STATE RESTS IN JURKO TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Prosecution Completes Presentation of Case First Day of Testimony; Defense to Open Today.

Nine witnesses were called by the state Wednesday in the trial of John Jurko, charged with first degree murder in shooting to death of A. B. Vandemark, in a local pool hall here June 25, and following the presentation of their testimony, the prosecution, under the direction of J. W. Taylor, prosecuting attorney, announced the state would rest its case.

The state completed its case a few minutes before 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in about the same time as anticipated by the defense who asked and were granted adjournment until 9:30 o'clock this morning, when the first defense witness will be called.

First on the witness stand for the prosecution was F. A. White, who was standing on the sidewalk near the card room on east Main street, and saw Jurko and his wife coming down the street. Mr. White testified that he noticed Mrs. Jurko attempting to get something out of her husband's pocket. They entered the card room, he testified, after a few words, which he did not hear, he saw Jurko fire at Vandemark and saw Vandemark fall.

Shook Hands.

After the shooting, he testified, Jurko came out of the card room, shook hands with him and made a remark which sounded like, "the will not kill me any more," but which might have been, "he will not bother my wife any more," and declared that he was going to the sheriff's office to give himself up. Mr. White admitted he was a little hard of hearing on questioning by the state and could not be sure exactly what Jurko did say.

Next on the witness stand was John Barber, who was an eye witness to the shooting. He was inside the card room and was seated at a table playing cards. He testified that he saw the shooting occurred. He told of the entrance of Jurko and his wife. He testified that Jurko advanced to the table and shouted, "You have been talking about my wife and I want you to prove what you said." Vandemark, he testified, was placed by its chair by another man or two from Jurko, got up and took a step toward Jurko, he said, and then the shooting followed.

Tells of Wounds.

Dr. W. F. Passer was then called and told of making an examination of the body following the shooting. He said he found five bullet wounds in the body of Vandemark.

Next on the witness stand was Ellis Wolfenden, who was drinking a glass

Greetings Sent to Walter Johnson by Governor of Idaho

Idaho's Son Who Is Noted Pitcher for Washington Has Good Wishes of Citizens Behind Him.

BOISE, Sept. 17 (AP)—Personal greetings and hopes for the success of the "Washington" pitcher—being sent from Gov. C. C. Moore to Walter Johnson, famed pitcher of the Washington Americans. The message is being borne by P. J. Nevin and H. H. Misch of Boise, who stopped in Boise today on their way to Washington by automobile to boost Idaho's son who has achieved such notable success as a baseball pitcher. The letter follows:

"The citizens of the state of Idaho join with me in congratulating you on your exceptional record in the realm of baseball. Your personality, character and ability have always reflected to the credit of Idaho, which thus has been proud to class you as one of its sons. We hope that your club will finish at the head of the American league, as we know you will make a most excellent showing against the Giants, or the club that leads the Nationals. The letters of this letter are traveling from Walter to Washington to him or you—Idaho's own Walter Johnson. Our best wishes are with you always."

CHILEAN PRESIDENT QUILTS; ARMY WINS

ARTURO ALESSANDRI, PRES.

A GROUP of young army officers at Santiago forced Arturo Alessandri, president of Chile, to resign his office according to their desires, but declined to accept when he also tendered his resignation. RAIL SERVICE IS SUFFERING

Chinese War Has Demoralizing Effect Upon Transportation in Large Area.

PEKING, Sept. 17 (AP)—The second reported clash between the Chinese troops of Wu Pei-fu and the Manchurians of Chang Tso-Lin took place today at Wanchelatang, six miles north of Shashatikan and the Chihli border.

The clash between the troops of the two armies was said here not to have been serious. Wanchelatang is the present terminus of the Mukden-Shanhai railway, the tracks between there and Shanhai having been blown from the road by Chang's men to prevent use.

LEGIONNAIRES TO MEET IN OMAHA IN COMING YEAR

Third Day's Session of Annual Convention of World War Veterans Is Long and Busy One.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 17 (AP)—Decision to hold the 1925 convention in Omaha and a rousing ovation for former Judge K. M. Landis, marked the third day's session of the American Legion's sixth annual convention here today.

