Persian Government Promises Punishment of Slayers of Vice Consul in Teheran; Four Native Defenders Slain.

TEHERAN, Persia, July 19 (AP)—Vice Consul Robert Imbrie, of the United States, who died yesterday after he had been beaten by a fanatical mob as he and an American named Melia Seymour, were photographing a sacred fountain, was buried today, the entire diplomatic corps attending the funeral.

The tragedy yesterday was the culmination of recent anti-foreign and particularly anti-British activity which had been evidenced in the native press and elsewhere and which the government appears unable to check owing to the lack of laws controlling such activities of the press.

The fountain where Imbrie was beaten, and where Seymour, employed as a drifter, suffered serious injuries at the hands of the crowd, is supposed by the natives of the city to have been the scene a few days ago of a miracle and ever since huge crowds have been making pilgrimages to it.

PERSIA VOICES DEEP REGRET; PROMISES TO PUNISH SLAYERS

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—In statements were received by the Persian legation from its government to night to express to the Washington government its deep regret over the killing of Vice Consul Robert Imbrie by a native mob at Teheran and to state that the Persian government was in "all its power to fulfill its duties in this case."

The Persian government, it was added, is seeking "the guilty persons in the case and will take all possible steps to secure their punishment."

At the same time, the cable to the legation was said to indicate that the attack on Imbrie and his companion Melia Seymour, was provoked by their own carelessness in going to a sacred place and "persisting in taking pictures."

The police and soldiers which went to their assistance, it was added, were attacked by the mob, three policemen being mortally wounded and a soldier dying a few hours later of injuries received.

The instructions were received at the legation while American government officials were awaiting further advice from Joseph B. Kornfield, its minister at Teheran, concerning the case, through investigation, the being made, it is stated, but that there was no disposition on the part of the Washington government to attempt to fix the responsibility for the murder either on the Persian government or Teheran authorities.

Inventor Asserts
Death Rays Power
To Destroy Cities

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Zealously guarding the secret of his invention known internationally as the "death ray," Dr. Nikola Tesla, the English inventor, arrived today. He denied that he had come to the United States to interest the government or any one else in his invention.

He said the term "death ray" was a misnomer. He said it was really an "electric beam," and that he had never called it anything else.

The inventor declared that the ray could, if properly developed, "destroy a city like New York. He also said it could 'paralyze' whole armies."

"At present," he said, "my ray operates upon half a kilowatt. I am now developing a machine in England that will operate on 20 kilowatts. In the course of six or eight months I shall have a ray that could work great destruction."

He declared that four or five nations had offered large sums for the invention, but that upon its perfection, it would be offered to Great Britain and the United States.

He said his claim that the ray could "paralyze" armies was based upon experiments in which it "killed one mouse and four rats."

The woodmen, thoroughly at ease in their environment, are expected to lend a color to the scenes not ordinarily obtainable.

FOREST FIRES'
FURY SUBSIDING

Situation in California Materially Better; Only Tahoe Blaze Reported Spreading.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19 (AP)—The forest fire situation in California improved materially today, the Tahoe national forest supervisor being the only one to report the flames were spreading. Elsewhere the fires were reported under control or surrounded by the fire fighters.

The Tahoe blaze burned its way into the Eldorado national forest and attacked a mature stand of timber. Although the fire is still burning in the Shasta national forest it is not considered a menace.

Colonel Albert Von B. Anderson, chief of staff of the Ninth corps army area headquarters, personally offered at Sacramento the army's service to Governor Richardson in fighting the fire in the state forest lands. The governor refused the offer, saying there was no necessity for calling on federal troops.

Smoke from California fires delayed the arrival of the Ninth corps army today as the pilots are forced to fly at an altitude of 15,000 instead of the usual 10,000 foot level. They also are unable to see the ground for miles, they reported, because of smoke.

N. Gerry, of the geological survey. The value of the output in 1923 was $26,510,524, an increase from $18,031,555 in 1922. YOUNG SLAYERS
TO SEEK LATER
DATE FOR TRIAL

Defense Indicates No Objections Will be Made to Holding Hearing of Leopold and Loeb in Cook County.

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—No change of venue from Cook county will be requested but a continuance of a month may be asked in the trial of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, millionaire's sons who they kidnapped and killed Robert Franks, a neighbor, for excitement, the attorneys for the accused youths indicated today after a conference with their chief counsel.

Preliminary motions will be heard on Monday. The trial is set to open August 1. If a continuance is asked, attorneys said, it will be for about thirty days.

Secrecy Surrounds Moves

Preparations for the trial were being rounded into shape under the greatest secrecy by both the defense and the state. Rumors of some sort of surprise move on the defense on Monday were circulated today but attorneys refused to comment on the reports. The hands of the defense, they indicated, might be a plea of compound insanity, that the youths alone were incapable of crime, but that together, their mental processes were such as to make them dangerous.

It has already been ruled that boys and girls will not be admitted to the trial. Out of town writers are already arriving here to cover the proceedings.

Lawyers tonight in discussing the probable result of Monday's hearing said the next move is naturally up to the defense and that there are 12 motions the defense attorneys are likely to consider in the coming week.

1. A motion to quash the indictment charging kidnapping for ransom and murder; this is likely a matter of record.

2. Motion to demand the state to furnish a full list of its witnesses, also to furnish a list of its counsel.

3. Motion for a continuance, which defense attorneys are considering.

4. Motion for a special jury hearing preliminary to the trial.

5. Motion for a change of venue from the court of justice of John R. Fawcett of the criminal court to another court in Cook county.

6. Motion for a change of venue to a court in another county.

Hits at Confessions

7. Motion to exclude certain evidence on the ground that it is illegally obtained. This might refer to the boys' confessions, lawyers said.

8. Motion for a severance of the trials of the two.

9. Motion to take the case out of Illinois jurisdiction and compel the state to prove venue on the ground that the Franks boy may have been brought in the state of Indiana and his body brought to Cook county.

10. Motion for an immediate trial.

11. Motion to admit the accused to bail.

12. Plead the boys guilty as charged.

A newspaper conducting a canvass of its readers on a proposal to radio broadcast the trial, announced that of 8,137 opinions received, 4,774 were against the proposition.

OKLAHOMA MINE
DISTRICT QUIET

Workers Stay Away From Coal Diggings From Which They Were Evicted by Miners.

MALESTER, Okla., July 19 (AP)—Conflicting reports of a bloodless conflict between union and non-union coal miners yesterday, rested quietly today without any signs of work about the Kali-Iowa mine where 175 non-union employees were driven away by an invading force of armed miners.

Some of the men who left their jobs said they were threatened with death should they return for the mine under existing conditions.

The mine remained closed today. The invading body, numbering over 100 men, last night sent word to Wilburton, an other mining town, that they would raid the Little mine of the Halley-Ohio Coal company today in the same manner as the threat had not carried out. The mine was under heavy guard all day.

Work went on as usual. Guards also were thrown about the Deagan and McConnell mine at Wilburton, which also was reported to have been threatened last night.

Telegraph Manager Credited With Completing One of Few Sand Mosaics in World.

IDAHO FALLS, July 19 (AP)—What is believed to be one of the very few specimens of sand mosaic in the world, a picture made by the intricate arrangement of grains of colored sand, has just been completed here by W. S. O'Brien, local manager for a telegraph company.

The work, which is a picture of Abraham Lincoln, and a study of his which has since become famous, is contained in a large wide-mouthed bottle, which filled with sand presents the picture on the inside surface of the glass.

Fifty-two different kinds of sand are used in the making of the picture, most of which come from the pictured rock at Mt. Proctor, Iowa, one kind of sand used is pure white and is secured from the Berkshire hills of Massachusetts.

It required three months to complete the work, which O'Brien expects to present to President Coolidge, or some other national personage, he said.

