

CONNECT ARREST OF COUPLE WITH HOLDUP SERIES

Young Husband and Wife Taken in Custody in Florida; Woman Is Suspected as Notorious Bobbed Haired Bandit

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 21 (AP)—Celia Cooney, 20 years old, smiled a demure goodbye as she boarded a train here today for New York in custody of two detectives to face charges there of highway robbery and assault with intent to kill in connection with a long series of daring holdups credited to the "Bobbed Haired Girl bandit."

Her husband, Edward Cooney 25, also charged with the holdups and shooting, was visibly shaken as he began the trip back to New York.

Mrs. Cooney maintained the alternate air of calm indifference and vivaciousness which she displayed from the time of her arrest early today, when she greeted the leveled revolvers of the police with a smile and an automatic pistol.

Wanted to Kill.

"I won't shoot of you won't," she offered when the police broke in the door of the room in which they were staying, and a threatened gun fight was averted. She persuaded her husband, she told the police, not to shoot when the officers entered the room. Cooney, who faced the police with a revolver in each hand, wanted to kill her and then commit suicide rather than be captured, Mrs. Cooney said.

Cooney, according to Detective P. S. Gray of New York, confessed to taking part in a number of New York holdups credited to the couple, including the holdup of the Brooklyn plant of the National Biscuit company, in which an employee was shot, three times and seriously wounded. Cooney and his wife according to detectives, each attempted to take the blame for the shooting.

Mrs. Cooney, slender brunette, about five feet two inches tall, with black eyes, wore her hair under a net when she left today and it did not have the appearance of being bobbed. She told the police that her hair had been blonde but that she had dyed it.

Child Died.

It was the birth and subsequent death of their child that led to the apprehension of the Cooneys. The child, a girl, was born here on April 11, and died eight days later. It was born just ten days after the holdup of the National Biscuit company plant on April 1, which Mrs. Cooney said was her twentieth birthday.

The trail led through 13 states, according to detectives from New York. Upon arrival here last night the detectives with the aid of the Jacksonville police, said they traced the couple from one rooming house to another without results. It was through the undertaker who had charge of funeral arrangements for the child that their address was obtained.

Mrs. Cooney ceased to smile for a few minutes today when she discussed the death of her child.

"We named her Katherine," she said.

New York police said they obtained the "tip" that the Cooneys were in Jacksonville through a message for money that Cooney was said to have sent his mother in New York.

The money, Mrs. Cooney was said, was used to pay the hospital bill. Police said the couple was without funds when arrested. They were living here under the name of Sheeha.

LITTLE CHANGE IN STATUS OF STOCK PLAGUE

Minor Outbreaks Reported in Coast Area; Quarantine Observance Still Necessary; Oregon Men to Make Survey

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 21 (AP)—Minor outbreaks of the foot and mouth disease were reported today from Merced county and 24 cattle and 10 hogs were destroyed and buried. The situation in that county was reported as somewhat more encouraging by Dr. H. Grafke, federal inspector, who added it is "necessary that people continue to stay at home and observe the quarantine."

The municipal hog farm at Long Beach, containing 7500 hogs, was placed under quarantine after a report was received that several of the hogs were infected. A diagnosis will be made tomorrow.

Another congestion of tourists desiring to leave the state loomed when the state quarantine officer of Nevada issued an order not to allow automobiles to cross the California-Nevada state line after six o'clock at night.

Will Make Survey

Reports received from the committee that called on Governor Pierce of Oregon said Oregon had named a special committee to visit California and observe what efforts are being made to stop the epizootic. The California committee offered to pay the expenses of the Oregon commission, but Governor Pierce said this would be taken care of by Oregon.

The California committee in presenting the situation that "not only California but the entire United States is threatened a calamity not because of the disease in itself but because of the commercial disruption caused by the embargo against California. An embargo by the United States, the Californians said, would not only spell the ruin of California, but the ruin of the entire Pacific coast.

The state of California announced automobile campers would be subjected to fumigation before they would be permitted to enter the state. The packing houses in Los Angeles reopened today and all animals received will be killed within 48 hours.

STILL SPREADING

LOS ANGELES, April 21 (AP)—Spread of the foot and mouth epizootic to San Bernardino county, heretofore uninfected, was reported here today to the state department of agriculture. The disease, according to advices, has attacked a herd of 1000 hogs on a ranch 13 miles west of Colton.

Immediate steps will be taken to quarantine the entire southwest portion of the newly infected county, state officers said.

What Linit Means to the Well-Dressed Woman

EVERY well-dressed woman takes great pride in the dainty, fresh appearance of her personal wash garments.

But, because it is often difficult to get good results with ordinary starch that forms a sticky jelly when it cools, the modern woman now starches with Linit, the remarkable new starch discovery.

Linit is a new starch—distinctly different from ordinary, old-fashioned starches. Linit gives a soft, pliable finish to all fabrics, making even cotton goods look and feel like linen.

LINIT makes a THIN, "milky" mixture, free-running like water. You dip your garments into this mixture which is quickly absorbed by the fabric. Linit is not "spread on," which was customary with the old-fashioned starches.

The Linit mixture does not present the stiff, jelly-like appearance of ordinary starch. This is why you will find it easier to iron with Linit.

Use but half the amount of Linit than of old-fashioned starch—because Linit goes twice as far.

Your Grocer now has Linit—10c.

VOIGT HAS NEW PLAN FOR FARM RELIEF MEASURE

Wisconsin Representative introduces Scheme for $50,000,000 Export Corporation as Substitute for Pending Bill

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Representative Voigt, Wisconsin, republican insurgent on the house agricultural committee, today introduced a bill for the creation of a corporation to sell wheat abroad along lines similar to the plan provided in the McNary-Haugen bill under which various farm products would be handled for export.

