Reparations Commission Postpones Official Discussion Until After Conference Reaches an End.

PARIS, April 29 (AP)—The reparations commission today postponed official discussion of the allies' replies on the experts' report in order to give all possible leeway to the pour-purloins now in progress between representatives of the allies.

The commission, however, is most anxious that such "sounding out" as the Belgian premier, M. Thomsen, and Foreign Minister Hymans are attempting in Paris and London should be brought to a speedy conclusion, as it is pointed out that if the plan is not put into operation quickly the incidental costs piling up during the economic exploitation of the Ruhr may make the experts' estimates of Germany's reparations yield out of date.

The commission will hold an official meeting tomorrow morning after which Sir John Bradbury will proceed to London to confer with his government before the arrival there of the Belgian ministers. At this meeting the commission will take up the nomination of the allied members of the various committees under the Dawes plan now that the names of the German participants have been received.

For the railway committee the allied members have already been designated. They are Sir William E. Acworth and M. Leveque, and they with two Germans must confer before naming the fifth member, who is supposed to be neutral. The senate rule applies for the industrial mortgage.

As Americans have up to the present time been suggested as the fifth member, though the reparations commission would be glad to have an American serve if available. However, there is a slight ambiguity concerning the term "neutral," since the United States is an "associated power" in the treaty's terms.

The fifth member of these committees is not likely to receive remuneration as the purpose in forming the railway and mortgage committees was merely to complete rounding out the experts' plan; hence, the non-payment rule, under which the experts worked is likely to be followed.

Meanwhile the question as to when the experts' recommendations ending the economic exploitation of the Ruhr shall go into effect remains as uncertain as ever. There is an inclination to believe that once the allies had reached a general agreement on the acceptance of the whole plan and formulated some idea of what they are likely to do in the way of penalties in case Germany should again default the reparations commission should be the judge of when the experts' plan had actually gone into effect in Germany after which cessation of economic exploitation should begin automatically.

Chief Executive of Indiana in Jail on Mail Fraud Charge; Penalty May be $1,000 Fine or Five Years Imprisonment.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29 (AP)—Warren T. McCray, who resigned today as governor of Indiana following his conviction in federal court yesterday on charges of using the mails in furtherance of a scheme to defraud, bade farewell to his family this afternoon and was returned to the Marion county jail. McCray will be taken before United States District Judge Albert B. Anderson tomorrow morning for sentence and it was learned that shortly thereafter he would be started upon his way to begin a sentence in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

The penalty may be a fine of not more than $1,000 or not more than five years or both, in the court's discretion, according to the statute.

McCray spent more than an hour with his family at the governor's mansion here. White United States Marshal P. Meredith has been the governor's constant companion since he took him from jail this morning to the federal building and thence to the execution.

California Senator Runs Far Behind in Preference Primary; Cox Leads McAdoo.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 30 (AP)—President Coolidge still was leading Senator Hiram Johnson of California for Ohio's presidential preference primary in yesterday's election. Johnson was defeated by almost six to one; and former Governor James M. Cox still maintained his ratio of about two and a half to one over William G. McAdoo for the democratic endorsement when more than half of the state's 3350 precincts had reported to the secretary of state early today. The vote in 4967 precincts gave Coolidge 67,502; Johnson 17,191. In 4952 precincts Cox had 45,900 votes to 17,623 for McAdoo.

STONE TO AID
SENATE QUERY

Department of Justice Head Offers to Assist in Efforts of Investigators.

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The department of justice will aid the senate Daugherty committee in the litigation arising from the refusal of Mal Daugherty of Washington Courthouse, Ohio, brother of the former attorney general, to testify.

Discussing the situation resulting from the court action at Cincinnati instituted by Daugherty, Attorney General Stone said today the department was required by law to give its assistance where an official of the senate or house was made defendant in a suit involving his official duties.

While no formal request had come to the department for its assistance in the Daugherty contempt case, the attorney general said members of the senate committee had communicated with him to ascertain his views. He added that he had informed them that on March 3, 1923, placed these obligations upon the department and it was his intention to have the department personnel do their duty in this instance.

It was to be assumed, he continued, that any request for assistance would be made to the head United States attorney in the district wherein the proceedings arose, and that therefore, the request in this case would be made to the United States Attorney at Cincinnati.

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The committee on banking and currency will take up within a few days the bill recently introduced in the senate, to supplement the Bituminous silver act. The new bill provides for additional purchase of silver by the government of more than $13,000,000 at one dollar an ounce.

Senator Phipps, republican, Colorado, a member of the committee, said today he was pressing for early action on the bill.

SPECIAL GRAND JURY STARTS ON LEASE CHARGES

Josephus Daniels Is First Witness as Court Action Gets Under Way; Photographers Admitted to Sessions.

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—With Josephus Daniels, secretary of state under the Wilson administration, as the first witness, the special grand jury which is to investigate criminal charges growing from the senate oil inquiry began its labors today in the District of Columbia supreme court.

Allie Pomeroy and Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel, presenting the case, devoted the first day to laying the groundwork for evidence that is to be introduced later through a number of witnesses who have appeared before the senate committee.

Photographers twice were admitted to the grand jury room during the day, the first time before the beginning of the morning session and the second time after the jurors had assembled at the end of the noon recess. Government counsel were photographed with the 23 jurors.

District Attorney Gordon subsequently denied reports that he had sought to recall the pictures. Counsel also made light of reports, current at the capital and elsewhere, that the appearance of photographers in the jury room might cause a dismissal of the jury. It was explained that the rule of secrecy applied only when the jury was actually at work.

Daniels First Witness.

Former Secretary Daniels was before the jury for nearly an hour and a half. It was at his request that Congress passed the act of June 4, 1920, giving the naval secretary control of the naval reserves and authorizing him to lease lands and to sell, store or exchange oil extracted from the reserves.

One of the chief contentions of the government in the oil cases has been that President Harding's executive order (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1.)

Note Comes from North Dakota Asking Prosecution; Investigation is Ordered.

WILLISTON, N. D., April 29 (AP)—A penciled note in a childish hand addressed to President Coolidge, pleading with him to "arrest the men who are selling liquor to my daddy," has been received at the sheriff's office here, after having passed through various government channels from the chief executive.

A Williams county girl, apparently not aware that she could secure the service of local officials, had written the letter to the president.

An investigation is being conducted by local authorities.

NEW INFECTIONS ARE REPORTED

Disease Spreading in California; Many More Herds Affected; Fishermen Protest.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 29 (AP)—New infections of the foot and mouth disease reported today to the state department of agriculture were in two herds near Martinez, Contra Costa county, four infections in Mendocino county and one in Los Angeles county near Workman station.

In addition, news dispatches from Los Angeles told of the discovery of the malady in two other herds, also near Workman station.

A commission of men interested in livestock in Oregon began a tour of inspection through the affected district of southern California today.

The state fish and game commission announced many anglers were protesting that county regulations designed to prevent spread of the infection, were discriminatory in their application to fishermen. Amador county supervisors passed an ordinance prohibiting all persons from leaving the highways to picnic, fish or ramble.

REVOLUTION SUDDENLY
BREAKS OUT IN CUBA;
TROOPS IN OPEN CLASH

Government Sends Soldiers in Pursuit of Rebels and Orders Arrests; Armed Civilians Reported Joining Sporadic Movement; Cries of "Down with President," Are Heard.

HAVANA, April 29 (AP)—Open revolt broke out today in Santa Clara province. Some 25 soldiers in the city of Santa Clara deserted with their arms, two machine guns and their horses, and attacked the city hall and seized the safe in the near-by town of San Juan de los Rios.

In a clash there between the revolting soldiers and loyalist forces a woman and a girl were injured.

The government immediately sent soldiers in pursuit of the rebels and ordered the arrest of leaders of the "Veterans" and "Patriots" association which has been threatening a revolution since it was organized last August.

Dispatches received by the newspaper here today were to the effect that a number of armed civilians were joining the revolting soldiers who took to the open country after the clash at San Juan de los Rios. The wives leading to the town of Santo Domingo, province of Oriente, were cut during the day.

