BOURBONS WARD OFF ATTACKS ON TAX SCHEDULE

Coalition of Democrats and Republican Insurgents Defeated Compromises Offered on Mellon Surtax Rates.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Senate Democrats retained their income schedule in the revenue bill today against two determined assaults by the republican organization as the measure was whipped into shape for final passage tomorrow. Before adjournment agreement was reached to conclude debate on the bill by 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Republicans offered two compromises on the Mellon surtax rates, but the democratic republican insurgents' rejection defeated both. The next effort was on a schedule calling for the house surtax rates with a maximum of 37 1/2 per cent against the 40 per cent maximum on the democratic plan. It was defeated, 46 to 36.

Chairman Ransdell of the finance committee first had proposed a maximum rate of 32 per cent as a compromise for the Mellon 25 per cent maximum. This was turned down, 47 to 36. There was no debate whatever on either proposition. The democratic normal rates were reaffirmed without even a record vote.

In rapid fire order numerous other proposals were disposed of, but a long debate on an amendment to prohibit tax exempt securities, which was finally defeated, and the announced determination of Senator Norbeck, republican, South Dakota, to put forward the McNary-Haugen farm bill as an amendment forced over final action.

Important among results of the senate action today were reports of the tax on telephone, telegraph and leased wire messages, the five per cent tax on art works; the 2 1/2 per cent tax on automobile parts and accessories, and the levy on drafts and notes.

A treasury proposal to limit tax deductions in relation to the income of the taxpayer from tax exempt securities were reintroduced by a vote of 45 to 40, but the proposal of Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, to prohibit issuance of tax exempt securities was defeated, 59 to 14.

Claim Rum Runners Protest Passage of Beer Measure

Members of "Bootleggers' Union" See Effort to Break Down "Drastic and Wholesale Provision of Act."

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Word reached congress today that the "bootleggers' union," meeting in solemn convention May 1 at New York unanimously adopted resolutions protesting against modification of the Volstead act to legalize 2 1/2 per cent beer.

A petition forwarded to Representative Griffin, democrat, New York, said that the delegates from "locals" along the Atlantic coast attended the meeting and were convinced that "various ill-advised and misguided informers have initiated a vicious propaganda to break down the drastic and wholesale provisions of the Volstead act." Declaring that the object of the bill to legalize beer have the "avowed object of encouraging the consumption of the so-called lighter drinks to the detriment of whiskey and other alcoholic beverages," the petition said that "undiscriminate and perhaps utterly destroy an independent industry which this union with its affiliated locals has painstakingly built up at great risk of an immense capital, not to speak of the risk of personal liberty, many of our members having incurred jail sentences and the confiscation of their personal property in the pursuit of their calling."

Death Wins in Final Battle with Dietz, Defender of Cameron Dam

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 9 (AP)—John Dietz, 63 years old, famous in Wisconsin as the "defender of Cameron Dam," died in a local hospital Thursday afternoon after a long illness. His wife, his three sons, Clarence, Leslie and John, and two daughters, Helen and Mrs. Myra Newman, were at his bedside.

One of the earliest settlers in the cut over regions of the north, Dietz, with his family, settled on a farm in Harrison county and then moved further north to Sawyer county, where beside the Thorapple river and Cameron dam, he staked his all to make a farm home. It was here Dietz came into conflict with the Chippewa Log Boom company. Dietz had land beside the river and below the dam. About the time his crops were in the ground, the time came for floating the logs down the river and the opening of the dam resulted in the flooding of part of the Dietz farm.

There were meetings and conferences between Dietz and the lumber company, but they could not agree upon a settlement and Dietz became a law unto himself. Then started the six-year battle—a bloody battle—which finally ended with Dietz, surrounded by a posse, surrendering after he had practically exhausted his supply of ammunition and after his home had been riddled with bullets.

Oscar Harp, deputy sheriff, was shot to death in the battle.

Dietz was tried for murder and found guilty. He was sentenced to serve the balance of his life in the state penitentiary but was liberated in May, 1921, on a pardon granted by Governor John Blaine.

LAND PURCHASE GIVEN APPROVAL

Coolidge Signs Smith Bill for Purchase of Indian Property; Cash Is Available.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (Special to The News)—President Coolidge late this afternoon signed the bill introduced in the house by Representative Addison T. Smith, authorizing the purchase of land from Fort Hall Indians for the reservoir site at American Falls.

Appropriations of $1,850,000 for the American Falls project, recently approved by congress, was made contingent upon acquisition of Fort Hall Indian lands that will be submerged upon completion of the American Falls reservoir.

Approval by President Coolidge of the bill authorizing purchase of these lands makes the federal appropriation available for the project as soon as the American Falls reservoir district and other purchases of storage water rights in this reservoir advance $1,600,000. The district's share in the undertaking was provided for by voting of $2,700,000 bond issue a year ago. These bonds, however, have not yet been offered for sale.

Directors of the district attended a meeting this week at American Falls at which valuations were placed upon lands in the reservoir site owned by white persons.

Westerners Protest Refusal to Allocate Reclamation Money

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Protest against the action of Director Lord of the budget in refusing to allocate funds to certain reclamation projects in Idaho, Washington, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Wyoming and Nebraska which have been approved by the interior department was lodged with President Coolidge today by a group of members of congress from the affected states headed by Senator Jones, republican, Washington.

The president promised to ask Director Lord to consider further the allocation of funds.

Newest Invention of Surgery Is Used in Operation on Child

Removal of Tumor by Radio Knife Held Successful, but Patient Forfeits Life.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 9 (AP)—The radio knife—science's newest invention for modern surgery—was used in one of the rarest operations in medical history Thursday afternoon before a group of surgeons attending the Illinois Medical society convention which ended its sessions in this city.

The operation, which failed to save the life of a child, was used to remove a tumor on an undeveloped twin, from the spine of a seven-month-old baby. It was performed by Dr. Nelson H. Lowery, Chicago.

The tumor had taken all the nourishment from the child and the surgeons present agreed that the baby would live but a short time without an operation. The specialists in attendance pronounced the operation successful but that the child, because of its weakened condition, failed to rally.

Rockwell Says 425 Delegates Pledged to Vote for McAdoo

Committee Chairman Claims Coolidge Has No Chance Against "Modern Jackson."

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP)—A total of 425 delegates favorable to the candidacy of William Gibbs McAdoo for the democratic presidential nomination was claimed tonight in a statement by David Lead Rockwell, chairman of the McAdoo-for-president committee on his return from a ten days' eastern trip.

He declared McAdoo has annexed a new strength of 158 delegates in the past ten days, adding that events of this period "have demonstrated with the utmost conclusiveness that William Gibbs McAdoo will be the nominee of the democratic party," and asserting that "pale replicas of Calvin Coolidge know that they have no chance from the people against this twentieth century prototype of Andrew Jackson."

O. S. L. SEEKS TO DISMISS CASE

Three Proposals for Shipment From Teton Mines Submitted at Utilities Hearing.