Mr. Voigt announced he would press for action on his bill as a substitute for the McNary-Haugen measure, which he contended is unworkable in that it attempts to cover too broad a field. Under the bill sponsored by the Wisconsin representative a corporation with a capital of $50,000,000 to be subscribed by the government as against the $200,000,000 fund called for in the McNary-Haugen measure would be set up to buy all kinds of wheat until the price of No. 1 northern spring wheat at Minneapolis reached $1.65 a bushel.

Grain purchased would be sold abroad, but if the price reached $1.70 the corporation would have authority to sell in the domestic market.

A charge of 15 per cent would be made by the corporation against each bushel of wheat bought from farmers who would be reimbursed, in the event a profit was made by the corporation, in proportion to the amount left after deduction of losses on exports and expenses for handling the grain.

Provision also is made for an embargo on wheat and wheat products with the president authorized to declare emergencies during which wheat could be imported.

VOTE DEMANDED ON CASH OPTION

Copeland Ignores Party Leaders' Position and Insists on Showdown on Bonus Plan

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—A showdown on the proposal for a cash option in the pending straight insurance soldier bonus bill was demanded today by Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, after his party leaders earlier in the day had formally withdrawn such a substitute measure.

Agreement was reached to vote on the cash option proposal tomorrow afternoon and Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, in charge of the measure, announced he would seek a final vote on the bonus bill by tomorrow night. Senator Copeland offered the cash option amendment which was drawn up by the minority members of the finance committee and which Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, its author, just previously had announced would not be pressed. Mr. Walsh had said he would offer the amendment when the pending insurance bill became a law.

The pension insurance bill had received the endorsement of the American Legion and Commander Quinn last Saturday sent each senator a message urging that no attempt be made to amend it.

In view of this republican leaders were confident tonight that the cash option would not be voted in, pointing out that advocates of the pending measure would be joined probably by all opponents of a bonus bill.

$ Puts an AutoMatic in Your Home

—and You Can Pay the Balance on Terms of $5 a Month

Think of the pleasure and satisfaction of knowing that you have such a ready and willing servant in your home—a servant that is ready at the turn of the switch to do your whole week's washing, no matter how large without any real work on your part.

The Auto-Matic is an ideal washer for the average family. The cost is very reasonable and it is constructed to give years of reliable service and do it economically. No washer can do more than the Auto-Matic—and you never had so good an opportunity as now to get yours.

More than 1700 housewives in this territory are now enthusiastic users of the Auto-Matic, and before this month's special offer is over, there will be several hundred more. Place your order at once if you want to get your Auto-Matic and Rid-Jid Ironing Board without delay. The demand has been so great that we've had difficulty in getting them in fast enough.

Copper Tub

The all solid copper, corrugated tub of the Auto-Matic insures long life and it is easy to clean. The self draining, sloping bottom is a big convenience.

Metal Agitator

The new model features an aluminum Hydro-Disc agitator that induces a whirlpool, slushing action on the clothes that forces the sudsy water through them most effectively.

All Metal Wringer

The Auto-Matic is equipped with one of the best all metal wringers made. It is adjustable instantly to any position.

Folding Tub Rack

This rack places the clothes basket right up under the wringer and saves a lot of stooping and lifting.

The Rid-Jid Ironing Board

This board, which is given free with each Auto-Matic, is strongly constructed of best materials and will not wiggle, wobble, jiggle, slip or slide. The open feature is a great convenience.

BLUSTER MILL IS NOW READY

New York Declares Installation
One of Latest and Best in Use Anywhere

The new mill of the Bluster property at Jarbidge, representing an investment of $200,000, is now completed and practically ready to run, according to E. R. Cook of New York, who yesterday passed through Twin Falls en route from the scene of the company's operations to his home.

Mr. Cook states that the mill represents the last word in the way of modern scientific equipment for the recovery of values in precious metals. It is a cyanide process plant of 100 tons capacity and within the next few days will be at work on the tailings now on the dump from former operations. The mill in all comprised 13 carloads of machinery and equipment, all of which was shipped to Rogers and freighted in last fall and winter.

In addition to the dumps a sufficient quantity of ore to keep the plant busy for three years is blocked out, Mr. Cook says. Over 6000 feet of tunnel has been driven and a depth of 500 feet or the beginning of the sulphide ore bodies has been attained. Average values run from $14 to $15 a ton in gold and silver, with a milling and milling cost of not to exceed $6.

Future Assured.

"If the values go down with the sulphide zone," said Mr. Cook, "there is no way of estimating the value of the mineral content of the property. There is, however, no question but what Jarbidge is destined to be one of the richest and longest lived precious metal camps in the country. Work done so far fully warrants this statement."

One of the things most needed at Jarbidge is improved road conditions between the camp and Rogers. A quarter of a million dollars worth of business a year is a conservative estimate of what Twin Falls is getting out of the camp even now, and with a well kept, first class road this would increase steadily.

"It's only 15 miles farther to Jarbidge from Mountainhome than from Twin Falls, with a splendid road all the way to the hot hole. While the extra 15 miles render the route less popular than that from Twin Falls, it is a much better and faster road, and a number of recent shipments have been made that way."

LOGAN ANNOUNCES MOVE

Logan Music company, which sustained almost total loss of its stock in the fire Friday evening that devastated the D. B. Moorman building, Main avenue north, will occupy new quarters with an entirely new stock of musical instruments and sheet music about May 1 in the Bruggemann building, Main avenue west, occupied at one time by the Twin Falls postoffice, according to announcement made Monday by R. K. Logan. In the meantime, the company will maintain temporary headquarters in the office of Finch and Roberts, Mr. Logan said.