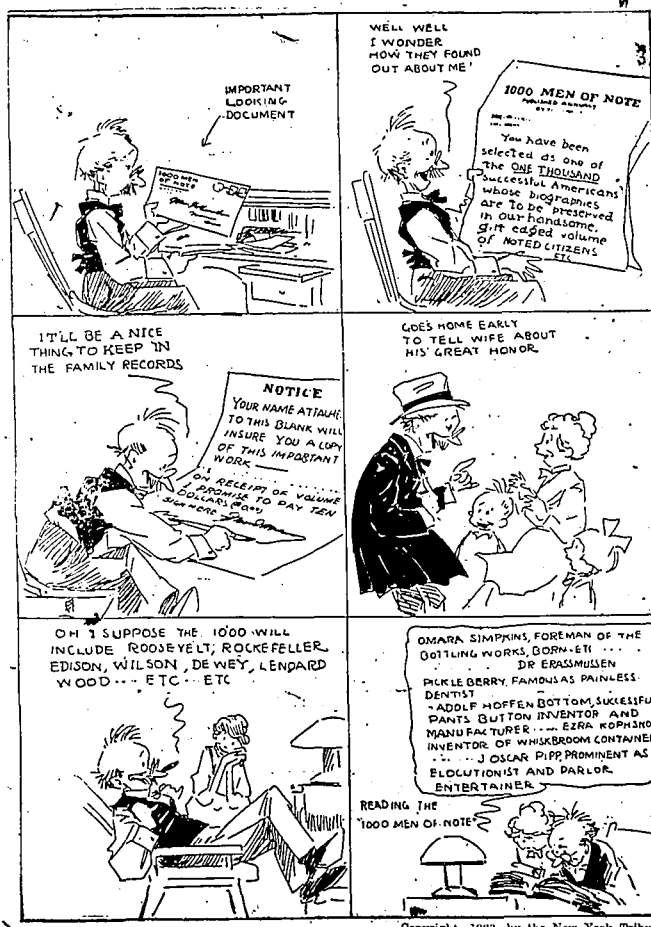

Cries of "Down with President Zayas" and "Down with 'reaction,'" were heard as the soldiers fled from Santa Clara just before daybreak. It is asserted that while the revolt seemingly was designed as a protest against the movement to re-elect President Zayas next fall, it did not appear to be in the interest of any particular candidate for the presidency. As far as can be ascertained here, it was a sporadic uprising and without centralized leadership.

The first reports were that it was rural guards who had revolted, but later advices showed it was soldiers who were concerned. President Zayas said today that the movement had no real importance except for its possible effect on public opinion and business.

Modify Quarantine. HONOLULU, April 29 (AP)—The Hawaiian board of agriculture today modified its quarantine regulations designed to protect the islands from the ravages of foot and mouth disease, to prohibit entry of any live animals shipped through California on their way to Hawaii.

The new regulations will become effective immediately on being signed by the governor.

PRIDE GOETH BEFORE A FALL

ANNUAL NAVY SUPPLY
BILL PASSED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The annual naval supply bill, carrying $275,000,000 was passed today by the senate without a record vote. The senate added about $700,000 to the bill as it came from the house.

The bill was sent to conference with the house but with few major differences to be ironed out.

The senate insisted a provision requiring naval repair work to be done in navy yards, when of time and facilities permit, be added $300,000 for the Columbia river naval station and $500,000 for a marine headquarters building in San Francisco and struck out an appropriation of $20,000 for a gas plant at Philadelphia.

Davis Recommends
Americanization of
All Aliens in U. S.

Secretary of Labor Suggests System for Greater Efficiency in Handling of Situation as to Immigrants.

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—The United States war with alienism, declared the alien buster, James J. Davis, secretary of labor, declared in an address tonight before Chicago judges of the Independent Order of B. of E. Rites.

The need, Secretary Davis said, is for a system that will give the alien host eagerly desiring to become a citizen the help he must have to accomplish this end, and "to clear the way for elimination of the aliens who defy our laws or who seek to abuse our hospitality by preying on the downfall of our institutions and the destruction of our representative form of government."

Secretary Davis proposed a plan for the Americanization of every alien entering the United States, requiring him to make an annual report to the government. By giving him an identification card entitling him to the benefits of an educational system already well established, Secretary Davis said, the alien would be given an opportunity to become a citizen under a simplified naturalization plan, while it would be easy to weed out the illiterate immigrant, the smuggled oriental and the apostles of

OFFER PLAN TO EXTEND DATE ON IMMIGRANT BILL

Postponement of Operation of Exclusion Feature Reported Suggested by Coolidge to Official Conference.

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Postponement of operation of the Japanese exclusion provision of the immigration bill until July 1 is understood to have been suggested by President Coolidge to the senate and house conferees on the measure.

This suggestion was said to have been considered by the conferees at a meeting today and afterwards word was sent to the White House that an agreement on this basis might be reached within 24 hours. The vote in the conference committee, however, is expected to be close, forecasting the fight which appears certain, at least, on the senate floor, when the exclusion agreement is reported. A final report from the conference committee is not looked for on the measure for several days.

Suspension of the effectiveness of the Japanese exclusion provision, until July 1, when other sections of the bill will become operative would give opportunity for negotiation of a treaty or other arrangement with Japan for extension of the nationalities of that nation. Such action, it has been contended in some administration circles, would bring about the end sought in the bill, but would give less offense to the Japanese government and people.

The president's views were placed before the conferees today by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, who has been active in directing the immigration bill through the senate, after the chief executive had conferred with him this morning. When word of a probable conference agreement on the exclusion provision reached the White House late in the day, the president conferred with Secretary Hughes, but no announcement concerning their discussion was forthcoming.

Several senators from Pacific coast states have indicated their intention to oppose adoption of the committee report if it attempts in any way to alter the senate's decision on exclusion as expressed by several decisive votes.

SHORT LINE ORDERED TO BETTER TWO CROSSINGS

Public Utilities Commission Takes Action to Make Highway Travel Through Twin Falls County More Safe

BOISE, April 29—An order requiring the Oregon Short Line Railroad company to make more safe two grade crossings in Twin Falls county, was issued Friday by the public utilities commission. Within 30 days the company is required to place an electric warning signal at the point where "Old Oregon Trail" crosses the railroad. Within the same time the company is required to construct a suitable crossing for the traveling public at the point where the tracks cross Yakima avenue in Filer.

In the case of a third crossing complained against by citizens of Filer, the commission found that the view was not obstructed from any angle unless the company left freight cars standing on the track near this crossing. Complaints against the three crossings were entered by the county commissioners and the village of Filer.

HAYNES DENIES LIQUOR RUMOR

Federal Commissioner Does Not Intend to Interfere With Sale of Ingredients.

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes issued a statement today denying that it was the intention of the prohibition enforcement officers to interfere with the legitimate sale of ingredients which may be used in the manufacture of home-brew. His statement resulted from a misinterpretation of regulations which became effective May 1.

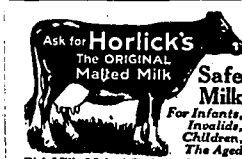

The previous regulations referred to provisions of the law prohibiting the sale or possession for sale of utensils, compounds or materials for use in unlawful manufacture of intoxicants, but Mr. Haynes today said it was not to be understood that the department had issued any regulations or intends to issue any which will interfere with the legitimate sale of materials of this character.

"It is obvious," he said, "that dried fruit can not be used for making non-intoxicating fruit juices exclusively for use in the home under the provisions of the prohibition act and notice to that effect was issued last October. The possession of fresh fruit is a prerequisite to the making of fruit juices and fruit juices made from such fresh fruit, exclusively for use in the home, may not be used as beverages after they become intoxicating."

SUBMIT SCRIPTS FOR STUNT FEST

Annual Event at University of Idaho Expected to be Record Event This Year.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, April 29—(Special to The News)—Manuscripts for the annual stunt festival given each spring by the four classes in the university have been submitted and, according to E. J. Gowanlock of Spokane, general chairman, give promise of one of the best stunt fests in the history of the university. Musical comedy style with an abundance of stage lighting and scenery is the general trend of the stunts, all of which are cleverly worked out.

