MILLIONS NOT TO BE USED IN MURDER CASE

Wealthy Fathers of Chicago's Young Confessed Slayers Say Justice Will Not Be Defeated By Money

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—Their millions will not be used to save Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Robert Franks, from the gallows, the joint statement issued tonight by the fathers of the accused youths, both Chicago millionaires, said.

"Only such defense as that to which every human being is entitled will be provided for their sons," the statement said. "Assuming that the facts in this case are substantially as published, then the only proceeding they favor is a simple, solemn investigation under the law touching the mental responsibility of their accused sons."

There will be no legal counsel outside the attorneys now representing the accused, with one possible exception, the statement said, and no large sums will be spent for either legal or medical talent. "In no event will the families of the accused boys use money in any attempt to defeat justice."

Sons Indicted.

The statement, signed by Nathan P. Leopold Sr., wealthy box manufacturer, and Albert H. Loeb, vice president of Sears-Roebuck & Co., was issued a few hours after their youthful sons, brilliant university students, had been indicted for murder and kidnapping for ransom, each crime punishable by death, in connection with the slaying of 13-year-old Robert Franks, son of another Chicago millionaire.

"In view of the many statements of large sums of money to be used in the defense of Nathan P. Leopold Jr. and Richard A. Loeb," the statement said, "the families of the accused boys desire to say that they have lived in Chicago for more than 50 years and the public can judge whether they have conducted themselves in their relations with this community in such a way as to earn a standard of a faithful, decent, upright, law-abiding citizens, conscious of their duties and responsibilities to the community in which they live."

No Legal Battle.

"They have not the slightest inclination or intention to use their means to stage an unsightly legal battle with an elaborate array of counsel and an army of newspaper attorneys in an attempt to defeat justice. Only such defense as that to which every human being is entitled will be provided for their sons. Assuming the facts in this case are substantially as published, then the only proceeding they favor is a simple, solemn investigation under the law touching the mental responsibility of their accused sons."

"They emphatically state that no counsel for the accused boys will be retained, other than those lawyers now representing them, with the possible exception of one or two additional local lawyers. There will be no large sums of money spent, either for legal or medical talent. The families will be glad to medical experts will be

Prince Borrows $2 from Fiancee to Pay License Clerk

Viggo of Denmark Short of Cash on Wedding; Wants to See Niagara Falls and Coney Island, He Says

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—Prince Viggo of Denmark arrived on the Estonia today with a $2 greenback borrowed from his fiancée, Miss Eleanor Margaret Green, of New York City, purchased a license to marry her.

The prince was accompanied by his father, Prince Valdemar. They were met at the Estonia pier in Brooklyn by Miss Green and Charles B. Alexander, former president of the National democratic club. A police motor cycle squad escorted the party to the marriage license bureau at the city hall.

All went well until city Clerk Cruise, ready to proffer the license, said "two dollars, please." Prince Viggo jingled a handful of Danish coins. Mr. Cruise shook his head; a royal blush overspread the princely countenance, while Miss Green drew a fresh $2 bill from her hand bag and said "Here it is."

"American honeymoon?" asked the reporters.

"Of course," replied the prince.

"And Niagara Falls? All honeymooners go there?" The questioners persisted.

"Then I suppose we'll go there too," was the reply.

When the prince learned that plans to entertain him at several Long Island country estates might be extended to include a trip to Coney Island, he glowed with anticipation, for he had always wanted to see this Coney Island.

NINETEEN MINERS REPORTED KILLED

WOMAN CONVICTED OF MURDERING PHYSICIAN

LOS ANGELES, June 6 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Willis, charged with slaying Dr. Benjamin Baldwin, Los Angeles physician, stuffing his body into a trunk and throwing it over a bank, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in superior court here today. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

Mrs. Willis received the verdict calmly, but tears flooded the eyes of her 13-year-old son Harold. The prosecution charged that Mrs. Willis killed Dr. Baldwin to obtain possession of his automobile.

PROJECT BILL MEETS DELAY

Await Decision of Conferees on Deficiency Appropriation Measure.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Plans to bring the reclamation bill to a vote today in the house were held in abeyance pending a decision by conferees on the deficiency appropriation bill as to whether acceptance by the house of the senate reclamation rider which is in line with Secretary Work's first-finding commission's recommendations, should be insisted upon.

The supply bill was sent to the house today from the senate which voted on it last night. Some senate amendments were disagreed to, and conferees were named immediately.

A two-thirds vote would be required for passage if the reclamation bill was taken up by the house under a motion to suspend rules. The senate rider in most particulars is similar to the house bill and should the conferees recommend its acceptance by the house, many leaders predicted they would only a majority vote would be needed to keep the provisions in the bill.

OPPOSE VIEWS ON OIL PROBE

Five Members of Senate Committee Submit Minority Report on Investigation.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Five republican members of the oil committee today submitted to the senate a minority report dissenting from some of the views expressed in the majority report drawn up yesterday by the committee prosecutor, Senator Walsh.

The minority report was drawn up by Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, and gave notice that "mistakes and conclusions and inferences of fact and law contained in the majority report will later be brought to the attention of the senate."

Besides Senator Spencer, those who signed it were Senators Smoot, Utah; Stanford, Oregon; Cameron, Arizona, and Bursum, New Mexico.

The five senators complain that they had no adequate opportunity to examine the majority report which they asserted was "first presented" for their consideration on Wednesday.

Senator Walsh gave notice today that he would ask the house tomorrow to adopt formally the majority report.

House Authorizes Investigation of Bankruptcy Laws

Sub-Committee to Take Testimony as to Defects of the Federal Statutes.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The house adopted a resolution tonight authorizing an investigation by a sub-committee of its judiciary committee of the federal bankruptcy law.

The sub-committee is empowered to take testimony regarding perfecting any existing defects in present bankruptcy law. Its members are Representatives Mchener, republican, Michigan, chairman; Christopherson, South Dakota; Vermead, New York; republicans; and Montague, Virginia, and Major, Missouri democrats.

SIX IN ONE FAMILY KILLED

GREENVILLE, Ohio, June 6 (AP)—Six persons, virtually the entire family of Adam Eitzen of Bradford, were killed today when their automobile stalled on the tracks and was demolished by an eastbound Big Tony train at Dawn, 19 miles south of here.

Workers' Lives Taken by Explosion in Pennsylvania Colliery; Several Believed to be Entombed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 6 (AP)—Late reports from the Loomis colliery of the Glen Alden Coal company are to the effect that 19 men lost their lives in the explosion there today.

Forty-two miners were in the section of the mine where the disaster occurred, and some of them are said to be entombed.

Glen Alden officials are reticent and refuse to give any information. At midnight no additional bodies had been recovered. Estimates vary to the number of dead. Joseph J. Walsh, chief of the state bureau of mines, said that eight men were known to be dead and from four to six missing and that a reckoning of the men working at the colliery may be necessary to determine the exact number. Chief Walsh received his information from one of the state inspectors engaged in the rescue work.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 6 (AP)—Ten men are known to be dead and five seriously injured as a result of a gas explosion today in Loomis colliery of the Glen Alden Coal company. The dead and injured have been removed from the mine. Rescue parties are still searching the workings. Among the dead are Thomas Phillips and Richard Wall of Nanticoke and John Hehrick of Hanover Green, all miners. Two Wilkesbarre negroes are also among the dead.