RAID EAGLES' CLUB ROOM

Council Bluffs Police Arrest State Lodge Officer and Former Mayor on Gambling Charges.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, July 19 (AP)—Fourteen business and professional men including state lodge officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and Lon Zurnuchel, twice Democratic mayor of Council Bluffs, but defeated in the last election, are under arrest tonight as the result of a raid on the Eagles' club rooms here this afternoon.

The raid was made by Chief of Detectives Tom Callahan. Disorderly dances were placed against all those arrested who have given their liberty under $25 bonds. The officers alleged the men were gambling, playing cards, and an ancient roulette wheel were confiscated. Devere Watson, grand state conductor of the Eagles, and deputy county auditor, was among those arrested.

With this agreement, in the opinion of the American, British and French delegates, a long step has been taken toward the success of the conference, upon which such high hopes have been raised for the economic restoration of Europe.

At the opening of the conference Wednesday, it was generally recognized that the proposed loan to Germany was the crux of the Dawes plan, and after only four days' deliberation it was possible for the committee to agree that in any contingency, including default and resultant sanctions, the holders of the loan should have priority claim to the assets of Germany. With this in coupled an agreement that the protocol to make the conference action effective shall reserve all the rights enjoyed at present by these countries, which signed the treaty of Versailles.

France hailed the latter decision as a distinct victory for her and takes it to mean that she still has the right to separate action should Germany default. Premier Herriot announced his satisfaction with the progress which has been made and his adherents construed this as calculated to silence any charge by his opponents that the premier "bartered away the rights of France under the treaty of Versailles."

The American and British delegates shared in the French enthusiasm over the fact that unanimous agreement has carried the work of the conference so far forward, although they do not share all the inferences France is ready to draw from today's understanding.

American Gets Credit

Once again, the American expert who is credited with the inspiration of the loan, guaranteed, although it actually was proposed to the committee by Count de Peretti di Rocca of Italy, told the Associated Press tonight that in his opinion it offered sufficient safeguards to investors to insure their loans successful flotation, and that the fear of the possibility of separate French action against Germany would not endanger the investors' guarantees.

The Americans and British did not concede that the document agreed upon today empowers separate action by the United States, but they said that the MacDonald government, not any previous government, or any considerable section of public opinion has even recognized the legality under the treaty of Versailles, of the present occupation of the Ruhr.

Hughes Reaches London

On all sides tonight, but especially among the French delegation, there was a disposition to concede that the United States played an important, although unofficial, part in the negotiations out of which it is hoped to launch the Dawes plan.

The American secretary of state, Charles E. Hughes, reached London before news of the agreement was announced. Making it plain that he "took no part in the conference" but is here solely as president of the bar association, the secretary said:

"We are greatly interested in the execution of the Dawes plan and hope it will take place as soon as possible; we strongly favor it as a basis for the economic restoration of Europe."

FLOOD MENACES CANTON

Inhabitants of Inland Region in China Forsake Villages and Flee for Safety to Higher Ground.

CANTON, July 19 (AP)—The Chuking overflowed its banks today, flooding a number of Canton streets and causing worry lest the dykes protecting the city from a more serious flood be swept away.

WHEELER GIVES IN TO APPEALS
OF LAFOLLETTE

Montana Senator Becomes Running Mate of Independent Candidate for President; Scores Old Parties.

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—With a declaration that the "uncontrolled liberal and progressive forces must look elsewhere for leadership" than to the republicans or democratic parties, Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, cast his lot today with Robert M. LaFollette, independent candidate for president.

Yielding to the appeal of Senator LaFollette and a group of his supporters, who had offered to endorse him, Mr. Wheeler announced that he would accept the vice-presidential nomination on the LaFollette ticket.

He did so after "deliberating several days ago" while he probably would support LaFollette he was unwilling to become his running mate.

LaFollette Expresses Pleasure

Senator Wheeler's decision was announced in a letter to Wm. H. Johnston, chairman of the conference for progressive political action which endorsed Mr. LaFollette's candidacy at its recent Cleveland convention, and head of the group meeting here to map out campaign plans.

It brought from Mr. LaFollette the statement that Mr. Wheeler's acceptance was "a victory to him" as it will be to millions of progressive voters throughout the country.

"Barton K. Wheeler is a man of courage, integrity, ability and patriotism," said LaFollette. "He has never failed or turned back. In the struggle against privilege he has ever been in the front rank of the people's army. To him progressive find a leadership in which they repose complete confidence."

"The recent national convention of the democratic party outraged the sentiments and disappointed the hopes of the rank and file of that party. It left millions of democrats without leadership in their own party. Senator Wheeler has applied this leadership not only for progressive democrats but for the independent citizens unidentified with any political organization."

Not Wall Street Democrat

Senator Wheeler, in his letter to Mr. Johnston reiterated by inference his confidence in the action of supporting the democratic state ticket in Montana and Senator Thomas J. Walsh, his democratic colleague, who is a candidate for reelection.

"In accepting the call," said he, "I do not abandon my faith in the democratic party."

Ross Says Idaho's
Crops Worth More Than Last Year

Pocatello Man Gives Out Optimistic Statement on Return From Trip Over State.

POCATELLO, July 19 (AP)—It is my honest opinion that when all crops are harvested and the final check up is completed this fall it will be found that this year's agricultural crops will have brought more money into Idaho than did those last year," said Mayor C. Don Ross of Pocatello Saturday shortly after his return from seven days spent in various parts of southern and western Idaho.

During the seven days he visited the Weiser, Payette and Boise valley sections in Idaho and the Malheur valley in Oregon, on his return he passed through the Snake River valley.

To cover his distance it was necessary for Mayor Ross to drive every day but one.

"Naturally the farmers are feeling blue right now, but when the harvest is over I am certain they will realize that much of this worry has not been justified."

GIRL USHER IN THEATER FALLS HEIR TO $50,000

Quits Work on Receding Word of Legacy; Says Her First Fortune Will Be a Pair of Silk Stockings.

SPOKANE, July 19 (AP)—Theater usher-one day and heiress to a $50,000 estate the next day was the sudden turn in fortune for Miss Helen Barnett of Spokane, who has been left one-fifth interest in a $500,000 estate of an uncle who died in Virginia.
Miss Barnett declared that the first thing she will do is to buy a pair of silk stockings.
"My goodness, I'm all surprised," she said. "It will take a few days for the good news to sink in. I knew I had relatives in Dixie but I didn't know they had 50 cents, much less $500,000."
The girl had been making her own living here for some time by working as an usher in theaters. She quit her work when informed of her fortune and declared that she expected to be on her way to Virginia soon.

IDAHO MAN SUCCEEDS IN DOMESTICATING MARTEN

RATHDRUM, Idaho, July 19 (AP)—Successful domestication of the marten, a fur-bearing animal closely related to the sable, is claimed to have been accomplished by Lew Aumock, a fur farmer near here, who has been conducting experiments along this line for a number of years. During this spring Mr. Aumock has succeeded in breeding and raising some of the animals in captivity, which he says heretofore has rarely, if ever, been accomplished.
"There have been some martens in captivity," Mr. Aumock said, "but as far as any one knows, there have never been any bred in captivity."
Aumock plans to continue with his experiments with a view toward supplying the fur market with this kind of pet.

Theatre

"THE GUILTY ONE" COMING TO IDAHO THEATRE TOMORROW
A wife who tries to keep her husband by being nice to his business superior, only cheapens him," says Agnes Ayres, featured in Paramount's "The Guilty One," due at the Idaho Theatre tomorrow.

"The Guilty One," she supplements, can be courteous—without fawning—in such a way as to make their motives most apparent. A big business man easily recognizes these attempts to win his good will and while he may mentally catalogue the bravery of the wife, the husband is lowered in his estimation. Every man should fight his own business battles."

The role of a wife of this character is portrayed by Miss Ayres in "The Guilty One," which Joseph Henabry produced. She accepts the polite attention of a man about town to win a big architectural commission for her husband. Their relations are above reproach, but before the affair is concluded there is a murder, and the well-meaning wife finds both her husband and brother accused of the crime.