A crack university orchestra will furnish the special music. The original songs which are nearing completion will be interspersed between stunts and will lend a balanced effect to the whole program. May 9 is the tentative date.

The senior stunt, whose origination is attributed to the minds of Talbot Jennings of Nampa, Florence Graves of Nampa and Louis Ross of Boise, calls for a modernized retelling of the "Battle of Lexington" based on the "Chronicles of America." The plot has been completely renovated and graced with football and miscellaneous football verbiage.

Carl Feldman of Boise, Helen Grim of Culver City, Cal., Leo Fleming of Burke and Al Derr of Clarkfork, have produced a junior stunt entitled "A Frosh Bonfire," which holds superiority in store for a few faculty members at least. A realistic pep band, serpentine and pajama parade are included in this number.

Attorney General Stone agreed to leave the department of justice and to become Daugherty's committee in litigation with M. S. Daugherty.

The senate Daugherty committee heard further testimony on prohibition enforcement and anti-trust policies of the department of justice.

President Coolidge revealed he personally suggested Representative Burton as temporary chairman of the republican national convention.

Mrs. Jake Hannon appeared before the senate oil committee but was excused after a wrangle among senators over who was responsible for summoning her.

President Coolidge received reports forecasting an agreement within 24 hours by the senate and house conferees on the Japanese exclusion provision of the immigration bill.

ORPHEUM HAS ATTRACTIVE VAUDEVILLE BILL TODAY

The Orpheum theater has booked an exceptionally attractive vaudeville bill for showing today, according to announcement by the management. The program is varied and runs from popular musical offerings to aerial performances and athletic exhibitions.

The four acts are summarized as follows:

Sowers and Steger—A couple cannot be called modern these days unless they dance. Sowers and Steger are an ideal modern couple and to prove it they not only dance but sing and talk as well. They offer a neat routine of these three entertaining commodities.

Smith and Revere—A gentleman who has made a study of the negro type presents a comedy blackface character, assisted by Miss Revere, who also plays a negro. This talented pair of artists offer some rapid fire talk interrupted by several songs. This act has just returned from a successful tour of one of the large eastern circuits.

Alice DeGarmo, an expert aerial artist in addition to a creator of feature trapeze feats, will be seen in what she terms "Tricks." She is an artist whose creativeness and gracefulness in the execution of these feats has gained for her an enviable reputation in athletic circles.

Terrell and Kemp—Two athletic young men who work under the title of "America's youngest equilibrists." They present a most wonderful exhibition that includes a vast number of new feats original with this team. It is replete with thrills and exploits that will repay anyone to witness it.

WILD HORSE ACTS ONLY FOR TRAINER

Rex, the registered Morgan stallion, featured by Hal Roach in "The King of Wild Horses," a Pathé picture to be shown Friday and Saturday at the Idaho theater, was anything but tame when Fred Jackman commenced the film.

When found by Roach's horse trainer, "Chick" Morrison, who had gone to Colorado seeking a horse suitable for the story, Rex was chained in a stall as a matter of public safety—he had killed several and maimed others.

Now Rex occupies the finest stall in Hal Roach's stables. He's an equine gentleman and a motion picture star. But he is still extremely dangerous when it comes to strangers. He knows "Chick" Morrison, and he sometimes gets boisterously playful with his trainer. He will work before the camera like a seasoned trouper, but in everything he does he seems to say, with a snarl of defiance to his new master: "You know, I don't have to go through all this foolishness if I don't want to. You asked me to and I'm doing it for you, but I wouldn't if I didn't feel like it."

ADAMS PREDICTS
UNANIMOUS VOTE
FOR PRESIDENT

National Chairman Holds Coolidge's Strength as Outstanding Feature of Political Situation at Present.

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—An unanimous vote for President Coolidge in the national convention at Cleveland was predicted here today by John T. Adams, national chairman, before leaving for Cleveland where the temporary chairman of the convention will be named.

"President Coolidge's strength with the American people is easily the outstanding feature in the political developments of today," Mr. Adams said.

"Not only has President Coolidge the confidence of his own party, but from every section of the country and every line of business and industry comes the information that he has the confidence of the people regardless of party."

"Even in the northwest, where, due to bad agricultural conditions there is a natural disposition to blame the party in power, the high regard for the president and confidence in his administration is unmistakable."

"His nomination is not only assured, but it will be given him by a practically unanimous vote."

Chairman Adams indicated that Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio, President Coolidge's choice, will be selected to open the convention.

HOLDS RAIL RATES AS
CAUSE OF FARM ILLS

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—Many of the ills of the agricultural regions and the complaints lodged against the nation's railroads were placed on the doorstep of the freight rates by David Friday, economist and former president of the Michigan agricultural college and now director of the research council, national transportation institute, speaking tonight before the ninth annual dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

"When the prices of the railroads receive for their service move with other prices, and when the rate of return which they enjoy is commensurate with that of other industries, then the railroad problem will be a long way toward solution," he concluded.

Uncle Sam Builds Highways
Enough to Circle Earth

More than 8,000 miles of roads of all types were completed with federal aid during the year which ended June 30, 1923, according to a government report. This, added to the mileage completed previously, brought the total for finished projects up to 26,536 miles, or more than enough to circle the earth. The projects under construction at the close of the year amounted to 14,772 miles, and were estimated at 53 per cent complete.

Lamp Is Lighted by Wireless
Transmission of Power

Just a glimpse of the future possibilities of the wireless transmission of power was given in the east recently, when an ordinary 110-watt incandescent lamp was lighted while being held a foot from a vacuum tube containing 2,000,000 cycles of alternating current. A loud speaker lacking a horn was also tested. It was a large disk, about three feet in diameter and connected by wires and a vacuum tube with the mouthpiece. The device did away with the metallic noise, and proved it could reproduce the voice at almost any magnitude.

Payroll Card System Helps in Avoiding Mistakes

Time, expense and mistakes in computing pay of employees of a large eastern company who work on an hourly basis are saved with the use of a system of cards that indicate the length of time a man has worked and the exact amount due. When a task is started, a card, marked in fifteen-minute intervals from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, is punched to show the beginning hour. Another perforation is made on quitting. This card is placed upon a master card which shows the labor prices in progression from fifteen minutes up to and including eleven hours through the perforations. For the various kinds of work, seventy master cards are used in the factory. They are kept in a handy index so that they may be found immediately.

Facilitating Handling of Rowboats

Ordinarily it requires the efforts of two men to launch a rowboat, but one man can easily do the work if the rowboat is provided with a small bronze roller as shown in the drawing. The detail shows how such a roller is attached; a wooden skeg keel is fastened to the main keel at the stern by means of iron plates and screws, and a roller is cut in the slot to accommodate the roller, which is held in place by means of two bronze side plates. The roller must, of course, turn freely between these plates. A steel or iron roller should not be used, as it soon rusts and then becomes useless. The roller should be kept well oiled in order to obtain the best results.

Two-Element Tube Needs No
B-Batteries

Makers of reflex-ray sets will be interested in a tube that has recently made its appearance. The tube has but two elements, hence its name—"diode." It is said to combine the clear reproduction of the crystal with the sturdiness and reliability of the tube, and to operate on less than 1/2 amp. from a single dry cell. No B-batteries are required. It is adapted for use in all reflex circuits, and requires no adjustments for changes in wave length.

The Edelweiss.

The Edelweiss is an Alpine perennial woolly plant of the Composite family, found in Switzerland, the Tyrol, Carinthia, Alpine Austria, and Siberia. It bears heads of flowers surrounded by woolly bracts and sage-green leaves. It is famous, not for its beauty, but for its scarcity and the difficulty of obtaining it in its clearest form. It is so rare in Switzerland that several cantons protect it by law. It is readily cultivated in gardens in America and Europe. In Swiss poetry and legend it plays a prominent part.

An adventurous Australian conducted a motor car expedition across Australia for more than 1,500 miles beyond the railway. Following dry river beds the party found lakes and water holes and rich alluvial plains where water can be obtained within a foot or so of the surface.

