NINETEEN MEN BELIEVED DEAD IN MINE BLAST

Explosion Reduces Gates, Pennsylvania, Coal Workings to Debris; Gas Holds Back Rescue Crews.

GATES, Pa., July 25 (AP)—Nineteen men are reported entombed in the Gates mine of the H. O. Frick Coke company here as a result of an explosion that occurred early tonight. Rescue men were working in three shifts to reach the men but doubt was expressed whether their efforts will be successful before morning.

One hundred and twenty men were at work in the mine at the time, but only the one section was affected by the explosion. The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

The rescue crews encountered considerable difficulty as a result of numerous cave-ins that blocked their path. It is also feared they will encounter poisonous gases and they have been equipped with masks. The Frick company has summoned its rescue cars from the entire district.

The mine is of the shaft type and is 240 feet deep. The chamber in which the entombed men were working is located from a main shaft half to two miles back of the entrance.

The regular force employed is said to be 315. None of the men employed in the section in which the explosion took place have emerged and it is felt they have either been killed by the explosion or the gases that formed immediately after it.

Deals Blow to Community.

Physicians from the surrounding towns have been notified and are prepared to care for the men when they are brought out. Gates is a small mining community and practically all the men are employed at the mine.

Seventy-five men were killed in the same mine by an explosion in February, 1922.

WOUNDED POLICE CHIEF ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Doctors Optimistic as to Condition of L. A. Lehrbach of Pocatello; Funeral for Dead Officer Arranged.

POCATELLO, July 25 (AP)—The condition of Chief of Police L. A. Lehrbach, who was seriously wounded Wednesday afternoon during a gun battle with George Rives, a West Indian negro, was reported late today to be improved and the physicians in charge of his case are optimistic as to his recovery.

The funeral of Samuel G. Garbett, city detective, slain during the battle with the negro, will be held tomorrow from the First ward L. D. S. church.

The verdict at the coroner's inquest this afternoon was that Detective Garbett came to his death through a gunshot wound inflicted by Rives. The killing of the negro by Chief of Police Lehrbach was justifiable homicide on the part of the officer.

Fulfills Trust of Dying Buddy After Long, Costly Hunt

Former Soldier Delivers Slain Comrade's Medals to Sister.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25 (AP)—Private Carl Hagel, dying on Clermont battle field in 1918, wanted his sister to have his Croix de Guerre and his Distinguished Service Cross. His buddy, Sergeant George Spenceley, promised to deliver them to the sister, Eva Hagel, of Palo Alto, Cal.

But when Spenceley was discharged and hurried back to California with the medals, Miss Hagel had become Mrs. S. R. Holmstrom. He could not find her, though he searched diligently and long. He sold his farm to get funds for carrying on the search.

Now, six years after he took over the trust of a dying comrade, Mrs. Holmstrom has been found in Pittsburgh, Cal., through aid of the American Legion and Spenceley is hurrying west again to give her the medals.

TWO MEN KILLED IN AUTO WRECKS

Isaac N. Fulton, Ogden, and Dr. J. F. Critchlow, Salt Lake, Victims of Accidents.

OGDEN, July 25 (AP)—Two widely known Utah men, Isaac N. Fulton, clerk of the Ogden city court, and John F. Critchlow, Salt Lake physician, were killed in automobile accidents near Ogden Thursday.

Fulton, driving a small coupe, backed over an embankment into a power reservoir in Ogden canyon. Mrs. Fulton, determined to save her granddaughter, fought her way with the child from the submerged car, but her husband was apparently made unconscious by a blow on the head as the car went over and was unable to struggle for his life.

Dr. Critchlow and Mrs. Critchlow were on their way to the Logan cemetery celebration later in the evening. At a detour where a bridge is being built over Willard creek, the scene of a disastrous flood last summer, the car skidded and went over a 20-foot embankment. Dr. Critchlow was crushed by the steering wheel. His wife was treated for fractures at the Des Moines hospital and taken to Salt Lake. The body of Dr. Critchlow was shipped to Salt Lake this morning.

UNKNOWN MAN IS FOUND DEAD NEAR POCATELLO

Train Crew Discovers Mangled Body of Man on Track; Believed Killed by Early Morning Passenger.

