FOREST FIRE BREAKS OUT OF CONTROL

Montana Blaze Rages Over 9-Mile Front; Thousands of Acres Threatened and Farmers Leave Homes for Safety.

MISSOULA, Mont., May 17 (AP)—Burning over a nine mile front, a fire broke out southwest of Whitefish, more than a week ago, broke all control lines Friday afternoon, burned several stands of farm buildings and Whitefish temporarily in darkness by burning the power line and today was menacing valuable stands of timber, according to a special report received from Kalispell tonight.

The fire, which is burning on private land, is being whipped forward by a high northwest wind. So far it has been kept largely to cutover land, but it will reach mature timber soon if not checked. The area covered by the fire, which extends for a distance of three miles between Blackfoot and Whitefish river, so far has covered more than 2000 acres, according to the report.

Move to Safety.

This blaze, which is now out of control of the fire fighters, has menaced the adjacent areas to the extent that ranchers have been compelled to abandon their homes and move their families to safety. Unless the winds die down it is expected that the blaze will spread to even more serious proportions.

The use of power pumps in fighting the fire are being resorted to for the first time on the Kootenai and Blackfoot forests, where the flames are making alarming headway in the face of high winds. At several points the fire has broken the bounds under which they were being held by the fire fighters.

At Olney 1500 feet of hose was used with a power pump as a last resort when all other means of stopping the blaze had proved futile. It is reported that good success greeted the use of water.

Several acres have been reported near Missoula, one of 20 acres on Quartz creek, Lolo forest, and two on Whiskey in the Hell Gate canyon east of Bonner.

Conditions in the Blackfoot and Kootenai forests are reported as extremely critical because of unfavorable weather conditions and the new fire which broke out Friday. On the Kootenai, areas where the flames have caused as much damage, control lines are slowly but surely being established. Fires on the Cabinet and Pend d'Oreille forests west of here are believed to be under control.

Minority Demands Independence for the Philippines

Insular Committee Members File Report Opposing Fairfield Bill; Claim Stable Government Reigning.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Declaring a stable government is reigning in the Philippine islands and that the Philippines are entitled to self-government, a minority of the insular committee filed today with the house a report asking that the independence bill providing for independence in 20 years.

The provisions of the Fairfield bill are ill-considered and render it but a camouflage for an independence bill, the report declares. Sooner than support it, the minority said, they would approve unchanged relations between the United States and the islands. The statements of Presidents Roosevelt and Hughes were quoted to show that the Philippines are entitled to independence.

The report expressed no fear for the islands because of a Japanese advance, saying that "no country would want to subject itself to the reasonable and just condemnation of our great republic." It strongly condemned the claim that the Philippines should be retained by the United States for strategic reasons in a possible war against Japan.

EXPRESS HEARINGS END.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Final hearings on proposed revisions of railroad express rates throughout the country were completed today in the commerce commission and a committee of the National Association of Railway Utilities Commissioners. The Railways and Utilities Association made up of members of the various state railroad commissions.

Charge use of Mails in Connection with Operations of Co-operative Loan Plan.

DENVER, Colo., May 17 (AP)—Eight Denver men and one from Kansas City, all officers and ex-officers of the Bankers Reserve Deposit company, were indicted yesterday by the United States district grand jury at Pueblo, according to announcement today of Granby Miller, United States district attorney.

They are J. J. Connor, J. A. Meyer, J. Luther Wyatt, Howard L. Williams, H. Wayne Russell, Frederick McCoy, Mortimer Bowen and C. H. Arner, all of Denver, and W. W. Smith of Kansas City. The indictments charge use of mails in connection with a scheme, to defraud in connection with the operation of the "co-operative loan plan."

PROSPECTS FOR WATER IMPROVE

Snake Rising in Consequence of Inpouring of Run-Off; 90 Per Cent Delivery Indicated.

Water delivery through the Twin Falls canal system fell Saturday to 70 per cent of normal for this season, according to John Irwin, watermaster. Indications Saturday evening were reported to be more favorable than for several days for increased water delivery in the immediate future. Mr. Irwin expressed the hope that delivery would be raised Monday morning to 90 per cent of normal. There was available for the Twin Falls canal system at midnight Saturday evening 2800 second feet of water, and the river was rising in consequence of recent inpouring of flood waters.

Watermen generally are joining with neighbors in retarding use of water, increasing by this means the amount of water available to one user at a time and saving him to "cover his land more rapidly."

Reduction in water delivery has been accompanied by a quota of trouble that has found its way to the prosecuting attorney's office where, last week, five persons appeared with purpose of instituting criminal proceedings against others who, they alleged, had wrongfully appropriated water. In four out of the five cases, the prosecuting attorney's office in co-operation with canal company officials, was able to effect a settlement of the difficulty, and in the fifth case Saturday evening additional information was being sought before determination upon a course of action.

$500,000 Property Loss Reported in Big Chicago Fire

Blaze in Stockyards Barn Destroys Big Hay Supply; All Apparatus Called Out.

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—A fire section of the Union Stock Yards here was threatened by fire which broke out in the hay barn of the Union Stock Yards and Transcontinental company's hay barn, destroyed thousands of tons of hay and was rapidly spreading as six special alarms called in all nearby fire apparatus. The blaze broke out about 4:30 p. m. and in less than an hour had spread almost throughout this block, destroying nearly $500,000 in property.

OVERRIDE VETO ON BONUS

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The house today easily overrode President Coolidge's veto of the soldier bonus bill and put up to the senate the final word on the legislation.

The vote was 213 to 78 for re-passing, or 52 more than the required two-thirds. A much closer result, however, is anticipated in the senate with bonus advocates still claiming the advantage. The senate will take up the measure Monday at 2 o'clock.

