CLASH IN VIEWS BRINGS SETBACK TO CONFERENCE

Experts Find Difficulty in Threshing Out Differences in French and British Positions as to German Defaults.

LONDON, July 18 (AP)—The first setback of the inter-allied conference came today when an unsuccessful attempt was made to thresh out the fundamental differences in the French and British views as to the German defaults under the Dawes reparations scheme and the method of inflicting penalties for such delinquencies, unofficial American suggestions were laid before the experts but they did not produce a compromise agreement.

It was pointed out that the suggestions given to the committee which is dealing with defaults and reparations were not made by the American official observer, but emanated from a source which thought that a new method for creating financial confidence for a loan to Germany had been found.

At the end of the day's deliberations, the French and British were still holding their views regarding defaults and reparations. The British are striving to establish an agent general of reparations as a sort of grand jury for declaring defaults, while the French maintain that the authority of the reparations commission in this respect must not be impaired. Every British move to diminish the influence of the reparations commission has been met by stiff opposition from the French.

Seeking Middle Ground

Between the two positions it is held that there should be a middle ground upon which the allies can meet and Colonel James A. Logan, Jr., the official observer of the United States, declared tonight that there is no reason to fear that an agreement will not be reached on the disputed points.

On the second point of disagreement—application of sanctions—American opinion is that harshness is generally anticipated. Although the French are insisting that the penalties to be imposed on Germany should be decided upon before the Dawes plan is put into working operation, it is stated that this position is not right and there is every indication that the difference will disappear.

At the end of the day's deliberations, the French and British were still holding their views regarding defaults and reparations.

WHEELER URGED BY LAFOLLETTE TO ENTER RACE

Montana Senator Promises Early Answer to Tender of Vice Presidential Nomination; Bradeis Declines.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, democrat, Montana, can have the vice-presidential nomination on the LaFollette ticket if he wants it.

Senator LaFollette himself urged Mr. Wheeler today to become his running mate, and endorsement was offered the Montana senator on behalf of the conference for progressive political action, which approved LaFollette's independent candidacy at its recent convention in Cleveland.

Senator Wheeler said he would announce his decision within twenty-four hours. Some of those who consulted with him during the day declared they were confident he would become a candidate, although he announced two days ago that he would decline the nomination.

Must Overcome Refusal

Efforts to get Senator Wheeler to change his mind were renewed as a group of LaFollette supporters, instructed by the Cleveland convention to endorse a vice-presidential candidate acceptable to the Wisconsin senator, met here today to make a choice. After Mr. LaFollette had been in conference with the Montana senator, a delegation representing the national committee of the conference for progressive political action called on him to urge him to accept the nomination.

Senator Wheeler, who was elected to the senate in 1922, was prosecutor of the Dugger inquiry. He was born in Massachusetts 42 years ago, a university of Michigan graduate and began practicing law in Butte in 1905. He was at one time a member of the Montana legislature and for five years was a United States district attorney.

In announcing definitely on Wednesday that while he probably would vote for Senator LaFollette he would not become his running mate, even if offered the place, Mr. Wheeler declared he intended to support the democratic state ticket in Montana and Senator

Woman Bootlegger Meantest of Species, Dry Workers Told

W. C. T. U. President Wants Feminine Prohibition Officer to Catch Female Offender.

WINONA LAKE, Ind., July 18 (AP)—"Some of the meanest bootleggers in America are women," Mrs. Elizabeth T. Stanley, president of the Indiana W. C. T. U., declared before the conference of the world league against alcoholism, here today.

That a request is to be made of the government that a woman officer be added to the federal prohibition enforcement staff at Washington, so that activity of female bootleggers may be dealt with adequately.

"They are too smart for the male enforcement officers," she said. "You need a woman officer to catch a woman bootlegger."

LOEB CONFESSES TO KILLING BOY

Co-Defendant With Leopold in Franks Murder Case Changes His Story.

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Proposal of a Chicago newspaper to broadcast by radio the proceedings in the trial of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, confessed kidnapers and slayers of Robert Franks, a neighbor boy, were severely criticized by the Chicago church federation today, while Judge Denis E. Sullivan and Judge Philip L. Sullivan of executive committee of the circuit and superior courts declared such a course might cause a reversal of any verdict rendered.

Young Loeb has finally admitted that it was he who actually killed the Franks boy, the Chicago Herald and Examiner said tonight. Thelma, one of the Chicago millionaires made confessions nearly identical concerning the kidnaping except that each said he drove the automobile used to abduct the boy and received the order of striking the youth over the head with a club and gagging and strangling him in the car.

Loeb, the newspaper said, learned that the penalty was the same regardless of whether he drove the car or struck the boy.

California Governor Blames Yellow Journals for Spread of Exaggerated Fire Stories

Praises Forest Service Work in Reply to President's Offer of Federal Aid in Fighting Forest Blazes.

SACRAMENTO, July 18 (AP)—Governor Friend W. Richardson replied to President Coolidge's recent offer to render federal aid in combating forest fires in the state when he telegraphed to the president tonight that "California is menaced more by the blaring of yellow journalism than by fire."

The statement was telegraphed after a San Francisco afternoon paper said action was taken by the president on the California fire situation following the receipt of a telegram from William Randolph Hearst after the arrival of the publisher in California last Wednesday.

Governor Richardson's telegram to the president said:

"The secretary of agriculture, through the national department of forestry, is doing good work in suppressing forest fires in national forest reserves in California. The state board of forestry is co-operating in every way. Your secretary of agriculture can give you official information showing that certain news agencies are magnifying every brush and grass fire. California is menaced more by the blaring of yellow journalism than by fire."

To Secretary Wallace the governor telegraphed:

"The national department of forestry is doing effective work in suppressing forest fires in national forest reserves in this state. All serious forest fires in California are in the national reserves. The state is contributing men and money to assist the department in its good work. The situation in California is not as serious as depicted by certain news agencies."

THE BULLISH-CORN-MARKET

GRAIN TRADERS SEE CONTINUED PRICE ADVANCE

A. W. Cutten, Who Made $1,500,000 in Clean-up on Corn, Predicts $1.50 Wheat; General Prosperity Resultant.

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—All grain which went to new high levels for the crop yesterday were held in about the same volume today, but the trend of the market was reversed with the result that wheat, corn and oats all closed at prices considerably under yesterday's records.

The big increase in speculative trading with the jump in price was described in a statement tonight by E. W. Stover, former assistant secretary of agriculture, as of particular profit to the farmer.

Comes Right for Farmer.

"The advance," he said, "comes at a time when the farmer happens to have a great surplus of grain to dispose of. He has his winter wheat, just harvested, and a good supply of corn in many cases. Thus he is getting rid of large quantities of grain at very high prices."

July wheat closed today at $1.24 1/2, a high compared with the $1.20 1/2 closing yesterday. September wheat closed at $1.24 1/2, and the December grade at $1.27 1/2 to $1.27 3/4.

July corn closed at $1.09 1/2 compared with $1.12 1/2 yesterday, while September grade ended at $1.04 1/2 to $1.04 3/4 and December at $1.04 1/2 to $1.04 3/4.

Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago grain dealer, who was reported to have made more than $1,500,000 in a clean-up on corn this week, said tonight that he believed wheat would reach $1.50 before the crop year ends. He bought corn on his production last spring that it would go to a dollar a bushel before the end of July and made a fortune when it sold above that figure.

Europe Looks to United States.

He said that weather conditions have retarded the Canadian crop of wheat and added that this means that Europe must depend on the United States for much of its wheat.

There has been plenty of talk to the effect that political influence is back of the bull market in wheat," he said. "I say that this is all bunk. The political agitators at Washington for three years tried to legislate prices upward, but without success. The only way to put wheat higher is to buy it in the pit."

NAVY GETS BIG SUBMARINE.

PORTSMOUTH, N. J., July 18 (AP)—A submarine twice as large as any built previously for the United States navy, was launched at the navy yard here Thursday. The big undersea fighter, to be known as the V-1, is the first of a fleet of nine that will be able to accompany the battle fleet at sea in any weather and at any speed of which the fleet itself is capable.

Baseball Admitted to Olympic Games Causes Sensation

Onlookers Register Amusement at Cracking Base Hits and Bleacher Rooping.

PARIS, July 18 (AP)—Baseball, America's national pastime, gained recognition on the Olympic program for the first time today when the international game exhibition at the Colombes stadium was witnessed by a diamond-battle between the Ranelagh club of Paris and a picked team of Americans.

