SMITH BILL INTRODUCED
IN CONGRESSIdaho Representative Submits
Measure Designed to Relieve
Burdens of Settlers on Reclamation
Projects

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A bill designed to relieve distress among farmers on reclamation projects in the west along lines recommended by the special advisory commission which investigated conditions was introduced today by Chairman Smith of the house irrigation committee. Sweeping changes in the reclamation law are proposed.

Representative Leatherwood of Utah, a republican on the committee, introduced a bill which would authorize appropriations for six irrigation projects as follows:

North Platte, Nebraska-Wyoming, for continued investigation, commencement of construction of the Guernsey reservoir and incidental operations, $800,000; Spanish Springs, Nev., $500,000; Owyhee, Oregon, $1,250,000; and Salt Lake basin Utah, $1,500,000, the funds for each project to be issued for continued investigation, commencement of construction and incidental operations; Vale, formerly called Warm Springs, Oregon, $250,000, for continued investigation and for first payment toward purchase of an interest in the Warm Springs reservoir; Yakima, Wash., $1,500,000, for continued investigation, commencement of construction of the Kittitas division and incidental operations.

Favored by Coolidge
Introduction of the two bills followed yesterday by President Coolidge of a message in which he recommended enactment of legislation at this session to relieve distress in the irrigation fields.

The Smith bill would require the secretaries of interior, agriculture and commerce, to join in approving projects before they are authorized, would specify that all lands must be owned by the government and would stipulate that construction charges shall be based on the productive capacity of land and that annual installments shall be five per cent of the average gross income from areas improved.

Reduce Penalties
Under the bill delinquent penalties would be reduced from one per cent a month to one-half of one per cent, the secretary of the interior would be authorized to reduce water charges if shown to be burdensome to settlers, and settlers on proven non-irrigable

Corporations.

FARGO, N. D., April 22 (AP)—Immediate relief to farmers in the purely wheat-growing regions of North and South Dakota, Montana and Minnesota through the special $1,000,000 livestock loan fund, created by the new $10,000,000 agricultural credit corporation, was approved at a meeting here today of approximately 250 expert agriculturists, business men, farmers, bankers, railroad men and others interested in the Northwest.

M. O. Grunwald of Minneapolis, who is to have charge of the new livestock loan movement, presided. John W. Haw of the North Dakota agricultural college was selected secretary. The proposed plan, outlined recently at Minneapolis by officials of agricultural credit corporation, was pronounced entirely satisfactory after a motion was accepted to extend the benefits of the loan to the states of South Dakota and Montana, at the discretion of the officials of the main corporation.

It was unanimously agreed that steps be taken to put the $1,000,000 loan fund into active use. County agents from all parts of North Dakota will gather at the North Dakota agricultural college tomorrow to receive instructions for immediate making of loans through the corporation. County agents of Minnesota, South Dakota and Montana will also soon be called together, it was declared.

Quarantine with Californians;
Draw Line on Cured Meats

BOISE, April 22 (AP)—Arrangements for a conference between Governor C. C. Moore and a California delegation tomorrow at 1 o'clock and the issuing of supplemental order tightening the state's quarantine against California products were the new events today in Idaho's campaign to prevent the fast and north disease from reaching the state.

The California delegation left Portland this afternoon after being informed by Governor Moore that he would be glad to meet the members at 1 o'clock in the state house. Under the provisions of the supplemental quarantine issued today by the state department of agriculture, all fresh, smoked and cured meats, packing house products, by-products of packing houses, fertilizers, sacked or bulk grain, sacked or bulk seed, commercial feeds, molasses and all other animal hair—originally in California are prohibited from entering Idaho. Dried fruit originating in California may enter the state if cleaned and disinfected under federal supervision and a certificate to this effect attached to the shipment.

Idaho cannot afford to make any concessions in the quarantine at the present time, Mark A. Woods, state commissioner of agriculture, said tonight.

DUSE FUNERAL SERVICES
EXPECTED TO BE PRIVATE

PITTSBURGH, April 22 (AP)—Funeral services for Mme. Eleonora Duse, famous tragedienne, who died Monday from influenza, with her simple and private, according to Tullio Lucini, Italian consul here, who has taken charge of arrangements on behalf of the Italian government. The body will be taken to Italy on May 1, and burial will take place near Venice according to present plans.

Eleonora Duse, famous Italian tragedienne, emerged from 15 years' retirement as an actress at Turin, Italy, on May 6, 1921, by appearing in Ibsen's "Lady of the Sea." Her reappearance in public was the signal for an enthusiastic greeting from a distinguished audience, which showered her with roses and frantic cheers for "La Duse," as she was popularly known, and for Gabriel d'Annunzio, former poet-dictator of Fiume, who wrote several plays for her. The two were friends for many years, until estranged by a quarrel in which all Italy took a sympathetic interest.

COOLIDGE LEADS JOHNSON

NEWARK, N. J., April 22 (AP)—Returns from more than half of the state indicated that President Coolidge today's presidential preferential primary had far outdistanced Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, who opposed the Coolidge candidacy. The president was leading Johnson by nearly 600 votes and each additional district reporting increased the lead. Coolidge candidates for delegates to the national republican convention were also far ahead of their opponents supporting Johnson.

Stock Shipments Comes to

Discrepancy in Charges

BAKER, Ore., April 22 (AP)—Declaring present freight rates on cattle and sheep from points in eastern Oregon and Washington, Idaho and western Montana to Chicago, St. Louis and other packing centers in the middle west were below the cost of transportation, railroad witnesses today had their inning in the hearing before Examiner C. L. Koppert of the interstate commerce commission. The hearing was instituted by the stockmen and shippers of the inland district who declare that rates are excessive and discriminatory. They are asking a reduction. The hearing came to a close late this afternoon.

Witnesses for the complainants, the American National Livestock association, the Cattle and Horse Growers' Association of Oregon and Northwest Livestock Shippers Traffic league, opened the hearing yesterday, practically completing the presentation of their case.

Claims Rates Not Fair.
In general they testified the present rates were out of line with rates from eastern and central Montana, Nevada, California and other southwest districts and they asked that a graduated scale be placed in effect throughout the Pacific Northwest which would equalize this alleged discrimination.

Though 33 railroads are named as defendants, only northern lines were directly involved and represented at the hearing. Attorneys for these districts and others for these districts, placed on the stand today assistant general freight agent statisticians and operating officials who besides testifying that the cost was more than revenue, introduced exhibits showing the present rates on cattle and sheep were comparatively heavier than on other commodities, such as lumber, fruit and grains. The feeding of stock, maintenance of yards, fumigation and other kindred excessorial services were further said to reduce revenue.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22 (AP)—Marcel Moreau of San Francisco, today announced he had found a way of harnessing the sun's heat. He declared that, working from experiments credited to Archimedes and Buffon, hundreds of years ago, he had succeeded in devising a combination of little mirrors set in a bowl about four feet in diameter, which, when focused through a number of small lenses, would produce tremendous heat from the sun's light. He said he could regulate the heat produced to the exact degree desired.

Moreau claims to have produced with his machine heat sufficient to melt a diamond and cause it to disintegrate as gas.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22 (AP)—Harry K. Thaw was declared sane tonight by the jury that had been hearing testimony to determine his mental condition.

The jury declared him fully capable of looking after his estate. The jury deliberated seven hours. William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, divorced wife of Thaw, said that a motion would be filed for a retrial of the case.

Thaw was not in court when the verdict was announced. Thaw received the news at the Ritz-Carlton hotel, where he had taken dinner with his mother. He declined to receive newspaper men, but said he might have a statement later regarding his plans.

