

PLAN OUTLINED FOR PRODUCERS' SALES AGENCY

Co-operative Review Organization and Objectives of Grain Marketing Company, Merger of Five Concerns.

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP)—The exact method by which American farmers eventually are expected to gain control of the $26,000,000 stock of the Grain Marketing Company, a merger of five of the country's largest grain marketing concerns, formed with a view to giving the producers ownership and control of selling and distribution, "can not be stated at this time," Millard R. Myers, representing several Illinois co-operatives, said last night in commenting on the project.

"It is enough," he said, "to know that the property is to be taken over on a square deal basis and that the stock offered to the public shall be worth the money at which it is proposed to be sold."

The Illinois co-operative law under which the property is to be organized, restricts issuance of common stock to individuals or associations engaged in producing the commodity to be marketed. Another provision, however, permits the issuance of preferred stock which is not so restricted, "with or without the right to vote."

The articles of incorporation provides for $25,000,000 of preferred stock and $1,000,000 of common stock.

Promises Big Savings.

Financial men involved in the deal maintain that a saving of $25,000,000 to $3,000,000 annually is possible by uniting the grain concerns. According to H. S. Ballard, counsel for the Ohio farm bureau federation, which has been acting as counsel for the grain merger committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation, which has endorsed the plan with reservations, the co-operative plan will "enable the producer to produce at a lower cost than the individual farmer, and the laws probably will be construed liberally during the period of transition."

According to Mr. Ballard, the provisions of the national Capper-Volstead act that each member shall have but one vote regardless of the amount of new corporation because it will engage in interstate commerce.

In explaining plans for the transition period, Mr. Myers said the initial working capital must come from the five grain companies whose properties are to be merged. These companies hold preferred stock.

"A certain type of preferred stock can be exchanged for property," Mr. Myers said, and "producers will be given time to absorb it. This will give the five companies control until producers have bought half the stock. There is a trusteeship of 75 to 100 farmers and the farmers will have a two-thirds majority on the board of directors."

Stock Sales Not To Be Pushed.

"We at the producers' end probably will take two months to make our appraisal of the properties. We will make no immediate effort to induce farmers to buy stock. This is not a stock-selling or promotion proposition, but the bringing together of grain marketing agencies, which have abundance of capital and facilities for handling all the grain that the farmers' elevators and other grain marketing agencies in solving the problem of orderly marketing. In this way they can bring to every grower the world's best market price for his grain."

The corporation contemplated under the act which the new concern takes advantage of, Mr. Ballard said, "does not control price but effects savings for the producer."

Control Doubly Guarded.

Gray Silver, legislative representative of the farm bureau and an incorporator, amplified this statement, but declaring "it is an instrumentality for distribution rather than a business corporation in the ordinary sense."

Control of the company by a small group will be doubly guarded, Mr. Ballard said, not only by the one-vote-per-member of the capital stock but also by the Capper-Volstead law, but the Illinois co-operative marketing act. This act under which the company operates requires that no stockholder own more than one-twentieth of the stock. "No association," Mr. Ballard says, "under the act can handle for non-members products the value of which exceeds that of its members."

As to Monuments.

There will be no monument which do not need one; that is, who have raised themselves a monument in the

JAPANESE ASSERT BOLSHIEVISM AND UNREST GROW IN KOREA

SEOUL, July 17 (AP)—Unrest is increasing in Korea and rebellious elements, inclining to bolshievism and communism, are growing in strength, according to a statement issued recently by the Korean government general here.

The statement says the Japanese authorities in Korea have good reason to fear insurgency and bolshievism will develop into a serious danger within the next few years, and have decided to extend the gendarmerie in the peninsula and the guards along the northern frontier.

The outstanding development in this connection, the statement declares, has been a move to unify numerous local bodies, ostensibly labor or religious associations, for the secret propagation of socialist or bolshievist ideas. The Japanese authorities have listed 171 such organizations, and are working for the dissolution of the majority of these.

THE GUMPS - A BUTTERFLY OF FASHION

BUTLER GIVES BORAH FIGURES ON EXCHEQUER

Republican Party Leader Pledges Compliance With Senate Investigators of Campaign Finances.

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Replying to a letter from Senator Borah, as head of the senatorial committee authorized to investigate and report on party financing of presidential campaigns, William Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, announced that his organization had approximately $50,000 on hand July 1, and that it expected to raise campaign funds by personal solicitation and correspondence.

