OFFICERS WATCH ALL ROADS FOR KILLER SUSPECT

Intensive Search Being Made for Slayers of Seattle Man; Body Found on Road Near Mountain Home.

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho, June 27 (AP)—Southern Idaho peace officers tonight were watching all roads and combing the country for a Star automobile, Washington state license number 215-428, thought to bear the slayer of Fanny Mills, 46, of 1428 1-2 West Forty-eighth street, Seattle, whose still warm body was found by the roadside three miles west of Mountain Home this morning at 10:15 o'clock. Passing motorists found the body and reported at once to Sheriff Arthur Stevens of Elmore county, who brought the body to Mountain Home. He had been shot twice, one bullet just grazing the head, the other, which apparently caused death, entering the right temple and crashing through the brain. Blood was still flowing from the wound when the body was found.

Coroner's Jury Meets

A coroners jury empaneled by Coroner G. C. Zacher of Elmore county, met tonight at 7:30 o'clock, heard the evidence of R. H. Leber, Thornton, Powell, Bradford and Spofford, viewed the body and adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning to hear the evidence of Sheriff Stevens, who is still seeking the death machine.

The evidence of the five, who were tourists, agreed that the body was lying in the ditch by the side of the road, all save the legs from the knees down hidden by the weeds. They all agreed the wound was bleeding when the man was found.

Papers Found

Papers found on the body indicated the slain man was Fanny Mills of Seattle. A telegram sent to the address given had elicited no response late tonight. A letter, signed only "Mabel" and purporting to come from his daughter, was postmarked Los Angeles. A telegram also was sent to Mabel Mills, Los Angeles, but had brought no reply.

The dead man had no watch, and only 35 cents in his pocket, but in a sock was found $170, while two savings bank books showed deposits of $1000 and $2420. There was nothing to indicate robbery, according to Coroner Zacher. It was possible the thief, if a thief committed the crime, had overlooked the sock as a hiding place.

Reports were received late today to the effect that the Star automobile in question had passed Jerome heading east but no arrest had been made at 10 o'clock tonight.

Air Equipment of U. S. Is Obsolete, Maughan Declares

Cross-Continental Flier Says Speedier Planes Needed; Made Trip to Prove Value of Modern Aircraft.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27 (AP)—The only modern airplane suitable for air combat now on the Pacific coast is that in which Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan made his 22-hour transcontinental flight last Monday, according to a statement by Lieutenant Maughan yesterday at a luncheon club meeting and again last night in an address broadcast by radio.

"A 120-mile an hour plane is at the mercy of one which can fly at 100 miles an hour," said Lieutenant Maughan. "The trip across the continent was made to awaken the people of this nation to the fact that their country is very small and that it is badly in need of protection in the sky."

The American air service was characterized by Lieutenant Maughan as "a pitifully inadequate force of men handling obsolete equipment."

COOLIDGE PICKS COUPAL

WASHINGTON, June 27 (AP)—Major James F. Coupal, curator of the army medical museum, was selected by President Coolidge today to be his personal physician, succeeding Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, resigned. Major Coupal was physician to Mr. Coolidge as vice president.

Political Ovation Inspired by Radio As Cox Is Urged

Crowd Gathers in Streets at Dayton, Ohio, to Shout Name of Former Candidate.

DAYTON, Ohio, June 27 (AP)—There was an unusual development in Dayton today, now probably to the world—a political ovation inspired by radio service.

Large megaphone horns in front of the Dayton News office, former Governor James M. Cox' newspaper, gave the proceedings of the democratic national convention in New York. While Newton D. Baker was nominating Mr. Cox, a crowd gathered on the streets surrounding Mr. Cox' office, yelling his name.

VETERANS NAME NEW YORK MAN

Irwin Elected Commander of D. A. V.; Walsh of Pennsylvania Is Assistant.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 27 (AP)—Frank C. Irwin of New York was elected national commander of the Disabled American Veterans on the first ballot at today's session of the fourth annual convention here today.

Mr. Irwin who has been serving the organization as chairman of the national rehabilitation committee at Washington, D. C. was elected with a total of 257 of the 481 votes cast. John Mahan of Bismarck, Mont., was second with 100 votes; Robert Bagge of Cincinnati received 65 votes and Brian McOskey of Minneapolis 50. The unsuccessful candidates voted to make the election unanimous.

Richard Walsh of Pennsylvania was elected senior vice commander on the second ballot, defeating Lewis J. Murphy of Indiana 211 to 167 votes.

Other officers elected were: Carl S. Halverson, Bremerton, Wash., first junior vice commander; Frank H. Williams, Buffalo, N.Y., second junior vice commander; H. W. Michaels, Cincinnati, O., third vice commander; Major B. W. Speid, San Diego, Cal., fourth junior vice commander; Rabbi Michael Aaronson, Cincinnati, O., national chaplain. Omaha was selected as the next convention city.

PARTY PLANKS BEING SHAPED BY COMMITTEE

Proposal for National Referendum on U. S. Joining League Is Approved; Predict Klan Fight on Floor.

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—A proposal for a national referendum on the question of American membership in the league of nations was approved tonight by the platform committee of the democratic national convention by a vote of 34 to 16.

With this subject disposed of the committee took up the other single controversial matter—the Ku Klux Klan—with every indication that majority and minority reports on the question of naming the Klan would be submitted and the fight thus thrown into the convention itself.

Except for the league and the Klan planks, the platform had been put in final form and the committee made a determined drive tonight to complete these, so that the entire platform might be presented to the convention early tomorrow. To do this, members said a near all-night session would be necessary.

Four Hour Fight

The fight over the league of nations consumed more than four hours with four separate planks under consideration. Three proposals for a referendum were submitted by Senator F. H. Caraway of Arkansas, Alfred E. Lucking of Michigan and William Jennings Bryan of Florida. After the vote in favor of a referendum, a subcommittee was named to put the subject into final form.

There was an understanding that the referendum provision should be attached as a part of the Clarke-Young foreign relations plank which declares for American co-operation with the other nations in preserving the peace of the world and severely rebukes the republican administration for its handling of foreign affairs.

Baker Wanted Showdown

Newton D. Baker, secretary of war under Woodrow Wilson, held out to the last for an unequivocal expression with reference to immediate admission of the United States into the league and made an impassioned address at the last in support of his position. He

Bourbon Chiefs Confer to Clear the Way for Action

Groups Get Together in Conferences to Keep Klan Fight From Convention Floor.

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Thoroughly alarmed by the possibilities of a fight over the Ku Klux Klan plank on the floor of the convention tomorrow, various groups of leaders were in conferences tonight, seeking to devise some means to smooth out the situation so the convention could get to balloting for a presidential nominee.

One conference was attended by David L. Rockwell, campaign manager for McAdoo, Norman E. Mack of New York, George Brennan of Illinois, E. H. Moore of Youngstown, Ohio, Senator Gerry of Rhode Island, G. Bruce Kremer of Montana, McAdoo floor manager; Senator Walsh of Montana, permanent chairman of the convention; Senator Harrison of Mississippi and Chairman Hull of the democratic national committee.

The conference was described as friendly in all respects and it was said all the participants agreed that the need of the moment was to find some way to keep the Klan fight from coming to the floor of the convention. Grave fears of the consequences were expressed should the efforts fail.

After the principal conference the convention conferees split up into groups and continued their work among delegates, and dealers separately. No specific plan for avoiding the open fight was advanced, but all the participants were engaged actively in the attempt to find one before morning.