Only a fair-sized crowd was in the courtroom when the jury, led by Joseph Plunkett, the aged foreman, filed in. Judge Monaghan had warned the spectators against any demonstration and the verdict was received in silence.

NEW CONFERENCE
ON DISARMAMENTPRESIDENT PROMISES EFFORTS FOR PARLEY AFTER GERMAN SETTLEMENTProposed Meeting Might Follow Up Work of Previous Gathering, Chief Executive Suggests; Success Depends on Reparations Solution; Cites Service and Faith as Paramount

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—The promise of efforts to bring about another world conference to attempt another limitation of armament was given by President Coolidge in an address today at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press.

Such efforts, the president declared, must be predicated upon the firm establishment of a definite settlement of German reparations. With this effect, America would be in a position to take the lead in promoting an international conference. The president expressed the belief that the proposed conference might well be based upon the theory of the Washington conference of a few years ago, which, he called to mind, had to leave unsolved the question of submarines, aircraft, and land forces. The conference, he asserted, might take up the codification of international law with an attempt to establish rules of warfare and to determine the rights of neutrals.

Approves Dawes Report.
While emphasizing that Europe must first set her economic house in order, Mr. Coolidge declared there appeared to be every reason to hope that the report of the reparations commission committee of experts "offers a basis for a practical solution of the reparations problem." He noted that "the allies are looking upon it with full sympathy and Germany has expressed a willingness to attempt to establish rules of the plan," and added: "I trust that it may commend itself to all the European governments interested, as a method by which, through mutual concessions, they can arrive at a stable adjustment of the intricate and vexatious problems of reparations, and that such an outcome will prevent the restoration of Germany and the largest possible payments to the other countries."INCREASE DEFENSE.

The president declared that while America had determined to maintain her political independence, the country's economic independence would be "strengthened and increased when the economic stability of Europe is restored." America already had done much toward such restoration by the work of the three American experts on the reparations commission, he added, and as a further step he proposed that private American citizens participate in the loan to Germany contemplated in the committee's report.

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—A statement by J. J. Sinaut, principal doorkeeper at every democratic national convention since 1904, that extra precautions would be taken at the coming New York gathering to prevent any "stampede by Tammany hall" adherents was branded tonight as "unauthorized," by George F. Mara, member of the democratic national committee, who said he was speaking for Chairman Cordell Hull.

Mr. Sinaut, a prominent member of his party in Missouri, had declared the convention would be "a national convention and not a local town meeting," as he discussed with newspaper men reports of fears that Wigwam followers would pack the convention hall and try to put over their candidate by sheer force of numbers. He declared he would "stop all the cracks for lock all the side doors and 'nobody will get in without a ticket.'"

The arrangements committee of the democratic national committee which met today postponed action of selection of a temporary chairman to deliver the keynote speech.

BONUS MEASURE IS BASIS FOR VERBAL ATTACK

Gale of Oratory Sweeps Senate in Discussion of Bill; Advocates Predict Passage of Insurance Proposal

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A gale of oratory swept the senate bill throughout a stormy session of the senate today and was not checked until adjournment when agreement was reached to limit debate tomorrow so that a final vote could be taken early in the afternoon.

However, while proponents of the cash option amendment attended, the diehard opponents of any bonus insurance bill. Advocates of the measure conducted a poll which they said showed it would be passed tomorrow without the cash amendment.

Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, pictured scenes of distress in the farm areas and the growth of public indebtedness and sounded the opening attack on the bonus and declared "it is time to take stock and turn the corner."

He, like Senator Fernald, republican, Maine, and Bruce, democrat, Maryland, who also spoke against the bonus, professed his remarks with the assertion that he expected the pending bill to be passed.

World Amond Bill.

Likewise, most of the democratic speakers of the day, although declaring in favor of the cash option amendment, proposed yesterday by Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, said he expected to vote the strain insurance bill and attempt if it became a law to amend it later to include the cash option. Such a policy was advanced yesterday by the democratic leaders, but Senator Copeland offered the amendment regardless.

Between speeches senators constantly sought permission to insist on placing in the record messages from American Legion posts of their states requesting that support be given the pending straight insurance bill.

Senator Borah warned that even as a political proposition the passage of the bonus bill was questionable policy. "While we here may be reluctant to admit it," he said, "party lines have fallen in the regard of the people. Principles on which we base our party contentions, I am convinced, are beneath the ideals and reasoning of the average voter."

Borah Voices Opinions.

Referring to the recent senate investigations, Mr. Borah declared Washington stands out as a city conspicuous in crime and contempt.

"However, this situation calls for something more than the cancellation of a few contracts," he said. "It calls for more than the punishment of a few individuals. Extravagance is but a spot on the growth of corruption. They are both plants of the same putrid soil."

Senators Brookhart, republican, Iowa, and Jones, democrat, New York, in reply declared the reasoning of Mr. Borah "irretrievable," but insisted that a different premise should be taken for the argument.

Senator Brookhart said that while the farming districts were in distress and could not afford additional taxation and government expenses, "the great industries of the country which respect enormous profits can pay the boys who fought for us and them during the war." He reminded the senate he had introduced an amendment to the revenue bill proposing restoration of the excess profits tax which he said would supply sufficient money to pay for the bonus. Senator Jones argued the bonus should not be considered as a "mere gratuity," but as a just obligation by the government to its world war soldiers.

INQUIRY PLANNED.

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A separate investigation into the leases granted to the Honolulu Oil company on land within naval reserve No. 2 in California, is to be made by the senate oil committee. It was disclosed yesterday by Senator Walsh, prosecutor for the committee. A resolution proposing such inquiry recently was offered by Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, and adopted by the senate.

CAMOUFLAGE DANCE IS NEW NOVELTY IN IDAHO FILM

One of the unique features in "Let Not Man Put Asunder," the picturization of Russ King's novel on the evils and frivolities of society which lead to the divorce court is the dance of the camouflaged figures at the great New Year's eve ball.

The dancing platform was especially designed in a sort of futuristic style and the figures of the dancers were so painted that they merged into the platform without being detected. Not even the lens of the camera could distinguish between the walls of the platform and the human bodies. When they danced it is as if they had been summoned by magic.

J. Stuart Blackton, the producer of this Vitagraph special, which will be shown at the Idaho theater starting today planned the design and supervised the technical arrangements.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTIES IN "FLANNING YOUTH."

The whole of Hollywood's famous beauty market was cornered by First National for its atmosphere in "Flanning Youth," a picturization of Warner Fabian's sensational story of contemporary life, at the Orpheum theater Thursday.

In the ballroom and bathing pool scenes of this elaborate photoplay are at least a dozen handsome girls who came into flimdom through the winning of beauty prizes. Two of the most noted are Daris Stone, who won the London Daily Mirror prize as the most petite girl in England, and Dorothy Dial of Dallas, Texas, whose form was adjudged the most shapely in the southwestern states.

The judges of the contest which chose Miss Dial were Howard Chandler Christy, the famous illustrator, and Flo Ziegfeld, of folies fame. More than 1000 girls from Texas, California, Arizona and New Mexico competed in the contest.

Proponents of 2.75 Per Cent Beer Press Their Cause Before Judiciary Committee; Minister Joins Fight

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Proponents of 2.75 per cent beer today continued their advocacy before the judiciary committee of modification of the Volstead act to legalize a beverage of that alcoholic content. Representatives of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment repeated their testimony with that of the Reverend Roland W. Sawyer, a Congregational minister, in an exhaustive resume of undesirable conditions which they said resulted from the alleged inability to enforce the prohibition laws.

Pie Under Suspicion
Grandmother's pumpkin pie was brought under suspicion by Dr. J. C. Varbeck of St. Louis, who testified the sugar, water and yeast in this delicacy might produce a "heavier kick" than permitted under the one-half of one per cent standard, which he declared should be raised to 2.75 per cent.