WYNDAM STANDING

Wyndam Standing, who plays one of the principal roles in "Daytime Wives," to be shown at the Orpheum Monday and Tuesday, has played opposite some of the greatest women stars of the screen, including Miss Pugh, American-Canadian from Chicago, Pauline Frederick, Marion Davies, Madame Olga Petrova and others.

He made a great hit in "Earthbound," in which he enacted the role of the "Earthbound" Man, and scored tremendously with Norma Talmadge in "Smilin' Through."
He recently returned from Europe where he played the leading role in a series of five features produced by the Hollandia Film Co. in Holland.

Standing was born in London, measures six feet one in his gymnasium toga, reads Dickens during his leisure time and has a fondness for handball.

DEFIES DEATH IN "LET'S GO!"

What has been termed the most thrilling picture of its kind ever produced, "Let's Go!" starring Richard Tal madge, the man without fear, starts a two days' engagement at the Rialto Theatre, commencing next Monday.
During the course of production of "Let's Go!" the star, in performing the many death-defying stunts which appear throughout the picture, was the victim of eleven minor accidents and one which laid him up for four weeks, causing the suspension of all work on the production. Richard Tal madge's program in his latest offering included a jump from house-to-house four stories high on Hollywood Boulevard, a dash on a motorcycle twenty feet high in the air and through a twenty-four story shaft; a jump from the fourth street viaduct, Los Angeles, thirty-five feet high, to a box car of a moving train below, where a loose board displaced itself and he painfully sprained his ankle.

CAUSES OWN ARREST BY FURNISHING INFORMATION

County Auditor Obliges Forest Ranger with Name of Car Own or Fined for Leaving Fire.

YAKIMA, Wash., July 19 (AP)—Information that caused his own arrest was given by Y. O. Fleming, deputy county auditor, to a forest ranger here recently when the ranger came in from his forest station and went to the courthouse seeking to find who owned an automobile bearing a certain license number.

"Sorry to bother you," the ranger said, as Fleming looked through the records for the number.
"No trouble, I am here to give you service," Fleming answered. Suddenly he looked up from the book and stammered, "Why, why, that's my car."

A justice of the peace fined Fleming $10 within the next 15 minutes for leaving a fire burning in a forest reserve. The ranger said he had seen the campers drive away leaving a small fire, just in time to get the license number.

TRACES POISON TO OLIVES

Doctors Report Death of Four Persons at Wyoming Resort Caused by Botulism.

DENVER, July 19 (AP)—Sim Leeb, state food and drug inspector, today received a report from Dr. H. M. Silles and Lewis Chernoff, on their investigations conducted into the death of four persons at Aldrich lodge, a resort near Cody, Wyo., a few weeks ago from botulism poisoning. In the report the cause of their death was traced directly to imported ripe olives eaten by them a few days prior to their deaths, and which were purchased in Denver.

Olives out of the quantity purchased for the persons who died as a result of the poisoning were fed to mice and guinea pigs by the two physicians. Within 24 hours, one of the mice was dead and the others were near death.

Franklin's Thrift

We hear a great deal of Benjamin Franklin as the great exponent of thrift, remarks the Kansas City Star. Historians recall, however, that the great scientist-statesman was not always thrifty enough. In his refusal to patent his famous stove, he was wasteful of his own—and the public's profit. He wished his idea to be given free to the world, and so did not protect his invention; an Englishman made some changes for the worse in the Franklin fireplace, secured a patent on it, and reaped a fortune from the sales.

An Odd Flag

An unusual color for a flag is found in the new Belgian royal standard, which is purple, with a gold shield in the center surrounded by a crown. The palm for originality probably goes to Trengganu, one of the Federated Malay States, whose national flag is plain black with a white band next the staff and no ornamentation of any sort.

When Forks Were New

The present-day fork, with its four prongs, was not developed until after 1725, and as late as the period of George III the wife of a gentleman in waiting to the king, about 1788, wrote that silver forks were used only by the nobility and foreign ambassadors, and that, since they had but three prongs, the knives were used to eat peas and catch fruit juices. It seems that the use of the dessert spoon was unknown at that time.

The forging of Uruguayan naturalization certificates to enable Europeans to enter the United States as Uruguayans, has been disclosed. Ancestor Worship

THE Chinese pray to their ancestors. But they do more than that. They allow themselves to be guided by family tradition in their every thought and action. The principal difficulty facing the introduction of modern improvements into China is the universal objection: "This is not as our fathers did."

Imagine saying that we did not want electricity because our forefathers were satisfied with candles.

Though we never went as far as the Chinese, our conservatism in the part often went to considerable lengths. Think of the telephone, of the motor car. How much encouragement did they get at first?

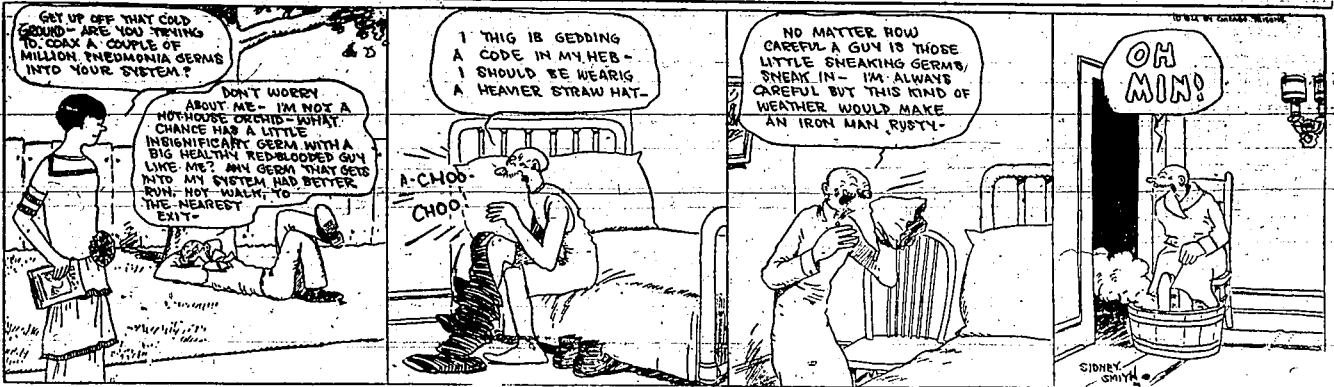

Advertising today is as necessary as electricity, a nation willing to judge something new on its merits, rather than on narrow, ancient traditions.

Advertising today is an necessary as electricity, sanitation and rapid transit. It is more than the system by which we are kept informed of every new improvement that is to our advantage. It is the catalog wherein, every day, all manner of articles are listed for us with their individual advantages.

Read the advertisements. Be guided by them. They will help you in making your selections. They will save you money.

To buy the new is to progress—to learn of it first is to read advertising.

THE GUMPS—A SPOONFUL AFTER EACH MEAL

ENDOWMENT FOR NEGRO SCHOOL

Fisk University of Nashville
First Institution of Its Kind to Establish Fund.

NASHVILLE, July 19 (AP)—Completion of the first $1,000,000 endowment fund ever to be established at a college for negroes was announced today by Dr. Payette Avery McKenzie, president of Fisk university, which began its career in an army barracks in Nashville procured by General Clinton H. Fisk in January, 1866.

This fund has been made possible by matching a conditional offer of $500,000 from the general education board of New York, which gave $250,000, the John F. Slater fund of Charlottesville, Va., the J. C. Penney foundation of New York, and prominent individuals in New York—Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland and Boston.

Anticipating the successful completion of the $1,000,000 endowment fund, the citizens of Nashville organized this spring to raise a supplementary fund of $50,000 for Fisk. This is the first time that any such sum has been contributed by any southern city for any type of negro education. Among the leaders in this local campaign are bankers, business men, educators and clergymen.

