Purpose of Establishing Distributing Center Here for Implement Firm.

Purpose to establish in Twin Falls, a distributing center for the Utah Implement and Vehicle company, of which he is president, was expressed here by A. L. Barnes of Ogden, who this week paid his initial visit to the Twin Falls country.

Wealth and agricultural possibilities of Twin Falls country as well as opportunity to be up by construction of the Rogerson-Wells line affording a railway outlet to Nevada and the southwest, are said to have influenced Mr. Barnes in his announced intention to urge establishment of the branch house here.

Although he has been a resident of Utah for many years and has served as mayor of Ogden, president of the Ogden Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Barnes admitted while here that he had not fully appreciated the possibilities of the intermountain region until he had seen the Twin Falls country.

Offers Growers Suggestions.
Suggestion that production of peas for canning is showing of consideration by growers here was offered by Mr. Barnes, who has assisted in the organization of several canning plants in Utah.

Need for high grade canning peas is never supplied, Mr. Barnes said, and there seems to be no reason why the Twin Falls country should not take advantage of the advantageous market for this product.

INCOME TAX REDUCTION IS APPROVED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—A treasury department proposal reducing by 25 per cent the taxes on earned income was approved today, with limitations, by the senate, but another proposal by Secretary Mellon, aimed to check tax evasions, struck a snag.

Acceptance of the earned income proposal means that all taxpayers with incomes of $5000 or less would be able to cut one-fourth off their taxes after this year, in addition to other reductions that may be ordered in the regular normal income tax rates.

Senate cut, however, from $20,000 to $10,000 the maximum amount on which such a reduction could be made. The house provision determining all incomes of $5000 and less as earned, was accepted.

F. S. BARNHART
DIES SUDDENLY

Brother of County Commissioner
Who Came Here Lately
from Colorado Is Called.

Summons of death came to Franklin S. Barnhart, pioneer of Colorado and brother of J. D. Barnhart, chairman of the board of Twin Falls county commissioners, as he sat alone in the home on Addison avenue which he had recently purchased. Death, which was attributed to heart disease is believed to have occurred Tuesday evening and to have been instantaneous. The body, which had fallen forward from the chair, was found by James Robert Barnhart, nine-year-old son of J. D. Barnhart, when he went late Wednesday afternoon to call on his uncle as he had been almost daily custom. The body was taken Wednesday evening to the Twin Falls hospital.

Well Known Here.
Although Mr. Barnhart had established residence in Twin Falls only this spring he had occasionally visited at his brother's home here and had a wide circle of friends in farming and stock raising in this district. He visited here first about six years ago, and returned three years later. It had been his custom for five years to spend winter months in California. Last year, however, he deviated from his custom and, after purchasing a five-acre tract just outside the city limits north of the highway, district quarry, he remained here until soon after Christmas and then returned to Colorado for two months' stay. Upon his return here he purchased the residence property on Addison avenue and moved to the city limits, where he had since made his home.

A native of Illinois, Mr. Barnhart came in 1887 to Fort Collins, where he was engaged for many years in farming and truck growing on a large scale.

Surviving Mr. Barnhart are four children, two sons and one daughter residing in Colorado and the younger daughter residing in Los Angeles. He leaves also besides J. D. Barnhart, two brothers and one sister in Nebraska, and a fourth brother in Chicago.

Gigantic Dam on Columbia

$90,000,000; Rivals Muscle
Shoals Undertaking.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—License for the construction on the Columbia river between Dase and Olango, Wash., of a power dam 90 feet high and 1 1/2 miles long, rivaling that at Muscle Shoals, probably will be granted soon, it was announced today by federal power commission officials.

The Washington Irrigation and Development company a subsidiary of the electric and methane company of New York, promoters of the project, were given a preliminary permit to survey the site in 1921. It was one of the first permits issued after the power commission was created.

Under the law three years is allowed an applicant, following the authorization of a preliminary permit, to determine whether a proposed project can be carried out. In view of the immaturity of the expiration of this period, and the favorable attitude of various interests involved commission officials said license for the building of the gigantic dam would probably be issued very soon.

HUGE UNDERTAKING.

SPOKANE, April 30 (AP)—The power project mentioned in Washington dispatches today calls for expenditure of $20,000,000, with $12,000,000 additional to be expended for a modern industrial city in the vicinity of the power development. The proposed plant would develop 350,000 horsepower, with 750,000 kilowatts, and $25,000,000 electrical equipment would cost $11,000,000, and factories and shops $20,000,000.