The fight for this next convention, which is likely to be held early in October, was a nip and tuck affair between the Nebraska city and Port Worth, Texas.

When National Commander John R. Quinn presented Mr. Landis the demonstration that followed surpassed anything the convention had seen.

Indiana's delegation, headed by its band, led a rush for the platform and soon the distinguished visitor was observed by a thicket of department standards.

Interrupted frequently by wild outbursts of applause, Mr. Landis scored the topic assigned him, the Constitution, as this was Constitution day at the convention.

"Why, God bless you," he said, "talk the constitution of the United States to the legion! Had it not been for what the organization represented by this outfit did, there would not be any constitution of the United States."

Scores Villainous Propaganda.

From a bitter denunciation of those who have spread "villainous propaganda" about the legion, he turned to the problem of getting the electorate of the country to the polls, and recommended that any man failing a second time to vote should be cast into jail.

Besides selecting the 1925 meeting place and hearing Mr. Landis, the convention accepted the time and place committee report promising the 1926 convention to Philadelphia, and agreed to entertain an invitation from France for the 1928 convention in Paris.

Greetings from the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and the British legion, and an address by George L. Berry, representing the American Federation of Labor, completed the day's business session.

CAMP GRIEF STRICKEN AS HOPE IS DISPELLED BY WORD FROM MINE

Rescue Parties Emerge From Sublet With Conviction That Chances of Finding Any of Entombed Miners Alive Are Remote. Men Who Escaped Now Engaged in Rescue Work.

SUBLET, Wyo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Grief, born of disaster, grips this little coal-mining community nestled in Willow creek canyon, north of Kemmerer, Wyo., for scarcely a house in the little camp has not felt within the last 30 hours that yesterday came with Sublet's mining disaster.

Tonight twelve men—all heroes to those who survive, men who walked from the smoke and gas filled interior of mine No. 7 of the Kemmerer Coal company last night, are bustling rescue crews back toward the surface by way of the mine's entrance, in the quest for comrades, less fortunate.

Out of a total of 51 men who entered the mine early yesterday morning but 24 have been accounted for. Twelve fought their way to safety after a battle lasting more than four hours following the blast, the debris bodies of 22 have been brought to the surface by their comrades.

When the last rescue crews came to the surface tonight shortly before 8 o'clock, they brought word that killed finally the hopes that any had held throughout the camp today that possibly five of the entombed men would be found alive.

Crowds Escalade workers.

As rescue workers carried the body of a loved one to the surface it was with difficulty that the mine guards were able to restrain those crowding anxiously about in an effort to learn some word of their fate. Gripped with desperation, relatives crowded into the steel roofed shed leading from the mine entrance to the engine house and it was with difficulty that rescue workers made their way to the waiting wagons ready to remove the bodies to the morgues in Kemmerer.

Within the mine, mute signs of the terrible blast, which snuffed out the lives of 39 men, every where were evident. Heavy timbers had been crushed from their overhanging positions, the entryways and had been tossed about and torn as though made of paper. Passage into the entryways was blocked at regular intervals by huge piles of slag and rock, loosened and crashed to the ground below by the force of the explosion.

Cables and electric light wires were strewn about as though by superhuman hands. Progress thus was blocked for the rescue crews that worked frantically to reach the bodies of those they had known for years.

Small pit cars were kept running continuously in and out of the mine during the day and all of the night hauling away debris and wreckage as fast as it could be cleared away by United States Steel Notifies Federal Trade Commission of Its Willingness to Meet Terms of Order.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The United States Steel corporation and other concerns affected have notified the federal trade commission that they will conform "insofar as it is practicable to do so" to the commission's order directing abandonment of the Pittsburgh plus system of establishing prices in the industry.

The decision was made public today by the commission, the respondents having determined to conform "without admitting the validity of said order or the jurisdiction of the commission to make the same."

WORLD FLIERS REACH OMAHA

Journey From Chicago Is Uneventful; St. Joe Next Stop on Schedule.