BOISE, May 9 (AP)—Three proposals, by accepting any one of which the Teton Coal company can ship coal from its mines in the Teton valley, were submitted to the company by the Oregon Short Line railroad company at the close of the hearing before the public utilities commission today. At the same time the railroad company filed a motion asking that the complaint of the coal company be dismissed on the ground that the public utilities commission has no jurisdiction. The complaint is seeking an order from the Idaho commission requiring the railroad company to repair the tracks leading to the mines and furnish transportation.

Coal company attorneys immediately asked for time in which to consider the proposals as they had not been advised of them before. J. F. Samuels, president of the company who made the complaint was not present at the afternoon session of the hearing.

The case will be submitted to the commission on briefs, the coal company having 15 days in which to file its document. The railroad company will file a reply brief five days later.

Senator Norbeck Refuses to be Moved From His Stand for Immediate Relief for Agricultural Districts.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Using a strategic parliamentary position as a whip, members of the senate farm bloc prevented a vote tonight upon the revenue bill because they had not obtained assurance that farm relief legislation would be given the right of way.

Early in this evening Senator Norbeck, republican, South Dakota, made an appeal for immediate farm relief action and declared that unless congress made way for farm legislation he would offer the McNary-Haugen bill as an amendment to the revenue bill.

He refused to budge from this position and turned a deaf ear even to friends of farm relief legislation. Both republicans and democrats advised against joining the two bills together, arguing that they would both be killed in that status by a presidential veto.

Senator Norbeck took the stand that time had come for action to help the farmers and unless the farm bloc was assured that some farm measure would be brought up for action, he would bring the McNary-Haugen bill to the attention of the senate by attaching it as a rider to the revenue bill.

Will Set Time.

After conferences in the cloak rooms both republican and democratic leaders agreed to meet until tomorrow when it is understood that the house rules committee has agreed to report a rule setting aside time for consideration by the house of some farm relief bill. If this rule is reported, Senator Norbeck said he would withhold his motion to combine the two measures in the senate.

Senator Norbeck said he was willing for the farm legislation to originate in the house but he wanted action certain before congress adjourned.

Oppose Bill

While the fight for the McNary-Haugen bill was in progress in the senate, four members of the house agricultural committee issued a minority report severely condemning the measure as unwarranted, declaring it would prove a calamity to the nation and a blow to agriculture.

The report further charged that once started, the act would have to be continued as a cessation would mean "stagnation of business giving rise to a panic." The report branded the bill as a price-fixing measure and of doubtful constitutionality.

The signers of the minority report were Representatives Clarke, New York, and Vaght, Wisconsin, republicans, and Aswell, Louisiana, and Kinchloe, Kentucky, democrats.

Poincare Indicates His Willingness to Discuss Settlement

Premier of France to Have Important Conference With MacDonald; Will Talk Experts' Report.

PARIS, May 9 (AP)—Premier Poincare's acceptance today of an invitation to go to Chequers Court May 20 to confer with Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain with regard to means to be employed for placing the reparation experts' recommendations into effect is regarded in official circles as being only a continuation of the personal talks between the allied premiers in preparation for a general allied conference when the ground has been carefully prepared.

M. Poincare, though averse to consideration of the reparation question in the supreme council, the disagreement at Cannes that preceded the downfall of the Briand ministry has indicated that he is willing to take part in such a conference when the allies have reached a general agreement through individual informal conversations. The method of procedure which has been adopted for these individual conferences includes first an exchange of views on the general aspects of the problems to be solved and when a general agreement as to the principal principle has been reached, the taking up of details.

BURNS RESIGNS FROM PLACE AS BUREAU CHIEF

Head of Investigation Department Follows in Footsteps of Daugherty; Resignation Is Effective at Once.

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Another long under attack in court by the press from the public stage today in the resignation of J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice.

After criticism leveled at the department since the resignation of J. Edgar Hoover, Mr. Burns' resignation was generally expected as certain to follow that of the former chief, although Attorney General Clegg said upon assuming office that he had accepted all of his assistants and department heads to remain at least until he acquainted himself with the duties.

Effective at Once—Mr. Burns submitted his resignation today and it was accepted effective immediately. Mr. Stone has no one in mind to succeed Mr. Burns at present and may give no formal notice to the "question" for another week. In the meantime the bureau will be under the direction of J. Edward Hoover, assistant director.

Mr. Burns declared he was leaving after having built up the bureau to a point where it was functioning with "more efficiency" than ever in its history.

He asserted he had accomplished a reorganization of the bureau which should easily be maintained as the greatest crime detecting and crime preventing agency in the world. The suggestion that Mr. Burns was quitting because of criticism directed at him when Attorney General Daugherty was under fire was laughed away by the chief who said he had twice asked Mr. Daugherty to relieve him and each time was requested to remain. His retirement now, he added, merely indicated that he had completed several important investigations he had undertaken and he felt that the condition of his health and his desire to quit public office were sufficient grounds upon which he might ask to be relieved. He has been in federal service almost a quarter of a century, much of which was spent with the secret service of the treasury.

FOREIGN TRADE NEEDED TO STABILIZE INDUSTRY IN U. S., BABSON SAYS

Finds Distinctly Better Feeling in Europe as Result of Dawes Report; Believes Financial Rehabilitation of Foreign Countries May Alter Entire Economic Structure.

BABSON PARK, Mass. May 9.—(Special to The News).—Roger W. Babson was today asked whether or not there has been any perceptible improvement in European conditions since the publication of the Dawes report.

"There is a distinctly better feeling in Europe today, better than has existed for four years," replied the statistician. "The Dawes committee certainly did a splendid piece of work and are entitled to the world's gratitude. The nations have not yet formally accepted the report and France or Germany may hold out for minor concessions, but with all the other nations behind it the prospects are for its acceptance without any important changes. The market trend of France's securities indicates very clearly that she will co-operate."

Big Loans Needed.—"The adoption of the Dawes report means that the United States will be called upon to loan large sums abroad and endorse to a certain extent Germany's obligations. This in itself is not a bull point. It is also to be recalled that the Dawes plan will set Europe up in business again and enable her to compete with us to a much greater extent than at present. We should not, therefore, spend all of our time helping Europe to get rehabilitated, only to leave our own manufacturers and wage workers to suffer from this very necessary commercial and economic readjustment."

Predicts Results.—The long waving results of the Dawes plan as Mr. Babson sees them will be somewhat as follows: "Imports into the United States will greatly increase and if we are not prepared for them our own mills and factories will be shut down correspondingly."

"To offset this we can increase our mass production to make up for one loss in specialty manufacturing. Let me make this point clear. "Manufacturing can be divided into two main groups, viz: (1) those articles where labor is the principal factor such as wearing apparel, household furnishings, toys, novelties, etc.; and (2) those articles where capital is the principal factor such as structural steel products, automobiles, agricultural implements, etc. When Europe gets settled again, we must expect to lose much of our 'labor goods' markets. South America will again get her specialties from Germany, France and England and we in the United States will likewise import very heavily of such specialties. We, however, should retain our markets for standard high capital cost products. The United States and Canada should retain control of the manufacture of such goods. We should not only supply our own needs but those of Europe, South America and China as well. We should be willing to lose some of our specialty business; but mass production we should push harder than ever and not yield on it one inch to any other nation."