Beside the power development, it is planned to establish chemical and electrochemical industries. The dam would cost $25,000,000 electrical equipment would cost $11,000,000, and factories and shops $20,000,000.

for Engineering Services, Files
Formal Objection in Court Here.

Hoyer of Twin Falls, against the company to recover the amount of his claim for engineering services. Mr. Hoyer is represented by Attorney Harry J. Bonitt.

Construction of the road by the Oregon Short Line was made conditional upon cancellation of this certificate.

Claiming Mr. Hoyer was alleged to have been contracted by the company prior to the time it was taken over by the local directors.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—The way was cleared today for final action by congress upon the soldier bonus bill preparatory to sending the measure to President Coolidge, as a result of agreement between the senate and house on differences in the bill as passed by the two bodies.

Ratification of the conference agreement, which deals only with minor amendments, probably will be asked of the senate tomorrow, after which the house must approve the changes. The main provisions were the same in the bill as passed by each body, but the senate bill was entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service compensation and 20-year endowment insurance policies to others.

IDAHO ADDS DEPUTIES TO GUARD ENTRANCES

BOISE, April 30.—Verification of reports that California cars are entering Idaho caused the department of agriculture today to add 15 deputies to the forces already guarding entrances for a few minutes before court adjourned to prevent the spread of foot and mouth disease from California.

Inspection of the ports of entry into the state from Oregon which was completed Tuesday by Dr. W. C. Smith, director of animal industry, showed, he said, that the strictest vigilance was being observed and it was decided to strengthen the guard at the auto check entry to the state without being fumigated.

haps fatally as a result of storms of cyclonic proportions which devastated sections of the southeast today.

Hundreds have been made homeless and millions of dollars damage to property caused, many others reported injured and some missing, while 41 are known to have been killed in Georgia and more than a score injured. Not included in the toll of casualties in the storm was a negro who was killed last night in Louisiana.

South Carolina, with a total of 41 known dead, many others reported killed, and more than 100 injured, 78 seriously, was the hardest hit. Incomplete reports from Alabama tell of 18 deaths, more than a score of persons injured and some missing, while 4 are known to have been killed in Georgia and more than a score injured. Not included in the toll of casualties in the storm was a negro who was killed last night in Louisiana.

Twenty-seven persons are known to have been injured in North Carolina. Property damage in the strike districts possibly will amount to nearly $10,000,000, according to preliminary estimates.

Red cross messages already have been inaugurated by the southern division of the American Red Cross.

Path of Ruins
The storm, its destructive force unparalleled in the history of this section of the country, left a path marked by desolation and wreckage miles in length at more than 1000 miles.

Human beings, including several children, were picked up as if they had been papers and hurled hundreds of feet through the air; houses and public buildings were smashed into kindling after being lifted from their foundations; numbers of livestock met death in the wreckage, trees were uprooted and hundreds of miles of telephone and telegraph wires were torn down.

Judge of Baltimore Court Says
Lawmakers Do Not Vote as They Drink; Claims Liquor
Was Offered in Both Houses.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—Four senators and ten representatives were charged with not voting as they drink in testimony given today before the house judiciary committee by Judge James F. Kleck, of the Baltimore city people's court, who advocated modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of 2.75 per cent beer.

Under an avalanche of questions the witness declined to give any names and his testimony was therefore stricken from the record, but not before he had stated in reply to a question that he himself had spent a large sum of money in Washington entertaining members of congress, diplomats and others. He explained that he was a "social sport" as well as a "judge," but this phase of the examination was not developed in detail.

Judge Kleck asserted that some of the "drinks" hearsay were "drinks" in testimony given today before the house judiciary committee by Judge James F. Kleck, of the Baltimore city people's court, who advocated modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of 2.75 per cent beer.

"Fine old Kentucky liquor," he added, "was the brand offered by certain house members." Kleck said he had been on "summers bawling trips" and that he had members of congress and that his information was "first hand."

M'CRAY IS SENT TO PRISON FOR ALLEGED FRAUD

Ceases to Be Governor of Indiana and Boards Train With Federal Officer; Judge Denounces His Activities.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 30 (AP).—Warren T. McGray, who ceased to be governor of Indiana at 10 a. m. today, a week and a half before he received one of the heaviest sentences ever imposed in the United States district court by Judge A. B. Anderson, tonight is en route to Alcatraz, California, for his ten year term in the federal prison. Found guilty Monday of using the mails to defraud, McGray prevented his resignation yesterday and this morning received his sentence and a fine of $10,000.