OMAHA, Sept. 17 (AP)—Another 440 miles of their world encircling flight checked off by the uneventful four day journey, the world fliers, from Chicago to Omaha today, the army world fliers, their planes safely staked out and guarded for the night at Jarvis Offutt air-mail field at Fort Crook, Neb., near here, tonight rested, foregoing a night's rest, in preparation for the 450 mile journey if weather permits, to St. Joseph, Mo., and Muskogee, Okla.

The six airmen, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commanding pilot of the Chicago and his mechanic, Lieutenant Leslie P. Arnold, Lieutenant Eric Nohlen, pilot of the New Orleans, and his mechanic, Lieutenant John Harding, and Lieutenant Leigh Wade with his mechanic, Lieutenant Henry G. Ogden, in the Boston II, spent the night at a hotel after dining privately. They retired early to be at the field in time to have their planes ready to depart at 9 o'clock, central standard time.

Anticipate Arrival Hour.

The landing at Jarvis Offutt field was made at 12:55 this afternoon, about an hour and a half before expected. As a result, the crowd at the field was not as large as had been expected. An army band entertained the crowd as it waited.

The roaring escort of nine army planes which took off from Fort Crook shortly after 12 o'clock to accompany the round-the-world fliers on the final 50 or 60 miles of today's flight, missed the trio entirely. The escort flew straight on from Fort Crook while the world fliers flew directly from Des Moines to Omaha, about 10 miles north of the field. The three Douglas planes had to pick out the field after reaching Omaha and landed unannounced.

Tomorrow's flight program includes a stop of one hour at St. Joseph, 135 miles north of Omaha on the Missouri river, and a continuance to Muskogee, Okla., 225 miles south, after a slight deviation to pass near Kansas City, Mo. The planes will stay at Muskogee overnight and resume their flight to Dallas, Texas, Friday, weather permitting.

Crowd Throngs Streets.

Their arrival over Omaha today was marked by the blowing of factory and shop whistles. "Crowds stood in the streets and watched and waved from building tops, and school children were permitted to file out for a look at the strange 'warriors' marching."

Lieutenant Smith indicated that the flight was one of the smoothest and easiest experiences in the world flight so far as flying conditions were concerned. After passing over Davenport, Iowa, and then Des Moines, the air mail line to Omaha was followed without incident, he said.

The reception committee at the field, pulled the fliers onto an air mail truck platform, introduced them to the crowd and gave each pilot a silver cigarette case and then let down the ropes to permit the crowd to inspect the planes more closely under the eyes of a score of army sentries who guarded against souvenir hunters, however. WHEELER WILL STAND SQUARE ON PLATFORM

Independent Vice Presidential Candidate With LaFollette Upon Curtailment of Powers of Supreme Court.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 17 (AP)—Senator Wheeler of Montana, vice presidential nominee on the independent ticket, grappled again today with the task of explaining publicly the constitutional proposals for which the third ticket stands.

Two Cleveland audiences, both of them larger than any comparable gatherings he has encountered outside of New York city in three weeks of campaigning, heard him. One of them, a luncheon gathering of city business men, was given the privilege of no questions. The second, the largest meeting at night, gave him opportunity for a set speech devoted in part to a denunciation of the republican administration, particularly because of the curbing of the powers of the new General Daugherty, an Ohio man.

Immediately on his arrival in the city, Senator Wheeler issued a statement declaring he expected to be served in Ohio with papers bringing a damage suit against him, founded presumably upon his campaign statements. He declared that whatever the action or result, he would not cease proceeding along lines laid out.

Stands With LaFollette.

He stood with Senator LaFollette, he declared, in his speech at night, on a platform proposing to submit to the American people a constitutional amendment which would limit if not destroy the present power of the supreme court to declare laws unconstitutional. If the amendment was accepted by the people, he said, to repass a law which had been declared unconstitutional, and by that repassage it would become valid and above the court's further interference.

He quoted Abraham Lincoln as having stood for a similar proposition.

"The interests running a hullabaloo about it are not serious," he said, "but they are really fear of the plank in our platform pledging a complete house cleaning in the departments of justice, interior and other executive departments."