After that Premier Kiyomasa may go to the palace to present the resignations of the ministers to the prince regent.

IDAHO WEATHER.

Saturday: Fair and warmer.

FARM AID BILL MAY BE BAR TO EARLY CLOSING

Prediction of "Painless Passing" of Present Session of Congress Shaken by Unfinished Business.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Predictions of a painless passing out tomorrow of the present session of congress were somewhat shaken by developments in the senate today.

Farm relief, believed to have been definitely set aside for the session by the decision of the senate and house farm committees to drop their fight, came to the fore again with the favorable report of the senate agriculture committee of the bill proposing export bounty of 35 cents a bushel on wheat and wheat products. Delegations from the wheat belt in both houses expressed belief that action could be obtained before adjournment.

The senate committee also reported several other farm relief measures but there was little expectation of action on them before December.

Debate Expected.

Should the farm relief fight fail to develop tomorrow a further source of warm debate was seen in the motion of Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, to call up his resolution proposing appointment of a senate special committee to watch expenditures during the coming campaign. While no direct opposition to that proposal was indicated tonight there was a heavy non-partisan sentiment against consideration solely because it threatened to block action on a number of bridge bills and similar legislation in the final hours.

Also the senate is expected to pass upon the majority report of its oil committee investigating the naval losses.

Otherwise the senate emergency program today included only the second deficiency bill with its reclamation relief rider which was in conference and some other routine measures in the same status.

The deficiency bill was the only matter of importance confronting the house which at another night session considered private bills and routine reports. The senate also remained in night session.

U. S. Globe-Circling Aviators Off Again; Delayed by Weather

Leave Shang Hai for Amoy; Three Are Together for Next Lap in Long Trip.

SHANGHAI, June 6 (AP)—The American army around the world fliers left here at 6:45 this morning for Amoy.

The American aviators who were separated at Kagoshima, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith and his mechanic, Lieutenant Leslie P. Arnold, being delayed at Kagoshima, Japan, by engine trouble, are together again for the first jump in the third division of their around the world flight, 555 miles from Shanghai to Amoy.

They are just a month behind their original schedule, the original plan being for them to reach Amoy on May 7. Bad weather in Alaska and crossing the Pacific, however, delayed them. From Amoy they fly 300 miles to Hongkong.

GERMAN RELIEF MOVE DEFEATED

LaFollette Motion Precipitates Debate; Foreign Relations Body Held on Job.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The resolution to appropriate $10,000,000 for relief of German women and children was practically killed tonight by the senate which voted against discharging its foreign relations committee from further consideration of it.

Action was taken upon a motion of Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, to discharge the committee which previously had refused to report the resolution already passed by the house. The motion precipitated a debate which ran for several hours.

The vote on the LaFollette motion was 23 to 53. The resolution called for purchase of foodstuffs in this country for shipment to Germany. Twelve republicans and nine democrats and the two farmer-labor senators supported the LaFollette motion. Twenty-six democrats and 27 republicans opposed it.

MOTORMEN TO STRIKE.

CLEVELAND, O., June 6 (AP)—Motor men and conductors of the Cleveland Railway company voted almost unanimously tonight to strike Tuesday at midnight unless a 12 cent an hour wage awarded several days ago by an arbitration board is granted. The strike becomes effective on the opening night of the republican national convention.

THE KIDNAPERS' SYNDICATE

GOUTHY FIRED BY CRY AFTER HIS NOMINATION

Prohibition Party's Convention in Turmoil Over Selection of Candidates for Election to National Office.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 6 (AP)—The prohibition party adopted its platform after a session which was marked by the withdrawal of several delegates from the floor and a singing rebuke to A. C. Gouthy, Seattle, Wash., evangelist, first nominated for the vice presidency and then thrown off the ticket.

Nominees were, for president, H. P. Paris, Clinton, Mo.; for vice president, Miss Marie C. Bruhn, a temperance worker of Long Beach, Cal.

Miss Bruhn was nominated by acclamation after Dr. Gouthy won the place by a vote of 3 to 1 over her and Colonel Alfred L. Moody, Waterbury, Conn.

Will Evangelize.

The formal ballot was almost equally decisive and a motion was then offered to make the nomination unanimous. Then he took the floor and said: "I was definitely called of God, first in the ministry of the Presbyterian church and then to evangelize. I have been trying to decide this question and can only say that the call to evangelize prevails. I therefore withdraw and beg to move as a substitute that Miss Bruhn be declared the unanimous choice of the convention."

There was a stunned silence, broken by Rev. Aaron S. Watkins, Ohio, in which was a presidential nominee four years ago.

Were "Played With."

"I feel that we have been played with," he said. "A lift of the eyebrow an hour ago would have stopped this farce and we would have placed this party crown upon the brow of Dr. Gouthy. I do not think Mr. Gouthy should be allowed to withdraw."

Dr. D. Leith Colvin, New York, running mate of Dr. Watkins in 1920, approved the latter's remarks and said:

"I do not think anyone should be permitted to capitalize a nomination for vice president of the United States. I move we reconsider the ballot and proceed anew to the nomination for vice president."

Asserts Sincerity.

Dr. Gouthy replied: "I have no need to capitalize this convention. I preach to thousands of people in all parts of the country and have no inclination or desire to capitalize this or any other political convention. I ask you only to believe that I am sincere."

Dr. Colvin's motion prevailed unanimously and the formal nomination of Miss Bruhn by acclamation followed.

Gooding Subject to $3,000 Fine, Virginian Claims

Senator Glass Charges Idaho Solon With Violating Federal Statutes in Connection With War Finance Board Loans.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, charged in the senate tonight that Senator Gooding, republican, Idaho, on the basis of the latter's own statements with reference to his relations with the war finance corporation had done "a thing expressly prohibited by the federal statutes and is subject to a fine of $3,000."

Senator Gooding, the republican senator declared, had secured a corporation in which he was interested had received loans from the war finance corporation in and Mr. Glass said that he would demand an investigation.

Senator Glass made his charge after Senator Hoffman, democrat, Alabama, had questioned Senator Stanford, republican, Oregon, concerning his dealings with the war finance corporation, the latter having said a corporation in which he was interested had organized to assist farmers and had made extensive loans from the war finance corporation.

When Senator Gooding reminded the senate that he had introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of the transactions of the government corporation, the Virginia senator shook the floor. He did not go into details of the legal question and the incident closed almost as quickly as it had arisen.

TEXTILE TRADE WILL IMPROVE, BABSON CLAIMS

Doubts Truth of Pessimistic Reports Concerning Business; Outlines Factors Bearing on Present Status

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 6.—Roger W. Babson, the statistician, today issued a statement regarding the position in the textile industry which does much to clear up confusion attending this situation.

"Business men in the east, at least those pessimistically inclined," says Mr. Babson, "have been spending a great deal of time in talking the situation existing in the cotton textile industry and in the cotton textile industry. The industry is depressed—there is no doubt of that—but it is hardly a situation in which three words of mouth reports would lead you to believe."

"Examining the textile industry as a whole we find that the movement for April, 1924, in 1923 establishments to fall 431,000 as against 181,771 for April of 1923. This shows a loss in employment of 11 per cent, or 112,000 men. This is a situation in the textile industry and in the cotton textile industry. The industry is depressed—there is no doubt of that—but it is hardly a situation in which three words of mouth reports would lead you to believe."

Compares Conditions.