Sleuth Discovers Bobbed-Haired
Girl "Getting By" as Jack Tar

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—The first in a halloo harbor. A gust of wind lifted several hats and the policeman said he saw a sailor with a woman's bobbed hair. The unusual maritime coiffure was reported to an officer and Madeline Blair, pretty and 19, who spent five weeks disguised as a jacktar on the battleship Arizona of the Pacific squadron.

Miss Blair looked and acted the part so well that her presence on the man-of-war was unsuspected until Police-man Pantomato of the New York force, on vacation in the Canal Zone, turned his eagle eye on the fair sailor.

Pantomato, also a passenger on the Cristobal, said he noticed a group of sailors scrubbing a quarterdeck of the Arizona, when he was visiting the ship

The unusual maritime coiffure was reported to an officer and Madeline Blair, pretty and 19, who spent five weeks disguised as a jacktar on the battleship Arizona of the Pacific squadron.

Imbued up in a huge cloak and wearing a veil she was hustled hurriedly away from the ship today.

The police said that Miss Blair, in the sailor's garb, must have gone aboard the ship when the vessel left this port five weeks ago.

Miss Blair told the police that while she was on the Arizona two other women, also disguised as sailors, were aboard. These, she said, were the wives of two members of the crew.

Remarkable Island.

One of the most remarkable islands in the world is Patmos, where St. John wrote the Book of Revelation. It was always the destination of thousands of pilgrims, and in the old days the rich men who wished to expiate their sins usually did so by building a church. The result is that this tiny island contains the ruins of no fewer than 300 churches.

BRUINS OUT TO AVENGE RECENT DEFEAT BY BUHL

The Twin Falls Bruins travel to Buhl this afternoon to avenge himself for a defeat some three weeks back at the hands of the black and orange baseball team on the local field.

Coach Harry Smith, with a record of formidable high school nine of the material at the weekend city as attested by the clean record made during the past weeks of nifty baseball. Twin Falls, Filer and Gooding have all suffered at the hands of the Buhl squad and the blue and white team, smarting from their recent defeats by Nampa, is preparing to make a last desperate effort to regain their lost prestige before attempting their junket into the Boise valley district next week.

The Evans men are showing considerable improvement since their recent defeats and if they are not able to beat Buhl, it is to be expected the Buhl players will have a close game on their hands.

STIRLING TRIMS BURKE AT OLYMPIC FUND EVENT

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Young Stirling, Georgia's sensational contribution to the ring, gave Mike Burke, pride of Greenwich village, a scientific boxing lesson in the six round of the main go of the Olympic fund boxing carnival at Madison Square Garden tonight. The youthful southerner completely outclassed his aged opponent in every one of the six rounds, launching an attack that gave him a clean-cut verdict.

Paul Berlinbach, New York, middleweight, found a tough mark in Harold Abbott of Rockaway Beach, who didn't know when to quit when he was virtually out on his feet. After battering Abbott with a relentless attack that floored him for the count of nine in the third round, Berlinbach followed up his advantage in the fourth round until the referee stopped the fight.

AVIATOR COVERS LONG DISTANCES EACH DAY

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 29 (AP)—Breakfast in Los Angeles, lunch in San Francisco, nearly 500 miles away; afternoon tea in San Diego, a jump of another 400 miles, and dinner back at home in Los Angeles, such is the outline of a day in the life of Lieutenant Corlies C. Mosley, commandant of Clover field, the army air base at Santa Monica.

Lieutenant Mosley has arranged his daily meals thus not once, but several times. Piloting a biplane, he leaves Clover field early in the morning and wings his way to the Presidio of San Francisco by 10 o'clock, as a rule, snatches a bite to eat, confers with army officers and is off for San Diego, arriving there usually about 4 p. m. Long before summer dusk he drops down again at Clover field, 5.45 steps into his waiting automobile and 6.58 rolls 12 miles to Los Angeles, home at 6.45 and dinner.

On a recent Sunday Lieutenant Mosley flew up to San Francisco, across to Yosemite National Park in the Sierra Nevada mountains, hovered over the mighty falls and returned to Clover field, a non-stop flight of more than 1,000 miles.

Calls for Players to Try for Team

Twin Falls Club Manager Bids All Aspirants for Place on Nine Welcome at Workout.

Call for all aspirants for positions on the Twin Falls baseball team to present themselves at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening for a tryout on the baseball field, Second avenue south, was issued Tuesday evening by C. P. Coe, manager of the Twin Falls baseball club.

"Absolutely no one will be barred from the tryouts," Mr. Coe stated, "and assignment of players to positions on the team will be based only on the ability of the player. We are going to have a winning team this year, and no player who shows capability to make a team of this class will be held out, while we hope and expect that material for several baseball teams will show up for the tryout."

Improvement of the baseball field in progress, a force of workmen in the employment of Earl Felt, contractor, being now engaged in building additional bleachers and extending the grandstand to provide seating capacity for about 2000 fans at the games to be played here during the coming season.

MARA ARRANGES BOURBON PLANS FOR CONVENTION

Lawyer From New England Is Guiding Genies Behind Scenes for Democrats' National Meeting at New York.

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Behind the scenes of the gigantic task of making arrangements for the smooth operation of the Democratic National Convention, which comes here this year for the first time in 75 years, there is one all-powerful stage manager. He is George P. Mara, a Bridgeport, Conn., lawyer who the party credited with having successfully conducted the mechanics of the 1920 convention in San Francisco. He has been called "The Human Dynamo."

With the guiding "nose" in his hands, Mr. Mara, since the convention site was decided as Madison Square Garden, has invisibly controlled a veritable labyrinth of interlocking tasks. With military precision and efficiency, he has directed an undertaking fraught with difficulties and overlaid with ramifications anything but military and yet, unlike a commander-in-chief, he has been unseen and even unknown by many of those entrusted with the detailed aspects of the plan of action.

Corps to Assist

In January Mr. Mara, officially cloaked with the title "executive secretary of the national convention arrangements committee," quietly re-established a corps of workers who were disbanded by the Citizens' Committee and the Mayor's Committee. Under his direction, under committees and sub-committees were created. Among the tasks accomplished have been:

Organization of a non-partisan committee of 2,000 business men to help finance the convention; organization of committees from the scores of local social, commercial and political groups; inspection of hotel accommodations and allocation of space to campaign committees; delegates and alternates.

Preparation of plans for altering Madison Square Garden and for conveniently housing within it and in nearby hotels of convention committees; execution of these plans and of others for installations of telegraph, telephone, wireless and radio-telephone communication; letting concessions; engagement of bands, orchestras, stenographers and other personnel;

Give Out Tickets

Apportionment and distribution of tickets to the press, delegates and other arrangements for tickets for announcements and apportionment of tickets for the scores of entertainments, boat trips, concerts, theatricals, ball games, etc., which have been arranged; and the assembling and printing of the bulky convention program.

In addition to these routine tasks, Mr. Mara has had to think of the features, such as the entertaining and demonstrating sessions which he proposed to hold at the Yankee Stadium or the Polo grounds and the huge military spectacle, land, water and air, which local commentators wished to undertake.

LEWISTON MAN AWARDED SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP

LEWISTON, April 29 (AP)—Guy Chiesman of Lewiston, won the singles championship in the Idaho state sportsmen's association shoot by breaking 193 targets out of a possible 500. Marsh Wright of Lewiston was second with 195 targets, and Wright was high gun of the tournament with 567 targets out of 500 targets offered. Marsh Wright was also high average on the 400 registered targets at 18 yards with 429. Lovi Taylor of Kent, Wash., was high gun in all events with a total of 559 out of 590 targets.

Mrs. E. L. Hale of Wallace took the women's title from Mrs. L. E. Hanson of the same club with 162 out of 200. Mrs. Hanson dropped 156.

Monday's weather was almost ideal for trapshooting and the scoring throughout the day was uniformly high. Among the Twin Falls entrants, E. M. Sweeley, using a 20-gauge gun, hit 132 out of a possible 140, regarded as one of the most remarkable scores with a 20 gauge in the annals of trapshooting.