The United States side, behind the masterly mound work of W. B. Kiltner of Yonkers, N. Y., who held the opposing team to a single hit, romped off with a 5-to-0 victory, while the French onlookers were alternately amazed by the cracking base hits and the characteristic "rooping" of the American section of the bleachers. Bobby Jones of New York and Sam Minter, the former Yale star, led the Americans' batting attack.

The winners' lineup included Centerfielder Miller, San Francisco.

SERVANTS HIT AT FOREIGNERS WITH WALKOUT

Chinese Employes Stage Strike
in Canton in Protest Against British Consul's New Cur-few Ruling.

CANTON, China, July 18 (AP)—The strike of Chinese employed as domestics by foreign householders and in a variety of capacities by foreign firms in Shamen, the chief foreign quarter here, is assuming a more serious aspect. Twenty-six unions now have allied themselves with the efforts of the Shamen employes to have repealed British consular restrictions on their entry and departure from the foreign quarter. The large boat men and shipping coolies, important unions in this port, are to join the strike, it is said. Threats have been made to the sailors on vessels under foreign registry with the object of cutting off the supplies of foreigners on the island. The leaders of the walkout are determined to continue the strike until the British consul withdraws the new regulations which brought it about. These require all Chinese leaving the Shamen section after nine p. m. to have passes bearing their photographs and also require them to deposit two additional photographs in the Shamen police station.

The Chinese consul in this port has on the same level with criminals. Great indignation has been aroused against the British consul because of the letter, attributed to him, in which the Chinese authorities are accused of responsibility for the recent bomb outrage when an attempt was made to assassinate Governor General Maclure of French Indo-China, a number of persons being killed. Demands are being made by the unions for the consul's recall.

Foreigners resident in Shamen are obtaining supplies daily from Hong Kong through a foreign owned firm.

DECLARES DEMOCRATIC TICKET MISALLIANCE

Senator Watson Puts Questions to Opposition in Opening Republican Campaign in New Hampshire.

LACONIA, N. H., July 18 (AP)—The democratic ticket, Davis and Bryan was described as an "impossible misalliance" here tonight by Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, in a speech opening the republican campaign in New Hampshire.

"Judging by the usually accepted standard," said Senator Watson, "Davis is an ultra conservative, while Bryan is an extreme radical. Davis is safe and sound, while Bryan's mind is running over with facts and vagaries. If they are elected, will the dog wag the tail or will the tail wag the dog?"

"Is Bryan to run on the same platform with Davis, or is each to run on his own platform? Is Davis to stand on the democratic platform to the east and Bryan on his own platform in the west? Or, are they simply going to run without reference to any platform?"

To support his charge of "radicalism" against the democratic vice-presidential nominee, the Indiana senator quoted Governor Bryan as having declared for currency inflation to give the agricultural interests a better price for their products; for government operation of coal mines to force a 20 percent reduction in coal prices; for control of the oil industry by state governments until oil prices have been reduced; for repeal of the transportation act, for a thirty percent reduction in freight rates; and for government operation as alternatives; and against all "entangling alliances" abroad.

ROME, July 18 (AP)—The battleship San Giorgio, on-board which crown Prince Humbert is proceeding to South America and the battleship San Marco which is accompanying it, have been ordered to go direct to Buenos Aires instead of the Argentine, going to the disturbed situation in Brazil.

A dispatch from Buenos Aires July 15 said Prince Humbert would arrive in Buenos Aires August 2 instead of August 20, the date originally arranged for his arrival in Argentina. The dispatch added that the crown prince would not land in Brazil.

Moon and the Tides

The highest tides occur when the attractions of the sun and the moon act in unison. The moon, being closer to the earth than the sun, has the strongest attraction or "pulling power," but the sun pulls the water also, and it is when they pull together in the same direction that the highest tides occur.

Babson Traces Elements in Re-adjustment of Business

Statistician Expects Moderate Improvement Next Fall; the Farmer Slowly Coming into His Own.

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 19 (Special to the News)—"Is there anything to fear from the recent tremendous declines in certain industries?" The question was put today to Roger W. Babson, the business authority, as he completed a survey of business so far this year.

"There is nothing surprising in the recent slowing up of business, since the decline has been really indicated in the fundamental situation for over a year," says Mr. Babson. "We are still going through a process of readjustment from the post-war boom and the same thing to do is to look for in the future, more are our true position, and plan to meet conditions as they exist instead of sitting around wishing for a business boom. During the first half of this year we made progress in the matter of this necessary readjustment. Commodity prices have continued their decline, and the price of raw materials and commodities have suffered more than agricultural during this half we find our present adjustment between these two groups more satisfactory and much more sound fundamentally than it was when the farmer was getting pro-war prices for his crops but having to pay post-war prices for everything he bought."

Quotes Industrial Statistics

"Industrial activity has also slowed down. At the beginning of the year we found manufacturers generally divided into two groups. Those who had enjoyed considerable activity during the latter part of 1923, planned for increased production during the year. The other group planned for an average volume and made no elaborate preparations for expansion. The first group has suffered and is suffering rather severe disappointment, the second group is in a much sounder position at this time. Statistics compiled on the activity of sixty leading industries of New York state show that wages paid, which in January totaled 103 per cent of the previous year, have dropped to 85 per cent by the end of June. The number of employees, meantime, have declined from 97 per cent in January to 89 per cent by mid-year. On volume of goods the Babson Production Index which stood at 149 in January registers 142 1/2 six months later, showing a drop of no less than 25 per cent in the volume of goods manufactured."

"Sales, meantime, have naturally fallen off. Today nearly every state is showing an amount of business smaller than that of the corresponding month for 1923. Many business men have been surprised at this development, but it also was foreshadowed in the figures of last fall and early spring. The percent age of increase in general business, as reflected in bank clearings, and in car loadings—both at high points last year—have shown a consistent decline. The margins of grain have narrowed until we have finally crossed 'par' and are now running below last year's figures. Dulness in textile industries has been notorious and the gradual slowing of the building boom, which, however, is still running at high figures for some sections, has furnished the color for an otherwise drab decline."

Sees "Sidewise" Movement

"Looking forward to the last half of the year," continues Mr. Babson, "the figures would indicate the prospect of a moderate improvement with the accent on the 'moderate' rather than upon the 'improvement.' Several factors support this expectation. The decline during the first half of the year has been steady and the many instances of present indications would suggest that certainly the rate of descent must slow up and eventually give way to a sidewise movement. General business activity, for instance, which has been running at 13 per cent below normal for the last two weeks shows resistance in this week's readings of the Babson chart which stands at 10 per cent below normal. Money is easy. The fact has been used as an argument for expecting the immediate return of prosperity. Money, however, plays the part of a brake rather than the prime mover on the business machine. Tight money can slow things down very effectively but easy money does not, in itself, start business improvement."

Credit Favorable Factor

"There is no question that available credit and favorable interest rates at the present time constitute a favoring factor for any improvement which may develop. The better alignment of farmer prices and industrial commodity prices which I have already mentioned makes the farmer a more representative buyer in our markets. His problem is not solved by any means, but so far so icy which has been the fashion for the last few months has tended to decrease stocks on hand. This means a resumption of buying for many industries which have suffered extreme depression while surplus stocks were being used up. A moderate improvement in business this fall may come, but it will be well to remember that the readjustment is not yet completed and no one knows what the balance of the year will show." LONDON, July 18 (AP)—The international advertising convention ended the sessions of the 1924 convention Thursday, confirming Houston, Texas, as the place for the 1925 convention and the election of L. R. Holland as president and Jesse H. Neal as secretary-treasurer for the next year. Numerous resolutions were adopted.

The delegates left their annual get-together with the same enthusiasm as they displayed when they first assembled, cheering ten minutes over Houston's victory and giving another round of the selection of Mr. Holland, who will leave for Texas.

For the last meeting in which the delegates assembled under the state's national banners, they again taxed the capacity of the hall and carried on continuous applause as the speakers and resolutions appeared before them. Carrying out the keynote of this year's convention, a resolution was adopted calling upon all nations to make all efforts towards an exchange of ideas for international peace and to adopt measures to safeguard against the recurrence of war.

No More Dickering

THE possessor of the loudest voice or the most brazen dickering used to be able to drive the best bargain. But, dickering, chaffering and haggling over prices have gone out of date.