"Examining active spindle hours for April, 1924, as compared with 1923, we find that the record by states shows active as follows: Alabama, 84 per cent; Connecticut, 77 per cent; Georgia, 87 per cent; Maine, 78 per cent; Massachusetts, 64 per cent; New Hampshire, 65 per cent; New Jersey, 91 per cent; New York, 79 per cent; North Carolina, 61 per cent; Tennessee, 100 per cent; Virginia, 79 per cent; and other states, 75 per cent. Prices of cotton goods, moreover, have been generally the same as last month. Dealers have dropped slightly but the rest of the list shows no appreciable change. Trading is very light and the industry is in a lull."

"If we search for the causes of this slowing up in the cotton goods we find it due to a decline in general activity at home and to an unusual increase in imports of foreign cotton goods. Study shows that countries recovering from a war or from other similar disaster reorganize their economic machinery in the following order: 1. Food; 2. clothing; 3. shelter; 4. luxuries and all other goods. Our exports to Europe of food were very high during the war and immediately following the war. Then Europe began again to feed herself. Our large exports of cloth lasted until the European textile mills got back onto a producing basis. Instead of buying heavily from us these countries have for the past few years they have entered the market with goods of their own manufacture and those who were customers have become competitors. Exports of cotton goods have dwindled and imports have increased materially. Nine months ending March shows imports valued at $3,305,744, or the same period the previous year."

Sees Improvement

"A comparison of percentage activity for March and April, however, would indicate a gradual and relative improvement in conditions. March showed 77 per cent of activity, April showed 74 per cent of activity. Even in New England where the textile people are hit the hardest, March showed activity 63 per cent of last year, while April improved to 66 per cent. Comparisons of activity by states shows practically a universal improvement in this figure of percentage activity."

"The cotton industry is marking time, and probably will do so until after the first of August, when the new crop is determined and prices for raw cotton are set as a basis for another season. Stocks of goods are low at present. Conditions in the industry may improve at that time. The study of the situation," concluded Mr. Babson, "leads me to believe that conditions in the textile industry may get no worse than they are today and that the next turn may be upward. After all, with general business as reflected on the Babson-Baruch running at 10 per cent below normal it is not surprising that so general an industry as textiles should be suffering from a temporary depression."

Steps Taken Toward Founding Graduate School of World Affairs; Prominent Men Endorse Project

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE COL. E. M. HOUSE DR. ALBERT SHAW

A decisive step has been taken toward giving this country the first complete graduate school of international relations.

Recognizing the need of an institution dedicated to promote "greater understanding and knowledge of all branches of international life in the midst of a world relationship where scientific and economic facts are bringing nations to many forms of interdependence," a large group of noted educators, publicists, jurists and men of influence have stamped their approval on a proposal to establish a school of international relations which will be "indirectly more than a school of diplomacy."

Behind the movement are Colonel E. M. House, William Allen White, Kansas publisher and author; Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of Review of Reviews; Franklin D. Roosevelt, John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain; Edward Bok, Adm. W. S. Sims, George W. Wickham, former attorney general; Dr. J. A. C. Harnett, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce; General Tasker H. Bliss, Adolph Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, and a score of other equally prominent men.

Following a recent conference in New York to devise a means of advancing the proposed school, the following resolutions were adopted:

1.—Recognizing in the growing influence of the United States in world affairs, and the inevitable need of a school of highest standards and equipment for the conduct of research and training in the study of international relations, we cordially endorse in principle the establishment of a school of international relations.

2.—We understand a proposal has been advanced that such a school be connected with Johns Hopkins University and also that the further proposal has been advanced that because of his eminent practical service in promotion of sound international relations at a critical period in our history the name of Walter Hines Page be associated with the school.

3.—The Chairman is hereby authorized to appoint a committee to study the proposal, with friends of the late Walter Hines Page and others in order to further these proposals, and bring them, if possible, into full realization.

Pending approval by the authorities of Johns Hopkins University, the scope of the school is planned to include the five basic subjects of fundamental bases of international relations, history of international relations, international law, diplomatic practice and procedure and international organizations. It has been suggested that the course embrace a three-year period of graduate instruction, at least one year of which would be spent abroad in the study of racial and social peculiarities, political and economic conditions, and other pertinent factors that have direct bearing on the relations of nations with each other.

In connection with the study of fundamental bases of international relations, the physical and geographical, commercial, racial and economic aspects will be given first consideration with a view to lessening conflicts between different types of national thought and culture. It is the belief of thinkers who have given the matter their close attention that the source of international friction can be traced to the inability of the peoples of the world to appreciate the merits of civilizations other than their own, and the reasonableness of national policies founded upon their own.

Headquarters of the committee have been set up in the office of Herbert L. Gutterman, 111 Broadway, New York.

Clever Device Serves Liquor or Runs It Into Sewer if Cops Raid

SPOKANE, June 6 (AP)—Spokane prohibition enforcement in Stregene has brought about a situation where vendors of illicit liquor and rum runners are resorting to mechanical devices of elaborate and complicated design to aid them in evading arrest, according to city and federal prohibition officials.

Recent investigations conducted by the officials have uncovered numerous and widely varying schemes, they say, all of which function with the same purpose: that of providing quick and satisfactory elimination of "evidence."

One of the most intricate devices uncovered by the officers consisted of a copper container placed in the sewer in the basement of a building where a

"soft drink parlor" was located. A regular water main ran in the outer tainer and inside the water pipe was a copper pipe for conveying liquor, small enough to allow free passage of water between the two. When a tap in the store was turned on without pressing one of two buttons the liquor in the container would run into the sewer. By pressing one button and turning the faucet, liquor ran from the tap. When the other button was pressed, in connection with the faucet, ordinary water was obtained.

Police officials claim they have evidence to show that a number of carpenters and plumbers in and near the city have flourished to the extent of becoming wealthy by manufacturing and installing these automatic evidence destroyers.

SPECIAL TRAINS FOR DELEGATES

Ample Provisions Made for Carrying Republicans to National Convention

CLEVELAND, June 6 (AP)—More special trains will arrive in Cleveland for the opening of the republican national convention Tuesday, than have come to the city in many years, said Col. Carmi A. Thompson, chairman of the local committee on arrangements.

Already arrangements have been completed for six special trains and several more are expected. The New York delegation will arrive here Sunday, June 8. The Massachusetts delegation augmented by 300 of the president's closest personal friends, will arrive on the same day. The Connecticut and California delegates also will arrive on Sunday, the latter in a special.

C. H. March, chairman of the Minnesota delegation, has arranged for a special train for his delegates. Newspaper specialists will leave Washington on the nights of Friday, June 6 and Saturday, June 7, according to James H. Preston, superintendent of the State Fair Grounds.

Pennsylvania and New Jersey delegates also will come in special trains, according to Senator George W. Pepper and Hamilton F. Kenn, respectively republican national committee men of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Believes Flight by Muscular Power Will Soon Become Reality

German Engineer Predicts Dream of Ages Is About To Be Proven Practical

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 6 (AP)—Flight by human muscular power, dream of ages, will become a reality before long, in the opinion of Professor Hans Watterneck, a German engineer.

"While it is true that much work is yet to be done before this age-long dream is realized," he writes, "yet there can not be the slightest doubt about the final outcome."

The discovery of gasoline as a motive power for flying, temporary halted experiments in flying by human muscular power, but the results achieved by motorless planes or gliders give new encouragement to the idea, he says.