POCATELLO, July 25 (AP)—The mangled body of an unknown white man was found at 6:30 this morning by the crew of extra 2002 on the west bound track about a half mile west of Portneuf siding and it is believed that the man was killed by one of the early morning southbound passenger trains. The head was badly crushed making it impossible to identify the man. He was about 35 years of age, had a high forehead, blue arms and legs were visible. The man wore a shabby gray beard and was evidently sixty or seventy years of age. His clothes were torn in to shreds and not a paper of any kind was found in his clothing to assist the authorities in tracing his identification. The body was brought into Pocatello and is in charge of the Schumacher and Hall company.

Americans Give Washington Relics to Sulgrave Manor

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Five hundred of the winning American letters went to the ancestral home of the Washington's Sulgrave manor, today and participated in a ceremonial presentation at the manor house of an American flag used in the revolution, one of George Washington's saddle bags used at Valley Forge, a wine chest owned by Washington, and a sword of the British parliament dated March 1, 1906, by which the Sulgrave property of the Washingtons was transferred to their relatives, the Makepeakes.

After viewing the restored rooms of the Washington shrine, the Americans gathered on the green terraces of the manor and sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

An original Washington letter which displays the keen business instinct of the first president and which was recently purchased by Sir Charles Wakefield, was given by him as the British gift to the manor. The letter, which is dated from Mount Vernon, June 23, 1788, is understood to have been in Eng-

POWER COMPANY DENIES POWERS OF COMMISSION

Answers Order to Show Why Water Heating Rate Should Not Be Cut and Discount Applied to All Metered Service.

BOISE, July 25 (AP)—The public utilities commission is without jurisdiction to order the Idaho Power company to show cause why the minimum on electrical water heating should not be reduced and why a discount of 10 percent, or whatever discount is found reasonable, should not be made in all metered service above the minimum monthly bill.

Thus says the Idaho Power company in its answer filed with the commission Friday, the appointed day for action on the commission's order issued about the middle of July.

Notifies Consumers. The commission took the answer under advisement, and after notifying the Southern Idaho Power and Light Users' association that the answer has been filed, will give that association 30 days in which to answer the order.

In addition to declaring that the commission is without jurisdiction to make such an order, the company denies that the reduction on water heating would be an incentive to conserve power; that revenue has or will be increased under the new rates to an amount in excess of the amount of found reasonable by the commission.

That an emergency exists. That an additional 10 percent, or any discount, should be allowed. The company then goes on to say that the rates now in effect are the commission's, not the company's, and are neither fair nor reasonable, but on the contrary, are so low as to be confiscatory and after four months trial they have not produced the revenue anticipated by the commission.

Points to Expenditures.

It is mentioned in the answer that the commission found the power company's valuation as of June 30, 1923, to be $10,182,380. Since that time and up to June 30, 1924, the answer states, $252,708 has been spent by the company in making additions to property used and useful in the public service, making the valuation of the company on the last named date $10,435,088.

In the 12 months period ending June 30, 1924, the company took in $2,777,969. Operating expenses at up to $1,487,659, leaving a net income of $1,090,310, which is figured out in the answer, is a 6.4 per cent return for the year ending June 30, 1924.

Estimates place the net revenue for the year ending February 28, 1925, which period represents the first 12 months' period under the new rates, at $1,442,782, representing a return of 6.7 per cent.

The commission granted the power company a return of 7.2 per cent on $1,040,984 and a return of 6 per cent on the remainder of $1,542,000, in its order issued last December, finding the valuation as of June 30, 1923.

On this basis, the company says, it is entitled to an average return of 7.27 per cent which compared with the 6.7 per cent estimated for the year ending February 28, 1925, shows that the company is entitled to an increase of $96,297 in annual revenue, instead of a reduction in rates, the answer says.

ENDORSE RAILROAD MERGER.

LOS ANGELES, July 25 (AP)—Business leaders today passed a resolution endorsing the proposed merger of the El Paso & Western railroad with the Southern Pacific.

"I would thank you for ascertaining the price beforehand, having from discrimination to dispute accounts, felt, in too many instances, the expansion of 'Trade-men's' consciences, when no previous agreement has been made."

Leopold Counts on Talents to Save Him from Gallows; Loeb Would Hang Killers

Detective Sergeant, in Testimony as to Motive for Killing, Recounts Young Slay's Statements.

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Nathan Leopold Jr., after his confession to a part in the kidnapping and murder of 14-year-old Robert Franko, held life dear because he believed he had "important work to do for the world." Richard Loeb, his co-partner in the crime, said he believed that "whoever committed that crime should be strung up."

