JUNIORS GIVEN EXPERIENCE IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls Take Over Administration of Local Government for Day.

Boy Scouts and Campfire girls delegated by vote of their fellows to administer municipal, school and highway district affairs and county offices Saturday, gained by actual contact with the problems and activities of local government. Accession of the junior officials to office Saturday marked the conclusion of observation in this district of Boy Scout week.

Problems of municipal finance claimed the attention of the junior council headed by Richard Robertson as mayor, to whom Mayor Shad L. Hodgkin turned over the Twin Falls city administration Saturday.

Fifty-Fifty With Kids

W. S. Hill asked in behalf of the Playground association an appropriation of $10,000 for purchase and properly equipping a municipal playground. It was moved by Tom Adams that the appropriation be granted. Commissioner George Sprague raised the issue of where such an amount was to be found. Further inquiry on the part of the body brought ex-City Clerk Mee before the board to state the sum allotted by the past administration for the maintenance of parks. The budget showing a total of $20,000, it was deemed expedient not to make the appropriation. Upon appeal from the association's representative for the use of any suitable funds belonging to the city, the association to furnish equipment and proper supervision, the commissioners voted to give the use of the city park for the purpose, arguing that while it would be a measure making some disturbance and introduce some noise, it was but fair for the older citizens "to go fifty-fifty with the kids."

Junior board of education, after considerable discussion, voted in favor of purchase of motor trucks to replace school wagons.

Junior highway commissioners met with the district board at a regular meeting Saturday afternoon and participated with the commissioners in discharge of routine business presented, comprising in the main, the action taken on payroll and other financial claims.

On Duty at Court House.

Work of county officials was explained to boys and girls delegated to administrative positions in the court house, a measure of service being allotted to each. Rose Brooks, Buhl, scout elected as county attorney, was formally elected by Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor as associate counsel hearing in a case before the probate court, wherein Byron Rendahl, Twin Falls scout, occupied a seat on the bench with Judge Duval. Glen Davis, Buhl scout, was pressed into service in the office of county superintendent of schools as were Ruggles Wheeler, Julian Newman and Frank McEate of Twin Falls, in the office re-

Senate and House Conferees Fail to Agree on Exclusion

Congressmen Desire to Prevent Embarrassment of President in His Handling of Important Immigration Matter.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—After an all-day session, senate and house conferees on the immigration bill adjourned until Tuesday without having reached an agreement on the Japanese exclusion provisions.

"Every member recognizes that the policy of exclusion is fixed," declared Chairman Reed of the senate managers. "Their sole object is to prevent the unnecessary embarrassment of the president in his handling of foreign relations."

"Splendid progress was made," said Senator Reed, "but consideration of details in some of the sections delayed us so that it was impossible to carry out the plan of completing our report Monday. Because of important assignments of house members for that day we put the next meeting over to the day following."

"There has been no partisanship shown during the entire course of our work. The inference to the contrary seen in some reports in this morning's papers is unfair and unwarranted."

AIR SQUADRON CHIEF LOST IN NORTH

No trace has been found of Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of the American aviators circling the globe. Major Martin and his aide, Sergeant Alva Harvey, have been missing since Wednesday when they left Chignik, Alaska.

EIGHT CASES ON CRIMINAL LIST

Clerk Makes up Calendars in Preparation for Opening of May Term of District Court.

In preparation for opening next Monday of the May term of district court here, Judge W. A. Babcock, presiding, criminal and demurrer calendars have been made up by C. L. Downen, deputy clerk of the court. All calendars will be called on the opening day.

The criminal calendar for the term contains eight cases including the case of K. S. Peters and Frank G. Leichter, former manager and secretary of the Mutual Building and Loan company, who are charged with embezzlement of its funds. Trial in this case is expected to occupy about 10 days. Defendants are represented by Homer C. Mills and Roy L. Black, former Idaho attorney general; while the case for the state will be conducted by Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor with Frank L. Stephens, former prosecuting attorney, as special counsel.

Case of Fred Brandes, charged with arson in the second degree in connection with attempted burning of the Twin Falls Vinegar and Cider works last December, also appears on the criminal calendar for this term. Previous trial in this case resulted in disagreement of the jury.

Other cases on the criminal calendar include:

John D. Wagner, charged with commission of a statutory offense; George Jaeger, illegal sale of liquor; Clinton Bowman, illegal sale of liquor; Henry Frough, illegal possession of liquor; Nettie Weighall, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and Fred Grenz, petty larceny. The cases of Mrs. Weighall and Grenz have been appealed to the district court from conviction in the probate court.

MARTIN'S FATE NOT REVEALED; OTHERS HOP OFF

Radio Messages from Northland Report Air Fleet Commander Not Found; Three Fliers Leave for Atka Island

CORDOVA, Alaska, May 3 (AP)—Three United States army air cadets attempting to circle the globe, which have been at Dutch Harbor since April 19, left there at 11 a. m. today for Atka Island, 351 miles southwestward, according to wireless messages received here.

