now you have me," she whispered.
He bent and kissed her.
"No man could have a better friend and fighting mate than I," he answered.

"We spend our years as a tale that is told," Jack wrote from Philadelphia to his wife in Albany on the 30th of June, 1787. "Dear Margaret, I thought that the story was ended when Washington won. Five years have passed, as a watch in the night, and the most impressive details are just now falling out. You recall our currently shifting Henry Thornhill. When stopping at Kinderhook I learned that the only man of that name who had lived there had been lying in his grave these twenty years. He was one of the first dreamers about liberty. What think you of that? I cannot but believe that the man I saw was an im-poster. Was he an angel like those who visited the prophets? Who shall say? Naturally, I think often of the look of him and of his sudden disappearance in that Highland road. And, looking back at Thornhill, I am thought came to me: Who can tell how many angels he has met in the way of life all unaware of the high commission of his visitor?"

"On my westward trip I found that the Indians who once dwell in the Long Valley were scattered. Only a few scattered remnants remained. Near old Fort Johnson I saw a squaw sitting in her blanket. Her face was wrinkled with age and hardship. Her eyes were nearly blind. She held in her withered hands the ragged, moth-eaten tail of a gray wolf. I asked her why she kept it, she answered in English, 'I shall take it with me to the Happy Hunting Grounds. When he sees it he will know me.'"

"So quickly the beautiful Little White Bird had faded."

"At Mount Vernon, Washington was as dignified as ever but not so grave.
He almost joked when he spoke of the sculptors and portrait painters who have been a great bother to him since the war ended.

"Now no dry horse moves more readily to the drill than I to the painter's chair," he said.

"When I arrived the family was going in to dinner and they waited until I could make myself ready to join them. The Jocular Light Horse Harry Lee was there. His anecdotes delighted the great man. I had never seen G. W. in better humor. A single pleasant smile lighted his whole countenance. I can never forget the gentle note in his voice and his distinguished bearing. It was the same whether he were addressing his guests or his family. The servants watched him closely. A look seemed to be enough to indicate his wishes. The British butler, who had been with me I have never seen a sweeter atmosphere in any home. We sat an hour at the table after the family had retired from it. In speaking of his daily life he said:

"I ride around my farm until it is time to dress for dinner, when I rarely pass seeing strange faces, come, as they say, out of respect for me.
Perhaps the word curiosity would better describe the cause of it. The usual time of sitting at table brings me to candle-light, when I try to answer my letters."

"He had much to say on his favorite topic, viz: the settling of the immense interior and bringing his trade to the Atlantic cities.

"I was coughing with a severe cold, he urged me to take some remedies which he had in the house, but I refused them.

"He went to his office while Lee and I sat down together. The latter told me of a movement in the army led by Colonel Nelson to make Washington the king of America. He had seen Washington in the summer of 1783, and the colonel, it was as follows:

"The assured, sir, no occurrence in the course of the war has given me sensations more painful than your information of there being such ideas in the army as those you have imparted to me and I must declare them with horror and reprehend them with severity. I am much at a loss to conceive what part of my conduct could have given encouragement to an address which to me seems big with the greatest imbecilities which could befall a man."

"Is it not a sublime and wonderful thing, dear Margaret, that all our leaders, save one, have been men as incomparable as Stephen and Peter and Paul?"

"When I went to bed my cough became more troublesome. After it had gone on for half an hour or so my door was gently opened and I observed the glow of a candle. On drawing my bed curtains I saw, to my utter astonishment, Washington standing at my side with a bowl of hot tea in his hand.
He embarrassed me to be thus waited on by a man of his greatness."

"We sat up and talking, for Philadelphia to attend the convention.
Washington riding in his coach drawn by six horses, I riding the blaze-faded mare of destiny, still as sweet and strong as ever. A slow journey it was over the old road by Convent to Annapolis, Chestertown, and so on to the north.

"I found Franklin sitting under a tree in his dooryard, surrounded by his grandchildren. He looks very white and venerable now. His hair is a crown of gray.

"Well, Jack, it has been no small part of my work to get you happily married," he began in his playful way. "A cellmate is like the old half of a pair of scissors, if only to scarp the north."

"Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband reads detective stories.
I will twelve and one and two o'clock at night. He can't understand why anyone might get sleepy and want to go to bed before that time.
Once he hits the trail with the clue, he might just as well be out of town for all the companionship he contributes to our bedtime.

When I find he turns over page two there's nothing for me to do but wave him goodby and look around for some way to amuse myself for the rest of the evening.

If I won't talk and he won't listen, and the only questions he'll answer are the ones that I repeat at least three times.
When I finally do succeed in interrupting his mystery reading for a moment he's as liable as not to look up and whisper hoarsely:
"He! Not so loud. What d'you say?"

This way he has of thinking he's a detective is very annoying—especially when what I have to ask him is whether he remembered to mail the letter I gave him at breakfast.

Tomorrow: "My wife corrects my table manners."

a trencher. How many babies have you?
"Three," I answered.