GANGSTERS WOUNDED IN CLASH WITH OFFICERS

NEWARK, N. J., May 17 (AP)—James Cuffie and Santo Rittico, were seriously wounded tonight in a gun battle with federal prohibition agents at the Essex bonded warehouse. Two others of a band of eight who attempted to rob the warehouse were captured. The warehouse is said to contain liquor valued at $500,000.

PRESIDENT RECOVERS

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—President Coolidge after a day of almost complete rest, had gained mastery tonight over a slight bronchial cold which had compelled him to cancel the day's engagements and remain away from the executive offices.

PROBERS SEEK MORE FACTS ON REMUS' STORY

Court Order Necessary to Obtain Further Evidence in "Protection" Tale; Wheeler Puts Fall Loan in New Light

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Aid from the department of justice in getting more of the story of George Remus about payments for "protection" while operating in the bootlegging industry was sought today by the senate Daugherty committee.

At the same time in a heated session, the committee strove to find why one of the witnesses held in reserve in its inquiry has lately been made the subject of a federal prosecution and incidentally that the department's bureau of investigation is being extensively reorganized by Attorney General Stone since W. J. Burns, its former chief, resigned last week.

Senator Wheeler, the committee prosecutor, introduced into the session the theory that the $100,000 paid former Secretary Paul by E. L. Doherty was intended to finance revolutionary activities. The suggestion was not followed nor supported by testimony.

Offered to Get Proof.

Remus, now in Atlanta penitentiary, told yesterday of paying $250,000, or more to J. W. Smith, dead companion of former Attorney General Daugherty for "protection" and offered to go "personally and bring cancelled checks from a secret account" if the committee would arrange it.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, notified Chairman Brookhart by letter today that a court writ would be necessary and Senator Brookhart announced that the department had agreed to seek the proper legal authorization.

Attaching to committee members Remus also has a controversy with the bureau of internal revenue as to his share of tax payment upon the tremendous liquor selling which was taking place in Ohio and other places prior to his conviction.

Commissioners at Caldwell Order Sheriff to Pay

Claim Officer Failed to Turn in Money Paid for Board of Federal Prisoners

CALDWELL, Idaho, May 17 (AP)—Demand has been made by the board of county commissioners on Oscar Mason, sheriff, for the immediate payment to the county treasurer of $264.75 which it is claimed, was not turned into the county from money paid by the federal government for the board of federal prisoners committed to the Canyon county jail.

Of the amount, payment of which it is asked be made immediately, $20 is said to be due for the last quarter of 1923, and $264.75 for the first quarter of this year.

ACCIDENT PUTS IT S.

SHIP UP FOR REPAIRS

BREMERTON, Wash., May 17 (AP)—Blowing out a cylinder head shortly after leaving Puget Sound naval yard today to join the battle fleet at Pearl Harbor, the battleship USS Oklahoma was in peril of being thrown on rocks here by tide tips for nearly an hour before being rescued undamaged by naval tug. She was towed back to the naval yard for minor repairs.

GOODING WINS POINT FOR SENATE ACTION ON RAIL RATE BILL

ORDER POWER COMPANY TO EFFECT DISCOUNT

HOUSTON, May 17 (AP)—Amending its order of February 29, 1924, in which it put an entirely new schedule of electrical rates into effect, the public utilities commission Saturday ordered the Houston Power company to grant a 10 per cent discount to certain commercial customers for a period of ten months from March 1, or until further order of the commission.

Under the order of February 29, these customers were to have ten 10 per cent discount only if they signed a 10-year contract with the company for service. There was also a provision for a 5 per cent discount for a five-year contract. Some users objected to this form of contract, contending that the discount should be allowed whether any contract was signed or not.

IMMIGRANT BILL MOVES RAPIDLY

Hughes to Report on Restriction Measure With Japanese Exclusion Feature.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The immigration restriction bill and its Japanese exclusion provision is in the hands of the state department for study and preparation of a report to President Coolidge.

The measure was passed through its final routine stages today at the capitol, sent to the White House, submitted by the White House to the labor department and returned by that department with a report, and then sent to the state department.

The labor department's report dealt only with the administrative provisions of the bill and is understood to approve those sections. The report to be submitted by the state department, however, will be based on policy, particularly with reference to the Japanese exclusion section.

Efforts to Add Long and Short

Haul Measure to Army Appropriation Fail; Expect Bonus Bill Debate Monday.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—After all efforts to add the long and short haul railroad rate measure to the army appropriation bill had failed today in the senate, Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, called the bill up for discussion and had it made the unfinished business of the senate for Monday.

The army appropriation bill itself, carrying a total of $100,000, was carried after three unsuccessful attempts had been made to have the senate declare it the policy of congress that the interstate-commerce commission should discontinue the practice, except in emergencies, of permitting rail carriers to charge a less tariff for freight on a long haul than on a short haul over the same line or traveling in the same direction.

The first proposal, by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, was to add the measure to the army bill. The second proposal, by Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, was to add the measure to the commerce bill. The senate sustained, 49 to 25, the ruling of President Coolidge throwing out the Pittman provision.

Select Walsh Plan.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, then proposed an amendment which would have made unavailable any of the $37,000,000 appropriation for rivers and harbors until congress had disposed of the long and short haul question. This amendment was rejected without a record vote.

A new amendment later was offered by Senator Pittman declaring that none of the appropriation carried in the army bill for the power plant at the Milwaukee lock, Panama canal could be available as long as the long and short haul principle remained in effect in domestic commerce. This met the same fate as the Walsh amendment.

Although Senator Gooding had his measure made the unfinished business of the senate, it probably will not be considered Monday because of the expected debate on the soldier bonus bill.