The committee, Mr. Butler said, had not decided how much it would raise and spend toward election of the republican ticket, but was preparing a budget. It further intended to place a "reasonable limit" upon contributions and did not propose to violate the law prohibiting the acceptance of funds from corporations.

Borah Suggests Report Form. Senator Borah had suggested that the republican national committee submit a financial report to the senatorial committee each 30 days of the campaign, beginning next September 1—names, addresses and amounts contributed.

Mr. Butler countered with a suggestion that such reports be made at 15-day intervals beginning September 15, with each report covering the period ending 15 days prior to date.

"We are gratified to know that this investigation is to go forward," wrote Mr. Butler, replying to a letter Senator Borah addressed on July 8. "It is our desire to co-operate with you in every way in order that the purposes of your committee may be served to your satisfaction."

Mr. Borah said a similar letter would be sent to each party chairman as soon as they were named.

COSGRIF'S MEN READY FOR GAME

American Falls to Find Stronger Team in Return Contest; First Class Play Assured.

With a strengthened lineup Manager Cosgriff plans on averaging last Sunday's 14-00 defeat of the Twin Falls Blues at the hands of American Falls. The two teams meet this week end for a second game on the local lot.

Sunday's game without exception was the best exhibition of the national game witnessed by local fans for several months, and ending as it did with a single score, there is evidently but little to decide the better of the two teams.

For next Sunday it is probable that the same batteries, Howard and Simmons for the visitors and Flynn and Richardson for the home team, will operate and it is in the infield and outfield that the two managers will attempt to strengthen their teams. American Falls to insure another victory and Cosgriff to prevent a repetition of last Sunday's result.

Harlogi of Gooding, formerly with the Wendell team, will hold down the first sack position held during the earlier part of the season by Bob Whitte. Harlogi is both a good fielder and a dependable batter, and with the remaining combination of Mullins, Lehrbas and either Sedley or Watson, the infield will be well taken care of for Twin Falls. The addition of Hiles to the outfield will help materially with the batting end of the Blues' lineup.

American Falls, according to all reports, is working out several changes desired to iron out errors at shortstop and local fans are assured of high class baseball again Sunday when the two teams meet.

The doctor, whose practice is confined to off-shore whisky armada, was arrested by immigration authorities for having landed on American soil without a passport.

When it was learned his mission was one of mercy, undertaken in behalf of a sailor's son, he was sent back to the rum fleet in a coast guard cutter with a special escort and under a white flag of truce.

Foulkes said he was a native of Sidney, Australia, and a graduate of medicine from universities at Glasgow and London. When he left school last fall he signed on the four-master bark for three months' voyage to Bermuda. He sought experience among men, he said, adventure and material for writing fiction.

AMERICANS WIN NEW VICTORIES

Oarsmen, Swimmers, Tennis Players and Boxers Increase American Score in Olympics.

PARIS, July 17 (AP)—With a brilliant triumph showing on the various Olympic battlefields the United States today captured the rowing crown after a series of seven sensational finals at Argenteuil, took a big lead in the swimming competition at Les Tourelles and remained in the fight for all five tennis titles on the Colombes court.

In addition the boxers continued their conquering march with four straight victories to their credit in the afternoon and two in the evening.

The rowing championship went to the United States which scored a point margin over Switzerland. Yale's spectacular eight-oared victory and the double sculls triumphs of Jack Kelly and Paul Costello, were the high spots, while at the nets, Miss Helen Wills, the American champion, and Vincent Richards led the list of four American victories, the former defeating her old rival, Mrs. Molla Mallory, and Richards taking the measure of the Frenchman Zaccaria.

Two American entries, however, Mrs. Jeany and R. Norris Williams, fell by the wayside.

The men swimmers scored decisive victories in the diving and breast stroke contests, rolling up points which put the United States in the lead with a total of 56 to Australia's 26. The modern pentathlon came to a conclusion with the United States outside the scoring, the first American being in eleventh place.

LAFOLLETTE FOLLOWERS TO OUTLINE CAMPAIGN

Selection of Vice Presidential Candidate and Question of Financing Movement Up to Conference.

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Leaders in the LaFollette for president movement will begin a series of conferences here tomorrow which are expected to result not only in the selection of a vice presidential candidate but in a campaign program.