"It is not hard enough," said he.
A patriotic American should have at least ten children. I must not forget to say to you what I say to every young man. Always treat your wife with respect. It will procure respect for you not only from her, but from all who observe it. Never use a slight-ing word."

"My beloved, how little I need this advice you know, but I think that the old philosopher never made a wiser observation or so correct. By and by myself, myself depends largely on the respect that men feel and show for women."

"I asked about his health.
"I am weary and the night is falling and I shall soon be down to sleep, but I know that I shall awake refreshed in the morning," he said.

"He told me how, distressed by his infirmary, he came out of France to the quitter's letter, carried by his magnificent mules. Of England he had only this to say:

"She is doing wrong in discouraging emigration to America. Emigration multiplies a nation. She should be represented in the growth of the New World by men who have a voice in its government. By this fair means she could repossess it instead of leaving it to the mercy of all nations. I may dream and still sympathy for the mother land. It is now a fact that Irish emigrants and their children are in possession of the government of Pennsylvania."

"I must not fail to set down here in the hope that my sons may some time read it, what I said to you of the treason of Arnold.

"Here is the vindication of poor Richard. Extravagance is not the way to self-satisfaction. The man who does not keep his feet in the old, honest way of thrift will some time sell himself, and then he will be ready to sell his friends or his country. By and by nothing is so dear to him as thirty pieces of silver."

"I shall conclude my letter with a beautiful confession of faith by this master mind of the country. It was made on the motion for daily prayers in the convention now drafting a constitution for the states. I shall never forget the look of him as, standing on the lonely summit of his eighty years, he said to us:

"In the beginning of our contest with Britain when we were sensible of danger, we had daily prayers in this room for Divine protection. Our prayers, sir, were heard and they were graciously answered. All of us who were engaged in this struggle must have observed frequent instances of a directing Providence in our affairs.
And have we forgotten that powerful friend? Or do we imagine that we no longer need his assistance? I have lived six years, a long time and never I live the more convincing proof I see of this truth that God governs in the affairs of men. And if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice it is probable that an empire can rise without His aid? We have been assured, sir, that except the Lord build the house, all labor is vain who build it. I firmly believe this and I also believe that without His con-curring aid we shall succeed in this political structure no better than the builders of Babel; we shall be divided and confounded and we ourselves become a reproach and a byword down to future ages. And what is worse, mankind may hereafter despair of establishing government by human wisdom and leave it to chance, war and conquest."

"Dear Margaret, you and I who have been a part of the greatest story know all the words in these words of our noble friend is the conclusion of the whole matter."

DOZEN BIDDERS SEEK CONTRACT FOR ROAD WORK

State Highway Supervisor Is Confident Award Will Be Made and Improvement Pushed to Rapid Completion

Between 10 and 12 contractors for grading and graveling of a 23-mile gap in the Old Oregon Trail state highway between pavement at Hansen and gravel road west of Burley, will be opened here today by H. W. Gregory, state supervisor of highways.

Confidence was expressed last evening by Mr. Gregory, who arrived here Friday from southeast Idaho, that contracts for this work could be awarded today and that work under the contracts would proceed without delay or interruption.

Cost of the work as estimated by state highway officials is approximately $180,000.

Specifications Given.

Specifications provide for application of 1000 yards of gravel to each mile of road to be improved. This, it is estimated, will provide a depth of gravel approximately six inches deep over 18 feet width.

Contracts for the work will be let in two sections, one for the work in the Burleigh highway district, and the other in the Burley highway district.

Opening of the bids and award of the contract will take place this afternoon in the offices of the Twin Falls highway district. The local highway district board will hold its regular meeting in the forenoon in order to make the figures available to the state highway officials for this purpose.

ONIONS' GRADE FACTOR IN DISPUTE IN COURT

L. L. Warner Sued Against Idaho Lettuce Company on Trial Before Jury; Claim for $1808 Involved

Question as to the quality of onions delivered last year by L. L. Warner, Twin Falls district farmer, to the Idaho Lettuce company, produce dealers, was involved in the suit wherein Warner seeks judgment against the company for $1808.25, and the company admits its liability for payment to Warner only in the sum of approximately $800 in addition to $500 previously paid for the onions.

Final on the case began Friday in district court here, the case for the plaintiff Warner being closed early in the afternoon and testimony of several witnesses for the defendant company being held before the evening recess.

Plaintiff Warner contends that he contracted to deliver his onions to the company for $1.75 per hundred pounds. It is the indicated contention of the company that quality of the onions was defective; and that they were sold to best possible advantage by the company when Warner delivered them at its warehouse and declined to take them back.

The case for the plaintiff Warner is being conducted by Attorney H. C. Mills and for the defendant company by Hodgkin, Stephan and North.

Members of the jury impaneled in the trial of the case are J. P. Avant, F. D. Brown, S. P. Yantis, E. B. Crane, W. L. Eppler, J. F. Jowett, D. Patrick, A. J. Fox, E. D. O'Han, E. Prothero, J. R. Lindlum, Henry Peters.

Clinton Bowman, Castleford barber, pool room proprietor and landowner, at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing Friday, was held by Judge Judge O. B. Howell under $500 bond to answer in the district court to charge of illegal sale of liquor to a minor.