The continuance of the world flight was in compliance with instructions from the war department to proceed without Major Frederick Martin, missing commander of the squadron.

The message carried assurance of good weather and other conditions favorable to the flight.

BREMERTON, Wash., May 3 (AP)—An improvement in radio communications with the north was noted at the Puget Sound naval station here today.

Messages in the afternoon from the western end of the Alaska peninsula and the eastern end of the Aleutian chain of islands continued to report that Major Frederick L. Martin, American flier, had not been found.

Earlier messages while of the same purport as to what happened to Major Martin and Staff Sergeant Alva Harvey after they left Chignik on the peninsula Wednesday, to go to Dutch Harbor, 400 miles away in the islands, still gave gleams of hope.

STATE SENATOR IS KILLED

STEELE, N. D., May 3 (AP)—State Senator R. F. Baker of Glenhurst was killed; Roy Frazier, county clerk of Crosby county and chairman of the independent republican committee, and A. G. Sorlie of Grand Forks, non-partisan league candidate for governor, were injured seriously in a automobile accident near here late today.

Advocates Seek Aid of Coolidge on Crop Export Legislation

Farm Bloc Leaders Circulate Petitions to be Presented to Chief Executive.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Advocates of the McNary-Haugen agricultural export bill decided today to seek the aid of President Coolidge in their fight to bring about enactment of the measure. In the house, leaders of the "farm bloc," began the circulation of petitions which will be transmitted to the White House early next week. They point out the need for legislation along the lines of the McNary-Haugen bill, set forth that they carry overwhelming sentiment in the farming regions for its passage, and argue that its enactment be facilitated.

SALMON CANAL RULING UPHELD

Supreme Court Approves Water Delivery on Basis of Stock Held by Landowners.

Apportionment by the Salmon River Canal company of water on the basis of shares of stock in the company held by respective landowners and not on an acreage basis was approved by the state supreme court in an opinion which reverses decision of District Judge T. Bailey Lee, copies of which were received here Saturday. The opinion was written by Alf H. Budge, associate justice, and concurred in by three other justices.

The action in which this opinion was handed down, was instituted two years ago by R. Glavin and other settlers of the Salmon River project to restrain the company from delivering more water to some users than to others where the acreage was the same. The company's reason for this alleged discrimination was that the landowners who received the greater amount of water were entitled to it because they held one and five-seventh shares of stock in the company, the fractional share representing a proportionate part of the company's stock issued to lands that later were excluded when the project area was reduced because of insufficiency of the water supply for all lands.

SEARCH AND ARREST IN BERLIN CAUSE OF MUCH EXCITEMENT IN RUSSIA

The Day in Washington German Police Raid Trade Delegation Building Seeking Communist; Soviet Ambassador Leaves for Home.

President Coolidge vetoed the Bureau omnibus pension bill. The soldier bonus bill was signed at the capitol and sent to the White House.

The senate launched into its fight over the income rates of the revenue bill. The grain futures administration submitted its report to the senate on future wheat trading.

Representatives of two former service men's organizations urged President Coolidge to veto the soldier bonus bill.

Major General C. C. Williams, chief of army ordinance, testified on nitrogen production before the senate Muscle Shoals committee.

Arguments were concluded in the District of Columbia supreme court on the demurrer of Harry F. Sinclair for his indictment for contempt of the senate.

The state department approved an appeal of the Cuban government to the Washington government for the purchase of war munitions for use against revolutionaries.

ELKS' ANNUAL MINSTREL TO PRECEDE CONVENTION

Decision to stage an annual Elks' show one week in advance of the Elks' state convention to be held here June 11-12, was reached at a meeting Friday evening of the committee of the Twin Falls lodge in charge of convention arrangements. Howard E. Sablin, who produced the eminently successful Elks' show two years ago, was chosen to direct this year's offering, and Saturday expressed confidence that with the excellent talent available he would be able to produce a combined minstrel-musical-melodrama that would compare favorably with any show on the road this year.

Every effort will be put forth to make the convention here the most successful gathering of Elks ever held in the state, the committee announced. Many different forms of entertainment have been offered for the committee's consideration, including baseball, auto races, boxing, dancing, swimming, airplane stunts, and the program will be arranged to include some of these together with sightseeing trips to nearby points of interest.

German Police Raid Trade Delegation Building Seeking Communist; Soviet Ambassador Leaves for Home.

BERLIN, May 3 (AP)—M. Krestinsky, Russian soviet ambassador to Germany, left for Moscow tonight. His departure is a sequel to the action of the Berlin police in entering the building of the Russian trade delegation and searching the house from roof to cellar for a communist against whom a warrant had been issued.

The greatest excitement prevails in Russian circles over the police search, officials of the Russian embassy stating that it lasted for four hours and that the leaders of the Russian trade mission, which is supposed to enjoy extra territorial rights, were interfered with. The police made several arrests and took the prisoners, handcuffed to the police officers.