GIRL AND FLIER KILLED

AKRON, Ohio, June 27 (AP)—Miss Elwida Wickelham, 21, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and Howard R. Convery, Medina, Ohio, were killed tonight when an airplane the girl was piloting crashed 1000 feet to the ground at Stow aviation field near here.

ALDERMAN FINED

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Joseph A. Mendel, Chicago alderman and district alternate to the democratic convention, was fined $10, by federal Judge Henry C. Clayton today when he was found guilty of transporting liquor without a permit. William H. Cavanaugh of Brooklyn, Mendel's brother-in-law also was fined $10.

SUBMIT ARGUMENTS ON A. F. REHEARING PLEA

BOISE, June 27 (AP)—Arguments on the petition for rehearing in the case brought to test the constitutionality of the proposed $2,700,000 bond issue of the American Falls reservoir district, were heard in the supreme court.

MINORITY WILL SUBMIT REPORT

Platform Committee Takes Stand in Regard to Disposal of Important Questions.

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—A minority report on the league of nations question as well as the Ku Klux Klan issue will be presented tomorrow to the democratic national convention.

A general war broke out in the committee immediately after the compromise draft had been read. Some committee men took the position that it was not strong enough in its declaration regarding the league; others that it was too strong and still others argued that if there was to be a referendum it was not necessary to make the league an immediate issue.

Discussion of this question delayed until exceedingly late in the night consideration of the Klan issue and some committee men expressed doubt that the two controversial subjects could be put in shape for presenting to the national convention at the hour of its convening—9:30 a. m.—tomorrow.

The compromise league plank was a composite of the plans submitted by Owen D. Young of New York, formerly a member of the Dawes reparations commission; John H. Clarke, president of the league of nations non-partisan association; Newton D. Baker; Senator Caraway of Arkansas and Alfred E. Lucking, member of the committee from Michigan.

FIRST BALLOTS MAY BE CAST AT NIGHT SESSION

No Shift of Sentiment Shown in Developments of the Day; 16 Placed in Nomination, More to be Listed.

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—After four days of oratorical flourish and careful demonstration, the democratic convention is ready for its final showdown on nominees and policies.

In another long and noisy session today it received in formal nomination the names of the last of its 10 presidential candidates and was informed that its platform had been completed in plank except for the troublesome plank on the Ku Klux Klan which must be perfected on the floor of the convention itself.

Meeting an hour earlier than usual tomorrow, it will fight out its differences over the platform and then, probably at a night session, begin balloting for a nominee.

See No Change in Strength

The developments of the last few hours before the test of strength showed outwardly no shift of sentiment on either candidates or platform. McAdoo and Smith still led the field in the delegate strength pledged to them on the first ballot, and the supporters of John W. Davis, Ralston, Glass, Ritchie and several others claimed victory after the deadlock has run its course. The debate over open condemnation of the Klan went on with growing bitterness and the extent to which the field in the delegate strength pledged to them on the first ballot, and the supporters of John W. Ready for Vote

Tonight the campaign managers for the rival candidates put their camps on a war footing for the initial impact, while the platform committee made a final desperate effort to prepare something tangible as a basis of debate when the controverted planks reach the convention floor.

All of today's session was taken up with nominating and seconding speeches for candidates to the usual accompaniment of noise making. When the end of the 17 hours that had been devoted

Deny Rail Unions Can Take Control of Party Session

Conference Leaders Hold LaFollette Candidacy Not to "Go Dead"; Says Brotherhood Not Represented.

CLEVELAND, O., June 27 (AP)—Reports from New York that if Wm. G. McAdoo is nominated as the democratic presidential candidate, the candidacy of Robert M. LaFollette will go dead were characterized as "unfounded" tonight by leaders of the conference for progressive political action here arranging for its convention in July.

"Denial was made that any group of rail unions can control the convention, the leaders asserting that the convention will be absolutely open. They also declare their belief that Mr. LaFollette will run regardless of what the democrats do and that they do not see in any of the democratic possibilities any one who can gain his supporters."

"The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen has no official representative at the democratic convention and no one there is authorized to express the brotherhood's views," D. B. Robertson, president of that organization said tonight.

It also was pointed out that none of the six delegates who signed the manifesto is a member of the national committee of the conference for progressive political action.

E. M. Jewell and J. A. Franklin are the only ones who hold communication places in powerful organizations, it was said. Although E. E. Millman, president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, F. H. Flanagan, president of the International Brotherhood of the national committee.

Here Are First Telephonic Photos Received in Idaho Showing Prominent Democratic Convention Figures

EDITOR'S NOTE:—The Twin Falls News was the first newspaper in the state of Idaho to print a picture sent by the new telephonic system of transmission, the picture being that of President Coolidge sent over the wires from Cleveland, Ohio, to New York City when experiments in this system were brought to a successful conclusion at Cleveland, May 10, by American scientists after years of experimentation. The pictures shown below were sent from the democratic convention at New York to Chicago by the new system and forwarded to Twin Falls.

BABSON GIVES VIEWS ON PROPERTY MARKET

Predicts Shift of Home Owning Population and Tenants to Suburbs; Compares Years of "Booms."

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 27 (Special to the News) What is going to happen to real estate during the next five to ten years? The tenant, the home owner, the builder, and the investor, are all pondering the question. Babson, in the business field, has endeavored to complicate the problem. The statement by Roger W. Babson today is therefore of unusual interest.

"The present real estate and building boom has been going on for almost ten years," says the statistician. "During the war it ran to factory sites and industrial buildings. We increased our productive capacity by about 68 per cent and the building of plants ran 190 per cent of normal. Industrial property shot up and the shortage of labor and materials doubled building costs. High prices and conservatism practically stopped residential building for the time being."

TOURIST PARK NOTES

It has been said that it takes all kinds of people to make the world, and we have concluded that this saying is a true one, and that we have had a sample of every kind in our tourist park. A few days since, a family of six persons came to the park in two cars, and at once began to criticize the park, and asked to be admitted for one day, as they were one family. The next day the two women put in full time doing the family washing and ironing, accompanied by a running fire of fault finding and comparing our park with others. Not satisfied with monopolizing the laundry and a good share of the kitchen all day, one of the party attached his battery to the light circuit and left it running while he slept. It was discovered at a late hour and the current turned off. The next morning a young man was busily hunting for a stray battery. After being told a few things that ought to make him eat humble pie, his battery was returned to him with the admonition, "Don't do it again."

Gospel Car to Carry Good Cheer And Doughnuts to Men in Prisons

PHILADELPHIA, June 27 (AP)—Bearing good cheer and doughnuts to convicts in penitentiaries from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, a gospel car will leave here July 7 with a party of welfare workers, some of whom helped brighten dark days for the soldiers in the trenches in France. On the front of the car will be a brass plate with the inscription "In the Service of the King."

The automobile tour was planned by some of the workers following a visit to a convict camp, where they made doughnuts for the men and talked and prayed with them. The prisoners seemed so cheered by the unexpected visit that it was decided to spread the work to every prison to which admission could be gained. With 35 cents as capital the workers set out. Their doughnut making, with doughnut cutters made from captured German

KIMBERLY

KIMBERLY—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Arnold, who have been visiting their daughter, Miss Pearl, at Portland, Ore., returned Friday.