Simply by glancing over the advertisements in your paper you can see where to go for the best buys. You can compare values and check up prices without even stirring from your easy chair. You can know in advance just what you are going to get and how much it will cost. And you can have the satisfaction that comes from knowing your money is wisely spent.

Nowadays, everyone is given an equal opportunity to buy shrewdly. But there are still a rare few who fail to utilize the advertisements. Don't be one of them.

SHAVER TO LEAD
DAVIS CAMPAIGN

Selection of West Virginian as National Chairman Is Announced by Nominee.

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Clem L. Shaver of West Virginia will manage the campaign of John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, which will be formally launched at Clarksburg, W. Va., on the night of August 11 with the official nomination of Mr. Davis of his nomination.

This announcement was made late today by Mr. Davis before he departed for Inland, Idaho, where he will spend 10 days, with his time divided between rest and the mapping out in his own mind of the form and substance of his address of acceptance.

Selection of Mr. Shaver had been determined some days ago, but the official announcement was withheld until Mr. Davis could complete a series of conferences with party leaders. The last of these was held today at the home of Frank L. Polk, those present including Thomas Taggart of Indiana, George E. Brennan of Illinois and Norman H. Davis of New York.

Shaver Gave Out Statement. Mr. Shaver himself made public Mr. Davis' statement and supplemented with the announcement that plans for the campaign still were in the making and nothing could be said at this time regarding the personnel of the organization which is to be set up and which is to cover the entire country.

From other authentic sources it was learned, however, that there will be organized an advisory committee of "board of strategy" to conduct the campaign under the personal direction of Mr. Shaver. The new chairman will have around him all of the present former chairmen of the national committee, including Cordell Hull of Tennessee; Vance McCormick of Pennsylvania; George White of Ohio and Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut.

New York Wants Headquarters. Mr. Shaver left tonight for Washington to examine the plant there of the democratic national committee. After his inspection he will determine whether national headquarters will be maintained at the national capital or in New York. Many leaders are known to favor New York, especially since Mr. Davis will establish his own headquarters in or near this city.

Mr. Shaver first attained to political prominence through his conduct of the pre-convention campaign of Mr. Davis. He has served, however, in various minor political capacities, as chairman of the democratic county committee of Marion county, of the democratic state committee of West Virginia, as a member of the state legislature and as manager of several important West Virginia political campaigns.

Shaver's connection with the Davis-for-president movement goes back many years.

GERMAN SNAKE STOLE WHILE

THIEVES SLEPT BOYSTER

HAMBURG, July 18 (AP)—The largest bronze snake in Germany, which occupied a prominent place in Carl Hagenbeck's animal farm near Hamburg, was stolen recently by thieves who, the police said, would probably sell the statue for $100,000.

The statue, which is situated in the center of the snake yard, is in a kind of jungle, so that the inhabitants might be reminded of their native haunts and feel perfectly at home.

The management believed that the snakes were better than watch dogs to guard this valuable piece of statuary, but the thieves apparently had no fear of the thousands of reptiles within the enclosure and escaped with their loot without any further more than being haled at.

AUSTRIANS GET DIVORCES FROM MOVIE STUBB VIVES

VENNA, July 18 (AP)—The movie figured here recently in two divorce cases. In one instance the husband accused his wife of having neglected her home over her craze for seeing the movies, and of having maltreated her children as a result of having seen reel films of punishment "in the movies. The wife denied being influenced by the motion picture drama, but the divorce was nevertheless granted.

In the second case a merchant complained that he could no longer afford to eat in restaurants and hotels, because his wife had the movie craze and neglected cooking, housekeeping and her husband. In this case, too, the court granted a divorce, and particularly stated that the defendant "had seriously neglected her household duties through her frequentation of the theatre and movies."

AMERICA TAKES WIDER LEAD IN OLYMPIC GAMES

United States Holds Two-to-One Margin Over Finland, Nearest Rival for All Round Honors; Swimmers Score.

PARIS, July 18 (AP)—While the American swimmers were clinching another team victory for the United States today by taking four out of five final events in the Olympic swimming pool, the American tennis stars rolled up a similar percentage of victories of the outstanding Olympic contests today.

Meanwhile the boxers were battling for various titles but they had their ambitions shattered in a number of events.

The United States is leading Finland, its nearest rival for all around Olympic honors, by more than two to one margin, under the French committee's scoring system, the completion of nine branches of the international competition.

The breaking of three world's and one Olympic record marked the aquatic events, in which the United States added sixty points to its total and got out of reach of its nearest rival, Sweden. The respective standings of the two countries tonight were:

United States 116 and Sweden 39. Boat Tennis Finals Vincent Richards and Miss Helen Wills of the American tennis team both reached the singles finals, while two American doubles teams advanced, and another, Washington and Williams, fell by the wayside. The startling defeat of the day was that of Miss Kathleen McKane, the English star by Miss Vlnata of France.

On Sunday Miss Wills will meet Miss Emmeline Wills, the Greek-American, for the national title for the United States. Tomorrow, joined with Mrs. George Wightman, Miss Wills will oppose the two best women players of Great Britain, Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. Covell, for the doubles championship. The battle for men's championship will be between the American and French, with Vincent Richards on one side of the net and Henri Cochet on the other.

BAPTISTS REMAIN IN BASEMENT OF LEAGUE

CHRISTIANS & BAPTISTS 1. Patrick's Christian batters proved too much for Masters' Baptist team Friday evening in a one-sided game featured by hits, runs and errors—as some games are.

Brannock, starting in the box for the Baptists, was successful for the first inning in holding the Christians' hitters, but his teammates secured two runs for the "Camele" in this inning on errors. Lyons later in the game replaced Brannock on the mound and the latter took the backstop job with a little more success. The Baptist team shows form despite their errors and predictions are that they will finish well to the front of the standing by the time the season, which is a third over, is finished.

Davis, Christian southpaw, baffled the "Turtles" for the greater part of the game, allowing but four hits during the contest and a tighter infield combination than the Christian lineup allowed but one score.

A definite schedule for the remainder of the season is to be drawn up soon by the various managers and the present unevenness will be eliminated. Score by innings: R. H. E. Christians 240 20—8 7 2 Baptists 10—1 5 5 Batteries: Davis and Dossert; Brannock, Lyons and Shottwell, Brannock.

"Campbell's" Song Old One.

The song "The Campbell's Are Coming" was composed in 1715, when the Earl of Mar raised the standard for the Stuart cause against the Hanoverians. John Campbell was commander in chief of his majesty's forces and the rebellion was quashed. The main interest now attached to the famous song is connected with the story of "Diana's" in the Indian rebellion of 1857. A Scotch woman named Diana was captured and her life was spared. She was married to a Scotchman and her life was spared. She was married to a Scotchman and her life was spared.

Egyptian Water Clocks

Casts of two ancient Egyptian water clocks have just been presented by the Egyptian government to the Science museum, North Kensington, London, England. The casts are of the clocks of the reign of Amenhotep II, 1400 years before Christ. The other is from Edfu, in the Ptolemaic epoch. From an examination of these clocks and the scale of measurements recorded on each, it appears that the period was a variable length, being one-twelfth of the length of the day or night of the particular time of the year. A study of these ancient timepieces is regarded as important in the comparison of astronomical observations.

The Common Tact. If a poet is in touch with his age, he will write of the subjects that interest him, and other poets in touch with the age will also write about what interests them, and consequently they may all write of much the same thing; they are not imitating each other, but they are enjoying a common pleasure, to which one of them may have shown the way. We often say that the popular writer is trying to catch the flavor of the public by giving it what it likes, and in some instances he may be calculating and his motives unworthy. But it is more probable that being typical of his age, he simply likes the same things as his fellows. The Elizabethan Londoner liked historical plays; did Shakespeare write them only to please his audience, or rather did he not share the general taste?—John Erskine.

Business Women's Cards.

Since women have become such factors in business activities there has been a tendency to omit the prefix Miss or Mrs. chief business cards, says a veteran stationer, according to the New York Sun and Globe. As a matter of fact under the new conditions with women everywhere in commerce there is no established rule on this point. However, this authority holds out the hope that the stationer will consider the fact that a person to whom a prefaceless business card is presented by a woman in business is at a loss as to whether to address her as Miss or Mrs. Since business cards should invariably act as a means of introduction, perhaps formalism must give way to convenience.

Gas Masks for Enginemen.