M. Krestinsky called at the foreign office and made energetic protests. He succeeded in getting Foreign Minister Stresemann to order the search stopped at once.

"Unparalleled violation of extra territorial rights," is the way the Russian embassy regards the police action. It has ordered the trade mission to cease its work and all commercial activity will be suspended.

The trouble started when two Swabian policemen, bringing a communist leader, Boitzenhardt, wanted by the German state's attorney for alleged treason, were tipped into believing that the Russian trade delegation building in Berlin was a restaurant where they might have lunch while making a change in trains.

ELECTION CARRIES

POCATELLO, Idaho, May 3 (AP)—The $72,000 bond election for various civic improvements in Pocatello carried Saturday by the necessary two-thirds majority. One of the lightest wins in the history of the city was cast despite the points at issue involving improvements of great importance. Slightly over 250 votes were cast on the five separate projects.

STRIKE SETTLED.

KANSAS CITY, May 3 (AP)—The strike of approximately 40,000 coal miners in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas was settled here late today and the miners will return to work May 5. W. L. A. Johnson, general manager of the Southwestern Interstate Coal Operators' association announced.

RECONCILIATION EFFECTED

In consideration of reconciliation reported to have been effected between both accused persons and their respective wife and husband, J. A. Martindale of Oakley, and Mrs. Clara Richardson of Milner, pleaded guilty in probate court here Saturday of charge of committing a statutory offense, were released by Probate Judge O. P. Duval under suspended sentence. Reconciliation in the premises was reported to the court by Attorney W. L. Dunn of Oakley, who appeared as counsel for Martindale.

Deal for Sale of Arms to Cubans Is Being Negotiated

Application Made for Purchase of War Materials Valued at $100,000 for Use in Present Uprising.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Sale of a quantity of American war material to the government of Cuba, which is confronted with a revolutionary uprising is under negotiation in Washington.

Such a transaction, unlike the recent sales of arms to the Oregon government, Mexico is specifically authorized under a law passed in 1918, and there is every expectation that an arrangement for delivery to Cuba of the munitions requested will be perfected within a few days.

The material for which application has been made is worth about $100,000 and includes three million rounds of rifle ammunition and about 30 machine guns, all of which would be supplied from surplus material now in army depots.

No request for purchase of airplanes has been made by Cuban officials and reports from Havana that a shipment of planes is on its way to the island republic were interpreted here as indicating the Cuban government may have made such a purchase from some private concern in this country.

TREASURY EYES LIQUOR TRAFFIC ACROSS BORDER

Government Turns from Checking of Trade Along Coast to Concentrate More Attention Along Canadian Line.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—Its program for checking rum running along the Atlantic seaboard under way, the treasury today turned its attention to the Canadian border. Orders were issued which will place nearly double the personnel of prohibition, customs and coast guard agents at work between the eastern coast and the prairie reaches of North Dakota. Definite jurisdiction has been assigned by Assistant Secretary Moss to each of the three enforcement arms and officials of the liquor smuggling from Canada henceforth will be more difficult.

Coast guard crews will attempt to check rum running by boats in the deep waters of the Great Lakes and customs service agents will be responsible for all ports of entry and with prohibition agents will direct their attention to rum running by land and on small streams.

The Canadian distillers and brewers, unhampered by their own government, are aiding in the smuggling, according to reports received here and Judge Moss said the treasury's task was to build a wall of agents that would permit as little as possible of the liquor to leak through.

Prohibition agents at all crossings and all those scattered between customs houses have been equipped with motorcycles, with which they can guard the border more closely.

It is in the cities, however, where the treasury's greatest problem lies. Detroit was said to present the worst of these situations, as was indicated by an unofficial report that one brewery across the river from that city last year paid the Canadian government an export tax of approximately $300,000 on the basis of 50 cents a case of beer. Most of it is said to have come to the United States.

THOUGH I DIE

But call to me,
Dear, and I shall come to thee;
In the dusk of the twilight—
If you love me, call to me.

If you need me,
Dear, all my love shall be thine;
If you feel me close to thee,
Perfect is this love of mine.

If you want me,
Sweet, I shall be ever near,
You may even tell me so;
But I shall be with you, dear.

If you love me,
Dear, and softly call to me,
A spell of love is woven—Though I die, I'm still with thee.

NATURE PRESERVES BODIES

Can Sometimes Do as Good a Job in Mummification as Expert Embalmers of "Tutu's" Day.

Nature can sometimes do as good a job in mummification as the expert embalmers of Tut-Ankh-Amen's day. Not long ago the body of an ancient warrior was exhumed from a Greek temple where he had been buried fifteen hundred years ago without any special effort having been made toward preserving his body. It was so well preserved that the wounds which killed him were plainly visible. Within the past few months a perfectly preserved body, buried 221 years ago, was exhumed in Germany, and many such instances have been noted. The explanation is not known, but seems to be connected with the cause of death, the bodies of persons dying from bacterial infection being apparently more prone to decay.