The mental reactions of both youths to the consequences of their conspiracy were detailed today in court. Leopold, whose life, with that of Loeb, is at stake in the hearing before Chief Justice John H. Cawley of the criminal court, expressed his sentiment and revealed other processes of his mind to the police officers who guarded him after the first joint confessions to the crime.

Loeb Offers "Tips."

Loeb gave his idea of a fit punishment for the act in a conversation with newspaper reporters before his arrest. He also gave reporters "tips" on how to trace some of the activities of the kidnapers, ascribing his circumspetion to the reading of detective stories.

James G. Gardland, a city detective sergeant, testified to this at the conclusion of the third day's sessions of the proceedings this afternoon. He also gave reporters "tips" on how to trace some of the activities of the kidnapers, ascribing his circumspetion to the reading of detective stories.

"Leopold told me," said Gardland, "that he would not reveal the motive for the crime. When I asked him this he said: 'You must think I'm a fool. Do you think I am going to tell all I don't you think I have a right to reserve something for my defense?'"

"I asked him what he would do if he would offer and Leopold said that he would not plead guilty and go before a jury which would surely hang him. He said: 'If I plead guilty before a friendly judge I will get off with life imprisonment.'"

"He then told me that he believed he had important work to do for the world. He said he had carried along his bird studies to an advanced stage and thought he might be able to contribute something through writings and research."

Conquers Conscience.

Gardland also testified that Leopold told him of going to Sunday school regularly as a child and being advanced

CALM SETTLES OVER SAO PAULO

Government Flyers Spend Day Scanning New Positions of Retreating Insurrectionists.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The Brazilian embassy has received the first official communique timed at noon today.

"Calm prevailed throughout the night on the whole front. Our aviators have just completed reconnaissance of the new positions of the rebels who continue to yield ground under the action of government troops."

Another dispatch to the state department from the embassy at Rio de Janeiro quoted a proclamation issued by the minister of war to the people of Sao Paulo in which they were asked to abandon the city and "leave the rebels to their fate."

The proclamation declared it was necessary for the government troops to act with "freedom against the rebels who insist upon fighting under the moral protection of the civil population," and expressed the hope that all civilians would respond to the appeal to prevent suffering in the operations to be carried on "within a few days."

NEBRASKA SENATOR FLEES HIS SUPPORT TO COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—President Coolidge was assured today of the support and services in the coming campaign of Senator Lloyd of Nebraska, who has often lined up with the La Follette group as against the administration. Returning to Washington today after a month's absence, Senator Howell called on the president and discussed political affairs.

Those arrested are Mrs. Mary Shank, whom the girl charges with applying the tar and feathers; her husband, Calvin Shank; her father-in-law, Roma Shank; Harry Leathman, Alver Shank, Arthur Rice, Edwin Rice, Paul Grossnickle and Grady Deub, all of near Myersville, Md.

At the magistrate's hearing Mrs. Shank admitted applying the tar and feathers. The other defendants declared their only object was to request Miss Grandon to leave the town. They took no part in the tarring and feathering, they said.

Cobbler Friend of Coolidge May Run for Office

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 25 (AP)—James Luey, a cobbler, staunch friend and early adviser of President Coolidge, may elect to become a candidate for the republican nomination for representative to the legislature.

It became known today that he has listed on his nomination papers that he has the unquestioned support of the party locally. This will be his first venture into politics.

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—J. P. Morgan in an official statement issued tonight on the eve of his departure for a vacation trip in Europe stated that American bankers had no desire "to make any political suggestion, much less to attempt to enforce any political views" in connection with the discussions for a German loan now under way in London.

He reiterated that his trip had nothing to do with the London conference, but indicated that if the loan was arranged, and his advice as to terms sought, he would be glad to make suggestions for the sake of the bonds in this country.

On Annual Holiday. The statement, in full, follows: "I am sailing for my annual holiday in accordance with plans made many months ago. My trip has nothing to do with the London conference. Our position with reference to the matter now being discussed in that conference is very simple. We have been requested by the allied governments to advise as to what, in our opinion, are the necessary bases for the sale of German bonds to American investors."

In response to that request, we have given our advice. We have no desire, nor is it within our province, to make any political suggestions, much less to attempt to enforce any political views. We addressed ourselves solely to the questions asked us and it is for the allied governments to determine whether what we believe to be the conditions of the American investment market can be met."

Requires German Pledge. "It goes without saying that, as bankers, we should not ask the American investor to buy German bonds unless and until the allies in their own time, in their own way, and for their own reasons, determined upon a policy which will, in our opinion, give security to the bondholders. If this very simple and obvious fact is borne in mind, I think, we shall find that most of the questions now under discussion answer themselves."