Enginemen on locomotives when going through a tunnel frequently encounter heat ranging as high as 138 degrees, with smoke and moisture in the atmosphere. The men are fitted with a small pocket respirator for quick use when in a tunnel. A more satisfactory method for combating the gas is to supply them with a rubber tube from the air brake system on the train. A rubber tube fitted with a funnel which is held close to the face furnishes an adequate amount of air.

A Squirrel Mystery.

A source of food for the gray squirrel in the winter is in the pine and hemlock cones. These are discovered by burrowing into the snow and making a series of tunnels beneath the surface. The ground beneath a pine or hemlock tree is fairly well covered with cones in the fall, and this the squirrels know, but they never make the mistake of burrowing beneath any tree but a pine or hemlock. They eat the seeds that are at the base of each scale of the cone. And how do they get at these seeds? Did you ever try to extract them yourself?

SUMMARY TELLS CROP CONDITION

Weather Generally for Idaho Was Hot and Dry Says Report; Few Showers.

Intense sunshine and dry hot winds damaged vegetation not adequately supplied with water during the week ending July 15, in southwest Idaho, says the weekly summary of weather and crop conditions in Idaho from the weather bureau office at Boise received in Twin Falls Friday. However well watered crops in this region made splendid growth under the weather conditions, the summary continues. In southwest Idaho moderate temperatures and scattered showers were beneficial to crops while in the northern part of the state dry hot weather continued throughout the week.

Light showers occurred in the Twin Falls section, but over most of the district the drought continued unabated, says the summary of southwest Idaho. "Intense sunshine and drying winds damaged vegetation not adequately supplied with water, but well-watered crops made splendid growth. Most dry farm crops are beyond relief. In the irrigated districts wheat and oats are ripening fast and some fields of barley have been harvested. The second crop of alfalfa is coming on apace and cutting has begun in the earlier localities. Early potatoes are being marketed in the Deerflat section. Corn is doing very well. Springs and small streams that have dried up for years, if not before, are falling and the larger streams are very low. Many irrigation districts are already without water; others are short and will be dry before the season is over.

"Moderate temperatures and scattered showers were beneficial to growing crops in southern Idaho. A few fields were damaged by flooding and some damage was done by hail in parts of Fremont and Madison counties. The first cutting of alfalfa has been completed in some sections and is under way in others. The crop is light but is being secured in excellent condition. The second crop of alfalfa is making good growth, particularly where irrigated.

Winter wheat is doing well. Spring wheat and oats are poor but may be helped by rains; in some places they are being used for pasture and for hay. Potatoes are improving and growing well. Beans are doing good growth. Fens are fair to good and the poles are filling rapidly. Apples are good and cherries are excellent in Bingham county. The ranges are still short but they were benefitted by the rains.

"Dry hot weather continued through the week in most of Idaho. There was no precipitation, but temperatures were not so high as during the previous week. Harvesting of wheat barley and oats is under way over most of the district. Many fields are finished in the earlier sections. Corn is being cultivated and is generally reported good, but is being urged to show the effects of continued drought.

Pastures are dry and brown except along streams. Range feed is much reduced in the lower sections. An unusually light crop of peaches, apricots and plums is being harvested. Irrigation water is low and conservation is being practiced in all irrigation districts.

Boise, Ada County—A hot dry week; irrigation water falling fast, some ditches dry; crops good progress; wheat and oats ripening fast; some barley cut; second cutting of alfalfa being harvested.

Twin Falls, Twin Falls County—A couple of good showers this week helped some crops looking decent; potatoes, wheat and barley doing cuts some fields of beans badly damaged by fly; some fields of beans blighted badly but are looking much better now. Bliss, Gooding County—Dry day with 100; balance of the week has been cool, and not very much wind to draw the moisture from the ground; crops looking good under the conditions; some berries being cut, also a little barley being cut; some potatoes are still growing good; trees still holding their leaves.

Pocatello, Bannock County—Light scattered rains during the week were beneficial to crops. First cutting of alfalfa completed in good condition; second crop making good growth; wheat and oats helped by the rains; potatoes are fair and growing well; beans improving; range helped by rains but still short.

Fruitland, Payette County—Favorable weather for all crops, second haying will begin the fourteenth; wheat and oats turning; barley mostly cut; early potatoes making good growth and digging will start about August 1; most corn laid by; colery planting finished with prospects for a good stand; no evidence of a water shortage at this time.

Caldwell, Canyon County—Week favorable for all crops where there is enough water; early potato marketing begun; wheat and barley harvest on second alfalfa crop just ready to cut; the imported fly enemy of the weevil seems to have done its work, no weevil in evidence here; corn making splendid growth under Lake Lowell and Indian creek; enough water to date.

SOUTHWEST IDAHO LEGION POSTS HOLD CONVENTION

BOISE, July 18 (AP)—The southwest Idaho district convention of the American Legion came to a close Friday evening, when a dance was given in honor of the visiting delegates at the Moose Country club. The main part of the convention was held at 6 o'clock at the high school grounds, where a picnic supper was served by the legionnaires.

H. L. Rush spoke on "The Legion Club House." This was followed by short talks from representatives of the Emmott, the Nampa, the New Plymouth, Parma and Payette legions. Commander Davis outlined the program of the department convention, which is to be held at Pocatello in the near future.

First Hand Reports to President Predict Large Majorities in Dozen-States for Republican Candidates.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—President Coolidge on being asked today for an expression of opinion on republican prospects in the forthcoming campaign, he regarded the situation as hopeful.

Confidential advisers of the president shared his opinion, an indication of the confidence attributed to him but the statement stood as his own estimate of the present situation.

Awaits Later Developments

First hand reports of the political situation have been held before Mr. Coolidge this week, all predicting large majorities for the republican national ticket on the basis of present indications. Mr. Coolidge is inclined to discount the predictions, somewhat, especially at this stage of preliminaries to the campaign and he is said to believe no campaign can be held definitely now in anywhere and a half month before election.

Beyond the political conference, the president does not feel he has begun active political work. He has not started drafting the address he will deliver at the notification ceremony here August 14, but he has given some thought to it. He gave visitors the impression that in setting forth his appeal for support at the polls he would present a review of accomplishments of republican administration since 1921, making this the primary basis for his request of support.

Will Not Reply to Davis

Although John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee, will deliver his keynote acceptance address prior to the date set for the republican presidential candidate's notification, Mr. Coolidge does not propose to make his acceptance address in reply to the speech made by Mr. Davis.

WOOL MARKET DEVELOPS STRENGTH DURING WEEK

Prices for Raw Pooled Advance 5 to 10 Per Cent Above Last Point of Three or Four Weeks Ago

BOSTON, July 18 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

The strength of the wool market in two weeks in raw wool has developed to an even greater extent during the past week and prices are anywhere from 5 to 10 per cent above the low point of three or four weeks ago. It seemed toward the week-end that this initial buying movement has spent itself to a considerable extent, which would be no more than a temporary advance. The lag was in all probability largely in the nature of insurance against the requirements of the mills in the coming light wooling season. All told, having been 25 per cent sold, with the past two weeks has been much above a normal average in volume, probably amounting to 20 or 25 million pounds.

The following markets are better this week, left over wools in the primary markets being sold readily, while Bradford being sold at a low price in some instances, a penny a pound.

The west is being rapidly cleared of its wools, the new clip probably having been 85 per cent sold, with prices showing a hardening tendency.

As for the goods markets, there is a better tone with little change in prices of the volume of repeat orders.

Mohair is rather quiet and barely steady in price.

The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

How Sunspots Affect Earth.

If you stir an open fire in a grate and bring fresh coals to the front, it gives out a warm glow. It is the same way with the sun, says Dr. C. G. Abbot, in charge of the astrophysical laboratory of the Smithsonian Institution. The so-called sunspots are produced by a stirring of the sun's outer layer. By comparing measurements of four sunspots, he found that there is an increase in heat radiated by the sun on the same day that sunspots form, grow or are brought into view on the visible disk of the sun by rotation.

URGES WHEELER TO BE HIS RUNNING MATE

Walsh, his democratic colleague, for reelection. As for the democratic national ticket, he said he would not support it in view of the "Wall Street" connections of John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee.

His declaration to be considered for second place in the republican ticket, was believed to have eliminated him from a field of a dozen or more mentioned by LaFollette's chief supporters in connection with the post.

While the sub-committee was making its appeal to Mr. Wheeler those who remained in the republican field at the headquarters of the international association of machinists indulged in some discussion as to who might be selected in the event Mr. Wheeler remained aloof. It was understood that word had reached the committee that Associate Justice Brandeis of the supreme court had declined to run for LaFollette. LaFollette was felt to look upon with particular favor, felt to be a mistake to leave the bench to become a vice-presidential candidate.