Waving his hat and forcing a grin, a group of friends as the Cincinnati-bound Big Four train left the main station here at 3:25 p. m. He was traveling in the custody of Harry Wertz, deputy United States marshal, and Edward J. Fogarty, warden of the Indiana state prison, who had been specially deputized to accompany the prison-bound party.

Robert Burway, alias Lambert, another federal prisoner, was aboard the train in charge of two officers. Facing only a two-year sentence for violation of the national motor vehicle act, Burway seemed to have less courage than the former governor.

The sentencing of McGray attracted throngs of curious, who jammed the federal building and the walks surrounding it.

Judge Anderson pronounced the maximum sentence after a scathing arraignment of McGray for his conduct while in office. The judge's remarks failed to shake the prisoner's placidity except for a fleeting moment of nervousness when the words that were to decide his fate seemed about forthcoming.

Criticizing the state courts for their failure to convict McGray when he was on trial for embezzlement and larceny Judge Anderson declared it was evident McGray had committed "plain perjury," had forged notes and committed other felonies and escaped unpunished. McGray, he said, had violated the law many times and had equally as many opportunities to repent. He declared he had never seen a man arraigned in his court who had admitted as many felonies and on whom as many had been proved.

KING OF WILD HORSES DOES THRILLING STUNTS

In all the years of his wild, carefree, outlaw life, the beautiful, powerful black had never known defeat among his own, or capture by man. He was of a breed that knew not bit nor bridle—king among his kind—the vast plains for his kingdom, a herd of mares for his subject, a high cliff for his throne, from which he kept eternal vigilance.

The black is the beautiful, wild stallion whose story of love and fidelity is told in "The King of Wild Horses," a picture produced by Hal Roach, that it is said brings to the screen something entirely unique in screen drama, and at the same time thrilling.

"The King of Wild Horses" will be the main attraction at the Idaho theater Friday and Saturday.

URGE U. S. TO JOIN IN WORLD COURT SCHEME

Prominent Leaders Advance Their Cause at Hearings Before Senate Committee; Want Politics to be Left Out.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—Leaders in church, organizations, industry, the bar and education urged American participation in the world court at opening of hearings today on the question by a sub-committee of the senate foreign relations committee. Proponents alone were heard during the day and when adjournment was taken until tomorrow the list of delegations to be heard had not been materially reduced.

The federal council of churches, claiming membership of 20,000,000, gave its endorsement today through Bishop Charles H. Brent, Protestant Episcopal diocese of western New York; the Chamber of Commerce of the United States registered its approval through Walker D. Hines, chairman of its foreign relations committee; the favorable views of the American Bar association were transmitted by George W. Wickensham, while the World Peace Foundation declared its position through President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University.

The several speakers declared the court had been set up largely through the initiative of the nations 50 years, was to all practical purposes free from the league of nations, and met the demands of "the great majority of thinking public of America."

The speakers declared the question of entry into the world court had "risen because of its worth above party politics and now is the program of the people." He and Mrs. James L. Laidlaw of New York, representing the Woman's Nonpartisan league, agreed that a wave of indignation is sweeping the country because of the long delay of action in the senate committee on the court proposal.

SURVEY SHOWS BUTTER PRICE STATUS FIXED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30 (AP)—Butter, like gold, has a world wide standard of value, it is pointed out in a review of the 1923 market by the California Dairy council. The review says:

"Milk may be produced, manufactured into butter and sold to a housewife within a radius of ten miles, but the price of that butter is determined by conditions in the four corners of the world."

"No other article of commerce, except the precious metal, is so uniform the world around as the product of the dairy cow, of which butter fat is the foundation. Whether it comes from New Zealand or Nova Scotia, Denmark, Wisconsin or California, it is simply butter when it reaches the markets of New York, Chicago and San Francisco, and the prices in all cities, with due allowance for slight freight rate differences, are practically the same."

"During 1923 average prices of dairy products throughout the country increased—butter 17 per cent, cheese 13 per cent, condensed milk 30 per cent, and marketed milk 17 per cent."

The dairy council said butter increased in almost the same proportion everywhere, from an average of 40 cents a pound to an average of 46-67 cents, but in California the increase was slightly less, being from 42-7 to 47-6 cents.

Consumption of dairy products in this country increases faster than the supply, according to the review.