The fact is that the attack has been launched because our opponents are desperately anxious to get the republican party out of the defensive position it occupies, and the equally defensive position in which the democratic party was placed by its choice of a presidential candidate. The ballgame began because of that situation."

Strength Is Significant.

He declared that the strength of the third party ticket at the present moment was the "most significant thing."

No Hope Held Out for Lives of Men Entombed in Mine

Number of Victims in Sublet Disaster Now Is Definitely Placed at 39 by Company Officials.

KEMMERER, Wyo., Sept. 17 (AP)—Rescue workers gave their opinion tonight that the explosion in the Kemmerer Utah company's mine at Sublet near here, yesterday, took a toll of 39 lives.

No hope was held that any of the miners who were within the workings when the blast occurred shortly before noon were alive. Twelve men escaped.

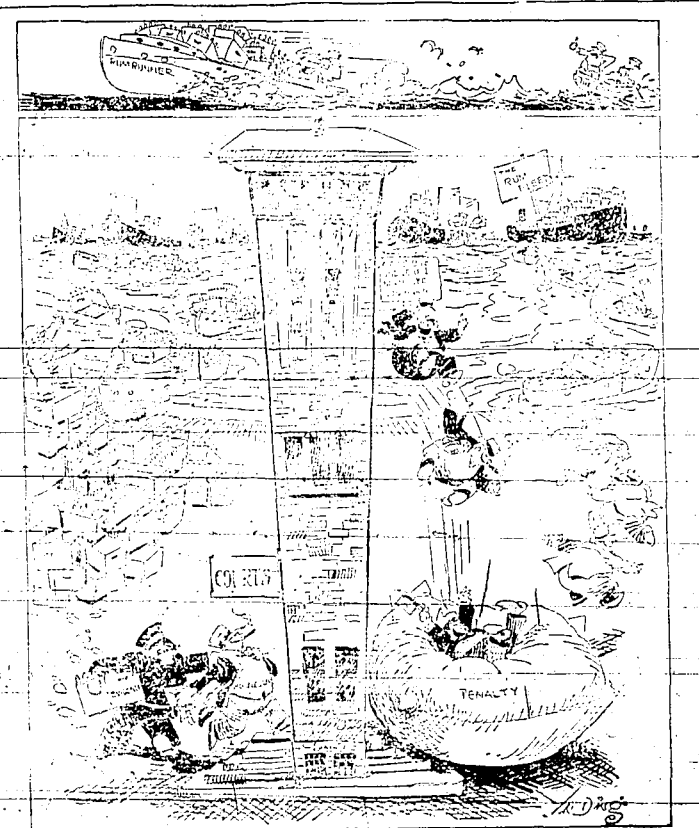

Twenty-two bodies of the victims lay in Kemmerer morgues tonight, while other bodies taken out of the property still were at Sublet. Some funerals will be held tomorrow. In a number of cases, however, it has been impossible to identify the victims, some of whose bodies were so badly mutilated that embalming will be impossible.

Much time was spent today by the rescue workers in cleaning out the main entryways which were clogged with thousands of tons of rock after the explosion. The work was very slow.