DEBS LINES UP FOR LAFOLLETTE

Veteran Socialist Leader Accepts Party's Decision and Election as Chairman.

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Eugene V. Debs, veteran leader in the socialist party, from the sanitarium in which he is confined near here, today issued a public statement, in the form of an open letter to the party accepting the nomination of the recent Cleveland convention as national chairman.

The letter, in the absence of the action of the convention in failing to nominate the socialist ticket this fall campaign.

"There are times when a retreat actually is an advance," he wrote in commenting upon the decision of the convention to support the LaFollette ticket.

"I feel the socialist party get behind this movement entirely and wholeheartedly; let us enter the campaign with all the support at our command and help make it an overwhelming success."

Debs said he would not be able, because of his physical condition to take any active part in the campaign, but looked forward with confidence to the eventual restoration of vigorous health.

"We have learned in the socialist movement by political experience notwithstanding of 'no compromise' dogma that we can not by hard and fast rules to govern our party and ourselves under all the exigencies that arise from time to time in the development of the labor movement," Mr. Debs wrote as his justification of the convention's decision.

ELEVEN CITIES ADVANCE TO 100,000 POPULATION

Sensus Bureau's Annual Estimate Shows Several Towns in Relative Rank of Several Towns.

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP)—Eleven cities have grown into the 100,000 population class during the last year, estimates of population of the principal cities of the country as of June 1, 1923, show there are 70 having 100,000 or more as compared with 68 last year.

The census bureau in preparing the estimates did not calculate the population of some of the rapidly growing cities, such as Detroit, Los Angeles, Seattle, Denver, Akron, Bridgeport, Houston and Spokane. The population of the country on July 1 is estimated at 112,078,611.

The relative rank of some of the cities is changed by their newly estimated population. New Orleans has passed Cincinnati, Rochester has outgrown Jersey City, St. Paul has surpassed Cleveland and Oakland's population has grown so it now ranks with St. Paul and Providence and Springfield, Mass., has passed Grand Rapids.

New York has passed the six million mark, while Cleveland is somewhere between five and six million. For which an estimate was made, likely has passed the million mark as its population was estimated at almost 990,000 a year ago.

FORD SENDS PHOTOGRAPHS OF COOLIDGE TO DEALERS

CALIFORNIA GOVERNOR BLAMES YELLOW SHEETS

Two big fires burned beyond control in the Tahoe national forest despite the efforts of 700 men, and in the Shasta national forest another blaze had not been subdued at the headquarters. Firefighters in the state forest and brush fires had been checked after burning for a week or more.

Blaze in eastern Washington and northern Idaho enabled the fire fighters to control many of the blazes in those sections.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING ON IDAHO AND MONTANA FRONTS MISSOULA, July 18 (AP)—Cloudy weather with rain in some places and cessation of high winds, enabled fire fighters to start today establishing control lines around fires in national forests of western Montana and Idaho.

Most of the fires which cover over 1,000 acres were still burning, few of them were spreading. Heavy rains in the Clearwater forest checked fires there.

Two hundred men fighting the dangerous Lost creek blaze in the Kaniksu forest had checked it to some extent. The Lost creek fire in the Nez Perce forest has burned over 5,000 acres but now is being held. The big creek blaze in the Lolo forest is being held and some men were laid off there today.

NOBLE HANDS SOILED DAILY AS DUKES LABORS IN FIELDS

INVERARY, Scotland, July 18 (AP)—The idea that Dukes can't and won't do manual labor is dispelled by a visit to Javerary Castle, in the grounds of which the owner, 52-year-old Duke of Argyll, is working as a stone-mason's laborer. He carries heavy stones, takes orders from the foreman, and keeps strict trade union hours.

By the Duke's example, the Duke of the Green Seal of Scotland, is helping to erect a belfry. He wears a kilt and a grey woven shirt, and rolls up his sleeves to tackle his job.

LEADERSHIP

Firestone Leads on Speedway —with Five Record-Breakers—

When the race driver selects his tires he does so realizing that his life and chances for success depend upon them. It is significant that all of the ten money winners in the Indianapolis race were Firestone shoes. Firestone, using gum-dipping and other special processes, has developed tires to such a high degree of efficiency that at Indianapolis, May 30th, the following drivers broke the world's record for 500 miles over this brick track, making many rounds at over 100 miles per hour.

Never before were tires put to such grueling work where it was needed for every corner, of rubber and every fibre of fabric to work in perfect unison with every other part.

Driver	Time per hour

Leadership in Everyday Service

Millions of motorists are paying by the lengthened service of Firestone. Scores of unheeded testimonials emphasize the long mileage Firestone's Gum-Dipped Cords deliver—while builds leadership in service, safety and economy.

Leadership on Cabs, Buses and Trucks

The largest taxicab companies in the five largest cities in the United States use Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords exclusively. One San Francisco Yellow Cab Co. of Chicago, uses over one-half million tire miles per day.

Leadership Through Tire Quality and Service

Through Firestone dealers you can obtain organized service and the soundest values on the market. One dealer has sold a Ford 8000 Fabrik, a set of full-size Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords or a 10-inch truck tire.

Firestone for years has been first to develop tires and rims—complete—which would meet the heavy trucking load, great strains and demand for traction. By originating and carrying forward the Ship by Truck movement, and establishing Ship by Truck bureaus in all large cities, Firestone helped to speed up highway transportation and reduce costs.

Balloon Tire Leadership

Firestone's latest contribution to motoring is the low air pressure or Balloon Tire. This, the original full-size Balloon, was made practical by the special Firestone Gum-Dipping process, insulating every fibre of each cord with strength and stamina. Firestone has also simplified the application of full-size Balloon tires to your present car by designing a special writing consisting of tires, tubes, rims and spokes applied by any dealer at a very low cost.

Leadership Against British Rubber Restriction Act

Attacking the unsound and uneconomic character of the British Rubber Restriction Act limiting the exportation of rubber from the Far East, Firestone was the one large tire manufacturer to take up the cause for the car owner. Soon after the agitation was started for America to produce rubber under its own control, a special set of crude rubber was reduced and tire prices brought back to normal.

AIR RACE LIVES UP

There is real competition in that round-the-world flight, after all. After a rather dull period, just when the public had begun to lose interest, the contest suddenly began to liven up.
This was due to the surprising spirit
of the American aviators.

Only the other day, they were far off somewhere in Asia. All at once they arrived in Western Europe, eager to hop across the Atlantic on the home stretch. There have been no more of the tedious, delays that marked the first stages of the trip. It is difficult to realize that. More distances are much shorter, though
than two-thirds of the journey has been covered. The fliers have caught up and gone ahead of their schedule.
The recent expectation at Washington
has been that they would arrive there by August 10, a full month to the good. The pilots are freed from all retarding restrictions, and are encouraged to make all the speed they can.

Why this sudden rush, instead of the leisurely completion of the tour
that the public was led to expect?
Apparently Uncle Sam himself has caught the sporting fever, and wants
those American fliers to win the world
race, even though he refuses officially
to acknowledge any race.

The government evidently has taken to heart the interest with which the American public followed the specific flights of the British, French and Portuguese aviators, especially those of MacLaren and D'Oilly. The latter has quit, under orders, but Mac-Laren, the Britisher, may soon be on the United States, on his way eastward to London. It is really a race
now on between him and the Americans.

CATCHING UP WITH SCIENCE

A western preacher recently voiced
his fear that science and invention
were too far in advance of man's progress and therefore worked against his peace of mind and life by obscuring truth. It seemed to think that they should hold back until man's spiritual
and moral development has caught up with them.

A widely-known social psychologist
recently stated the same thing about
the advance of science and invention,
but his conclusion was different. Instead of fearing scientific progress, he simply pointed out that increased effort was needed to bring man's social development up abreast of his material development.

Scientific discoveries have come
thick and fast, with new marvels pushing at the heels of other new marvels. Yet the wise person would not wish to give up any one of them.
Civilization is a little dizzy from its
rapid progress along material lines,
but it will undoubtedly catch its breath, regain its poise, learn to use
the wealth of leisure that science is offering it, learn to use for its social and spiritual welfare the tools that science has placed in its hands and then go forward once more with science.

The swift advance of science is not a defeat of spiritual development. Instead it is a challenge to the best that is in us to come on into the game.