Repair of the fire damaged building, in which quarters have been leased to Herbst and Hanbo, confectionery, will be started in the immediate future, Mr. Moorman, the owner, stated Monday.

CALLS ON CITIZENS TO FIGHT DISEASE THREAT

Governor Moore Asks for United Purpose in Safeguarding State Against Foot and Mouth Malady

Following is the text of a proclamation issued last Friday by Governor Moore calling upon Idaho citizens to give united support to quarantine regulations against spread of foot and mouth disease from California to Idaho.

The livestock industry of Idaho is in grave danger of being infected with the so-called foot and mouth disease, which already has caused a loss of more than two millions of dollars in the state of California. The introduction of such disease in the state of Idaho would not only destroy the livestock industry but would, as a result, bankrupt all of its other industries and institutions. The far-reaching results of such a calamity cannot be over-estimated.

The state department of agriculture has established a rigid quarantine and the officers, though few in number, are making a strenuous effort to prevent this disease gaining a foothold in Idaho. In spite of all the state can do officially, there is danger from incoming products and livestock which may carry the infection. The success of this quarantine measure depends upon the co-operation of all citizens of the state.

Citizens of Idaho should familiarize themselves with the provisions of this quarantine regulation which is thought necessary to protect livestock and other industries and should report all deviations from its requirements. All peace officers of the state should be on the alert for violators and summary action should be taken to prevent any possible influx of the disease. All livestock coming into Idaho should be examined, and if necessary, disinfected, and all packing on California products should be immediately burned. Automobiles from California should be disinfected and wandering workmen from that state should subject their clothing and tools to disinfection.

Club officials and ministers have excellent opportunity to impress upon the general public the seriousness of the situation, and the co-operation of the press of the state is most essential in the successful operation of this quarantine. A greater unity of purpose is needed among our citizens. Now, therefore, I, C. C. Moore, governor of the state of Idaho, do urge that mayors and peace officers of cities and villages, sheriffs and deputy sheriffs of counties and all other health and peace officers of the state unite in the prevention of the foot and mouth disease through careful enforcement of the regulations now in force, and, further, I urge that all citizens co-operate in the destruction of suspected products and livestock and in reporting infractions of the regulations to peace officers of the state, to the end that Idaho may not suffer from this scourge.

GREAT MASS MEETING

AT THE PARISH HALL
APRIL 24th at 2. P. M.
H. F. Samuels Will Discuss Possibilities of CHEAPER COAL FOR IDAHO

The only large volume of merchantable coal in Idaho is found in the Teton Basin in Teton county. Robt. N. Bell, state mine inspector, some years ago made thorough investigation of the coal measures in and about what is known as the Brown Bear group and reported many million tons of high-grade coal, sufficient to supply the entire state of Idaho many years. The federal government during the war sent its coal experts to make a complete examination of this coal property and they reported many millions of tons of good coal available with proper development, in quality equal to that of Utah and Wyoming. They also recommended that the government extend the Short Line tracks from Teton Junction to the Brown Bear mine, a distance of approximately ten miles. The government acting on the recommendation caused the extension to be built to the mine, laying a good track, using first-class ties and 75-pound steel rails.

There was a big demand for the coal and shipments began. Later the property got into litigation over financial matters and all work was suspended until last winter, when the property was taken over by the Teton Coal Company, the present owners. The sale to the latter company was confirmed in federal court by Judge F. S. Dietrich, giving the Teton Coal Company a clean title to the property. Since starting up, the Teton Company has mined and turned over to the farmers for delivery over 2000 tons of coal, securing for the people of Teton county a net reduction in price of $8.00 per ton or $12,000 since December 1. The Teton company has developed the mine so as to ship 100 tons per day and a long tunnel is being driven to develop the mine so it can ship from 500 to 1000 tons of coal daily. It will require the extension of the present tunnel which is about 800 feet to about 3000 feet to reach the coal deposits.

The estimated cost of this development is from $75,000 to $100,000. The Teton Company is ready to finance and push this development as soon as it is assured that the Short Line R. R. Co. will not tear up the track built and paid for by the Federal government in order that people of Idaho could get cheaper coal, and develop Idaho's resources, and furnish ample cars to ship said coal at a fair freight rate.

The aim of the Teton Coal Co. is to develop Idaho coal mines and furnish the people of Idaho with cheap first-class coal. The policy of the company is to produce the coal as cheaply as possible for the people, giving the miners a living wage, so they can maintain the American standard of living, allowing a fair profit to the investors of the Teton Coal Co.

The Short Line Railroad Company is not operating the branch line to the mine and was only prevented from taking up the track last year by the Idaho Public Utilities Commission. To develop the mine and make it of value to the people of Idaho it is not only necessary that service be had by rail but that reasonable freight rates be charged by the railroad company for hauling the coal.