Several witnesses, including the wife and two sons of Bowman, were summoned by Attorney W. P. Guthrie, counsel for Bowman at the hearing, to testify that Bowman had been confined to his bed by illness at the time of the alleged sale of liquor on or about January 18, last.

Former Secretary to Give Deposition in $30,000 Damage Suit of Caravan Members

E. T. Meredith of Des Moines, Iowa, former secretary of agriculture and an official of the Idaho Farm Development company, holders of an irrigation project at Roseworth, southwest of Burli, Idaho, will testify by deposition as a witness for the company in five pending suits instituted against it by members of the Brooklyn "Modern Caravan" for damages aggregating approximately $30,000.

Stipulation by attorneys to this effect was Friday filed in the district court here, together with a list of the questions Mr. Meredith will be asked to answer.

The questions are propounded by counsel for the company. The inquiry as to Mr. Meredith's part in a contract under which William D. Scott, leader of the "modern caravan," conducted a series of parties at Roseworth, New York, on an overland journey across the continent to establish homes on the Roseworth project.

The questions inquire also as to how much information was furnished by Mr. Meredith for advertising literature is "modern caravan," a venture, each of which is alleged by the former "caravaners" to be fraudulent.

The former caravan members who are plaintiffs in these suits, in each instance have left the Roseworth project and several of them have established residences in other Idaho communities. They are Walter MacPherson, Twin Falls, meat and dairy inspector; Paul Hanft, organist and choir director of St. Michael's cathedral, Boise; Alfred P. Hyde, Herbert E. Roth and Frederick H. Bagnall.

Members of a delegation of apiarists from the Burli county, again urging favorable action by the county commissioners on their request for an appropriation for inspectors' salary in connection with warfare on "foul brood," were told Friday by Commissioner O. E. Carlson, the only member of the board on hand that day for a regular session, that the action of the commissioners would have to await the convening of a quorum of the board. Commissioner T. D. Connor left early this week on a business trip to Wallace, Idaho.

$25,000 LOSS ESTIMATED IN BASEMENT FIRE

Stubborn Blaze in Moorman Building Causes Heavy Damage; Fireman and Aides Overcome

Masks Defective.

While firemen with gas masks and respirators that in several instances proved defective, struggled to locate the center of the fire and great clouds of brown-gray smoke gushed from both front and rear of the building—water was poured into the basement through six lines of hose, three of which were supplied by the pump, an average pressure of 140 pounds being maintained. Occasional bursts of flame from the basement entrance indicated ignition of gas.

After about an hour flames burst through the first floor, a large portion of which fell soon afterward. With the center of the fire thus disclosed the firemen cut through the west wall in several places and applied streams of water, quickly bringing the blaze under control.

The oil-steam pump, was provided into service to pump out the basement of the Moorman building from which water leaked through into adjoining basements.

Adams Succumbs.

Harmer Adams succumbed to the smoke and fumes when he attempted to carry a nozzle into the basement after the firemen had been battling for about 10 minutes with the fire. A few moments later Clifford Blevins, volunteer assistant, was carried out of the basement entrance suffering temporarily from inhalation of the smoke. Arthur Peters, assistant fire chief, when the fire department arrived on the scene, entered the building from the rear and made his way to the first floor to the front door. Through a defective gas mask he inhaled so much smoke that he was almost incapacitated, but continued actively in the fight until his conclusion.

Donald Flynn was injured when, with others battling a smoldering fire in the basement after the floor had fallen. He slipped on the stair and fell striking his arm against broken window glass.

Inmates of the second floor of adjoining buildings during the two hours' battle with the flames, removed many of their possessions.

Damage Not Heavy.

W. H. Eldridge, of the Eldridge clothing company, stated last evening that he believed his loss would be confined to smoke damage of his stock, and was unable then to estimate the amount of loss.

C. R. Brook, manager of the Wardworth company store, expressed the opinion that damage offered by that establishment would be practically negligible.

Dr. Wyatt announced this his offices would be opened this morning in his residence.

COURT RULES VERDICT STRIKES WIDE OF MARK

Jury's Award to Raymond and J. J. Rugg Without Regard for James and Ira Patton's Undisputed Claim Is Set Aside

Verdict returned Friday by a jury in district court here in the case of James and Ira Patton against Raymond and J. J. Rugg, was set aside summarily by Judge W. A. Babcock for the announced reason that the finding awarded $335 to the defendants Rugg against the plaintiffs' claim was at variance with the pleadings in the case and the court's instructions. The verdict was signed by 11 out of the 12 jurors. It was indicated that the case would be submitted at a new trial.

Pleadings and instructions provided that Ruggs' claim for $335, if allowed by the jury, should be deducted from the Pattons' claim for $2940, with interest on amount of notes executed in payment for dairy cattle and dairy supplies and which was not disputed. The defendant Ruggs claimed that they had not been given credit by Pattons to the alleged payment of $335.

Plaintiff Pattons were represented by Attorney Homer C. Mills, and defendant Ruggs by Attorney J. W. Taylor.