The many friends of Grandpa Williams and Mrs. Lily Holden, father and sister of Mrs. William Downing, will be glad to know they have arrived safely at their old home in Onida, Kan.

Roy Peterson, who has spent the past year in California, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hamilton.

One of the most pleasant social events of the week was the one o'clock luncheon given by Mrs. John W. Hardin and Mrs. J. Holland Hardin on Wednesday at the country home of the former. The rooms were profusely decorated with mammoth bouquets of roses. The table was charming with its decorations and color scheme in yellow, having for a centerpiece a cluster bouquet of yellow roses in a cut glass bowl. Covers were laid for ten, and a five-course meal was served to the following guests: Mesdames E. B. Johnson, H. H. Atkinson of Twin Falls, W. T. Combs, W. M. Arnold, J. N. Davis, M. B. Gill, O. L. WEATHER FAVORS WORK ON FARMS

Weekly Summary Issued by Government Showing Conditions Fair; Rain Needed.

Weather conditions in this district were generally favorable for crop growth during the week ending June 24, according to the weekly summary issued from Boise office of the United States department of agriculture weather bureau.

The summary is as follows:

North Idaho—The week opened with cloudy weather and light to moderate rains over the district Tuesday and Wednesday. The weather was fair thereafter with moderate day temperatures and cool nights. Most all grains and pastures were benefited by the showers and cooler weather. Corn is generally good to excellent, compared with other crops, and is growing fine and has good color. Cherry harvest is about completed in the Lewiston valley and is beginning in the later sections. Early peaches, apricots and plums will soon be ready for harvest, but the crop will be light. Farmers are cutting wheat, hay, alfalfa and oats. Orchardists are thinning apples and putting on second contact spray. Stock are generally in good condition.

Southwest Idaho—Weather conditions were generally favorable for crop growth in the irrigated sections. Temperatures were moderately high and sunshine was adequate. Showers occurred in some localities, but the areas affected were small, affording only slight temporary relief from the acute drought conditions that obtain generally over the dry farm sections of this district. Dry farm crops are mostly beyond help, but copious general rains would greatly benefit pastures and ranges. Irrigated crops are advancing rapidly. Wheat and barley are maturing and corn is doing fairly well; it needs warmer nights than we have had so far. Hay harvest satisfactory progress with favorable weather. The range is drying badly, but feed is still adequate and stock are in good condition.

Southeast Idaho—Cool weather prevailed the first of the week with heavy to killing frost reported in some of the higher localities. Light showers occurred generally, but were not heavy enough to benefit crops. Winter wheat is reported fair to good but burning in places. Spring wheat and oats are poor except where irrigated. A fair crop of alfalfa is being cut. Potatoes are just coming up in the northern counties but are doing fairly well in some irrigated sections. Beets are being thinned and cultivated. Grimm alfalfa seed is reported excellent in Blaine county. Strawberries are ripe and early cherries turning. Ranges and pastures are dry except where irrigated.

FAMED VETERANS TO CONVEGE AT ANNUAL SESSION

American Men Who Served With Rainbow Division in France to Gather in Southern City July 14-16.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 27 (AP)—Between 2500 and 3000 veterans of the world war who served in the Rainbow division will come to Columbia for the annual convention of the Rainbow division veterans, July 14 to 16, according to Colonel J. Monroe Johnson of Marion, S. C., president of the national organization. Preparations for the convention are being completed by Colonel Johnson in co-operation with a central state committee in Columbia.

Dinners, luncheons and barbecues will be given by women's organizations. Business sessions will be held in the hall of the house of representatives. Receptions and other functions will be given under the rotunda of the state house, while committee meetings will be held in the rooms devoted to that purpose by the general assembly.

The address of welcome will be delivered by Governor Thomas G. McLeod of South Carolina. Lieutenant Governor Collins of Minnesota will respond on behalf of the veterans, after which Colonel Johnson will deliver the president's annual address.

A reception will be given at the capitol on the evening of the 14th at which the governor and state officials and other dignitaries and their wives will receive. Dancing will take place until shortly before midnight.

At the stroke of 12 the veterans and visitors will stand with bare heads on the great stone steps of the state house in memory of their fallen comrades, observing what is known in the division as the "champagne hour." This ceremony commemorates the severe fighting and losses in the Champagne sector of the battlefield in France, probably the most severe in which the division participated.

JEROME

JEROME—Social activities for the week are rather quiet, giving place to the Chautauqua which began on Thursday evening. The attendance this year is unusually large.

Sam La'Harrison is spending this week at his home in Jerome. Mr. La'Harrison travels for a wholesale clothing house.

Another outbreak of rabies among the dogs in Jerome was noticeable the last of the week. Two dogs were killed by Dr. W. L. Ikard. The heads have been sent to Boise for inspection but no returns have been received.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Pence of Ogden, Utah, have returned to their home after an extended visit with Mrs. Pence's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Roberson. Mrs. S. D. Stanton has as her house guest her sister, Mrs. George Carter of Boise.

Mrs. R. S. Frazer Jr. and daughter are spending a long vacation at the home of relatives in Jerome from their home in Pawhuska, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Mentch were business callers in Jerome Wednesday from their home in Twin Falls.

Mrs. H. L. Abramson has as her house guest for the summer her sister, Mrs. Claude Cohen of Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. M. F. Sheldon, Mrs. Arthur Bird and Mrs. Charley Fields, delightfully entertained on Thursday afternoon at a lawn party on the O. C. McCorkle lawn at Falls City. Members of the Falls City Civic club were present. A program and games were enjoyed and refreshments were served.

WANT ALASKAN FISH

DAVENPORT, Wash., June 27 (AP)—Members of the state game commission advisory board, including State Senator Charles E. Myers, are making a trip to Alaska for the purpose of securing cut-throat trout fry for propagation in the streams of Washington.

According to Mr. Myers, the party will spend some time near Sitka inspecting government fish traps there and will also travel to Skagway.

OREGON HAS CHERRY CROP

EUGENE, Ore., June 27 (AP)—Notwithstanding dry weather in western Oregon this spring and summer the commercial cherry crop in this section is the largest for a number of years past, according to the manager of the local farmers' co-operative association which operates a large fruit and vegetable cannery in Eugene.

The crop of Royal Anne, Bing and Lamberta is estimated to be of such proportion that the association has announced it will not handle the earlier and smaller varieties in any quantities as the capacity of the plant will be taken up with the three varieties named.

WILL SHOW CROP TESTS

PULLMAN, Wash., June 27 (AP)—Advances made in all phases of agriculture, including a new smut-proof wheat recently developed, and cereal experiments showing more than 4000 individual plots of varieties of wheat, oats and barley produced by hybridization or introduced from other parts of the world, will be offered for inspection to farmers of the state and other visitors at the annual field day of the Washington State college experiment station here July 1.

Special interest is expected to center about the 30-acre plot of Riddit, the new smut-proof wheat, which this year is being tested in small plots by 165 farmers of the state. Markon oats, a smut-proof variety, also will be displayed.

PHILIPPINE SUGAR PRODUCTION EXPECTED TO SHOW INCREASE

MANILA, June 27 (AP)—Cane sugar production in the Philippine islands for the crop year of 1923-1924 is expected to reach 335,000 long tons according to figures printed by the Manila Times. The 1922-1923 crop amounted to only 263,000 long tons.

