BOOM FOR COX
MAIN TOPIC IN BOURBON CAMP

"Jimmie" and His Staff Set up Their Tent and Draw Much Comment Among Dopesters as to Outcome.

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—A staff of boomers for the candidacy of James M. Cox of Ohio for president set up headquarters in New York today.

The sight of their campaign tent, the third in a series of similar ones, is expected to number more than a score before the democratic national convention begins its nominations, temporarily relegated to the back ground the tale of a romance between General Smith and W. G. McAdoo as to whether two thirds or majority rule shall govern the convention.

L. Shoup, a veteran political manager of Dayton, Ohio, is generalissimo of the Cox forces and Charles E. Norris, Washington representative of the Cox newspapers is chief of staff. Accompanied by a corps of enthusiastic aides, they pitched camp at the Waldorf Astoria hotel, which also is headquarters for the national democratic committee.

At the Madison Square hotel, 14,000 seats will be full to overflowing, was indicated today in the arrival of an avalanche of democrats for accommodations which temporarily disrupted the business of the committee's sub-committee on arrangements.

Earl Barrs Doors
Cordell Hull, chairman of that body, finally shut himself and his co-workers away from telegrams and long distance telephone calls by the door to all callers and declared they would remain in executive session until disposition had been made of last minute details of pre-convention arrangements. They were still in communication tonight.

In the meantime, the last of 3,000 flags was unfurled in Madison Square garden, that row of stars was nailed in place and the last of the stars to the here and a half of red, white and sky blue background under which the gavel opening the convention will sound next Tuesday.

Will Pick Chairman
Herbert C. Pell Jr., chairman of the democratic state convention announced the New York delegation which will be the largest in the convention would elect a chairman at the Hotel Commodore Saturday.

It also was announced the democratic national committee would hold its first pre-convention session Saturday morning. Leaders declared the committee might at that time indicate its attitude toward the prospect of a fight on the convention floor over the proposed inactivity of the majority rule. They pointed out that the committee could, as it did at the San Francisco convention four years ago, recommend to the committee on rules whether or not the question should be submitted to the whole confederation.

Although many early comers declared they had discovered a rift among McAdoo supporters on the majority rule issue, campaigners at this candidate's headquarters continued to declare they would come to a vote and that, backed by a precedent set by the San Francisco convention in adopting the procedure of the house of representatives, McAdoo would win hands down.

The answer of Governor Smith and F. D. R. to his manager, was that delegates in 1920 after having nominated Cox by a majority continued to ballot until he had a two thirds vote. But although they denied the question there the Smith faction professed to be little interested in the talk.

No Second Choice
This far there has been almost no discussion of potential candidates for the vice-presidential nomination. Party

Arms Report Drawn

In League Council

Chief Executives of International Peace Body Approve Limitation Plan of Shotwell and Bliss.

GENEVA, June 17 (AP)—Official discussion of control and reduction of armaments suddenly took on an American angle here today when the council of the league of nations in private session voted to discuss all the armaments represented in the council on limitation of armaments being prepared by two American experts, Professor J. P. Shotwell of Columbia, and General Tasker H. Bliss.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary of the league, notified the council that this report, which he considered a serious and really exceedingly useful study of the armaments problem, would soon reach President Benes of the league of nations. He proposed its immediate circulation as an official document and his suggestion was unanimously approved.

The council in public session took steps which are considered to have a great impact on the taking over of the control of the military situation in Germany from the inter-allied commission.

Kiwanis Convention
Delegates Wrangle
Over New By-Laws

Pass Order for Change in Fee; Proposal to Reduce International Dues Is Lost.

DENVER, June 17 (AP)—The eighth annual convention of International Kiwanis clubs here got down to business today and adopted new by-laws, two of which became the cause of battle between various delegates.

Baginaw, Michigan, and Cincinnati delegates fought a by-law which would require newly chartered clubs to pay a $25 membership fee and $15 annually thereafter, which was passed.

The second contest was over the question of reducing the international dues of members from $2 to $1, which was lost. Another provision which would have required each club to hold a weekly luncheon, was smothered in a fight led by Baginaw, Cincinnati, Palm Beach and other delegations, which emerged with a provision making weekly luncheons optional.

Program of Labor and Farmer Elements Defeated by Communists at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, June 17 (AP)—Blocking the regular program of the farmer-labor convention, the communists and their sympathizers in the gathering won the first test of strength over the more conservative union labor and farmer elements.

The vote came at the end of a long wrangle on procedure and resulted in an adjournment until tomorrow with the permanent organization of the convention only half completed.

William Mahoney, St. Paul farmer-labor leader, who had run the convention as temporary chairman through the initial stages of the gathering, stopped gracefully adding to a delegate's seat in the Minnesota delegation when Charles E. Taylor, a state senator in Montana, was chosen permanent chairman.

After two assistant secretaries had been chosen, Chairman Taylor announced that appointment of committees was in order. A motion that each state be given one member on each of the committees on platform, presidential candidates and organization was carried and the secretary was asked to call the roll of states for committee members.

Manley then proposed that the convention recess until tomorrow morning, reminding the delegates that the committee membership was important and arguing that they ought not to be selected on the spur of the moment.

SAYS UNORGANIZED LABOR WILL HALT PRIVILEGES

MARION CITY, June 17 (AP)—Unorganized groups of labor—the farmer and the white collar workers—will call a halt to special privileges enjoyed by organized labor and capital in a not far distant time, Walter Head, president of the American Banker's association, told the annual convention here of the Iowa Bankers' Association.

"We all pay a part of the cost of labor," he declared, "just as most of us share in the payments received by labor. The difficulty is not in the fact that wage increases have been made but that the balance between various groups has not been maintained."

"Today we have conflict of capital and labor instead of a partnership, with both just as grasping and domineering. Each of these two principle units of production is seeking the maximum possible reward of its own effort. This results in a higher cost of living for all our people."

CRATERS OF THE MOON IS GIVEN RECOGNITION

POCAHELLO, June 17 (AP)—Idaho's Craters of the Moon were dedicated at Arco Sunday and in that unpretentious event people saw possibilities of great promise to Idaho. The Craters of the Moon takes its place as Idaho's first national park, although, in the language of official Washington, it is a national monument, justified by its containing what is generally believed to be the most diversified and striking region of geological wonders found any place in the world. The dedication drew up approximately 500 people.