FOREIGN TRADE WOULD INCREASE BY ADVERTISING

Sales Expert Indorses Newspaper as Best Medium; Promotes Good Will Needed for Better Business

BOSTON, June 6 (AP)—That the newspaper is the most effective medium for advertising in the foreign trade field, was the opinion expressed by Paul C. Mahony, director of foreign sales, Wahl company, of New York, during the advertising session today of the eleventh national foreign trade convention.

This session, which was held in connection with the national advertising organization, under the chairmanship of Edward N. Hervey, of Chicago, formerly head of the shipping board, was devoted to wide discussion as to the best methods of securing results through advertising campaigns, and the handling of exportations.

Mr. Mahony pointed out that while there is a great deal of theorizing in connection with foreign advertising, with a tendency to pile up overhead charges, it is rather a simple matter. Promotes Goodwill.

He said that advertising had as its main objective the promotion of general goodwill and through that goodwill to make sales to a foreign public. "In most cases the newspaper will be the backbone of the campaign," he said. "In no country abroad does the magazine or periodical approach the effectiveness of this form of advertising, as at home."

Mr. Mahony pointed out that waste is perhaps the biggest item of expense in the supplying of advertising material for use abroad, and that form of it and in the waste pile, or as packing material.

He said that the best advertising copy was illustrated and called for little explanation and more newspaper space rather than less should be used in any single advertisement.

A Wonderful Treat . . . for the Greeks

THE Olympic Games were more than a matter of athletic competition for the ancient Greeks. They were occasions when merchants from all over the world assembled to tempt them with their wares.

This was a wonderful treat for the Greeks. In their little city-states they had no opportunity to satisfy their individual tastes. There was practically no variety, even in articles of every-day use. The accumulation of goods presented to them at every Olympiad was something well worth the four years' waiting.

What would they think of our good fortune—who every morning and every evening find presented at our own doors a collection of goods no Greek could have dreamed of? Advertisements in our papers spread before us the products of every civilization—from every country, from their fields, from their factories, from their laboratories.

At your ease you can decide what you care most about, compare values, check the different statements, and make your final selections.

Read the advertisements. They bring to you the offers of countless things that make life easier, happier, more interesting.

New Theory of Radio Is Advanced

In the opinion of Carl Pfanzicht, a Chicago radio engineer, the wave theory of radio will soon be exploded completely, and the radiant-energy theory take its place in explaining radio phenomena. Mr. Pfanzicht is of the opinion that there is no such thing as "ether" as commonly referred to. He says that what are usually spoken of as radio waves are undoubtedly particles smaller than an electron that are sent going by an electric current. These particles, it is assumed, bump into each other, thus transmitting energy which is picked up as sound in the receiver. When a stream of radiant energy or particles strikes the antenna it sets up a very weak current, which is transformed into sound or air waves in the receiving set.

Serviceable Dandelion Hook

Occasionally the breaking off of a lobe of a hose renders it unfit for further use and it is then usually thrown away. However, a serviceable tool for the purpose of removing dandelion hooks can easily be made from it. The blank of the broken hose is straightened in line with the handle and the blade is cut and filed to the shape shown, a V-shaped notch being cut in the end and filed to a sharp cutting edge. One of the points is cut to form a pulling hook, the throat of which is, of course, dull. A tool of this kind is very handy, as it can be used to cut the dandelions at their stems or pull them out entirely.

Serviceable Dandelion Hook

Occasionally the breaking off of a lobe of a hose renders it unfit for further use and it is then usually thrown away. However, a serviceable tool for the purpose of removing dandelion hooks can easily be made from it. The blank of the broken hose is straightened in line with the handle and the blade is cut and filed to the shape shown, a V-shaped notch being cut in the end and filed to a sharp cutting edge. One of the points is cut to form a pulling hook, the throat of which is, of course, dull. A tool of this kind is very handy, as it can be used to cut the dandelions at their stems or pull them out entirely.

LOWDOWN SILENT AS TO ACCEPTING NOMINATION

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP)—Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, was non-committal tonight when asked if he would accept the nomination for vice president if it were offered him by the republican national convention.

The former governor stopped here between trains enroute to his home at Ogden, Ill., from Richmond, Va.

"I wish to give the matter further consideration," he said, "and then I may make a statement."

CRISIS NEAR IN ALBANIA REVOLT

Central Government Gets Ultimatum; All Available Men Are Being Conscripted

ROME, June 6 (AP)—The revolutionary situation in Albania is still serious and the commander of the southern nationalist forces has addressed a 24-hour ultimatum to the central government ordering his troops to continue to advance pending the government's reply, according to a dispatch from Avlona to the Giornale d'Italia.

The districts occupied by the insurgents have been placed under a state of siege while telegraphic communication between Avlona, Durazzo and Tirana has been severed. At Avlona, a new governing committee, including several former ministers and deputies, has been formed. All men between the ages of 20 and 46 have been conscripted. The capture of Berat was effected by revolutionaries after a bombardment of two days. Twenty of the attackers were killed.

SHRINERS RETURNING HOME

KANSAS CITY, June 6 (AP)—After three days of festivities at their fiftieth annual convention here thousands of nobles of the Mystic Shrine last night were enroute or preparing to enroute for their homes in all parts of the continent.

Installation of new officers completed the business of the imperial council. Other business included the granting of a charter for a new temple at Akron, Ohio. The new temple will be formed out of the jurisdiction of the mother temple Alkanon of Cleveland, Ohio.

Seven petitions for temples were denied by the imperial council on the ground that establishment of the proposed new temples would conflict territorially with existing temples.

The seven cities whose petitions for temples were denied are: Kansas City, Kansas; Topeka, Kansas; Ottumwa, Iowa; Council Bluffs, Iowa; Cumberland, Md.; Johnston, Pa.; and Ada, Okla.

COOLIDGE NOT TO DOMINATE G. O. P. MEET

President Gives Assurance That He Will Not Dictate Selection of Party Candidate For Vice Presidency

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—With sentiment crystallizing at Cleveland on selection of the republican vice presidential nominee President Coolidge took pains to assure voters today that he was not seeking to dictate who should be his running mate.

Mr. Coolidge indicated strongly to his callers that he wanted the convention to decide the vice presidential nominee, that a good many excellent men in his opinion had been mentioned and that many of them were entirely acceptable to him.

There were plain indications at the White House that the president was disturbed by the circulation of reports that he would dominate the convention even to the extent of forcing the nomination of a hand-picked candidate for vice president.

Opposes Steam Roller

Mr. Coolidge does not desire the Cleveland convention to be known as a "steam roller" convention. Earlier in the week he expressed a desire that the delegates themselves select his running mate and he is permitted to pursue the "hands off" policy followed by President Roosevelt in the 1904 convention. This desire, his close advisers said today, had not changed.

Accordingly the friends of the president declared that if Frank O. Lowden is nominated for second place on the ticket it will be because the sentiment of the delegates favors him and not because pressure has been brought to bear from the White House. They make no secret of the fact that Mr. Lowden is highly regarded by the president but they insist that Mr. Coolidge has made no move to close the field against other available men.

The increasing sentiment among the delegates gathering at Cleveland and among members of the republican national committee there in favor of the former Governor Lowden has been communicated to the White House and also to party leaders still remaining in Washington and there is every reason to believe that he will be accepted. The party leaders here believe the former Illinois governor will consider it as amounting to a "draft" if the convention shows definite disposition to vote on him as the vice presidential candidate.