H. F. Samuels, the president and general manager of the Teton Coal Company, went to Salt Lake April 5 to confer with H. V. Platt, general manager, and H. E. Goodwin, assistant general freight agent of the Short Line Railroad Co., in regard to repairing the branch leading to the coal mine, delivering cars to load for shipment and for reasonable freight rates. Mr. Platt did not favor repairing the branch line or the development of the coal mine, stating that the track should be taken up and the ties and rails used elsewhere. Mr. Samuels suggested the rate to Ashton, Victor and intermediate points the first 40-mile haul should be $1.00 per ton, which he thought was a fair and equitable rate. From Brown Bear to points beyond Ashton to and including Thornton, $1.12½ per ton; from Brown Bear to points beyond Thornton to and including Idaho Falls $1.25 per ton; from Brown Bear to points beyond Idaho Falls to and including Blackfoot, $1.37½ per ton; from Brown Bear to points beyond Blackfoot to and including Pocatello, $1.50 per ton. Mr. Samuels has filed a petition with the Idaho Public Utilities Commission asking for an order compelling the Short Line to put its track in order, furnish cars and a fair and reasonable intra-state rate applicable to all stations in Idaho.

We feel that it is every citizen's duty to come to this meeting and help elect delegates to meet with the Public Utilities Commission and let them know what our wishes are in this most important matter pertaining to the future development of our great state.

BUNK

A Democratic speaker at a Democratic meeting in Twin Falls the other day assured his hearers that of all the iniquitous measures with which the country had been cursed by the Republicans, that which permitted corporation dividends to escape the income tax was perhaps the worst.
It is like this: A Twin Falls man, let us assume, decides to buy a few shares of bank stock, or stock in some other corporation the affairs of which he knows to be on a sound financial footing. In the transaction he becomes a part owner in the business which the shares represent. The business makes money, puts a part in surplus account, pays its income tax and other necessary similar expenses, and distributed the balance to its stockholders in the form of dividends.
The corporation whose earnings the stockholder has received has already paid income tax—if it had no income tax to pay the shareholder would have had just that much more added to his dividend check or retained in the business in which his stock represents a share. The Democratic plan would provide that it is entirely proper for the recipient of the dividend to pay another income tax—upon his share of the earnings of a corporation which has already expended a part of his money for this very purpose.
The crime of the Republicans is in saying that it is not all right for this stockholder to pay the tax over again.
The principle obtains clear through the whole range of corporations from the steel trust down to the smallest of the small. Dividends must be paid; more and more money must be driven out of beneficial industry and lodged in tax-free securities.

This question of taxing dividends is a very good example indeed of the kind of politics which would decree to be wrong those things sponsored and supported by the opposition party. It is a good example of "politics" in its best and highest form.

THE JAP OVERFLOW

The Japanese immigration problem results from a situation in Japan much like that of England and Italy. There is a vigorous, prolific race, multiplying as rapidly as to overflow its confines and seek economic relief through emigration.

England had a great advantage in sending forth its great emigrant waves while there were vast, fruitful areas in the world unoccupied, or occupied only by a sparse and barbarous population. Italy was a great colonizing country in olden days, but came into the modern colonial game rather late. Japan came latest of all, when the "great open spaces" had nearly all been seized and tagged by western nations.

The Japs have no important colonial possession except Formosa. That is a rich island, but for some reason or other, the Japanese do not seem to flourish there. Unfortunately they are most attracted to America, where they can come only by "infiltration" and where that process is stubbornly resisted because the two races do not mix.

The United States has a perfect right to bar the Japanese, proportionately or absolutely. It is unfortunate, however, for both countries that there is not some way whereby the Japanese overflow of population could be taken care of without turning this way.

The natural habitat of the Japanese is Asia, and there are not only great commercial opportunities in that continent, but great areas inviting pioneer development. This is especially true of Siberia. It would be a fine thing in many ways if the Japanese race could expend its energies and numbers on that great, undeveloped country as we have expended ours, in the last century, on western America.

PRaise For MOVIES

After all the unkind things that have been said about the movies lately—their failure to meet artistic possibilities, their vulgarity, their same-ness, their lack of plot, their lack of dramatic value—it is interesting to hear another voice telling a different story about them. That the man who sang their praise was formerly president of a state theatre owners' association may make us scan his words more critically, but it does not prove them untrue.

According to this friend of the films, Motion pictures have opened to millions new vistas of knowledge and beauty. They have brought the glories of the Alpine sunset, the mysterious charm of the Orient, the feathery waterfall, the multitudinous wonders of nature into the drab lives of the town-dweller and factory worker.

"They have provided countless hours of laughter, of romance and adventure for a great class of Americans who were unable to afford the luxury of frequent entertainment.

"They have given the opportunity to millions to see the work of great artists, to know many of the best actors and actresses of the generation, and they will preserve to posterity the historic art of this period.

"They have played a noble and generous part in public charity."

Each of this is readily admitted. Potentially, at last, the movies can do much more than this. That they have frequently fallen down in their noble work of cheering, educating, entertaining and reflecting the public mind is perhaps the public's fault as much as anybody's.

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonial Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband enjoys inviting people for dinner but regrets it when the evening comes around.

It is an southern hospitality in person when it comes to telling people to be sure to come for dinner some night next week. Then somebody asks him, "What night?" and he is in for it.

He seems to go out of his way to make future engagements. If we happen to be sitting quietly at home for a few evenings in succession, he's sure to say:

"Tell you what I think I'll do—call up Jerry Leonard and see if he and Mildred won't come over for dinner some night soon."

But when "next week" and "some night soon" arrive, Hugh is never feeling nearly so hospitable.

"Dogsie!" he'll say at breakfast. "This is the night that Mildred and Jerry are coming, isn't it? I certainly would like an evening to myself once in a while."

Funny how quickly some men get over their entertaining impulses.

Tomorrow: "My wife begins to make a series of phone calls about 10:30 every evening."

Too Old To Be Good

Roy Chapman Andrews, of the Asiatic expedition in China overhauled the expedition's account with the American Banking company at Peking. When the bank asked for more security Andrews offered two dinosaur eggs 10,000,000 years old. The banker refused to cash the eggs as collateral and it was necessary to sell the American-made automobiles which brought him the original cost despite the fact that they had traveled 6,000 miles over camel trails of northern China.