WILL TALK GUARD PLANS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17 (AP)—Colonel John R. Kelly, assistant chief of staff of the ninth corps area, U. S. left here tonight for a series of conferences with the governors of western states regarding plans for the national guard. He will be in Boise, Idaho, June 28, and Salt Lake City, June 30.

Coolidge Wants Actual Direction in Hands of Various National-Wide Bodies; Get in Action at Early Date.

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—Prominent republicans representative of all national sections will be asked to serve as advisers in the republican presidential campaign, said President Coolidge today. The actual direction to be in the hands of the national chairman and the national, state and local committees. Mr. Coolidge let it be known today that the advisory committee would act in much the same capacity in the coming campaign as in the past. Its membership will include leading republicans with experience in the conduct of campaigns but so far indicated at the White House it will not be a super-body issuing orders to the campaign manager. Its duty in the arrangement which Mr. Coolidge contemplates would be that of advising on broad policies, as to methods of attack and as to defensive tactics.

Gem State Bankers Want Branch
Federal Reserve Bank for Idaho

BOISE, June 17 (AP)—Despite opposition that developed on the floor of the American Bankers' association, the appointment of the committee for Idaho a branch of the federal reserve system, thus serving the program of the closing day, territory now served by the branch at Salt Lake, the members of the Idaho Bankers' association, at the closing session of its twentieth annual convention this afternoon in the chamber of commerce rooms, adopted a resolution favoring the establishment of such a federal reserve bank, with headquarters in Boise.

This resolution was one of five presented by the resolutions committee and passed by the convention. The association pledges itself to work for a federal reserve bank here and to bring the question to the attention of all members of the Idaho delegation in congress, to the federal reserve board at Washington and to John U. Henningray, chairman of the federal reserve bank of San Francisco. Election of officers of the state association of the American Bankers' association, vice president, J. S. Burall, Pocatello; secretary, J. S. St. Clair, Boise (re-elected); treasurer, A. D. Johnson, Twin Falls. The territory being served by the federal reserve bank of Salt Lake is too large to be adequately served by one institution, it is stated in the resolution, over which opposition developed. Burley and Twin Falls bankers opposed a separate reserve bank for the Idaho territory and an amendment was offered to board at Washington to the resolution to permit that section to vote on the question whether in case a sep-

Twin Falls and North Side Organizations Seek Injunctions to Restrain Wyoming Counties from Collecting.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 17 (AP)—The question of the authority of Wyoming to tax contracts between the federal reclamation service and Idaho irrigation enterprises whereunder water impounded in Wyoming is used for irrigating lands in Idaho, is raised in four complaints of equity filed in United States court here, wherein the Twin Falls Canal company and the North Side Canal company seek injunctions perpetually restraining Lincoln and Teton counties, Wyoming, and the state of Wyoming from collecting taxes levied against the plaintiff corporations.

The suits result from the efforts of the two counties named to tax contracts between the plaintiff corporations and the reclamation service whereunder the corporations use water from Jackson lake, Wyoming. The state board of equalization is named as a defendant in each complaint.

VICTIMS' BODIES FOUND

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 17 (AP)—The bodies of two men, Philip de Lise and Frank Rinaldo, shot through the head and with skulls battered in were found in Rinaldo's automobile today. The bodies had been placed in the machine after the killing. Rinaldo left his home yesterday to testify in a superior court case. Police are investigating a theory that the slayings grew out of a feud.

NAVAL INQUIRY
MEETS DELAY

Unable to Receive Testimony of Injured Man Who Saw Accident; Is Critically Hurt.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., June 17 (AP)—F. J. Ryne, chief turret captain, said to have been in a position to see exactly what happened in No. 2 turret aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi last Thursday when a premature explosion killed 48 officers and men, probably never will be able to tell his story to the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster.

The court convened aboard the hospital ship Relief this afternoon in the hope of obtaining from the lips of Ryne and the 11 other enlisted men injured in the blast, new and vital information bearing on the cause of the explosion.

But Ryne, who last night seemed to be on the road to recovery, suffered a relapse today and early tonight surgeons said he was sinking slowly and that he had little hope of saving his life.

FRIENDS MEET
TO FELICITATE
G. O. P. NOMINEE

"I Ask No Quarter and Will Give None in Coming Campaign," Declares Famed "Hell n' Maria" General.

CHICAGO, June 17 (AP)—Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, republican vice presidential nominee, held open house tonight to a host of friends and neighbors in Evanston, who called to felicitate him on his new honor and heard him deliver a Dawes denunciation of demagogues and neighbors.

In his first extended utterance since his nomination, General Dawes pledged himself to a policy of common sense but he would give no quarter to demagogues and make no concession to the reception assumed many of the characteristics of the front porch campaign of President Harding and President McKinley when neighbors and intimate friends who braved a driving rain to participate in the ceremony were invited to the spacious grounds of the Dawes home. Later when the brief speaking program was concluded General Dawes invited all into his home and shook the hand of each of them, many greeting him as "Charley."

Butler Helps
The line was more than an hour in passing despite the fact that the general was assisted: In the hand shaking by William Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, and one of the guests at the Dawes home for dinner.

As the end of the reception came in sight his face brightened and from his eyes came a gleam of black and white with the inverted star. A few seconds later he was puffing contentedly and shaking hands vigorously. Another Bill Smith, president of Northwestern university, James A. Patton, former president of the Chicago board of trade, and John C. Shaffer, Chicago publisher, all of them friends and admirers of the general, were present, delivered the messages of felicitation on behalf of fellow townsmen to General Dawes.

Mr. Dawes left no doubt that he would be seen and heard in a speaking tour of the nation, calling for an end to preambles and prejudice and passion. His words tonight were his first extended utterance since his nomination at Cleveland as President Coolidge's running mate.

The reception amounted to an unofficial notification of his nomination.

The official notification is expected to come next month at the Dawes home.

Approaches Honor
Speaking to members of all parties and avoiding partisan utterances, the general spoke as follows:

"You are doing me a great honor in gathering here, irrespective of party and simply as my friends and neighbors in Evanston, where I have lived for so many years."