Out of 140 singles Snook of Twin Falls got 103; White 114; Bailey 132; Patrick 117; Harburt 123; Coates 130; Jocklot 120. In the three-man event the Twin Falls team scored, Sweeley 25, Bailey 24, Coates 29, a total of 69 out of a possible 75.

SENATE GIVES APPROVAL TO TAX CHANGES

Favor Levy on Radio Sets, Drafts, Checks and Promissory Notes; Important Provisions Not Acted on.

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The senate gave approval today to finance committee amendments to the revenue bill imposing a ten per cent tax on radio sets, reducing the automobile taxes, repelling the capital stock tax and restoring to the bill the tax on drafts, checks and promissory notes.

All were adopted practically without debate or opposition in rapid order after more than two hours had been spent in discussing the minor proposals. Further contests are expected, however, on the radio and automobile rates.

Approval of these amendments left only vital provisions to be taken up. These include the income tax rates, reduction on earned incomes, corporation tax, estate and gift taxes, publicity of returns and the board of tax appeals. Proposals to tax incomes from tax exempt securities also are to be disposed of.

In this connection Senator Simmons, North Carolina, ranking democrat on the finance committee, announced tonight the democrats would probably ask that amendments other than the income tax rates be considered tomorrow. Pending completion of the proposed corporation tax amendment, consideration of this will be asked at about the same time as the income rates, Senator Simmons said.

A tentative draft of the corporation tax amendment was agreed upon today by Senators Simmons and Jones, democrats from New Mexico, and passed before minority members of the finance committee for approval. It will propose a normal tax, probably lower than the pending flat tax of 14 per cent and additional taxes, probably on a sliding scale, or undistributed profits above the amounts subject to the normal tax.

Senator Simmons explained today it was not the purpose of the democrats to increase the tax, but to plug up leaks through which, he said, regular income taxes are being evaded.

Senator Dill, democrat, Washington, has introduced an amendment proposing to eliminate from the bill the radio tax approved today and he declared tonight a roll call vote will be asked on this provision later. Likewise, Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, has introduced an amendment proposing entire repeal of the tax on automobile tires, parts and accessories, and he said tonight a fight would be made for this when amendments of individual members are in order.

GOVERNOR M'CRAY TO SERVE SENTENCE

five offices in the state house, he let him spend the time with his family alone.

It was noticeable as the governor left the state house that he had a look of lines in his face had deepened. He apparently was holding himself together for the visit. State employees gathered in the corridors and on the balcony as McCray, for the last time as governor of Indiana, left the executive offices. One person in the crowd started to cheer as McCray passed but the hand clapping was brief. There was a hush in the halls of the state house, declared by some to be "as silent as a tomb."

Resignation is Brief

McCray's resignation as governor, which was addressed to Ed Jackson, secretary of state for Indiana, was brief, saying, "I hereby resign the office of governor of the state of Indiana to take effect at ten o'clock April 30," the hour of his appearance in federal court for sentence.

Emmett Forest Branch, of Martinsville, the lieutenant governor, when notified of McCray's resignation, sent word that he would arrive on an interurban car with his wife and son shortly before ten a. m. tomorrow and would go directly to the state house to be sworn in as governor at the hour McCray's resignation became effective.

VETERANS GREET LEADER OF CAMP SONG LEADERS

W. C. Bradford, Unexpected Guest at Legion Members' Luncheon Meeting. Contributions Generously to Program.

American Legion members, at their luncheon meeting Tuesday, entertained W. C. Bradford of Salt Lake, director of music for the National Community Singers' association, an unexpected visitor who contributed delightfully to the program for the occasion, singing two solo numbers and leading the veterans in the singing of another song. Mr. Bradford confessed, when he was introduced by A. W. Peck, that he had been musical director for the War Veterans' community service during the war and that he had been responsible for sending song leaders to entertain in this country and camps abroad.

Paul Davis, Idaho department commander, and Lester F. Albert, national vice commander and department adjutant of the legion, returning from a trip through southeast Idaho, arrived at noon from Pocatello and were honored guests at the luncheon meeting. The visiting officers were given ovation and both spoke briefly.

Boy Scout activities came in for attention at this meeting. Ralph Lusted, scoutmaster, and Tim Robertson, senior patrol leader of the troop for which the local legion post is sponsor, being present and speaking briefly with regard to activities and objectives of the troop. P. W. McRoberts, chairman of the legion's scout troop committee, reported as to the committee's efforts in the troop's behalf.

FORMER COMMANDER OF CONFEDERATE VETS DIES

CHICAGO, April 29 (AP)—General Julian S. Carr, former commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, died here tonight. He contracted pneumonia today as the result of an illness suffered while on his way to Chicago from his home at Durham, N. C., last Saturday.

General S. Carr, while holding the rank of general in the Confederate Veterans' organization, never was an officer in the Confederate army. He left his studies at the University of North Carolina when 16 years old to join the Army of Northern Virginia and served throughout the war as a private in Hampton's corps.

TAKE BODIES FROM MINE

WHEELING, W. Va., April 29 (AP)—The battle against high water, fallen rock and poison gas in the Benwood Mill mine of the Wheeling Steel corporation, where 11 miners were entombed by a gas explosion yesterday, centered tonight in the passage leading from the Brown's run shaft as fatigued rescue crews pushed forward over almost insurmountable obstacles in their search for bodies of the victims.

Thirty-five bodies had been removed from the mine. Rescue crews had located three others in the workings and were progressing slowly. There was no expectation that any of those trapped would be found alive.

TOURISTS MUST BE INSPECTED AT IDAHO LINE

State Director of Animal Industry Plans to Establish Camps Along Oregon Border to Prevent Disease Spread.

BOISE, April 29 (AP)—Permanent camps with attendants on duty 24 hours will be established at all Oregon entrances to Idaho in order to prevent California tourists from entering the state without being inspected, it was announced by Dr. Wendell R. Smith, Idaho director of animal industry, who returned this afternoon from an inspection tour of stations along the Snake river.

Tents will be supplied and deputies will live at the entrance so that no California automobiles, which might carry foot and mouth disease to Idaho, will be missed. These camps will be established at Weiser, Payette, Ontario, Nyesa and Adrian. The last named place is a new camp near Parma. Dr. Smith says Oregon service stations are routing tourists this way, saving it is a better road.

Boise's police force is co-operating in enforcing the regulations concerning the fumigation of all California automobiles. Several California tourists reported to the state department of agriculture today saying a policeman had told them they had better get their cars fumigated and tagged. Idaho officials believe many Californians are trying to get out of the western country through Idaho because of the increased number of California cars seen in Boise the last few days. Between 15 and 20 California cars were seen in the capital today all showing signs of having recently traveled long distances.

Additional federal forces to fight the spread of the disease in California have been mustered by the federal government and today Dr. W. A. Sullivan, director of the United States bureau of animal industry in Idaho, received a call to report to Dr. H. C. Houck, in charge of control methods in California. Dr. Sullivan is experienced in foot and mouth disease work, having served in the epidemic of 1915 when more than 20 states were infected. He will arrive in California Thursday.

BUTLER APPEALS FOR REPEAL OF DRY LAW

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, appealed to "men and women of religious faith of moral principle and public spirit," to strike the eighteenth amendment from the constitution at the annual dinner of the Missouri society tonight. Those, he said, who persist in supporting this "unconscionable law" must accept responsibility of being silent partners of the bootlegger and contributors to the undermining of the government structure.

"Senators and representatives in congress," Dr. Butler said, "unconscionably vote for prohibitory legislation and quickly betake themselves for refreshment to a drink of alcoholic liquor. Judges sentence men to fine and imprisonment for having been detected doing what other judges do without detection. When you hear a public officer or a candidate for elective office cry out with unctious for law enforcement, tap him on the hip."

He paid a tribute to the Jewish people declaring they have always been known by four great characteristics—love of country in which they take part in the conduct of public affairs, love of home and the respect for family life, the desire for education and the fostering of educational institutions, and a strong fraternal spirit.