The endowment fund, the income of which is to be applied exclusively to teachers' salaries, is described as "a conspicuous recognition of the leadership which Fisk has achieved in meeting the growing need for higher education for the 1,500,000 negroes of the country," by Dr. Payette Avery McKenzie, who is chairman of the board of trustees and whose father was a founder of Fisk and served as its president for 25 years.

Coinciding with his announcement of the $1,000,000 fund, Dr. McKenzie received a letter from the Rev. James A. Myers, leader of the Fisk university jubilee singers, who are now on tour abroad. Mr. Myers writes that a special concert has been arranged at Lady Astor's home, and that the king and queen are expected to be present. Fifty years ago the original group of Fisk university jubilee singers sang before Queen Victoria and the court circles of Europe.

FAMOUS DENVER PUBLISHER DIES

H. H. Tammen, Colorado Pioneer and Millionaire Newspaper Owner, Called by Death.

DENVER, July 19 (AP)—Funeral services for Henry H. Tammen, Colorado pioneer and millionaire newspaper publisher, who died here early today, will be held from the Tammen residence Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services will be open to the public.

Active pallbearers will be selected from the staff of Mr. Tammen's newspaper, the Denver Post, and from the personnel of the H. H. Tammen company. The Rev. Charles Marshall, former rector of St. Barbara church, Rabbi Friedman, of Temple Emanuel, and Father P. T. Malone, will participate in conducting the last rites.

Mr. Tammen is survived by a widow, Agnes Reed Tammen, a brother, Frank Tammen, of Denver, and a sister, Mrs. J. K. Clark, of New York, who is on route from California where she was when word of her brother's death reached her.

The spectacular rise of Mr. Tammen in the ranks of wealthy men dates from 1892, when he associated himself with F. G. Bonfile in publishing the Denver Post. Through the publication of the newspaper, and other private ventures, Mr. Tammen became one of Denver's wealthiest men and his fortune is conservatively mentioned at between five and eight million dollars.

Messages of condolence from men prominent in public and private life, have poured into the Tammen home today in a steady stream. Mr. and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, of Chicago, have announced their intention of being here for the funeral.

Mr. Tammen waged a losing battle for health, although always cheerful, for more than a year after physicians told him he was the victim of an incurable malady, and had but a few months to live. Death came suddenly and painlessly to him at 4:57 this morning after a short relapse, following his return from Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, several days ago. He was born in Baltimore, Md., March 5, 1856.

By a remarkable coincidence two of the most prominent figures in the struggle of the American colonists for independence, and later Presidents of the United States, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, died July 4, 1826, the fiftieth anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, of which they were signers. Adams died at Quincy, Mass., in his ninety-first year; while Jefferson died at Monticello, Albemarle county, Va., in his eighty-third year.

FANATICAL MOB KILLS AMERICAN VICE CONSUL

Mollie Seymour as a "prisoner in the consulate" was regarded by officials as presenting no unusual feature, as he was understood to have been tried by the United States consular court in Persia for alleged mistreatment of native workmen engaged in oil development projects in which he was interested.

Under the extra-territoriality court system set up by agreement between the United States and Persian governments, Americans are tried by American courts in Persia, rather than by native tribunals and this policy is followed whenever trouble develops between Americans and natives in that country. Such a trial was reported to have been held for Mr. Seymour, the sentence of the court being a year's confinement in the consulate.

GIRL SWIMMERS SET NEW MARKS IN TWO EVENTS

American Women Win Elimination Heats in Olympic Competition; Tennis Entrants Get Into Finals.

LES TOURELLES, France, July 19.—Two world's records went tumbling today when the American women swimmers, winning in the 100 meters free style semi-finals and in the 100 meters back stroke elimination heats in the Olympic competition, set new marks in a class by themselves.

Miss Mariellen Wolgast, of Honolulu, tonight holds the record in the 100 meters, with one minute 12.5 seconds, while Miss Sybil Bauer, Illinois A. C., accounted for the 100 meters backstroke record, setting it at one minute 24 seconds flat.

The graceful American divers, Elizabeth Becher, Caroline Smith and Helen Mundy, all qualified in the plain high diving contest and helped to make the second to last day of the Olympic swimming tournament another real triumph for the United States.

The men members of the American team, while they did not shine with the brilliance of their feminine counterparts, gave a good account of themselves. Johnny Weissmuller did his daily work with customary usefulness, just swimming fast enough to keep ahead of all opposition in the 100 meter free style. Duke and Sam Kahanamoku also won the honor of representing the United States in the final of this event tomorrow.

AMERICAN WOMEN WIN FROM BRITISH TENNIS STARS
OLYMPIC STADIUM, COLOMBES, FRANCE, July 19 (AP)—The United States won the first of the finals for the Olympic tennis championships this afternoon when Miss Helen Wills and Mrs. George Whitman defeated Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. C. Cowell, Great Britain, 7-5, 8-6.

Members of the American Olympic team will be on one side of the tennis courts in the final of the three other principal championships, the men's singles, women's singles and men's doubles, and there is a further possibility that the Stars and Stripes may flutter from the side of the score board when the fifth and last event, mixed doubles, is concluded tonight.

Vincent Richards, who will meet on the French court, tomorrow for the foremost of all five titles to be won on the Olympic courts, that of singles champion, has also reached the finals in the men's doubles. He and his partner, Francis T. Hunter today vanquished the slim and fleet footed French team, Borotra and La Coste, in five sets of fast thrilling play. The score was 6-2, 6-3, 6-6, 5-7, 6-3.

Their opponents will be another Gallic pair, Brugnon and Cochet, who greatly pleased their countrymen today by defeating the South African, Godson and Richardson, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5, 10-8.

Richards has an opportunity to carry the triple title away from Colombes. Not only has he reached the finals in both singles and doubles, but, paired with Mrs. Jessup, he is still in the running at mixed doubles championship.

FOUR AMERICAN BOXERS QUALIFY FOR FINAL ROUNDS

PARIS, July 19 (AP)—The United States enters the Olympic boxing final tomorrow eve with only four contestants—Fidel Labarra-Los Angeles A. C. in the flyweight division; E. Tripoli, Yonkers, N. Y., in the bantamweight; Jack Fields and Joe Salas, both Los Angeles A. C., in the feather weight class.

If the United States wins all of these bouts she should clinch the championship, thanks to the elimination of Porzio, of Argentina, by Ven Porat of Norway in the heavyweight.

DRY FORCES INTENSIFY WAR ON RUM RUNNING

Increased Coast Guard Facilities and Enlarged Personnel to be Brought to Bear Against Offenders.

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—With new facilities at its command the department of justice is preparing to redouble its efforts to combat rum running.

"With the increased personnel and additional facilities granted to the coast guard by the last congress," said a justice department statement today, "the government intends to take vigorous steps to control the rum running smuggling traffic by the force of the revised statutes which prohibit the sale and the possession of all persons connected therewith."

"Prosecutions will be instituted under the national prohibition act, the tariff act, and the smuggling provisions of the revised statutes under the extended jurisdiction permitted by the recent treaty with Great Britain."

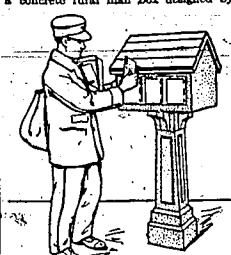

Arthur W. Henderson of Pittsburgh has been appointed a special assistant to the attorney general to aid in the prosecution of rum runners. Mr. Henderson is handling smuggling cases.

Hundred Miles an Hour Birds Fly Day without Stop

Flying at a rate of a hundred miles an hour, some birds can continue on the wing for a day without stopping. The vulture, it is said, can travel great distances at this speed and often stays in the air for a full day of flight. Many wild ducks and similar birds also make great speeds when migrating, while among smaller birds, the swallow has been known to reach ninety miles an hour and to keep up that record for long stretches.