"I know you want me to say something and yet upon such an occasion as this, it would be unseemly of me to speak in a partisan manner. But it occurs to me that there is one subject which may be called political and yet is thoroughly non-partisan—a subject upon which all good citizens whatever may be their party, must agree and that is the curse of demagoguery in political discussions in this country."

"To such an extent has this evil grown among the politicians of MINNEAPOLIS, June 17 (AP)—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan's attempt to cross the continent between dawn and dusk will be made Thursday if atmospheric conditions are favorable, according to the latest announcement made today.

By starting at 2:22 a. m. eastern standard time and flying at the rate of 100 miles per hour, Maughan hopes to reach the Pacific by dusk, or in approximately 17 hours. He attempted to make the same flight twice before but was forced down each time without completing the trip. He will make four stops en route for gasoline.

HIGHEST TRIBUTE IS PAID AT FUNERAL OF EXPLOSION VICTIMS

Forty-Eight Dead of U. S. S. Mississippi Laid at Rest; "Comrades Died Like Men," Admiral Says.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., June 17 (AP)—Forty-eight dead of the battleship Mississippi and New Mexico, who fell "in line duty" Thursday when a gun in the Mississippi's No. 2 turret flared back, today were honored here in word and action as none have been honored before in this port.

Thousands of their comrades and E. Mercer, repeated the hope of resurrection in orderly array drew up in hollow square about the great cross of coffins that occupied the center of Trona field.

Back of these again were thousands of civilians, silent as the navy trilled its own dead.

It was as though a great concourse had come together in sympathy with a stricken family. The men of the ships were the family. There was the sad honor to conduct the services. The multi-land citizens mourned with ranks in blue, but they respected the grief of the latter and accorded them first place at the bier.

Admiral Express Pride Vice Admiral Henry A. Wiley and Rear Admiral W. V. Pratt, who lead, sailor men, spoke of the departed with grief of appreciation and sorrow, mingled with pride.

"Our comrades died like men-of-warriors," said Admiral Wiley. "They would not have asked for more. They died in line of duty; they gave up their lives as heroically as ever they could have done in battle."

"The last moments gave the most positive proofs of their courage and devotion."

Admiral Pratt, in brief, almost crisp sentences, told the story of the morning five days ago when death leaped to turret No. 2 of the Mississippi.

"Not a sign of confusion was noted," he said. "We knew that she had been hard hit, but the law of the sea is severe, though just. The law of service and battle is even more so. The division stood on until its work was done."

Addresses Fallen Heroes Addressing the silent ranks of the dead lying before him, he declared:

"And to you, who lie here at rest and at peace: Know ye that no monarch, that no country could bestow upon you such a badge of honor as God gave you when he took you in his arms and said: 'Well done, faithful servants. You died in service. You died at your posts of duty.'"

"As I look at each of you I say with every mourner here 'there lies a man.' Every act of your life has been made white by this supreme sacrifice. He who has taken your lives into his keeping will grant you eternal peace."

"You have gone home."

The ceremonies began with the arrival of the massed bands of the fleet pacing slowly to Chapin's funeral march.

Old Hymns Played When the two admirals had paid their homage to the men who had helped to make No. 2 turret of the Mississippi the crack turret of the ship and their comrades of the New Mexico, who had died at their sides, the band took up the air of the old hymn "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

With precision of drill, Chaplain R. D. Workman followed with a prayer, to which he added the words of benediction from the 23rd psalm:

"The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want."

Chaplain R. B. Hatrick, senior chaplain, read from the bible: "The Lord of Hosts is with us, the God of Jacob is our refuge" while the solemn music of the burial service, "I am the resurrection and the life," came from the lips of Chaplain J. W. Moore.

Another prayer, this by Chaplain F. E. Mercer, repeated the hope of resurrection in orderly array drew up in hollow square about the great cross of coffins that occupied the center of Trona field.

He concluded:

"Grant, O God, that we who are left shall be sure that this great public may fulfill her high destiny."

Garfield's Favorite Hymn "Lead, Kindly Light," next rolled slowly across the field from the band.

"And with the morn, the angel faces smile."

Which I have loved long since, and led awhile."

Chaplain C. V. Krantz and F. L. McPadden blessed the dead and Senior Chaplain R. B. Hatrick, pronounced the benediction.

As the chaplain ceased speaking, a low sharp command rang out from the officer in charge of the marine guard.

"The rifles pointed to the sky, where an airplane soared against the sun, dropping flowers. Followed the three volleys over the dead."

"Last Post"

An old bugler put his instrument to his lips. He was W. J. H. Dallaghan, the oldest trumpeter in the navy, well past his two score and ten years. And he blew the "Last Post" over his boys.

That's what he called them, for he, too, came from the Mississippi. Following honor for the dead, honor by word and action, by rifle and bugle, came peace.

To the slow searching notes of "Nearer My God, to Thee" the bodies, one by one, were carried from the field to the temporary chapel nearby, where they will await the disposition of relatives.

As the last chet disappeared the band broke into "My Country 'tis of Thee."

Superstitious Actresses, as a rule, are very superstitious. A very lucky omen is for a dab of carmine grease-paint to get accidentally smeared on the lips. She wipes it off "making-up" the lips. She wishes it will come off carefully and lovingly.

Hard Work After leaving the cause of righteousness to a man's conscience, you have to subject conscience to massage, hot applications and a galvanic battery to get it working.

Swans Down Flour to be Basis of Unusual Menu to be Served to Twin Falls Guests at Unique Event.

Swans Down flour manufacturers in co-operation with Elggren Brothers and Company, Salt Lake jobbers, have issued invitations to a Swans Down cake party to be given at the Perrine hotel on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The menu is an interesting and a varied one and at the conclusion of the cake party section of the program dancing will be in order for as many of the guests as care to remain.

According to D. F. Wissmar, Idaho representative of the Elggren Brothers firm, who is in active charge of the affair, sales of Swans Down in this territory have been unusually large and it is largely in recognition of this fact that arrangements for the party have been entered into.

The plan is not a new one and where over such affairs have been held a thoroughly enjoyable evening has resulted. Mr. Wissmar says.

ACCORDING to a recent newspaper dispatch the vigors of youth have been returned to men of mature age through the beneficial results received from glandular treatment. This remarkable scientific work has been accomplished by one of California's State Institutions. It is asserted that reports show 9 cases out of 10 as being successful with records of over 1000 cases treated.