Discusses Exclusion.—Mr. Babson was then asked if he thought the Japanese exclusion legislation which recently passed Congress will affect our foreign trade relations? To this he replied: "Not to any extent. Japan, a coming manufacturing nation cannot be considered as a permanent customer. Japan comes to us only when she is obliged to. China, on the other hand, as a source of raw materials and a tremendous market for manufactured goods, has great potential possibilities and a loss of good will would, from a purely economic point of view, be more serious. Incidentally let me add that this Japanese question is but another illustration of a definite trend of some weeks ago, that there is grave danger of serious conflicting interests developing between the Pacific coast states and the eastern states. This 'spread of interests' applies also to the Canadian Provinces. The eastern senators and congressmen voting for this bill seem to be thoroughly cognizant of this danger."

Defensive Laws.—"Unfortunately," concluded Mr. Babson, "all our recent legislation has been defensive rather than constructive. We raise the tariff on wheat to keep out the foreign product and do nothing to sell more goods abroad. We increase immigration restrictions to keep out labor and do nothing to in-

SIX CONVICTED MEN HANGED

Italians Meet Death on Gallows for Robbery Attempt Resulting in Murder.

AMITE, La. May 9 (AP)—Six men, who three years ago attempted to rob a bank resulting in the murder of a man, went to their deaths at the end of the hangman's noose today in the Tangipahoa parish jail.

They were executed in pairs, the aged, cowed hangman running from the improvised platform immediately after each pair had dropped the ten feet to eternity, only to return after their bodies had been cut down to prepare the nooses for the next.

The bodies of Andrea Lamatin, Joseph Giglio and Roy Leona will be shipped to Brooklyn, N. Y., Joseph Rini's body will be taken to Chicago by his father, Natale Deamore will find rest in the cemetery at his home in New Orleans, Joseph Borchio, the friendless boy who had a liking for literature and music and who wanted to be a priest, will escape the potter's grave through a welfare organization which will bring his remains to New Orleans. Three of them were 21 years old when the crime was committed. Four left widows and children. Two had served in the world war with the American forces.

Three were Italian nationals and all of Italian parentage. The Italian ambassador at Washington, pleaded in vain with Governor Parker for their lives.

The men were hanged upon the double gallows at 30 minute intervals with clocklike regularity, four dying calmly and the other two, one as a result of an attempt at suicide, and the other of nervous collapse, realized little of what was in progress. The executions began at noon.

WHEELER TAKES STAND IN PROBE OF INDICTMENT

Department of Justice Lays Evidence on Table; Letters and Telegrams Tell of Arrangements for Oil Permits.

WASHINGTON, May 9. (P)—Documentary evidence relied upon by the department of justice as the basis of the indictment returned by a Montana federal grand jury against Senator Burton K. Wheeler, democrat, of that state, was laid today before the senate committee investigating the circumstances of the indictment. Senator Wheeler after hearing correspondence alleged to have passed between himself and Gordon Campbell, Montana oil promoter, read into the record, took the stand in his own behalf and entered a vigorous denial to each of the implications laid down by the government.

Aside from the letters and telegrams in which Senator Wheeler was directly mentioned, was a copy of a letter dated May 5, 1923, purporting to be from Gordon Campbell, in which the promoter offered former solicitor E. B. Booth of the interior department, forty acres of land out of one permit and suggested that an interest in that acreage could be assigned to P. M. Goodwin, assistant secretary of the department if the permit could be granted. It developed that Mr. Booth had resigned as solicitor two days before the date of the letter, then entered the department of justice, but now was not with the department.

"If you arrange with Mr. Goodwin," the letter proceeded, "as we talked of in your office . . . arrangements can be made to take care of this and Mr. Goodwin."

Referring to a "big offer" well which had come in on the property, the letter said Mr. Booth would "see how very important it is we get our hooks on this half section," adding that "they 40 acres would make you and Mr. Goodwin more money than you otherwise would make in some time."

Booth, according to the copy of the letter, submitted, responded on stationery of the department of the interior under date of May 10, that "Mr. Goodwin is expected back in the course of a day or so," when he would present the Campbell permit matter to him.

In a statement issued at the interior department later in the day, Mr. Goodwin declared "neither Mr. Campbell or Mr. Booth took up with me the matter of the approval of any oil permits in Montana in which Mr. Campbell was interested." He added that the purported letter was "called to my attention for the first time yesterday."

Wheeler on Stand
Making his first appearance on the stand since the hearings opened, Senator Wheeler denied specifically that his employment by Campbell had constituted anything other than his appearance in the Montana litigation. In none of the conferences which led to his retention by the Campbell group, the Montana senator asserted, has the subject of permits been touched upon.

He reiterated this statement in answer to questions by Chairman B. B. Barah, republican, Idaho, and Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota, and Swanson, democrat, Virginia, members of the committee.

Senator Wheeler denied that he had any knowledge of a permit being issued to one "then" mentioned repeatedly in the correspondence.

GAME GOES TO CALDWELL BY SINGLE POINT

Twin Falls High School Baseball Team Loses Third Contest; Hits Feature; Garrity Knocks Homer.

BOISE, May 9 (AP)—Twin Falls high school baseball team dropped the third straight game of their tour of this section in a hard fought game at Caldwell this afternoon, 10 to 8, after Twin Falls had led a considerable part of the time. The final game of the tour will be played at Caldwell tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock.

Caldwell's victory was gained through work at the plate, the Canyon team making a total of 10 hits, while the visitors got but five. In the third frame Kim of Caldwell landed for a home run with two men on bases. Garrity of Twin poled a circuit clout in the seventh but the bases were empty. Caldwell piled up five runs in the third inning. The visitors set their first points in the fifth and in the first half of the seventh passed Caldwell, but lost the lead again in the last part of the period.

Twin Falls forged ahead in the eighth, but Caldwell added two points in the final frame, and edged out a victory.

In the field the southern team was superior, holding down to four errors, while Caldwell was charged with nine. L. Jarman, visiting shortstop, played a sensational game in the field.

JUNIOR TEAM BEATS JEROME

Snappy Baseball Seen in Contest on North Side Field; Double Plays Feature.

Snappy baseball predominated in the victory of the junior high club over the Jerome junior high team on the north side grounds Friday afternoon.

Double plays by the Twin Falls infield on three occasions were features of the game as was Fraxelle, Coach Anderson's pitching ace, hitting 1,005 and a streaked record of 10 men in five innings.

Twin Falls started the game off with five hits and four runs in the first inning and Gish of Twin Falls pulled the nearest play of the game in the last half of the inning when the cub twirler with one man out and Houston on second, completed a double play by tagging a hot drive by Peterson and throwing out the Jerome runner.

Houston and Ward pitched good ball for the first three innings but later the northlanders were at the mercy of the Twin Falls batsmen.

Gish pitched the first two innings for Twin Falls, featuring in the first by a double play and in the second by letting in three runs. Fraxelle relieved Gish for the next five innings. He was successful in shutting out the Jerome team. Sinclair finished the game in the box for Twin Falls allowing four runs in the two innings.

Other features of the game were Knight's three-base hit and doubles by Fraxelle, Garrity, Ward and Williams.

JOHNSON PUTS K. O. TO ROMERO

Furious Encounter Between Iowa Man and Chilean Ends in Seventh Round.

