The Lend-a-Hand club was entertained on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bell. Twelve members responded to roll call with quotations on Memorial day. The usual business was transacted after which a splendid program was given opening with the singing of America. There was a reading by Mrs. Clyde Dudley, a paper by Mrs. Shields and a vocal solo by a trio consisting of Mesdames Varney, Almsburg and Hultbert, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. C. Poe, who also gave a piano solo. Several hymns were sung by the entire club with Mrs. Beckley at the piano. A delightful social hour was enjoyed and the hostess served delicious refreshments. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Ben Dahl on June 13.

Mrs. J. T. Krivanek entertained the Needlecraft club Friday afternoon. There was a short business session during which election of officers was held with the following results: Mrs. W. M. Shettel, re-elected president; Mrs. John Hickey, vice president; Mrs. William Polunski, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. J. N. Jensen gave a most enjoyable reading Miss Jerome Krivanek sang several selections. The hostess gave her recipe for potato doughnuts and served a delicious luncheon to the 13 members and one guest, Mrs. Hattie Desaire, who has been in California for several months and whom all were delighted to welcome home. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Ed Mignery, 184 Hamage street.

Members of the Mountain View club were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. O. E. Fillmore, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Booth, the president, had charge of the meeting. After the usual business was transacted, the time was spent in sewing and social conversation. At a late hour the hostess served delicious refreshments to eight members and two guests, Misses Louisa Owen and Verla Booth were the guests. Club will meet with Mrs. Phoebe Franco Wednesday, May 28.

First Military Execution in U. S.
A conspiracy of the British officers and loyalists of New York was made in 1776 to end the Revolutionary war by the murder or capture of its leaders, and the seizure or destruction of its supplies. Washington was to be taken alive and delivered to Sir William Howe. Two guards were bribed but a third pretended to join the plot and exposed it instead. One of the treacherous guards was named Thomas Hickey. He was hanged June 27, 1776, the first military execution in the American army.

What Graduation Day Means

To the young lady or gentleman, it is the start of life, a time when the mind turns to bigger and broader thoughts; starts to plan a life's work and assume its responsibilities. What then is there better than to learn telegraphy? There is a never ceasing demand for operators by both the railroads and commercial telegraph companies. The hours are short, the pay is very good and working conditions are excellent. You are paid semi-monthly and are given a vacation of two weeks on full pay each year with transportation furnished if in the employ of a railroad company.

The course at this school includes telegraphy, typewriting and the use of the vibroplex (a sending machine) which enables one to send three times as fast as can be done by hand and does away entirely with "operator's paralysis." If you are sixteen years of age or over, up to 35, you are eligible to a position. With diligent application you should complete the course in four months. Nearly as many ladies are engaged in telegraphy as there are gentlemen and the compensation is much more than stenographic positions, clerks, etc., are receiving. Call and get all details. We are located over the Golden Rule Store, Room 1.

Charcoal.

It has been found that charcoal, when in what is known as the "active" condition, in which it absorbs certain gases, and when cooled to about the temperature of liquid air, has an even greater attraction for all gases except helium and hydrogen. If the impure helium is passed over such chilled charcoal, the oxygen and nitrogen of the air are caught and held by the charcoal, while helium in a very pure state may be recovered.

Tom Brock came in from Los Angeles driving a Ford. He says that it is quite a change from driving an Alaskan dog team, which he has been doing for a long time. He has been in Alaska for 18 years and has driven dog teams or run river boats most of the time. He says that there is but one good gold mine in Alaska, that is the Redoubt, which is owned by the Guggenheims. He thinks that the money that the government is spending for roads and railroads, would better be spent in the states, as the roads already built there are used very little, and the railroad does not pay, nor will it ever pay. He says that Twin Falls tourist camp is the only good camp that he has seen so far.

Here is Proof of STAR CAR Performance

Prominent Rancher of Eden, Idaho, Puts His Star Car Through Most Gruelling Road Test—Read His Letter:

Rendahl & Wright Auto Co.
EDEN, IDAHO.
May 3, 1924.