HORSE AGED 61 YEARS TAKES REGULAR EXERCISE

CATAWISSA, Pa., April 30 (AP)—After a week of spring with apparent nonchalance, Clover, reputed to be the oldest living horse in the world, is nearing his fifty-first birthday on the farm of a local clergyman.

The rigors of winter had no effect on the old horse, for his owner provided him with a special hay stall lined with straw, and a double blanket. Regular exercise every day and warm food are said to have helped him weather the dangerous season.

Clover still boasts a full mane and all his teeth. His body is without a blemish. Such is his fame that he now enjoys a pension from the Jockey club of New York.

EXCLUSION BILL IS PASSED OVER

House and Senate Conferences Desire to Consider Other Features of Immigration Matter.

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—The Japanese exclusion section of the immigration bill which passed over by senate and house conferences at their meeting today in an effort to complete consideration of the package session upon suggestion of President Coolidge that the operation of these provisions be delayed until July 1 in order that the state department might seek a more satisfactory solution. That object would be achieved by the senate receding from its amendment making them effective upon enactment of the bill.

Senators from western states continued today their plans for prolonged debate on the floor upon the assumption that a favorable report on the exclusion proposal would be had from the conference.

EVANS MEN GET EVEN BY TAKING BUHL INTO CAMP

Twin Falls Beats West-End Nine, 19 to 6, on Faris Field; Timely Hits and Numerous Errors Figure in Score.

Twin Falls high school baseball players retaliated for their early season defeat by Buhl by trimming the black and orange high school team completely in a 19-6 hit fest on the Faris field at Buhl Wednesday afternoon.

Errors and hits, the hits coming at the right time and the errors at the wrong time—for Buhl—account for the Twin Falls score and a half hearted rally in the sixth and again in the ninth account for the few scores which Buhl pulled across the plate for their scattered hits.

Double Plays Feature. Mullins took the box for Buhl and his record for the first inning was three hits, five runs.

As the Twin Falls count increased, L. Jarman held the Buhlites scoreless until in the last half of the sixth inning. The first double play came with no men out. Owensby pushed out an easy one to Jarman in the box, who tossed out Machacek at second, and "Doc" completed the play to Garrity at first. The second was similar to the first except that first and second were populated when the play came.

In the last of the sixth a hit by "Speed" Mullins started things for Buhl and a walk for Dolana and another hit put the blue and white twister in the worst hole of the game with the bases filled and no one down. Owensby scored two when Stan Cron mowed a sure double and the next two scored on a bingle by Hejtmacek, who indecidentally took too big a lead off second and was caught napping by Mussell. That accounts for Buhl's first rally.

Jarman Features. L. Jarman, not content with merely winning the game from the mound, was the blue and white feature in the batting lineup hitting .433 being credited with five hits in six times to the bat. Mussell, the Bruin captain was not far behind with .667 for four hits, a home run, two doubles and a single in six trips to the plate.

"Moose" Garrity covered the first sack in his league style for the blue and white in the absence of "Slim" Hammond.

In the sixth Mullins blew up after making creditable showing since the first inning, allowing four runs. Barry sent in Dolana to the box and made considerable changes in the lineup, taking out Heimling and "Tommy" Hejtmacek for a brace of errors each and saving "Tony" Machacek who was accredited with three honors.

Ideal conditions, a small crowd and better sportsmanship than usual, preconditions of the game which was billed at Buhl as being played for the district championship.

LINE UP FOR FILER MEET

Interest in High School Athletics Now Turns to Coming Track and Field Event.

With the Buhl baseball game safely checked away the local high school athletes are turning the full focus of their attention to Filer and the district track meet Friday afternoon when 25 schools meet Friday afternoon when 25 schools of the south central district will meet for track and field honors.

Twin Falls with Timm, Jenkins, Murphy, Williams, Hall, Ross, Harrison and Bernard Marlyn, are all in first class shape and are expecting to bring the championship to the local school despite the loss of "D" Alvord, crack hurdler, who will probably be unable to compete due to an abscess which has formed in his ear.

Rupert with Long, Hockaday, Stone, Burley and Hyde forms one of the strongest teams of the meet and one which will amuse a number of points in the sprints, half mile, quarter and in the field events.

Barley, not credited with a strong team, is nevertheless strong in the hurdles as well as the weight department, their ten being formed around Kershnik, Canine, Wolfe, Griffith and Bateman.

These three teams the dope shows to be practically even on paper with the Bruin squad showing a slight edge. Wendell is another team which boasts a strong track squad particularly in the pole vault, with Blinkhorn, and in the weight department with Christopherson.