RISE IN BOISE WATER

WATER IN DAM

BOISE, May 17 (AP)—For the first time this season, Arrowrock reservoir Saturday was heading more than 100,000 acre feet of water. The increase in storage was due to the rise in the Boise river caused by the last remaining snow melting in the mountains according to reclamation officials. The official report Saturday, said the reservoir was holding 102,000 acre feet, an increase of 3400 acre feet over Friday.

Volcano Eruption Covers Countryside with Hot Missiles

Kilauea Crater Belches White Hot Lava; Rocks Explode at Height of 1,000 Feet; Residents Seek Safety.

HILO, T. H. May 17 (AP)—White-hot lava shot out from Halemauana, the hottest crater of Kilauea volcano, at 9 o'clock last night, vivid flashes intermittently lighting an ash colored cloud estimated three miles high.

Volcanologists believed friction in the air caused the flashes, hot boulders being hurled a thousand feet high, exploding like shrapnel. There was an intermittent roar in the pit, the loudest lasting 20 seconds. A hail of pistols rained over the surrounding country, some falling on the roof of the observatory three miles distant.

Signs on Uwekahuna bluff at the time of the eruption fell in haste, some residents of the vicinity leaving the region.

There was a second, but small eruption at 3:30 this morning, the alarm being given by park and observatory officials, who kept an all-night vigil. Mrs. R. H. Finch, wife of the acting volcanologist, placed a rock in her husband's place while he explored the field.

Heavy dust covers the country as far as Hilo, 30 miles.

Richard Lyons, residing at Kapoho, reports that the recent earthquake there formed a new bay a half by three-quarters of a mile wide. A tidal wave, knocked down several persons. No damage was noticed elsewhere.

BUHL DEFEATS CALDWELL NINE

Game Tied, 5 to 5 in Seventh; Final Score is 14 to 8; Stephenson Features.

BUHL, May 17.—(Special to The News.)—After battling Caldwell for seven innings to a tied score Buhl in the eighth round found Nichol, the visiting twirler, for five hits and as many runs and turned the game in their favor with a 14 to 8 score when they annexed four more counters in the final inning.

Mullins pitched the entire game for Buhl allowing 12 hits and 8 runs. With Mutch, regular catcher, unfit for play as a result of injury received in Friday's game with Twin Falls, and Bardley, shortstop, also injured, Caldwell was badly handicapped but Nichol held Buhl for seven hits in the first six innings. However, in the seventh, with the score tied, 5 to 5, the yellow-jackets rallied and knocked the Caldwell moundman from the hill and for the third successive day the diminutive Korean, "Pete" Kim, came to the rescue and checked the final inning for the Boise valley team.

Stephenson, Caldwell center fielder was the outstanding star of the game with four hits out of five trips to the plate in addition to a perfect fielding record.

Buhl has a record of eight victories out of nine games played, surrendering the district championship in their only defeat to Twin Falls high school on the Buhl grounds. An attempt is to be made to get a game with the winning team of the Boise valley section for next week.

SUGAR FACTORY TEAM DEFEATS HANSEN NINE

HANSEN, May 17.—(Special to The News.)—Hansen met defeat Saturday afternoon on the home grounds when Squires' sugar factory nine visited the village and swamped the community team under a 13 to 0 score.

The score does not indicate the bad way in which Hill was battered throughout the game and the Hunsentles, through a lack of a pitcher, were forced to watch the sugarman get 23 hits.

For the first five innings Cole, pitching for the sugar factory, with splendid support, blanked the Hansen team and succeeded in bringing in five runs. The fireworks started in the fifth and the rest of the game was a nightmare. Seven two base hits for the sugar factory and a circuit clout in the eighth inning which failed to count mark the sugar factory artillery efforts with 20 singles thrown in for good measure.

The home run which Cole knocked in the eighth inning failed to count for the Twin Falls team as the sugar factory pitcher failed to touch the first mark in his excursion.

Another feature of the game was a double play by the sugar factory nine when Cowies caught a drive and completed the play to Fink at first. The sugar factory played errorless ball until the blow up in the sixth inning when they relaxed and allowed the Hansen runs.

Fourteen strikeouts is the record for Cole who did the visitors' twirling and seven mark Hill's efforts for the local team.

ASSOCIATION'S DEALINGS TOLD

Mutual's Directors and Stockholders Testify for State in Embezzlement Trial.

Directors and stockholders of the Mutual Building and Loan association in rapid succession were called to the witness stand by state's attorney to testify Saturday in district court in the trial of K. S. Peters, former manager, and Frank G. Leechetter, former secretary of the association charged with embezzlement of $18,442 of its funds. Cross examination of each witness by defense counsel was brief, and recess until Monday morning was taken in mid-afternoon.

E. A. Moon and W. S. Parish, directors, and P. W. McRoberts, former director, testified that the association had never been advised of nor given its consent to the overdraft in the account of Peters and Leechetter with the association on which the embezzlement charge is based. F. E. Chamberlain, stockholder, who was elected director last January, and J. H. "Big Boy" Smith, C. P. Morris of Glenn Ferry, and Frank McAuley of Twin Falls, stockholders, testified as to representations made to them by Peters and Leechetter or both at the time of their investment in the association's stock, and to the effect that Peters and Leechetter stated their own compensation was $2 for each share of stock sold.

Cross examination of H. C. Haas, legal representative of the association, occupied much of the morning session. Testimony was given by Mr. Haas on cross examination and by Mr. Morris that each of the defendants had referred to the other defendant in terms reflecting upon his integrity.

It was indicated that the state's case would be rested Monday and that presentation of the case for the defense occupy two or three days thereafter. The trial was begun last Monday.

He was admitted to bond in the sum of $500.