As a result of making the above
conclusions, the writer has been able to find a number of interesting facts
about the progress of science and invention.

"Matrimonial Speaking"

By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My Husband Is Always Getting Into Arguments With Men Bigger Than
He Is.

Drivers of other automobiles, trolley
car conductors, ticket sellers at theaters
and quite an assortment of men with whom he has some sort of friction.
The fact that they seem invariably to be at least six feet three inches tall
and to weigh a minimum of two hundred pounds never seems to deter him in the least. He goes right ahead and tells them what he thinks of them just
the same.

But the strain on me as an interested bystander is something intense.
"You needn't think you can take up
the whole road when I'm trying to get around you," he'll shout at an immense man, who has stalled his car in the way of ours.

"Why don't you call out the streets
instead of taking people past their corners?" he'll ask a giant trolley conductor.

And I have to try to look calm and collected, all the time wondering if there's a doctor's office near by.

I do wish that Hugh would make it
a rule not to talk back to big men
until after he's won a heavy-weight championship!

THE FORUM

CONCERNING WATER

Editor Twin Falls News:

Dear Sir:

A man is not called on to run a bank
or repair an automobile until he can qualify by showing that he has had experience or served an apprenticeship,
and knows his business. However, people have come here from the middle western states to make their homes,
knowing nothing about irrigation, and undertaken to build a city on this arid plain, without looking around at other places where conditions were the same,
to find out the proper way to proceed,
from those who have had experience.

In the middle west states where there is rainfall, their lawns and gardens do not require irrigation, but lawns are freshened there by spraying for an hour
or so with a hose, while here a system
of irrigation is necessary to make lawns, gardens and trees grow. This means, not merely using a spray from a nozzle, but a thorough soaking up of the ground with a head of water. Without water, or with only a proscribed
portion, there can be no luxuriant
growth of plants and foliage, and a city
can be present only as a stunted attempt at the beautiful. Only by a thorough irrigation system can we attain the name
that the Capital City has of "Boise the Beautiful."

When the original purchasers of lots
here got their deeds, there was included therein a conveyance of a perpetual water right for the lot. This, however,
means nothing at the present time, as
the cost of building the water to the lot is at almost a prohibitive rate, and may force the luxury of a lawn and flowers because they can not afford to pay the rate for city water.

This condition seems to be caused by cause of ignorance of what were the requirements necessary for building a city in the sage brush. They failed to look ahead and provide for what would be required in order to supply the people with water for their ground, and supply a sufficient amount of moisture for the street trees, as necessary in beautifying the city. There are many valued lots with streets trees that have lived along, without growth—neglected.

The mistake is this. Now, the only available water to be had for irrigation is filtered water, designed for domestic use. Rather expensive water.
Provision should have been made when planning was planned, for continuing the supply of water for irrigation through the open ditches. They should have looked into the system adopted in Salt Lake and Boise, but no, they built it ahead without a plan except what was brought from the east where conditions were entirely different.

It is not too late right now to make the change, though money would have been saved if this had been done at the start. The water ditch could be made inside the parkings on the side of the parking according to the slope of the ground, and siphoned under the cross streets and each property owner
have a check gate for diverting the water to his ground. On the side where the ground sloped toward the street instead of away from the street, the ditch
would come down the alley back of the property.

It is natural that many mistakes will be made by the early acts that are seen
later, and which incur extra expense in correcting.

I protested at the time they paved
the streets over a lot of wooden water
main, and which have cost the city
thousands of dollars first and last. I did not believe, however, that the cost will be near as much to correct the water system as was the cost in correcting the wooden main system, and an ample supply of irrigation water
be obtained for every lot in the city.

Daddy's
Evening
Fairy Tale

A MARY GRAHAM BONNER

KINGFISHER'S APPETITE

"There is one thing to be said for me," said the Kingfisher, "and that is that I do not complain of being bored
or tired."

"I do not complain of having nothing
to do, for I have a great deal to do.
I have fishing to do and I love to fish. No one loves to fish more than Kingfisher."

"You can tell that by my name! My name is such that, without being smug at all, you could tell that I was a bird fond of fishing and that I was good at my job."

"For am I not called Kingfisher?"
The Kingfisher sat upon his perch,
looking very handsome in his gray
suit with its touches of white and his splendid crest upon his head.

"Oh, he was a handsome fellow, all right. There was no mistake about that."

"His crest stood up very straight, as though he were eagerly looking for something, and as though he were very much interested in what was going on.
He made strange rattling noises and his long, strong beak looked as though
he would have no trouble in eating."

"At times, when you looked at him,
you would have said it was gray, but
the shadow of gray such as is a slate's color."

"Actually his coloring was of a blue-gray, but at times, when you looked at him and couldn't see him very clearly,
you would have said it was gray. And in the sunlight you would have said
it was blue."

His crest, too, made him look as though a king bird with a crown upon his head.

His size was splendidly big. His black tail even seemed to show the exaggeration of his feet.

"Fish! I shall have plenty of fish,"
he said, "and I shall not be at all
sickly, and I shall not be at all weak."

Up again he came, and in his mouth
was a big fish. It looked as though it would be almost too big for Kingfisher. But he knew what he could take.

No one could tell him about taking

small bits and chewing his food well.
He knew what a big fellow he was
and how strong he was and how much
he could eat.

He knew that was a great deal, too.
He did not care for bugs and insects
very much.

He would eat them, but he didn't like them as he did fish.

Fish was the food for Kingfisher.
He took the fish he had caught and struck it off his perch, so that the wriggling fish was still now.

Kingfisher was happy.

He ate it delightfully. Ah, what a fine last fish it was!

This was a meal fit for a king, as he had heard somewhere a meal should be.

Yes, somewhere, he had heard something about a meal fit for a

Permanently Wise Man

Wisdom is life electricity. There is no permanently wise man, but men capable of wisdom, who, being put into certain company, or other favorable conditions, become wise—for a short time, as glasses rubbed acquire electric power for a while.—Emerson.

"And ever since then he had thought
to himself:
"She must have meant me! She must have meant that a good fish
meal was a fit meal for Kingfisher."

When Kingfisher was through with his meal he was almost ready for another.

For Kingfisher's stomach was large and able to hold plenty of food. Nor did he choke on the bones. Oh, no;
he knew how to eat fish so that he didn't choke on bones. He ate too cleverly for that—and, too, there was plenty of room so the bones didn't choke him as they went down.

He ate the fish head-first, which was the sensible way of eating fish,
he thought.

"Begin at the top and work down,"
was his motto.

Once more he watched out for a fish.
He would show the fishes what a king's appetite could be. He would show the fishes—and he did!

Daddy Forgot Something

Glenn forgot to say "please." Father, thinking to drill the child on his manners, asked him what he should say.

"Please," answered Glenn.
Father gave him what he wanted
and then said, "Now what do you
say?"

"Thank you," said Glenn.

"You mustn't forget those little things," cautioned father, and then went on with his work.

Glenn waited a minute and then
said, "You should say 'welcome,' daddy."

The Highgrader

By
WM. MACLEOD RAINE

Copyright by G. W. Dillingham Co.

"Aren't you the Miss Dwight I've heard Jack Kilmeny mention?"
"Yes," said Mr. Collier, "isn't it?"
He nodded, watching her with hard narrowed eyes. "Something's wrong
Can you tell me what it is? Jack's mule—two of them, anyhow—came back to the barn during the night with bits of broken harness still attached to them. Looks like there had been a runaway and the wagon had come to grief. The keeper of the livery stable says Bell took the wagon
around to Jack's place and left it with him. He was seen driving out of town soon after. He has not been seen since."

Her heart flew to Sturm. "You mean—your think he has been hurt?"
"Don't know. He's not in town.
That's a cinch. I've raked Goldbanks with a toothcomb. Where is he?"
"Couldn't be at his mine?"
"I sent a boy out there. He's not at the Jack Pot."

"What is it that you think? Tell me," she cried softly.
"You're his friend, aren't you?"
"Yes."
"There's some talk around town that he was held up by Bleyer. I came up here to see him or Verlinder. Foul play of some kind, that's my guess."
"Then you surely don't think that Mr. Bleyer or Mr. Verlinder would hurt him?"
"The look of dogged resolution on the man's granite face did not soften."
"They'll have to show me—and by G—d if they did—"
Her mind flew with consternation to the attack upon Kilmeny that had been made by Bleyer. But Verlinder had told her nobody had been hurt.
Could there have been the highgrader prisoner? Were they holding him for some purpose?