"The divine law of fermentation," Charles A. Winkle, of Chicago, representing the Illinois division of the association, said, has given grape growers $1,600,000,000 since the "Volstead era" began. He urged modification of the act to legalize beer and light wines.

The Reverend Mr. Sawyer, who is a member of the Massachusetts legislature, said the "jolly and jovial exhilaration of the old days" has departed and left an undesirable substitute in its place. He charged those who were responsible for the Volstead act with not keeping faith with those who voted for the 18th amendment. Those who wanted the amendment, he asserted, did not contemplate such rigid enforcement as the act provides.

"Not Moral Wrong"
"You have sought to make a crime," he declared, "of what is not a moral wrong and that which common sense and conscience does not believe a moral wrong."

In countries where both hard and soft liquors were sold, he contended, drinking of "soft" intoxicants had acted as a check upon the "hard." Conditions he asserted are growing worse and something must be done.

"It is about time," he said, "that

A department of justice explanation of how seized liquor disappeared through "petty graft" was placed before the Daugherty committee.

An attack on the packers' consent decree was made in the District of Columbia court of appeals by the California cooperative cannery.

Advocates of a modification of the Volstead act offered medical testimony in favor of 2.75 per cent beer in the hearing before the judiciary committee.

Democratic members of the senate finance committee submitted a minority report on the ravens bill attacking the Mellon rates and other features of the majority report.

JAPANESE INVOKE SPIRIT

TOKIO, April 22.—Japanese editors today chose the biennial birthday of Immanuel Kant to invoke the spirit of the German philosopher and peace advocate to aid Japan in her present immigration controversy with the United States. We hope the world will read a lesson in the present Japanese-American situation and strengthen its defenses against war."

Hoppe, world's champion, and Jake Schaefer, former champion and the only man by whom Hoppe has ever been defeated for the title, will appear in Twin Falls Tuesday, April 29, in a special 18-2 bidding match, under auspices of the Elks lodge, contract for the match having been signed Tuesday evening by the Elks and M. H. Hamer, manager of the billiardists.

The two masters of the cue will engage in a contest of two blocks of 250 points each, the first to be played in the afternoon and the second in the evening. Both will be held in the Elks club rooms.

Hoppe ranks among the great champions in all branches of sport and has held his crown since 1906 with the exception of a single interval, 1921, when Schaefer gained the laurels. Like most of the great players, Hoppe started playing the game early in life. His professional career began in 1901 when as a youth of 15 years he took part in the Maurice Daily handicap in New York.

Three years later, at Paris, Hoppe captured the tournament for the "Championship of the Young Masters," defeating Sanchez, Glorioso, Morningstar and Durasse. He won the championship of the world at the 18.1 ball game at Paris in 1906 from Vignaux. After being defeated by Schaefer in 1921, Hoppe staged a comeback the next year and again won the international crown. He stands today as the greatest player of the age.

BASEBALL CLUB READY TO START

Four-Year Lease Taken on Park; Seek Dates with Idaho and Utah Cities

Twin Falls' independent club ball will begin its season about May 15, according to Manager C. P. Cosgriff, who Tuesday secured the lease on the league park for a four year term from the old Twilight league and will start construction immediately upon the improvement of the grandstands. The contract has been granted to Earl Felt for the work which will amount to approximately $3000, according to Manager Cosgriff.

Blue uniforms will feature the equipment of the 1924 "Magicians," whose personnel will shortly gather for preliminary workouts preparatory to the opening of the season.

Pocatello, Idaho Falls, Ogden, Salt Lake and Boise are some of the towns to which the Twin Falls manager has written for dates for the coming season when he plans to schedule from three to four games weekly for local fans.

RUPERT AND TWIN FALLS TRACK STARS ALL SET

Rupert athletes arrive today to meet the local high school track stars on Lincoln lot at 3:30 o'clock. Interest in the blue and white squad is high and the Bruins are anxious to measure their strength with the reputedly strong Rupert team.

Track has enjoyed over increasing popularity in the high school of the south central district and this year everything points to a record breaking performance from the numerous teams of the district gathered at Filer May 2 for the division meet.

Plans for the Filer meet are to be under the same management, according to a letter sent recently to the coaches of the various high schools by G. E. Donnan, secretary of the board of control. As in former years two loving cups will be given, one to the winner and one to takers of second place. Last year Rupert and Twin Falls tied for these cups and the decision, which was made by tossin g a coin, was for Rupert and the local school had to be content with the smaller cup.

Much Make-believe cheerfulness is better than none at all.

CLEVELAND WINS IN TEN INNINGS

Chicago Beaten by Score of 7 to 6; Detroit Goes into Lead; New York Wins

CHICAGO, April 22 (AP)—Sherrill Smith smashed one of Hollis Thurston's slow pitches to center for a single after two men were out in the tenth inning and gave Cleveland a 7 to 6 victory over Chicago. The Indians landed Hankenup hard in the eighth inning and took a commanding lead, but the locals played an uphill bat, the drove Cleveland off the hill and tied the count in the ninth.

The score: R. H. E. Cleveland 7 10 0 Chicago 6 15 2 Batteries: Coveloskie, Smith and Myatt; Hankenup, Thurston and Crouse.

DETROIT STEPS IN LEAD DETROIT, April 22 (AP)—Earl Whit hill was effective today and Detroit made a clean sweep of the series of three games by beating St. Louis 8 to 4. Whithill by Dayne and Lyons helped the Detroit offense. St. Louis scored one run and Detroit made two by means of the double steal.

The score: R. H. E. St. Louis 4 7 2 Detroit 8 8 1 Batteries: Bayne, Lyons, Voigt and Collins; Whithill and Hasler.

YANKEES BEAT SENATORS WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—New York broke even in the series with Washington by taking the final game here today 6 to 3. Errors by Rice paved the way for half of the visitors' runs. Hoyt proved strong in the pinches after the first inning.

The score: R. H. E. New York 6 14 1 Washington 3 6 3 Batteries: Hoyt and Schanz; Zahner, McGrew, Wingfield and Ruel.

Philadelphia at Boston—Postponed, rain.

THREE STRAIGHT FOR CINCINNATI

Reds Win Final of Series with Chicago; Pirates Plaster St. Louis, 10 to 7

CINCINNATI, O., April 22 (AP)—Cincinnati made it three straight from Chicago by winning the final game of the series today 3 to 2. Though the field was soft and the weather very mild, both teams played fast and errorless ball.

The score: R. H. E. Chicago 2 8 0 Cincinnati 3 7 0 Batteries: Kaufman, Blake and O'Farrell; Mays and Hargrave.

PIRATES WALLOP ST. LOUIS ST. LOUIS, April 22 (AP)—A triple with the bases filled, a double and a home run gave Pittsburgh six runs in the fourth inning today and the Pirates defeated the Cardinals 10 to 7, in the final game of the series.

Dyer was forced from the mound in the fourth, with an injured hand. Rogers Hornsby, Cardinal second baseman, got two home runs with no one on either time.

The score: R. H. E. Pittsburgh 10 13 1 St. Louis 7 13 0 Batteries: Kroner and Schmidt; Dyer, H. Bell, Berly and Clemons, Vick.

Boston at New York—Postponed, rain.

Brooklyn at Philadelphia—Postponed, rain.

BASEBALL SERIES WITH NAMPAA IS ON SCHEDULE

Nampa high school baseball players will cross bats with their old rivals, the Twin Falls Bruins Friday afternoon at 3:30 on Lincoln field and again at 2:30 on Saturday.