Gentlemen:

I take great pleasure in writing you about the performance of my Star Car which I purchased from you last October. On December 1 last I started for an overland trip, traveling through Idaho, Oregon, Washington, California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah, making a total mileage of 4950 miles, averaging better than 29 miles to the gallon of gas on the entire trip. My expenses for upkeep or repair on the car were none, never breaking or replacing a single item. The load carried was fully equal to five passengers and in many places the roads were worse than none, yet I returned on the original tire equipment. I have driven several makes of cars and must say that my Star Car handled as fine or better than anything I have yet owned. In every respect I am more than pleased with my car and as far as I can tell the car is none the worse for the trip.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) ERNEST M'KEE.

Every owner of a low-cost car has looked forward to the type of economical car he would be proud of from the standpoint of appearance as well as performance. The car you will be proud to own is here—the New Star Car.

KNIGHTS NAME OFFICERS AT FINAL SESSION

Annual Conclave of Knights Templar of Idaho Closes at Boise; Many Delegates Attend; Local Man Named.

BOISE, Idaho, May 24 (AP)—With the election and appointment of officers of the grand commandery of the Knights Templar of Idaho the twenty-first annual conclave came to an end Saturday afternoon in Masonic temple.

Henry P. Glendeman, courier d'Alene, was elected grand commander, succeeding Edward Smith of Reno. The crusader cap, gift of William Wallin, Pocatello, was presented to Quate City commandery No. 4, winner in the competitive drill Friday night. The presentation was made by the board of instructors, and response was made by O. D. Bellamy in behalf of the Gate City drill team. Edward Smith received a beautiful past grand commander's jewel in recognition of his services as grand commander for Idaho. Mr. Smith responded to the speech of presentation by Edward L. Gauger, Kellogg, Idaho.

Take Trip to Dam.
Members of the De Molay junior band, Pocatello, which furnished the music for the conclave, were taken for a trip to Arrow Rock dam Saturday morning.

Most of the delegates had left late Saturday afternoon for their homes, after attendance at the convocation of the Grand Arch Masons and the conclave of the commandery. It was estimated that more than 200 were in attendance here for the four days of the meeting.

Officers Named.
The new elective and appointive officers are as follows:
Grand commander, Henry P. Glendeman, courier d'Alene; deputy grand commander, Edward L. Gauger, Kellogg; grand generalissimo, Max W. Griffith, Moscow; grand captain general, Chester S. McMartin, Twin Falls; grand senior warden, John G. Fralick, Emmett; grand junior warden, Frank E. Higson, Pocatello; grand prelate, George E. Knappier, Boise; grand treasurer, Harry P. Wolfe, courier d'Alene; grand recorder, Lewis W. Ensign, Boise; grand scribe, Lewis W. Ensign, Boise; grand steward, Lewis W. Ensign, Boise; grand sword bearer, Chester G. Taylor, Boise; grand warden, Mattie Mattison, Gooding; grand captain of the guard, Sydney Smith.

SMITH RELATES STORY OF WORLD FLIGHT

wanted all four planes to arrive here.

Planes in Good Shape.

"Our Douglas cruisers are in splendid condition although we had to fight the elements all the way to keep them so." "We are changing the name of the 'Kangaroo' to 'Liberty' and the 'Liberty' to 'Kangaroo'," said Lieutenant Smith, "but those with which we left America carried us through splendidly. We are more certain than ever that the Liberty motor is the best in the world."

"The worst leg of the flight was between Sitka and Seward, even worse than the hop from Attu island to Parnassus, with its fog, ice, and wind. Boring Island. From Sitka to Seward we fought wind and snow all the way, seeing hardly anything of the water below. We were guided only by following the line of breakers along the shore, which were visible through the snow."

Attu Blank Island.

"The bleakest stopping place was Attu island, barren and snow covered even in mid-May. The island was then inhabited by only one man and 37 women, the rest of the men being away on other islands for the fox hunting season."

"For nearly a month we lived in desolate surroundings, in isolated trading posts, on board revenue cutters, coast guard boats and American destroyers, out of touch with civilization, without newspapers since we left Seattle, and only bits of world news by radio."

"From the air those northern islands and seas are a strange and weird picture, all white and blue. We saw no icebergs but passed over many glaciers. The Alutian islands are worse than the Kuriles, the weather stormier with more snow."

STORMS TAKE VICTIMS

POPULAR BLIFFS, Mo., May 24 (AP)—Two persons dead, about 50 injured, several probably fatally and thousands of dollars damage to property and livestock, is the known toll of the wind and electrical storm which swept south-west Missouri late last night.