DAVIS RECOMMENDS AMERICANIZATION WORK

All hope of the ultimate success of this experiment in representative government lies in education and all records show that something is wrong—either in the alien who comes to America or in America's treatment of the alien after he arrives—Secretary Davis declared, adding that the second generation of immigrants under the present system were often exposed to vicious laws because the respect for home life which the alien brought to this country is often lost.

GOOD WORK

Governor Moore of Idaho is to be complimented upon his stand with respect to the Idaho regulations in connection with the embargo upon shipments from California during the progress of the foot and mouth disease.

Possibly in some respects the embargo is unnecessarily stringent but so long as the disease continues to spread and for as long a time as may be required to gain control of the malady in California, better to err upon the side of a too great stringency than a too weak program for the protection of Idaho flocks and herds.

There is little real evidence to date that the disease is actually yielding to treatment. As a matter of fact, no progress whatever has been made in the work of eradication until the tide begins to turn the other way, at least, the embargo continue.

It might have been different with a weaker man. Pressure has been used, all kinds of efforts have been resorted to to get the Governor to lift the ban. But with an eye single to the main purpose—the protection of Idaho—Governor Moore has stood firm.

There is no question as to Idaho's appreciation.

GILT-EDGE FORESTS

During the world war the chief forer of the United States was lieutenant of the unit known as the forestry section in France. Wood was needed in generous amounts and prompt deliveries. Col. Greeley directed the operation of some portable sawmills which were light and almost as easily put into service as a fire engine. His record of action lay in the city and government-owned forests of France. In spite of war emergency needs, he found the French lived up to their conservation policy.

"We Americans were only in France for the day," says Col. Greeley, "just to win the war. The French proposed to go on living there, and so they preserved their forests as carefully as if the war had never been heard of. We were allowed to cut a five-years' growth of trees, where in peace time we could have cut only one year's growth. But the forests were preserved."

There's a lesson for America in that story. A French forest is said to rank as a gilt-edge investment paying 1 to 6 per cent. American forests can be held as securely and used as wisely as the French forests as soon as the public comes to regard them as a continuous crop of permanent source of wealth.

BUSINESS CO-OPERATION WITH EUROPE.

American intervention in "the European mess" economically has only begun, with the preparation of the Dawes report.

If that report had been turned down cold, by either the Allies or Germany, it might have ended the matter as far as America was concerned. Americans would hardly have felt like attempting any further service for Europe for some time to come. But with the acceptance of the plan with apparent sincerity on both sides, and a prospect of its principles being put into effect, there is a natural expectation that additional American help will be wanted along the same line, to make good the service already rendered.

Americans—either those who served on the committee of experts, or others—will be wanted for commissions and offices involving the interpretation and execution of the plan adopted. The nations directly concerned will experience the same old trouble of being unable to agree on vital matters because they can not act dispassionately. If they are in earnest, they will value the services of able citizens of neutral countries more than ever. They will want Americans particularly, because experience has shown them that Americans combine in an unusual degree business ability, fairness and a desire for unselfish service.

There is no reason to doubt that invitations for such co-operation with Europe will be accepted readily. American business men agree with President Coolidge that economic service to Europe is not only good philanthropy but good business, because European improvement will help America. And it is evident that there can be such economic co-operation without involving our government in foreign politics.

THREE NEW GUARD UNITS AUTHORIZED FOR IDAHO

BOISE, April 29.—Authority to muster into federal service three new units in the Idaho national guard has been received by Lt. Col. H. A. Padgett, state adjutant general, he announced Saturday. One of the organizations is at Buhl, another at Kimberly and a third at Burley. Capt. E. Worley, infantry instructor, Idaho national guard, will muster the organizations early this week.

At Buhl, Company M, 186th infantry, has been recruited and will be mustered into the service. It will be commanded by Captain Sefton, First Lieutenant Pecke and Second Lieutenant Johnson.

The medical detachment, third battalion, 186th infantry, will be mustered at Kimberly. It will be commanded by Captain Bailey.

The divisional headquarters company of the 41st division will be mustered at Burley. Capt. C. C. Moeller, First Lieutenant Glanderman and Second Lieutenant Ferguson will be in command.

Gland Treatment Restores R. G. Laws

"I am just as young as I used to be, and it's all due to gland pills. Here I am 72 and feel just as spry and full of vim and pep as if I were only 30 or 40." This testimony to the virtue of gland treatment was voiced recently by Robert George Laws, prominent retired London broker. Mr. Laws, whose health has been poor for several years, claims that a glandular tonic put up in tablet form has restored him to the health and vigor of his earlier days.

Such a treatment is now obtainable in the form of Glandogen, a highly concentrated glandular tonic, prepared from the glands of healthy young animals in convenient tablet form. Glandogen has had remarkable success with thousands of ailing men and women. Glandogen is obtainable at Schrauer-Johnson Drug Co.—adv.

REDDY WOODPECKER'S FUN

by DADDY

CHAPTER III. Reddy Gets a Bath.

JACK and Janet wondered if Reddy Woodpecker would try to get even with them for the trick they played on him in getting him to bore a door for Jenny Wren's house.

Just then a startling thing happened. They had been walking down the street quietly and peacefully. Suddenly Mrs. Simpkins rushed out of her house, her hands covered with flour. Before they knew what she was up to she grabbed the hand gave him a hard spank with her hand.

Then she grabbed Janet and gave her a spank.
"Ha, I caught you that time," she cried. "I'll teach you not to rap on my door and run away before I can answer."

She reached for Jack again, but he dodged away.
"We haven't rapped on your door," declared Jack indignantly. "We were just walking past when you ran out and spanked us."

"Do you mean to say you didn't do it?" cried Mrs. Simpkins, more angry than before. "I heard a rapping on my back door while I was baking cookies, knock, knock, knock! And when I got there no one was in sight. Then came a rapping on my front door, knock, knock, knock! And when I open the door no one is there, but I find you in the street. So, of course, you are the persons who rapped on my door."

"We haven't touched your door," declared Janet.
"I'll bet it was Reddy Woodpecker," said Jack. Then he told Mrs. Simpkins about the joke Reddy Woodpecker had played on them.

"Well, that sounds queer, but you look like honest children, and maybe I made a mistake in spanking you," said she. "I'll give you a cookie apiece to make up for it."

And so she did.
As they walked along they came to the next house. Out of it burst Mrs. Jenkins carrying a broom. She looked up and down and then caught sight of the children. She rushed at them and gave each a thump with the broom.

"I'll teach you not to rap at my door and run away," she cried. From that they knew Reddy Woodpecker had been up to his tricks there, too.

They told Mrs. Jenkins they had not rapped at her door, but perhaps Reddy Woodpecker had done so.
"That may be," said the woman. "There are two apples to make up for the thumps I gave you." And she gave them two apples.

Jack paused before eating his apple. "I'll bet Reddy Woodpecker is doing this trick just to get us spanked," he said. "He is flying on ahead of us rapping at doors."

"I'll Teach you to rap on my door!"

"Let us fool him," said Janet. "Let us telephone to Mrs. Tompkins in the next house and have her get after him."

So they did, and they found Mrs. Tompkins in a rage. Yes, gone one had been rapping at her door right in the midst of her scrubbing. Yes, she would look out for Reddy Woodpecker and if she caught him rapping at her door she would fix him.

Jack and Janet hurried on to see what would happen. They saw Mrs. Tompkins leaning out of a window above her front door. They saw, too, Reddy Woodpecker fly to the door and rap on it.

And then Reddy Woodpecker got an unexpected bath. For Mrs. Tompkins leaning out of the upper window threw down on him a bucketful of scrubbing water.

My, Reddy Woodpecker was surprised. And he was vexed, too, for as he flew away with bedraggled feathers he heard Jack and Janet laughing at him. He knew then they had turned his joke against him.

(In the next chapter Reddy Woodpecker tries to play a joke and finds himself a hero.)

Pay Gravel

HUGH PENDEXTER

San Juan sorrowfully lamented. "Wild Bill was white, 'too bad, 'too bad."