This series will be the climax of the local season and the fate of the blue and white team hangs upon the outcome. Tuesday evening the students canvassed the business section to insure funds for the expenses of the games. In case the games are financially successful H. M. Merritt, head of the student activity fund, states that the original schedule as outlined for the local school will be followed. If not the game with Buhl the following week will possibly yield a budding career for the prospective Idaho intercollegiate champions.

Nampa has a strong team composed for the most part of veterans and has a clean record thus far this year. Last year Nampa was the only team to which the Twin Falls champions lost a game in their schedule.

COOLIDGE FAVORS NEW ARMS CONFERENCE

Such participation, he suggested, would benefit American trade and commerce and provide a market for American agricultural products.

The president renewed his endorsement of the permanent court of international justice and then turned toward a discussion of the possibility of another world conference.

World Peace.

Concluding, he reminded his audience that "our vast nations are at home de bated what they will be abroad," and added:

"The world knows that we do not seek to rule by force of arms, our strength is in our moral power. We increased the desire for peace everywhere by being peaceful. We maintain a military force for our defense, but our offensive lies in the justice of our cause. We are against war because it is destructive. We are for peace because it is constructive. We seek concord with all nations through mutual understanding. We believe in treaties and covenants and international law as a permanent record for a reliable determination of action. All these are evidences of a right intention. But something more than these is required to maintain the peace of the world. . . . The final establishment of peace, the complete maintenance of good will toward men, will be found only in the righteousness of the people of the earth. Wars will cease when they will that they shall cease. Peace will reign when they will that it shall reign."

The president spoke directly to 1000 persons, including editors and publishers of most of the country's leading newspapers and to unnumbered millions through eleven of the most powerful radio broadcasting stations, linked directly through more than 7000 miles of wire with the ball room of the Waldorf-Astoria, where the luncheon was held.

Noyes Presides.

Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press and publisher of the Washington Star, introduced Mr. Coolidge as one possessing to "superlative degree the faculty and the desire to make absolutely clear his matured judgment on the subjects that engage the attention of our people," combined, with an expression of "that judgment with no unnecessary words."

Mr. Noyes outlined the principles of the Associated Press and Mr. Coolidge introduced his discussion of national lands would have the privilege of exchanging their holdings for farm lands in the same reclamation district with former service men receiving preference in allotments.

Profits from the sale of surplus power would be credited to the project and a reclassification of existing irrigation projects ordered with a view to charging off as a loss non-irrigable lands.

An appropriation of $100,000 annually for five years would be authorized to enable the bureau of reclamation to obtain information as to how arid, swamp and cut-over timberland may best be developed to meet growing agricultural needs.

The interior department would be authorized to make short time loans from the reclamation funds to settlers. The loans would not be permitted to exceed $500 at any one time to any person and would be available for the purchase of livestock and equipment.

PIONEER DIES

BOULDER, Colo., April 22 (AP)—Dr. George W. Carter, 97 years old, said to have been the oldest living alumnus of the University of Michigan, pioneer physician and Civil war veteran, died here today.

Few Visitors.

Breakfasting in the presidential suite with a party of friends, Mr. Coolidge remained in seclusion until the luncheon hour—1 o'clock—seeing only a few persons. Mrs. Coolidge, accompanied by Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, took a brief motor trip through Central park in the forenoon.

When he had completed his address the president went directly to his suite and ten minutes later was returning to the Pennsylvania station. His train left for Washington at 3:32 p. m.

The presidential breakfast party, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, included William M. Butler, manager of the Coolidge campaign; Charles D. Hill, national committeeman from New York; Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Columbia university; Michael Friedman, a New York business man, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns.

Among those who visited the president's suite during the morning were Frank A. Munsey, George Harvey and John T. Adams, chairman of the republication national committee.

DRASTIC STEPS TAKEN TO STOP PLAGUE SPREAD

All Railroad Passengers to Be Subject to Inspection and Disinfection at Arizona Line; Order Federal Control

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 22 (AP)—Inspection and disinfection of all railroad passengers from California bound for Arizona points will become effective April 23 as a further safeguard against spread of the foot and mouth disease in Arizona under an executive proclamation issued tonight by Governor Hunt.

Railroad companies in California in selling tickets to Arizona points "shall notify the prospective purchasers of such tickets that the ticket is sold subject to regulations of the Arizona state board of health," the proclamation declared.

Approval was given by the chief executive of the prevailing quarantine against California products and vehicular traffic and another appropriation of $10,000 was declared to be expended in carrying out the terms of the quarantine regulations.

Inspect Baggage
Passengers entering Arizona on trains from California, the proclamation states, shall "submit to such inspection and disinfection of his person and baggage as may be required by the Arizona state board of health at such points as may be designated by it."

The carriers will be required "to search all trains for persons who may be traveling thereon without having purchased tickets and detain them at some station outside the state of Arizona," the proclamation said.

"Through passengers" for points east of Arizona will not be permitted to leave the train while it is in Arizona territory in order that "the infectious foot and mouth disease now prevalent in California may be prevented from spreading to the state of Arizona," according to the regulations of the state board of health, which were cited in the proclamation.

FEDERAL CONTROL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 22 (AP)—The fight against the foot and mouth disease among livestock in California was placed in charge of the federal department of agriculture today at the request of state authorities.

Dr. U. G. Houck, personal representative of Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, was designated to take charge of the work, with headquarters in Sacramento, and it was agreed by Governor Richardson and Director G. H. Hocke of the state department of agriculture that state veterinarians and inspectors be sent to all other state agencies engaged in the efforts to eradicate the disease would be placed under his supervision.

Houck in Charge
State department officials were uncertain as to when federal control would be assumed, but they believed Dr. Houck would take full charge immediately.

During the day Governor Richardson telegraphed to Secretary Wallace a protest against the proposed establishment of a quarantine line along the western boundary of the Yuma Indian reservation, 10 miles from the Arizona border. This is desert country and affords no food or shelter for persons who might be held up by the quarantine regulations, the governor declared. He also asserted that the quarantine on the Arizona line has been interfering enough without shoving the line 10 miles over the desert into California.

THRONGS GREET BANDIT COUPLE

Return of Young Outlaws to New York Causes Sensation; Lose First Legal Move

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Cecilia Cooney, confessed bobbed haired bandit, today lost her first legal battle in less than an hour after she was half held, half carried by detectives through the dense throng at the Pennsylvania terminal from the train which brought her from Jacksonville, Fla., where she was captured.

Following close behind, his cap pulled down over his face to escape a battery of newspaper cameras, came her "tall companion," and husband, Edward S. Cooney.

Several thousand persons who but a few minutes before had cheered President Coolidge on his departure to Washington after his address at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, jammed the corridors for a glimpse of the bandit couple.

Mrs. Cooney, big-eyed, smiling, and cheerful on the train, had "dotted up" for the home-coming. With her husband she admitted 12 robberies which netted $11,000.

Writs of habeas corpus issued by Supreme Court Justice Levy were served on detective escorts and dumb-founded the police. Whatever glimmer of hope it might have indicated to the couple whose baby died only 11 days ago was soon dispelled when Supreme Court Justice Grier dismissed the writs and remanded both the girl and her husband to custody.

Samuel I. Liskowitz, of counsel for the accused, declared he sought to shield them, especially Mrs. Cooney, from "sweating" at the hands of the police.

POEMS CHANGED CAREER

STRAITFORD UPON AVON, England, April 22.—Marie Corelli, English novelist, who died at her home here yesterday, was educated in a French convent and much of her early education was with the idea that she should enter upon a career in music.

Encouraged, however, by the publication of a number of poems, Miss Corelli's preference for writing prevailed and, as a result, she wrote a score or more of popular romantic novels.

Miss Corelli was born in 1861, the daughter of an Italian father and Scottish mother. She was adopted in infancy by Charles Mackay, journalist and song writer.