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—Floyd Johnson, Iowa heavyweight, knocked out Quentin Romero of Chile in the seventh round of a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. The knock-out blow came after one minute and 47 seconds of the round.

It was one of the most furious struggles of the season. The Chilean, blinded by blood that gushed from a cut over his left eye, groped around the ring on the final round in a plucky effort to remain on his feet while absorbing tremendous punishment inflicted by Johnson. The Iowa's attack beat Romero's face into a red, jelly mass.

Wild scenes followed the end of the bout. As referee Magnolia had apparently counted up to nine the bell sounded. Romero was on his knees, preparing to rise. Simultaneously with the bell the referee waived both men to their corners.

Newspaper men at the arena thought the Chilean had been saved by the bell and that he would come up for the next round. A report spread that a member of the state boxing commission had ordered the bout stopped and a technical knockout awarded to Johnson to save his rival from further punishment.

Confusion reigned in the building and centered at the ringside where a general fist fight started among protesting partisans at the timekeeper's table. The police finally subdued the ring-side mob and permitted the announcer to declare that the referee had completed the ten swings, that Johnson had registered a clean knockout and that the bell had been sounded in mistake.

GOODING LOSSES TO BUHL, 23-2

Errors Principal Feature in Contest; Victors Claim District Championship.

The Buhl high school baseball team defeated the Gooding one at Buhl Friday by a score of 23 to 2 in a game in which errors provided the principal part of the entertainment.

The Buhl batsmen started out in the first inning to demonstrate the art of running bases and tallied four runs as a beginner. They tried it again in the second frame and scored eight more.

Mullins and Hotjmanek held down the pitching end for the west-end team while Combs and Juble constituted the battery for Gooding. Friday's victory makes the seventh game won by Buhl out of eight games played, the Twin Falls team being the only one to score a victory over Buhl this season. It was stated at Buhl that the victors in Friday's contest consider themselves champions of this part of the state and that the winners of the Boise-Nampa game will be challenged.

Buhl's second team won from Castleford this week by a score of 21 to 2.

RATE SOUTHERN IDAHO ATHLETES TO TAKE HONORS

Present "Dope" Indicates Track Stars from Twin Falls and Nearby Towns Should Win Full Share of Awards

If the present "dope" which is given by the results of four of the district track meets of the state is authentic, south central Idaho will furnish a full quota of material which will go a long way toward setting new intercollegiate records this year, particularly in the high jump, mile run, high hurdles and low hurdles.

The results of five meets held last Saturday, one at Caldwell, one at Lewiston, one at St. Anthony, one at Coeur d'Alene, and one at Filer, furnish the basis for the following predictions.

In the sprints Long and Timm of the local district will hold undisputed sway with McCormick of Boise taking a close third in all three sprints with his fast time.

Records May Fall.
The broad and high jump records are bound to be severely strained this year when Mitchell of Parma with his jump of 5 feet 11 inches meets up with Sinderog of St. Anthony who is credited with a jump of more than 5 feet 8 inches, and Wolfe of Burley who is credited with being able to clear the bar at more than 5 feet 8 inches. The broad jump should be an interesting contest also, with Pagoga of Boise leading the entries on paper with a jump of 20 feet 2 inches; Timm of Twin Falls, ranking behind him with a jump of 20 feet; and Long of Rupert, Canine of Burley, Quinter of Boise, all doing better than 19 feet in preliminary meets.

Quinter, Boise's crack hurdler, will undoubtedly set a new mark in the high hurdles, as he has consistently run them in less than 17 seconds, the present state record. Wolfe of Burley, Stanger of Idaho Falls, Chandler of Pocatello, Mitchell of Parma and Kyle of Kootenai are still in the running with Mitchell ranking closest to the Boise star with a time nearly the same as Quinter's.

Hurdles to Be Close.
The low sticks will also be a battle between Canine and Quinter, according to results. Alvord of Twin Falls beat both of these performers last year and, judging from the remarkable improvement of the past week should set a new record in this event also. Canine set a new state record (officially) when he defeated the blue and white star at Filer in 23.5 seconds.

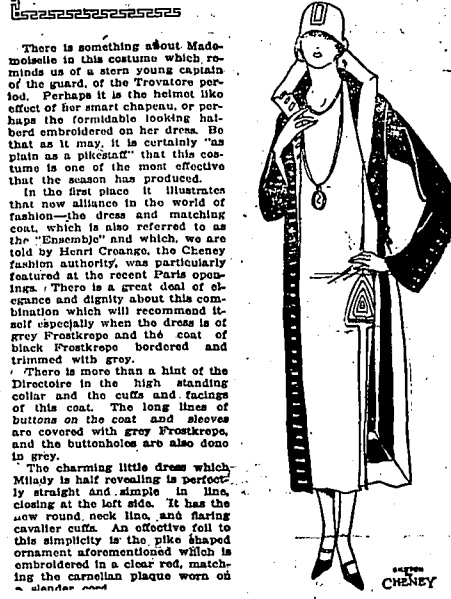

The half and quarter mile events will also be interesting with the Payette stellar runner, Brown, standing out as pre-eminent in these events. Stone and Hockaday, who featured last year, may have to take a second place to the Payette star, who has set marks of 52 seconds in the 440 and 2:08 in the half mile.

The mile should be easily taken by Cleaver of Caldwell, who took the state event last year. This year Cleaver runs the mile in 4:42, a new unofficial state record.

Timm Rated High.
In the field events, Timm, the blue and white meteor, Kerschlake, Burley's rosy-checked giant, and Smith of Jerome, are scheduled to make a clean sweep of honors in the weight events. Timm in the shot-put is with Kerschlake above the best marks of Pagoga, who ranks a near third with a mark of better than 41 feet. Kerschlake will be able to find no worthy competitor in the discus event when he tosses the plate out 111 feet, for the next best bet is Parkinson of Blackfoot.

CARRYING CONCEALED WEAPONS BECOMES FASHIONABLE

There is something about Madeiros in this costume which reminds one of a stern young captain of the guard, of the Trovatore period. Perhaps it is the helmet like effect of her smart chapeau, or perhaps the formidable looking, half-bord embroidered on her dress. Be that as it may, it is certainly "as plain as a pikestaff" that this costume is one of the most effective that the season has produced.

In the first place it illustrates that new alliance in the world of fashion—the dress and the military coat, which is also referred to as the "Ensemble" and which we are told by Henri Croange, the Cheney fashion authority, was particularly featured at the recent Paris openings. There is a great deal of elegance and dignity about this combination which will recommend itself especially when the dress is of grey Frostkrepe and the coat of black Frostkrepe bordered and trimmed with grey.

There is more than a hint of the Directorate in the high standing collar and the cuffs and facings of this coat. The long lines of buttons on the coat and sleeves are covered with grey Frostkrepe, and the buttonholes are also done in grey.

The charming little dress which Milady is half revealing is perfectly straight and simple in line, closed at the left side. It has the low round neck line, and flaring cavalier cuffs. An effective foil to this simplicity is the pike shaped ornament adorning the bodice, embroidered in a clear red, matching the carmine plaque worn on a slender neck.

foot, with a mark of 104 feet, which Timm of Twin Falls is capable of bettering. McCall of Caldwell is good for more than 100 feet. Smith, Jerome, who tosses the javelin, has no need to fear for his record of 158 feet, although Wallie of Nampa is a close competitor with throws of 152 feet. Keough of Kootenai is a good third in this event with a mark of 140 feet.