The eagle, despite its strength and big wings, seldom flies as fast as a mile a minute. The crow, though seeming to be a slow mover in flight, makes about twenty-five miles an hour, and the carrier pigeon does an average of sixty miles in the same time. The tiny sparrow can travel at twenty miles an hour but only for very short distances. The wild goose does an average of about thirty miles an hour, appearing to shorten its pace during the entire time it is flying.

Ornamental Handles for Auto Doors

A number of the lower-priced automobiles have the inside handles of door catches made in a very rough style. The crude appearance of these handles can be improved considerably by dressing them down on an emery wheel or grindstone so that the dust cap used on automobile valve stems will fit over them snugly.

Ten Dozen Pies from One Pumpkin

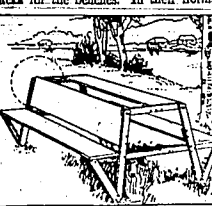

One plump pumpkin, grown in a California field, furnished joy for scores of inmates in an old people's home not long ago when it was presented to them and used to 125 pies for a dinner. More than sixty pounds of "meat" was extracted from the pumpkin, which weighed nearly ninety pounds as picked from the vine.

Combination Camp Table and Bench

The combination camp table and bench shown in the drawing is easily made and is more useful than the ordinary table, as the top consists of two boards which can be swung over to form backs for the benches. In their normal position on the table these two boards rest on pins or cleats fastened to the inside of the upper crosspieces; they pivot at both ends on long bolts passing through the brace, crosspiece and into the board. Both sides of the boards should be smooth, as one side is used as a back rest and the other as the table top.

Removing Stuck Bullets

A lead bullet stuck in a rifle barrel can be easily removed in the following way: Get a piece of wire of the kind and size used for barrel hoops and long enough to reach the bullet from the chamber end of the barrel. Flatten one end of the wire by hammering it out into a flat surface. Then insert the wire into the barrel and the edge sharp, running off the corners to fit the bore. If a breast drill is handy the wire is tightened in the chuck and the bullet drilled out. If a carpenter's brace is used it is necessary first to flatten the end of the wire to fit the chuck. The lead is very soft so it is a matter of only a few moments to drill out the bullet. The rifle should be thoroughly cleaned and oiled before firing a loaded cartridge ency of Thomas Jefferson. I am a democrat but not a Wall street democrat. I shall give my support, and whatever influence I may possess to those candidates for office who have proved their ability to take the interests of the people wherever they may be found, but I shall oppose every man on whatever ticket he may appear who bears the brand of the dollar sign."

At today's session the LaFollette supporters, all of whom are members of the national committee of the union for progressive politics action, declared that the campaign should be managed by a joint executive committee to be composed of eleven members, representing the conference and the LaFollette-For-President committee, at present headed by Mr. Nelson.

Gunning for Congressmen
The committee approved the plan to maintain national headquarters in Chicago, and decided to appoint a managing director with offices also in Chicago with a view to coordinating campaign activities.

Decision was also reached to give special attention to the election to congress of genuine progressives and the defeat of notorious reactionaries, and to secure congress as speedily as possible in every state for the purpose of placing electors pledged to LaFollette and Wheeler on the ballot and to effect state campaign organizations.

The Ultramicroscope

There is an instrument called the ultramicroscope which makes visible to the eye particles much smaller than can be seen with the microscope. It does this not by magnification but by very bright illumination. The bodies are seen only as bright specks. It is claimed that some of the largest molecules can be seen separately by this method. These molecules contain a large number of atoms, a hundred or so. From the motions of these ultramicroscopic particles their masses can be estimated.

I Spent

Fortunes to win beauty

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My mother was rich and ambitious. From my earliest years she urged me to enhance by beauty. She gave me her methods and formulas. Then she took me to a "world-search" for the answer, beauty, health.

Most people know the results. I became a famous beauty.

And for many years I remained in the prime. And now, after 40 years in the limelight, I still play a beauty's part. I still look a girl of 19.

Since then I have made many trips to France. I have consulted noted experts everywhere. I have spent fortunes to find the latest discoveries.

But I know have the greatest secret that I have in existence. And certainly my results seem to prove that.

I have been induced to place these facts before the public. I am a beauty and a health expert. I am a beauty and a health expert.

One is a liquid cleanser which I call my Facial Youth. Lucie Lantieri, the famous Parisian beauty, told me what it did. Now leading beauty experts are using it, and they are giving this great formula.

It contains no animal, no vegetable fat, no wax, no vegetable oil. It cannot be washed in any way with the skin. So it cleans to the very depths of the pores. All the grime, dead skin and clogging matter come out with it. A woman never knows what a clean skin means until she tries this Facial Youth.

Admission Charge Lowered for Game With Eastern Team

Qosgriff Seeks to Swell Attendance With Low Price; Schedule Arranged for Three Weeks of Play.

Reduced admission charges for the second game of the Twin Falls Blues-American Falls series is the alluring offer held out by Manager Qosgriff to the timid spectators of the contests who occupy the tops of box cars and the new built being platform near the park.

Admission to all seats for today's game in the local baseball orchard will be 50 cents according to the local manager, who has all but despaired of ever filling his new grandstand. The game will start at 2:30 p. m.

The Blues' leader expressed his opinion Saturday when he said, "We won't be surprised if the stands aren't filled; they never have been, but we're giving the fans a chance to see a real ball game at a reasonable price and the ball will be there if they don't see the Blues and American Falls tangle Sunday."

Both teams are reported to be in top-notch condition and the Blues, of whom over 50 per cent are college stars, are well known for their pep and can be counted on to give a good account of themselves against anything the visitors can offer.

King, who for the past two weeks has been holding down a garden job, has abdicated in favor of a job with the new railroad out at Rogerson and it is thought that Riles will be once more in his accustomed place in command.

This move will place Osterander in left and Scelley or Watson in the right hand part of the jungle.

A more or less complete schedule of games for the next three weeks is on the Blues' program including a game with Wells, Nev., here July 27, a week from Sunday. A Sunday game at Dubl in August 3 is also arranged for with a return game to be played on the local lot for the following week end. In addition to these games, of course, the regular schedule of Wednesday evening games will be played. The next diamond ball game is scheduled for the local lot at 6:30 p. m.

Ancient Calculating Machine

The ancient means of men possessed an efficient calculating machine in the "quipu." This instrument consists of a knotted cord about sixteen yards long, containing 100 knots. These knots are divided into ten unequal sections by as many silver beads, representing the odd numbers from one to nineteen. The sections are of different colors, which were important factors in the calculating process. The silver beads between the groups represent the even numbers from two to twenty. Calculations involving tens, hundreds and thousands are possible by this device, which was first used by the Chibcha, later by the Incas, and must have been brought to America by Asiatic migrations in ages past.

HULL GIVES UP POST TO SHAVER

Davis Campaign Leader Announces Plans for Headquarters in Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—General headquarters of the democratic national committee during the presidential campaign will be maintained here with other headquarters established at New York and Chicago and regional headquarters set up in as many as four other cities in different sections of the country, it was announced today by Clem L. Shaver, campaign manager for John W. Davis, acting chairman of the democratic national committee.

Designation of Mr. Shaver as committee chairman by Mr. Davis was followed today by the resignation of Cordell Hull, as national chairman, and the announcement that Mr. Shaver would serve as acting chairman until formally elected chairman at the next meeting of the national committee at Clarkburg, W. Va., August 11, in connection with the notification of Mr. Davis of his nomination for the presidency.

In turning over the office to Mr. Shaver, announcement was made by Mr. Hull, who became national chairman after the 1920 campaign, that the organization was free from all financial obligations, it was "ready to function in each essential line from this day forward." Not only has the debt been cleared by the payment of some $225,000 of old obligations, he added, but there is a balance of several thousand dollars on hand.