"Mr. Verlinder gets up about this time usually," she said.
"You're waiting for him. He said he would be down at once."
"Will you tell me anything you find out, please? I'll be on the veranda upstairs."
Colter joined her a quarter of an hour later. "I saw both Bleyer and Verlinder. They've got something up their sleeve, but I don't think they know where Jack is or what has become of him. They pretended to think
I was trying to put one over on them."
"What will you do now?"
"I'll go out to the Jack Pot myself.
I've reason to believe he intended to go there."
"If you'll let me say anything—"
"I'll let you say anything you like."
"Moya went directly from Colter to Bleyer. The superintendent entered a card denial to her implied charge."
"Miss Dwight, I don't know what you do or do not know. I see something has been blabbing. But I'll just say this. When I last saw Jack Kilmeny, he was as sound as I am and I haven't heard of him since then."
"You don't seem to worry about him at all. When he wants to turn up he'll be on deck right all right."
"Don't ask me what his play is, for I don't know. It may be to get me and Verlinder in bad with the miners. But be sure of one thing: he's grand standing."
She was amazingly relieved. "I'm so glad. I thought perhaps—"
"—that Mr. Verlinder and I had murdered him. Thanks for your good opinion of us, but really we didn't,"
he retorted in his dryest manner.

She laughed. "I did think perhaps you'd killed him."
"Well, I don't—and I don't want to be snappish. The less I see of him
the better I'll be satisfied."
The superintendent of the Verlinder
properties had found a note addressed
to him in one of the sacks of quartz
taken from Kilmeny. The message, sent to the point of impudence, had hoped he had enjoyed his little experience as a holdup. To Bleyer, always a serious-minded man, this levity had added insult to injury. Just now the very mention—of the Highgrader's
name was a red rag to his temper. It had been enough to be hated without being jeered at by the man who had set a trap for him.

It was well on toward evening before Colter paid his promised visit to Miss Dwight. She found him waiting for her upon her return from a ride
with Captain Kilmeny, Verlinder and Joyce.

"Moya, as soon as she had dismounted, walked straight to him.
"What have you found out, Mr.
Colter?"
"Not much. It rained during the night and wiped out the tracks of wagon wheels. Don't know how far Jack got or where he went, but the remains of the wagon are lying at the bottom of a gulch about two miles from the Jack Pot."
"How did it get there?"

"I wish you could tell me that mule would have gone over the edge of the road too." He stepped forward quickly as Verlinder was about to pass
into the hotel. "I want to have a talk with you."
The little man adjusted his monocle.
"Yes. What about, my man?"
"About Jack Kilmeny. When is he? What do you know? He's going to find out if I have to tear it from your throat."
Verlinder was no coward, but he was a product of our modern super-civilization. He glanced around hastily. The captain had followed Joyce into the livery. Moya and he were alone on the piazza with this big savage who looked quite capable of carrying out his threat.

"Don't talk d—d nonsense," the mine
owner retorted, frowning angrily.
Colter did not answer in words. The strong muscular fingers of his left hand closed on the right arm of Ver-linder just below the shoulder with a sudden, unexpected, and automatic
movement toward the end of the porch.

"Not Much." It Rained During the Night and Wiped Out the Tracks of Wagon Wheels.

He had to clench his teeth to keep
from crying out.

"Let me alone, you brute," he gasped.

Colter paid no attention until his victim was backed against the rail
in a lifting third he released the millionaire he was manhandling.

"You're going to tell me everything
you know. Get that into your head.
Or, by G—d, I'll wring your neck for you."

The Englishman had never before
been confronted with such a situation.
He was a citizen of a country where wealth hedges a man from such assaults. The color ebbed from his face,
then came back with a rush.

"Go to the devil, you big bully," he
fumed out sharply.

Colter, taken by surprise at Colter's
abrupt departure, stood there and watched with amazement the subsequent fare-
up. Now she crossed the porch toward them.

"What are you doing, Mr. Colter?"
"None of your business, ma'am," the miner answered blighly, not for a moment lifting his eyes from Verlinder.

"Better unfold what you know.
I've had a talk with Quin Saladay.
I know all he knows, that Bleyer and you and him with two other lads hold up Jack and took his ore away. The three of them left you and Bleyer guarding Jack. What did you do with him?"

"It's a hairy lie. I didn't stay with Bleyer to guard him."

"That's right, you didn't. You came back with the others. But you know what Bleyer did? Out with it!"

"He didn't admit a word of what you say," said Verlinder doggedly.

Colter had trapped him into a half admission, but he did not intend to say any more.

Moya spoke a little timidly.
"Wait a minute, please, Mr. Colter.
I think he'll tell me what you want to know."

Jack's friend looked at her with sharp suspicion. Was she trying to make a dupe of him? Her candid glance denied it.

"All right. Talk to him all you like,
but don't let your talking here be agreed curly before he turns on his heel and walked away a few steps."

"You must tell him what he wants to know, Mr. Verlinder," urged the young woman in a low voice. "Something has happened to his friend. We must help clear it up."

"I'm a responsible person for what has happened to his friend. What do you want me to do? Peach on Bleyer, is that it?"

"No. Send for him and tell Mr.
Colter the truth."

"He's not here. He's gone to the first," he replied doggedly.

"If you don't, I'll tell what I know.
There's a life at stake," Moya cried.
A trace of agitation in her voice.

"Fiddsticks!" he shrugged. "The fellow's full of tricks. He worked one on us the other night. I'm hanged
if I let him play me again."

"You're a responsible person. Tell Captain Kilmeny and Lord Farquhar. I'll not let it rest this way. The matter is serious."

REPORTS OF RAIN GIVE WHEAT PRICES SETBACK

Improved Conditions in Canada and Big Deliveries of July Contracts at Winnipeg Bear Grain Markets.

CHICAGO, July 18 (AP)—Wheat undervalued and decided setback in price to follow, owing largely to reports of drenching rains over part of the Canadian northwest and also as a result of big deliveries of July contracts at Winnipeg. Closing prices here for wheat were unsettled 4 to 4 1/2c net lower, September $1.24 1/2 to 1.25 1/2, with corn 1 1/2c to 3 1/2c down, oats 1 1/2c to 1 1/4c off and provisions varying from unchanged figures to 1 1/2c decline.

General selling took place in the wheat market right from the outset. A prevalent opinion was that such proportion of the Canadian crop as had been planted late would receive benefit from the rainfall, even though a great deal of other wheat was beyond aid. Additional selling was influenced by lower quotations at Liverpool and by assertions that purchasing had been overdone and that a reaction was due. Besides, the heavy profit-taking sales during a three-day continuous advance had apparently filled up the demand for all lots in the market.

Lowest prices of the day in the wheat market were reached just before trading ended and were hand in hand with news that deliveries at Winnipeg totaled 1,000,000 bushels. Furthermore, crop estimates from Canadian sources were construed as bearing in relation to recent estimates from Chicago export.

The fact that southwestern domestic markets were receiving good amounts of wheat on consignments, acted too, as something of a weight on values. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat weakness despite unfavorable weather for corn growth. Oats were steady and somewhat higher, supported by an advance in interest here. Provisions went lower with grain notwithstanding an upturn in hog values.

NEW YORK, July 18 (AP)—Wall street today witnessed an old-fashioned railroad market during which 34 carrier stocks advanced to new high prices for the year on buying inspired by the interstate commerce commission's refusal to reduce the freight rates on grain.

Total transaction volume was approximately one and a quarter million shares, making it one of the most active sessions this year.

The buying movement in the rails embraced both the high grade and non-dividend paying shares.

Among the issues to break through their previous high levels, were New York Central, Atchafalaya, Illinois Central, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Chicago & North Western, all three Rock Island issues, Atlantic Coast Line and "Big Four," the last named jumping six and one-half points on a few sales.

Copper shares also gave a good demonstration of group strength, seven issues in that group attaining new peak prices, although the net gains as a rule were small. Buying of these issues was stimulated by reports that several European countries were planning the extensive coinage of silver, which has steadily been appreciating in value for weeks.

Outside the rail and copper groups there was largely a specialty market with the best gains recorded by such issues as General Electric, American Gas and Foundry, Adams Express, Advance Rumely, Johnson, Cuyamoc Fruit, Davidson Chemical, Goodyear, Tire, Grover, Lima Locomotive, Savage Arms, Texas Gulf and Sulphur, and United Fruit, all up one to five points and many at new top prices for the year.