The centrifugal sugar production for this year is estimated at 302,000 tons, against 223,000 tons the previous year. The muscavados output for the present year is placed at 32,000 tons, compared with 40,000 tons the previous year.

LABOR DEMANDS McADOO AS MAN FOR PRESIDENT

Union Men Submit Ultimatum
With Threat to Vote for Independent if Californian is Not Nominated.

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—William G. McAdoo must be the democratic presidential nominee or organized labor will support the third party movement at Cleveland on July 4, according to a virtual ultimatum issued today through McAdoo's headquarters. The manifesto was signed by Timothy Shea of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; E. M. Jewell, head of the railway division of the American Federation of Labor; A. O. Wharton, labor member of the railway labor board; J. A. Franklin, president of the Brotherhood of Iron Shipbuilders; J. G. Lahrer, president of the American Train Dispatchers; and E. E. Milliken of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees.

G. O. P. Not Acceptable
"There is no available candidate to whom the working man will give the same unqualified support," the statement said. "Neither the republican party nominee, nor the platform adopted by the republican convention is acceptable to the organized workers affiliated with the conference for progressive political action."

"The sentiment among the great mass of the organized wage earners is overwhelming for Mr. McAdoo, and in the judgment of these leaders he must be the nominee if these leaders are to go to the convention of the conference for progressive political action on July 4 at Cleveland and vote against the plying of an independent candidate in the field. They have the necessary votes to prevent the successful launching of an independent movement."

Give Ultimatum
"If Wall street, the demagogue bosses and the representatives of big business wish to divorce these workers from the democratic party in the present campaign, they will continue their opposition to Mr. McAdoo. They do not realize the state of mind of labor; and of the masses of the people for a truly progressive candidate."

"The present activities of some of the democratic bosses can be likened to nothing more clearly than the flinging of Nero while Rome burned."

The statement declared that more than forty representatives of labor organizations were attending the convention and working in support of Mr. McAdoo's candidacy.

Mr. McAdoo recently in his hotel quarters today receiving delegates attending the convention. The Ku Klux Klan, league of nations and other platform questions entered into these conferences, but neither Mr. McAdoo nor his lieutenant issued any formal statements.

RALSTON TO WIN

race. I wouldn't say that neither is going to win, but I do cite my observation on past horse races for your consideration.

"When this race starts, Ralston will be on the outside, just as he is now. He will still trail at the half. But the leaders will be tiring, perhaps. He may trail at the seven-eighths. I suspect he will. But he will finish strong. He will come home in front regardless of how far we may be back in the race, or how much dust is thrown in our eyes by the other horses."

Asked how the other "horses would finish, Taggart refused to comment.

"When 'Senator' took first money, I never worried about how second and third money was divided," he said.

Taggart divided his time today between talking to delegates about votes when he wants them and denying rumors that he has made deals with various camps. Because he is trying to maintain friendly relations with all candidates, some of the more enthusiastic followers of certain candidates reported he has gotten behind their men.

P. U. C. RULES AGAINST CUTTING OFF SERVICE

BOISE, June 27 (AP)—A public service corporation can not shut off service to a customer because of a dispute over an unpaid bill, it was informally held today by the public utilities commissioner in a case brought to its attention from north Idaho. The dispute must be settled before the power can be shut off, the ruling explains.

The case arose when L. Reed, a resident of Lewiston, applied to his attorney for relief when the Washington Idaho Power and Light company threatened to cut off his lighting service if he did not pay a power bill of $24 alleged to be due at his place of business. His lighting service bill, however, was being paid. He had no dispute about that but the company threatened to cut his lights off if the power bill was not paid.

Phonograph Records Convention Events With Aid of Radio

Officials at Laboratory Claim
Tests Represent Notable Advance in Disc Making.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 27 (AP)—Portions of the proceedings of the democratic national convention were recorded for a phonograph here yesterday when the phonograph was successfully lined with radio.

A few seconds after a radio receiving set in the Warner Recording Laboratory brought in the convention proceedings they were reproduced, clearly on a phonograph.

Officials in the laboratory said the first successful attempt to make clear phonographic records by the transference of radio sound vibrations onto wax discs.

The reproduction of the radio transmission was made possible by means of an amplification device, constructed on the principle of a loud speaker, and connected to the phonographic record by means of J. J. Warner, superintendent of the laboratory, explained.

PARTY PLANKS BEING SHAPED IN COMMITTEE

was practically alone in his fight, however.

Unofficial reports were among those states and territories were among those voting for a referendum: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Iowa, Kentucky, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, North Carolina, Georgia, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas, Vermont, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Alaska, and the District of Columbia.

Idaho Votes No.
Voting against a referendum were: Delaware, Idaho, Louisiana, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, Washington, Indiana, Maine, North Dakota, Ohio, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Minnesota, and Colorado were ready to sign a minority report on the plan, demanding that it be denounced by name.

It appeared at the outset that a majority of the committee was opposed to denouncing the plan but prepared to approve a plank on religious freedom and denouncing organizations who purpose is to deny this fundamental right of the people as set out in the constitution.

Committee discussion on the league was general, each member being allowed five minutes in which to present his views. William Jennings Bryan made a strong plea for a referendum declaring that he wanted to make it possible for every republican to vote for the league irrespective of whether he might vote the democratic ticket in November.

Calling attention that the democratic party in order to have America join the league not only would have to win the election this fall, but would have to have two thirds of the senate in support of the proposition, Mr. Bryan said he would not let the issue of the American people that would force the republican senate to carry out the democratic principles of the league.

During the discussion there was read a letter from Owen D. Young of New York who submitted league plank, in which he declared in response to inquiries from the committee that the league should not be made the paramount issue of the campaign because there were domestic problems over shadowing it.

Mr. Young added that the league should be lifted entirely out of partisan politics and referred to the people in a separate referendum.

Former Secretary Baker told the committee that he did not want to see the party take a single backward step, adding that from a standpoint of practical politics millions of men and women, who use their own judgment in voting and who in the past four years, whether republicans or not, have formed their own judgment for immediate entry into the league would vote the democratic ticket if it stood for unequivocal immediate adherence to the league.

Confederates of a more important nature were in progress behind the scenes, however, and as a result of these the Underwood leaders, arguing that neither McAdoo nor Smith could be nominated were putting forward that they felt assured the bulk of the Smith vote because of its anti-klan feeling would swing to the Alabama senator's column at sometime during the balloting. They are counting on that to win.

SMITH BACKERS ARE READY TO TEST STRENGTH

Roosevelt Says Day's Events
Are Encouraging; Klan Issues
Interest Underwood's Camp;
Cox Claims Support

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Leaders of the movement to bring about the presidential nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, to the democratic national convention, asserted tonight their readiness to test strength with other candidates and begin balloting for the prize as soon as the party platform has been adopted by the convention.

"Developments of the day have been most encouraging," Franklin D. Roosevelt, manager for the Smith campaign said. "We have received pledges of support from some of the south and southwestern delegations."

Mr. Roosevelt denied emphatically that he or any of the Smith workers had attempted to "barter" for support, or had promised to throw their strength to candidates put forward for the presidency in return for Smith support.

"Such reports are utter rubbish," Mr. Roosevelt said. "I consider the dissemination of an unfriendly act. They absolutely are not true. Those who have swung into our columns have done so of their own accord, and moreover they understood that the pledges were accepted only on condition that they would stay with us to the end. We don't want any temporary assistance. We don't need it."