BRYAN NOTIFICATION DATED

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Announcement was made by the democratic national committee tonight that the date for the notification of Governor Charles W. Bryan of his nomination for the vice presidency had been definitely set for August 18 at 8 p. m. at Lincoln, Neb. The date of notification will be made by Senator Harrison of Mississippi, temporary chairman of the New York convention.

ATHLETIC LEADERSHIP

America leads the world in athletics. The American Olympic team has won the track and field championships for the eighth time in succession.

It is getting to be—monotonous. America always wins.

Why? Perhaps there are many answers. This country has a great population to choose from. Yet there are other countries more populous—Russia, China, India—that accomplish nothing in athletics.

More important is the fact that Americans have a keen and lively interest in physical exercise and sport, which tends to the development and discovery of good athletes. Still more important, perhaps, is the American spirit, which goes into every sort of human competition with a strong determination to win. American physique may be no better than that of many other nations. In fact, there is probably small difference in physique between the various civilized races.

We may be safe in saying that victory in athletics, as in various other fields of human activity, comes to America so regularly, because of an unusual combination of intelligence and will, helped of course by great numbers.

In this year's contest, perhaps numbers alone turned the trick for the United States. Little Finland won second place, with one hundred sixty-six points to America's two hundred fifty-five, and all the rest far behind.

Finland, it may be observed, has the best educational record of all countries—the least illiteracy. Finland evidently has no less intelligence and strength of will than America. It has only a little over three million people—about as many as this country had at the time of the American revolution. Its remarkable showing makes Americans rather humble about their latest victory. Morally, Finland is the real victor.

"HOME-MADE" WAY

It was a brave fight against modern industrialism that was made by Frank Way, alias "Home-Made Way," of Grand Rapids, Michigan, who has just died.

Mr. Way wielded a mechanical age that makes everything by machinery, with a vast, interwoven system of quantity production that makes a million articles all exactly alike and a million men all equal human cogs in the economic machine. So he refused to use store goods. In his little shop he produced all his own manufactured goods. He made all his own clothing, including his hats and shoes. He bought food, but he made his own false teeth to eat it with.

Yes, there is failure in Mr. Way's concession to food grown by others. He had to buy it because he could not raise it himself. Some of the food he needed grew in different climates and soils; and besides, he was so busy making shirts, hats, shoes, cooking utensils, etc., that he had little time for food-production.

It can't be done. This complex industrial age is no accident. It grows not only out of industrial invention and power but out of human nature and human needs. Society is interdependent, and the more society develops and increases, the needs, the more so it becomes. All men together can produce more and better things for each of them than any man can produce by himself, for himself, and they can do it in less time. The personal touch is lost, but comfort and leisure are gained.

Breakfast Food "Matrimonially Speaking"

By Hugh McKay.

My Wife Uses French Words.

It's all right if she wants to pull them on her friends when she's out, but there's no point in airing her accent when we're home alone.

Plain English is just about my speed for domestic conversation. And I could get along for months at a time without hearing a word of French.

I say "I could," as a matter of fact, I don't. But I'm doing my best to break her of this international habit.

I don't even enjoy being called pleasant in French, like "mon chere."

They don't sound good bit better to me than "Hello there, dear!"

And when it comes to "chic" and "petit," all I ask is a good pair of earmuffs.

French clothes and French cooking and French heels are all right—but somebody ought to put a prohibitive duty on French conversation!

Get Loans From "Aunt"

In Paris and other big French cities the pawnbroker is called "my aunt."

It is the story that the government conducts the pawnbroking business. It does it very well, too, if I am to believe the testimony of some Americans who have "traded" with "My Aunt" in France.

It is a story that is being told in America from home. "My Aunt" has had a good year's business. She does little business nowadays with the workingman, for he is always in work. The center of poverty has moved. It is the white-collar brigade which, unable to pay both bills and taxes, has turned to "My Aunt."

Oddly enough, "My Aunt" shop in Paris is on the "Hill of Pity," not a misprint for pity—A. H. L. in World Traveler Magazine.

ANOTHER ZOO VISIT

Billie Browne was delighted when he received another invitation to visit a zoo.

First of all he went to see his most unusual friend the True Sea Snake or Sea Serpent as he was also called.

He wore a handsome suit with black and yellow stripes for decoration. He was very polite and of this he was proud.

He was also proud of his paddles. He was big, but not as big as many snakes. Billie Browne had seen still he was about three feet in length, and Billie Browne thought he looked pretty big, considering too that he was poisonous.

"I had to see you again," he told Billie. "They have given me a nice salt water tank here, and I am quite comfortable."

"We live in the ocean," you know, except the Mother Sea Serpents like to be near the beach when the young are born.

"I think I forgot to tell you upon your last visit that the Cobra Snakes are not so much to be feared as they live on land and we live in the sea."

"You would imagine that was where we lived from our name, wouldn't you?"

And Billie Browne said that he had thought as much. He had heard that every person is better off mentally, morally, socially and financially, for devoting part of his leisure time to the task of keeping physically fit.

Pay to Be Careful

A small boy said that a cat was dangerous without lock, stick or barrel, because his daddy kicked him with the ramrod. Careless men and boys to hurt themselves anywhere, while careful men can do hazardous work all their lives and never get a scratch. The Night Watchman.

Ancient Korean Kilns

Two Korean potters founded the famous Satsuma kilns in the sixteenth century.

his dinner which seemed to Billie Browne a curious thing to do. Still he knew that many snakes did not eat other snakes, and even so did some of the big frogs eat other frogs.

Next he called on the Spike-Tailed lizard. He had seen them on his visit before.

"We are from Africa," they told him. "And we live in holes. We go into our holes head first, which is the sensible way to enter one's home."

"We find our spiky tails keep unwelcome visitors away from us, so we like our tails. Often we think it would be nice for others to have the same way of keeping off those they did not want to see."

And then Billie called on a South African budger.

"I'm a cousin of your budger," he told Billie. "But I'm more friendly. I am really very tame and my disposition is good."

Lastly, he went to call on the orangutan who was his special favorite in the zoo and whose name was Windy.

Doctor Honors Boy Scouts

For one week, Dr. Herman Hunsden, health commissioner of Calgary, Alberta, dedicated his health bulletin to the boy scouts of that city. This special tribute, it was explained, was based upon Doctor Hunsden's keen appreciation of the scout law, the eleventh point of which reads in particular: "A scout is clean. He is clean in his body, and thought, and so we are clean in our speech, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd."

The Highgrader

By WM. MacLEOD RAINES

Copyright by C. D. Batchelor

"I'm not going to be bullied into saying a word. That's the long and short of it," he repeated. "I'd see this ruffian at Halifax first, if you ask me." The angry color flushed his face again as he thought of the insult to which he had been subjected.

To Colter Moya explained her purpose. He nodded agreement without words of Colter.

After two or three attempts she got the superintendent on the telephone at the Mollie Gibson mine and arranged with him that he was to come to the hotel at once. A few minutes later the superintendent came up in a taxi. Moya told the case to him.

Bleyer turned to his employer. "You want me to tell Colter what I know?" "I don't care a turn of my hand whether you tell the fellow or not," drawled Verlander, ignoring the pleas of Colter.

The superintendent peered at Moya in his near-sighted fashion over the glasses on his nose. "Can't see that it matters much, Miss Dwight. I'm not worrying a bit about Jack Kilmeny, but if Colter and you are, I'm willing to tell what I know on condition that you keep the facts to yourselves."

"I'll keep quiet if you haven't injured Jack in any way," Colter amended.

"We haven't. He was sound as a new dollar when I left him Tuesday night. He was sound as a new dollar. That's what I'm here for," snipped Colter.

Bleyer told the whole story so far as he knew it.

CHAPTER XIV

Spirit Rapping

Farquhar and Captain Kilmeny left next day for another short hunting trip. The captain had offered to give it up, but Moya had urged upon him that he would not be disappointed if his companion. He had agreed reluctantly, because he saw that his fiancée was worried. His own opinion was that his cousin Jack had disappeared for reasons of his own.