Elliot is a third luminary on the Wendell squad which is coached by one of the cleverest track mentors of the district, Critchfield.

KEEN INTEREST IS EXHIBITED IN JUNIOR VOTING

Almost 150 Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls Choose Officials to Assume Administration of Local Government.

JUNIOR OFFICIALS-ELECT FOR COUNTY AND CITY

County Assessor—Charles Anderson.
County Auditor—Julian Newman.
County Treasurer—Frank McAtee.
Probate Judge—Byron Rendahl.

Mayor—Richard Robertson.
City Commissioners—Tim Robertson, Tom Adams, Alfred Dunn, George Sprague.

Board of Education—Donald Walker, Hollis Martin, Emory Hackman, Harry Nielsen, Billy Young, John Warster.

Highway Commissioners—Norman Alvord, Allen Meecham, George Taylor.

Close contests, indicating keen interest on the part of the participants, developed Wednesday afternoon in the election in which almost 150 Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls expressed their choice for junior officials who will next Saturday take over administration of county, city, school and highway districts at the closing event of Boy Scout week observance in Twin Falls.

Rivalry was particularly pronounced in the choice of Twin Falls junior mayor. Richard Robertson, the successful candidate, winning over Robert H. Deis with a margin of only nine votes out of a total of 121 cast for both candidates.

Preference Indicated.

All of the successful candidates, it was announced, will meet at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the probate court rooms to consider appointments to fill various offices not filled by the election, and in this connection it was indicated that preference would be given to defeated candidates who were advised to inform their constituents as to the appointive positions which each preferred.

Junior voters were on hand in numbers when polls were opened at 4 o'clock in the Boyd building, Main avenue south, although rather more than half the total vote cast shortly before the closing hour at 8 o'clock. Only one of the candidates made use of printed matter in the interests of his candidacy, and two of his adherents took up positions near the polls to pass out typewritten injunctions to the voters, who, however, disregarded the claim to such an extent that this candidate failed of election. Other methods of influencing the electorate were employed by other candidates and shortly before the closing hour, a systematic canvass was made of all registered voters who had not up to that time cast their ballots in election.

Conform to Voting Rules.

Regulation voting equipment with printed ballots, booths, ballot boxes and records of election officials were provided for the event, and every aspect of the election was carried out in strict conformity with provisions of Idaho election laws. Paul McClellan, as constable, was on duty during the hours for voting and campfire girls serving as election officials carried out their duties with precision and dispatch.

Counting of the ballots was completed within an hour after the polls closed, and the following results were announced:

For County Assessor—Charles Anderson 62, Huggles Wheeling 55.
For County Auditor—Julian Newman 56, Jack Gardner 38, Tom Penney 27.

RADIO AND NEWSPAPER

"The radio will put the newspaper out of business in a few years," said many people, when the radio first began to broadcast news. A convention of newspaper publishers agreed the other day that the "radio" had not added a new field to the newspaper's usefulness.

There were people who thought the telegraph, the telephone, magazines, railroads, automobiles, and other things would put the newspaper out of business. The newspaper absorbed all these things as new tools of its trade and continued to grow.

Said Godfrey's Lady's Book in 1915: "The publisher of the Lady's Book is half inclined to give up advertising. His contemporaries can do that portion of entering for the public much better than he can." Whether that publication did actually give up advertising the writer does not know, but certain it is that the Lady's Book did. Undoubtedly its half-hearted attitude to innovations hastened its demise. Its successors in the field are legion, crowded with advertising, crammed every month with good reading of a dozen kinds, giving real service to their millions of readers.

Did the victrola put the concert or opera stage out of business? The victrola has not advertised good music, increased intelligent audiences and enlarged the field. Radio, in turn, strengthens the victrola record demand.

It is not so easy to put out of business anything which really serves the public good. The newspaper fills a great public requirement. It touches at something or other every phase of life. The radio does not worry it.

On the contrary, what radio fan does not turn to his paper with the more enthusiasm knowing that there he will find news of broadcasting programs and advertising of new hook-ups, better batteries and the latest things in tubes?

AMERICAN PYRAMIDS

The National Geographic Society is sending an expedition to Mexico to uncover the ruins of Cuicuilco, south of Mexico City, the oldest structure yet found on the American continent. Professor Cummings, who heads the expedition, says the pyramid there is probably a thousand years older than any of the Egyptian pyramids. There he expects to learn much about the beginnings of civilization in America, up setting old theories.