While Mr. Roosevelt remained throughout the day seated with the New York delegation in convention hall, couriers brought in reports from outside quarters which it was claimed "revealed that the governor's campaign was growing in momentum and gaining an eleventh hour support of substantial sorts."

Governor Smith attended church services early today and later was engaged for a brief while with callers at his hotel headquarters. In the afternoon he went to a club near by the convention hall and was in conference for some time to time with leaders who called to see him as they found it convenient to leave Madison Square Garden.

UNDERWOOD ASKED SHOWDOWN

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—Struggle of the convention platform architects with the Ku Klux Klan issue were of absorbing interest to supporters of Senator Oscar W. Underwood's campaign for the democratic presidential nomination. The demand that the plan be named in a platform denunciation of the Klan activities came direct from the Alabama senator at the first shock of battle on the convention floor and developments in the resolutions committee's prolonged deliberations have been held by the Underwood men to have great significance for them.

The Underwood headquarters were in full swing as usual tonight with an ever shifting throng of convention visitors. There was a steady upsurge of conversation in the rooms all evening but it was just general gossip and exchange of greetings, an essential part of the groundwork of any political boom in the effort to cultivate friendship among the mass of delegates and their wives and daughters who find their chief diversion in rambling around from headquarters to headquarters in the evening stroll through hotel lobbies.

LABOR LEADERS AT VARIANCE ON TWO CANDIDATES

New York Federation Head Opposes Position Taken in Railroad Men's Defi; Says Smith Is Best Choice.

NEW YORK, June 27 (AP)—The rivalries of William G. McAdoo and Governor Alfred E. Smith in the democratic presidential race tonight brought forth a dispute among labor leaders as to which of the two best represented the interests of organized labor.

Six labor chiefs, mostly representing railroad workers, issued a declaration that Mr. McAdoo must be nominated or organized labor would support the third party movement expected to be inaugurated next week at Cleveland.

The declaration, made in a formal statement issued through the McAdoo headquarters, hardly had time to be distributed before James A. Holland, president of the New York state federation of labor, came out with an assertion, that "between Mr. McAdoo and Governor Smith these labor men who know the labor records of both, prefer Governor Smith."

Says Rules Violated
Mr. Holland in his statement contended that the declaration of the railroad chiefs represented "nothing but the sentiment of the signers and those with whom they are associated," and added:

"In issuing the declaration, Mr. McAdoo's friends violated the rules of the labor movement exactly as they violate the rules of politics by threatening to bolt after their candidate is defeated. They violate the rules of the labor movement by endorsing in advance action by the American Federation of Labor as a candidate who is opposed to the federation on one essential point and whose position is definite on another."

Office Discrepancies
"The federation is for liberalizing the Volstead law as it stands. The federation is unalterably and unequivocally opposed to the Ku Klux Klan. Mr. McAdoo has yet to define his position on that organization and is E. F. Ashbury and the Misses Ada Walkington and Nellie Delia.

The home of Mrs. Flynn and her sister Miss France was the scene of a pleasant party Thursday evening in honor of Mrs. Ruth Compton, Miss Paye Wyland, and Miss Jean Ross. Mrs. Compton is leaving for Iowa, and Miss Wyland and Miss Ross are going to Wichita, Kansas. The evening was spent with dancing and "stunts" and the honored guests were given a hand-ly believe that nominee will be Governor Smith, who in all his campaigns for office has been endorsed by the state federation of labor. His most recent endorsement of him was for president. That endorsement represents the organized workers of the state including the railroad workers. Therefore, it must be clear that while Mr. McAdoo may have the support of railroad men in other states, Governor Smith has the endorsement of all workers in New York including the railroad men of the state."

David L. Rockwell, campaign manager for McAdoo told newspaper men tonight "there was not anything that occurred today that was discomfiting to the McAdoo forces."

Rockwell said he believed the platform would be adopted tomorrow and that balloting would begin tomorrow afternoon or evening.

"There is a very strong effort being made now to bring out a platform that can support" he said. Asked if in his opinion there was any situation in any state that might lead to a bolt if the convention adopted a plank denouncing the Ku Klux Klan, Mr. Rockwell replied:

"I do not know anything about that."

Mrs. C. V. Hinkle entertained with four tables of bridge Thursday afternoon at her home on Ninth avenue east in honor of her house guest, Mrs. W. S. McQuilkin of Salt Lake. There was a dainty favor for the honored guest and first prize won by Mrs. L. Chapin and second by Mrs. C. P. Bowles. The rooms were charmingly decorated with a profusion of roses in various shades and dainty refreshments were served after the games. Mrs. Nichols of Humboldt, Tenn., Mrs. C. B. Reynolds of Buhl, and Mrs. E. A. Reynolds of Filer were out of town guests.

Mrs. Worth Williams of Grand Junction, Colo., was the honored guest at a delightful supper party given at the home of Mrs. J. D. Sienema on Thursday evening. The centerpiece for the table was a bowl of bright red roses and there were dainty orange bouquets as favors. After supper the evening was spent at the theatre. The guests were the most intimate friends of Mrs. Williams and were Mrs. C. A. Miller, Mrs. Frank Thometz, Jr., Mrs. E. F. Ashbury and the Misses Ada Walkington and Nellie Delia.

INTERNATIONAL POLICING

Another job for the League of Nations, and a remarkable one! A recent cable from Berlin declared that the League would assume military control of Germany. Adequate control has been insisted on by France,
and agreed to by England, as a necessary preliminary to putting the Dawes reparation plan into effect,
but it was expected that the Allies
would do the controlling themselves.
Under the new plan the League would take over the functions of the International Commission.

This would mean virtually the international policing of Germany, and would make the League of Nations
the supreme police power in Central Europe. It is already exercising such functions with regard to Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria. It is a strange sight, indeed, to Germany's war for the conquest of Europe.

The Germans, needless to say, do not relish any kind of foreign supremacy in their country; but they would rather have an impersonal and widely representative body like the League of Nations do the work than France, or an allied body dominated by France. It is expected that, if this plan goes through, Germany will then emerge shortly as a member of the League herself.

Such police supervision, exercised with the consent of the police countries, is legitimate and unobjectionable. Will a time ever come when the League, or some similar body, is in position to apply supreme police
power to preserve peace and order
without the consent of the country
concerned, by a sort of federal world
authority, using its own specially
trained policemen of the air, land
and water forces?

AERIAL LIFE-PRESERVERS

It is but a year or two since aviators were persecuted that parachutes afforded a practical means of leaving an airplane in mid-air. Before that, the parachute had never been much more than a device for circus stunts.
Performers dropped from balloons because people like to see it and paid money for it.

The experience of an army flier in Dayton, Ohio, the other night proved conclusively the value and practicability of this apparatus in aviation.
With his engine gone dead, Lieutenant Macready seized the ready parachute and leaped out in the dark, rather than risk a plunge in his "ship." He came down softly and safely, while the plane hit the earth and burst into flames.

It may be a more delicate operation to leap free from an airplane with a limp, over-sized umbrella than it is to fasten on a life belt and leap into the water from a sinking liner, but the two methods of salvation are virtually the same, and in the future
as many lives may be saved by one as by the other. Our grandchildren may turn the trick easily, from familiar practice.

NO FEMINE FANTASIES

There was no "women's bloc" in the Republican convention. There is no women's bloc in the Democratic convention. There will be none in any other presidential convention.