The object of glandular treatment is to build up the devitalized glands so they may continue their normal function of supplying the vital glandular secretions so necessary to physical energy and perfect health.

CONDITIONS ON IDAHO'S RANGE DECLARED GOOD

E. F. Rinehart, University Field Animal Husbandman, Finds Livestock Industry in Satisfactory Position.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, MOSCOW, June 17.—Contrary to many reports circulating throughout the state, range conditions in Idaho are quite good. E. F. Rinehart, field animal husbandman of the University of Idaho extension division, stated here recently while visiting the university. The spring has been unusually dry throughout the southern part of the state, he said, but the feed started unusually early, in many places during February, and with the rains which have fallen recently the condition of good forage should continue well into the summer.

"I have found in my trip throughout the southern part of the state during the early part of June, that Idaho is experiencing an exceptionally large lamb crop this year, and raisers are shipping from two to three weeks early. The lambs are running from 65 to 70 pounds each, and on the Chicago and Omaha markets are bringing top prices over all competitors," Mr. Rinehart said. "The prices range from $16.50 to $17.00 while on the feed grounds they are bringing from 11 to 13 cents a pound."

Cattle Men Confident.
"The general opinion concerning cattle in the state this spring is one of confidence, as contrasted with the general gloomy attitude characteristic of Idaho cattlemen during the past two years. Southern Idaho this spring fed about 45,000 steers, and most of the raisers are reporting a nice profit on them. Prices have shown a small rise, beef bringing from 7 to 8 1/2 cents at the feed grounds, or from 9 to 10 cents at the market."
The tendency of shipping cattle ready for the market is becoming more and more common in Idaho, Mr. Rinehart said, the raisers fattening the steers on their own ranges, whereas in the past, it was usual to send them to the cor-bel of the middle west prior to sending them to the markets, and to dispose of their affairs through separate channels. By preparing the cattle for shipment at home, a larger ultimate profit is reaped and a larger market is made available.

"California is fast becoming a profitable market for Idaho cattle," said Mr. Rinehart. "Particularly is this true in the Los Angeles section, and Idaho cattle raisers are expecting this condition to greatly benefit the industry in the state. Sheep still continue to be sent to the eastern markets, however, and it is doubtful if any appreciable change will result in that respect for the next several years, if at all."

CASTLEFORD

CASTLEFORD—Frank Kinney and Veimar Graybeal were transacting business in Twin Falls Saturday.

Mrs. John Jay has returned home after spending a couple of weeks with her grandson, Charles Shorthouse. Mr. and Mrs. William Cannon and children, who are farming near Holliester, visited with his sister, Mrs. Emory Bryant. They returned home Sunday.

Thomas Sanderson, Maurice Sanderson of Twin Falls and T. A. Sanderson spent Saturday and Sunday fishing on Cherry creek. Mrs. Thomas Sanderson visited at her son's home while they were gone.

Mrs. William Shriver and baby of Roseworth are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webber. L. W. Gage and family visited relatives in Twin Falls Sunday. They took George Bennett, who has spent a week here, home with them.

Peter Vanderput, the merchant at Roseworth, has left for New York, his former home. Mr. Vanderput was one of the original caravan settlers of that project.

Miss LaVerno Wilson spent Sunday with Miss Edith Cuger.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Heller, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Boyd and family of Twin Falls, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. Sinclair. Mrs. Sinclair returned to his ranch at Roseworth after spending the week end in Castleford.

Mrs. A. M. Quigley of Roseworth stopped here Monday on her way to Buhl, where she was taking her little son Elmo to have his tonsils and adenoids removed.

Dr. A. K. Adams left Monday, after packing up what furniture they had left here. He will go to Albion to join his daughter, Miss Dorothea Adams, who is attending the normal there. The word that Mr. Adams brought with him of the death of his wife which occurred recently in Seattle caused much grief and the community wishes to extend sympathy to the family. Miss Adams taught in the Castleford school the past year.

Mrs. Roy Dyhee had her tonsils removed the last of the week.

Several of the members of the Castleford B. Y. P. U. are making arrangements to attend the assembly of the Baptist young people to be held in July in the Sawtooth mountains.

On Thursday afternoon of this week the Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. J. J. Blick, with Mrs. W. C. Brown as assistant hostess.

F. R. Colthrop, former principal of the Castleford school, was a business visitor here the last of the week.

Mrs. Harry Webber was shopping in Twin Falls Saturday.

Miss Mary McKee, who conducted revival meetings here several weeks ago, is visiting at the Fryer home for a few days. Miss McKee is now the pastor of a church at Mackay, Idaho. She conducted services here Sunday in the Methodist church, and baptismal ceremonies.

Guy Putman and family returned Saturday from their trip to Colorado. They report a wonderful trip, and made exceptionally good time, taking just two weeks to go to Colorado Springs and back.

The penny social given Friday night in the school house by the Camp Fire Girls was well attended. A good program was given by the girls, after which people had a chance to visit the different booths. Fortune telling, guessing booths and the tea garden, where refreshments were served, were the principal attractions. The returns from this entertainment are to go toward securing a charter for this circle. The social given Friday evening was under the direction of Mrs. H. Fryer and Mrs. Chris Simms.

Rumanian Bride Cries

The Rumanian peasant bride must always cry during the marriage proceedings; it would be regarded as particularly unlucky if she did not do so, particularly as she is having her headress prepared for the "coronation," which is so important a part of the ceremony.

-Man and Wife as Friends-

The idea of married couples having regular, business-like acquaintances, with one another is not so new after all. A German expedition dug up tablets in Assyria during the war which indicate that a wife lived usually with her parents rather than with her husband. But her husband was not without his rights. If she became a sector of the famous "eternal triangle" friend husband might lawfully kill her or at least cut off her ears.

A New "Profession"
A "curious calling" is that of one New York woman who earns a living by pawing and redeeming the belongings of other women who are in need of ready cash but who do not like to be seen visiting the pawnshop. The "broker" collects a small percentage on each transaction.