"I'll stay in barracks," said Bill, Pathfinder.

THE UNHAPPY MISER
By DADDY

Jack and Janet find Martha Robin and her babies hungry because Cocky Robin, her mate, has left her for some unknown reason. The children set out to find Cocky Robin.

CHAPTER II.
The Can of Worms.

JACK and Janet hurried to the hollow behind the mill. They were seeking Cocky Robin to find why he had left his mate and babies right in the middle time when he usually was a good house and father.

"If Cocky Robin is in the hollow we shall hear him singing," said Janet to Jack.

"Yes," agreed Jack. "Cocky Robin is a very merry cluck and does a lot of singing."

No song greeted them, however, when they came to the hollow. The place was silent. No bird was in sight, either. The place seemed deserted.

"Let us look among the bushes to be sure Cocky Robin is not here," said Janet.

So they ran down into the hollow and looked among the bushes. Cocky Robin was not there. But as they searched among the bushes they came upon something that made them wonder—a large tin can carefully covered with leaves. When they looked inside they found it was half filled with wriggling little worms.

"Somebody has put these worms for fish bait," said Jack.

"But why has he hidden them in the bushes?" asked Janet. Jack could not answer that.

"Perhaps he is going to play hooky from school," suggested Janet. "Let us watch and see who comes."

They hid themselves behind the bushes and waited to see if a boy would come to get the worms. No boy came, but after a while they heard a fluttering that caused them to peek at the can.

There was Cocky Robin. But he was a much different Cocky Robin from the plump, dapper, cheerful fellow they knew. He was now thin, bedraggled and unhappy looking. The severely would believe it really was Cocky himself.

THE MOSQUITO AND YELLOW FEVER.

The lowly mosquito has a history of mischief. This little insect has made countless trips to human beings carrying the germ of yellow fever—malaria. Yellow fever and its transportation system, the mosquito army, defeated the French government in its attempt to construct the Panama canal. Thousands of lives were lost. Cuba, at one time, particularly suffered from this disease, which took its heavy toll of her population.

When we think of yellow fever and the mosquito, this is to doctor Walter Reed. The experiments of this medical genius first showed that the chief method of transmitting yellow fever can be controlled and practically prevented by the destruction of the mosquito or the protection of the sick against his bite, since if the mosquito is not infected it cannot infect others.

The result of this last great scientific discovery of the nineteenth century was to make America safe from this devastating scourge.

Dr. Reed was chairman of the Yellow Fever Commission in 1900, which was sent to Cuba to study this particular disease. He had with him Dr. Carroll, Lazear and Agnante. The mosquito had been suspected for some time. Animal experimentation was out of the question, for, if human beings were infected, it was found necessary to find new ways would volunteer themselves for a process of terrible experimentation.

Carroll, Lazear and Agnante offered themselves for this test. Agnante was called back to Washington and did not get to take it. Dr. Carroll was the first to be infected in this way. He was bitten by a mosquito which had been previously allowed to bite yellow fever patients. He came down with the fever and was very ill, but recovered. Dr. Lazear was the next to come down—and he died. Other experiments were made by various members of Uncle Sam's medical organization, and from these human experiments came the knowledge that made possible the defeat of yellow fever.

The direct benefit to Cuba is shown by the fact that her mortality of 300 deaths a month was cut to three in less than a year. The Panama canal zone was cleaned up, construction on the big waterway was made possible, and this part of America was made sanitary and healthful—another monument to the progressive march of science.

Where a Calico Strip
Makes a Woman's Dress

Human nature is not more unchanging than the dress modes affected by the African native.
Let him who gives at modern civilized woman's predilection for short skirts and bare arms and shoulders put this in his pipe and smoke it. In Africa the most moral people generally are those who wear the least clothing, says Major Rains in the London Mail.

Until quite recently the Kavirondo of Kenya colony wore no clothes at all. But at length the government has put forth that this practice, or nonpractice, must cease. Then each woman obediently purchased herself a length of calico, that was worn shawliwise, and that only when a government officer was the vicinity.

But the people who do wear clothes are most conservative in their tastes. The cloths, or robes, must always be the same length, the same breadth and of the same material.

No underclothes are worn, so that an African husband is not called upon to meet with a wife who is undressed by his wife. As for stockings, silk or otherwise, tribal women do not wear them.

An African woman will take a dozen yards of calico, knit it over one shoulder, and with a few deft turns and twists, she is transformed in the most chic and becoming costume. Not a pin or stitch is used to connect the whole, which is a work of art.

All over Africa there is an unrelenting demand for calico, bleached and unbleached. Much of it is imported from the east coast, Manchester, or Buffalo, and is worn by the better class of natives; poorer natives purchase a length occasionally to wear on gala occasions.

Although Japan and India are minor competitors, America has practically monopolized the trade all through the dark continent in the latter. It is universally known as Amerikani.

Millions and millions of yards of Amerikani are imported annually into the African mandated areas and crown colonies.

Prehistoric Man in Asia 500,000-Years Ago

The evidence of prehistoric man in northern Asia so far obtained by the Roy Chapman Andrews expedition consists of a collection of plants which is now on way to America.

"It has not been established how old they are, but from a report I have received from our paleontologist I am of the opinion that they are about half a million years old, or about the same age as the Pliocene Epoch," says Mr. Andrews in a recent visit to Columbus, O., according to the Ohio State Journal. "They are highly important to science, no matter how old they are, because they constitute the first evidence of the existence of prehistoric man in that portion of the world."