Before the Aztecs in Mexico were the Toltecs. Before the Toltecs were the builders of the pyramid in question, which was overwhelmed and sealed for thousands of years by a lava flow. Professor Cummings believes he will find evidence of an earlier race preceding those predecessors of the Toltecs, beneath a still older lava flow.

It sounds like a remarkable combination of the Egyptian pyramids and the buried cities of Herculaneum and Pompeii. And a link may be found connecting our prehistoric American civilization with Europe and Africa through the lost continent of Atlantis.

THE COUNTRY WINS

The country child, says Herbert Hoover, still has the best chance in the city. This is his word in connection with the May Day program of the American Child Health association.

The farm boy stores up vigor and acquires resourcefulness from his life in the open and his direct co-operation with Mother Nature, which give the battle to his hands when he tackles the city-bred boy on the latter's own ground.

This is a good thing for any country boy to bear in mind when supercilious city lads jeer at him as a "hayseed". It is a good thing for

REDDY WOODPECKER'S FUN
By DADDY

CHAPTER IV.
An Unexpected Hero.

JACK and Janet had gone down to the sawmill to watch the men at work. They saw great logs loaded upon moving platforms. The platforms ran on wheels and were pushed by men. They saw again a great buzzing saw. The saw roared and whined and screamed as it whirled through the log and cut off smooth boards, one after the other.

Reddy Woodpecker saw Jack and Janet sitting in the shade of the mill. Reddy Woodpecker was anxious to play another joke on them, especially as they had turned his last joke against him, causing him to get a ducking with scurrying water.

Reddy Woodpecker perched on top of the wooden water tank above the mill to think the matter over. He heard the splash of water inside the tank, for the engineer had just pumped it full. The sound of water made Reddy think of the cooling tank that had soaked him. He would like to duck the children. But how?

The children were far below. If water should run out of the tank it would flow down the roof and over the edge, and this gave them a shower. But that was not what Reddy Woodpecker got water out of the tank! Reddy Woodpecker began to chuckle. Why, all he had to do was to bore a hole in the water tank and the water would run out.

Reddy flew down to the side of the tank and set to work. Knock, knock, knock! Tap, tap, tap. Reddy Woodpecker chuckled as he worked. Wouldn't Jack and Janet be surprised when they found themselves caught in a shower on such a bright sunny day!

The water tank was old. The wood was beginning to rot. Reddy Woodpecker went through it in a hurry. And now something strange happened. As Reddy Woodpecker hammered away boring a hole, a train steamed past the mill. The engine was puffing hard and sparks flew upward. They fell on the roof. The shingles were very hot under the midday sun. They needed just a spark to set them ablaze. And so when the sparks from the train fell there the shingles began to smoke and then fire burst out.

Jack and Janet heard the knock, knock, knock, as Reddy Woodpecker worked. They looked up. They wondered why he was drilling a hole in the water tank.

"Doesn't Reddy Woodpecker know the water will all run out?" asked Janet. Jack was about to shout to Reddy Woodpecker to stop boring into the water tank when he caught sight of a fire blazing roof.

"Fire!" shouted Jack. "The mill is on fire!"

The men jumped from their work. They ran for the fire hose. The big mill whistle blared out an alarm. The flames on the roof flared up higher. They began to spread swiftly.

And just then Reddy Woodpecker

"The mill is on fire!"

shot his sharp bill through the soggy wood. The water gushed out. Reddy had to dodge to get out of the way. The water spouted upon the roof. It ran down upon the blazing shingles. The water hissed and sizzled as it struck the fire. Dense smoke went up, mixed with steam. The water kept pouring out of the tank and running upon the fire. Before the mill men could get the hose ready the fire was out.

"Reddy Woodpecker has saved the mill!" shouted Jack and Janet. "He bored a hole in the tank and let the water out and the water drenched the fire. Reddy Woodpecker is a hero!" And the mill men took up the shout. "Reddy Woodpecker is a hero! Hurrah for Reddy Woodpecker!"

And thus Reddy Woodpecker found himself a hero without intending to be. His joke had turned out different from what he had expected.

(Another Reddy Woodpecker joke will be told tomorrow.)

The wild outburst changed to wilder cheers and a tremendous exultation as he spoke of the five Indians slain by him and Dinsdale.

"One word more," cried San Juan. "This little lady is Little Carl, the only survivor of the Helman outfit."

"Stay her, a pair of shoes," howled a citizen.