Colter did not relax in his search. He went to the mine and asked the men within him. Jack had plenty of enemies, as an aggressive fighter in a new country always must have. His friend's fear was that some of them had deceived Kilmeny to his death.

The suspicions of the mine centered upon Paul and Verlander, both because Jack had so recently had trouble with them and because they knew beforehand of his intention to remove the ore. But he could find no evidence upon which to base his feeling, though he and Curly, in company with a deputy sheriff, had paid the Cornishmen through a grilling examination.

It had been understood that the young women should take a trip through the Never Quit before they left Goldbanks. But for one reason or another this had been postponed until after the captain and Farquhar had started on their first hunting expedition. The second afternoon after their departure was the one decided upon for the little adventure.

Verlander, with the extravagance that went hand in hand with an occasional astonishing parsimony, had ordered oldskin shirts and waterproof boots made especially for his guests. A room was reserved for the young ladies at the mine, equipped for this occasion to serve as a boudoir where they might rest in comfort.

The mine owner's guests dined, with a good deal of hilarious merriment, on short skirts, the boots and the rubber boots. The costumes could not have been called becoming, but they were evidently suited for the wet, damp tunnels of the Never Quit.

After they had entered the cage it was a little terrifying to be shut so rapidly down into the blackness of the mine.

"Don't be afraid. It's quite safe," Bleyer told them cheerfully.

At the tenth level the elevator stopped and they emerged into an open space.

"We're going to follow this drift," explained the superintendent. They seated themselves in one car and the other, which was lit at intervals by electric bulbs. Presently the cage moved down and the occupants descended.

"This way," ordered Bleyer. They followed in single file into a hot, damp tunnel, which dripped moisture from the roof upon the floor. A rough uneven floor of stone and dirt where pools of water had occasionally gathered. The darkness in creased as they moved forward, driven back by the condensation of the mine. The space scarce farther than they could reach with outstretched hands.

Moya, bringing up the rear, could hear Bleyer's words, the words that he heard. He talked of stops, drifts, tunnels, wage scales, shifts, high-grade ore and other subjects that were as Greek to Joyce and India.

The atmosphere was oppressively close and warm, and the darkness that Moya wore seemed to cling to him. Joyce, however, she became aware with some annoyance at herself that a faintness was stealing over her brain and a mistiness over her eyes. To steady herself she stopped, catching at the rough wall for support. "What's the matter with you?" she asked, not following moved on. With a half attracted little cry she sank to the ground.

When she came to herself the lights had disappeared. She was alone in the most profound darkness she had ever known. It seemed to press upon her so tenderly as to be almost to her. The girl was frightened. Her imagination began to conjure all sorts of dangers. Of cave-ins and explosions she had heard and read a good deal. Anything was possible in this thousand-foot-deep grave. In this frightful, inactive little voice she cried out to her friends.

Instantly there came an answer—a faint tapping on the wall as at her ear. She listened breathlessly, and caught again that faint tap—tap—tap—tap—tap—tap. Instinctively she began to grope along the wall until it fell upon a pipe. Even as she touched this the sound came again, and along with it the faintest of vibrations. She knew that somebody at a distance was hitting the pipe with a piece of quartz or metal.

Stooping, she found a bit of broken rock. This she used to tap the pipe. An answer came at once.

Tap—tap—tap—tap—tap—tap! She tried, two knocks. Again the response of seven taps sounded—Four blows brought still seven. Why all this seven? She did not know. She was suddenly comforted to know that her friends were in communication with her. After all, she was not alone.

A light glimmered at the end of the tunnel and moved slowly toward her. Bleyer's voice called her name. Joyously she ran toward him, and about her with sympathetic questions and explanations.

She made light of her fainting attack, but Verlander insisted on getting her back to the upper air in spite of her protests. He had discovered that Joyce was quite unable to get about on her own. A very little of her sympathy was satisfied. A note of anything that was unpleasant went a long way with Miss Sheldon, and there was something about this underground tomb that reminded her strongly of an unimproved grave.

Verlander, however, refused to let her attack of vertigo. "Feel quite all right, Miss Dwight?"

"Quite," thank you," Moya was a little irritated at the reference, because she was ashamed of having given way to physical weakness. "It was nothing. I was a goose. That's all."

Bleyer, a guest for the evening, defined the "young woman" from her own scorn. "It often takes people that way the first time, what with the heat and the closeness. I once knew a champion pugilist faint after while he was going through a mine."

"Were you afraid when you found yourself alone?" Joyce asked.

"It was until you tapped."

India looked puzzled. "Tapped. What do you mean?"

"On the pipe."

"What pipe?"

"The one that ran through the tunnel."

Miss Kilmeny shook her head. "I feel anybody in. Perhaps one of us touched it by chance."

"No. That couldn't be. The tap came seven times together, and after I had answered it seven times more."

"Seven times?" asked Bleyer quickly. "Yes—seven. But if you didn't tap, who did?"

"Sure wasn't imagination?" Verlander suggested.

"Imagination! I tell you it was repeated again and again." Moya said impatiently.

"Spirit rapping," surmised Joyce lightly. "It doesn't matter, anyhow, since it served its work of comforting Moya."

"It might have been some of the workmen," Lady Farquhar guessed.

"Must have been," agreed Bleyer. "And yet—we're not working that end of the mine now. The men had no business there. Odd that it was seven times—that is call for help. It means danger."

A bell of warning began to toll in Moya's heart. It rang as yet no clear message to her brain, but the premonition of something sinister and deadly soon a sinking sensation through her.

Verlander said it with renewed interest. "I say, you know—spirit rapping. Weren't you telling me, Bleyer, that there was a big accident, there some years ago? Perhaps the ghosts of some of the lost miners were sending a message to their wives. Eh, what?"

"The accident was in the Golden Nugget, an adjoining mine. The property was pretty well worked out, and has never been opened since the disaster."

FINISHED HEADS NAMED FOR FAIR HELD THIS YEAR

Twin Falls County Fair to Be Bigger and Better Than Ever Says Secretary; Improve- ment Being Made.

New superintendents have been appointed in five departments of the Twin Falls county fair to be held this fall at the fair grounds at Piler, the secretary of the association. Every effort is being made to make the fair this year the biggest and best ever held in the county and in southern Idaho.

E. J. Diehl of Piler will succeed Frank Houston of Twin Falls as superintendent of the poultry department. H. T. Black of Twin Falls will assume charge of the fruit department, taking the position held last year by J. A. Waters of Twin Falls.

Mrs. R. E. Broadard of Twin Falls has been moved from class B women's department to class A women's department, succeeding Mrs. T. E. Moore of Elgin, superintendent. Mrs. George Tucker of Piler will superintend the dairy products displays and also class B of the "women's" department, succeeding Mrs. Broadard.

Floral Department.
Mrs. E. O. Walter of Piler, last year superintendent of the floral department, is succeeded by Mrs. Frances R. Wright of Kimberly. Mrs. Walter will assist Mrs. Wright, however, throughout the fair.

Carpenters and painters are renovating and remodeling the buildings for the convenience and accommodation of exhibitors and visitors. Buildings for women and children are receiving particular attention. The junior club building has been remodeled to provide better facilities for holding the baby clinic, always a feature of the fair. The clinic will last four days and will be under the supervision of Mrs. T. D. Connor.

Work of refinishing the woman's building is almost completed. The fine art department, supervised by Mrs. R. E. Broadard, will be housed in a portion of this building and the remaining space will be used for women's social activities. Various clubs of the county will give daily afternoon programs. A well-appointed rest room is to be provided in this building also.

Produce Building.
Many improvements are being made in the produce building. The center of the building will be placed the flower exhibit. The east wing has been set aside for the cooking department. General agricultural and horticultural displays will occupy the remainder of the building.