The women have built up pretty strong organizations within both of the big parties, but they are not using those organizations as instruments of feminine domination. They are not trying to boss the parties. They are not trying to dictate candidates and platforms, not yet. So the women's bloc is male ditions that the women have used their new political power with moderation, as far as self-seeking is concerned, though effectively for things they believed in.

Will it be so in legislation and administration when women come to extend their representation in public offices as fully as they have done already in party organization work?
Very likely. Experience suggests that the women will be inclined to "go along with the men" more uniformly than the men go along with each other. That is the feminine tendency;
and politics will hardly change feminine nature.

It is a good omen, too, for peace within the home, which many anti-suffragists feared would be broken by political controversy. Woman, it appears, will probably make man do what she wants in politics just as she does in most other things—by slipping ideas and sentiments into his head until he acts on them, and then letting him imagine that he thought them out all by himself and put them
over in a spirit of pure generosity.

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonially Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My Wife Is Outraged About Telephone Calls

She's firmly convinced that every time the phone rings, it must be for her. But if I'm in the room she never makes a move to answer it.

And then, when I take up the receiver and start a conversation she simply can't stand the strain of not knowing who's on the other end of the wire and what it's all about.

It may be an acquaintance of mine in the life insurance business trying to make an appointment to show me this greatest policy ever written, or only a friend who wants to know if I can let him have twenty-five till next week.

But my wife drops whatever she's doing and shouts: "Who's that, Hugh?
Is it somebody who wants to talk to me? If that's Tom Ellis and he wants me to play tennis on Saturday afternoon, just remember that you promised to go to the Thompsons' garden party
with me!"

Of course, I can't stop to explain to her what I'm talking about, and I can't go on with my conversation with her putting me through this sort of third degree—so often the only thing left to do is just to hang up the receiver.

Experiments Show How
Octopus Secures Prey

Experiments have been made in a speculatively devised tank, in order to test the truth of many stories told of octopus attacking human beings and dragging them to the sea bottom. It is in position to apply supreme police
power to preserve peace and order
without the consent of the country
concerned, by a sort of federal world
authority, using its own specially
trained policemen of the air, land
and water forces.

It is believed that these experiments afford proof that the octopus can drag its victims far below the surface of the water only near rocks
to which it can attach its "suckers."
Where there is one in the Bay of Naples where the creature attains a large size, and now and then a fisherman is reported missing. It is thought that such disappearances are due to the unfortunate man's being caught by the jelly by a concealed octopus and dragged under water. In the case of such a repulsive and powerful creature as the octopus, it is difficult to separate fact from fiction.

Victory Achieved in Keeping Soul Young

Byron reminds us that "time writes no wrinkles on the azure brow of the ocean," but can we say that there is any other brow anywhere upon which he does not place his tell-tale mark?

We look into the glass with a close scrutiny and see the face that gazes up there shows unmistakable signs of his passing.

And yet we wonder if it is quite right to blame all that we see in the glass on Time, when we think of the needless worry and fret with which we crowd our lives. But the brow of a man's soul is it not possible to keep it free from the furrows and scars and wrinkles that are left elsewhere?

Even if we have to allow that the weight of the years and the years and responsibilities and disappointments must bend down the framework of the soul, might we not hope that the soul would be able to keep young and fresh and buoyant through all the years?

If we could manage to keep the soul
young, why need we care what else may happen? If we could learn the secret of how that could be done would it not be one of the finest lessons we had needed all our life through—Exchange.

Origin of "Sterling"

Of unusual interest is the derivation of the word "sterling" as applied to something that is "genuine, pure, unadulterated, or of excellent quality."
The East Angles were the north Germans, or the merchants of the Hanseatic league, the original "moneyers" of England. The name of these merchants came to be applied to coin or goods of a fixed, standard value, answering all tests.

In the time of Edward I, we find an English coin issued of the designation of a silver or "sterling" quality.
"ling," has been applied to the English pound, which before the war was regarded as the best value in the world
—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

Greenland

Greenland was named by the Norwegian explorer, Eric the Red. Upon his return from Greenland in 985 he gave the new country that name in order to make people more willing to go there. The climate is very cold, the mean annual thermometer freezing temperature crossing the island at its southern end. This fact does not prevent the prevalence of warmth suitable for vegetation during the long summer days in the interior of the island and in sheltered places quite to the northern end of the island. Thus the summer temperature in favored localities often reaches an important height.

Odd Argentine Vehicle

The carreta, a huge, awkward, two-wheeled cart used in the Argentine to carry hides and wool to market, has broad wheels, sometimes ten feet in diameter. They are often drawn by 18 or 20 horses or oxen, but instead of being hitched two and two these animals are hitched shoulder to shoulder, 18 to 20 abreast, with a heavy leather rope from each animal attached to the axle of the vehicle.

That's Different

It is, of course, presumptuous to seek to run other people's business, but what if they ruthlessly run that business over your affairs?

She reached her flat rock and sank upon its moss-tinged. Her disappointment was keen, even though reason had told her she dared not show herself here again, adding a second crime to the first, and this time against her friend, the man who had offered to stand by him in his trouble.
An instinct deeper than logic—some sure understanding of the man's reckless courage—had made her feel certain that he would be on the spot.

Mingled with her disappointment was a sharp sense of shame. He had told her to come here and wait for him, as if she had been a country
milkmaid—and here she was meekly waiting. At any rate, she was spared one humiliation. He would never know she had gone to meet him.

CHAPTER VII

Kilmenny Explains

Into the depths of her scorching
self-contempt came, his blithe "Good morning, neighbor."

Her heart leaped, but before she looked around Moya made sure no tales could be read in her face. Her eyes met his with quiet scorn.

"I was wondering if you would dare come."

"Why shouldn't I come, since I wanted to?"

"You can ask me that—now?"

Her manner told that judgment
had been passed, but it did not shake
the cheerful good humor of the man.

"I reckon I can."

"Of course you can. I might have known you could. You will probably have the effrontery to deny that you are the man who robbed Captain Kil-menny."

"Did he say I was the man?" There was amusement and a touch of interest in his voice.

"He didn't deny it. I knew it must be you. I told him everything—how you found out from me that he was going to Gunson with the money."

"I know what you mean," He told her easily.

And hurried away to rob him of it.
Because you are his cousin he wouldn't accuse you. But I did. I do now.
You stole the money a second time.
His words were low, but in them was an extraordinary calmness, the tenaciousness of repressed feeling.

"So he wouldn't accuse me, nor yet
wouldn't deny that I was the man.
Well, I'll not deny it either, since you're so sure."

"You are wise, sir. You can't de-lude me a second time. Your denial would count for nothing. And now
I think there is nothing more to be said."

She had risen and was about to turn away. A gesture of his hand stopped her.

"If you were so sure about me why didn't you have the officers here to arrest me?"

"Because—because you are a relative of my friends."

"That was the only reason, was it?"

"What other reason could there be?"

She asked, a flash of warning in her eyes.

"There might be this reason—that at the bottom of your heart you know I didn't do it."

"Can you tell me you didn't hold up Captain Kilmenny? Dare you tell me that?"

He shrugged his broad shoulders.
"No, I held him up."

"And robbed him?"

"If you like to put it that way. I had to do it. An opera bouffe holdup.
I'll make it right with him when I see Captain Kilmenny."

"You admit you took the money?"

"Sure I took it. Had to have it in my business. If you'll sit down again and listen, neighbor, I'll tell you the whole story."