TWO SERVICE STATIONS UNITE IN CORPORATION

The Electric Service station, operated for several months past under ownership of the Shulady Hardware company and the Exide Service station of which George O. Wallace was proprietor, have been combined and will be operated in the future under single management under the style of the Electric Service station, a corporation, of which L. E. Salladay is president and George O. E. Wallace secretary and general manager.

Stock and equipment of the Exide station have been moved into the building on Second avenue north heretofore occupied by the Electric Service station, and as a result of the consolidation of the two establishments the management expresses confidence that motorists of this region will be enabled to receive better service than heretofore.

IS ADMITTED TO PAROLE

James Martin, 29, who pleaded guilty in district court recently to grand larceny charge in connection with his appropriation of O. J. Johnson's Essex car for a trip to a county dance, resulting in wrecking of the machine, was paroled Saturday by Judge W. A. Hatcher to John H. Ault, probation officer, after receiving sentence of from 1 to 14 years in the state prison. Martin at once entered employment as a farm hand in the vicinity. Plea for clemency in the case was supported by several letters written by citizens of Lava Hot Springs, his home, stating that he had been honorably discharged after three years' service in the army, and that he never had been in trouble before.

FAVORITE WINS DERBY; DRAWS DOWN $52,775

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 17 (AP)—West triumphed over the east for the first time since 1921 in the historic Kentucky derby today, when Black Gold, the favorite, won the race by a scant half length in a slashing drive to the wire, defeating 18 of the noblest three-year-olds in training, before a crowd of 75,000 to 80,000 persons, the greatest throng that ever witnessed a horse race in America.

Black Gold won the race at one and a quarter miles over a track lightning fast in 2:01.45, which is one second slower than the record, established by Old Rosebud in 1914. The horse belonged to Mrs. R. M. Hoofs of Tulsa, Okla., the second woman ever to have sent a derby winner to the post. Jimmy Monoy, black of hair and deeply tanned, was the triumphant jockey, and Harry Webb, affectionately called the "old man," was the proud conditioner of the victor.

Black Gold won for his owner $52,775 in cash and a gold trophy worth $5000. For himself, Black Gold merited a rose wreath with sentiment above the snuff of money and the admiration of the record breaking crowd which never will forget the courage of his conquest:

in agriculture, Spanish, music, economics and literature.

COUNTY AGENTS TO MEET AGAIN

Kjones Calls. Session at Blackfoot to Discuss Seed Culture and Water Supply.

BOISE, May 17.—W. Kjones, state county agent leader, has announced the calling of a conference of county agents at Blackfoot on May 26 and 27 to discuss the production and marketing of Idaho alfalfa and clover seed and proper cultural methods to employ to make the best use of the water which is available this year. To this conference are invited growers, bankers, directors of seed growers' associations, dealers, directors of the State Seed show, irrigation project managers and railroad officials to join in the deliberations and to assist in carrying out the program which the conference will outline.

"This is the second of a series of agricultural economic conferences which we are calling to give special attention to outstanding farm problems in the state," says Mr. Kjones. "We desire to develop the best sources of income which Idaho agriculture can support. In years of over production, the emphasis always is on quality products and such a conference must give its first attention to this subject so that we can command the very best price for Idaho products on eastern markets. At the first agricultural economic conference called at Twin Falls, March 21 and 22, the general crop situation and the apparent water shortage were discussed and immediate problems considered. Recommendations were given as to the best crop to plant in the face of a shortage of water. We now must look to putting these crops in the very best shape for the market and give some thought of methods of putting them on the market. The conference at Blackfoot will discuss these features."

"County Agent J. W. Barber, Cassia county, will preside and County Agent R. E. Brossard, Twin Falls county, will be secretary at the meetings. All county agents and a number of producers will be in attendance."

DENIES COMMISSIONERS' RIGHT TO ALTER SALARY

County Attorney Holds Board Not Authorized to Out Salary of Elected Officer During His Term.

Twin Falls county commissioners were advised Saturday by written opinion of County Attorney J. W. Taylor that they have no authority under Idaho law to change the salary of an elected officer during the term for which he has been elected.

The question was presented by recent action of the commissioners in ordering reduction of salaries of eight elective officers, for the two year term beginning next January, wherein the salary of the clerk of the district court, who was elected in 1922 for four-year term, was reduced from $2000 to $1500 a year. Formal protest was made against the commissioners' action with respect to his office by C. C. Higgins, clerk of the district court, and the question was referred to the county attorney for his determination, with the result that authority of the commissioners to order this reduction was denied.

Other salary reductions ordered by the commissioners are not affected by this opinion, and reductions in all other salaries, affecting seven elective officers with an aggregate reduction of $1600 a year, will stand as fixed by the board.

A Tree's Day

Morning. It is nothing but a form, slender, substantial, stately, availing himself of the power of the light. Midday. A wondrous thrill awakes the quivering branches. The topmost bough scans the distance from east to west, the sun seems far away. The bark of the tree is dark and toneless still. The tremor passes, and the leaves are now in the light. The promise is fulfilled. No unperceived waiting could be so sweet. Rose wings scatter the clouds, and gold—live, luminous, transcendent—envelopes the tree and places it with light, from its base to its crown, its length and its depth and its breadth are light!

"First U. S. Army Uniforms." At the beginning of the American Revolution each regiment provided its own uniforms. As these were discarded the soldiers wore any clothes that were available. Such uniforms as were worn were bought in design, substituting blue for scarlet coats. At the close of the war uniforms were procured for the few troops retained in service. They resembled the French uniforms of the day, the infantry wearing blue faced with white, and the artillery blue faced with red. Later cavalry was added, the uniform being green faced first with white, later with black.