How to Spend Your Money

is rather an unusual title for a bank ad.—But we're serious in making this suggestion.

It's astonishing how some people let money slip through their fingers. Experience teaches that the person with plenty of cash available is almost invariably found to be the easiest and quickest buyer of the non-essentials.

The most successful ways to stop these leaks is to possess a checking account and draw as the need may arise.

There is no necessity for skimping or for going without, but the checking account is a constant reminder and one that most always results in the small savings that so rapidly mount.

The man who spends all he makes is deceiving himself. His prosperity is fictitious. Your account with this bank will be thankfully accepted.

THE STINNES REQUEST

Along with the fortune that Hugo Stinnes left his family, he left a remarkable set of precepts for their guidance in handling the fortune. He is said to have given them these instructions shortly before his death:

"Remember, no quarrels. To each one your share has been assigned. There shall be no divergent interests. If any question arises, your mother shall be the sole judge and final arbitrator."

"You are united to build. What I have gathered I consider merely as a foundation for the structure you, and those who come after you, will erect. Let no personal considerations sway you from the goal. Marriages must not interfere and must not disrupt family unity. As you have been together with me, so you will be together after I am gone."

This remarkable utterance is admirable in some respects, and yet reveals an appalling lack of sympathy with modern social and philanthropic notions. With Stinnes the money, representing economic power, is everything. It is not even the possession of the family; the family is rather owned by the money, and driven by the need of keeping, serving and multiplying it. The family is to hold together for the one great purpose of wielding that vast fortune. The fortune is to remain in the family. The two are to be inseparable. Stinnes is the founder of a new house of rulers, in the one sphere where rulers still have power such as ancient monarchs had.

There is menace in the Stinnes idea. Or there would be, save for the fact that, whatever family pledges may be, the "dead hand" can no longer reach through the ages to wield power as it used to. Nature and human laws see to that. Modern families inevitably break up, sooner or later, as the great Rothschild family has done. Great fortunes are taxed more heavily, especially by inheritance taxes. Society, the partner of every business genius in the piling up of his fortune, claims its own sooner or later.

PRESIDENTIAL PRIVACY

The good old institution of public handshaking in the White House is abolished. The President finds it is too great a strain on his energy and too wasteful of his time to shake hands with one thousand or more of his fellow-citizens every noon. So now he lets them file through the executive offices just the same, but pays no attention to them. They look upon the President at his desk, engaged in important work or feeling important callers, as if they were gazing upon a movie, and go away fairly well satisfied.

It is a good and sensible arrangement and not altogether an innovation. President Wilson during the war found it necessary to conserve his energy in the same way, and barred the general public from the White House altogether. President Harding threw the doors wide open, and suffered accordingly from a deluge of children, lodge members, salesmen's conventions and miscellaneous delegations of home folks, towed in by officious congressmen. It was that, perhaps, as much as anything else, that wore out Mr. Harding.

The custom, despite its venerable origin and popular appeal, can well be dispensed with. What was proper in a country of three million people who traveled little is quite another matter in a country of one hundred fifteen million, of whom many thousands visit the national capital every day.

PROGRESS IN EUROPE

So far it has been plain sailing for the Dawes report. Pains expressed beforehand were groundless, or else the expression of those fears and their probable consequences brought disgruntled critics to their senses. The ready and apparently sincere acceptance of the plan by Germany "as a practical basis for the rapid solution of the reparations problem," is the most cheerful factor in the situation. Sentiment everywhere in Europe is now more hopeful than it has been for years, and American sentiment rises accordingly.

There will be some delay because of the impending French and German elections. There will be special interest in those elections, too, because they will be, in some degree, referendums on the plan proposed. If they result as they are expected to, the working out of details may start full speed ahead in June, and the whole tangled and difficult situation may be readjusted by midsummer.

That will be a great thing for Europe, and also a great thing for America, whose economic fortunes are so tied up with Europe, and whose attachment to that distressed continent in a thousand ways is stronger than we sometimes like to admit.

LOOKING ACROSS

By Guy Plummer

The writer recently received a marked copy of the London Telegraph, a quality newspaper contrasted with ours. A leading publication in a city larger than New York, it does not, in news value, measure up to even the most modest of our papers.

It was no doubt so, because it contained an article on Senator Borah's Russian article. We went through the copy carefully and wondered why it held a commanding position—due, perhaps, to our restricted mental view.

Among other things we noticed quite a number of the telephone enlargements in London. Shortly it stated, London would be equipped with a number of coin box booths, which would "avoid the necessity of going to a public call booth." Coin box booths? Familiar in America for many years? With equal pride the London paper reported that within 15 years there would be 1,000,000 telephones in London. There are now nearly 2,000,000 in New York City alone! During a recent "busy week" there were 9,000,000 telephone calls in London, the Telegraph reported. New York City averages over 30,000,000 calls a week, having more telephones than in the entire kingdom of Great Britain and northern Ireland.

These figures are quoted merely because they illustrate a point we have in mind. The United States is the most progressive and prosperous country in the world. Even when we think things rather bad, we are much better off than the people of the big pond. And our advancement and prosperity are associated inseparably with our industrial development.

The telephone companion is only one. We are that far ahead of the foreign countries—and then some. Our forebears are better off. They get dollops of the things that come from the farther, better off. As tough as things may be here at times, they are much worse on the other side. Our business concerns are better off.

Our banking facilities are incomparably better. Here a workman may have a bank account and check against it, working men write checks. The banking facilities do not constitute a popular service as here, and therefore, the benefits do not ramify into as many quarters.

The same thing applies to railroads, to power service, in fact to every agency contributing to the progress of the nation and to the welfare of the individual.

If any of our citizens should ever travel on a foreign railroad, stuffed into a box, he would come home with far different ideas of our own splendid transportation systems.

Power, over there, is vastly more plentiful than electric. There is no such distribution among the masses, and, therefore, no such general utilization of a service that has come to be essential in so many American cities and on so many American farms. But an outstanding comparison is furnished by the foreign newspapers. Any American citizen giving them a cutting will find very much of his home newspapers and much more appreciative of the splendid service they furnish, whether they be dailies, semi-weeklies or weeklies. There is more news of interest, and more good reading, in the average American weekly than in any foreign newspaper the writer ever perused.

And it all leads us to query ourselves. Are we not mighty fortunate after all? When we make comparisons with ourselves and with foreign conditions, sometimes we may get discouraged, even right pessimistic but when we extend the contrasts to countries we are more convinced we are a favored people.

A man was once in a large American city. He had been sick there, away from his home in a small western town, and felt that the bottom had dropped out of life for him. One day he hobbled out into the street and in five minutes saw dozens of people

THE UNHAPPY MISER
BY DADDY

Jack and Janet seek Cocky Robin, who has left his wife and babies hungry. They find him looking thin and unhappy, putting worm in a cap hidden among the bushes.

CHAPTER III.
The Miser's Gold.

COCKY ROBIN flew so fast Jack and Janet could not keep up with him. Soon he was out of sight. Still the children went on hoping to catch a glimpse of him.

Presently they came to a tumble-down house. From within came the sound of weeping.

Jack and Janet had tender hearts. They were eager to help anyone in trouble. So they walked up to the door and looked within to see who was crying.

There they found a mother and her three children, a boy and two little girls. All were weeping bitterly.

"Hello," said Janet. "What is the matter?" Can we help you?"

"The mother and three little ones looked up."

"Alas," said the mother, tears streaming down her eyes, "I am afraid you can do nothing. My husband, Jonas Jones, has left me, and our children. We are all very hungry."

"Where has Jonas Jones gone?" asked Jack.