The amused assurance in his manner stirred resentment.

"No."

"Yes."

The clash of battle was in the meeting of their eyes. She had courage, just as he had, but she was fighting against her own desire.

"I have listened too often already,"
she protested.

"It hasn't hurt you any, has it?"

"Lady Farquhar thinks it has."

The words slipped out before she could stop them, but as their import came home to her the girl's face flamed. "I mean that—that."

"I know what you mean," he told
her easily, a smile in his shrewd eyes.

AUSTRALIAN WATER RAT

"Some creatures may not think it is particularly fine to be a rat."

"But, then, you can't please everybody. In my rat way I have discovered
that."

"We are enormous rats and to us that seems to be very splendid."

"We wouldn't want to be little rats.
We would feel as though we weren't being given a full share of our rat rights."

"We would feel as though we had been cheated."

"But we haven't been cheated, for we have been given our full share and we are big rats."

"Our tails are not quite as long as our bodies, but we don't mind that.
We like to have our own special ways."

"We only like to travel about at night. Then it is that we find our food along the rivers."

"We like vegetables and little shellfish. We eat well and enjoy our food, as every good rat should do."

"And perhaps every other good creature, for that matter!"

"How we do love to swim and splash and play and have a good time in the water!"

"Above everything in the world we love the water. It is our rat delight to play in it every night. We have games, and plenty of fun."

"But though we have a lot of fun outdoors, we like the shy. The big world and people and other creatures we feel we should keep away from."

"Maybe they're glad that we do.
Maybe they would not want a lot of Water Rats coming to call on them."

"And if a lot of Water Rats surprise them by paying them a visit
they might find it hard to be polite."

"They might not be able to say:
"Oh, this is such a pleasant surprise."

"But we don't put them into any such corner, for we are so shy we stay away from them."

"We dress in dark colors, though we like to wear bright orange-brown waistcoats with touches of white."

"Half-way down our tails at the end part—we like white to be the rat fashion. So it is the rat fashion, for the last half of our tails will be found to be white."

"My waistcoats are very fine, too. It is splendid to have waistcoats. It lends style to my rat appearance."

"Of course, we have relatives who dress a little differently."

"They don't care for our color scheme, but that doesn't bother us."

"Now, I must join Mr. Water Rat Neighbor. Evening Splashing party."

"Ah, I can hear them now joining in the Great Rat Splashing chorus."

So Mr. Water Rat hurried along and joined the others in the Great Rat Splashing chorus, which went like this:

To be a rat
is something that
All creatures cannot be.

Perhaps they're glad,
But we're not sad
That water rats are we.

We splash and play—
Night the day—
It's night when you see us.

But maybe you
Find you can't do
This thing so easily.

For we're so shy
From you we'd fly;
Perhaps that pleases thee!

But to be a rat
is something that
All creatures cannot be!

Good Ball Games

Any number of children can play this game, all that is needed is a ball.

The players stand in a circle equal distances apart and throw the ball from one to the other around the circle as rapidly as possible. If a child misses the ball he must remain as though turned to stone in the position in which he dropped the ball.

The "statues" must remain there until the last person to miss has thrown the ball into the air and caught it ten times. It is lots of fun to see who can stand still the longest, indeed
some of the attitudes of the players are so funny that the other statues almost lose their balance laughing at them. Try this game and see what good sport it is.

New Kind of Teeth

Robert had never seen gold-filled teeth until his Aunt Fanny came to visit the family.

He admired her teeth very much,
and expressed his admiration by saying: "Mother, when I get big, may I have copper-toothed teeth like auntie's?"

OPEN FIGHT ON CLAIM TO WATER THROUGH TRADE

Minidoka Irrigation District Directors Meet with Twin Falls Board in Conference on Course of Action.

A movement toward attack by legal action upon the claim of Upper Snake river water users is apparently being made. The directors of the Minidoka irrigation district met with the directors of the Twin Falls Canal company at a meeting here Friday afternoon to discuss the course of action.

Discussion of the exchange plan and its operation continued from early forenoon until after 7 o'clock in the evening, and the meeting adjourned after deciding to reconvene here early next week for a more extended legal advice in regard to plans both for securing abatement of the exchange plan and, if possible, of asserting claim to a greater or lesser proportion of the stored water now held to the credit of the upper river users.

Records relating to distribution this season of Snake river waters indicated that the Minidoka project had been deprived of a considerable amount of water claims of them under filings upon natural flow of the river, as a result of the operation of the exchange plan and that their claim for excess of those of lower river water losses on this account would largely offset.

Repetition of the Minidoka directors in regard to the questions under consideration at the meeting Friday was indicated by statement at its close by W. C. Paul, director of the Minidoka-irrigation district, who stated: "The Minidoka district is going to make fight against the exchange plan and for what it claims as its share of the stored water now held to the credit of the upper river users. It will make this fight with the assistance of the Twin Falls Canal company, if any assistance is granted, but at any rate, it will make the fight."

Formal protest of the Twin Falls Canal company against the exchange plan was drafted by Judge J. R. Bothwell, attorney for the company, and was this week submitted to the state commissioner of reclamation. Judge Bothwell was absent from the meeting here Friday, being in Boise in attendance at a hearing before the supreme court on questions relating to the formation for the American Falls reservoir district and its bond issue.

The Minidoka districts will be represented, it was stated by S. A. Lowe of Burley, as attorney.

The Minidoka South Side Irrigation district was represented by George Durfee of Burley, a director, and the Minidoka Irrigation district by its manager, R. L. Willis of Rupert, and Directors C. W. Brennan, W. M. Treiber and C. C. Paul.

DENIES INJUNCTION TO FORCE WATER DELIVERY

Judge T. Bailey Lee Sustains Salmon River Canal Company's Demand in Action Started by R. Glavin.

Holding that the Salmon River Canal company is required to deliver water on a share basis, Judge T. Bailey Lee in district court at Burley, in ruling Friday on questions raised in the suit of R. Glavin and others against the canal company, denied plaintiff's application for an injunction pending the fact that would have required the company to deliver water to all settlers on the basis of one and five-sevenths share per acre, and further the court sustained a general demurrer interposed by the canal company on the grounds that the plaintiffs Glavin and others had "failed to plead that they are the owners of any additional five-sevenths shares or that they have accepted any tender of such amount." Plaintiffs were given ten days in which to amend their complaint.

Issues involved in the action were reviewed by the court in the following statement:

Plaintiffs plead that they are the holders of one share of stock per acre in the defendant distributing company, and that the original construction company and its successors have acquired outstanding stock in the defendant company sufficient to give control within the segregation of additional five-sevenths share of defendant's stock, and have made such shares appurtenant to the lands within the segregation.

SUITS TO QUIET LAND TITLE
Suits to quiet title to 40 acres of land described by the plaintiff as part of the northwest quarter of section 6, township 10, range 15, was instituted in district court here Friday by W. H. Harvey against George G. Marshall, both parties to the action being residents of Buhl. The suits were filed by Bradley and Fumes of Kerosene Detected in Fire Discovered at About Midnight Thursday in a Vacant Dwelling on Fifth East.

Fumes of kerosene are said to have been plainly discernible in a fire discovered at about midnight Thursday in a vacant dwelling at 501 Fifth avenue east, which was extinguished by John Wolfenden, a nearby resident, with a garden hose before the arrival of the fire department. The property, which is owned by E. J. Deinfeld of Pueblo, Colorado, a former resident of Twin Falls, has been here for some time, and is said to have been a rendezvous for a number of small boys.