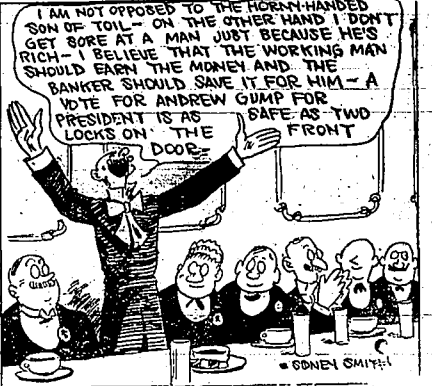

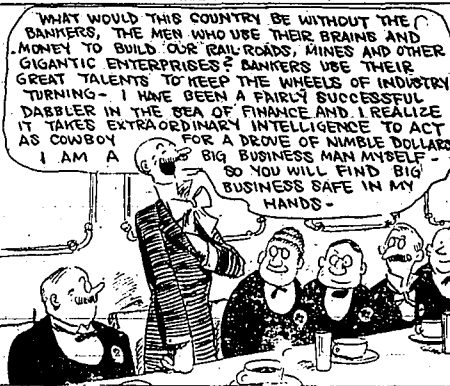

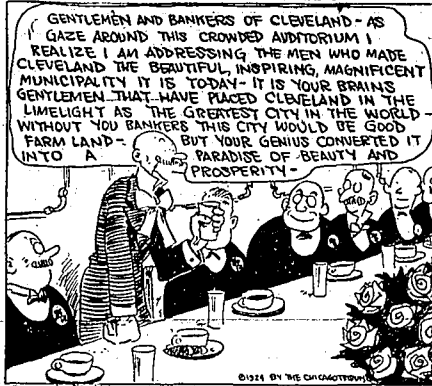

The coal company had not made public a list of names of the men who were in the mine at the time of the explosion up to tonight.

Dr. F. Plann, in charge of the United States bureau of mine rescue, said here, declared tonight that rescue work was going forward as rapidly as possible. Two additional bureau of mines men from Salt Lake were expected during the day and tonight. Dr. Plann, district engineer from Denver, was hurrying here to aid the rescue work.

BAR PUBLIC TO NAVY YARDS OF UNITED STATES

Time-Honored Custom of Permitting Every One to Inspect Ships is Being Revoked; Secrecy Planned.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—The United States navy has at last come around to the policy generally observed by European nations of strict secrecy concerning implements of national defense. The custom of a hundred years is being set aside in the case of the new mine laying submarine for which $6,150,000 has been appropriated. Beyond the fact that her plans call for width of beam, speed and cruising radius beyond anything known in that type, details of the new submersible are jealously guarded.

No nation among the signatories to the Washington arms convention permits inspection of its navy yards in which construction is in progress upon vessels not covered by that agreement. Heretofore but light restraint has been imposed by the United States. Both England and Japan are known to have naval yards in which the newest available—the British H.M.S. X-1 having aroused special comment, although not the slightest detail is known generally of her capabilities. In the case of Japan it has been said officially that the United States government is ignorant of the potentialities comprised in her newest cruisers and destroyer leaders.

HUGE SUM IS SPENT TO AID WAR VETERANS

American Red-Cross in Last Year Has Used $4,300,000 for Benefit of the Disabled Soldiers.

ST. PAUL, Sept. 17 (AP)—The American Red Cross in the last year has spent $4,300,000 for the benefit of disabled veterans and men now in service. John Barton Payne, its national chairman, told members of the American Legion in convention here today, and the Red Cross "now looks forward with interest to the legion assuming this primary service as really its own."

"I am advised by your representatives that assistance given by the Red Cross to the American Legion for its rehabilitation service has now enabled the legion to plan for a self-sustained service," said Mr. Payne. "The Red Cross has had pleasure in standing by in this way during the formative period until this service to the disabled can be made really your own."

Common Bond.
"We have a common bond of interest in serving disabled service men and their families. The Red Cross considers its service to disabled veterans as its first responsibility. This has first call. Our work for the disabled continues in undiminished volume. During the past fiscal year approximately $1,000,000 was expended by the national organization and by the Red Cross chapters for the benefit of the disabled and men now in service. "I trust we shall always have understanding and common interest in the fier, better and healthier American citizenship for two organizations are formed to foster. Throughout the country fine co-operation exists to that end. In disaster, in health and community activities, in citizenship training for the children in our schools, we have opportunity to supplement each other. Your Americanism work has accomplished much. Your fight on illiteracy has brought light to many. Your efforts for a finer citizenship have been commendable.

Starts With Children.

"The Red Cross in its citizenship work is beginning with the children, believing that there is found the most fertile soil for planting the seeds of service to others and the attainment of a great citizenship. Approximately five and one-half million children are members of the American Junior Red Cross and their motto is 'I serve.' "Then through Red Cross public health nurses in 1000 countries, through Red Cross health education work through fresh air and life saving, healthier and stronger bodies are being made possible for the tasks of peace."

BLAME PLACED ON STRIKERS.

LIHUE, Island of Kauai, T. H., Sept. 17 (AP)—Four policemen, killed last week, died from "gunshot wounds received during a riot at Hanalei, caused by an attack on the police by certain Filipino strikers, while the police were engaged in performance of their duty," said the verdict returned by a coroner's jury after an inquest here today.