Ouch! Dining out one night during his recent visit to London, Paderewski met a young society man who had won for himself a great reputation for his skill at polo. Being provoked by the pianist for his clever playing, he said it was different, indeed, from Paderewski's performances. "Yes," agreed Paderewski, "the difference between us is perfectly clear. You are a dear soul who plays polo, whilst I am a poor Pole who plays polo."

Tattooing for Safety.

Bedouin women, of the Arabian desert, tattoo themselves with figures of animals and stars to keep the evil spirits away. In Texas, women were formerly tattooed, believing this would insure happiness and attract the opposite sex. Tattooing was forbidden the Jews in Bible times. Tradition tells us that the Gileadites, the alleged ancestors of the Ammonites, were despised and were constantly in danger from marauding animals and sea monsters. To prevent disaster from the gentils of the waters, the king of Ammon directed his subjects to tattoo their bodies with images of sea monsters—afterward, with dragons and crocodiles.

Author of "Mother Hubbard."

Mother Hubbard's tale is a satiric poem in the style of Chaucer, written by Edmund Spenser (1552-1596). It is assumed to have been recited by the poet during a time of sickness by an old woman called Mother Hubbard, and recounts the adventures of an ape and a fox that formed a union to better fortunes. After meeting with a variety of experiences they finally came to grief at the court of King Lion. The nursery tale of Mother Hubbard, who "went to the cupboard to get her poor dog a bone," is the one, however, usually associated with the above titles.

Where Fido's Mother Was Born.

A woman carrying a little dog in her arms was riding in a bus that went along Park lane. All the way up she worried the conductor to know whether they had come to No. —, mentioning a house nearly at the top. When they reached the number the conductor halted the bus, thinking the woman wished to alight there. Instead of doing this, however, she went to the door of the bus and holding up the dog, said: "Look, Fido, that's where your mother was born!"

Wright's Store Takes Over Big Job

The crowds at Wright's yesterday indicate that the store has "sold" the public on the idea that their $25,000 Stock Reducing Sale is a reality. The basic idea of this sale is that Wright's Store will sell during the next month $25,000 more than they ordinarily would sell. That's a big job. That the store WILL put the sale over in a big way is evident from the low prices that are being made on dependable merchandise. Every person in the Twin Falls shopping territory will do well to watch the Wright ads and watch the Wright windows.

THE STEADY WORKER

The American record for steady work probably goes to Edward Slattery of North Easton, Massachusetts. He has been employed continuously by one firm for 58 years. He arrived from Limerick, Ireland, in 1866, started working two days later for a shoe and tool factory and has been working for it ever since. In all that time he has not lost one day on account of sickness.

"This," somebody will say, "is the kind of immigrants we need to get." It is a good kind, at any rate. If there were more Edward Slatterys coming into the country there would be less hostility toward immigration.

BEAUTIFYING GROUNDS

A certain automobile manufacturing company, after erecting a modern "delightful factory," has gone ahead and beautified the surrounding grounds with thousands of shrubs bordering lovely flower beds. It does this on the theory that surroundings have much to do with the contentment of employees and the quality of their production.

Surely this is a true principle. It must be, in the nature of things, that what is true elsewhere is true in industry—that people surrounded by beauty will produce more beautiful automobiles or anything else. And beauty, as a commercial age is discovering, is profitable financially as well as esthetically.

Eventually we may all cultivate beauty for its own sake. Then there will be no question that we are civilized.

IMPROVING ON NATURE.

Mechanical efficiency has reached its climax in the equine fly-trap devised by an ingenious citizen of Spring Valley, Minnesota. Observing that horses are always bothered by flies, and also that horses are always jerking their heads around and bobbing them up and down, the inventor put two and two together. Why not utilize the head-movements to get rid of the flies?

He made a sheet-metal box, containing a drum with an elaborate mechanism of wire mesh, springs, brushes, bait, etc., mounted upon the top of the horse's collar and connected with the check-rein so that at every nod or swing of the horse's head, the drum is made to rotate. The bait is supposed to lure the cruel horsety into the trap and then the revolving drum crushes him and neatly sweeps out his remains.

It is surely an admirable contraption, whether it works or not. Nature may be wonderful, but human invention is much more so.

Nature, in her crude way, merely provided the horse with a long tail with which to whip the flies to death when they alighted upon his hind-quarters, and a freely-moving head with which to crush or bite them when they bothered the forward part of his anatomy, with a mane to protect his neck. It might occur to an intellect of the plain or horse-sense variety to solve the problem merely by losing the check-rein and letting the tail and mane grow, thereby giving nature a chance. But how could there be any progress, and how could inventors make a living, if man were not continually devising ingenious substitutes for nature?

THE STRONG YOUNG MAN

BY DADDY

CHAPTER I.

The Eyes of Fear.

JACK and Janet were playing in the woods when suddenly they heard a howl of fear from Daddy Dog. They ran to the spot whence the howl came and there they found Daddy Dog crouched on to a stump looking around half to death. He was shivering and shaking as he gazed down through a pair of dark eye glasses at a rat on the ground below.

"What is the matter?" cried Daddy Dog. "What are you afraid of?"

"That awful panther!" howled Daddy Dog. "Run away as fast as you can or it will run up."

"What is that?" cried Daddy Dog. "I am not afraid of that rat," said he.

"That rat?" howled Daddy Dog. "It is a panther—a huge, fierce panther. Can't you see it?"

Jack and Janet could see only the rat. They wondered if Daddy Dog had gone crazy. "That's a foolish panther," or perhaps he could not see well through the strange dark glasses he wore.

"You are seeing crooked," said Janet. "That's the trouble with those glasses, and you will see that it is not a panther, but only a noisy rat."

Daddy Dog shook his head, as if to deny this, and in shaking his head he shook the dark glasses off his nose. They fell to the ground beside the stump.