Punctuation Quite Modern. Aristophanes of Alexandria used punctuation to some extent in 250 B. C. There was no system of punctuation, however, until about 1500 A. D. Aldus Manutius, a learned Venetian printer, noted for the beauty of his style, employed it at this time.

"Finicky" Appetites. Folks with "finicky" appetites are not in the best of health. Either they are afflicted with some disease or else they are too lazy or indolent to give their bodies sufficient out-of-door exercise.

Little Willis. Little Willis tried to swing aboard the caboose as the south-bound freight pulled out Saturday morning. The doctor says he will be able to attend school Monday.

Dreams. Father is surprised when son saves part of his spending money and he dreams a dream of being the father of a millionaire.

What an even world. Some men ponder over whether they shall live $100,000 that day and others wonder whether they can wear this collar another day.

Front Porch at Capital and Home Same for Coolidge

President Breaks Precedent but Makes Himself Comfortable on North Porch.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—The front porches of houses of Northampton, Mass., the home city of President Coolidge, are regarded as useful as well as decorative adjuncts, and the president sees no reason for considering any differently the north porch, or front porch, of the White House. Retiring from a walk after his day's work, Mr. Coolidge directed a chair be brought out on the porch. The president sat down, crossed his legs and remained there until time for dinner, or rather "supper" as he prefers to call it in the New England way.

White House attaches could not remember any president who had used the north porch; previous chief executives having generally retired on spring and summer evenings to the more secluded and awnings-shaded south porch.

GLOBE LOCUST TREE

For ornamental purposes this tree far surpasses any tree heretofore put on the market. The tree does not require any trimming to acquire the symmetrical globe shape. The foliage is very dense and of a beautiful blue-green color and makes a good lawn shade tree as well as for border and parking. Will make a growth of seven and a half feet spread of branches in two years. Another redeeming feature—it has no bloom, nor thorns. Being a legume it enriches the soil, hence the grass will grow better under this tree than any other.

From the above statement this tree is destined to become the leading shade and ornamental tree of this country. This beautiful Globe Locust was brought to this country by J. A. Waters.

EXPOSES THREE FINANCIAL FAKES

Politicians Mislead Public Regarding Corporations, Credit, and Railroads, Says F. N. Shepherd.

FALLACIES MET WITH FACTS

Declares People Will Make Short Shift of Those Who Deceive Them When Aroused to Truth of Own Interests.

Three great misrepresentations, by which certain politicians have advanced their own interests at the expense of public welfare, were recently declared by F. N. Shepherd, Executive Manager, American Bankers Association, in an address at Kansas City, Missouri, to be the oft-repeated statements that "Wall Street" owns the corporations, that the Federal Reserve Banks discriminate against agriculture and deflated the farmers, and that there are seven billion dollars of "water" in railroad capitalization and rates should be reduced accordingly.

What Facts Tell In regard to the alleged ownership of the corporations by "Wall Street," Mr. Shepherd showed that the securities of American corporations are very widely held by the people. The Union Pacific, he pointed out, has over 50,000 stockholders and the Pennsylvania Railroad 147,000 stockholders, 67,000 of whom are women, with an average ownership of 47 shares each. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has 200,000 stockholders, 120,000 of whom are employees, and the United States Steel Corporation has 174,000 stockholders. According to a recent report of the Interstate Commerce Commission, he said, Class 1 railroads have a total of 777,332 stockholders, there being, therefore, practically as many owners of shares as there are employees.

"The real capitalists of America," continued Mr. Shepherd, "are these and the bondholders whose funds are invested in securities through their thirty million savings accounts, and through their ownership of over 71 million life and industrial insurance policies. Once aroused these people to the fact that it is their interests which are being attacked through these misrepresentations and they will make short shift of those who deceive them."

Truth About the Federal Reserve "As to the Federal Reserve System, instead of its discriminating against the farmer, exactly the opposite is true. During the period of greatest decline in the value of agricultural products, about which there has been so much loose talk, rediscovers with Federal Reserve banks in non-agricultural districts actually decreased by 28 per cent, but in agricultural districts rediscovers were actually increased by 56 per cent. The Federal Reserve Banks of the big cities of Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Cleveland poured into other Federal Reserve Banks in agricultural districts literally hundreds of millions of dollars.

"As to the alleged seven billions of 'water' in the railroads, a physical valuation of the railroad properties has been under way for the past ten years, as a result of the La Follette Act, conducted by a body of unprejudiced, non-political experts by whom the valuation has been placed at $13,900,000,000. Although it has been officially stated, and reiterated, that, in arriving at this figure, no consideration whatever was given to capitalization, politically-minded men are still deceiving the public, and particularly the farmers, about the 'water' in the railroads. Railroad stock today is not watered. Any possible fair scheme of valuation today proves that our railroads are worth from one to two billion dollars more than their capitalization.