Mrs. Mary Shank and Eight Men Held for Mistreatment of Girl They Disliked.

FREDERICK, Md., July 25 (AP)—Eight men and one woman, arrested on warrants charging them with tarring and feathering Miss Dorothy Grandon, 20, of Martinsburg, W. Va., were arraigned before Magistrate Brant tonight and held for the September grand jury under $2000 each. Bail of $200 was fixed for Miss Grandon as a material witness.

Those arrested are Mrs. Mary Shank, whom the girl charges with applying the tar and feathers; her husband, Calvin Shank; her father-in-law, Roma Shank; Harry Leathman, Alver Shank, Arthur Rice, Edwin Rice, Paul Grossnickle and Grady Deub, all of near Myersville, Md.

LONDON PARLEY CLOSES EAR TO BANKER TERMS

Conference Still Seeking Way to Break Deadlock Over Protocol to Launch Dawes Plan; Germans to Be Invited.

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—Although the inter-allied conference marked thus far, there was observable tonight an unmistakable hardening of all of the delegates against submitting to the dictation of the international financiers in formulating a protocol to launch the Dawes plan.

The French spokesmen in expressing the views of Premier Briere were more unyielding than ever toward the surrender of any rights which France enjoys under the treaty of Versailles. In American circles it was stated that the Dawes plan was of such importance that it could not be jeopardized by the relatively unimportant disputes between the bankers and the delegates.

The British continued confident that a compromise would be reached on the question of security for a German loan, which will satisfy both the bankers and the French politicians.

All Sack Way Out. Among the experts, observers, advisers, and delegates, there is a concerted effort to surmount the difficulties which have beset the parleys for weeks and which at times have seemed to threaten the very existence of the conference.

This afternoon Frank B. Kellogg, the American ambassador, went to the conference to say that the problem of default and the sanctions under the Dawes plan and their relations to security for the German loan would not necessarily have to be settled in London. This view, however, is not shared by the other delegates, where it was said the issue the bankers have injected into the proceedings is paramount and that as soon as it is settled the conference can consider its work completed.

Despite the delays which have occurred, the atmosphere of the negotiations, where it was said, is optimistic, but as "conscious confidence" and "restrained confidence."

Only Three Problems Remain. British officials tonight said the technical work of the conference has been completed and that the conference were ready for their next plenary session Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Only three problems remain to be dealt with. The first problem is the all important one of reconciling the bankers to the conference experts proposed methods of dealing with German violations of the Dawes plan. The second is a minor question of railroad control in the Ruhr and the third is the

LA FOLLETTE OUT FOR WOMAN VOTE

Aspirant for Presidency Bases Appeal on Claims as Champion of Equal Suffrage.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Union leaders supporting Senator La Follette's candidacy for president, decided at a meeting today to undertake the collection of at least $500,000 for the campaign fund and agreed upon a plan to tour the country in an "independent" tour party, which they said they hoped the La Follette followers would join.

It is intended at the conference to organize a large committee to handle campaign activities among women and mobilize women supporters of Senator La Follette and Wheeler. The appeal, it is declared, will be based on the fact that the first woman president was one of the early champions of woman suffrage, has persistently championed the cause of peace and is making a campaign on a "clean government" program.

THE GUMPS—BREAKING HOME TIES

COOLIDGE TELLS IDEALS TO BOYS

The President, in Farewell to Scouts, Counsels Reverence for Nature, Law and God.

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Reverence for nature, for law and for God, was laid down as the fundamentals of boy scoutship and of American institutions by President Coolidge in an address delivered tonight at the White House and transmitted by telephone to a farewell meeting in New York for a group of boy scouts who will sail tomorrow to attend an international gathering of the organization in Copenhagen.

The president bade the scouts farewell in his capacity as honorary president of the American Boy Scouts and enjoined the departing boys to show to the foreigners associated in the scout movement that they desired to protect and cherish their own country and "contribute to the well being, right thinking and true living of the whole world."

"There was no boy scout organization in my boyhood but every boy who has the privilege of growing up on a farm learns instinctively the three fundamentals of scoutship," the president said.