"He lives in the next house down the road, but he will do nothing for us," said the poor woman. "While he makes much money he is so stingy he will not buy us food, nor fuel nor clothes." Janet looked at Jack in surprise.

"Why, this is just like the case of Cocky Robin," she said. "Cocky has left his family and Jonas Jones has left his wife and little ones."

Jack nodded his head. The two little ones seemed exactly alike.

"We are hungry," said the smallest of the little ones a baby girl.

Jack and Janet felt very sorry for them. They would have fed them if they could. But the mother and children could not eat worms as Martha Robin and her babies had done. Jack went down into his pocket. There he had a 25-cent piece. It had been given him by his father for piling a load of wood. Jack did not want to give up that quarter. He meant to take Janet to see a movie.

But these children were hungry. They needed food.

much worse off physically than he was. He at once quit complaining.

There is no man who may visit foreign countries who will not come back singing our national anthem with zeal and devotion. He will tell you that "There's No Place Like Home."

Composer of "The Rosary"

Eltherton Nevin composed "The Rosary." He was born in Vincennes, Ind., in 1882. He began to attract attention when he wrote his excellent piano piece and when he was twelve he was sent to Dresden, Germany, to study.

After returning from Germany he settled in Boston and became a well-known teacher and concert pianist, but in 1901 the charm of Europe, especially Italy, was too strong to be resisted and he next seven years were spent abroad, says the Detroit News.

The influence of southern Europe is very evident in the dreamy, romantic tone of much of his later music. In 1900 he became a music instructor at Yale university and was in this work when stricken with heart failure. He died in 1901.

Very modern composers have excelled Nevin in perfection of melody, critics say. While "The Rosary" is his masterpiece, "Narcissus" has received no small amount of popularity. Other compositions by Nevin are "Water Skates," "Day in Venice" and "Two Aprils."

Oldest Known Will

The oldest known will, found among the ruins of ancient Egypt and said to date about 4,500 years old, was so constructed that its provisions would have to be carried out if made today, William C. Taylor, formerly recorder of wills, said in a talk on "Wills" delivered at the luncheon of the Newcomers club in the City club of Washington.

Or Mittens.

Teacher (after giving the class a lesson on snow): "And should we go out on a winter's day and look about us, what might we see on every hand?" Small Boy—"Gloves."

Lots of Books.

It is estimated that something like 10,000,000 different books have been issued since the invention of movable type in the Fifteenth century.

Nothing to Fear.

Clerk—Hello, there is another advantage about these gloves. You need not fear they'll shrink in the wash. You see, it can't be washed at all.

Why Put It On?

"Do you have to see a doctor before you get booze in this town?" "No, afterwards."

"Oh! My nice money."

"Here is a quarter," said Jack, slowly. "Take it and buy food."

"Oh, thank you, kind sir," said the woman. "Thank you," cried the children. We will pay it back if our daddy comes back to us," promised the woman.

Jack and Janet went on their way. They came to the house where Jonas Jones lived. They wondered if they might find him to go back to his family. With this thought they ventured up to the house and looked within.

There they saw Jonas Jones. He was ragged and unkempt. He was seated at a table and spread out before him was a heap of gold coins. These he was fingering and counting.

"Oh, my nice money!" gloated Jonas. "My nice money!" I will get more money tomorrow and add it to my store. Soon I will have more money than anyone in this country."

Again Jack and Janet looked at each other with wondering eyes.

"Jonas Jones is a miser," whispered Jack.

They heard a rustle in the grass. Lying down was Cocky Robin, pulling a worm from the ground.

"Cheer! Another fine worm for my own," gloated Cocky Robin. "More worms! More worms!" and away he flew.

Cocky Robin had turned miser," whispered Janet to Jack. "That is what is the matter with him." Jack nodded his head.

"He has caught his miserliness from Miser Jonas Jones," whispered he. "We must try to cure him and perhaps we may be able to cure Jonas Jones, too."

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonially Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My wife begins to make a series of phone calls about 10:30 every evening.

"Well, let's turn in," is all I need to say to send her bounding to the telephone.

"I simply have to call up Nannie and Helen and Louise," she shouts back at me after she has given a number to the operator. "I absolutely promised I'd let them know this evening about what I was going to wear tomorrow afternoon."

And then she has a 10 or 15 minute chat with each of her friends, while I wait.

The funny part of it is that she'll sit and read all evening and never once think of stopping to phone. You might think that all her friends lived out of town and that she was waiting until late at night to get cheaper toll rates.

"I've given her warning that if she's going after it's time to go to bed—out comes our phone. No more bedtime stories from our station."

Tomorrow: "My husband talks a lot about politics but he always forgets to vote."

Touching Incident at Evacuation of Smyrna

In it all (the Smyrna evacuation) the horrible, the terrible, the humorous, and the touching were strangely intermingled. One incident is typical of the brighter side.

One busy one day getting the crowd through the gate and onto the pier, when a woman, with several children became separated from one without noticing that she had lost him, the little child of three or four years being pushed, kicked and in danger of being crushed to death. The child, many of all ages—had been in that place, so dense was the terrified mass fighting their way toward safety on board the vessels.

A Turkish soldier saw him, dropped his rifle, pushed his way through the crowd, rescued the child and, with his own body, until he had saved him and restored him to his mother.

When the soldier came back, I smiled and patted him on the back to express approval. My linguistic shortcomings made it impossible to be more explicit, but the Turkish soldier, with an extraordinary pantomime that made mere speech quite needless. He held his hand at the height of a little child's head and opened two fingers, pointing first to himself and then back toward the country lying to the east. Then, his hand on his heart, he shook his head.

His meaning was perfectly clear; he had—or, perhaps, once had—two children of about the age of the child he had saved.

Such is the terrible Turk—such, at least, is one side of him that I saw.—Mark O. Prentiss in the Atlantic Monthly.

Englishman Tells How to Break Monte Carlo

Hon. Seton Robert Boreford, brother of Lord Bessborough, the author of a book of 60 pages, only one-third of an inch thick. The price is 21 shillings, which is at the rate of 63 shillings an inch, remarks the London Times.

Its title is, "The Future at Monte Carlo," a Method Explained Whereby the Bank Must Fail."

"The intention," he writes, "is not to put forward a new system in opposition to the bank, but to invert all that has gone before insofar as to compel the bank to take the place of the system manager."

He shows how a number of players, working in concert, may force the bank to play one of the famous systems, such as that devised by Labouchere.

The Boreford system, he declares, may be played by people as little as £30 or 40 a game for "with so small a reserve many would lose their all; a few, however, would probably win heavily."

One solitary winner could easily win an amount in excess of the losses of all the others." He declares that one followed the Boreford method, Monte Carlo, and he had been out of business in six months.

Hon. S. R. Boreford is manager of two shipping associations and a famous aviator and trap shooter. He lives in New York and London and has played cricket for Middlesex.

What He Asked For

Huggins considered himself a very smart fellow—distinctly witty, in fact—and he never lost an opportunity of using what he called his "wit."

One day he was strolling down High street when he saw a notice in a shop window, which ran: "If you don't see what you want in the window come inside."

"I don't see what I want in the window," he said.

"Well, then, ask for it," said the shopkeeper.

"Well," went on the old fellow, "I have found no many smart men in this town that I can search of a first-class come inside."

Without hesitation the proprietor turned to his assistant with the order: "James, bring a large sheet of paper and some string, and make this gentleman up into a neat parcel."

Bookbuck Uses a Palette

One of the bookbuckers on the boulevard now uses a palette when cleaning women's shoes, says a Paris letter to the Baltimore Sun.

The Parisian woman's shoes vary so much in color that he found it often difficult to get the right hue of boot cream to match.