Commercial Honesty
"No," said the old man sternly. "I will not do it. Never have I sold anything by false representation, and I will not begin now." For a moment he was silent, and the clerk who stood before him could see that the better nature of his employer was fighting strongly for the right. "No," said the old man again. "I will not do it. It is an inferior grade of shoe, and I will never use it off an anything better. Mark it 'A Shoe Fit for a Queen,' and put it in the window. A queen does not have to do much walking."

Fed Up
Papa—"I hear that Charles Green is going to be married next week." Little Rupert (whose ideas on the subject are somewhat confused)—"The last three days they give him everything to eat that he asks for, don't they, papa?"

WESTERN CREW WINS REGATTA

Victory Again Goes to University of Washington Oarsmen at Poughkeepsie.

REGATTA COURSE, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 17 (AP)—The championship of the Intercollegiate Regatta association which the University of Washington carried back to the Pacific coast last June, will remain on the west side of the continent another year. The far westerners this afternoon scored their second consecutive triumph in the varsity race when, after leading most of the way, they flashed over the finish line more than a length ahead of the Wisconsin crew.

The eastern crews, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Columbia, finished in the order named.
The Washington victory was a clean-cut triumph, the result of an early lead which the Huskies maintained in a grueling battle with Wisconsin and Cornell down the last mile. And the Washington crew stamped itself as worthy successors to its famous eight stroked by Dow Walling, which won Washington's first victory last year.

A frame-up of a result of the final action of the Wisconsin and Cornell crews, which had not been considered by experts as serious contenders.
The two other events of the regatta went to Pennsylvania, the last half mile of the Wisconsin and Cornell crews, which had not been considered by experts as serious contenders.

Wisconsin's time was 15 minutes 2.5 seconds; Cornell's was 15 minutes 15.3 seconds; Pennsylvania, 15:23.34; Columbia, 15:24; Syracuse, 15:25.

"Walled Lakes" in Iowa
There are a number of so-called "walled lakes" in Iowa, among them one in Wright county. They were formed as a result of glacial action.

The shore lines were gradually built up by the action of the waves against the shore, together with the expansive force of the ice. In some cases the walls look as though they had been built by man. The lake in Wright county has a wall from 3 to 10 feet high, the stones of which range in size from three to a hundred pounds.

Ship Built on Knoll
People looking at the top of a certain knoll at Oakland, Cal., rub their eyes and take another look for their stands the good ship Mor Truquill, which Fred A. Heroux has built. He has injected all the details of a regular, honest-to-goodness sailing craft, except that the bottom will be an immovable base of concrete. The eye of a true mariner will not be much offended, however, because the concrete will be hidden in four feet of water in a tank surrounding the vessel.

Important Lightship
The most important lightship in the world is the Seacoast lightship. A new vessel has just replaced the old ship. This one has a radio fog signal, and two other fog signals, a powerful steam whistle, a submarine bell and full radio equipment. The light will have 3,000 candlepower. Water tanks and fuel oil tanks are large enough to supply the vessel for a year.

Albinos Are Delicate
Albinos, whether in the human or animal world, are delicate and often defective. Pure white dogs are frequently stone deaf. White cats, white poultry and white rats and mice are very subject to disease.

Joe-K says:—
Let Truth be the port to guide your ship and you will never be cast upon the rocks of fancy.

"A REAL AMERICAN" GIVES ENTERTAINING LECTURE

Strongheart, Yakima Indian, Tells Thrilling Story.

"I am proud to shake the hand of a real American." These words, uttered by General Joffre, when he grasped the hand of a bronzed chieftain at recruiting duty in New York, stirred all American. The man thus singled out was Strongheart, hereditary chief of the Yakima Indians, who will address Chautauque audiences this season.

Strongheart is equipped with a college education and natural histrionic ability. Belasco starred him on the stage and prominent film managers have engaged his talent. Bright of eye, sturdy of figure, and with the dignified bearing that marks the Indian race, he is a personage to command attention in any gathering. He wears the full regalia of a chief in his lecture-talk which adds realism to his impressive delineation of Indian ceremonies, customs and ideals.

CALL POLICE IN SHOOTING CASE

Officers Testify as to Knowledge of Dines Affray; Star Amused Spectators.

LOS ANGELES, June 17 (AP)—The police story of the shooting of Courtland S. Dines, Denver clubman, during a New Year's party at his apartment, here, was told today in the trial of Horace Greer, chauffeur, charged with assault. Neither Mabel Normand nor Edna Purviance, motion picture actresses, who were in the apartment at the time of the shooting, were in court.

A. W. Stoll, police detective, testified to answering the call after Greer entered the central police station and announced that he had shot a man. Stoll went to the apartment and, finding the two actresses there, took them to the police station.

Stoll, cross-examined by the attorney for Greer, said Miss Normand and Miss Purviance had been drinking but were not intoxicated.
He told of finding Dines' outer shirt in the apartment, but with no bullet holes in it, or blood upon it.

LOS ANGELES, June 17 (AP)—Mabel Normand's drail replies to questions, "wise cracks" in movie slang, brought repeated guffaws from spectators and stern glances from the bench at the opening in superior court here today of the trial of Horace A. Greer, chauffeur, charged with the attempted murder of Courtland S. Dines, Denver oil operator.

The motion picture comedienne, livened what had promised to be merely a dull routine session of legal procedure. Miss Normand, in the advance of Dines as complaining witness, appeared in the role of principal witness for the prosecution.

Greer formerly was Miss Normand's chauffeur.
Asked during cross-examination if there was drinking in Dines' apartment during the New Year's party which ended with the oil operator being shot three times, the actress admitted there had been.

"What became of the bottles?" asked Attorney S. S. Hahn, leading counsel for Greer.
"I beg your pardon," the actress shot out in quick reply, "there weren't any bottles; there was only one bottle." Miss Normand was shown a small automatic pistol and was asked if it was her property.

"How should I know? It looks too clean for mine."

Miss Normand's testimony followed that of Edna Purviance, another film actress, and the first witness called. She testified that although in Dines' apartment at the time, she did not see the shooting. The jury before which Greer is being tried consists of 10 women and two men.

leaders on the ground invariably express a belief that candidates for the post will be scarce until all but one of the score or more first string aspirants to the White House have been eliminated.

The prevailing attitude was pictured in a conversation among delegates at the national committee headquarters today.

"The republicans have Daves," said a visitor from the mid-west. "Why couldn't we run Owen O. Young, a good democrat and Daves' right hand man on the reparations commission."