The expedition, conducted under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, Asia Magazine and a group of New York philanthropists, has produced more than ten thousand fish, reptiles and birds, and some fifty cases of fossils and about two thousand mammals, including a fossilized skull of a lambdatherium, a sort of glorified rhinoceros, the largest mammal that ever roamed the earth.

Madrid Now Has a Curfew

Madrid has always been a city of night life. Now many of the writers who have described nocturnal rambles through its cafes and taverns where all classes mingle!

Now, however, the curfew rings at three o'clock in the morning and the police have been instructed to see to it that the streets are cleared up after that late—or early—hour. This is an economic measure, as the cost of lighting is too high in a land where electricity is scarce.

At three o'clock, therefore, all the guitars in Madrid must cease their strumming and the street vendors of the polychrome mist, sheathe their weapons for a few hours.—Le Figaro, Paris.

Electric "Sun" for Crops

Two crops of lettuce have been made to grow in the time only one grew before, by the use of electric lights as an artificial sun, according to the International Institute of Agriculture. Five electric bulbs of considerable power were turned on a bed of lettuce daily for six hours after dusk. The lettuce so treated had, after only twelve days, approximately two and a half times as many leaves as lettuce on other beds which had been planted at the same time but which had not been exposed to the electric light.

Cost of Royal Wedding

With a ceremony of seven days' duration and at a cost of $2,500,000, the Crown Prince Hirohito, prince regent of Japan, and Princess Nagako Kuno, capped their royal romance in nuptial rings. The marriage in many ways is the most significant in royal Japanese history as this union was the first one in 2,500 years where a royal son married according to the dictates of his heart, it is said. The prince had to fight the old custom for her, because she is of another branch of the imperial house.

Conductor Found the Lumberjack Too Lively

The wood burned by the locomotives in the early days of the railroads was piled at points along the line and from the platforms the conductor and brakeman had the duty of throwing it aboard the trains. Educated first in the rougher work of freight train running, this task was handled without complaint by most passenger trainmen, but it must have been viewed differently by a certain conductor who had come from the East and who soon after had an experience that gave him an enduring desire to go back to more civilized communities.

This conductor came out to Wisconsin believing that his acquaintance with Eastern railroad operations would make him invaluable, shortly, to his new employers. He got a flying start through influence that landed him a passenger conductor's post, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press. He might have known all about the technical requirements of the job, but he knew little of human nature as presented in types common to the Northwest. On his first run he encountered the lumberjack, rough, god-forsaken fellow who, when traveling in gangs on the railroad, were as playful as schoolboys and with little intent to do harm.

The conductor started to collect fares. The first lumberjack that he approached withheld his ticket. The conductor could not see the joke, and the passenger conductor's post, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press. He might have known all about the technical requirements of the job, but he knew little of human nature as presented in types common to the Northwest. On his first run he encountered the lumberjack, rough, god-forsaken fellow who, when traveling in gangs on the railroad, were as playful as schoolboys and with little intent to do harm.

Rare Dollar of 1804 Found in Ohio Town

Nimble-minded throughout the United States are manifesting considerable interest over the reported discovery in Lancaster, O., recently of an 1804 silver dollar, a coin known among collectors as the "King of American Dollars," and variously valued at from $3,000 to $12,000. This is one of the rarest of coins, and its existence, and with its discovery the owners of all right are now known.

Martin Heintzger, the Lancaster merchant in whose home the "eighteen 1804 dollar" has resided in a bureau drawer for many years, is said to have acquired it from Col. William Stearns. The donor had requested Mr. Heintzger not to dispose of the coin, and consequently its whereabouts has remained a mystery for many years.

The rarity of the 1804 dollar and the interesting story which attaches to it make it the most notable and valuable silver piece ever coined in the United States. It is said that the scarcity of this dollar was due to the sinking of a China-bound vessel, which had on board almost the entire mintage of the 1804 dollars in the form of the Silver Dollar.

The first specimen of the 1804 dollar in the mint cabinet in Philadelphia weighs 41.52 grains, which is the weight of the specimen just located in Ohio.—Boys' World.

Largest Grain Elevator

Enough wheat to feed 500,000 men for one year is stored in a grain elevator recently built at a railroad terminal on the eastern seaboard. The structure, said to be the largest of its kind in the world, will hold 2,500,000 bushels. Figuring the United States average per capita consumption at about five bushels per year, the supply in this huge structure is sufficient to feed some of Europe's hungry nations for twelve months. The quantity that can be kept in this granary is estimated to be about one-fifth as much as the total crop of Iowa.

No Last-Minute Goal

A townsman dropping in on a carefree college youth found him humped over a wondrous notion. Whereupon the following conversation ensued:
"Studying?"
"Yeah, Gotta."
"How?"
"Geometry ain't like football."
"Huh?"
"Can't make a goal in the last two minutes."

Dye Research in U. S. Costly

Dye research in the United States since the outbreak of the European war in 1914, when German chemical dyes were substantially cut off from the world, had cost more than $20,000,000 up to 1920 and large sums have since been spent to perfect discoveries during those critical years. Nevertheless 43 per cent of the imported dyes in 1922 had again come from Germany.

Center for Furniture

Furniture factories are locating rapidly in the South and the state of North Carolina has become a thriving furniture center in the last five years. In 1910 that state had only 83 factories producing $11,252,000 worth of furniture, but today there are 126 factories with an output of $30,250,000. The pay roll has increased five times in this industry alone.