So, in his palette, he puts a number of different creams and combines them in varying proportions according to the tone of the shoes he has to deal with.

Judging by the number of his woman customers his plan is successful.

Just Like a Husband

"My husband is the most stubborn man in the world."

"He can't be any more stubborn than mine."

"Oh, yes. I'm sure he must be. Yesterday I had an engagement to meet him at three o'clock."

"Yes."

"Well, it was nearly 4:30 when I got there, and he won't admit yet that the rest he got while he was waiting did him any good."

Sister Godella, who is in charge of the X-ray department of St. John's hospital in Fargo, is the first woman to be registered as a radiologist in the state of North Dakota. She recently passed the examination required by the American Registry of Radiological Technicians in Omaha and is the first woman to be given the right to award such a certificate in this country.

Queer Dueling Weapons Used in the Balkans

It doesn't pay to be personal in the Balkans. The duel is still an institution there, and the weapons used in affairs of honor are sometimes rather awe-inspiring. For instance, a duel was fought with sharpened axes in Jugoslavia recently, says London Answers.

Some years ago a man "affair" of some strength ago. The combatants quarreled over a game of billiards, and decided to fight a duel with a single billiard ball—the red. A coin was tossed to see who should throw first. The winner hurled the ball with such force that it struck his opponent's temple and killed him.

Another queer duel was fought with the aid of two pills, one poisoned and the other harmless. They were put in a box, shaken up, and picked out by the "duellists."

In 1908 two were drawn by two men as to which of them should commit suicide. One of the participants was physically incapable of fighting an ordinary duel, so this unique substitute was decided on. The loser, who was engaged, at once wedded his sweetheart, and, after the ceremony, never-married couple committed suicide together.

Simon Lake's Concrete Houses Quickly Built

Utilizing principles that he developed in his designs for concrete ships, Simon Lake, inventor of submarine boats, has perfected a method of manufacturing houses of any size and any style of architecture that is specified, from precast concrete slabs of standardized sizes, which he declares can be put up like Aladdin's palace, virtually overnight.

The Lake houses, their inventor writes in the Popular Science Magazine, may be of any type, from a small bungalow to a skyscraper, according to the architect's plans. The houses may be brick, stone, shingles, stucco or whatever else is desired.

The houses are said to be rain-proof, moisture-proof, cold and heat-proof, earthquake-proof, and all but indestructible, and their inventor declares they can be built for one-half the cost of brick or frame construction. Small houses, he says, can be built in a day.

Berlin Is Bicycle City

Berlin is now the leading bicycle city of the world, having displaced Copenhagen as the town with the greatest percentage of cycle users. Every morning and evening the streets leading from the center of the city to the water of the German capital are filled with hand workers, clerks and business men who have found that bicycles are cheaper and more dependable than the street cars and the elevated and underground railways. The enormous loss from the scarcity of coal, with its drastic cuts in the service, have caused thousands of middle-aged residents of greater Berlin and nearby cities to ransack their garrets or cellars for the discarded cycles of their youthful days, eager for their own personal use or for the purpose of selling them to other buyers of second-hand wheels at from $10 to $20 apiece. Makers of bicycles are reaping a harvest filling the demand for their output at prices ranging from $30 to $40.

Women Workers in U. S.

There are today more than 8,500,000 women gainfully employed in the United States, representing an increase of 474,000 in the last ten years. This is nearly a quarter of the entire female population over ten years of age, while 20 years ago the proportion was nearer a sixth than a fifth. And we get this total increase in spite of the marked decrease in domestic servants, for in 1900, with a male population of 74,000,000, there were 2,055,000 servants, while in 1920 we had but 1,012,000. Women are leaving not only their own homes, but other people's! In factory, store and office young women find companionship and freedom out of working hours which more than compensates them for the better pay and lighter loads of housework. The older women expect this exodus from the older trade to continue, at least until private service has been recognized and its status raised.

A Horrible Dream

Her life had been very happy for a year. Not a cloud had marred their perfect felicity. Then, one morning, the wife came down to breakfast morose and wretched.

She was snappish with her husband. She would hardly speak to him. And for a long while she refused to explain her unenviable condition.

Finally, though, the young man insisted that he be told why his wife was treating him so badly. She looked up with tears in her eyes and said:

"John Smith, if I dream again that you kissed another woman, I won't speak to you again as long as I live."—Delineator.

Reports from Washington Again Affect Market Unfavorably; Corn and Oats Remain Relatively Firm

CHICAGO, April 22 (AP)—Wheat eased down in price today, largely owing to Washington reports which many traders took to mean ultimate defeat of the proposed legislation to change the present export system. There was an unsettled close for wheat at 1-8 to 5-8c to 3-4c net decline, May $1.03 1-2 and July $1.05 1-4 to 1-5 1-4 to 3-8, with corn unchanged to 3-8c lower; oats, varying from 3-8c drop to 1-8c advance and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12 cents.

Throughout the greater part of the day sellers of wheat were in a majority and were in numerous cases giving voice to an opinion that for at least the present session of congress no definite final step was to be expected as to proposed farm enactments of a sweeping character. The only decided rally in wheat prices came as a result of the fact that for a while the corn market showed strength that vessel market was reported to have been engaged for large shipments of wheat from Canada.

A new dip in wheat prices, however, took place toward the end of the day when pressure to sell became again rather evident.

Although at first corn and oats showed a tendency to sag in sympathy with wheat, offerings of corn grew scarce, and the corn market made a sudden upturn aided by gossip, that eastern shipping call for corn had enlarged somewhat. Besides, arrivals of corn here today amounted to only 30 cars. On the other hand, attempts to realize profits created by the upturn brought about a quick setback at the last.

Oats, like corn, were relatively firm much of the time owing to the shipping demand.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

DUMB BELLS

WAY CLEAR FOR OPENING BIDS ON SOUTH LINE

Nevada Bank Holds Deposit for Right of Way Meeting Final Condition for Letting Construction Contract

NEVADA TAKES ACTION.
Wells, Nevada, April 22.
M. J. Sweeney,
Twin Falls.
There is now on deposit in this bank twenty-six hundred and twenty-six dollars to the credit of the Nevada Railway Home committee.
WELLS STATE BANK.

Receipt of the above telegram Tuesday afternoon indicates a full compliance with the request of the Oregon Short Line as expressed through Chief Engineer Armstrong during his visit here Sunday and apparently assures the immediate opening of bids and the letting of the construction contract. Suit was filed in district court here Tuesday by Oregon Short Line attorneys to condemn 4.35 acres of land necessary to the right of way through the property of Ralph B. and Laura B. Cole, situated on the line south of Rogerson, and other necessary suits to condemn Nevada property will follow in a few days if an agreement as to purchase price is not reached.

A telephone message from E. P. Gray of Contact, who spent Tuesday in Elko and Wells, is to the same effect as the wire of the Wells State bank.

Engineer Detailed to Work.
J. P. Elliott, Oregon Short Line engineer in charge of the double tracking of the line west of Glenn Ferry, is expected to reach Rogerson within a few days to establish engineering and supervisory headquarters in connection with the work on the new line.

It is stated that grading on the new line will probably be commenced simultaneously at both Rogerson and Wells, but that the work of laying steel will all be concentrated from the Rogerson end of the line.

Check for $100 has been received from Hemenway and Meier, of Salt Lake, in the interests of the Murphy cigar store of Twin Falls to be added to the railway fund. One or two other checks will be received within a few days, it is understood, according to advice received at the chamber of commerce.

EMINENT SCOUT LEADERS BRINGING LIVE MESSAGE

Next week is Boy Scout week and it is expected that Twin Falls is to receive a visit from two Boy Scout leaders of national reputation Saturday of this week.