Another delegate from the east stood up in a hurry.
"Young for president?" he asked.
"What's the matter with you running for president?"

It was the first time since the G. O. P. session at Cleveland that the chairman of the General Electric company had been mentioned among the dozen or more candidates discussed.

POLICE READY TO CLOSE IN ON ROBBERS

Claim Not Taken in Chicago Train Holdup Will Soon Be Recovered; Pouches Found; Two More Arrested.

JOLIET, Ill., June 17 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Norton and Frank Norton, proprietors of a road house, three miles from the robbery of a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul train were found abandoned today, were arrested by federal agents tonight and taken to Chicago for questioning in connection with the hold up.

CHICAGO, June 17 (AP)—The $3,000,000 lost obtained by robbers who last Thursday night held up a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul mail train near Chicago is in the possession of two registered mail pouches obtained by the robbers, whose names are known and who will be arrested within 24 hours, A. E. Gerner, chief postal inspector, in charge of the investigation, announced tonight.

His statement followed the finding today near Joliet, Illinois, of one of four automobiles used by the bandits and more than 50 of the 62 registered mail pouches obtained by the robbers.

Suspects Held
Mr. Gerner announced that some of the train robbers are included among the six men and the two women now held by the Chicago police. At the same time, Morgan A. Collins, chief of police, announced that the names of all the robbers are known to the police, that there were not more than ten bandits implicated and that those not now in custody will be arrested soon. He said latest estimates placed the haul of the robbers at $3,000,000 in securities, negotiable and non-negotiable and $70,000 in cash.

Michael Hughes, chief of detectives announced that all the prisoners held by the police will probably be turned over to the federal authorities tonight or tomorrow when hearings on writs of habeas corpus for the release of three of them are scheduled in federal court.

Mr. Gerner said tonight that all the mail pouches taken in the robbery have been recovered. He said that about $100,000 in securities, most of them non-negotiable had also been recovered, these securities having been discarded by the robbers or being in pouches which they did not take the trouble to open.

The postal inspector said he attached no importance to the arrest near Joliet today by federal agents of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Norton and Frank Norton, proprietors of a road house. He said he did not believe they knew anything of the robbery.

DEMAGOGUES WILL BE TARGETS FOR DAWES

both parties that the real facts and the economic principles involved in questions of national policy are continually obscured by a dense and petty fog bank of demagogic argument, designed simply for the purpose of forwarding selfish personal political and group interests.

"I have recently returned from Europe where I have seen in prostrated industry and human suffering the effects of five years of demagogic political appeals to the passions and prejudices of the different people as distinguished from appeals to their reason and common sense. To the very brink of the abyss has Europe been brought by the method of treating serious questions, involving great elemental and economic principles. To save herself she has abandoned the demagogic and returned to common sense."

"An orgy of demagogism has been running rife in the world and we here in the United States are feeling its devastating effects. All good republicans and good democrats who put their country above their party and demand the beginning of an era of commonsense in public discussions."

"As human beings whatever may be our party, we are bound together by many subjects but as good citizens we can unite to demand from those who represent us in political debate that they present our difficulties honestly from the standpoint of truth and not from the standpoint of passion and prejudice. The man who preaches distort facts—the man who preaches pleasant doctrines in one portion of our people and another pleasant but absolutely inconsistent doctrine to another portion, is a menace to the safety of our fundamental institutions. As good citizens the perspective of party we must demand from our political leaders a strict adherence to the truth, including disagreeable truths."

Pledged to Truth.
"In the campaign which is before me and as a duty which I owe, not simply to a party, but to the citizens of the United States, I pledge myself to adhere to the truth and to the commonsense conclusions to be drawn therefrom. As to the demagogic on the stump, whatever may be his name, I want it distinctly understood that in the coming campaign I ask no quarter and will give none. In this at least, I know that I will have the sympathy of all good citizens irrespective of party and I hope our political opponents will follow the same course. Let commonsense reign."

"When this campaign is over, whatever may be the result, I want to come back to my home town still holding the respect of my neighbors."

Prominent Figures in the Day's News

Below: MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT & MRS. HERBERT HOOVER.
Below: GENERAL J. J. PERSHING & JUDGE JOHN E. CAVERLEY.

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, chairman of the advisory committee of democratic national committee, presided at a pro-convention meeting of prominent women who are interested in the form which plans shall take in the democratic platform.

MRS. HERBERT HOOVER was said to be one who decided that her husband should not consider overtures to be the vice presidential nominee on the republican ticket because she did not want him to be relegated to a minor political place.

GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING visited some of his youth when he attended commencement exercises at West Point Military Academy, and JUDGE JOHN E. CAVERLEY, who will probably be the presiding judge in the trial of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., self-confessed murderers of little Robert Franks.

CAMPAIGN NOT TO BE RULED BY MINORITY

The national chairman, who is William M. Butler of Massachusetts, Mr. Coolidge's pre-convention campaign manager, and the national committee, which now is constituted of one man and one woman from each state, is expected by Mr. Coolidge to be the actual offensive and defensive force working as a unit and working in the states through the locally selected leaders.

The views of Mr. Coolidge with respect to conduct of the campaign as presented today were taken as indications of his intention to get the republican contesting forces into action at an early date. Mr. Coolidge already has conferred with several of the party leaders who returned to Washington after the Cleveland convention. He has invited Charles G. Dawes, his running mate, to Washington for a conference within a week or 10 days, and he will meet with Mr. Butler the last of the week.

The campaign plans, however, have not reached the point of announcement of a date for the ceremonies attending the formal notification of Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Dawes of their nominations. The notifications were entrusted by the Cleveland convention to two committees with the one that will advise the president, headed by Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, permanent chairman of the convention, and that to notify Mr. Coolidge, headed by Theodore Burton of Ohio, the convention's temporary chairman.

The notification ceremonies for Mr. Coolidge undoubtedly will be held in Washington about July 20, although it was indicated today at the White House that the president was considering an establishment out of Washington for a brief period during the extreme heat of the summer.

Mr. Dawes probably will be notified of his nomination at his home in Evanston, Ill., about a week after the Coolidge notification.

The ceremonies usually inaugurate the campaign and Mr. Coolidge's address to the nation will be one of a limited number he expects to make during the campaign.