ACTION TAKEN AT STATE SEED CONFERENCE GIVEN

Declaration for High Tariff Schedules and for Co-operative Marketing Contained in Report of Session.

Action taken at an economic conference held last week at Blackfoot relative to maintenance of tariff protection for American grown seeds and distribution in favor of co-operative marketing of seed is set forth in notes of the conference compiled by J. H. Reardon, assistant county agent leader, some of which were received here Friday.

The conference, which was called by W. B. Kjosness, county agent leader, for discussion especially of all phases of the seed industry, adopted recommendations of two committees. The committee on seed tariff recommended:

1. That we ask our congressional delegation to be on the alert to see that there is no reduction in present seed tariffs.
  2. That the action of the United States department of agriculture in promulgating strict requirements for entrance of seed from foreign countries be endorsed.
  3. That high tariff be placed on alfalfa seed.
  4. That a committee consisting of H. K. Wiley and A. J. Snyder and one other person of their own selection be appointed to study seed tariff and make recommendations for strengthening the same.
- The marketing committee made the following recommendations which were accepted by the conference:
1. That seed be marketed co-operatively.
  2. That all seed produced by growers should be delivered under long time enforceable delivery contract.
  3. That all Idaho seed be placed in sealed and branded bags before leaving the state.
  4. That a standardization of commercial grades be established and all seeds be sold under this standard.

NEW YORK, June 6 (AP)—President-elect William Murray Butler, of Columbia university, in conferring upon Melville E. # DELEGATES HAVE HEAVY PROGRAM

Resolutions Laid Before Federation Convention; Urge Aid For Prisoners

LOS ANGELES, June 6 (AP)—Support for the national movement for the war veterans and the prohibition of the manufacture of narcotic drugs and industrial aid for inmates of prisons were three of the resolutions laid before the General Federation of Women's clubs, in session here today.

Mrs. Perry V. Pennybaker of Texas, president, sponsored the resolution urging support for the system for veterans and the prohibition of the manufacture of narcotic drugs in California where the handicraft of war veterans was brought to open market.

Another proposition put to the convention was that the federation delegates to the international narcotic conference in November be instructed to press for passage of a resolution there denouncing the United States and its agents for their part in the making of narcotic drugs throughout the world.

The third resolution would urge state federations to support the work of prison industrial systems whereby prisoners are paid for their labor and then given a fund with which to face the world on their release.

Mrs. John D. Sherman, chairman of the department on applied education, reported that the immature, unprepared and underpaid teachers handling the education of some millions of children in inadequate school rooms throughout the country are largely responsible for the illiteracy which puts America in tenth place among the nations of advanced education.

To repair this system the federation is favoring compulsory education for children from 7 to 14; equal opportunities for all children; and the employment of only grammar school graduates.

"Peace in the individual home is closer to the American woman than in international peace," Mrs. Elith. M. Moore Patterson said. "The object of the federation, told the convention.

"Eighty per cent of domestic unhappiness comes from finances, and the majority of the people are purchasing on credit. A corporation, as the unwise housewife wrecked the home," Mrs. Patterson urged in her plea for domestic economy.

Mrs. Patterson urged American women to cooperate with the nation's merchants, bankers and business men, in this way cutting down the high cost of living.

JUROR'S ILLNESS HALTS TRIAL ON BANK ROBBERY

Hearing in Case of Three Young Men Accused of Despoiling Hazelton Institution Suspended for Week End

Trial in district court at Jerome in the case of James E. Hovernal and Roy and Russell Smith, brothers, charged with robbery of the Hazelton State bank last November, was suspended Friday when it was announced that one of the jurors had become ill and attorneys declined to continue the trial with eleven jurors. Adjournment was taken to Monday.

It had been indicated that the defendants would take the witness stand Friday to testify in their own defense. The case for the defense was opened Thursday afternoon, testimony of three witnesses relating to the pursuit of the bank robbers from Hazelton toward Eden being introduced that day. Presentation of the case for the state had occupied almost four days time following beginning of the trial last Monday.

Frank L. Stephan, former Twin Falls prosecuting attorney, who is associated with Henry Hall, Jerome county prosecuting attorney, in the case, returned to his home here Friday.

REPORT ACCEPTED

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP)—The conference report on the legislative appropriation of $14,350,000 was accepted by both the house and senate tonight. The measure now goes to the president.

OPPOSITION TO LOWDEN BOOM IS MADE KNOWN

Factional Disturbances Under Way in Illinois; Committee Gives Attention to Seating of Delegates.

CLEVELAND, O., June 6 (AP)—As the Lowden boom for the vice presidency gathered speed today, its opposition naturally came to the fore.

From Illinois came a rumbling of factional disturbance, the extent of which was not fully disclosed while those few on the ground here who have been looking over the field made quite a point of the well emphasized fact that while it was made known that President Coolidge regards Mr. Lowden as an acceptable running mate, the president has not endorsed him.

William M. Butler, the president's campaign manager and chairman of the incoming national committee, emphasized again today that the president had expressed no preference, was taking no part in the contest and was leaving it all to the convention in pursuance of his announced policy of hands-off.

Lowden boomers do not construe the statement that the president regards Mr. Lowden as an agreeable selection as word that the president wants him nominated and they agree that some other selection might be equally agreeable to the White House.

The Lowden sentiment was steadily growing among the national committee men and delegates who have arrived. No other name was heard so prominently mentioned.

While the discussion of the vice-presidential and the platform went forward, the national committee worked further on contents for seats in the convention, disposing of all those remaining except that from Tennessee, which will be taken up tomorrow.

In two or three cases heard today, Texas and Georgia, the first compromise were entered into. In the third case, of the delegates at large from Arkansas, the committee voted unanimously to seat national committeemen Bammel and his associates, Mrs. H. H. Foster and Wallace Townsend of Little Rock, W. Graham of Fayetteville, one of the delegation headed by Scioux Jones, a negro.

BIG DISTRICT ASKS FOR FULLER RULING ON BONDS

With view to settling any possible question as to the validity of the American Bankruptcy act, the United States district court at Blackfoot today asked for a fuller ruling on bonds of $2,700,000 voted in May of last year to provide for participation by canal companies and irrigation districts included in the big district in the American Bankruptcy act.

The question has been made by the reservoir district, through its attorney, J. R. Bothwell, to the state supreme court for a rehearing of its decision in its recent decision which upholds the validity of the bond issue.

The supreme court originally was asked to pass upon the bond issue on appeal from a decision of Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here, which judgment was sustained. More ample ruling by the supreme court is sought by the district at this time with view particularly to securing.

Judgment and decree that the district was organized in full compliance with the law.

Judgment that the trial court confirmation of the organization was in all respects valid and not subject to attack.

Elimination of suggestion that direct attack might raise question of validity of the bonds.

Decision that reporter's transcript of proceedings was rightly settled.

That all of the questions were presented by the appeal as well as certain conclusions of law of the trial court.

Holding the bonds expressly to be the legal and binding obligations of the district.

Affirmation of the trial court's judgment without modification.

THE REAL POINT

The Idaho Power Company electric is perhaps the best power and electrical service to be had anywhere. Its employees are courteous and painstaking, its branch managers and executives, personally, have many friends. The new rates are not going to add materially to the income of the Idaho Power Company. Increases are made for certain classes of service and decrease for other classes. In the aggregate the cost to the general consumer is higher, but not excessively so. But the Idaho Power Company nor the Idaho Public Utilities Commission has succeeded in justifying in the public mind the necessity of any increases whatever at this time.