Regeneration in Soil

"The first is a reverence for nature. Boys should never lose their love of the fields and the streams, the mountains and the plains, the open places and the forests. That love will be a priceless possession as your years lengthen out. There is an instructive lesson about the giant sequoia. When, ever in a contest, he was thrown down, he drew strength from his mother, the earth, and was thought invincible. But Hercules lifted him away from the earth and so destroyed him. There is no life in the soil for every man. There is healing in the trees for tired minds, and for our overburdened spirits, there is strength in the hills, if only we will lift our eyes. Remember that nature is your great restorer. See Boys' Destinies.

"The second is a reverence for law. I remember the town meetings of my boyhood when the citizens of our little town met to levy taxes on themselves and to choose from their own number those who should be their officers. There is something in every such meeting, in every election, that approaches the sublime. I am thrilled at the thought of my audience tonight for I never address boys without thinking that among them may be a boy who will sit in this White House. Somewhere there are boys who will be presidents of our railroads, presidents of our colleges, presidents of our armies and our navies; members of congress, representatives of our people in foreign lands. That is the heritage of the American boy. It was an act of magnificent courage when our ancestors set up a nation wherein any boy may aspire to anything. That great achievement was not wrought without blood and sacrifice. Make firm your resolution to carry on nobly what has been so nobly begun. Let this nation, under your guidance be a finer nation. Resolve that the sacrifices by which your great opportunities have been purchased will be matched by a sacrifice on your part, that will give your children even a better chance.

Faith as Motive Power.

"The third is a reverence for God. It is hard to see how a great man can be an atheist. Without the sustaining influence of faith in a divine power we could have little faith in ourselves. We need to feel that believers do not intelligence and love. Believers do not believe; skeptics do not contribute; cynics do not create. Faith is the great motive power and no man realizes his full possibilities unless he has the deep conviction that life is eternally important and that his work will do, is a part of an unending plan.

"These are not only some of the fundamentals of the American boy scout, but the fundamentals of our American institutions. If you will take them with you, if you will living examples of them abroad, you will make a great contribution toward a better understanding of our own country and receive in return a better understanding of other countries; for you will find in other lands, to a very large extent, exactly what you carry there yourself. I trust that you can show to your foreign associates in this great scout movement, that you have a deep reverence for the truth, and are determined to live by it; that you wish to protect and cherish your own country and contribute to the well being, right thinking and true living of the whole world."

Wind Dogs Do Not Bark

With few exceptions, wind dogs do not bark. Some of them have curious little cries, but the bark is a development of the canine in captivity. The wild dog usually runs in packs like the wolf. As a rule wild dogs also hold the tails and ears erect, but are unpleasant creatures when compared to the domesticated canines.

GAME OFFICIALS APPRECIATE AID

State Game Warden and Fish Commissioner Delighted with Attitude of Sportsmen:

R. E. Thomas, state game warden and W. M. Knoll, state fish commissioner, arrived in Twin Falls Friday evening on their way back to Boise after a trip through the upper Snake river valley and into the Henry's Lake country where they made a survey of work being done to get fish eggs out for the hatcheries next spring.

After feeling among sportsmen generally throughout southern Idaho over the necessity of closing the season in some counties on sage hen and grouse due to the shortage of water, is admirable, according to Mr. Thomas, and both he and Mr. Knoll were highly pleased Friday evening over the manner in which the sportsmen are co-operating with the department.

Perhaps greater co-operation is being given the department this year than ever before, said Mr. Thomas, and during a time, when closing the season through a shortage of water would leave them something to complain in the way of curtailing their sport. Regardless of political affiliation, he said, the sportsmen almost to a man wherever they went were back of the game department in the proper conservation of game life.

Offers Reward.

In Power county the American Falls Gun club, of which Frank Dahlen is president, has posted $15 reward for every game violation conviction. This sort of action is a big help to the department and is resulting in real conservation of game life that is needed. Offers were made in several of the counties not closed this season for grouse and sage hen hunting to close the counties if it would help. However, in those counties where there is plenty of water there have been found thousands of birds and conditions are good, so that it will not be necessary to close the counties in order to prevent extermination of the birds.

In the country north of Idaho Falls there have been good rains and there is no shortage of water now. Fishing streams are good and especially above Ashton, said the officials. They will leave this morning overland for Boise.

MASONS AT OGDEN TO BURY VETERAN RAILROAD MAN

OGDEN, July 25 (AP)—Weber lodge, A. F. and A. M., will conduct funeral services Sunday afternoon in Ogden for George Jackson Cunningham, 31, veteran railroad man, who died at his home here Thursday.

Mr. Cunningham was general yardmaster for the Harriman lines in Ogden and later was transferred to Pocatello, where he was assistant superintendent of the Oregon Short Line railroad.