Had No Weather

The first result of man's study of the weather was apparently to run away from it. Sir Napier Shaw, the English authority on meteorology, points out that the first civilization of which we have much record, that of Egypt, existed where there was really no weather. This civilization may have been the result, he says, of migration of all the bright individuals or races from other parts of the world, who fled their inclement native climes and settled in Egypt. A similar movement seemed to be in progress at the present day.

LABOR POLITICAL BODY CLAIMS TO BE GAINING

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The conference for progressive political action whose convention in Cleveland on July 4, is expected to nominate Senator La Follette for president in a statement today declared organizations have been effected in 24 states with the number growing almost daily. Activities, the conference said, have been stimulated by the treatment of the La Follette delegation at the Cleveland convention and the nomination of General Dawes as a running mate for president Coolidge.

Regardless of the action taken by the St. Paul convention now in session the statement asserted the conference will follow throughout the plan it adopted at its inception, "steering clear of any communist influence."

IN THE DAY'S WORK

A good many people are under the impression that when a member of the State Game Warden's staff shall have given his full time and attention to the matter of the preservation and protection of game he has accomplished about all that might be reasonably expected of him.

If he does this well, he has perhaps gone a good part of the way toward the accomplishment of his chief mission, yet the care of fish and game does not constitute his entire program of activity.

Some few weeks ago fire broke out in a section of valuable yellow pine timber in Central Idaho. Forest Service men were not available and help from other sources directly connected with the matter of fire protection could not be immediately obtained.

There were, however, one or two deputy game wardens in the vicinity and to these men word of the conflagration was carried. The matter had no direct connection with the duties of a game warden, but the game wardens stepped cheerfully into the breach, labored day and night and finally conquered the flames. They received no special reward, and expected none. They merely saw an opportunity for public service along a line with which they were familiar and they accepted the job.

The people of Idaho probably profited to the extent of a good many thousand dollars by the action of these men. The fact is of interest as tending to show that the Game Department of the State is a useful adjunct apart altogether from the matter of the conservation of the fish and game supply.

LOWER MOTOR DEATH RATE

With the actual number of fatalities from automobile accidents increasing month by month, it is encouraging to learn that the percentage is decreasing.

In 1907, when there were only one hundred forty-two thousand cars in the United States, there were five hundred ninety-eight deaths from automobile accidents. In 1923 there were sixteen thousand, seven hundred deaths—an appalling number. But there were also fifteen million more cars in the country.

That is, the number of automobiles increased one hundred five times while the accident toll mounted to only twenty-seven times its earlier rate. The danger attached to every individual car has, therefore, decreased something like seventy-five per cent.

All present indications are that motor cars will continue to increase in number. Modern cars are faster moving; present-day streets are more congested. Nevertheless, it should be possible to keep the fatality percentage on the decline. The very danger of the tremendous number of cars and the crowding of thoroughfares will emphasize more and more the need of caution. Wiser traffic laws, stricter enforcement of them, sterner punishment for infringement, thorough education of school children in safety rules and practice will do much to effect a lower automobile death rate.

AGRICULTURAL MOVIES

The United States Department of Agriculture now has the largest and best-equipped motion picture studio outside of New York, according to commercial movie men, who ought to know. It is located in Hollywood, and there the government is turning out educational pictures, chiefly agricultural, which are shown practically all over the world.

The development of this phase of the department's work is interesting. It was hampered at first because it could not spend large sums for technicians, scenario writers and actors. Employees of the department were asked to try their hands at scenarios and many of them were pressed into service as character actors in some of the rural thrillers.

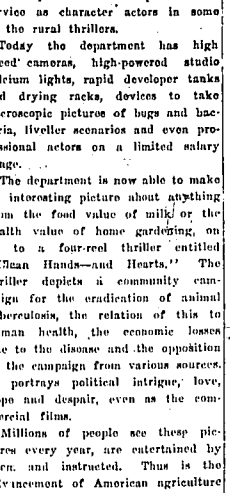

Today the department has high speed cameras, high-powered studio calcium lights, rapid developer tanks and drying racks, devices to take microscopic pictures of bugs and bacteria, livelier scenarios and even professional actors on a limited salary range.

The department is now able to make an interesting picture about anything from the food value of milk or the health value of home gardening, on up to a four-reel thriller entitled "Clean Hands and Hearts." The thriller depicts a community campaign for the eradication of animal tuberculosis, the relation of this to human health, the economic losses due to the disease and the opposition to the campaign from various sources. It portrays political intrigue, love, hope and despair, even as the commercial films.

Millions of people see these pictures every year, are entertained by them, and instructed. Thus is the advancement of American agriculture promoted and the production of an abundant and wholesome food supply encouraged.

Birds Bathe in Dust

Many types of land birds take their bath in dust in order to rid their feathers of insects. These same birds use water at times also, and, of course, birds that live on the water never take dust baths. Whenever a bird's feathers are not sleek and clean it may be inferred the bird is not well.

Why We Like Fiction

Fiction is the "white-haired boy" of literature, the darling of both writer and reader. Its appeal is felt by the imaginative child, the dreaming old dame, and to the same extent of that reader and more practical middle period. Wherein lies this charm? It may be that the narration of incidents and sensations which we find either strange or only partly familiar but which we have little difficulty in experiencing vicariously fills us with the delight of a mysterious world. Perhaps, a word in which someone's hand is wrapped all of this world's wisdom. Or again, and not at all paradoxically, it may be that we derive great satisfaction in discovering that others think of the same emotions that we do, and are actuated by the same motives.—John Macfield.

Use Blighted Trees

Post, poles and ties cut from blighted chestnut trees are just as serviceable as those cut from healthy trees, according to the United States forest service. This is looked upon as an important announcement because it will aid in the conservation of timber and many experiments and tests have been made to prove the assertion. The only provision is that the pieces must be cut from trees within reasonable time after the blight has started.

Imagination Stirred by Problems of Great Spaces

I have no doubt that gazing at a fine occupation, for it leads you within the borders of the unattainable. But nun quizing, to which I became addicted early, brings the problems of the great spaces of the earth into stimulating and directive contact with sense curiosity and gives an honest precision to one's imaginative faculty. Writes Joseph Conrad in the National Geographic Magazine.