The national committee of the conference for progressive political action which endorsed Senator LaFollette's independent candidacy at its Cleveland convention will meet to name his running mate and to discuss a wide range of campaign problems, chief among them perhaps the question of financing their movement.

In addition to agreeing upon a financial program, the committee hopes before the end of the week to endorse a vice presidential candidate acceptable to Senator LaFollette. A dozen or more names have been mentioned for the post by friends of the senator but talk today centered chiefly around Associate Justice Brandeis of the supreme court, who is understood to be held in especial esteem by Senator LaFollette.

Whether Justice Brandeis will accept endorsement, necessitating as it would his retirement from the bench, has not been established.

Preliminary campaign details in the hands of others, Senator LaFollette conferred today with one or two friends then spent the rest of the day reviewing his legislative record. Material being assembled by him will be used in the campaign particularly with a view to showing his friendly attitude toward organized labor.

JAIL DOORS OPEN TO DE VALERA AND STACK

DUBLIN, July 17 (AP)—Ramon de Valera and Austin Stack, leaders of the Irish republicans, were released from Arthur Hill barracks Wednesday. Since De Valera's arrest, while speaking in an election campaign last August, he has been kept in strict confinement and until a few days ago was not allowed even a visit from his wife. He was, however, permitted the use of books and writing materials though every precaution was taken against his communicating with his colleagues outside the prison.

The republican party has, since De Valera's "cease fire" order in May, been concentrated on ordinary methods of political controversy and has sought to secure a majority of the election by argument.

REFUSES MID-WESTERN GRAIN RATE REDUCTION

Interstate Commerce Commission Finds No Need for Altering Rates for Mississippi-Missouri Valley States.

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Reductions in western railroad rates on grain, grain products and hay, sought by 10 states of the Mississippi-Missouri valley cereal growing region under the leadership of Kansas and supported by most farm organizations concerned, were definitely refused today by the interstate commerce commission.

At the same time the commission decided that the results of an independent investigation it had conducted into the level of rates on these same products, in all sections of the United States had demonstrated no need for any changes, and proceedings before it bearing upon both issues were dismissed.

the question of the American members of the reparations commission as arbiters on the subject of defaults. All this must be accomplished without diminishing the authority of the reparations commission, thereby endangering Premier Herriot's position as spokesman of the French government at the London meeting.

Another problem before the committee is what penalties to inflict if Germany wilfully defaults under the Dawes schedule. Committee two, which is attempting to devise means to restore the fiscal and economic unity of Germany has encountered difficulties owing to the French insistence on assurances that an international loan, upon which the whole working of the Dawes plan depends, shall be underwritten before the question of German unity is brought up.

Leave Execution to Bankers.
It is understood that even the British treasury experts are not altogether sure about the desirability of a big loan, but foreign office officials maintain that this point is one for the bankers and reparations commission, and need have no disastrous effect upon the reparations which the project conference should seek to maintain.

On the question of sanctions in case of a German default, the French delegates would not discuss the project, as they are understood to have put forward at the committee meetings to-day.

Ancient Thumb Rings.
Implying that permitted only the nobles and nobles to wear golden thumb rings, the common folk had to be satisfied with iron rings. At the time when luxury reached its climax in Rome, thumb rings were often worn on the thumb, some of them of a ridiculous size, and of those thumb rings bearing an intaglio of the best of Emperors, Plinius was fully 2 1/2 inches long.

FARMERS BETTER OFF.

The position of the farmer has been improving lately, with the rise in the price of grain and the fall in the price of some manufactured goods. The Department of Agriculture reports that the exchange value of farm products for things that farmers buy stands now at the highest point in four years. Taking the purchasing power of farm crops at one hundred in 1913, it is now seventy-seven.

The change has come about as gradually and quietly that its coming has hardly been noticed. But the farmers are becoming aware of the situation. Many of them have not yet profited much by the improvement—that must wait until the marketing of the season's crops. But there is a moderate easing of the burden throughout the great farming sections which may result, sooner than most people have supposed, in restoring the economic balance and giving the rural population a square deal again.

There may be notable political effects. An impoverished farm population in an election year is always a potential source of political change.
Movements are already under way that originated in rural misfortune and discontent. Will bettered conditions, no matter how they are caused, modify the "radicalism" of farm groups now? That will be an interesting thing to watch, as the year advances.