No Railroad Income Guarantee "Further, demagogues are telling people that the railroad income is guaranteed. The Esch-Cummings Act does not guarantee any return to railroad stockholders, as the demagogues constantly assert. By its terms the Act simply provides a yard stick for rate making, which is that a fair rate of return is one which would show a return of 5 1/2 per cent upon the actual value of the property used in transportation in a given territory. "This provision bears no relation whatever to railroad capitalization and, moreover, no relation to individual railroads, some of which might show earnings under such a rate-making provision in excess of six per cent, and some much less. No consideration whatever is given in the Act or in the administration of the Interstate Commerce Commission to railroad capitalization or any return upon it."

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls

From The News Files, May 7, 1909.

After passing upon the bills for April the members of the outgoing city administration turned over the reins on Monday evening to their successors who had a busy session. Mayor Lahn announced his chairman of committees as follows: Maxwell, finance and health; Pottit, fire department; Pilgerin, streets; Salladay, sewers. Alderman Pilgerin was elected president of the council. The new council settled down to business quickly. The plat of the Jones addition was accepted; likewise the plat of the Eastlawn sub-division of the Jones addition. The First National bank was granted a permit for the addition to its building now under construction. W. A. Babcock was re-appointed city attorney at $100 per month. Louis Reume was appointed chief of police, and S. Ryan street commissioner.

The wind played havoc with the Blue Lakes south side grade this week, blowing the water from the Perrine coulee in all directions and washing out the road. The river raised three feet in one night, making it necessary to move the ferry landings.

The men of the Baptist church and congregation will meet in social session on the evening of May 14. The feature of the occasion will be as follows: A tasty repast, special music under the direction of Clarence Bently; informal toasts and a fraternal and social good time.

Grading operations are in progress on the Twin Falls branch to the Southern Pacific. Large quantities of construction material are arriving daily and work will be in full swing all along the line in a short time.

H. T. Madgwick of Lewiston, Idaho, has been awarded the contract for the erection of the Twin Falls Bank & Trust Company's building on the south corner of Main avenue and Shoshone street. The contract price for a two story building with stone walls was $60,000 but the officials are considering the advisability of adding another story.

John L. Dunn of Wallace is in the city preparatory to visiting his desert claim near Goat Springs, on which a flowing geyser was drilled this spring.

Dr. C. D. Weaver was in Milner Saturday on professional business.

SEATTLE, May 4 (AP)—Charles H. Paddock, "world's fastest human," failed today in the fifth annual Washington relay carnival here to break the world record in the 100-yard dash. He ran the event in 10 1/10 seconds. Paddock ran despite a pulled muscle in his thigh.

The supreme court in its opinion holds that these water rights are property subject to sale by the owners and subject to transfer to lands within the reduced area and that the bondholders' committee did not obtain and hold these rights in trust for the benefit of all the settlers of the patented area.

deputies duly appointed from among scouts and campfire girls. More than 150 Boy Scouts served in various positions in administration of Twin Falls municipal government, the police and fire departments offering opportunities for which preference was apparent, while the salaried corps under the junior administration included assistants to Henry Hostbeck, as chief inspector.

Robert Driss, police chief, with a corps of patrolmen, rounded up during the day a score or more of violators of traffic regulations, and arrested three offenders who were brought to trial before Charles Battelle, police judge, and convicted of riding bicycles on the sidewalk. Two girls, Dorothy Parks and Martha Duke, charged with committing this offense "purposely," were convicted by a jury and sentenced to pay a fine of 35 cents. Fine was remitted by the magistrate in view of the evident embarrassment of the defendants.

A score of lads detailed with Jack Gardner as fire chief, to duty with the fire department, buried themselves during the day polishing the motor pump and chemical engine and assisting firemen with routine work, besides participating in instruction as to firemen's work and making a practice run.

THAT'S OUR IDEA in making CAMELS—the Quality Cigarette.

Why, just buy Camels and look at the package! It's the best packing science has devised to keep cigarettes fresh and full flavored for your taste. Heavy paper outside—secure foil wrapping inside and the revenue stamp over the end to seal the package and keep it air-tight.

And note this! There's nothing flashy about the Camel package. No extra wrappings that do not improve the smoke. Not a cent of needless expense that must come out of the quality of the tobacco.

Camels wonderful and exclusive Quality wins on merit alone.

Because, men smoke Camels who want the taste and fragrance of the finest tobaccos, expertly blended. Men smoke Camels for Camels smooth, refreshing mildness and their freedom from cigarette aftertaste.

Camels are made for men who think for themselves.

FOUR ADULTS.

Twin Falls people, old and young,
in common with the rest of humanity, have been taught for generations about the sacredness of human life—should there be never a word about the sacredness of property rights?

As between the two doctrines, the latter is undoubtedly entitled to more consideration than appears to have ever been accorded it.

A young man runs off with a parked auto, smashes the car and winds up in hospital.

Groups of lads enter private property and steal flowers.

Gasoline is stolen from cars and used in other cars for joy riding purposes.

Lawns are trampled by careless young people, corner lots employed as meeting and loafing places, with accompanying injury to the property.