And the honest maps of the Nineteenth century nourished in me a passionate interest in the truth of geographical facts and a desire for precise knowledge which was extended later to other subjects.

From the middle of the Eighteenth century on, the business of map making had been growing into an honest occupation, registering the hard-won knowledge, but also, in a scientific spirit, recording the geographical ignorance of the time.

"Brush" Used for Removing Deposits From Ship's Hull

It is reported that an Australian company has introduced in England an ingenious method of cleaning the outside of the hull of a ship. The invention has been in successful operation for a number of years in Australia and has been tried at Southampton and Plymouth.

The apparatus is mounted upon a suitable frame, which can be suspended from the side of a boat. It consists of a cylindrical brush about five or six feet in length, held in a frame work which also supports an electric motor and a propeller. The purpose of the propeller is to keep the brush pressed against the side of the ship. The case carrying the apparatus contains a supply of fuel and petroleum motor directly coupled to a dynamo. The current produced serves to raise and lower the carrying frame as well as to drive the propeller and brush. As the appliance operates under water the motor and gearing are inclosed in a water-tight case.

The method of removing the thickest deposits and can thoroughly clean the hull of an 8,000-ton ship in from six to seven hours.

Flea's Wonderful Eyesight

Fleas have far better sight than men. A German scientist who has been investigating fleas makes this disclosure, saying their sight is so sharp that when a man is sleeping at night under a blanket in a darkened room his body glows to a flea as brightly as a red-hot stove appears to a man in a darkened room.

Man is far behind many animals in both sight and hearing, the scientist finds, when a man ear catches only a small percentage of the myriad tone waves and as human eyes do not react to ultra-violet, beams much is lost to man which reaches eyes of a lower order.

WIDE RANGE OF EVENTS FIGURE IN CELEBRATION

Chamber of Commerce Committee Works Out Tentative Program for Full Day of Fourth of July Activities.

Opening with the roar of an avell chorus at 4 o'clock in the morning and closing at the end of a full day with a marit game festival, fireworks display and open-air dancing, the tentative program for Twin Falls' celebration this year of the nation's birthday anniversary was worked out by the chamber of commerce Fourth of July celebration committee at a meeting Tuesday evening.

Given assurance that none of the neighbor towns and communities within a radius of 30 miles are arranging for their own celebration of the event, the committee is expected to bring here one of the largest crowds ever assembled on a similar occasion in this region. Indication of popular interest in the undertaking was given in the report, among others, of the committee on concessions headed by W. R. Priebe, which was to the effect that concessions' permits had been issued on Tuesday to ten applicants.

No Idle Moments
The program as worked out by the committee leaves not an idle moment from the hour of the parade, which was set for 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon until after 9 o'clock at night when the fireworks display is to begin. An hour is allotted for the parade and another hour for the fireworks. At 11 o'clock a free ball game. At eleven o'clock addresses of the day are to be delivered in the park by Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the University of Idaho, and probably by Representative Addison T. Smith.

Auto Section Interesting
An automobile section with prizes to be awarded for the best decorated and the worst in the parade, is to be an interesting feature of the parade. DIRECTORS PUT INVESTIGATION BEFORE PLAINT

Committee on Way to Idaho Falls to Determine Whether Water Exchange Policy Causes Impairment of Rights.

Twin Falls Canal company directors, at a special meeting here Tuesday, decided to await the report of investigators before presenting to the state commissioner of reclamation a formal protest against the policy adopted by the "committee of nine" providing for exchange of natural flow waters of Snake river in return for storage waters in Jackson Lake reservoir.

Both the protest and investigation had been received by a meeting here last Saturday of about 50 water users, 20 of whom cast the unanimous vote of the meeting for the protest.

Investigators named by the water users' meeting, who left Tuesday evening for Idaho Falls to begin their inquiry as to whether the Twin Falls Canal company's rights are impaired by operation of the exchange policy, were Carl J. Miller of Castleford, president of the canal company; J. A. Cron of Twin Falls, former canal company operator; N. W. Sharp of Pocatello, canal company director. They were accompanied by Burton Smith, general manager of the canal company, who will act as an advisory capacity.

Statute To Be Studied.
One of the first things subject for inquiry upon arrival of the committee in Idaho Falls is an apparent discrepancy, as shown by reports of Watermaster for G. O. Baker, between the amount of natural flow water available at Miller in the spring of 1910 and the corresponding period of 1924 as compared with amount of water in the river at its uppermost measuring station during these periods.

It was upon this apparent discrepancy that Mr. Miller and other proponents of the exchange policy, their objection to the water exchange policy.

Watermaster Baldwin, who attended the water users' meeting here Saturday, offered on that occasion to explain actual conditions, which, he said, the reports, although accurate in themselves, did not truly reflect, and to show that the Twin Falls company actually suffered little if any impairment of its rights as a result of the exchange policy.

Protest in Basins.
The directors Tuesday drafted a formal protest to be presented to the state reclamation commissioner in the event of an unfavorable report by the investigating committee.

PUTS NEW ROAD ON SOUTH SIDE

Colonel C. W. Thatcher Announces Rerouting of Washington Highway.

KIMBERLY, June 17 (Special to the News).—Route of the Washington transcontinental highway has been changed to follow the Old Oregon Trail through southern Idaho, a former routing through Gooding and the North Side having been abandoned in accordance with decision reached within the past few days, according to announcement made this evening by Colonel Charles W. Thatcher, chief engineer of the Washington Highway association, who is the guest of friends here.

Colonel Thatcher said that recent changes in conditions had made it advisable to change the highway routing as that from Pocatello westward it will pass through Declo, Burley, Twin Falls, Buhl and Boise. The routing through Oregon, he said has not been determined upon definitely.

Beginning next week, Colonel Thatcher said, there will be routed over the Washington highway through southern Idaho an immense volume of travel from new passes either to the north or to the south of this region.

Colonel Thatcher announced that he would begin Thursday the work of painting Washington highway signs in the vicinity of Twin Falls. Nine years ago, he said, he passed through this region painting highway signs en route. He is traveling now with a team of mules completing his fifth trip across the continent with this conveyance.

The mule team, however, is to be abandoned at the end of this trip and when he returns, Colonel Thatcher said, it will be in an automobile.