They left the dining room and found that the hotel and town was alive with the news. Even the hotel proprietor, San Juan bought a roll of blankets for the girl and some cooked food, and hired a horse. When they struck out the country road that led to Deadwood City San Juan began to make fast time; but the girl, wearied by her terrible experiences and unused to horseback riding, made haste an impossibility. Dinsdale detected his companion's impatience and suggested that he ride on ahead, adding:

"I'll fetch Lottie and Carl along."

"No, I'll stick along with you two. There's probably some excitement in town over Wild Bill's death, and I'd like to be there."

The travelers passed through fat valleys, richly grassed, that would give the delighted heart of the Indian bandit. According to Dinsdale's count they crossed Spring creek thirty-one times in traveling a dozen miles. They made their camp on the head waters of this stream, and built a camp of half-log cabins, and tents.

Early in the morning, while the valley was still swathed in white fog, they were up and eating and soon on their way. A short ride brought them to Bill City, which interested Dinsdale. There were two hundred log houses, many of them uncompleted, and not a solitary Indian.

Deadwood City again was the answer for this wholesale abandonment. Here the citizens heard of the poor man's exploits in the northern edge they had stumbled upon.

That noon they rode into Rapid City on the creek of the same name. This town and its immediate environs were bustling with mining activities, the first the travelers had witnessed since leaving Red canyon.

It was at Rapid City that the gambler and Dinsdale learned how McCall, slayer of Wild Bill, had been arraigned the night before by a so-called "citizens" or "miners" committee, had been acquitted and furnished with a good horse and allowed to try his luck in prospecting from the hills, and then there who had watched the stage road over since the word was received, hoping that the murderer would ride within range of their rifles.

"Let him go, eh?" mused San Juan. "That's too bad! Wonder what he's behind it?"

"Looks as if he might be able to tell things that you don't want told," commented Dinsdale savagely.

Fourteen miles were covered before San Juan selected the next camping place, a restful spot in Spring valley.

The night passed quietly, and another ride into the fog was commenced. A few miles out they overtook a man leading a diminutive burro. The animal was all but concealed by camping gear, tent and blankets. Lashed on top of the load was a Henry rifle, forerunner of the Winchester. Juan waved his hand and saluted:

"How now, 'Pyrites'? Another rich strike?"

The man halted and blinked up at them, revealing a weather-worn face that was traversed by a network of tiny wrinkles. From the corner of his mouth San Juan informed Dinsdale:

"Old 'Iron Pyrites,' best sample of perpetual prospector you ever saw. He'd quit millions in a sure thing to pan out new gravel. I grabtake him."

"Howdy, Joey?" joyously cried Pyrites, now finding his tongue. "Ain't struck anything but rich prospects this trip, but I'll uncover the real article on the next. Found some mighty rich indications. Who's your friends?"

The gambler made Lottie Carl and Dinsdale known, and briefly told of the massacre in the canyon. Pyrites stared sympathetically at the girl.

"Too bad, youngster," he said. "But this is a mighty fine country to forget things in. You've heard about Bill, Joey?"

San Juan nodded gloomily, then exclaimed in deep disgust:

"And to think of letting that McCall go free!"

This was news to Pyrites, for he fairly yelled:

"Go free? Why, Joey, they just couldn't. They had to hang him! You can't mean that they didn't hang him on the spot!"

The gambler repeated what had been told him at Rapid City. Once Pyrites was convinced that the murderer's innocence already had been proclaimed by a mob tribunal he swore vehemently. The girl showed alarm, and Dinsdale signaled for a change in the conversation.

Pyrites was not ready to return to Deadwood.

"I want to go a bit slow along here."

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MEKAY

My husband carries all the matches out of the house.

And then he complains because I never keep any around for him to use. But he never by any chance thinks of looking through his pockets the next time he wants to light his pipe.

He starts looking for a new box, and when he's found one, that disappears, too.

It takes him only a few days to transport a carton of match boxes away from the house. I haven't the slightest idea what he does with them, unless he carries them all to his office and stores them away.

That man must have a supply of matches somewhere that would put Sweden to shame.

Tomorrow: "My wife lays a lot of plans for an expensive summer vacation."

Progress was slow, little better than a walk, because of Lottie Carl; and night found them a good ride from Deadwood City. San Juan Joe, however, accepted the futile philosophical. The nervous haste to get back to the gulch, so obvious in the morning, was entirely lacking, as he had entered upon the work of preparing their last camp with the zest of a schoolboy released for the holidays.

CHAPTER III The Town of High Prizes.

They halted their horses at the top of a steep descent early in the afternoon and gazed down into the lower end of Deadwood Gulch. The gulch seemed to end abruptly against a ridge in the middle distance, but San Juan explained that its course was very winding, and that it was fully ten miles long. Both sides of the road were lined with log cabins, shanties of rough boards, and tents.

"It ain't very pretty to look at," dubiously commented Lottie Carl, gazing approvingly at the scattered debris of camps, the survivors of fires and windfalls.

"I agree with Lottie. It isn't much to look at," said Dinsdale.

"Forget the scenery, mind. Remember that Deadwood City wasn't laid out this way, and that all supplies and the necessities of the sawmill had to be freighted in for two hundred and fifty miles with much of the road being in hostile country. Deadwood is a great town. No other like it in the world."

And in saying this the gambler spoke with a certain amount of exaggeration; for the mining camp at the junction of the two creeks was a miracle of American enthusiasm and enterprise. To the middle of May it had been a tangled wilderness, with the growth of thick and impenetrable forest that the government's expedition of the previous year, sent out to confirm the Carter expedition of seventy-four, had not entered the gulch at all.

Since the middle of May, when "Raven Lee and Isaac Brown built the first pine log cabin and helped to lay out the streets, with the aid of a surveyor's chain, it had grown into a business center of feverish activity.

San Juan Joe dismounted before "Arkhurst's Lager Beer Saloon" on the left of the road and announced: "This is the beginning of Deadwood City. Let's have a glass of beer."

"I'll stay here with Lottie," replied Dinsdale.

San Juan was soon back. As he swung into the saddle he told Dinsdale it was true that Wild Bill's slayer had been acquitted and allowed to leave the town.

On that August day seven-eighths of the Black Hills population, or some seven thousand people, were in the town. And it was estimated that seven out of every ten lacked employment and were living from hand to mouth. While justly called the "poor man's diggings" there was scant opportunity for late arrivals to go prospecting so long as the fear of the Sioux held the people close to the town.

The talk of the milling crowds was not of gold but of Indians. Even the Chinese laundrymen abandoned their work in the Centennial wash house and loitered outdoors to pick up scraps of information concerning the warriors of Crazy Horse.

San Juan Joe was one of the best-known men in the gulch. Debutant, as well as the refuge of the world's quarters, passed through his big gambling tent. When he was recognized there was a general crowding forward to greet him and learn the latest news, from the south. The gambler did not attempt to speak at first, for he was battered with fierce queries from a score of men at once.

"Where's Crook?"

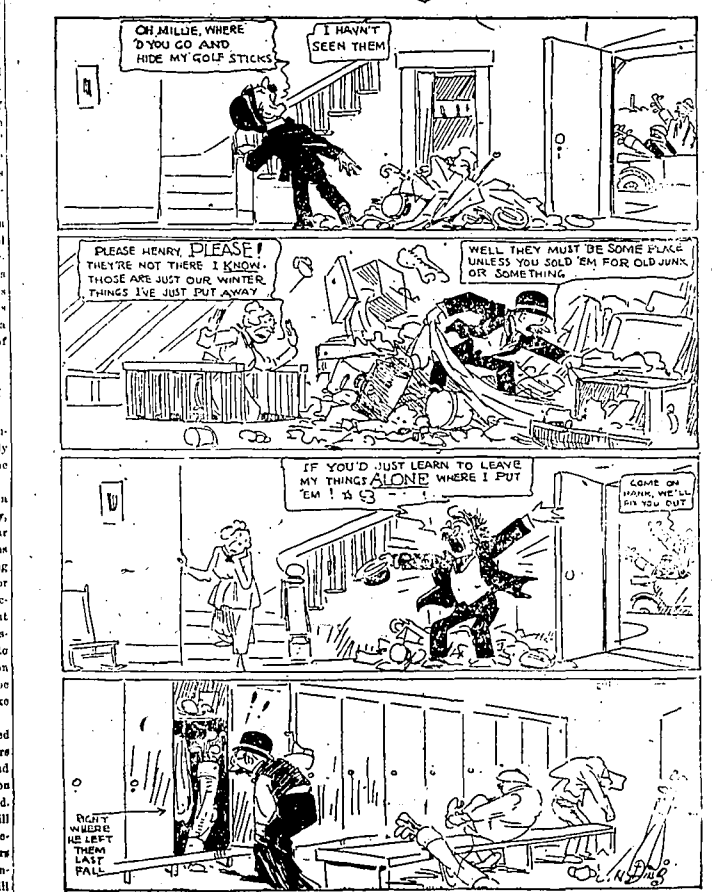

"Lord! Is the government going to let them devils wage us out?"