While reports of the storm's havoc are trickling in over crippled wire for hours, reports of additional loss of life in the storm still lacked confirmation tonight.

Pure

(According to Webster)
Simple, real, genuine, clean, undefiled.
That describes our ice cream fully and perfectly.
Would you give your children anything to eat that is not pure? Certainly not!
Then why buy it elsewhere? Why take a chance? Chocolate, Strawberry and Vanilla. Sherbet, too! 50c a quart.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 24 (AP)—

Will H. Hays, former postmaster general, presented to the Presbyterian general assembly here today a new pension plan for ministers, missionaries and all accredited workers of the denomination. The plan, which is the product of a year's work by a special lay committee, of which Hays is chairman, was adopted unanimously by the assembly.

If the plan is accepted by a majority of the 10,000 Presbyterian churches of the country, it will mark one of the most important steps taken in years towards providing for servants of the church in their old age, and for their widows and orphans as well. The plan is based on salary and service; the minister or other eligible church worker pays two and one-half per cent of his salary annually toward the pension; the church he serves pays 7 and one-half per cent. At the age of 65 he is eligible to retirement on a pension equal to half of his average salary with a minimum of $600 a year.

The resolutions adopted by the assembly today provide that the Hays plan hereafter be the pension system of the Presbyterian church and that it will begin functioning not later than April 1, 1925. They call for a change in the title of the board of ministerial relief and sustenance to the board of pensions; provide for the abolition of the so-called honor roll of the board of ministerial relief and recommend that the present sustenance department be closed to all further membership.

LEGION TO MEET

It has been proposed that each member be outfitted with Palm Beach and dark blue caps.

The uniforms, legion officials said, would assist Salem in the community advertising plan recently inaugurated.

HUGE CROWD PRESENT AT IDAHO TECH CEREMONIES

POCATELLO, Idaho, May 24 (Special to The News)—Over a thousand people witnessed the Masonic ceremonies attending the laying of the cornerstone of the new Idaho Tech administration building Friday afternoon. Gov. C. C. Moore, L. E. Rockwell of the state board of education, and Senator T. D. Jones were the principal speakers.

Governor Moore congratulated the people of Idaho upon the growth of the Tech, and declared that it was the duty of all state educational institutions to stand as bulwarks against invidious propaganda intended to discredit the American form of government.

Senator Rockwell eloquently pleaded for the maintenance of the state schools notwithstanding economy programs, and said: "Pshaw be the hand that would rise against the American public school, for the hand of institution or individual!"

A note of regret was sounded by the prominent speakers because President C. R. Franzier was unable to be present. President Franzier is in the hospital convalescent after an operation for appendicitis. Dean J. E. Rutherford introduced Senator Rockwell, chairman of the day.

DAUGHTER OF RASPUTIN RECALLS LAST WORDS

PARIS, May 24 (AP)—Mlle. Maria Gregorovna Rasputin, daughter of the murdered Russian monk, who is living in Paris practically penniless, plans to sell her father's memoirs and take up professional dancing for which she was trained.

Three of the famous monk's five children are still living. Mlle. Rasputin declared today. She said that one of her brothers and one of her sisters are now living in Siberia, and that the others died after the revolution. Mlle. Rasputin also remembered the night of her father's death. Before leaving the house he said to his family: "I am going to the Yousouffs. I do not want any one to know a word about it; not a word." It was recalled that the name of Prince Felix Yousouff had been mentioned in connection with the monk's death.

ANOTHER BOOK LIST

During the recent observance of Better Homes Week, bookshelves and publishers helped along the cause by making up lists of books recommended as a foundation for a home library. One such list is particularly interesting in a contrast to the more familiar five-foot shelf of Dr. Eliot.

In the latter there are found numerous selections from Greek and Roman literature, as well as more modern bits. In the Better Homes list there seems to be an overbalance in favor of modern works. The Bible, a one-volume Shakespeare, a good dictionary and Roget's Thesaurus are about the only old-timers that break into the list. There is a little modern drama, a little recent biography; the "outlines" of art, literature, science and history; an encyclopedia of music; bird and flower guides; some of the current books on psychology, diet and etiquette; Emerson's essays; one volume of Stevenson's poetry; one collection of modern poetry; and finally one volume each from Scott, Dickens, Thackeray, Kipling, Conrad, Galsworthy, Tarkington and Mark Twain, Hayley's Games and an Atlas of the World are also included.