WORLD BROADCASTING

A radio editor remarks that "private citizens of the world promise to accomplish what their official representatives and diplomats so far have failed to effect. It is the cultivation of an international friendship and "understanding" by means of radio communication."

He tells of communication already opened between North and South America and between America and Europe, with amateurs of the United States, England and France particularly holding regular conversations across the Atlantic. In such intercourse, expressions of good-will and friendship are the dominant note.
Amateurs will doubtless accomplish much along this line in future years.
Broadcasting stations should accomplish more. The editor quoted prophesies that the entire globe will soon be knit together by a belt of power stations able at any time to relay a message and give it at once to all the nations of the earth.

He makes the obvious suggestion of a universal language for the purpose.
That will come in time, no doubt, through the use of Esperanto, Ido or some other artificial language, or else the adoption of a natural language of wide circulation and simple grammar. For the latter type of world-tongue, English is probably the most likely candidate.

All this is no idle dream. Everything indicates that within a few years it will be possible to communicate at once with practically all of civilized mankind. But the rapid approach of that time brings up a solemn thought.

Complete and perfect communication is a great thing—provided those who use it have something worth listening to by all mankind. What promise is there of that? Imagine the angel Gabriel using his trumpet to give all the nations of the earth the jazz music and routine news and tedious oratory usually carried by radio now!

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My Wife Keeps Reminding Me of Things I'd Like to Forget.

Just when I've decided that I'm not going to remember to go to the dentist on a certain afternoon, she is sure to remark at breakfast that morning:
"What time was your appointment with Dr. Keller this afternoon?"

Another favorite conversational offering of hers is this:
"Don't forget that this is your day for making me some orange marmalade from the bank." Or, "Pay your life insurance." Or, "Attend to your building and loan."

Of course, it's a great help to have her refresh my memory on all these points, but somehow I feel that it would be less of a shock if I were left to recall them for myself—or even to forget one of them once in a while.

And as for her constantly reminding me that I'd promised to cut the grass before I stop at the telephone office about this bill, or something of that sort.

If a man had to go around remembering everything, life would be just worth living—and nothing more!
Tomorrow—My Husband Is Always Getting Into Arguments With Men Bigger

Communist Internationale at Moscow that there is no revolutionary party in America today. Mr. Dunn ought to know. He was expelled from the American Federation of Labor for communist activities and found no balm in any other sizable American group.

There will be no party standing for social and political revolution, he says,
"until the Gompers organization is captured and the twelve million negroes of America stirred up." And that, Mr. Dunn seems to suspect, may take a long time. Forgettable as it appears to such ardent spirits, the rank and file of American labor are solidly conservative, because they know a good thing when they have it, and they do not relish trading material well-being and genuine liberty for any Russian theory of change. As for the American negroes, they too, know, which side their bread is buttered on, and are impenetrable to alien propaganda.

The mournful Mr. Dunn is overblow-ingly right about this situation, at any time. And he and his kind will save time and trouble if they will cease, once for all, that America had its revolution a century and a half ago, and did the job so thoroughly that it hasn't needed another since.

Morgan Horses

The 3-year-old Morgan stallion, Not-away, bred at Middlebury, Vt., has been sold to Senator Don Samuel Alvarez, Santa Ana, San Salvador. The horse will be shipped in a few days.
Senor Alvarez plans to establish the breeding and improvement of the horse able for use on the plantations of his country, and has selected the Morgan as the most desirable for breeding up the native stock.

Callousness

Playful mirth, and talking about a play which had failed so horribly that it was taken off after the first performance.

"The author of that play," he said,
"now feels that the New York public is as callous as Jack, the scene-shifter, was."

"Jack, the scene-shifter, started one night to lower the curtain a little too soon on a death scene. The actor who was dying rolled his eyes toward the wings reproachfully.

"'Huff a minute, old man,' he whispered. 'At it dead yet?'"

"Well, hurry up," said Jack, quite audibly. "I got a hot supper waitin' for me."

It Looked That Way

Little Robert while out walking with his nurse saw a blacksmith shoeing a horse and upon returning home said, "Mamma, I saw the man who shoes horses, shoeing a man."

"Are you sure you did?" asked his mother.

"Of course I am," replied Robert.
"He had one nearly finished when I saw him. He was just nailing on its behind foot."