"What's the Crows and Shoshoni joined Crook yet?"

"Where's Terry? Where's Gibson?" "Why don't the soldiers come?" The gambler raised a hand for silence and briefly recited what little outside news he had picked up while at Bowman's ranch on the Cheyenne. With more detail he told of the massacre in the canyon, and was compelled to wait until the chorus of oaths and yells for vengeance had spent itself.

BOYS' PARADE FEATURE EVENT OF SCOUT WEEK

Almost 200 Lads in Line Following Junior Band Presents Impressive Spectacle to Twin Falls Citizens.

With music by the Scout band of 25 pieces under the leadership of A. T. Bainbridge, and with fluttering flags and banners—the national colors and scout patrol flags by each of the eleven troops in line—470 Boy Scouts and 30 adult scout leaders paraded Twin Falls principal streets Tuesday afternoon following an impressive and outstanding feature of the observance here of Boy Scout week. In the line were 30 scouts from Idaho, while a delegation of Kimberly scouts arrived too late for the march, took part, and carried away honors in the field games at Lincoln field following the parade.

Almost every one of Twin Falls' scouts, who were in line, and most of them were in full uniform, their brilliant neckerchiefs contributing to the riot of color that attended the march.

Crowds Give Praise

Crowds lined the downtown streets through which the boys marched, and expressions of approval were heard on every hand. The scout band came in for special attention, while the staid bearing of even the youngest of the scouts won general admiration. Each scout troop, accompanied by its leader, marched as a unit in the parade, which was formed under direction of Dr. E. C. Boche at the city park with the scout band in the lead and members of the local court of honor forming an escort immediately following. The program of field games at Lincoln field attracted a considerable number of spectators, among whom were many small boys who cherish the ambition some day to be Boy Scouts, and who on this occasion shared in the abundant supply of winners and lemonade provided and served by the Rotary club.

Election Today's Event

Election of the junior officials who will administer for a day various county and municipal offices is the big event on the scout calendar for today. Falls will be opened at 10 o'clock this afternoon in the Boyd block, Main avenue west, where balloting will be held under supervision of Mrs. E. M. Wolfe, with the assistance of Camp Fire girls serving as officials. The junior officials to be elected will take over the affairs of county and municipal government on Saturday, the closing day of scout week.

Candidates for the several offices to be filled at the election today were nominated by petition and their names will appear on printed ballots to be supplied to the Boy Scout and Camp Fire girls voters. The list of candidates announced Tuesday is as follows:

County Candidates:

Assessor—Hughes Wierling and Charles Anderson.
Auditor—Frank McAttee and Walter Wagner.
Probate Judge—Byron Rendahl and Paul McCallan.

City Candidates:

NEIGHBORS' COMPLAINT BRINGS ARREST OF PAIR

J. A. Martindale of Oakley, and Mrs. Clara Richardson of Milner, arrested late Monday night at Milner on charge of alleged commission of a statutory offense, pleaded not guilty when arraigned Tuesday afternoon before Judge O. P. Duvall in probate court here, and were admitted to bond in the sum of $1000 each, pending preliminary hearing which was set tentatively for today. Bond had not been furnished Tuesday evening and both accused persons were held prisoners in the county jail. Issuance of the warrants for arrest followed complaints made to the prosecuting attorney's office by citizens of Milner.

Mrs. Richardson was the defendant some months ago in a criminal action in the courts here wherein she was convicted of shooting and injuring A. H. Rothwell of Milner, during an argument over possession of chickens.

COURT LIMITS DEFENSE BASES

Salmon River Canal Company Stands on Two Defenses in Suit Brought by Diebolt.

Bases for defense by the Salmon River Canal company in the suit instituted against it by J. R. Diebolt for $8000 alleged damage from failure of the company to deliver water to his lands outside the rebed area of the Salmon River project in 1923 were restricted by Judge T. H. Bailey in a decision rendered Tuesday afternoon. The plaintiff's defense was limited by counsel for the plaintiff to two.

Trial in the case under these restrictions was thereupon opened, a jury being impaneled shortly before noon and testimony of those witnesses in support of the plaintiff's claims being heard before the evening recess. Witnesses in addition to the plaintiff Diebolt were C. W. Strickland and William Leonard.

Mr. Diebolt testified that he had purchased the land in question in 1919 and that the canal company had delivered water for it during the seasons of 1919 and 1920, but declined to accept his proffered payment of maintenance charges for 1920 and refused to deliver water that season with the result that his crops including a stand of alfalfa were ruined.

The case for the defendant Diebolt is being conducted by Attorneys E. M. Wolfe and Cleon Wilkins, the defendant company being represented by its attorney, J. R. Rothwell, and McKean E. Morrow of Richards and Hagen, Boise.

KIMBERLY LADS WIN AT GAMES

East End Visitors Collect 11 Points as Against 8 for Each of Two Other Groups.

Kimberly's troop of Boy Scouts, under the leadership of Leslie Fay and represented by Milton Womacott and Earl Hunt, captured the honors for the local scouts in the field meet on Lincoln field, following the parade and inspection of the scouts Tuesday afternoon.

Kimberly collected 11 points in the meet and stood three points above their nearest competitors, troop ten, represented by Kenneth Douglas, high point man of the meet with eight points and troop one, with eight points also.

Following the parade the boys stood the length of the field in attention while the band under the direction of J. T. Bainbridge gave a concert during the review by the scout executive, P. D. Hawley. Following this the boys formed a line across the length of the field for their annual picture.

At this point in the program the scouts were given ample opportunity to practice their motto, "Be Prepared," when Jay Masters, one of the members of the band found the heat, the long march and review too much for him and collapsed. He eventually recovered and the march proper started with the 50-yard dash as the first event. Earl Hunt of the Kimberly troop came across the tape first in this and another Kimberly scout, Milton Womacott, second. In the second event the potato relay, each troop was represented by a two-man team. Directions were clearly understood, caused considerable disagreement as to the outcome, which was finally awarded to troop two's team, composed of Lloyd Lincoln and Paul McClellan.

The third event was the 100-yard hurdle race, won by Kenneth Douglas in a close contest with Norman Alvord and Earl Hunt, who finished second and third.

Fifty Scouts Enter Dash

The final event to be staged by M. W. Anderson, who was in charge of the meet, was the 100-yard dash in which over 50 scouts were entered at the starting line, which extended almost the entire width of the field. In this event Howard Brown tipped across the tape first, with Kenneth Douglas finishing second.

Following the meet Mr. Hawley led the boys in yells for the Rotarians, who furnished the conclusion of the program with a winner's toast to the outstanding enjoyment of the 200 scouts present.

Summary of the meet:

50-yard dash—Earl Hunt, Kimberly, first; Milton Womacott, Kimberly, second; Paul Wellner, troop nine, third.

Potato relay—Troop two, first; troop one, second; troop one, Kimberly, third.

100-yard hurdle race—Kenneth Douglas, troop ten, first; Norman Alvord, troop seven, second; Earl Hunt, troop one, Kimberly, third.