Poor operations were vigorously conducted in several sections of the market being aided by the unusually large sums of money available for investment and speculative purposes. Considerable significance was attached to the fact that loans up to seven months were available at 3 1/2 per cent, prior loans at that rate being limited to six months maturities.

Call money again ruled at 2 per cent, although large loans were reported to be available in the outside market at low as 3 1/4 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange trading continued quiet pending further developments at the reparations conference in London. Demand sterling and French franc

INFORMATION ON MARKETS TO BE GIVEN GROWERS

Meeting of Advisory Board at Salt Lake Does Good Work; DeLong Tells of Plans for Quicker Reports.

Arrangements are now being perfected whereby potato growers in the Twin Falls section may get market information 48 hours sooner than they have been able to heretofore. It was announced Friday evening by Carl DeLong, manager of the Hoyle Commission company, who returned Friday from a conference of shippers, producers and railroad representatives at Salt Lake who are members of the Western regional advisory board of the American Railway association.

Plans were made at this conference, said Mr. DeLong, who is a member of the board, to speed the production of the valuable market information at the earliest possible moment and at a time when it would do him the greatest amount of good. Further good news was brought back by Mr. DeLong, who declared that it now looks as if efforts to get the tariff provisions relating to government and commercial potatoes before they went into effect July 24.

Predicts Movements Failure.

Under this ruling there was added from 5 to 10 per cent to the cost of moving potatoes out of the Twin Falls section, which was discriminatory to Idaho spuds was started by a firm in Colorado. However it was brought out at the conference where the matter was taken up that a majority of the dealers in Colorado did not want it and, Mr. DeLong said, it looks very much now as if it would be killed before it went into effect.

Five states belong to the western regional advisory board, according to Mr. DeLong. They are Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho. The organization is a co-operative body representing growers, shippers and the railroads and consisting of representatives of the various states. At the Salt Lake meeting there were approximately 75 representatives of railroads present and a like number of growers and shippers. Railroads represented were the Oregon Short Line, Union Pacific, O. W. R. and N. Southern Pacific, Burlington, Rock Island, Missouri Pacific, Great Northern, Pacific, D. & R. G. and the Western Pacific.

It was decided that the next meeting of the board should be held about the middle of November in Wyoming. There are 12 regional advisory boards in the United States each made up of members similar to those in the western one.

MEXICAN DOPE IS FOUND IN HOUSE

Search for Burglar Who Entered Laundry Leads to Find; Mexican in Jail.

Several hundred dollars in marijuana, a Mexican narcotic, was found early Friday in a vacant house near the hall park by Chief of Police P. O. Herlihan and Deputy Sheriff E. P. Prater while looking for a Mexican who Friday morning shortly after a 6 o'clock theft of several bundles of laundry from the Twin Falls steam laundry. The "dope," smoked chiefly by Mexicans and said to affect the smoker to such an extent that they go temporarily and dangerously insane, was confiscated and taken to the police station where it will be held and later used as evidence against the owner.

In addition to confiscating the marijuana, a half a grain of salt, a small suitcase full and several dozen cans ready to smoke, the officers about noon arrested Jose Morales, who is in the connection with the stolen laundry. Morales fits the description of a Mexican who, the fireman at the laundry said, he saw leaving the vicinity of the laundry Friday morning with several bundles under his arm.

He was arrested as he started across the street near pool hall on South Main street by the officers, who were pushing in a car. Several freshly laundered handkerchiefs, a shirt he was wearing and several other pieces of wearing apparel he had on were taken. Offered by the laundry owner as part of the missing articles.

Letters of inquiry a few days ago mailed by Chief of Police Herlihan concerning the "dope" were answered by the federal narcotic agent in charge at Seattle who declared that marijuana is made from a plant which grows in several states of the northwest and near the Mexican border. The product is similar to hashish and is used to a great extent by Mexicans and other nationalities in the western states. A great many of the crimes committed in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas by Mexicans is caused through smoking the preparation, says the agent.

LABOR CONDITION GIVEN IN REPORT

Federal Bulletin Places Idaho in Good Light This Summer; Some Building Going on.

Conditions in general in Idaho this summer are good with considerable building being carried on. As the federal bulletin, just released by the United States department of labor, which James J. Davis is secretary. Decreased operations in logging camps and curtailed harvesting in the railroad shops are reported, says the bulletin, resulting in a surplus of labor which is being relieved through the migration into the harvest fields of Kansas and adjoining states of those thrown out of work.

The bulletin follows: "Increased employment activity is noted in seasonal agricultural pursuits, municipal improvements, and highway construction. Decreased operations in logging and in the railroad shops are reported and a surplus of labor exists, many of whom are migrating to the harvest fields in the wheat belt of Kansas and adjoining states. Hay and other seasonal harvest work is providing employment to many field workers. Building and general construction activity is maintained at a moderate level. A new building at Lewiston, a grandstand addition at Twin Falls county fair grounds, a new railroad station house at Emmet, and a $500,000 building program at St. Maries."

Treatment Plant

"A new copper ore treatment plant is being located at Mackay. There is a sufficient supply of building tradesmen in higher construction improvement work under way in many of the cities and towns is providing employment to great numbers of unskilled workers. A four additional contracts for highway construction were let during the past 30 days and several more will be awarded immediately, affording increased employment to this class of workers."

"Many of the lumber mills have recently reduced operations from two shifts to one; this condition is capable of absorbing a considerable number of unskilled lumber men released will find immediate employment in harvesting at the termination of which the lumber companies begin to lay off men. Railway shop employment continues on a reduced and part-time basis."

Boise's Condition.

"Boise—Seasonal employment, principally in highway construction and agricultural pursuits considerably increased during June, but more than sufficient labor for this work is available, due to the influx of unskilled workers of transient workers from California and of temporarily released workers from the logging camps in the northern section of the state. The unskilled labor force is quite well employed, but a surplus of common labor exists. All industrial plants are working steadily."

"Pocatello—Activity in agriculture, manufacturing and building and general construction work continues, affording practically all resident labor steady employment, the only exception being railway shops, which are running on a part-time and curtailed basis. There exists a moderate surplus of transient common labor from the logging camps, of whom are migrating to the wheat belt for employment in the seasonal harvesting. Manufacturing plants continue running full time and a new cheese plant has recently begun operations. Building continues active and includes approximately 300 new residences, several hotels, homes, administrative buildings of the Idaho Technical institute, and building tradesmen are well employed. A large program of municipal improvements is under way, including the laying of street paving the laying of 20,000 feet of water mains, and installation of a sewerage system. Work in this connection is providing employment to a great number of the city's unskilled labor."

FRENCH AVIATORS SET NEW DURATION RECORD

Coupet and Drouhin Remain in Flight Almost 38 Hours; Better Americans' Mark Set in 1923.

CHATELAIN, France, July 18 (AP)—The airplane duration record of 37 hours, 15 minutes and 48.8 seconds made by Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. J. P. Richter, U. S. A., in 1923, was broken Thursday by French aviators Coupet and Drouhin in a flight which lasted 37 hours, 59 minutes, 10 seconds.

Coupet and Drouhin started at 5:02 p. m. Wednesday in an effort to break the record for duration of flight and distance without receiving supplies. The purpose of Smith and Richter was refueled in the air during their record-breaking flight. When the Frenchmen left the ground, it was estimated that they had sufficient gasoline to fly for 40 hours.

When they landed there was to the tank sufficient fuel for 8 hours more of flying. A heavy storm Wednesday forced the aviators to abandon the 100-kilometer course that had been arranged for them in order to try for the distance record, when the storm broke. Then the engines continued their flight with engines slowed down, at a height of about 100 meters over Chatelain, in the hope of making a duration record. They were still going well at 7 o'clock Thursday evening, but the weather again having become bad, they decided to come down.

SEATTLE, July 18 (AP)—A complaint charging conspiracy in restraint of trade and alleged unfair price fixing, was filed here today in federal court against twenty prominent commission men in the Produce Association, by Cornelius Hughes, special assistant to the United States attorney general.

Tech action asks an injunction declaring the Seattle Produce association illegal, dissolving it, and enjoining the defendants from forming any other association of similar character. It also asks that members of the association be restrained from fixing prices to be paid and charged for produce; from fixing terms, conditions and policies with respect to prices, purchases and sales of produce, or agreeing to exclude small competitors from engaging in the buying or selling of produce.