COWBIRDS

"My friend and I," said Mr. Cowbird, "thought we would like to have a wedding feast."

He said this to Mrs. Cow who sat in the meadow. Mrs. Cow stood up and said:

"Then if you would like to have a wedding feast why do you not have one?"

"Just dropping the hint, Mrs. Cow, just dropping the hint," she said.

It was enough that she gave good milk and enjoyed the meadow.

"My friend and I," said Mr. Cowbird, "have just been wedded."

"We did not go to any fuss. I was just what I have on—this simple suit of black with a black hat and collar and waistcoat."

"It is a handsome suit and shines most magnificently. But it is not gay. Simple and quiet and handsome."

"To be sure, there are greenish touches to my suit—my feathered jowels. I call these touches for their gleam in the sunlight."

"My friend, Mrs. Cowbird, just was a plain little suit of gray."

"Don't fuss for me, my dear," I told her. "You are a charming cowbird all right."

Mrs. Cowbird looked at her mate now. He was certainly handsome and it was good of him not to be ashamed of her. She had herself delighted to have heard herself spoken of as Mrs.
Cowbird.

It was the first time she had been called that.

"You know how we are, Mrs. Cow?
We aren't great for extravagance."

"Why build a home nest, is what we say, when we can lay the eggs somewhere else?"

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Cowbird is of the same opinion. She has even picked out the very nest where she expects to lay an egg."

"She saw a warbler's nest which she thought would do all right."

"Some day when Mrs. Warbler isn't looking or is out, she will lay the egg there."

"We don't care about a little home nest."

"Let them bring themselves up as they see fit. We brought ourselves up as we saw fit. That is why we never improve. We never have a good example set for us."

But, Mrs. Cow, we thought we'd begin the wedding feast now."

Mrs. Cow did not want to wait.
And there arrived, quite suddenly it seemed, a number of other cowbirds.
They all began their feast.

It was not what any one in the world would have called a feast ex-

Golfer Killed

A sliced drive caused the death of Robert Jouve, ended in the French merchant marine, at Biarritz. His golf ball lodged on the side of a steep hill, and when he tried to recover it he slipped and fell to his death.

capt the cowbirds.

But Mrs. Cow was pleased.
For the little insects which came upon Mrs. Cow's back were very annoying. They tickled her and it was hard to brush them off as her tail would not reach this far.

But the Cowbirds thought this as her feet. And they all enjoyed this meal.

Enter they walked about the meadow, waiting until later on when they might feel hungry again. Then they would perch themselves upon the backs of Mrs. Cow and her sisters and would have another feast.

Bills Boost Boy Scouts

Electric light and power bills in Eveleveth, Minn., are more than monthly statements. They are boosters for scouting, and recently effectively carried scouting's message to every home in the city, states a local report. When Eveleveth citizens opened a recent month's bill, they found tucked away in the envelope a letter explaining the work of the movement, and the endorsement of 78 prominent citizens representing the church, school, business and professional worlds.

Not Much to Baby

Anita is proud of her baby brother.
Recently father was away on a business trip. During the night the child heard a noise and, frightened, went to her mother's room.

Mother tried to calm her fears and said, "Remember, we aren't all alone.
We have little brother."

"Yes," Anita said, "but, mamma, there isn't much of him."

Her angry eyes flashed into his cold, prison without giving even a warn-

"Evidently not. So you sacrifice me for him?"

"You think I wasn't justified?"

"You'll have to settle that with your conscience," he said coldly. "Don't think I would have been justified in your place."

"You would let him go to prison—the man who had fought for you against odds?"

"Does that alter the fact that he is a thief? Verinder demanded angrily.

"It alters my relation to the fact—and it ought to alter yours." He did a great service to the woman who was engaged to marry. Does that mean nothing to you?"

"The fellow was playing off his own bat, wasn't he? I don't see I owe him anything," the mine owner snidely answered. "Truth is, I'm about fed up with him. He's a lot. That's the long and short of it. I don't deny he's a well-picked daredevil. What of it? This town is full of them.
There was no question of his going to prison. I intended only to get back some of the ore he and his friends have stolen from me."

"I didn't know that."

"Would it have made any difference if you had?"

She considered. "I'm not sure."

Captain Kilmeny and India emerged from the hotel and bowed down upon them.

"All ready, Moya," cried India.