HISTORIC STONE HOUSED ON FARM

Famous Document Over Which Scientists Puzzle Is Now in Wisconsin.

EPHRAIM, Wis., Sept. 17 (AP)—Kensington Rune Stone, one of the oldest monuments of American history, over which scientists of two continents debated as to its genuineness more than 20 years ago, now has a permanent home on the farm of H. R. Holand, author, near here. Several societies and eminent authorities have classed the stone as authentic as to discovery and context, and say it proves to them that there were white people exploring the interior of America as early as 1300.

The Kensington Rune stone, so-called because of its discovery on the farm of Olaf Ohman, near Kensington, Minnesota, when found was encircled by the roots of a tree, and appeared to be very ancient in character. It carried a date more than 800 years in the past. The assumption of scientists that the stone was inscribed by early Norsemen who landed in America in search of fellow countrymen.

How the stone came to find a resting place in Minnesota has been a matter of conjecture for many years, but the generally accepted theory is that it was carried down in a glacial drift from the region of Hudson bay.

The clothes that well dressed men will wear this fall

Suits this Fall show marked changes in cut and color. Coats hang with plenty of freedom, a trifle snugger below the hips. The button spacing is wide. Vests show a flat, narrow effect at the waistline, with short blunt points. Trousers fit snug at the waist, with plenty of width through the legs and at the cuff. Fabrics show more variety in color, with interesting shades of blue, gray and purple.

In our large selection of suits and overcoats from Hart Schaffner & Marx you will find the correct style notes carried out to the last detail.

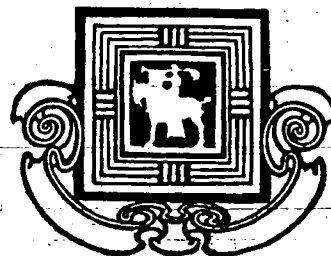

The hats that we are showing this Fall reflect the same color tendencies as the suits. The new grays, blues and browns are here in felts, velours and scratch hats. Schoble and Stetson hats

The new wide trousers demand a new style shoe. Florsheim gives it to you; wide in the toe, short in the vamp; in the popular light tans, and in black calf. Florsheim shoes, most styles.

YANKEES TIED WITH SENATORS FOR TOP PLACE

New York Takes Double Header and Are Even With Washington for the Lead.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17 (AP)—The New York Yankees took both games of the Browns here today, 7 to 3 and 8 to 7, thus tying Washington again for the lead in the American League. The second game was a heavy hitting contest in which the visitors slugged five Brown pitchers for 15 hits, including double by Bush and Papp, Ruth's triple and a home run by Aaron Ward with two men on bases in the third inning. Davis, who was hurling for the Browns, had pitched good ball up to that time.

The Browns collected 15 hits, including two doubles by Tobin and Jacobson and a home run by Jacobson in the seventh inning with two men on bases. "Bullet" Joe Bush, who started on the mound for the Yankees was hit out of the box in the seventh and was relieved by Herbert Franck, who pitched the league safe for the rest of the game.

SENATORS GET TWO STRAIGHT. CLEVELAND, Sept. 17 (AP)—Washington made it two straight from Cleveland today, Walter Johnson holding the Indians to seven hits and winning a pitching duel from Sherrod Smith, 3 to 2. A wild throw by "Big Boy" Walters in the seventh inning to catch Ruel off first enabled Ruel to take third from where he scored the winning run on McNelly's single. Washington scored two runs in the sixth on an infield single by Judge, bases on balls to Harris and Gossard, an error by Burns and a sacrifice fly by Ruel.

It was Johnson's thirteenth straight victory. He fanned six men, increasing his strikeout record for the season to 149 and his all-time record to 3215. Sam Rice, Washington right fielder, today hit his twenty-fourth consecutive game, a season's record in the American League.

RALLY SAVES DAY.