Instantly a great change came over Daddy Dog. The look of fear turned to a look of surprise.

"Why, where has that panther gone?" he barked.

"We have told you there was no panther here," declared Janet. "You have been calling that rat a panther."

"Woof! Is that true?" growled Daddy Dog.

"Hooray! I scared you," squeaked Mr. Rat. "It was a foolish rat for boasting Mr. Rat to that. Daddy Dog was annoyed that he had taken the rat for a big panther. Mr. Rat matters worse by laughing at him."

"Woof!" said Daddy Dog grimly. "I'll show you I am not afraid of a rat. He leaped from the stump and grabbed Mr. Rat. He gave a hard

"Hooray! I scared you!"

shake and that was the end of Mr. Rat.

"Woof! How in the world did I ever come to think that rat a panther?" growled he. "Something must be wrong with my eyes."

"The trouble may be in the glasses you wear," said Janet. She picked up the dark glasses from beside the stump. In curiosity she put them on. Instantly, she gave a loud shriek.

"Oh, look out for that awful dragon!" she cried. Jack looked to where her finger pointed. He saw only a faint caterpillar.

"That is only a caterpillar," replied Jack, and he put his foot on the worm.

Janet, in her fear, snatched the glasses from her eye and looked at them.

"Gracious! So it is," she cried. "But it looked like a dragon to me."

"Just as that rat looked like a panther to me," growled Daddy Dog.

"Those must be strange glasses," said Jack. "Let me look through them."

"They are eyes of fear," growled Daddy Dog.

Jack took the glasses from Janet's hand and put them on. As he did so he gave a gasp of alarm.

"Hooray!" he whispered to Janet. "Here comes an awful giant with a cruel and mighty ax."

(Who the giant is will be told in tomorrow's chapter.)

The stranger walked with him to the door and broke into "Joe Bowers from Pike." He sang only two lines, his attention being attracted by two men approaching from the eating-house. He stepped back, inside the hall and in a minute Pyrites and Dinadale entered. Dinadale gave him a quick look and observed the bandaged head, and walked down to the Twenty-one table. Pyrites, never given to gambling, hurried to the short bar at the end of the room, procuring him his drink for strong drink. Dinadale watched the girl from beneath half-closed lids for a minute or two and then threw down a greenback.

"Tardon, M'aleu, but eet sees not for a gambling man. Take your money."

"But I am not a gambling man," protested Dinadale.

"You have ze gambling look, M'aleu. Pardon, if I mistake, ze monte bank will be running very soon."

The stranger laughed boisterously and in response to Dinadale's questioning glance announced:

"I've just tapped the monte bank. My banker said dealer. House limit is fifty. That doesn't interest me. And monte is a slow game."

"Banker and dealer, both, eh?" mused Dinadale, smiling pleasantly.

"And what's your idea of a good game?"

The stranger estimated Dinadale rather shrewdly, and with a drop of the lids glanced at the two big bet-guns.

"Color of the card. Five hundred a guess."

"Get to your table. I'll help you pass the time," said Dinadale.

"La la! Oh, no! M'aleu is not ze gambling man!" trilled the Twenty-one dealer.

Pyrites at the bar was taking his second drink and talking volubly to the patient bartender. A new check was brought to the monte table and thoroughly shuffled.

"How did you tap the bank?" carelessly asked Dinadale as he felt for his money.

"Bet two thousand a card would be real."

"Short and sweet, Red ought to be some lucky," mused Dinadale, producing a stack of greenbacks. "There's five hundred. Give them a cut, please. I call red."

Black came up. The stranger smiled and remarked:

"When I'm in luck it sticks clef through. Some paper/money you're totting. You ought to be the 'greenback man' I've been hearing so much about."

"Deal a card! Red," called Dinadale.

Black came up.

The dealer said, "I don't think you've got enough of the green to last till all these dark cards run out. But of course the deal ends when either color is exhausted."

"That wasn't specified, but let it be."

Red came up—a diamond. Dinadale swept in the money and asked:

"How did you hurt your head?"

"Think I'm a newspaper?" queried the dealer, smiling frostily. "We're playing at gambling."

"Red!" a club showed.

Pyrites was showing the effect of his hurried drinks and was now leaning his back against the bar, glass in hand, and beaming joyously on the monte table. Impudently taking the whole room into his confidence, he boasted of his discoveries and reached the glass over his shoulder to be refilled. While he talked two dark and two red cards showed.

"Red!" barked Dinadale. He won.

"Red!" Again he won. "I'm even."

He said as the dealer waited for him to name the color.

"And quitting?" sneered the dealer. Dinadale shook his head.

"Slow, it tires me. Two thousand on a single card. What say?"

The other stared up into the steady eyes for a fraction of a minute, then shrugged his shoulders and lightly said:

"All in a lifetime. I'll go you."

He counted out two thousand dollars in greenbacks.

With a dry laugh Dinadale observed:

"They'll be calling you the 'greenback man' next. But I'll be mighty glad to get them. Never could get enough greenbacks."

The stranger took the deck in his left hand, poised thumb and finger ready to deal a card. Dinadale quietly informed him: "I couldn't help seeing the bottom card. I'm sticking to red."

And his hand fell to his side.

The stranger's eyes dilated until they reminded Dinadale of the yellow orbs of Sitting Bull, the owl, and for a moment he seemed to hesitate. Then he slowly turned the top card.

It was the ace of diamonds. With his left hand Dinadale pulled in the money, his gaze never quitting the set face across the table. Pyrites, growing noisy at the bar, alone broke the breathless silence of the room.

Leaning back and clasping his hands before him the dealer said:

"I don't mind your winning. I'd rather win, but it doesn't give me heart trouble to lose. But I do mind your telling me you know the bottom card."