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TO SOLVE DRAIN PROBLEM

Authorizes Widening of Gutter to Relieve Flooded Condition in Event of Heavy Rain; Rejects Power Contract

In consideration of drainage requirements in rainy weather, Twin Falls municipal commission at a regular meeting Monday evening approved Commissioner S. R. All's proposition for increasing the capacity of a gutter on Shoshone street south of Irving street, estimated expense of $500, and authorized beginning the work immediately provided street department funds of the current year are available. An accounting to be made at once will show whether this work can be started immediately, or whether its beginning must be postponed to the opening of the new fiscal year May 1. J. S. Koch, Commissioner of finance, stated, Commissioner All suggested also early beginning of work on increased drainage facilities on Sixth avenue north.

The commission's action in this regard followed brief discussion opened by Commissioner Koch with an inquiry as to progress being made with installation of water meters. Harry Rayburn, street and waterworks superintendent, advised that installation of meters had been completed in north and east quarters of town with the exception of a few places where two residences were served through a common tap and where installation of service lines would be required. He stated that this work would be completed within the next 10 days, but that meter installation in south and west quarters of town would require another month's time.

Members of the commission agreed that a charge of $2.50 an hour for spraying trees began Monday in the city park to eradicate insect pests that threaten serious damage to Twin Falls shade trees was a reasonable charge, and that cost of spraying elm trees on this basis would hardly exceed 25 cents each while cost of spraying orchard trees would be materially less. The subject was introduced by Commissioner All, who said that he sought authorization of the whole commission before approving this charge. Owner and operators of the spray machine were present and explained spraying operations.

With no discussion and by unanimous vote the commission declined to enter into 10-years contract with the Idaho Power company for power and lighting service other than street lighting. The subject had been postponed at the preceding meeting to this time.

Upon recommendation of Chief of Police P. O. Herriman, municipal license issued to Della Dawson for operation of the Weaver rooms, 255 Main avenue east, was revoked by the commission. The police chief asked for this action because, he said, he had evidence that the proprietors and their agents had violated the liquor laws.

Inability of the municipality to complete the federal government to pay for cost of street paving assessed against the federal building property was admitted by the commissioners, and action was taken to relieve the federal government of this charge which, according to advice to the city attorney, it declines to pay. It was decided that warrant should be issued against the proper fund in payment of the assessments made during the past four years, and that no further assessments should be made against this property. This payment will be made to the county treasurer's office and by that office returned to the city for deduction of legal charge for collection amounting in this instance to about $5. It was admitted that this expenditure is a temporary one adopted to meet the situation resulting from requirement for sale of property against which assessments become delinquent for four years. With the maturing in 1926 of the paving bonds in this district the city will face a deficit in the amount of the assessments which the government declines to pay, which deficit will constitute a problem in finance to be solved at that time.

The commissioners ordered warrants drawn in payment of claims against the waterworks fund, in the sum of $2,584.07; general fund, $512.40; street sprinkling fund, $77.06.

Guardsmen Told of Schedule of Camp

Captain L. E. Wortham Gives Members of Twin Falls Unit Hint of Activities in Store

Activities scheduled for national guard infantrymen of northwestern states in camp June 14-23 at Camp Lewis, Washington, were described by Captain L. E. Wortham, instructor-in-charge of the Idaho national guard, to members of Company L, 180th Infantry, Twin Falls unit of the Idaho national guard, at a regular assembly for drill Monday evening.

The local guardsmen, most of whom will attend their first summer encampment this year, were told by Captain Wortham that the schedule arranged is regarded as a most attractive one. It provides a regular schedule of drill and instruction each forenoon of the two weeks. Afternoons of the first week will be given over to demonstrations by regular army forces. The seventh infantry from Vancouver and the Fourth infantry from Fort George Wright, Spokane, both of these organizations will march from their stations to Camp Lewis. Afternoons of the second week will be devoted to programs of target practice and athletic contests.

Uniforms which have been received recently were issued to members of the unit Monday evening. The formation was attended by all but three of the 69 members of the enlisted personnel.

POPULAR PLAYERS MAY APPEAR NEXT SEASON

Moroni Olan Company Considering Addition of Twin Falls to List of Cities for Coming Theatrical Year

Janet Young, leading woman with the Moroni Olan players, whose performance of "Jane Clague" at the Lavington last season will be remembered as one of the best shows of the season, spent Monday in Twin Falls in an effort to arrange for a season of three performances here during the coming season.

The company has arranged for performances in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Boise and Salt Lake, but has still some open dates in between. The reputation of the company includes that of the best players on the English speaking stage and performers are given with a fidelity and attention to detail which places the company in the first rank over the country.

Decision as to whether or not Twin Falls will be selected for the coming season may not be reached for some days.

ASKS SUPPORT HERE FOR IDAHO COAL DEVELOPMENT

H. F. Samuels to Address Mass Meeting in Twin Falls in Interests of Teton Basin Mine Proposition

Announcement was made here Monday of arrangements for a mass meeting to be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon next in Parish hall at which H. F. Samuels of the Teton Coal company will discuss possibilities of development of Teton basin, Idaho, coal properties to furnish a cheaper source of fuel supply for Idaho consumers.

Mr. Samuels has filed a petition with the state public utilities commission for an order compelling the Oregon Short line to repair railway tracks serving this property, and establish a reasonable intrastate freight rate from the mine. Election of delegates to appear before the commission in connection with the hearing on this petition is an announced objective of the meeting here.