For the most part the increase falls where it can perhaps best be borne—in theory at least—on the larger power consumers. But as a matter of fact these larger consumers will not themselves absorb this extra expense, they will simply pass it on to their customers, who have already been called upon to pay their own increases. Many of them will pass on more than the actual amount of the increase, making of the increased power rate an excuse to raise the price of their goods to absorb this and more.

Water heating, under the new schedule, costs more than double the former rate for full service with a minimum charge of over fifty per cent increase on the old rate.

Consumers are asking why, and when they are answered that the investment, which should earn a fair rate of interest, demands it, they are inclined to ask just what there is to prevent a doubling or tripling of the investment and the consequent collection of rates two or three times as high.

Is there a remedy for the condition which has arisen with respect to the matter of power rates in Idaho? Unless one can be found and applied there is no use in wasting our time in standing about abusing the Idaho Power Company.

The proposal to gather figures showing the cost of power to consumers in other places and submit Idaho Power rates to a comparison with these outside rates would probably be welcomed with open arms by the Idaho Power Company. At least it is a fact that the Idaho Power Company has endeavored to get this information before the Utilities Commission and the Utilities Commission has steadfastly declined to receive it, or accept it on any basis whatever having a bearing on power rates in Southern Idaho.

When all is said and done it may be that the Idaho Power Company is not chiefly responsible for conditions as they now exist, even supposing that all the things with which the company is charged are true—which they are not.

Complaints are frequently heard as to the Company's unwillingness to extend its lines so as to serve isolated communities and isolated consumers. In many cases the Company has done this, sometimes under compulsion, and in a good many such cases the revenue accruing has been but a small part of the expense of supplying the service. Obviously, the consumers as a whole must make up the deficiency—and they do.

What should be the procedure with a view to providing an equitable adjustment of the trouble? That, after all, is the main question. As long as we accept the proposition that the Company is entitled to a fixed earning upon its investment, and at the

THE HUMAN ZOO

This mistake, if it be a mistake, is not a recent matter; it was made many years ago, when the principle of guaranteed earnings was first laid down in Idaho in connection with the control of electrical rates by the State Public Utilities Commission.

In the last analysis this would seem to be the real point at issue.

WORLD COURT MEMBERSHIP.

It begins to look as if the United States, after all, may, soon "adhere to" the World Court—or in plain English, become a member.

The Senate, which long scorned and flouted the proposal, has been hearing from the country. The World Court is popular, without question. It was urged by Harding and is urged by Coolidge. And election is approaching. Wherefore the Senate foreign relations committee, though far from friendly to the proposal, has modified its opposition, passed up the alternate plan of Chairman Lodge and recommended to the Senate that it "promptly conclude with the States now adhering to the Court a simple, direct and reasonable agreement."

In the words of the committee, it "accepts the Court as an established institution and confirms the tenure of the present judges. Under its terms the United States, without reservations and without the least interference with the business of the Court, will align itself with 48 other States in maintaining and perpetuating this important international tribunal."

The committee insists, however, that the "existing legal relation" between the Court and the League of Nations be severed, so that the judges will not derive their authority from the League but from the member nations acting separately. This is to keep the United States from any official connection with the League in joining the Court.

ANTIPROGRESS.

Baron Sumner of England is impressed unfavorably with some of our most modern scientific triumphs. He condemns three things in particular:

First the phonograph, which he says "has corrupted the musical sense of England and America for nearly a generation."

Second the moving picture, which "does little except stimulate the passions and act as a soporific for the human mind."

Third the motor car, "than which I know nothing that has done more to increase a feeling of jealousy and dislike between the classes."

It isn't necessary to chide the baron, offhand, as a hopeless old fogey. A good deal of our boasted progress may be altogether what it is cracked up to be. We often think we are advancing when we are running around in circles, and that we are thinking when we are merely making, or listening to, useless noises. Material progress is of little use unless it promotes mental and moral progress; and it is here that the critic makes his attack.

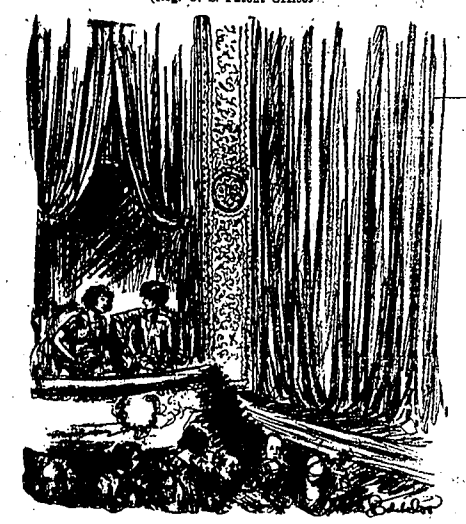

But if the inventions mentioned have had the effect he attributes to them in England, they certainly have not in America. Here musical taste has gone ahead along with the universal use of phonographs. The moving picture, with all its evils, has done much for education and made amusement more democratic. And in a land where almost any family is able to have a car of some kind, and drivers are always dodging ahead of costly limousines, the motor car has bridged the gap between classes rather than widened it.

Ship Built on Knoll

People looking at the top of a certain knoll at Oakland, Cal., rub their eyes and take another look, for there stands the good ship Mr. Tranquil, which Fred A. Heroux has built. He has injected all the details of a regular, honest-to-goodness seagoing craft, except that the bottom will be an immovable base of concrete. The eye of a true mariner will not be much affected, however, because the concrete will be hidden in four feet of water in a tank surrounding the vessel.

DAY FLOWERS

Two bright blue flowers looked out upon the world and smiled at each other.

"It's a nice world," said the first. "Very nice," said the second. "Strange," said the first, "that Brother Day Flower the Third doesn't want to see what is going on."

"Strange, indeed," said the second. "But that is the family way, I suppose."

"I'm thankful," said the first, "that I am not Brother Third Flower. As it is I can look about me and enjoy myself for a short time."

"Now these two blue flowers were very bright and very pretty. They were of a lovely color and they were dressed very handsomely in their blue costumes."

Near them was a third flower, but the third flower was not blue in color. Instead the third flower wore a very simple white costume which would not be particularly noticed if it were not for the fact that it was so small and did not amount to very much.

"Yes," the first flower said again, "I am thankful that I am not Brother Day Flower the Third. I know the old family custom."

"Three of us belong to this little family group but of the three one must not be much noticed. One must be simply dressed in a whitish costume and must not wear the blue costume worn by the other two."

"I do not know the reason for this but this is the way it has always been, and so I suppose it is all right."

"It is true I am so happy that I did not happen to be Brother Day Flower the Third and yet I wasn't greedy about choosing this costume."

"I did not push Brother Day Flower out of the way nor did I say, 'Here, Brother Day Flower, I was promised the blue costume and my turn now comes.'"

other Brother was promised the other blue costume.

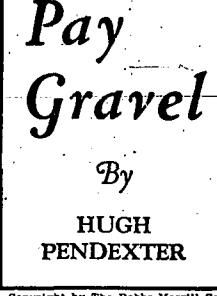

"Now there are only two blue costumes and we spoke for them first, so you must not have one."