"Ready here," Moya knew that she must be plain to both Captain Kilmeny and his sister that they had interrupted a disagreement of some sort. Characteristically, she took the bull by the horns. "Mr. Verinder and I are through quarreling. At least I'm through. Are you?" she asked the mine owner with a laugh.

"Don't know if I've been quarreling, Miss Dwight," Verinder replied stiffly.
"You haven't. I've been doing it all my life. I'm a born quarrelsome trouble." They didn't send up the pinto, Ned. Hope he hasn't really gone lame."

Verinder had been put out of the picture. He turned and walked into the lobby of the hotel, suddenly resolved to give his "captain" to Lady Farquhar about the way Moya Dwight had behaved with his pinto.

Lady Farquhar listened with a contempt all who were careful to veil it—not according to the code that a man should run with the tale of his injuries to a young woman's chaperone—yet she sympathized with him even while she defended Moya.

The mine owner received Lady Far-quhar's explanations in skeptical attention. In his opinion, Moya's interest in Jack Kilmeny had nothing to do with the relationship between that woman and the captain. He would have liked to say so flatly, but he felt it safer to let his manner convey the intuitions. In her heart Lady Farquhar was of the same belief. She resolved to have a serious talk with Moya.

Moya combed her long rippling hair while Lady Farquhar laid down the law that hedges a young woman from the satisfaction of her generous impulses. For the most part the girl listened in silence, a flush burning through each of her dusky cheeks.

There was nothing to be said that would avail.

"It is all very well to be independent within limits, my dear, but young women of our class are subject to the penalties that go with our privileges.
When I was a girl I rebelled but had to obey."

She did not resent the rebuke Lady Farquhar interrupted herself to admit the vivid recollection she was admonishing.
"What wonderful hair you have—so long and thick and wavy. It must take a great deal of care."

"Yes," Moya said absently.

she clung to one spar. Soon they would be back to their way back to that well-ordered world where she would be entirely in the groove of conven-

Kilmeny would be announced. Bursly among the many distractions of London she would forget this delectable scamp who had bewitched her.

"You should have come to me—or to India for that matter. She is in my confidence and is in a different position from you. Don't you see that my

SALARY APPEAL
HEARING ENDS;
TO FILE BRIEF

Appeal From Action of Commissioners in Reducing Salaries of Officials Concluded; Time Given for Briefs.

Hearing on the appeal to the district court by O. M. Eiter and others from the ruling of the Twin Falls county board of commissioners reducing salaries of county officials from $200 to $200, was concluded Thursday afternoon before Judge H. F. Egan and the court granted 15 days to the plaintiffs for filing a brief setting forth the law and argument of the facts.

The court in addition to this granted the defense up to 15 days to answer the brief of the appellants after it had been filed and 10 days further after that for the plaintiffs to answer the reply of the defense. On the stand Thursday morning and the closing witness for the defense was O. E. Carlson, a member of the board of commissioners, who told why reductions had been made. He reiterated statements made while on the stand the afternoon before that action taken was to aid as much as possible in reducing the burden of the farmers.

Following the testimony of Mr. Carlson and cross-examination the plaintiff called several witnesses who testified to the financial condition of the county in an effort to show that conditions at present were much better than some time ago. J. G. Bradley of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company told the purpose in deposits at the bank and the reduced number of loans. Harry M. Maxwell of the First National bank testified likewise concerning that bank. Frank W. Brown in the treasurer's office testified to the division of delinquent taxes in cities and on the farms. James Mee, city clerk, told of the increase granted to city officials.

THREE HURT IN SMASH
ON ROAD NEAR RUPERT

L. Clare Gilligan of Filer and Mrs. Florence Dickason and Mrs. Cora Woodruff Cut and Bruised.

Collapse of the left front wheel on a car in which they were returning from Boise-Huckelton was given late Thursday evening as the cause of an accident two and one-half miles west of Rupert in which L. Clare Gilligan of Filer, Mrs. Cora Woodruff and Mrs. Florence Dickason, aunt of Mr. Gilligan, and her cousin from Jackson, Ohio, were badly cut and bruised but not seriously injured.

Mr. Gilligan, who works in a garage at Filer, and is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Gilligan, also of Filer, was cut about the face quite badly and suffered somewhat from the loss of blood. Mrs. Dickason suffered a badly lacerated left ear and other cuts about the face, while Mrs. Woodruff was badly cut under the chin and over the eye and suffered numerous bruises.