Defeating cheers greeted the suggestion. A blacksmith, still wearing his leather apron and carrying his sledge, shouted:

"Hoory for five dead skunks! I'll slit it with this!" And snatching a bit from the nearest bench, he dropped into it a tiny bug of dust.

There were many in the gathering who did not know where the next men were coming from; but there were enough others to swell the contents of the hat. When the collection was handed up to the gambler Dinsdale strapped two greenbacks from a roll as his contribution. Even in the enthusiasm of the moment this act was noted and remembered; for greenbacks were curiosities in the hills and readily commanded a premium of five per cent.

San Juan gave generously. The noisy promoter called for a committee to count the collection. This was done in due form with the gambler as chairman. After a visit to the gold-scales of the nearest store the committee reported that Little Carl was richer by thirty-five ounces or six hundred and forty-seven dollars. Vociferous cheering greeted the announcement. The hat with its wealth was handed to the flush-faced girl. Little Carl was too dazed to speak; but San Juan rose in his stirrups and bellowed:

"The little lady wishes me to thank you for her."

Dinsdale leaned forward and spoke rapidly to the gambler, who stared at him in faint surprise, and replied: "First time you've mentioned it to me."

"I forget about it. Heard it at Laramie. May not interest them."

"Everything interests us here." Again rising in his stirrups and waving his hand for attention, San Juan announced:

"My friend, who's just through from Cheyenne and Fort Laramie, says train-robbers held up the Union Pacific train at Omaha, went through the passengers, took the express and mull."

Low-voiced imprecations rippled through the crowd. Only the great fear of the mighty Sioux nation and its threat to sweep through the hills and exterminate every white person, had restrained the miners from taking up the matter of the many stage robberies.

The three rode on with San Juan explaining:

"Not far to my friend's place where we can leave Little."

Dinsdale reined in and pointed to a sign on a long log cabin, which read: "MRS. COLT TAKES IN BOARDERS WHO PAY AHEAD."

"Who's Mrs. Colt?" he asked.

"Widow with a rifle. Knows how to use it. Product of the frontier. She has no bad debts."

"Why not take Little there?"

"But she's already arranged to take her to see Kitty. Kitty's a wonder."

Soon a new note pervaded the street noises—the shrill clangor of hurdy-gurdies and the crashing babel of overworked pianos, occasionally relieved by the more dulcet harmony of stringed instruments; for they were now in the thick of the dance halls and tents and hawley houses. Dinsdale looked very sober. Little Carl understood nothing. It was merely so much noise to her. Looks better inside," said San Juan, halting before a long two-story building made of rough boards, and having an annex in the form of a big tent. A passageway of canvas joined the tent to the house. Calling a boy to hold their horses, the gambler dismounted and helped the girl from her horse. Dinsdale moved more slowly, revolving something in his mind. As San Juan started to lead them to a side door of the house Dinsdale touched his arm and in a low voice said:

"I value now. She's Kitty the Schmeer."

"There's only one Kitty, and she certainly is a master sewerer," said San Juan with a laugh.

"I don't like it," persisted Dinsdale. "I want you I probably shall kick over the traces."

"Not after you've looked into Kitty's eyes."

The side door evidently was something of a private entrance for it was locked. San Juan gave a sharp double knock. A slow swing back, revealing a small aperture. The opening framed one eye set on the bias, then the door opened and the Chinese attendant stood aside for them to enter.

The place was heavy with the smell of musk, of scented tapers and burning joss-sticks, characteristic of Oriental dives and insufferable to Dinsdale and Little Carl. The girl sniffed and coughed and drew close to Dinsdale as her eyes met the gaze of the wrinkled-faced Mongolian. The gambler brusquely commanded:

"Tell your mistress I'm here."

"With that, and as one well used to the establishment, he ushered them into a room which quite took Little Carl's breath away. Thick rugs littered the floor, and Chinese slabs of weird pattern were utilized to hide the ugly ceiling. There were several pictures, all in heavy gilt frames; and an excellent piano stood against the wall.

"Matrimonially Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My wife lays a lot of plans for an expensive summer vacation.

At about this time every year she makes a collection of resort catalogues and vacation literature.

She spends her evenings figuring out what a pleasant little vacation we can have at any one of a dozen places for not a cent more than twice as much money as I have in bank.

Just when I'm figuring that I'll be lucky to get out of town on a trolley this summer she has to talk as though she thought she was married to Henry Ford.

When a man can't think any further ahead than next month's statement from his bank, what's the use of drawing a lot of pictures of the mountains and the seashore next August?