Venetian Mirror Makers Once Had World Monopoly

In picturesque Venice, the center of the arts during the Middle ages, a few clever experimenters rediscovered the old secrets of mirror making and even improved upon the ancient masterpieces. They made a minimum of lead and tin with which they "altered" their mirrors, and conquered the attention of all Europe, and the other parts of the world, then commercially known.

Venetian mirrors were almost priceless, so highly were they valued. Vincent de Beauvais, writing in 1250, declared that the mirror of glass and lead was a marvel and the best of all. Kings tried to make arrangements through special emissaries and ambassadors to have mirror makers come to their courts in Italy. The Venetians doggedly proclaimed a law that any glass maker carrying his art into a foreign state should be forced to return; if he did not, his closest relatives were arrested and imprisoned as hostages.

Should he sell secrets at the court of a foreign king, special agents were sent to kill him and destroy his establishment. This state of affairs lasted until the reign of Louis XIV of France, when Colbert, the famous minister, began to break up the Venetian monopoly of mirror making. In the face of all the disastrous laws of Italy, he imported twenty artisans from the mirror guild of Venice, and established them in Paris, in the Faubourg St. Antoine, where they enjoyed the protection and patronage of the king.

Thus was the mirror industry firmly established in France. Later on, when it was safe, these artisans were distributed to other parts of the kingdom, and several manufacturing started in the provinces.

Why Name Was Changed.
The city of Cleveland was named for Moses Cleveland, leading shareholder of the Connecticut Land company, who founded the first settlement on the site of the present city. The spelling of the name was changed in 1830, when the Cleveland Advertiser was established and the editor dropped the "at" in the first syllable in order to get the headline into the form.

LEOPOLD COUNTS ON TALENTS TO SAVE HIM

to the confirmation class. The witness added that Leopold explained that his extreme youth kept him from being confirmed at that time in the Jewish faith.

"It was taught conscience until I was eight," he said. "I was told that I drilled conscience out of myself."

"Leopold also said: 'Murder is not a crime in my code. The crime in my code is in being caught.'"

The detective sergeant related that Leopold had no sorrow for young Franks or the latter's father.

"I got into trouble," he said, "because I was a Jew. If they croak this minute," the defendant was quoted by the witness.

Gortland's testimony climaxed the day's proceedings, which took the case into the realm of mental reactions and motives, centering on Leopold.

Asked Penalty for Crime. It revealed that Leopold had inquired of instructors in criminal law at the University of Chicago what would be the consequences of a crime like the abduction and killing of young Franks.

It showed, too, that he had planned suicide by means of poisoned headache medicine as a way out of the dilemma which he foresaw would be his portion if he ever reached the shadow of the gallows. This was revealed in one of his conversations with Gortland, the latter testified.

On another occasion Leopold told Sergeant Frank Johnson, another witness of the day.

"If I knew that Leeb was going to peach, I could have killed myself and taken a couple of coppers with me."

Guns in Leopold's Study.
This remark was made when police searchers found two heavy automatic pistols in Leopold's study.

Johnson also told of a remark which he said was made by Leopold when the policemen had momentarily released his prisoner at arm.

"If I thought you fellows would shoot to kill, I would try running," were the words ascribed to the defendant.

That the possible consequences of his crime was upon Leopold's mind was further indicated by testimony given by E. W. Puttkammer, a professor of criminal law at the University of Chicago, and by Max Wester, a graduate student and tutor.

Tell of Leopold's Queries.
Professor Puttkammer said Leopold, under the guise of seeking instructions preliminary to an examination, used the Franks killing as a basis for an academic discussion of criminal intent.

The professor said he was asked by Leopold what the status would be if a kidnaper accidentally killed his victim, did it with malice aforethought or abetted him only for the purpose of "killing liberties" with the victim.

The professor answered these queries by pointing out that kidnapping, like murder, was a death penalty felony in Illinois.

Wester testified that Leopold had inquired whether kidnappers who killed their victim would be guilty of murder and that he had assured him they would be so guilty.

"These questions were asked, the testimony indicated, before the finger of suspicion had been pointed definitely at Leopold and Leeb."

Defendants Maintain Composure.
The boys sat through this line of testimony with little outward manifestation of concern. Leeb glanced only occasionally at Leopold as the latter's remarks were put into the record. He sat for the most part in his familiar posture of class-room interest, leaning slightly forward and with limp hands that now and then stroked his jaw.