"I thought it right I should tell you," serenely returned Dinadale, now standing erect, the money still clutched in his left hand, his right hand hovering over a card.

"It was the same as saying I was thinking of dealing the bottom card," continued the dealer, speaking very slowly. "Now just to prove what kind of a bluffer you are I'll bet fifteen hundred, about my wife's pill, that you can't name the bottom card."

"Tie lines drew Dinadale's face into a snarl."

"Keep your hands away from that deck," he sharply commanded. "I'll take that bet, but some one besides you must turn the deck over. Pick whoever you please in this room."

"I'm a you!" softly murmured the dealer.

Pyrites advanced toward them, shouting in a raucous voice:

There was an old woman, had three sons, Joshua, James and John.

"Tie your man!" snapped Dinadale. "I'll ask the young lady to turn the deck over," called out the dealer in a loud voice.

Josh was hung and James was drowned, And John was lost and never was found, howled Pyrites.

"Excuse," coldly refused the French girl.

"Here you, Paper Dolls! Turn this deck over after this man has named the card," hoarsely called the dealer to Scissors.

And that was the end of the three sons, Joshua, James and John.

Scissors timidly stilled to the table, his eyes blinking nervously.

"The bottom card is the seven of spades," squeaked up Dinadale.

Taking great care not to touch the cards with his hands Scissors inserted the points of his scissors under the deck and tipped the pack over. Dinadale had named it correctly. The stranger pushed back his chair and said:

"If you had offered me ten thousand, or a million to name it, I couldn't have done it."

There was an old woman, had three sons, Joshua, James and John.

rounded Pyrites, slapping a hand on the dealer's shoulder and waving a hand at Dinadale.

The Frenchy slowly left the stranger's face. With a reckless laugh he lifted his head and commenced singing:

I used to love a gal there, and they called her Sissy Black.

"Hingtown and Spanish Dry Diggins, Fall of 'fifty-one!" rejoiced Pyrites. "But you ain't old enough to have been out there at that singing."

"But a certain old man is, who still sings those songs and taught them to me," said the stranger. Springing to his feet he said to Dinadale, "You've cleaned me out. Is there any fighting blood between us? If so, we can step outside."

Breakfast Food

"Matrimonially Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My wife cuts out dress patterns all over our living room.

And when that's going on there's just about as much room left for me to sit down as there is in a trolley car at 5 p. m.

The chairs and sofas and a large part of the floor are covered with dress materials and patterns and scissors and pins.

It's positively dangerous to try to relax and try to settle down for the evening in that room during the sewing season.

And when I ask my wife if she can't show arrange to give me a chance to feel at home in my own living room, she says that she's been working there all day, and that it would ruin everything to have to move it before she's finished.

The only thing left for me to do is to go to bed.

And so, whenever I hear anyone talking about "having a little change done in the house," it sounds just as pleasant and convenient to me as "having a little blasting done in the back yard."

Fifteen Years Ago in Twin Falls

At the meeting of the city council Monday night it was decided that only concrete sidewalks will be permitted to be built in Twin Falls hereafter.

Aldermen Pilgrimage, Maxwell and Salladay were appointed a committee to procure from the Twin Falls Townsite company a deed to the city park donated by the company.

Alderman Maxwell was deputized to inquire into the cost of a mower to cut the grass in the park. An ordinary lawnmower will not do as the grass is too thick.

Carl Hahn has purchased C. Harvey Smith's handsome residence on Third avenue east into which he will move his family on June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barber of Gooding were Twin Falls visitors on Wednesday. Mr. Barber stated that the sale of acreage tracts and lots in Gooding on Monday was a great success.

The major portion of the famous Gooding farm was disposed of, the total sales aggregating $150,000.

The guests were Mrs. and Mrs. Carl Hughes, George Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Welch and the grandparents of Mr. Thompson.

Test Bell by Telephone.

Listening by long distance telephone from Boston to the tolling of several bells at Troy, N. Y., enabled a church committee deputed to purchase a bell to make a decision without the expense of a trip to the factory.

WHEAT PRICE LOWER
AS WEATHER CHANGES

Expected Showers Give Promise of Relief from Threatened Crop Damage; Liverpool Prices Raised.

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—Wheat average a little lower today, but account of expected showers which gave promise of relief from crop damage threatening in the west and southwest. Closing quotations for wheat were unsettled, ranging from 3.85 to 4.15, with a decline to 1.8 to 1.4c advance, July $1.05 to 1.05 1/2c, and September $1.07 1/2c with corn at 1.4c off to 1.4c gain and oats 1.4c down to 1.4c up in provisions the outcome varied from 7c setback to a rise of 2 cents.

At first the wheat market had a slight upward slant as a result of an advance at Liverpool. Dealers here, however, soon took place when it was apparent that demand lacked volume and that the effect of recent deficiency of moisture was perhaps about to be confirmed. On the other hand, sellers refrained from aggressive tactics, apparently preferring to await developments at Washington as to farm legislation. Later a renewed influx of dry weather complaints from the southwest in particular, brought about something of a rally.

To a considerable extent transactions in wheat consisted of spread trading between Chicago and Winnipeg. Several large houses buying July wheat against Winnipeg sales simultaneously at 1 1/2c difference. When the day ended, the only Chicago delivery which showed an advance was December, 1 1/4c up as compared with 24 hours before. Visible supply figures on Monday seemed likely to exhibit a moderate falling off in the country and a rise in Canada.

Corn and oats held within a narrow range. The bulk of the business was local. Corn was fairly active, oats dull. Larger receipts of corn soon were talked.

Firmness of hog values kept provisions mostly steady.