"I didn't say anything like that to him. I wasn't really greedy, only I am so pleased that it happened that I should have been chosen to be Brother Day Flower the First."

"And I am so glad that I was chosen to be Brother Day Flower the Second," the second flower said.

Continuing to fan Dinadale, the picture man ceased his chattering long enough to reply, "He has had an evil dream. The ghosts are fooling him. My white brother needs the bear song."

And he pointed down to the patient, who groaned and tossed about. The akakta went their way, calling on all the people to follow and do Sorrel Horse due honor; the two lines of eager spectators, including Crazy Horse, made for the grassy slope.

Scissors watched their departure through the opening, and then made sure the adjacent lodges were empty. Darting back to the lodge he pulled away the bundles of antelope skins and made a peep hole with his akakas. Only the hinges stood between them and the bluff, and neither showed any signs of life.

"Now we are ready," he whispered to Dinadale.

Dinadale came to his feet and started for the opening, but Scissors drew him back and closed the flap, and said:

"Out the back end will be better."

He dropped on his knees and had pulled a hide to one side when both were startled at the sound of a step by the entrance. Snatching up a ket, the left by the girl he motioned for Dinadale to gain the couch. But before Dinadale began to get in proper position the flap was pushed back and one of the akakta sticks in his hand. He had noted the cessation of the sick man's moaning. He blinked his eyes to get rid of the sunlight and beheld Dinadale stealing toward the couch.

He opened his mouth to utter a yell, but the kettle struck him on the back of the head, smashing the skull. As the man fell forward on his face, half inside the lodge, Dinadale seized his shoulders and dragged him completely in, and Scissors dropped the flap.

"Now we must go, no matter how many are outside," muttered Scissors. They crawled under the back flap and bending low, ran by the two lodges and began ascending a dry gulch.

They reached the pine growth on top of the bluff just as the Indians from the lodge began to yell. Dinadale believed Sorrel Horse had succeeded with his jug medicine. Scissors insisted the medicine man could not reach the climax so soon, even if he forgot the warning that the medicine would not work unless the prisoners had time to reach the position.

"Some one must have returned to the village and discovered the dead guard. Probably a couple of them left to watch us," he nervously explained.

They scrambled up another terrace and came to a faint trail running to the south. From the elevation, the heavily wooded, they could look down on the village and the slope. That their escape was now known was proved by the Indians on the slope. The entire mass was dancing and shouting wildly, and waving arms. Then Scissors made out some new arrivals, a small band of warriors. All of these except the leader had dismounted. As Scissors stared at the mounted warriors he cried:

"American Horse! American Horse has returned. Look! He's pointing to the north, and brandishing his rifle. Now they're breaking to run back to the lodges. By heavens! The ponies are being brought up! It can mean only one thing! Crazy Horse has reached the head of Heart river. Crazy Horse goes to stop him from making the Black Hills. They don't even wait for Shun-tu-ta to prove his medicine! Here's the trail! Now let's see your heels!"

The loud outcry at the north end of the street, quickly swollen to a deafening chorus of yells and punctuated by a rapid discharge of hand guns, caused more than one citizen of Deadwood City to fear that Crazy Horse and Sitting Bull were making good their threats and were sweeping into town at the head of their copper-colored hordes. But as the clamor reached Kitty the schemer's place, swept on by Keno Frank's gambling hall, and was added to by those in front of San Juan Joe's big tent, it took on a rude rhythm and at intervals burst into a reassuring staccato of wild cheering. Then the tents and buildings farther south knew some building momentous had happened, but that no danger was imminent.

The soldiers are coming! The soldiers are coming! shrieked a woman from the second-story window of a store and tenement structure. This was accepted as the truth for a minute, as the woman's color of vantage was much superior to those milling around in the street.

Sunday Is Luckiest Day

The Rumanians regard Sunday as the luckiest day for a wedding and, the autumn, when the wine is in, as the most suitable season.

Adjustable See-Saw

"No soldiers! Two men!" howled a boy from the top of a pine.

Then a solid mass of exclamatory humanity came into the view, swallowing disgruntled groups as fast as reaching them, and only the ill remained indoors. San Juan Joe rushed from his tent, rifle in hand. The front ranks broke and erupted, and each side allowed Scissors and Dinadale to stand revealed. With the yell of an Apache San Juan dropped his rifle and ran forward to shake hands with the two men. Old Pyrites was another who fought his way through the mob to add congratulations.

The procession came to a halt, for the street ahead was filling with men and women and children. A man with mighty lungs climbed to the top of a freight wagon and belted:

"Pete Dinadale and Scissors, who we all reckoned had cashed in, escaped from the Indians and have come back. They say Crazy Horse and his soldiers are on Heart river, that it's a race between him and Crazy Horse to see whether white or red gets here first. Sitting Bull is expected to join 'em with five thousand bucks. Our two citizens were chased from Slim Butte to the little Poudre by a small band of Ogulala. They killed their horses in the race and came the rest of the way on foot. Three cheers and a tiger!"

The cheers were given; more guns were discharged. Mayor Farnum made his way to the escaped prisoners and shook each by the hand.

"We supposed you were dead," he said.

"All the credit for our being alive belongs to Scissors," said Dinadale. "He knows more about Indians than Crazy Horse does."

"I'm wakan," spoke up Scissors. "Used to play in a Sioux village years ago. What I did was nothing. But if Crook doesn't make this quick ahead of the Ogulala you want to prepare for a lot of trouble."

"Make room so they can get in somewhere and rest," cried San Juan. Still cheering, but not so hysterically now that Scissors had given his warning, the crowd parted and the gates led the two men into the tent and toward the hide inntrance of his house. But Scissors at once responded to his environment and with paper and scissors ready began searching for customers.

It seemed to Dinadale that a mask had dropped over Scissors' face the moment he came among the tables; and never did he do such tricks as now. Instead of profiles he cut out lodges and ponies and other bits of Indian village life. These were eagerly snapped up as souvenirs by men who did not know whether they were victims of Scissors' cruelty, or live to welcome Crook. And each purchaser demanded more information as to how the two managed to escape.

"Always could do it," Scissors shrilly cried. "I'm wakan watahsah. We ran away when the Indians weren't looking. American Horse? Yes, we saw him. # POULTRY TRAIN PROVES STRONG DRAWING CARD

One Thousand Persons Visit Traveling Demonstration at Three Stops in Twin Falls County.

General appreciation hereabouts of the importance of the poultry industry as an agency for increasing individual incomes and contributing to the development of the community and state, was evidenced by the fact that approximately 1000 persons visited the poultry demonstration train at its stop here Friday at Hinson, Twin Falls and Buhl.

About 400 persons visited the train and heard talks by Mrs. M. Larson, president of the University of Idaho extension division, and C. C. Gignoux, assistant agriculturalist for the Union Pacific system, and other speakers during the three-hour stop of the train here Friday afternoon following its arrival from Hansen and before its departure for Buhl. Three hundred and eight visitors were recorded at Hinson, where the Rev. Tom Blodgett assisted the county agent in arrangements for the coming of the train. In Twin Falls Charles F. Dwight, and in Buhl Ben Bussman assisted the county agent.

Flit Specialists With Questions.

Exhibits carried on the train included models of poultry houses and a descriptive list of the various phases of poultry production such as breeding, feeding, egg production, chick brooding, egg marketing, etc. These exhibits, were inspected by the visitors with manifest interest and specialists who accompanied the train were pined with questions.