Mrs. George Tucker of Piler has been secured as superintendent of the ordinary department. Under her direction a model kitchen will be provided and also vastly improved exhibition spaces for canned products and baked goods. Dairy exhibits also will be given space in this department.

Premium Lists.
Additions and improvements have been made in the premium lists. The cash premiums in all departments are generous, say officials, besides which 500 pounds of sugar, donated by the Amalgamated Sugar company, and 200 pounds of flour, donated by the Twin Falls Milling and Elevator company, will be given in prizes in the several divisions of the canning and baking departments. The sweepstakes premium in the canning department will be a pressure cooker, donated by the Reynolds Bros. Hardware company of Piler.

Junior girls have this year been provided with exhibition place in the sewing and canning departments and several exhibits are still open to the organized clubs of the county.

Scarcity of fruit has made canning more difficult, but the added prizes in the canning department is expected to draw more entries than ever before. The raffish premium lists will be ready for distribution within the next few days, officials said Saturday.

PICTURE COLLECTION PLANNED AT LIBRARY

Work of collecting illustrations from magazines for use of schools and clubs started year ago.

Pictures covering a wide range of subjects, clipped from magazines and newspapers, are being collected for the Twin Falls public library by Miss Mary Hamilton. An excellent beginning has been made, officials have announced, with a number of pictures now out and mounted. This work by Miss Hamilton started about a year ago. Much interest has been shown in the collection by the number of gifts of pictures and magazines for clipping. It is the plan of the library, as in many other libraries where space permits, to have a picture cabinet and to mount the more valuable pictures. Object of the collection is to make available for schools and clubs pictures on various subjects which will be circulated wherever needed.

Little Girl Made Happy by Club in Gifts of Clothing

Mountain View Club Adopts Girl at Orphan's Home for Period of One Year.

"I am the happiest girl in the world today," says a letter received by the Mountain View club of Twin Falls from a little girl in the orphan's home at Boise whom the club has adopted for one year. The letter, written in a child's simple but happy handwriting, is the first of the children's home finding and Aid Society of Idaho at Boise, was in thanks for a box of clothing sent to the little girl.

"I am very happy because you sent me some dresses," says the letter. "The shoes fit fine and I think you are good to make me such nice dresses. The pretty nightgown that had the pretty bluebird on it and the other one was pretty, too, don't you think? I sneezed Saturday and all the girls said, 'joy for you, and that very day you sent them things and I was so tickled that you sent me them things that I had to tell all the girls about them and the little pocketbook you sent.'"

The club, according to its president, Mrs. Robert E. Booth, has undertaken to keep the little girl in clothing for a year and has sent since the first of the year several articles of wearing apparel. Mrs. Booth says she is sure the little girl has answered them and has made her extremely happy. A note of thanks slips into the letter of the child when she says, "I would like you to come and see me if you have time. I would like my papa to come and see me. I got a letter from papa just about two weeks ago and I answered him and he hasn't answered mine yet."

The club adopted the child in January. Discussion of the little girl's case was taken up at a meeting held by the club at the home of Mrs. Jeannette Giffen, July 9. The club will meet again with Mrs. Kate Fitch as hostess at Community church July 25.

D.B. PETTIJOHN DIES AT HOME

Pioneer of Twin Falls Tract and Civil War Veteran Succumbs Saturday Morning.

Dyer B. Pettijohn, one of the earliest settlers of the Twin Falls tract, died at his home, 505 North Fifth street, Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock. He lacked but a few weeks from turning 70 years of age and his death came following an illness extending over the last few weeks of his life. He was a hardening of the arteries. Mr. Pettijohn was one of the best known citizens of Twin Falls and was a veteran of the civil war, being captured during that conflict and thrown into Libby prison, where he was held until the close of the war. He was born in Brown county, Ohio, and was the youngest child of Abraham Pettijohn and Jane Sloan. The family moved to Illinois in 1840 and there Mr. Pettijohn grew to manhood. When the civil war broke out he was in the mountains west of Denver and was in a small mining camp. He returned to Minnesota and enlisted in the First Minnesota regiment, Company A, on October 1, 1861. He was sent to Washington owing to his great ability as a marksman and was attached to a group of sharpshooters who became famous.

Promoted to Captain.
Mr. Pettijohn was promoted to the rank of captain but before receiving his commission was captured at the battle of Gettysburg and held in prison until the end of the war. He came to the Pacific coast in 1875 and was the first editor of the Astin, Wash. Sentinel. He brought the first printing press to that city. Later he sold the paper and engaged in farming and stock raising in Astin county.

Captain Pettijohn was married to Mary Catherine Rainwater at Dayton, Wash., September 20, 1877. He came to the Twin Falls tract in 1895, where he lived on a farm near Kimberly until 1913, when he moved to Twin Falls. Captain Pettijohn is survived by his wife, Mary C. Pettijohn, and seven children, as follows: Clyde, of Piler, Wash.; Homer C. of Sturgis, Mich.; Ray J. of Castleford, Ross of Nello, Mrs. C. R. Chamberlain of Buhl, Mrs. L. A. Crawford of Birkland, Wash.; Mrs. Mabel Lawton of Twin Falls.

Funeral services have not yet been arranged pending word from his "sons" regarding his religious convictions. Written down and handed to his children: "I have seen many ups and downs—my father often said in his prayers—passed through many dangers both seen and unseen and can not in my mind think of any special purpose for which I live. He has been preserved so long as it has. But he knows the end from the beginning and will bring order out of confusion and it is proper for us mortals to trust him for time and eternity."

WOOD MUST FACE MURDER CHARGE DISTRICT COURT

Hagerman Valley Farmer Held Without Bail for Killing of Roy Callahan in Death Trap; Preliminary Saturday.

B. F. Wood, Hagerman valley farmer charged with the death of Roy Callahan, 21, must stand trial in the Gooding county district court at Gooding (first degree murder, Judge E. E. Brandt, of the probate court decided at the preliminary hearing of Wood held Saturday in Gooding. Wood will be held in the Gooding county jail without bail for the October term of court which opens October 6.

With the exception of cross examining four of the state's witnesses placed upon the stand Saturday at the preliminary hearing the defense made no effort to prevent the trial from going to the district court. From the questions asked of the witnesses, the prosecution believes that the defense will have its plan for acquittal upon the ground that Callahan, with the two Astorian boys who were with him, were stealing cherries from his orchard and therefore liable to shooting.

Callahan, met his death last Sunday night shortly after 10 o'clock on the Wood farm at Hagerman when a shot gun, the trigger of which was tied to a clothesline strung between two trees, exploded filling the young man's chest and face full of buckshot and causing him to bleed to death.

Witnesses to testify at the preliminary hearing were the Astorian boys, Dr. Grege and Deputy Sheriff James Barlogi who arrested Wood the morning following the shooting. Wood was represented at the preliminary hearing by W. T. Stafford, lawyer of Gooding. Wood, although charged with first degree murder, will be held in the county jail without bail for the October term of court which opens October 6.

POLICE ARREST TWO HIDING STOLEN BAG

Three Mexicans Now in City Jail as Result of Campaign to Bid Twin Falls of Idle Foreigners.

Caught in the act of hiding a stolen suitcase back of the ball park Sunday morning, Antonio Gomez and Lashua Arana are held in the city jail on charges of stealing the suitcase from the house of a Twin Falls resident. Some time ago while he was in Twin Falls, Arana's suitcase followed on the heels of the arrest of another Mexican Friday charged with burglarizing the Twin Falls stean laundry and stealing several pounds of laundry.

The Mexicans arrested Saturday will be taken out of the city probably the first of the week and ordered to stay away. According to Chief of Police P. O. Herriman, the Mexicans claim they found the suitcase and it is doubtful whether they can be convicted on the charge. Arrests made are part of the campaign to rid the city of idle Mexicans who have been causing the police a great deal of trouble during the last six months, it was announced.

Several bags stolen recently have been found in out of the way places where they were rifled and then thrown away.