The accident occurred just as the car started up a grade onto a bridge and as a result of the collapse of the wheel the car was thrown over the 15-foot embankment, landing on the radiator and front wheels. Mrs. Woodruff and Mrs. Dickason were partly through the windshield. The women were able to be taken to the home of Mr. Gilligan in Filer, where they have been visiting and Mr. Gilligan was placed in bed at Rupert. He expects to return home today.

Roseworth Project Now Able to Claim Unique Distinction

Country of Caravan Fame Has One Hundred Per Cent Water Supply Available for Crops.

BULL, July 17 (Special to the News).—Of all the irrigation projects in Southern Idaho, possibly in the entire west, the only one which this year has a normal water supply is the Roseworth project.

And the Roseworth project shows it. Alike clever is showing up this. Quite a section of Lathrop, the plant which is growing this year on the Roseworth acres. Approximately 2000 acres of the Grinn alfalfa is forming the necessary dikes for a good crop. Six car loads of seed were shipped out last year, and the crop this year, in all probability, will greatly exceed that of last.

Fifteen bushels per acre of Grinn were reported last year, and yields running as high as $240 per acre. Wingate Brothers clipped 16,000.00 worth of seed out of an eighty. One field of clover is going into its fourth consecutive year, and looks good, being almost a foot from seed. A short time ago for itself is that 43 acres were originally sold and 4,300 acres are in crop today. Of the 21 farms that were sold to the original caravaners only four have been sold. The remainder are still held by the original owners, being rented to progressive farmers that know irrigation for a fact. A short time ago there was but one telephone wire along the tract; now there are 15. Fifteen per cent of the land owners increased their holdings this year. Some with eighties and some by forties. In this era of soaring spending, this increase looks promising.

The canals are dredged to accommodate 12,000 acres, thus cutting evaporation and wastage by subiding. The water is impounded from four sources; Devil creek, House creek, Deadwood and Cedar. The Roseworth ranch has 120 acres of Grinn alfalfa for seed. The ranch, managed by Mike Glawicki, is up to date in all respects. They put up their own ice for summer use from the reservoir miles away. Most of the cattle ran on the reserve, with only a small herd of milk shorthorns retained on the home ranch. Wheat on the tract looks good, especially the early wheat. Some of the staff is doing short, due to the abnormally hot weather. Numerous farms have gone under woeen fences the last year with juniper posts driven from the mountains, apparently.

Rabbits in Evidence
Rabbits are causing some trouble, but long eared denizens of the sage being firm in the by-paths testify to the power of the farmer's poison. They are being thinned out miraculously. No rabbit drives have been staged here as in the Bull country; where a recent drive near the river netted a fair amount of the leggy hares.
Within a few days 700 solutions of hares will be installed for work on the tract. Some are already on hand. These hares are owned by the Patton Apiary company of California, and were brought into the Bull district last year. Poor honey prospects near Bull caused the change to be made.
This bee outfit operates under the efficient management of Dan Longenecker, who piloted them into the state. One other merit of bees is feeding off the Roseworth clover, and already a bountiful crop of honey is assured.
The cow is coming slowly into hoot on this tract. More and more the farmer realizes the necessity of fence. The fence in freight loads. Cream seems to be one of the best bets. Cream prices here equal cream prices elsewhere. With prospects of plenty of feed and roughage for stock, with prices good for the year, these pioneers are gazing into the future with a new era opening out before them. If those original adventures had been farmers and farmers, perhaps much of the smoke of criticism would have passed off more easily as smoke. All new projects have their baptism of fire, and usually emerge, finally, a better project. Roseworth at the present time is a very good example of this.

Many Enjoy Music
at the City Park

Appreciation for the concert Thursday evening in the city park given by the Twin Falls band was manifested in the applause given each of the 10 numbers played. A crowd, estimated at between 1000 and 1500 heard the music from benches in the park and from cars which were parked practically all the way around the two blocks of park.

The first number was "Bones of Valor," a march by Kiehn, and the closing selection was the "Star Spangled Banner." Every number played was enjoyed by the crowd who by their numbers showed their desire for further concerts. Due to the failure of the city to make an appropriation this year for concerts there will be no regular concert schedule. Concerts will only be given as members of the band feel disposed to give their time free of charge.