DEATHS

SHERMAN—John F. Sherman, about 60 years of age, a resident of the Twin Falls region for several years and employed during the past year of the Twin Falls Casual company, following several years' employment by the Utah Construction company, died late Monday evening at the county general hospital where he had been received a few days before as a patient suffering from a digestive disorder. The body was removed to the Grossman mortuary. It is believed that Mr. Sherman had no relatives in this region, but effort is being made to communicate with brothers said to reside at Austin, Texas. He was a member of the Old Fellows lodge.

PROFFERED GIFT OF BRIDGE TOLD

Kiwanis Club Hears I. B. Perrine Will Transfer Title to Bridge to Highway District

I. B. Perrine has offered to transfer title to the bridge over Snake river at Blue Lakes to the Twin Falls highway district provided the district make certain improvements in the grade leading down the canyon walls to the span, according to statement made Monday by O. P. Duval presenting to the Kiwanis club the report of its public affairs committee relative to a number of activities suggested to engage the attention of the club during the coming year.

This statement was made in connection with the committee's report advising that consideration be turned again toward construction of a rim-to-rim span across Snake river canyon near Twin Falls. Other suggestions included consideration of plan for construction of a community auditorium in Twin Falls with a seating capacity for 5000 persons, improvement of the road leading north from Kimberly road toward Shoshone falls and co-operation with Mrs. Florence Wright of the Kimberly nurseries in her offer recently made to donate shade trees for planting along highways.

Brings Railroad News

Assurances of early beginning of construction of the Rogerston-Wells line was brought to the club by M. J. Sweeley, who told of the conference here Sunday of the local railroad committee and the Short Line engineer and attorney.

Communications from Governor Moore and M. A. Means, state commissioner of agriculture, expressing appreciation of the resolution recently adopted by the club urging stringent quarantine regulations against possible spread of the foot and mouth disease from California to Idaho were read. Suggestion that a tree be planted in the city park by each of several Twin Falls organizations was offered by Mr. Sweeley and referred to a committee composed of Mr. Sweeley, Dr. D. L. Alexander and R. B. Smith.

ALLEGED VIOLATORS OF LIQUOR LAW SEEK BOND

One Out of Four Men Taken in Raids by Federal Officers and Police Furnishes Security for Release

Out of four alleged violators of the federal prohibition law arrested here Saturday in consequence of investigation and raids made by federal officers and Twin Falls police only one, Sumner I. Brownell, said to have been in charge of the Weaver rooms 255 Main avenue east, at the time of the raid, was at liberty under bond Monday evening. The others, Dorman O. Rice, J. J. Jones and S. M. Brackenbury, were held prisoners in the county jail pending their release on bond.

Rice, who is said to have furnished to Jones and Brackenbury the liquor taken from a buried cache when the officers descended upon their suburban domicile Saturday evening, pleaded not guilty when he was arraigned Monday morning before United States Commissioner H. E. Powers, on charges of illegal possession and sale of liquors. He was admitted to bond in the sum of $800. Jones and Brackenbury pleaded guilty to similar charges and asked for immediate hearing in federal court. They were admitted to bond in the sum of $400 each.

Brownell's bond in the sum of $250 was signed by O. Buchanan and George Wood.

In consequence of the raids Saturday the municipal license issued to Mrs. Della Dawson for operation of the Weaver rooms was revoked upon recommendation of Chief of Police P. O. Herriman, and by unanimous vote of the city commissioners at their regular meeting Monday evening.

DEBTOR GETS JUDGMENT FOR ILLEGAL SEIZURE

Jury in District Court Awards $700 to George F. Rauch from R. T. Evans; Trial in Farm Wage Dispute Begins

Verdict awarding $700 to George F. Rauch from R. T. Evans, on his claim of illegal seizure and sale of his property covered by mortgage securing a note for $1000 executed by Rauch to Evans in May, 1919, was returned by a jury in district court here Monday. Evidence introduced at the trial on behalf of the plaintiff Rauch tended to show that he had paid $550 on account of the note; that he had not been given due notice of the seizure and sale of the property, and that he had tendered Liberty bonds in payment of the balance of the obligation. The property in question included a Buick car, concrete mixer and six wheelbarrows. Plaintiff Rauch was represented by Attorney Shad L. Hood, and defendant Evans by Attorney W. Orr Chapman of Bothwell and Chapman.

Following the return of the verdict in this case, jurors were called to try the case of John Hollan, a minor suing by his father, James Hollan, against John Gummerson, Kimberly district farmer. Vor wages the amount of which is in dispute. Plaintiff Hollan is represented by Attorney John H. Barnes and defendant Gummerson by Charles A. North of Stephan and North.

ILLICIT SACK DEAL TOLD

Probation Officer Seeks Advice of City Commissioners in Connection with Reputed Theft and Sale by Boys

Two small boys, during recent weeks, have stolen and sold to an individual who is not a licensed second hand dealer almost 100 new sacks worth at wholesale from 9 to 13 cents each, but for which they were paid 4 or 5 cents each, according to statement made to the city commissioners at their regular meeting Monday evening by John R. Ault, county probation officer.

This statement was made in connection with the question presented at that time by this probation officer as to whether city ordinances would apply in the case. Since of municipal law in the premises was explained by the city attorney and the probation officer indicated that prosecution under state statute probably would be instituted.

Weather Conditions Favor War on Pests

Weather conditions Monday were ideal for opening of the war against insect pests in Twin Falls shade trees, almost entire absence of wind making possible most effective application of spray when the campaign was begun Monday forenoon in the city park. Temperature touched its maximum reach for the day at 72 above, equalling the record climb of the season recorded just two weeks previously, and was low at 38 above. Sunday's high mark was 63 above and low 29 above, according to records of the government weather observer's station here.