DETROIT, Sept. 17 (AP)—A ninth inning rally that drove Whitehill from the box and netted four runs before Danks could stop it, gave Philadelphia a 9 to 8 victory over Detroit today. Ty Cobb, by making three hits, two of which were for three bases, brought his total number of safeties for the season to 197. He needs only three more in the nine games remaining to be played to beat the records he holds jointly with Willie Keeler of having made 200 or more hits in eight seasons.

BATTLE GOES 10 ROUNDS TO DRAW

Gene Tunney and Harry Greb Go to Limit-Without Advantage to Either.

OLYMPIC ARENA, CLEVELAND, Sept. 17 (AP)—Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, and Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, fought ten rounds on fairly even terms here tonight according to a majority of the newspaper experts at the ring side.

Greb started out to carry the fight to Tunney, but was wild with right and left swings to the head, missing frequently. Tunney centered his attacks on Greb's head and had a clear advantage in the second. He waited for Greb to come in and punched him around the body with jolting right and left hooks.

Greb threw punches from every angle in the third, forcing Tunney to the ropes a couple of times to escape. The middleweight champion won the round by his aggressiveness.

Tunney took some of the speed out of Greb in the fourth, winning the round by a heavy body assault. Tunney forced the Pittsburgher to break ground after he received a savage right under the beard.

Greb Is Aggressive. Greb was the aggressor in the fifth. He reached Tunney with sweeping rights and lefts to the head while Tunney continued his body attack at close range.

Tunney had the shade in the sixth, which was tame. He continued to pound Greb's body in the clinches and caused Harry to miss frequently with right and left swings to the head.

The seventh was fairly even and was filled with lively exchanges. They set such a furious pace that neither heard his bell and continued to exchange punches until the referee separated them.

Tunney's punches were more accurate, many of Greb's swings going around Greb's head and shoulders.

Greb opened up the eighth with a wild fury and almost fell over the top rope while he tried to wild swing. Tunney carried the fight to him, winning the round as the result of effective body punching. Gene complained to the referee that Greb was guilty of butting him with his head.

At the end of the tenth round, the referee separated the fighters. The fight was a draw.

FARM BUREAU OFFICIALS RESIGN THEIR POSITIONS

Secretary and Washington Representative of National Federation Give Up Posts for Other Jobs.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (AP)—John W. Coverdale resigned as secretary and director of organization of the American Farm Bureau Federation at the quarterly session of the executive committee here today and Gray Silver resigned as director of the legislative department and Washington representative of the federation.

The two officials of the farm bureau resigned, it was stated, in order to devote all their time to the newly organized grain marketing company, a corporation which plans ultimately to take over five large grain companies and operate them on a co-operative basis. Mr. Silver is president of the grain marketing company, and Mr. Coverdale is secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Coverdale retained his position as treasurer of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Farm bureau officials said a new secretary probably would not be named before the first of the year but that an acting Washington representative probably will be appointed soon.

crews of volunteer workers. Leads Party to Safety. Mike Dennis, a native of Czechoslovakia, today and tonight is the hero of Subler's greatest disaster. Mike, the father of four small children and an employee of mine No. 5 for the last 12 years, yesterday led 11 of his comrades through the smoke and gas-filled entryways to life, freedom and their families.

Less than an hour after he had gained the open air last night, Mike, at the head of a rescue crew, led them to a spot, where three of his comrades less fortunate, had been crushed beneath huge piles of fallen rock, loosened by the terrific blast that spread death and destruction through more than two miles of entryways and tunnels.

Throughout the night Mike kept at his self-appointed task and when he was relieved tonight for a respite of four hours, he had seen the bodies of most of the men who entered the mine with him early yesterday morning carried out on stretchers and removed to two morgues at Kemmerer.

Rescue crews, working from the main portal of number five, and also from the fire entrance into the mine during the 12 hours immediately following the blast had removed ten bodies.

New Trouble Looms In. With these removed fresh crews cleared the gas and smoke filled passages for the timber and brattice men, who followed, and the night was spent in placing timbers throughout the entries and passage ways.

Start in Morning. The defense, however, said it would be ready to proceed with the trial at the opening of court this morning. It was not indicated who would be the first witness called.