In the minds of the rising generation, human life may be a sacred thing but there isn't anything sacred about property rights.

In a general way, Twin Falls youngsters are no worse than any others and it would be a foolish and a wrongful thing to say that all are as bad as the worst. But the general tone is no higher than it used to be and on the average it is a question if there is any improvement over conditions twenty years ago.

Fashion has decreed that authority shall be enforced by the honor system. Parental discipline is no longer the rough thing it was a decade or two ago. It's all vastly different now.

It is the system that is on trial, not the boys. We would all do well to remember that. But even in this day of moral anarchy instead of parental discipline why the dickens can't they be taught a decent respect for the rights of others—we are willing to admit that they have about all the rights and privileges there are for themselves, but what about the poor, down-trodden average citizen and property owner? Isn't there a single thing left to him which he may call his own?

A LONGER CHILDHOOD

Those who regard as unduly high the age limit for working children contained in the child labor amendment adopted by the House of Representatives overlook some important facts.
Here is one that has received very little attention, yet has a vital bearing on the subject.

The natural period of childhood is lengthening, along with the prolonga-tion of life as a whole. Records show that seventy years ago the average duration of human life in America and England was about forty years. In many other countries it was less than that. According to insurance statistics, the average expectation of life in this country in 1920 was over fifty-five years. In 1921 it is around fifty-seven years.

Here is an increase of more than forty per cent in the length of life since 1850. The increase, of course, has not all been added to middle age or old age. Youth has had its share of the gain. It is a stretching out of life all the way from birth to death.
Thus it might be argued that a child of eighteen today represents a child of thirteen two generations ago—and while this may not be precisely true, there is enough truth in it for practical purposes.

Histories and biographies indicate a maturity in boys and girls of a given age, fifty or one hundred years ago, that are seldom found in children of similar age today. So late as our Civil War, the lad of eighteen was generally regarded as a man, and so

REDDY WOODPECKER'S FUN
By DADDY

CHAPTER I
Three Things at Once.

"BOW-WOOW! How do you do!"
said Daddy Dog as he sat down beside Jack and Janet on the river bank.

Jack and Janet were fishing and already had made a fine catch of bluegills.

"I'd like to go fishing, too," declared Daddy Dog, watching Jack jerk a flapping bluegill out of the water.

"Come on and join us," said Jack.
"I'll cut you a pole and give you a line and hook and bait."

"How would that will be fine," said Daddy Dog, barking gladly as Jack cut a pole from a thicket at the edge of the woods and trimmed off leaves and branches.

Soon the pole was finished. Jack tied a line to it, put a hook on the line and baited on the hook, and Daddy Dog was ready to fish. He sat proudly on the bank holding the pole in his mouth and watching the line float on the water.

"Fishing is fine on a warm spring day," barked Daddy Dog out of the side of his mouth. "But I wish I could smoke, too."

"When folks fish, they ought to fish," said Jack. But Daddy Dog kept figuring on a way in which he might fish and smoke too. Finally he hit upon the idea of resting the pole on a stump and holding one end with his paw instead of with his mouth. This he did, and his mouth was free to hold the pipe.

So Daddy Dog fished and puffed his pipe at the same time.

The fish were not biting very fast, so Daddy Dog began to blink his eyes.
"I wish I could fish and smoke and smoke," said he. Then I would be perfectly happy on this warm spring
day."

"It is hard enough to smoke when you fish, without smoking, too," said Janet severely. "You can't do three things at the same time." But Daddy Dog only grinned. He stretched his head out comfortably on a hummock and blinked more than ever. Soon he was snoring. And as he snored he held his pipe in his mouth and rested his paw on his fish pole.

This was all very well for a few minutes and then of a sudden a big regard himself. Now everyone knows that an eighteen-year-old is only a boy or girl. Eventually the age of boyhood and girlhood may be extended several years more, as "expectation of life" rises nearer the century goal.

OPERA FOR EVERYBODY

"There is enough musical talent going to waste in this country to furnish material for a dozen grand opera companies," says Otto H. Kahn, business head of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York. He wants American cities to use this talent.

Mr. Kahn points to Italy and Germany, where every city of importance has its own opera house. Eventually he hopes to see the same situation in the United States. For the present he suggests an intermediate policy. Instead of regular opera being confined to cities like New York and Chicago, with such few outside performances as the companies in these cities are able to give, he would like to see opera companies organized in several of the leading cities throughout the country, each serving as the musical metropolis of its section, with the co-operation of neighboring cities. Thus a group of half a dozen or a dozen music-loving cities might be able to support a genuinely fine company, and all have a regular opera season every year, where one alone could not hope to do so.

It is a business idea applied to art which ought to find a response in many cities. And it doesn't necessarily require a large city to start something along this line.

has grabbed the bait on Daddy Dog's hook. The line snapped taut and jerked the fishing pole. The end of the fishing pole flew up and hit Daddy Dog's pipe. The pipe bounced upward.
It scattered hot embers over Daddy Dog's back.