It is an incomplete list, of course, and anyone who loves books and has read anything beyond required school texts could probably point out omissions and flaws in the choice given. It should be remembered, however, that the list represents only a foundation.

A professor of literature, asked for a reading guide, once said that the best reading guide was one good book. A thoughtful reading of one meaty volume would inevitably lead any reader to others and, by following the lines of thought set up by the first volume, he would become eventually a well-read man. Given, then, fifty foundation books, readers ought in time to delve deep into the treasure store of literature. And some of the more fortunate ones, at least should, even find their way back to the ancient classics and to some of the literature of foreign lands.

Dreamland Adventures

JUST IN FUN

BY DADDY

Last week Jack and Janet saw the queer results of looking through the eyes-of-fear glasses found by Daddy Dog in the woods. This week they have exciting adventures with the same glasses.

CHAPTER I.

JACK looked the air of the woods. Usually it was clear air perfumed by sweet forest odors. Now it was hazy air and that which Jack smelled caused him to give a cry of alarm. "Smoked!" he said to Janet. "Some one has set a fire in the woods."

Jack and Janet had heard in school how dangerous it is to set a fire in the forest. It might run away and burn up the trees and the homes of the birds and all the animals, doing damage that would cost as much as a thousand big houses.

They had promised never to leave an unguarded fire in the woods and all ways to try to put out any fire they might find then.

"Let us run to see where the fire is," said Janet.

The smoke was thicker now. They could see it was coming from the top of an open hill. Running up the hill as fast as they could go, they found the fire. It was blazing merrily amid the bushes of a blueberry patch. It ran along among dried leaves, flickering upward when it came to a blueberry bush.

Just as Jack and Janet came in sight of the fire they heard a roar of rage, and out of the woods rushed Lonesome Bear, his hair bristling and his jaws snarling.

"Who started this fire in my berry patch?" growled Lonesome Bear. "It will burn up all my berries and I'll have no berries this summer."

"Yes, and it will do more than that," shouted Jack. "It will burn all the woods unless we put it out."

"Wau-ugh! You can't put fires out!" roared Lonesome Bear. "The only thing you can do is to run away from them."

Lonesome Bear started to run, but Jack halted him.

"Don't be silly," said Jack. "We can put this fire out if we fight it."

Saying this, Jack broke off a branch of green fir tree and began to thrash at the fire. Janet did the same. As they had been told to do in school, they started at the edge where the fire was creeping forward with the wind behind it. The smoke was worse on that side, but when they bent out the fire it stopped still, while the blaze behind burned itself out.

"Wau-ugh! I see now how to fight fire," growled Lonesome Bear. "I'll help."

He bent at the fire with his paws, but the fire sparks burned him.

"Ow-ow-ow!" he wailed. "Lonesome Bear. 'That hurts!' He plunged down the hill and into the creek to cool himself off. And when he got all wet he got an idea. He climbed back up the hill, and rubbed over the creeping flames. His wet fur quenched the fire."

"Washe-he! (Very good.) If I'd said elk or deer you'd come for a second helping. Shows what language does for a man."

And Scissors asked the brave to dash up more of the stew.

"Horse doesn't seem so bad," but dog—"muttered Dinsdale.

The kettle was removed and their ears were tightly pinched. Scissors requested that the flap of the tent be pulled back the full width. This allowed them to see what was going on in front of the lodge. Near the entrance two men were making shields of inch-thick hide taken from a buffalo bull's neck. The hide was pegged down on a thick layer of clay and was then covered with burning coals.

This process hardened it sufficiently to turn a lance point, or a round bullet. It was a striking incongruity of the campaign, bows and arrows and shields by the side of magazine rifles and metallic cartridges. Never again would the plains witness such a mingling of the old and the new.

Little Big Man strolled to the opening of the lodge. He was smoking a beautiful pipe of red sandstone. The bowl was filled with silver and the long red stem was artistically decorated with feathers and quills. He offered the pipe to the sky and earth and to the cardinal points, but spoke no word to the prisoners.