The relay should be a real battle when Boise and Rupert meet with the Rupert team having a slight advantage (on paper) over their capital city rivals.

Tied Score Possible.
The following summary of a mythical track meet between the schools of Kootenai, Parma, Boise, Caldwell, Nampa, Rupert, Burley, Twin Falls, Wendell, Jerome, Pocatello, Idaho Falls, Blackfoot, St. Anthony, Lewiston and other towns of the state seems to indicate that a tied score between Twin Falls, Boise, Rupert and Burley might very well be the result. The records given have been made in meets and the places indicated accordingly.

50-yard dash—First, Timm, Twin Falls; second, Long, Rupert; third, McCormick, Boise; fourth, Idaho Falls. Time, 5:02 and 5:03.

100-yard dash—First, Timm, Twin Falls; second, Long, Rupert; third, McCormick, Boise; fourth, Goodwin, Kootenai. Time: 10 flat. All of the sprinters are credited with better than 10.45 seconds.

220-yard dash—First, Long, Rupert; 23.15; McCormick, Boise, 23.25; Timm, Twin Falls, 23.45; Haeufert, Genesee, 24.15.

440-yard dash—First, Brown, Payette, 32 seconds; Stone, Rupert, 55.45; Haeufert, Blackfoot, 56.15; Black, Lewiston, 56.25.

880-yard run—First, Brown, Payette, 2:08; Hockaday, Rupert, 2:08.45; Hjerft, Kootenai, 2:10.45.

Mile run—Caldwell, 4:42; Hjerft, Kootenai, 4:50; Griffith, Burley, 5:02.

120-yard high hurdles—Quinter and Mitchell of Boise and Parma tied for first with 16.4-5 seconds; third tied between Wolfe, Burley, Stanger, Idaho Falls, and Kyle, Kootenai, at 18 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Canine, Burley, 26.3-5; Quinter, Boise, 26.4-5; Alvord, Twin Falls is also reported to be equal to these marks, having beaten both runners last year.

Broad jump: Pagoga, Boise, 20 feet; 2 inches; Timm, Twin Falls, 20 feet; Quinter, Boise, Long, Rupert, Canine, Burley and Ritchie, Pocatello tied for third.

High jump—Mitchell, Parma, 5 feet 11 inches; Simlerly, St. Anthony, 5 feet 8 inches; Wolfe, Burley, 5 feet 7 inches.

Pole vault—Pagoga, Boise, 10 feet 6 inches; Blinckhorn, Wendell, 10 feet 2 inches; Stoddard, St. Anthony, 10 feet.

Shot put—Timm, Twin Falls, 43 feet; 5 inches; Kerschlake, Burley, 42 feet; Pagoga, Boise, 41 feet, 7 inches.

Javelin throw—Kerschlake, Burley, 141 feet 2 inches; Parkinson, Blackfoot, 104 feet; Timm, Twin Falls, 105 feet.

Javelin throw—Smith, Jerome, 158 feet; Wallie, Nampa, 152 feet, 3 inches; Keough, Kootenai, 140 feet 11.3-4 inches.

The half mile relay—Rupert, first, 1:39 1-5; Boise second, 1:39 1-5; Lewiston third, 1:42 1-5.

With such an outlay Rupert, Burley, Twin Falls and Boise are apparently evenly matched and with the usual inconsistencies it is safe to judge that Twin Falls will carry off a fair share of the honors.

STIRLING BEATS CONLEY.
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 9 (AP)—Young Stirling, Georgia light heavyweight, won the newspaper decision over Billy Conley of Spokane in a 12-round bout here last night. Stirling went down for a minute of four in the first round, but after that he punched Conley at will.

STRONG WINDS AHEAD AS U. S. FLIERS LEAVE

Aviators in Globe-Circling Tour
Hop Off on 500-Mile Trip; No
Word Yet Received As to Missing Leader.

BREMERSTON, Wash., May 9 (AP).—Three United States army planes, flying around the world, left Alaska Island at 10:10 this morning for Attu Island, 530 miles to the southwestward, according to a radio dispatch received at the Puget Sound navy yard here.

The flight is expected to take between seven and eleven hours, the aviators anticipating encountering headwinds the entire distance, as the prevailing winds are from the west. Meanwhile no word was received here today concerning Major Frederick L. Martin, missing commander of the expedition, although the Puget Sound station was in communication with the navy radio station at Cordova, Alaska, which is in daily touch with all the north Pacific airmen and which reaches to Asia via a station on St. Paul Island in the Bering Sea.

Japan Next Stop
Attu Island, the next stop of the fliers, is the westernmost island of the Aleutians and is one of the five groups of the Aleutians, called the "New Islands." From Attu the fliers jump to Paramushiro Island, Japan, 878 miles away.

The hop off from Alaska ended a period of complete relaxation in which the three pilots, Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith, acting commander; Erik Nelson and Leigh Wade and their mechanics had indulged since their arrival. The sheltered bays and low lying hills of the island had proved a playground for the six men remaining of the eight who left Santa Monica, Cal., March 17, to encircle the earth in four airplanes. The fliers made their headquarters in the village of Nazan at the southwestern corner of the island, a settlement consisting of mud hut dwellings in which the population of natives, half breeds and a white stockkeeper lives.

Dine on Chicken
Roast chicken, prepared by Lieutenant Smith, who has been chief of the party, was the flier's chief article of diet on the island. The aviators preferred their own choice, preferring to make such living conditions as they could themselves, rather than accept the more or less primitive fare at hand. The coast guard cutter Albatross, which was assigned with the fliers to the island, had a Dutch ketch on board, the last of which was a station on the route to Japan but which was diverted to search for Major Martin in the Pacific ocean south of the Alaska peninsula and in the Bering sea north of the peninsula, has been recently missed.

The hope was still held out here that the Albatross might be able to take her station on the coast by the time that the jump from Attu Island to Paramushiro Island is made.

The sophomore won the girls' interclass track meet at Lincoln field Friday afternoon with a score of 36 to the juniors' 5. The more active seniors were left without a score by their younger sisters.

Miss Bernice Haines, with first place in the 100 and 200 yard dashes and second in the 100 yard low hurdle race, was the high point winner of the meet with 13 marks.

Comparatively few events were scheduled for the meet which was attended by a representative group of students and while the girls' efforts provoked a sense of honor in the boys present it nevertheless indicated ability.

Miss Stanciloff, girls' coach, was in charge of the meet. A summary of the events follows: 50 yard dash: first, Laverne Carlson, sophomore; second, Bernice Selck, sophomore; third, Marion Johnson, junior. Time 7 seconds.

100 yard low hurdles: first, Laverne Carlson; second, Helen Perrine, sophomore; third, Susan Bhickburn, junior. Time 14 seconds.

100 yard low hurdles: first, Laverne Carlson; second, Bernice Haines; third, Bernice Selck, sophomore. Time 37 3-5 seconds. Quarter mile relay won by the sophomore team in 1 minute 8 seconds.