R. A. Smith, supervisor of agriculture for the Union Pacific system with headquarters at Omaha, joined the train at Hinson. Other members of the party with the train were: Fred L. Priest, Boise, general agent Oregon Short Line; E. C. Manton, Potomac, division superintendent O. & N.; George J. Mohler, Omaha, traveling agriculturalist Union Pacific system; E. C. Gignoux, Salt Lake, assistant agriculturalist U. P. system; E. E. Larkin, Boise, traveling passenger and freight agent, O. & N.; L. Vonier, Omaha, exhibit attendant; E. L. Little, San Francisco, commercial agent American Pacific Express company; Dean E. J. Idling, Moscow, director of extension service and head of college of agriculture of the University of Idaho; L. T. Puckert, poultry husbandman, U. of I.; Ben Moore, poultry specialist, extension division U. of I.; and J. E. Nesbitt, Boise, field representative of the Idaho Farmer, press representative and publicity agent for the poultry special.

Better Farming Objective

The following statement relative to the exhibits carried by the train and its objectives was given out here by Mr. Nesbitt:

"The train is being operated by the Union Pacific railroad system in conjunction and co-operation with the University of Idaho at Moscow. The railroad company furnished the train, the train crew and management, the exhibition cars, a Pullman sleeper and a private dining car (that of Superintendent Manton) for the use of the train, who are given all their meals and sleeping accommodations at the expense of the railroad and with no expense whatever to the people of Idaho. It is the railroad's contribution to the campaign for 'better farming' and 'more and better poultry in Idaho' that is being carried on by the University of Idaho. While the railroad company several thousand dollars it does not cost the citizens of Idaho a dollar.

The University of Idaho furnished the principal speakers—the poultry specialists—to tell the people of Idaho how to get better results from their poultry, and also furnished most of the exhibits and the literature. The exhibit supplies the people with chicks, hatched May 29 at the university's poultry plant at Moscow, and there, with their electric brooder, supplied by the Idaho Power company, they are hatching chicks in large numbers. H. C. Hulbe, representing the Boise-Payette Lumber company, is an architect engaged to accompany the train to tell the people the cost of construction and the purposes of each of the houses and give any information possible about the poultry houses. The contribution of the Boise-Payette Lumber company is also given free of cost to the people of Idaho as the company's contribution to the 'better farming' campaign.

W. E. Hackelman, one of the best known and most successful poultry breeders in the west, contributed his prize winning trio of laying hens, including 'C-10' known as 'His Queen', her mother and grand mother. 'C-10' has a record of 320 eggs in a year. Her mother's record is 322 and her grandmother's record is 253 eggs in 365 days. This is a striking illustration of what can be done in breeding up for higher egg production when scientific and practical methods are combined with a knowledge of poultry, such as the exhibiting demonstrations is intended to impart. The grandfather of 'C-10' is also

Two nominations were filed here Friday, the second being that of J. W. Taylor, prosecuting attorney, who recently announced his purpose to become a candidate for a second term on the republican ticket.

During the 30-day period, candidates not only for county offices and the state legislature, but for precinct officers, members of county committees of political parties and delegates to county conventions, must file their nominations in the auditor's office to be voted upon at the primary elections August 5.

Political observers generally anticipate that there will be a large number of nominations for complete tickets by republicans, democrats and progressives in this county.

COURT ISSUES JUDGMENT TO CONSTRUCTION FIRM

Idaho Construction Company Receives Award for $45,000 From Farm Development Company.

Judgment awarding $45,000 to the Idaho Construction company from the Idaho Farm Development company in the latter's suit for breach of contract was rendered Thursday by Judge W. C. Gifford in the trial of the action was issued Friday by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here. The verdict denies the farm development construction company's claim for $80,000 for construction of the irrigation works on the farm development company's project at Rhenworth, Idaho. The farm development company's claim for $140,000, based on alleged failure of the construction company to fulfill provisions of its contract for the work.

With the exhibit from Mr. Larson's poultry farm, the University of Idaho contributed a pen of fine laying hens. Mr. Greathouse's flock produced an average of 22 eggs per hen in 1923. Mr. E. D. D. of Weller also contributed some fine hens. Mrs. Ford is making the poultry business pay. Her flock of 900 hens and pullets made a net profit of $1923 in 1923, after Mrs. Ford had "paid herself" $554 for labor in caring for them and had charged against the gross receipts all of the feed—most of it produced on the farm—used in raising them. She had 160 pullets that made an average of 190.55 eggs each in 1923.

Mrs. E. E. Hyde of Mayfield contributed two fine bronze turkeys, male, weighing 36 pounds and a female weighing 20 pounds, which are shown in contrast with 'mongrels' weighing 20 pounds and 11 pounds, respectively. This was an object lesson in the advantages of using purebred breeding stock.

Following is the list of towns visited and number of persons who passed through to each place: Boise, 605; Nampa, 480; Caldwell, 612; Parma, 483; Weiser, 462; Ontario, Oregon, 185; Payette, 400; Emmett, 711; Lonsdale, 300; Glendale, 300; Rupert, 423; Eden, 258; Jerome, 435; Wendell 341; Burley 235, and Hansen, 308.

WRECKED CAR'S DRIVER HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Joseph Moyland, With Whom Edwin Wegener Rode to His Death, Named as Defendant in Unusual Prosecution.

Joseph Moyland, 24, driver of the car which overturned May 25 on the highway west of Buhl, causing fatal injury of Edwin Wegener, 18, is named as the defendant in what is believed to be one of very few complaints issued in Idaho charging involuntary manslaughter, which was issued by the probate court here Friday, at the instance of Prosecuting Attorney J. W. Taylor.

Moyland, who had arrived at Buhl from his former home in Washington only a few weeks before the fatal accident, suffered severe injuries in the automobile wreck. Flesh was stripped from a considerable area of his forearm and it was feared for a time that he would lose the arm. He was discharged only a day or two ago from the county general hospital here, where he and Wegener were taken following the accident, and where the latter died about eight hours later.

Charges Reckless Driving.

Moyland was arrested Friday afternoon in Buhl and was lodged in the county jail.

The complaint by which he is accused in connection with Edwin Wegener's death recites that he was driving the car "at an excessive rate of speed and by reason of careless, negligent and reckless driving and lack of caution and circumspection the car was overturned and Edwin Wegener was caught and crushed between it and a post at the home of his father, thus receiving certain mortal injuries." Pending under Idaho laws for conviction of manslaughter is imprisonment in the state prison for not to exceed ten years.

Members of the party on the ill-fated excursion besides Edwin Wegener and Joseph Moyland, were Martin Wegener, brother of the dead boy, Miss Beatrice Brown and Miss Beatrice Brown, who occupied with only minor injuries, according to the report with the driver. Other occupants were not injured beyond shock. The party was returning from Banbury's sanatorium in Snake river canyon, northwest of Buhl, where they had spent the evening.

Accounts Agree as to Speed.

Accounts of the accident agreed that the car was traveling at a high rate of speed, and that the driver attempted to make a turn onto a road to the left after passing the center of that road. A rear wheel broke off and the car overturned.

Edwin and Martin Wegener and the Misses Brown were killed, but an out together in another car to make the trip to the sanatorium and were persuaded by Moyland, when they reached Buhl to join him in his car, a seven passenger Ford, which he said, was large enough to accommodate the entire party comfortably.