Daddy Dog jumped up with an ac-tostished howl. The hair on his back was scorching. He tried to shake the hot embers off. Then he saw his pipe rolling down the bank toward the river.
He made a grab for it, snatching it just as it hit the water. The bass had jerked the pole into the stream; he was dragging it away. Daddy Dog grabbed at the hook, dropping his pipe. It sank out of sight.

All the while the hot embers kept burning Daddy Dog. He let go the pole to try to shake them off. And the bass ran away with the pole, line and all.

"Hal! Hal! Hal!" laughed Jack and Janet for Daddy Dog. Daddy Dog was trying to shake off the burning embers, rescue his pipe and grab the fishing pole all at the same time. But Jack gave Daddy Dog a shove that sent him into the river and the water quickly put out the burning embers.

Daddy Dog crept out on the bank very shamefacedly.

"I told you that you couldn't do three things at once," laughed Janet.

thing at a time after this."

Soft Wood Timber in U. S.
The largest remaining supply of softwood timber in the United States is in the three states of Washington, Oregon and California, which contain more than half of all the saw timber in the country and more than two-thirds of the nation's entire supply of coniferous woods. Including the coastal forests of southern Alaska, this Pacific coast region is credited with 1,214 billion board feet, nearly half of which is Douglas fir, followed by western yellow pine, western hemlock, the true firs of several species, California redwood, spruce, western cedar and sugar pine. The amount of timber in these three states too small for lumber manufacture probably amounts to 400,000,000 cords.

Qing Question at a Time.
The only way we can spend the winter in Florida was looking over an "alligator farm." Was was much interested in a monster alligator, says the American Legion Weekly, and demanded of the attendant:

"You say you don't have to feed him very often. What kind of food does he like best?"

"Babies, ma'am," replied the man mildly.

"Why, how horrible! Do you mean to say the law allows you to feed him babies?"

"Oh, no, it doesn't," replied the attendant. "I feed him fish mostly, but you asked what he liked best."—

Wanted the Details.
The wife of a certain bishop had given a long and sympathetic address to a group of women from the East end of London on the question of making the life of the home happy and peaceful—especially peaceful.

After the address one of the women was overheard while making this remark:

"Very well, but why didn't she go into details? For instance, I should like to know what she does when her old man comes home drunk."

There was an uneasy stirring and an exchange of suspicious glances. It was well known that road-agents entered Deadwood City at times to proceed upon a victim's life. The light had started in front of the Grand Central from a victim recognizing a robber. The robber had engaged in a running fight. That others stared in both between holdups was commonly known.

The Montana man was impressed by the silence his speech had caused and glared defiantly around for a moment. Then he began to weaken, and to work clear of the group. A Jeering laugh accelerated his retreat.

Bandy Allen, recently advised by Colonels Charlie, pointed a finger at the miner, now making for the door, and demanded:

"That fool and others are talkin'

Allen lowered at him wrathfully, undecided whether to remain as an accommodation to the artist or to withdraw. The men suddenly raised a shout of laughter, and Scissors triumphantly held up the result of his art.
It was an exceedingly clever caricature of Allen with the long, ragged hair and bow legs grotesquely accentuated.

"Give me four bits for it?" asked Scissors, ruffling his thin yellow hair and tentatively offering the picture to Allen.

Roaring an oath, Allen ran his eyes over the grinning faces and dropped a hand on a gun.

"Who's laughin' at me?" he demanded, advancing a few steps.
The smiles vanished. Standing in front of Scissors, he drew back his hand and drove it into the simple face.
Dinsdale stepped between the two and informed Allen:

"I was laughin', too. I'm laughing now."

And he grinned broadly.
The men scattered. Allen reached for his gun, but with a dart of his hand Dinsdale slipped the gun into the holster and informed Allen:

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonially Speaking"
By MRS. HUGH McKAY

My husband knows all about his stock market.

At least, he talks as though he does,
and that's just as bad.

The government seems to be on the lookout these days for things to tax, and I'd like to suggest a levy of not less than five cents a minute on all conversations about stocks and bonds held after business hours.

I know that Hugh would have a tax bill way up in three or four figures.
And maybe that would help to break him of the habit.

He'll talk by the hour of the fall of Mexican Pete, whoever he is, and the remarkable rise of Paregoric Sticks, for a break and unsettling effects and all that sort of stuff for the rest of the evening.

I'm glad he has so much useful information of this kind, but I do wish that he'd cut it out a minute on all after 3 o'clock every day.

him in poor spirits, was with Mrs.
Cole.

"How's Little getting along?" he asked, genuinely pleased to meet her.
"I was thinking of calling next Sunday."

She eyed him with disapproval.
"Well, say you've had your visit home now," she told him. "Don't call me 'Little' any more. I'm Mrs. C. I say so. You and your two guns!"

"Surely other men wear two guns in Deadwood," he defended.