And when I tell her that it'd be all I could do to buy postcards of half the hotels she's thinking of visiting, she tells me not to be so pessimistic. But right now I'd call that unbounded optimism.

Tomorrow: "My husband hates to move out of his chair in the evening."

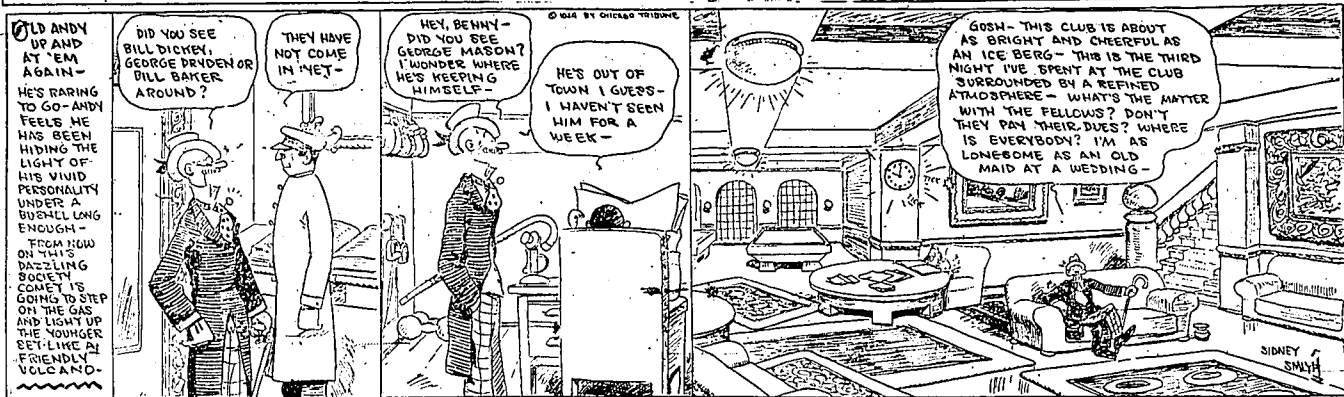

The city lads themselves to get into their heads.

There is a subconscious perception of all this in the minds of city folk, as may be seen in the fact that, after a generation or two of city life, they feel the urge to get back to the country. Life in the country is the thing to keep them fit for work in the city.

Boy Scouts' Advantages Urged for All Youngsters

National Playground and Recreation Association Representative Points Objective for Twin Falls.

"The instinct of play is stronger than the lust for vice," said W. C. Bradford of the National Playground and Recreation Association in an address Wednesday before the Rotary club. Mr. Bradford was here this week from New York to stimulate playground and community recreational development in the various cities of Idaho.

"That is the reason that 18 boys in your community would rather play a real game of baseball than go on a raid of destruction in the community or indulge in vice down the back alleys," Mr. Bradford continued. "The gang we shall always have with us because God so made us that the belonging instinct is one of the very strongest. This instinct finds expression in the gang which is the father of the society of tomorrow."

"The boy scout movement has done a stupendous work in exalting the gang. What inspiring sight yesterday was the parade and the activities at the athletic field. Twin Falls should plan to the early coming of the day when the leisure hours of all its boys and girls and men and women will be as adequately directed as are those leisure hours of the boy scouts."

"The National Playground Association desires to do everything in its power to help Twin Falls establish playgrounds for the boys without a playground is like a man without a job. It desires also to help provide proper recreational facilities for your larger boys and girls and for young men and women. You have adequate play spaces, school houses, churches and other social centers to develop adequate recreational facilities for all your people."

Home of Lost Talent

"The community is the home of lost talent and it will realize an untold every avenue of self expression is opened up to all your people. Girls and boys who love to sing should be given an opportunity to join a glee club, a chorus, or a group vocal choir. Those who wish to go on the stage should be privileged to act out their dramatic instincts in various types of neighborhood affairs, school plays, religious pageants etc. Your public holidays should become culminating, community wide expressions of these various group activities. You should have a community hall where recreation and the business men should provide prizes for the best groups in the parade and later at the street carnival. You should have a community Christmas tree and groups of singers should enact the entire city bringing joy and happiness to all on this festive occasion. When the expression of your people is freed your young folks of talent will not be craving to go to Chicago and New York where they will in all probability express their inferiority, but they will take root right here in Twin Falls where they will express their excellence."

Keeps Juveniles Out of Court.
"The development of this community recreation program would result ultimately in the hiring of a city director of recreation. The chief business of this man would be to keep boys and