Leopold, who showed his blades resting on the top back bar of his chair, kept his elbows on the arms of the furniture and his hands clasped in front of his chest.

When Sergeant Gortland quoted the remark about the friendly guide, both boys smiled and the witness testified to slightly compressed lips.

Eyes Focus on Youth.
All eyes went to the bench at this juncture where Justice Caverly pulled a corner of his lower lip between his teeth then turned a calm glance about the crowded room. Spectators who started to treat the incident as humorous held their smiles at the half way mark as the judicial glance passed them. Some hands went to features to hide the stifled smiles.

The tenseness of the moment passed quickly and when court adjourned a few minutes later to the jail yard where Judge Caverly inspected the automobile in which Franks was killed, the youthful defendants were almost flippant in their mood. Leopold pulled with gusto on a cigar and Leeb posed obligingly for newspaper photographers and smiled blithely without being told to "look pleasant."

Narrow Is Judicial.
Clarence S. Darrow, chief attorney for the defense, was jocular when the return from the jail just before he just informed the court that he and his associate attorneys wished to confer before cross-examining Sergeant Gortland and court had adjourned until tomorrow morning.

"I hope I have better luck hereafter than I have today," he remarked to reporters. "I am sure that the pretty girls here this afternoon and tomorrow will be the fact that this was the first day my wife was in court."

The Golden-Rose.
A rose formed of wrought gold and blessed with much solemnity by the pope in person on the fourth Sunday of Lent is called the "golden rose." The prayer of blessing contains a mystical allusion to Christ as "the flower of the field and the lily of the valley." The rose is anointed with balsam, fumigated with incense, sprinkled with musk, and is then left upon the altar until the conclusion of the mass. It is then usually presented to some Catholic prince or princess when the pope desires especially to honor, with an appropriate form of words.

NEED 22 MILLS TO RUN SCHOOLS BOARD DECIDES

Increased Sinking Fund, Pre-vents Decrease in Amount Needed This Year; Annual Budget Adopted.

Twenty two mills levy will be required to run the schools during the school year of 1924-25. It was decided at a special meeting of the Twin Falls school board held at the high school Friday evening at which time the annual school budget was passed as suggested by the new school superintendent Ernest D. Bloom and the bookkeeper, P. C. Lynch. The levy for the school year is the same as that made last year with the exception that the entire amount asked at the special school election this spring will not be needed.

Levy made by the board following a careful survey of the budget follows: transportation, 2 mills; interest fund, 3.4 mills; sinking fund, 2.8 mills; general fund, 13.8 mills.

This levy will raise approximately $181,200.

Savings in the general fund were made through a reorganization of the school system conducted whereby two positions have been eliminated. The position of grade school supervisor which carried with it a salary of $2100 was eliminated and this work will be carried on by the new superintendent, Ernest Bloom. An athletic coach, Felix Plaster, from the Puente Rico with his addition to his duties as coach also teach chemistry. In this manner a chemistry teacher's salary is saved amounting to $2100 also.

Necessity for retaining certain bonds resulted in the sinking fund being increased which prevented the board from reducing the total levy this year. The board hoped to do so. At the special school election held this spring voters gave the board authority to make a general fund levy of 14.75 mills. This amount however was found unnecessary by the board and at the meeting Friday evening the general fund levy of 13.8 mills was found sufficient.

Receipts Exceed Expenditures
In the financial statement made by the bookkeeper, P. C. Lynch, which was approved and accepted, the receipts this year exceed expenditures by $18,000. This was caused by a slight over-estimate on the budget for the last year.

Action was also taken on the employment of new teachers. The board accepted the resignations of three teachers, Miss Emma Smith, primary teacher at the Nickel school, Miss Mary Childs, intermediate teacher at Latah school and Miss Vera Jamison, intermediate teacher at Washington school. The following teachers were employed without contract, which is customary in the case of married women teachers: Mrs. Frankie Barham, Mrs. Mahla Cagle, Mrs. Tru Bune, Mrs. Pearl Senter, Mrs. Helen Thompson, Mrs. Lu Weatherly, Mrs. Grace Oll, Mrs. Ruth Redman, Mrs. J. Jones was employed half time to relieve Miss Biliard at the Nickel school. All of these teachers were in the school system last year with the exception of three.

Teachers Employed
Teachers given contracts to fill vacancies caused by resignation of teachers heretofore accepted are: Misses Pauline Pike, Elizabeth Hanson, Allen, Pearl Martelli, Mary Webster, Helen Minier, D. Wicher. All but one of these will be employed in the grade schools.