Slang of Shakespeare
Is Much Used Today

More slang from Shakespeare is being used by the Toronto Globe as a result of the old complaint against the bard of Avon that his plays were "too full of quotations which have to be amended to read 'too full of slang' if our readers' investigations continue. Henry T. Waller of Toronto sends a formidable list which results many expressions used by those said to be of short vocabulary. Hereafter they will cite Shakespeare as their authority. Here is the list:

"Will I live? (to Barnardo). Go with her, with her's book on, look on."—King Henry IV, part 2, act 2, scene 1.

"But let me tell the world."—King Henry IV, part 1, act 5, scene 2.

"Give the devil his due."—King Henry IV, part 1, act 1, scene 2.

"Our cubbins (cub) on both sides."—"The Taming of the Shrew." Act 1, scene 1.

"It is not square to take."—"Timon of Athens." act 5, scene 3.

"I cannot tell what the dickens his name is."—Merry Wives of Windsor. act 5, scene 2.

New Discovery in Iron Making

An instance of a case where a little is bad but an excess of the same bad quality makes it a good one, is reported by the United States bureau of standards as a result of recent researches in the reasons for malleable cast iron becoming brittle after being heated. When galvanized, such metal is heated to a critical range of 500 to 600 degrees Fahrenheit and then quite quickly cooled. This makes it brittle. It has now been found that if the metal is heated to a temperature 200 degrees above the critical range and then cooled, it is not only more resistant to subsequent shocks, but also made immune to embrittlement after being reheated.

Reheating to within the dangerous range.

TAKES HOPEFUL VIEW OF BEET CROP PROSPECT

Amalgamated Sugar Company Manager Says Conservation of Water Will Mature Two Million Dollar Crop

Careful conservation of irrigation water will make possible the successful maturing of a two million dollar sugar beet crop in the Twin Falls district this season, according to assurance given Saturday by James Scully, district manager for the Amalgamated Sugar company.

Beets in this district are up to a good stand generally, Mr. Scully stated, and thinning is in progress, approximately 500 acres already having been thinned, while between 200 and 400 men will be engaged in the work beginning this week.

"We must recognize the need for conservation of water this season," Mr. Scully said. "If we are careful in the use of water as the situation requires, we shall be able to mature beets successfully this season on lands under the Twin Falls canal system."

Water Requirements. Beets in this region, Mr. Scully said, generally require irrigation about six times during the season. Alternate rows are irrigated each time, however, so that actual use of water in growing beets is not much greater than in growing other crops.

Beets are being grown this season on 7500 acres under the Twin Falls canal system. Average production in this region during three out of the past four seasons has been more than 15 tons of beets per acre. Under the contract adopted this year providing for fifty-fifty division of profit between the growers and manufacturers, assuming that the price of sugar will be as high this year as last, growers will receive approximately $9.50 per ton for their beets.

Beet production in the Twin Falls district this season will approximate, on this basis of computation, 104,750 tons, and the aggregate payment for beets would be $1,831,250.

Another Payment Coming. Growers have received already for last season's beets, payment of $7.50 per ton and an additional payment of about $1 a ton is yet to be made.

Mr. Scully stated. Advantage to the grower under the new contract is estimated at an increase of about $1 per ton in the price he received for his crop.

In addition to the crop of 7500 acres devoted to beets in the district immediately tributary to the Twin Falls factory, beets from 1000 acres in the vicinity of Jerome and 600 acres in the Weiser district will be brought here this fall to be converted into sugar.

Wilson, candidate for democratic national committeeman, and W. Orr Chapman of Twin Falls, who left Saturday morning. Dr. W. F. Pike, candidate for delegate to the national convention, T. J. Lloyd and T. M. Robertson of Twin Falls, and Pearl Meredith of Buhl, will leave this morning, and C. G. A. Divelbiss of Buhl, expects also to join the delegation.

MEN AND EQUIPMENT REACH TWIN FALLS FOR ROGERSON LINE

Construction of Supply Tracks at Idaho Terminal of New Line to Begin Upon Arrival of Railroad Crew.

Ten grading crews, consisting of men, horses and equipment, arrived in Twin Falls Saturday and were sent on to Rogerson, the afternoon. On Monday a foreman with 20 men will leave Salt Lake for Rogerson where two 700-foot and one 400-foot stretches of sidetrack will be laid for use as material yards in connection with construction of the new road.

Utah Construction gangs are being gathered and sent forward to Rogerson, and it is expected that actual work will begin within the week.

ELKS SHOW OBJECTIVE GIVEN BY COMMITTEE

Staging a show that will combine the appeal of a home talent affair with the finish of a professional production is the objective set for the Elks Revue of 1924, according to announcement made Saturday evening by the Elks committee in charge of the show which is composed of Howard E. Sablin, C. D. Thomas, Frank Kleffner, C. A. Bullis, C. O. Markle and Lynn Stewart.

The intention of the committee to have this year's offering surpass, if possible, and attempt yet made by the Elks shows of the past years, and, judging from the array of talent available it is not only possible but very probable. The show will follow out the revue style featuring a regular grand minstrel first part with a novelty scenic introduction. The last half will be arranged to introduce the many specialties and a very pretty scene. The Elks Revue of 1924, as the title indicates, will make no effort to furnish opportunity for serious thought, but will provide a full evening of keen fun, pretty, choruses, beautiful stage settings and all in all the kind of entertainment everyone can attend thinking of it as "just a home talent affair," with realization when the curtain falls after the finale, of having witnessed a real production and been royally entertained.

BEAN HARVESTERS DELIVERED The first two of a lot of 50 combine bean harvesters sold this season to bean growers of this region have been delivered here from a California factory, and are being assembled and put in commission under supervision of H. W. Steele, inventor, on lots at the corner of Third avenue and Second street west.