The program for Saturday includes a banquet at the Perrine hotel at 6:30 to which everyone interested in knowing more about scout work is invited. Both J. P. Freeman of the national field staff, and C. K. O'Connell, regional scout executive, will speak. The message these men will bring is expected to assist greatly in carrying on the scout work during the next year.

Sunday will find every troop attending one of the special service arranged by the ministers of the city.

Monday is the Boy Scout registration day for the coming city and county election.

Tuesday is a parade and athletic contest day. A much larger parade than last year and with many new and interesting features is being arranged. Wednesday is election day, and judging from the interest the boys are already showing it will be as exciting as any other Twin Falls election.

Thursday is listed as School day, and a special effect is being made to have as many parents visit the schools as possible.

Friday will be Good Turn day, and Saturday is Administration day, with the newly selected officers in charge of the city and county.

DEBETED WIFE ASKS DECREE
Alleging desertion and failure to provide, Mrs. Doris Morrison, through her attorney, John H. Barnes, instituted suit in district court here Tuesday for divorce from George E. Morrison, to whom, according to the bill of particulars, she was married in Twin Falls May 7, 1919. The alleged desertion dates from January 1, 1922. There are no children and no community property is involved.

Contact Man Asks Road Co-operation

W. A. Kent Tells of Extensive Highway Improvement to Follow South Line Building

W. A. Kent, pioneer merchant and secretary of the Commercial club at Contact, spent Tuesday in Twin Falls on a business trip.

Mr. Kent says that arrangements are being made to do a good deal of work on the highway between Wells and Contact in the near future with plans for an even more extensive road improvement program after the railroad is built.

The Contact Commercial club is in receipt of a letter from T. V. Wheeler, Elko county road supervisor, at Elko, to the effect that it is the present plan to maintain the road in good condition and that work will commence in the very near future.

Mr. Kent expresses the hope that the cooperation of the Twin Falls highway district may be secured to the end that the road between Rogerson and the state line may also be put into better shape.

WAGES CLAIMS AIRED IN COURT

Disputes Between Workers and Employers in Two Cases Put Up to Jury Decision

Whether or not Donald McLean, defendant in a suit tried in district court here Tuesday, is liable for payment of wages to R. S. Whittington for work in connection with sorting and sacking of potatoes, was to be determined by the jury which received the case late in the afternoon. Whittington sued on four counts for $55.75 wages together with $207 penalty under the statute.

Defendant McLean, represented by O. W. Witham of Porter and Witham, denied any liability for payment to Whittington, and alleged that the liability, if one existed, rested upon a sub-contractor alleged to have employed Whittington.

The suit was instituted for Whittington by the late S. D. Davis. Whittington was represented in the trial by Homer C. Mills.

Verdict awarding $57 to John Hollan, a minor who sued through his father, James Hollan, from John Gunnerson, Kimberly district farmer, on account of claim for wages, was returned by a jury in district court Tuesday afternoon. Hollan sought wages at the rate of $2.50 a day in the total sum of $74.25, together with penalty under the statute. Amount of the award is the amount that had been offered by Gunnerson in settlement prior to the trial.

The suit was instituted for Whittington by the late S. D. Davis. Whittington was represented in the trial by Homer C. Mills.

Trial in the case of J. Elmer Mintum against D. B. Moorman, involving Mintum's claim for $6000 damages arising out of an automobile collision on the road south of Hansen in November, 1922, is scheduled to begin in district court today and is expected to occupy two or more days.

Plaintiff Mintum is represented by Attorney T. K. Hackman, and defendant Moorman by J. R. Bothwell and W. Orr Chapman.

DEATHS

NEAR—George H. Near, retired railroad engineer and resident of Twin Falls for four years past, died Tuesday evening at his home on Shoshone street east, aged 68 years. The body was taken to the Grossman cemetery. Arrangements for funeral services await word from a sister in Kansas.

Besides his wife, Mr. Near is survived by his son, A. T. Near, resident here for several years. He was a member of the Elks lodge.

FUNERALS

SHERMAN—Funeral services for John P. Sherman, whose death occurred here Monday evening, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Grossman chapel under auspices of the Odd Fellows lodge, of which he was a member.

Card of Thanks.
Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Nesbitt and family wish to publicly express their appreciation to the fire department and to neighbors and strangers for their gallant efforts in putting nearly all of the household goods when the home was burning Monday morning.—adv.

PROJECT WAITS ON BUILDING OF BIG RESERVOIR

Government Investigators' Inquiry at Hearing on Desert Land Entries Brings Out Murtaugh District Status

Reclamation of approximately 80,000 acres of land within the borders of the Murtaugh irrigation district in Twin Falls and Cassia counties is contingent upon the construction of the American Falls reservoir, for which the district, under its present plans, will derive its water supply, according to evidence offered at a hearing opened here Tuesday before C. C. Higgins, clerk of the district court, in which inquiry is being made by agents of the federal government as to the source of water for reclamation of certain lands within the district which are held by desert land entries.

Testimony to this effect was given by H. T. Henderson, engineer for the Murtaugh district, and E. B. Johnson, assistant secretary for the American Falls reservoir district, testified as to present status of the American Falls project. Other witnesses heard Tuesday were Mrs. Sarah H. Humphrey, one of the entries, and Edgar W. Moorman, secretary of the Milner Low Lift irrigation district, a neighboring project.

RESEVOIR PROJECT KEY

The inquiry was not completed at the first day's hearing and will be resumed this morning. The government in this hearing is represented by C. W. Wells, Salt Lake, and John M. Bloomer, Salt Lake, investigators for the interior department. J. W. Porter of the law firm of Porter and Witham appears as attorney for the Murtaugh district and several of the entries, and M. J. Sweeney of Sweeney and Sweeney as attorney for other of the entries.

Government agents in this hearing seek to determine the capability of the Murtaugh district to furnish water for reclamation of the lands within its boundaries that are held under desert land entries. The question as developed early in the inquiry turned on the line of building the American Falls reservoir, a federal reclamation service project, and availability of storage water therefrom.

Entries involved in this inquiry are Irene Dwight, William H. Dwight, Noel L. Provost, Belva Holmberg, R. Hall, Adah H. Provost, Earl T. Provost, Cyrus C. Figgie, Sarah H. Humphrey.

BESPEAKS PLACES FOR CHILDREN IN HOMES

State Home Finding and Aid Society Superintendent Says Youngsters Look Forward to Summer on Farms

Mrs. Lillian M. Carse, state superintendent of the Idaho Children's Home Finding and Aid society, was a Twin Falls visitor Tuesday on official business.

A number of boys and girls in the care of the society and now attending school will welcome opportunity to spend the summer vacation in homes, especially farm homes, Mrs. Carse said. "They are young, of course, but they are willing and able to give considerable assistance in homes into which they are received. Boys range in age from 6 to 14 years and girls from 7 to 16 years."

"By far the greater number of applications for adoption of wards of the society are for girl babies, but it has been our experience that older children are quick to win their way into hearts and homes, and very often boys and girls who are placed in homes during summer vacations remain there permanently."

SEASON FOR FIGHT UPON LEAF ROLLER SHORTENS

Hatching of Insect Pest Begins in Twin Falls Region and Oil Will Be Ineffective After Next Day or Two

Leaf roller moths are hatching in orchards of the Twin Falls region and the period for effective use of oil spray in combating this pest is limited to the next one or two days, according to statement Tuesday evening of H. P. Blaka, deputy state horticulturist.

Use of oil spray after the next day or two will be useless as against leaf roller, Mr. Blaka said, but he stated, a pre-early spray of double strength leaf arsenate may be applied within the next four or five days. This spray has been used with some success in combating leaf roller in New York, Mr. Blaka said.