All members of the board were present at the meeting held Friday evening with the exception of S. E. Mc. One chairman was absent. Special attention called due to the death of his mother. Mr. Fitzgerald acted as chairman in the absence of Mr. McClain. Superintendent Bloom was empowered to investigate concerns of the city to whom contracts will be let for plumbing, electric repairing and drayage.

EXPRESS COMPANY RECORD

Local Agent Tells of Performance Made by Carrier During June; Few Shipments Are Damaged.

What American Express company officials here declare is a new record in the campaign by carriers of the company to prevent lower damage to shipments is the transit has been established by the express company for June with but 2.25 shipments in every thousand involved in claims, giving the express service a performance record of 99.75 per cent.

The June claim ratio, according to Irvin Clay, agent in charge of the Twin Falls office, is the lowest in the history of the express company since its formation six years ago. It is an improvement of more than 25 per cent compared with June, 1923. Local shippers have co-operated greatly by giving more attention to the careful preparation of shipments according to the agent. Local employers are holding monthly "right way" meetings to study and discuss various problems of the service and the best methods for handling current traffic.

COMPLETE WORK ON FISH TRAPS

Southern Idaho Association Ready for Carload of Rainbow Trout Coming.

Members of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association of which W. R. Priebe of Twin Falls is president, Friday completed preparations for a carload of rainbow trout fingerlings which will be shipped here from the Hay Spur hatchery for planting in the streams around Twin Falls. Instead of dumping the fish directly into the streams after their arrival here a seepage ditch has been prepared one mile south of the South Park grocery and the trout will be placed in this stream until they are ready for transplanting.

This method, according to officials of the association, who will have charge of the planting in the streams, gives the trout an opportunity to acclimate themselves to the streams and an opportunity to grow some so that they will not be such easy prey for voracious which kill off large numbers of trout planted. It is thought by the association that the fish will probably arrive during the early part of the coming week with a carload for Buhl which will be planted in the streams tributary to that city. Fish planting out of Buhl will be done by the Buhl Rod and Gun club.

Arrangements have been completed with the independent meat market of Twin Falls for food to feed fish placed in the seepage ditch.

Word has also been received by Mr. Priebe of the association that he has been appointed in charge of bird banding for this section. His appointment was made by the bureau of biological research of the United States and is for the purpose of obtaining more accurate information on the game birds of the country. Mr. Priebe has sent for material for bird traps and upon their arrival here will set up several traps at his home and in the city park. The object is to catch birds, place bands upon their legs registered and then return them later to be caught in other parts of the country and a check upon their movements made.

Special Train to Dairy Exposition Planned in Idaho

Milwaukee Officials Invite Idaho Representatives to Attend Show; Chamber of Commerce Active Here.

Efforts are being made by the Twin Falls chamber of commerce to get a special train of representatives to attend the dairy exposition to be held at Milwaukee the last of September and the first of August, according to Charles Dwight, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who has received a letter from the Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce asking that co-operation be given in this matter.

It is the plan of the organization to get representatives from each section to attend the meeting at Milwaukee and to take with them plenty of literature on the desirability of this state for dairymen which would be distributed among the dairymen of Wisconsin. An invitation has been extended by the Milwaukee exposition officials for representatives from Idaho to attend. In the event a group of representatives do attend the officials plan on taking Idaho men through the state and showing them the various dairymen sections. It is upon this trip that literature will be of great value, according to Mr. Dwight, and the dairymen section of Idaho receive not only valuable publicity but a large number of new dairymen.

EXTRADITION ASKED FOR CLARENCE ROTH

Youth Wanted on Charge Involving Girl; Being Held in Nebraska; Deputy Leaves Today.

Governor C. C. Moore will be asked today by Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Jones to sign extradition papers for Clarence Roth, under arrest at Chappell, Neb., and wanted in Twin Falls on a statutory charge. Request for extradition of Roth, who is wanted here on charges involving a 17-year-old girl, was made out Friday by J. W. Taylor, Twin Falls prosecuting attorney, and signed by the proper county officials.

Deputy Sheriff Jones, following his visit to Boise to be made today, will leave for Nebraska, where he will present to the governor of Nebraska the papers which will permit him to return to Idaho with his prisoner. According to a telegram received from A. Peterson, sheriff at Chappell, Neb., Roth has signified his willingness to return to Idaho without the papers, however, it was thought wise to go through the customary channels for the return of the prisoner to avoid any possible legal difficulty later.