"Scoundrels do, and men who have an honest right to wear them. Are you a guard on a treasure chest?
You're not! You're a gambler. You ought to be ashamed to wear a gun to fight injuns. As far as I can make out you ain't even a gambler. You ride around, but don't seem keen to be earning an honest living."

"If I don't want to work, that's my business. If I do want to work, that can afford to wait till I strike something to do. But also in my business, I won't bother you, Mrs. Cole. So long as you're good to Little Carl nothing else matters."

"You talk pert. You've told me to keep my nose out of your business.
But I ain't going to get fired up over that. You're the one who's been coming madly you know to the whole town. What you do is noticed."

"Little Carl is too green to look after herself. I fired a prompt-paying bouncer yesterday, fired him neck and baggage, for walking at her. She ain't in any danger in my house, but if you ain't the proper sort I'll have my doubts. The little fool seems to think she's the boss—she ain't. So long as you're good to Little Carl, I'll let you alone."

Dinsdale removed his hat and bowed low on leaving her. He walked on, musingly wondering why he cared because the Cole place was closed to him. Finally he decided:

"It won't do. I must have some sort of work. If I won't be a new-chant or miner I can be a gambler. Gamblers seem to be thought of highly here."

It was late afternoon of the day he had met Mrs. Cole when he passed through the entrance of San Juan Joe's tent. Although it was not the rush hour a considerable number of men were trying their luck at faro, roulette and monte.

For several minutes Dinsdale sought to locate the proprietor, but was unsuccessful. Satisfied he was not in the tent, Dinsdale wandered to the faro table and played a few bits, staking and losing. To the envy of the other players, he quit the game a hundred dollars winner and without any enthusiasm passed on to a roulette wheel and quickly dropped the gold he had won at faro. He smiled as if pleased when a man exclaimed:

"There goes the greenback man!"

He was slowly making for the exit when a shrill voice halted him. He turned to face the grinning Scissors.
The fellow had his paper and Scissors in hand, but what made Dinsdale's eyes widen was the great horned owl perched on Scissors' shoulder.

"I want you to meet Sitting Bull," said Scissors, reaching up a hand to tickle the owl's head.

"Howdy-do, Sitting Bull," gravely greeted Dinsdale.

Chief, this is the young man I was telling you about. Friend of mine.
Ain't man a real one, a minute on all
after 3 o'clock every day.

He held the silhouette before the Mexican and raised four fingers. The other man, who had been looking at the likeness. The big hat intrigued him, and he handed over four bits and tucked the paper in his shirt. Scissors turned back to the amused Dinsdale and confided:

"That's the way it goes. If Joe knows much I take in he'd probably ask for a stake in me in most an once today. The night ought to bring it up to two ounces, maybe more."

Comes to Grief in Automobile Mishap

Young Man Suffers Injuries When Car Appropriated for Trip Overtakes on Highway.

James Martin, who gave the name also of James Monroe, aged 21 years, victim of an automobile wreck on the highway a mile north of Kimberly late Friday night in an Essex car he is alleged to have stolen that evening in Twin Falls from O. J. Johnson, was Saturday removed to the county jail from the county general hospital where he was taken for treatment Friday night for lacerations and bruises received when the car overturned. Martin was pinned under the car and regained consciousness sometime later after he had been taken by passersby to Kimberly where first aid treatment was administered by Dr. George Halsey.

Arrest of Martin followed an investigation made by Sheriff M. E. Finch and Chief of Police P. O. Herriman. According to the story told by Martin to the officers he had appropriated the car to take a party of young men and girls to a dance at Excelsior school house. Young women of the party decided to dance with him after their arrival at the school house. Martin said, and in a fit of pique he set out at a high rate of speed returning to Twin Falls and leaving others of the party to make their own way back home.

Martin said that he had been employed on the Irwin ranch on the north side of Snake river from Hansen bridge; that his father resides at Lava Hot Springs.

BREAK PUTS DOWNTOWN DISTRICT IN DARKNESS

Business Houses Without Lights During Night and Early Morning; Part of Service Off Nearly Four Hours.

Darkness descended on Twin Falls business houses at 9:45 o'clock Saturday night, and with the exception of street lighting, the whole business district was without lights for about one hour as a result of interruption in electric current through a main circuit. At the end of an hour service had been restored in the east quarter of the district and at about 11:45 the north quarter got lights. It was not until 1:30 o'clock that, after nearly four hours' interruption, service was restored through the circuit supplying The News with light and power.

Failure of the lights cut short Saturday night shopping by about 15 minutes in most business establishments. Motion picture performances were interrupted at the Idaho theater for an hour and could not be resumed at all at the Orpheum. Managements of both theaters returned tickets to disappointed showgoers.

Activities in the mechanical department of The News office were suspended entirely during the hours of interrupted service, while the editorial staff continued work by candle light, electric power being required for operation of linotype machines as well as presses and other machinery in the mechanical department. Heating of linotype metal, which had become cold when the power was shut off, required an hour's time after service was restored, so that typesetting operations were suspended for nearly five hours.