After waiting for a minute Scissors asked, "When can Two Knives Talking see his friend Crazy Horse?"

Little Big Man smiled cynically and replied: "If Two Knives Talking is waken enough he can untie himself and go to see his friend."

"To be free of Little Big Man's clumsy cords is easy for the medicine of Two Knives Talking," growled Scissors. "Will he find the road to Slim butte open?"

And he brought his hands before him to show they were free.

With a yelp Little Big Man turned and called loudly. Warriors came on the run.

"Two Knives Talking has untied the rawhide," granted the leader. "Two warriors advanced to Scissors and poked about behind him, but could find no vestige of the thought. 'Two Knives Talking's medicine ate them up,' explained Scissors. 'Are the Ogalela afraid I will fly up among the thunder birds, that they must tie me?'

The leader snapped out an order and fresh things were brought and Scissors tied up for the second time.

"What the devil did you do with the cords?" whispered Dinsdale from the corner of his mouth.

"In your side pocket," yawned Scissors.

Little Big Man harshly demanded: "Why do white men ride out to Mato Tipi and place racks in trees?"

"Because we are turning red," was the prompt reply.

"Where is Wichakpa-yaman! (General Crook) now?"

"When I am treated as a brother my medicine will tell you," coldly replied Scissors.

"They say you will talk with a very fast tongue when you feel the skinning knives," threatened Little Big Man.

Scissors smiled tolerantly and said: "Crazy Horse will soon set his friend free to walk where he will."

"Two Knives Talking has a weak medicine. It freed him once; now it is very tired," jeered Little Big Man.

"My young men may not wait for you to see Tashunah-ulco," they say they want white skin for medicine shirts. They say they are sharpening their knives."

"Little Big Man talks like a Shoshoni singing to the moon," sneered Scissors. "A very wakan man never speaks."

My husband tries to keep up a conversation with me while his mind is on something else.

I wouldn't mind it a bit if he'd only say, "I'm just in the midst of trying to work out an idea. Will you wait a minute to talk to me?"

But instead of that he goes on with his own thoughts and at the same time tries to make me think he's deeply interested in what I'm talking about.

This always annoys me, because I can see that he has no idea at all of what I'm saying to him. But he keeps nodding his head and looking very wise.

"Yes—yes, indeed!" he says, whenever I pause for a moment. "Oh—of course, of course!" he put in every time I look inquiringly at him.

By doing this he makes himself think that he's being very pleasant and agreeable. But it strikes me differently.

When I'm looking for automatic conversation I can get all I want from the phonograph. But what I want from Hugh's side of the house is a little interest and attention!

COURT'S ORDER SOUGHT TO STOP MILNER PUMPS

Reclamation Commissioner Invokes Legal Action in Support of Regulatory Measure
Resisted by District.

Upon application of W. G. Swenson,
Idaho commissioner of reclamation,
Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here Saturday issued an order to the Milner Low Lift Irrigation district showing cause in district court here next Tuesday why it and its agents should
not be restrained from pumping or diverting any water from Snake river and
containing it to refrain from pumping
water from Snake river until notified
by the reclamation commissioner or his
agents "that there is an excess of water
in said river over and above the
amounts required to completely supply
all adjudicated rights on said stream."

District Resists Demand.

Complaint filed in the action by Attorneys E. A. Walters and R. P. Parry
for the reclamation commissioner, relates that agents of the district were ordered last Thursday by W. M. Mc-Connell, deputy watermaster at Milner, to cease operation of the district's pumps at that point by means of which approximately 100 acres of land in the district have been diverted to the district's lands in Twin Falls and Cassia counties.
The complaint states that the district
complied temporarily with this order,
but in the night time resumed operation of the pumps, and when McConnell and J. W. Gahbert, Twin Falls county deputy sheriff, Friday again made demand for stopping the pumps, the district refused to comply.

Relies Upon Decree.

In this action the reclamation commissioner relies upon a decree entered in district court here in June, 1913,
in the case of the Twin Falls Canal company against Charles M. Reeder and others, wherein was set for the rights of all parties entitled to use Snake river water at and above Milner dam, together with the respective amounts to which each was entitled and the respective dates of priority of such diversion.
The Milner district, in this decree was given nothing, nor, according to the reclamation commissioner's complaint, does the district now have "any adjudicated water right whatsoever in or to the waters of Snake river."