Cost of Brick Is Small Part of Building Expense

Analysis of the cost of buildings shows that frequently brick itself represents only 8.3 per cent of the total expense

When overhead, profits and engineer fees are included, and 11.25 per cent when only materials and labor are used as the basis for figuring. These percentages will vary in different localities but, according to a large appraisal company, they represent a typical cost. Under modern conditions, the labor bill approximates 27.5 per cent of the total expense when work and materials only are figured, millwork 13.2 per cent, and lumber 20.5 per cent. When the value of the furniture or the brick is added to other costs, the expense of the brick in the "all brick" structure is negligible.

Flaming Oil Gusher at Sea Turns Night into Day

Passengers and crews of boats running between the island of Trinidad and the coast of Venezuela, in the Gulf of Paria, report having seen the surface of the water illuminated for a great distance by a blaring column of gas and oil. It is explained by scientists that the Orinoco river empties into the Gulf of Paria, and that this part of the coast is subject to earthquakes. A shock and also underlain with oil. A fissure developed in bedrock on the floor of the Gulf will extend to an oil reservoir. The pressure is so great that the oil and gas, forcing their way upward and pushing along everything in their way, cause an island of silt to suddenly appear on the surface. Continued pressure beneath the floating silt eventually causes it to burst like a bubble and free the accumulated oil and gas beneath, which immediately ignites and burns until the supply is exhausted, usually in from four days to a week. The gas has a rubbery consistency and has been developed by friction between it and the salt water is sufficient to ignite it.

Preserving Fish Lines
Salt casting lines are often allowed to lie around in the tackle box on a shelf and are thus exposed to all changes of temperature and humidity. The result of such exposure is that the lines become weakened and cannot be relied upon when needed to pull in a heavy fish, as they usually break just at the critical moment. The lines should therefore be protected against effects of temperature and humidity. A good method of doing this is to wind each line on a spool and keep the spools in a tightly corked bottle. Lines have been kept in good condition in this way for 3 years. Straight olive bottles, or similar ones with the neck and body of the same diameter, are excellent to use for this purpose. The bottle is first corked and the tin cap then screwed on, with a piece of waxed paper under it.

"Roller Skates" Fit on Sled for All-Year Coast

Detachable rubber-tired wheels, like those on the latest type of roller skates, that can be fitted in a few moments into the runners of a "coaster," convert the sled into a smooth and silent running wagon for seasons when there is no snow. Steering is done by a convenient front rod which simultaneously turns the forward and rear runners. Sharp corners can be managed in this way, the danger of "skidding" on steep hills is lessened.

and the sled is more easily controlled at high speeds. Springs and strong strips of steel are used in the rear and it is adjusted so that it cannot get "stuck." The sled weighs only fourteen pounds and is strongly built.

NORMA TALMADGE IS BETTER TO ARABIAN
Norma Talmadge has stolen a march on the makers of sheik photoplays by introducing the Outlaw and dancing girl to Hollywood.

And those who have seen the fiery scenes between Joseph Sheiklikraut in his Arabian role, and Norma Talmadge as the Outlaw, dancing girl at the Orpheum theater in "The Song of Love" predict that the sheik will go down to ignominious oblivion when both feminine and masculine theater patrons see Norma in the dances of the mysterious Orient.

When Norma made her first appearance as an Outlaw dancer at the United States, there was such a demand to see her in her dancing costume that the director, Chester Franklin, was forced to put on three sets of "flats" to keep out visiting actors and actresses.

But they got in somehow and looked through the angles of the canvas screens, climbed upon parallels, craned around corners and peered through knot holes just the same.

ORDERS WATER FOR CALDWELL

Judge Lee Directs Salmon River Canal Company to Deliver Supply to Excluded Tract.

Order requiring the Salmon River Canal company to deliver to A. E. Caldwell water for irrigation of 13 acres out of a tract of 70 acres for which Caldwell sought water delivery, was issued by Judge T. Bailey Lee in district court here Friday at the conclusion of a hearing in an action instituted by Caldwell against the canal company.

Purpose of the canal company to appeal from the order of the court in this case to the supreme court was indicated.

The tract in controversy was eliminated from the patented area of the Salmon River project in accordance with the celebrated Whittin cut on the grounds that it was non-irrigable because of roughness and inaccessibility. Remainder of the farm from which this tract was eliminated was retained in the patented area.

Witnesses for the canal company at the hearing Friday were W. C. Whittin of Caldwell, author of the Whittin cut, and W. C. Wells of Salt Lake, representative of the department of the interior.

Testimony in behalf of Caldwell's claim was given by Mr. Caldwell and J. E. Pohlman.

Plaintiff Caldwell was represented by Attorney O. C. Hall, the canal company being represented by its attorney J. R. Rothwell.

EASTERN REPRESENTATIVES.

Abraham Lincoln wrote, "All that I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother."—but he did not write it until after her death.

Similarly, sentiment of the most ennobling kind is to be found in profession wherever literature and oratory hold sway, but, up to quite recently, the writers and the speechmakers have always waited until the objects of their affections have been called to another sphere of usefulness.

Mother's Day would in part correct this. Mother's Day is designed with the object of offering to Mothers and to Motherhood a tribute of sincere affection while the former are still on earth to enjoy it.

It is a great improvement over the old plan.

No living man but whose thoughts turn at times in holy fervor to his Mother. No character so base but what contains some glimmering shred of Godlike gentleness for the woman who love him. In all the ages Mother love has been a sacred thing, and always will be.

Sunday is Mother's Day. Its duties are not exacting. Mother's Day is set aside as an occasion upon which we will honor our Mothers, our Mothers' memory, or some other Mother to whom honor is due but whose sons are perhaps not here to pay it.

Let's not put it off—another year may be too late.

GERMAN MADNESS.

It is always hard to befriend Germany in any fundamental matter. At the critical moment, the German government and public usually act in such a way as to make friendly service impossible. The World War and the events following it proved that over and over again.

Now, when America once more is in position, to render a rare service to Germany, through the Dawes repatriation plan, submitted by an American and upheld by American opinion and prestige, and when it is essential for Germany's own welfare to come to friendly agreement with the Allies, Germany has started a new campaign of hate.

It looks as if Germany is going to defy France just when France has been on the point of modifying her severity and yielding to a fair and tolerant solution of the reparation problem. The outburst seems staged deliberately by German leaders and is welcomed by the German populace. The Germans are chanting hate and revenge as they did during the war.

This is mere madness. When it comes to hatred and revenge, the French can do as well as the Germans; and what is more, they can make their hatred effective, as the Germans can not do. France has it in her power to destroy Germany. Given efficient prevention, France may do that, even though she destroys herself at the same time.

This may be Germany's last chance to "come back" by accepting terms which the world will regard as reasonable and even generous. The world lately has severely criticized France, on account of Poincaré's "blood and iron" policy, when conciliation was more desirable. But the Germans should understand that a world which can not condone sword-rattling from injured France is far less inclined to endure any more "Deutschland Ueber Alles" stuff from Germany, in lieu of repentance and reparation.

ON THE RIVER BANK

By DADDY

CHAPTER VI.