VOTERS FORESEE G. O. P. TRIUMPH

Nearly 100 Republican Men and Women Here to Scan Political Situation.

Analysis of the present political situation in the nation and state, coupled with reports on progress in organization work, at an assembly Friday evening of nearly 100 republican voters representing all parts of Twin Falls county at a dinner meeting in the banquet room of the Hotel Portland formed the basis for expression of confidence on that occasion in the complete triumph of the republican party in the election next November.

Committee Woman Scores

One of the most interesting and able addresses of the occasion was delivered by Miss Gladys Terhune of Twin Falls, who recently has been appointed national committeewoman for the republican party. Miss Terhune outlined plans for organization of republican women voters and asked for co-operation in attainment of the objective for her work.

The plank in the republican national platform that pledges the party to make effective measures that will place agriculture on an economic plane of equality with industry and labor was dwelt largely as a result of the insistence of Senator Gooding of Idaho, according to C. A. Robinson of Twin Falls, who related some of his observations of the convention as a member of Idaho's delegation.

Sees Fight For Now Party

Predicting the return of the republican party to administration of the national government, Mr. Robinson declared that the republican party in Idaho has never entered a campaign under more auspicious circumstances than this year. He designated the progressive party as the republican's chief opponent, and stated that the progressives will in this campaign for the first time feel the weight of a united and determined opposition.

Talk that "there is no difference except in the name between the two old parties," is propaganda put out by persons who seek the destruction of one or both of the old parties, Shad, L. Hodgins of Twin Falls, republican state committeeman, declared in the course of an address wherein he traced the history of both republican and democratic parties and of occasional third party manifestations.

The difference between the republican and the democratic parties, he said, is fundamental and is displayed notably in difference in economic policies. The republican party, he said, seeks to assure a fair return to the producers of the democratic party seeks to bring about cheap prices for consumers. He attributed the difficulties of agriculture at the present time to effects of this democratic doctrine as carried into execution through the democratic legislation creating the federal reserve system which, he said, differed from a republican plan for a federal reserve system in that it surrendered to the reserve board the governmental power of regulating the currency.

Emphasis was laid upon the duty of citizenship with respect especially to the ballot, in brief talks by W. D. Gilles of Filer, John W. W. Graham of Twin Falls and W. W. Taylor, Twin Falls county attorney.

SEARCH FOR RELATIVES OF DEAD MAN CONTINUES

Search for relatives of A. B. Vandemark, who was shot and killed here Wednesday night by John Jurko, his former business associate, was continued Friday without result, although it was believed that a new clue had been uncovered tending to show that Vandemark had been known elsewhere by the name of A. B. Baird. Information came during the day, to coroner P. J. Grossman that Vandemark a short time ago remarked to Claude H. Detweiler that he had known a girl named Katherine Detweiler in Los Angeles. Detweiler mentioned this in a letter to his sister, Mrs. M. L. Detweiler, in Los Angeles and gave a description of Vandemark. In reply Miss Detweiler said that she did not know Vandemark but that the description resembled that of one known as A. B. Baird. Several letters addressed to A. B. Baird were found by the authorities among Vandemark's effects.

NOTED HUMORIST PLEASES CROWDS

Bingham Proves Expert Entertainer with Wit and Melody; Prelude Well Received.

TODAY AT ORHAUTAUQUA

Afternoon—Lecture-entertainment, "From Peace Pipe to War Trail," Nippo Strongheart.
Evening—Historical comedy-drama, "The Great Commoner," Elias Day players, coached by Elias Day, under personal direction of author, Ralph Thomas Ketterling.

Ralph Bingham, noted humorist, occupied the center of the stage at the Friday evening session of the local Orhautauqua with a running fire of humor which kept the audience in a constant uproar.

Crowds which filled the big brown tent to capacity greeted the well-known entertainer and standing room only was available before the evening was but started.

The evening program was opened by the Ernest Gamble concert company, which gave a splendid prelude to the evening entertainment which was quite up to the standard which they set at their afternoon performance with a well arranged musical program.

"Joy Nite" was indeed a joyous affair under the direction of Mr. Bingham, who with his versatile wit and variety of fun making methods kept the most sophisticated chuckling during the evening.

In addition to his humorous program Mr. Bingham proved to be capable of more than one brand of entertainment by rendering violin solos of a high grade. Mrs. Bingham accompanied him.

LODGE WOMEN HOLD SESSION

Fifteen Camps of Royal Neighbors Represented at District Convention Held Here.

Fifteen camps of the Royal Neighbors of America were represented when delegates to the district convention of the order gathered here yesterday for afternoon and evening sessions.

Prominent among the visitors were Eva Childs, supreme oracle, and Ida Hamblen, state supervisor.

The afternoon session opened at I. O. O. F. hall following the reception of visitors at noon. The meeting was called to order at 1:30 o'clock, followed by seating of officers by Vistula camp, No. 2970. The supreme oracle, deities and other visitors were then introduced and the object of the meeting stated by Mrs. Watkins, district deputy. The school of instruction by the supreme oracle was next on the program and was followed by try camp, No. 6303, Buhl, in extemporizing the ballot march and welcoming transfer members.

Following adjournment and dinner served at parish hall by the women of the Christian church the visitors were called to order at 7:30 p. m. for the evening sessions which were featured by flower drill by 10 girls, introduction of the supreme oracle, seating of officers, address of welcome by Lora Doss of Twin Falls, response by Alice Brown of Buhl, reception of candidates, work exemplified by Vistula camp, Twin Falls, address of the supreme oracle, silver offering and closing with campaign songs.

JARBIDGE GIVES WARM WELCOME

Twin Falls Road Building Excursionists Find Cordial Reception at Gold Mining Camp.

Citizens of Jarbridge extended a cordial welcome to a party of about 25 Twin Falls citizens and business men who were members of a motor caravan which Thursday visited the Nevada gold mining center to take part in a conference looking toward co-operation by Jarbridge and Twin Falls in plans for improvement of the road between the two points. Members of the visiting party were entertained Thursday evening at a dance, and remained in Jarbridge over night returning here late Friday afternoon.

The conference on road improvement resulted in no definite decisions, according to statement Friday evening of Charles F. Dwight, secretary of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, but there was manifested a disposition on the part of Jarbridge citizens and mining interests to co-operate in such an undertaking and further conferences are to be held.

Favor Permanent Road

Opinion was expressed during the conference Thursday that it would be better to expend a fund sufficient to provide permanent improvement of the road rather than to spend a smaller amount for temporary betterment of conditions. It was estimated that necessary road improvement would involve an expenditure of approximately $5000 in Owyhee county, the plan under consideration contemplating that the road in Twin Falls county would be built by the "Twin Falls highway" district and that in Nevada by Nevada road district.

Members of the Twin Falls delegation on the excursion to Jarbridge included Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lind, and two daughters, Charles F. Dwight, D. E. Sullivan, Blair Langford, T. M. Irwin, S. A. Shober, T. J. Lloyd, W. E. Nixon, O. P. Duvall, S. Straus, L. E. Smith, F. W. Harder, W. H. Borkholder, F. C. Dawson, Dr. P. F. McAttee, Fyane McAttee, J. A. Barrett, J. G. Magel and C. A. Dodd.