Moorman Explains.

In explanation of the reclamation commissioner's position in the present controversy, D. B.
Moorman, one of the district's agents,
the Milner Canal company whose rights and property were taken over by the Milner Low Lift district, made the following statement:

"As far as my use of water from Milner dam is concerned, we are now operating under a permit from the state engineer—permit No. 15552—filed on the drainage waters of the Minidoka project.
This permit is bonded for $1,000 for the completion of the works, and the works are now completed, and we are pumping 50 second feet. The drainage waters at this time exceed 125 second feet. We know we have a case in federal court asking that a decree for these rights be entered. No one claims this water except the Murtaugh Canal company. No other interests have permits or filings."

"In addition to this we own 15,000
acre feet of water which was purchased from the government, bottom rights in Jackson lake, so that any statement to the effect that we are without full and complete water rights is badly in error."

"I offer this explanation in justice to myself and in the hopes that it will be given full publicity by you. We have not stopped pumping and we do not intend to stop until the end of the irrigation season."

Treat is Promised in Revue of 1924

Committee in Charge of Elks Annual Show Says Preparations Are Progressing

One of the most spectacular and pleasing entertainment combinations ever witnessed presented, according to the committee in charge, is the Elks Revue of 1924 to be presented at the Lavoring theatre Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 2 and 3, as an annual offering of Twin Falls lodge of Elks.

Everything in connection with the big show, according to the committee, is coming along in good shape, with selection of the large cast completed,
parts and songs assigned, "funny business" arranged, chorus lining up well,
show cause in district court here next Tuesday why it and its agents should
not be restrained from pumping or di-
verting any water from Snake river and
containing it to refrain from pumping
water from Snake river until notified
by the reclamation commissioner or his
agents "that there is an excess of water
in said river over and above the
amounts required to completely supply
all adjudicated rights on said stream."

While the production is the Elks' annual show and, as such, is deserving of general support, the committee states,
the revue stands on its own and guarantees a full evening of pleasing, clean entertainment.

This cast will meet at the Lavoring
for rehearsal at 2 p. m. today.

CONTACT, Nev., May 24 (Special to The News)—More than 250 persons, including W. Grathouse, Nevada's secretary of state, several Elko county ofning at the management of the Fairview hotel here at festivities marking the public opening of this institution which has just been completed by Robert Weir and H. A. DeVaux of Connecticut.

the spacious dance floor until late at night, music being furnished by the Carlson orchestra of Contact.

BOYS CAUSE COMPLAINTS SWIMMING WITHOUT SUITS

Probation Officer Suggests Youngsters
May Overcome Objections by Retaining Overalls in Water.

Complaints against small boys swimming in irrigation ditches and laterals without bathing suits have been made on several occasions recently by John B.
Ault, county probation officer, according to his statement Saturday. Persons making such complaints do not object to the boys swimming in ditches on their places, he said, but they do object to the youngsters' appearance on such occasions without clothing of any kind. The probation officer suggested that overalls would serve in lieu of bathing suits.

SENTENCED TO PRISON TERMS

K. S. Peters and F. G. Lechleiter, Convicted of Embe-zlement, Free on Bonds.

K. S. Peters, former manager, and Frank G. Lechleiter, former secretary of the Mutual Building and Loan association, convicted Friday in district court here of embezzlement of $18,442
of the association's funds, were released yesterday under $4000 bonds each to which they were admitted by Judge
W. A. Babcock, presiding, pending appeal to the supreme court from judgment imposing punishment by imprisonment for from one to 14 years in the state prison
for each of the accused men.
Defense counsel objected to pronouncement of judgment of the jury's verdict and moved for an arrest of judgment and also for a new trial, the objection and both motions being denied and overruled by Judge Babcock and exceptions to the court's orders being noted by the defense. Thereafter defense attorneys filed notice of appeal and applied for certificate of probation cause for such appeal and admission to bond, which were granted by the court,
bond being fixed for each of the accused men in the sum of $4000.
Bond for Peters was furnished by Frank Krueger and Robert H. Schuster, bonds for Lechleiter being furnished by John Wolfenden and H. W. Wilson.