Mud, Soap.

"HAI HAI HAI!" laughed Jack and Janet as Blinky Sam kicked Mr. Trump into the river. "Now you will have to take a bath, Mr. Trump."

Mr. Trump got to his feet and started to wade toward shore. "I'll not take a bath," he spluttered, "but I'll throw you into the river for letting that mule kick me."

"Hee-haw! Hee-haw!" brayed Blinky Sam, kicking up his heels. "This is fun. Come out so I can kick you into the river again."

Mr. Trump saw those frisking heels. He had felt them once; he did not care to feel them again. He stopped short. "I'll not throw you into the river," he cried. "I'll come back here day when that old kicking mule isn't around."

Mr. Trump turned and waded toward the opposite shore. The river wasn't very deep at that point, not being above his waist. Jack and Janet were not sorry to see him go, but they wished he would take a bath while he was in the river. Just then Daddy Dog appeared on the bank toward which Mr. Trump was headed.

"Stop him, Daddy Dog!" cried Jack. "Don't let him out of the river until he takes a bath."

"Wood!" warned Daddy Dog. Mr. Trump stopped and looked at him. "Wood?" said Daddy Dog again, and he showed his teeth. Mr. Trump retreated toward the center of the river. "I'll not take a bath," he insisted stubbornly. "I'll stay here until you come home, but I'll not take a bath."

But now Jack and Janet were determined that he should take a bath. He needed one very badly. Besides that, they wanted to pay him for greedily taking all their fish. But how could they make him take a bath when he would not put water on his hands or face.

Then Jack began to chuckle. "I know how to make him take a bath," gurgled Jack. "I'll give him some mud soap and then he will have to take a bath to get it out of his eyes."

Janet wondered what Jack meant by "mud soap."

The white pines of Europe are almost extinct, and the white pines of America are doomed to follow them if care is not taken.

It is unnecessary to say what a calamity this would be, from the standpoint of either utility or beauty. Every American who ever uses the wonderfully adaptable wood of the white pine, in any of its thousand forms, every person who owns a white pine grove in the country, every city householder who has a specimen or two of this noble tree in the yard, every person who ever rests his tired eyes by gazing from hot pavement to green boughs and inhales fragrance reminiscent of far woods, must want the pines saved.

Yet after year after year, the white pine bluster rust spreads and enlarges its devastation. And most people let it keep right on spreading, in spite of the fact that the pest is easily checked.

All that is necessary is to eliminate currant and gooseberry bushes, tame or wild, in the vicinity of the pine trees. The deadly bluster rust does not travel directly from tree to tree, but jumps from a tree to a currant or gooseberry bush, and then, the next year, back to a pine tree, and so on in regular alternation. Break the chain, and the wind-blown spores sink down harmlessly and the disease dies out.

THE GERMAN-AMERICAN DEBT

It was the policy of the last administration to hold all German property seized in this country during the war as security for the German indebtedness to our government and citizens growing out of the war. Now by the reported decision of President Coolidge, this becomes also the policy of the present administration.

Mr. Trump at a safe distance.

"Mud soap." She quickly found out. Jack ran to a mud hole at the edge of the river and picked up a handful of mud. He aimed the mud at Mr. Trump. The tramp tried to dodge but he did not dodge quickly enough. Ker-splash! The mud splashed all over one side of his face.

"Hey, you quit!" yelled Mr. Trump. But Jack was already hurling another handful of mud. Ker-splash! As the tramp dodged the mud splattered over the other side of his face. Jack was a good thrower. Handful after handful of mud he hurled at the tramp. He covered the fellow's face, he filled his eyes and his mouth. The tramp was blinded.

In order to see he had to splash water over his face to wash the mud away. And when he washed the mud the dirt underneath came, too. Now Janet understood what Jack meant by "mud soap."

Jack kept on throwing mud, and the tramp kept on washing it off until he was clean. Then Jack washed his own hands and climbed up on the bank.

"Goodbye, Mr. Trump!" called Jack. I told you I would make you take a bath. Now that you have got used to water I hope you will wash yourself every day."

With that Jack and Janet ran away laughing, leaving Blinky Sam and Daddy Dog to guard Mr. Trump until he would wash himself.

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonial Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My wife is impossible to walk with while she's carrying an umbrella. You see, she won't let me carry it for her. Nothing like that. She insists that I always hold it over myself and give her the full benefit of the rain.

And so she takes it in hand herself and expects me to crowd under it with her. Then she starts in by hitting my hat and knocking it down over my eyes, and follows this with a savage dig at the back of my head. She doesn't realize how much damage a person can do with a set of umbrella spikes.

All this time I walk along beside her hunched up like a gnat in a tent that's two sizes too small for it.

After I've stood this as long as I can the only thing left to do is to step a few paces to the rear, on a fringe of the umbrella, and pretend I'm walking alone and don't mind the rain.

Any port in a storm—but not the same umbrella with Mrs. McKay!

Tomorrow: "My husband is a dish destroyer."

the responsibility of Germany for the reparation. As matters stand, the German government, which owes our government and citizens about one billion dollars, in damage claims, has not yet shown any disposition to pay the debt, although the United States has voluntarily waived all claim to a war indemnity. In the circumstances, it would be poor business to surrender the German property now in our government's hands, which at best will hardly take care of half the German-American debt.

"Most important you see me now—Joe."

"In Joe wearing any guns besides his derringers?" whispered Dinadale in Salsora's ear. For he was wondering if Kitty the Schmeer had succeeded in compelling her lover to prove his love by gun-play.

"Oh, no! Don't even know he's got his derringers. I've been hunting for you quite a while. He got tired and came with me. He's outside here, stowing and fretting. Wish you'd come; he'll blame me if you don't."

Throwing a bag of dust on the bar to clean up the score, Dinadale followed Salsora to the street. San Juan Joe was standing by the side of the building.

"What's the trouble? You've broken up my party," said Dinadale.

"I'm trying to do you a good turn," growled the gambler.

"Hold on! Don't tell me you've come to warm me against Blinky Allen!"

"Allen? Are you crazy or drunk? I've got something that's more important than fool talk. We must go where we can be alone. My place is the best. We'll enter by the back door."

"Can't it wait?" asked Dinadale, gazing across at the hotel.

"I don't think so when I quit my tables and go to a private game. The game, really. 'Hear my talk, then do as you please. It's your game, not mine.'"

They walked up the street in silence and gained San Juan's room unseen except by some of the kitchen help who were bustling about and gazed forward the cigars and sinking into a chair peevishly complained:

"Why in—did you have to have another run-in with Kitty?"

"I haven't. I ran away. She held me up. She's mad because I won't fall in love with her so she can break my heart."

"She's red-hot against you. I've just come from there. She swears you'll swing. When a woman talks that way the man usually gets hurt, or finds the woman is in love with him and decides he's in love with her. Your case is a matter of losing either way; for I'll do my best to kill the man who makes up to Kitty and wins."

"Don't all you guns for me? Deal me out. She doesn't interest me. She annoys me," growled Dinadale. "I thought you brought me here to hear a talk."

"I have. Kitty and her ravings happened to be on my mind. And I'm reckoning you'll need a heap of friends. I've just received by night stage a line from an old friend in Cheyenne. He says he's got you over sleep. I sent Salsora out to find you, and the fool stopped to sell his pictures in every place he entered. Then I had to go along with him to see he did his errand. Look at that!"

And he passed over a piece of paper containing one line in writing. With contented growl Dinadale read: "Jim Omaha making your way—Cheyenne."

For once San Juan had the satisfaction of seeing Dinadale win. It was a facial betwixt and lasted only a second. As he carefully smoothed the paper and refolded it and handed it back his features were expressionless. He simply said:

"I'm glad you sent for me."

"Omaha's never been up here. He works only on railroad cases," whispered San Juan. "It may be the Ogallala."

With a twist of the thin lips which was meant for a smile Dinadale said: "I easily could be that—if he's still working for the railroad. Who's Cheyenne?"

"Just a friend. He signs his messages that way. He knows I'm busy."

knowing how many others." "Mayor Farnam doesn't feel just like a brother to me. And don't forget Blinky Allen!" "I wish you wouldn't try to be funny when things may be very serious," protested the gambler. "But I'm not joking. Why, I've received a dozen warnings today against Blinky Allen!" "His French Curry trying to be cunning. I'll dress him for that!" "Then there's for the mayor; tried to order me out of town this morning," added Dinadale.

"Well, you have made a mess of it. Take the mayor's advice and get out for a few days anyway. Make that prospecting trip with Iron Pyrites. Start in the morning. Be in Rapid City this day week, or send Pyrites in. I'll have a tail waiting for you at Calvin's eating house."

"I don't fancy running away just because this Omaha is said to be coming here."

"Prospecting, not running. You know better than I whether it means a running should be recognize you."

"When it comes to gun-play—boldly began Dinadale.

"Discard! Discard! Snapped San Juan. "I'll meet Pyrites for your confidence. But I met Pyrites right after getting the message, and I told him I wouldn't stake him and that you probably would. If you say the word he'll call for you early in the morning. He'll have your outfit ready. All you'll have to do is to take your guns and stay out till you get my word at Rapid City a week from today."

But Dinadale grew more defiant, and suddenly insisted:

"I ain't afraid of Jim Omaha. He either doesn't know me, or else he does. If he does know me—well, he isn't called the 'bloodhound' for nothing. And I might as well have it out here as to have him chasing me over into Montana."

"I was looking further ahead than that," said the gambler. "If he comes and goes, and the count remains clear, you can return and sit in a game that'll make your everlasting pile. It'll make the Ogallala job look like a little limit game. It'll be as quick as it is big."

With scowling brows Dinadale declared:

"I don't know anything about the Ogallala job. Let Omaha come and try to suit it on me. He'll have his hands full to make it stick. Nothing at all to hook me up to that business."

San Juan Joe smiled cynically and softly reminded him:

"Nothing at all except the talk about you being the 'greenback man.' But undoubtedly you could explain when and where you got hold of so much paper money—new money, at that."

Dinadale's face lengthened; then growled, as he muttered:

"I'll be up to him and the Union Pacific to show down, not me. Maybe I won't it gambling."

"All right, Dinadale. I've done my best for you, but a man must play his own hand."

San Juan Joe said at the determined face admirably.

"Yes, Dinadale, you're outfitted with nerve. I'm no tenderfoot, but when it comes to Jim Omaha and he has reason to think he wants me—excuse me—there's more than a gun run away from him or tried to, and then I'll make about him—some of them have. Others have just dropped out of sight and they didn't go into hiding. Then this prospecting trip with Pyrites is off, eh?"

"I won't say it's off," was the slow answer. "Maybe after this Omaha blows in and I have had a chance to size him up, so I can know him on sight the next time we meet, I'll go away with Pyrites for a bit. Maybe then I'd be come to come back and dip into the big game you're raising about."

REDUCTION IN OFFICIALS' PAY CREATES STIR

County Commissioners Come in for Criticism as Result of Action; Inconsistency in Attitude is Charged.

Disapproval of the action Thursday of Twin Falls county commissioners in slashing from 10 to 50 per cent from the salaries of eight county officials for the two-year term beginning next January, was voiced pretty generally Friday among political leaders of both parties, county officials and possible candidates for county office at the coming elections. Opinions on the part of citizens generally seemed to be divided as to the desirability of the action.

Members of the board announced that salary reduction amounting to $1800 annually had been determined upon as a means of relieving the situation of taxpayers and especially of farmers.

Another Motive Seen.

Among political observers, this statement is accepted at face value, but they deplore, there is another consideration that seems likely to have entered into the board's deliberations. Tending to the salary cuts, it is recalled that effort was made following the election of the present board of county commissioners last November to advance Twin Falls county from second to first class rating which would automatically have increased commissioners' annual salaries from $900 to $1500 each, in accordance with state law. Twin Falls county had been reduced to second class rating two years before the election of the present board.

Indication is seen that the commissioners took the position that since commissioners' salaries are fixed on second class county's rating, salaries of other county officials should be reduced to a similar scale.

Charges Inconsistency

One of the critics of the commissioners' action pointed out Friday apparent inconsistency in the board's position with respect to salaries reduction. Salaries of officials appointed by the commissioners have not been reduced, this critic stated, but have been increased. In support of this statement he referred to the commissioners' records showing that the secretary of the county fair board since March has been paid $200 a month salary as against a monthly salary of $100 for preceding months and that the commissioners on November 8 last, raised the salary of the superintendent of the county general hospital from $1800 to $2000 a year, in accordance with an agreement entered into by their predecessors in office. The records show that Commissioner O. K. Carlson seconded the motion which was offered by Commissioner T. D. Connor authorizing this increase, but that he voted against the motion with the explanation that he considered the hospital superintendent already the best paid employee on the county's payroll.

Board Invites Protest

Whether C. C. Higgins, clerk of the district court auditor and recorder, would make formal protest before the commissioners today against the order reducing his annual salary from $2000 to $1800 a year, had not been determined Friday evening. Mr. Higgins protested to the commissioners Thursday that they could not legally reduce his salary during the four-year term of office to which he was elected in 1922. Members of the board stated that they would seek legal advice on the question and invited him to make a formal protest today when the board might reconsider its action in this regard.

Mobilization Call for Cattle Issued

Twin Falls Cows to be Assembled at Designated Locations For Tuberculin Tests.

Call to owners of cows in Twin Falls to assemble their animals at designated places, by 8 o'clock Monday morning for tuberculin tests was issued Friday by R. E. Brossard, county agricultural agent, in behalf of federal and state veterinarians co-operating in a county-wide "area drive" for eradication of tuberculosis in cattle.

Mobilization of Twin Falls cows in this manner has been determined upon as a means of facilitating the testing work in this city. Every dairy and beef animal in the county will have been subjected to the test when the county-wide drive is completed, veterinarians in charge declare.

In the course of the drive thus far in this county only a small percentage of animals have been found to be afflicted with tuberculosis. Animals which react of the test are destroyed and compensation is paid to the owner by federal and state governments.

The points at which cows are to be assembled Monday morning for tests are: Washington and Main; Jackson and Shoup; Addison and Blue Lakes; South Park, near grocery; Main and Blue Lakes.