The court room Wednesday was well filled and considerably more interest was shown in the case than on the day before. Whether or not the defense will be able to finish with its witnesses today they were not prepared to say. Court attaches, however, were of the opinion that the trial would probably run over into Friday.

Members of the jury who will bring in a verdict on the guilt or innocence of Jurko are: M. V. Ritchie, C. S. Maxwell, E. R. Mechem, S. H. Burris, D. D. Ryan, James Owen, Ray E. Hopkins, C. C. Draper, L. O. Arnold, W. P. Shinn, J. E. Ross and J. R. Hall.

AT THE IDAHO. There were times yesterday as we sat watching Herbert Brenon's production, "The Side Show of Life," at the Idaho theater, when we laughed right out loud. There were also times when we could not keep back the tears; and there were other times when we weren't at all sure whether we were laughing or crying. From this you will gather that it's a screen-play of fundamental human emotion and human suffering, sacrifice and love. Life itself is a mixture of laughter and tears!

Dairy Association Tells Why Cream Goes to Jerome

L. S. Otto of Elmer, secretary of the Twin Falls County Co-operative Dairymen's Association, in a statement issued Wednesday at the direction of the board of directors of that association, tells why decision was reached by the association to send cream collected from members to the Jerome creamery.

The association directors at a meeting held recently, directed Mr. Otto to prepare the following statement: Observation of the development of the Jerome creamery, the Payette creamery and the wonderful, expensive burden carried by the industry in our own county, is responsible for the effort to eliminate speculation and waste and stabilize food markets in the interests of the members and the public, brought into existence the Twin Falls Dairy association on April 7, at Parish hall, Twin Falls.

Under State Law.
The association is regularly incorporated under the laws of the state of Idaho, and the corporation is vested in a board of five directors.

The corporation is authorized to issue preferred stock of the value of $50 a share, not to exceed 900 shares, none of which has been issued. The directors elected April 7, immediately began their efforts to put into effect a plan to handle the dairy products of 310 members of the association, consisting of the production of 1000 head of cows, scattered from Hansen to Ruhl.

Problem of Financing.
They were confronted with the problem of available working capital and the fact that the production of 1000 cows manufactured into butter, placed in storage and on the market, gave the association no standing whatever in a financial way. Other attempts of getting financial assistance met the same outcome.

Various offers to purchase the association's cream could not be considered seriously as they led away from the very principles upon which the association was founded. It was always the desire to hold the cream in the industry in Twin Falls county, and every means was exhausted to accomplish this, but all failed.

Host From Jerome.
It was then that the directors entertained a proposition from the Jerome Co-operative creamery, which resulted in the directors of the association entering into a contract to deliver the association's cream to the Jerome creamery for one year, beginning October 1, 1924.

The association becomes a stockholder in the Jerome creamery corporation by the purchase of one share of common stock, which puts our association on the same working and profit-sharing basis as all other members of the creamery organization. All cream will carry its proportion of the expenses of gathering, manufacturing and marketing, and all will share alike with the exception of one cent a pound butterfat, which will be charged against all cream collected from house to house which applies to all alike in Jerome county and Twin Falls county.

Use Trucks.
The cream will be collected by light trucks in each locality and sent right on by the heavy trucks to the creamery where all testing and grading will be done by one man hired to give his entire time to receiving and testing the association's cream for the association.

He will make out checks to our members, which will be done as cream is delivered, and checks will be delivered to members on next trip of local collectors, thus eliminating the in-between cream station and taster, and insuring a higher grade product, by the cream going direct from farm to creamery, faster and quicker.

Contract Handling.
All trucking will be done by contract, and will be arranged for and controlled.

fact in American politics," and that its supporters had made it "grow from an angry protest against things as they are to an active, winning campaign to change them."

To his audience at noon he promised that the LaFollette ticket had a definite purpose of punishing corruption he declared existed in the national administration.

"We mean that crooked politicians now walking free on the streets will go to Atlanta penitentiary if we win," he said. "The surface wasn't scratched by the investigations last winter. Bear with us, and we shall turn over the conduct of the treasury and the agricultural departments to show you conditions far worse and necessarily for curative measures far more pressing."

The first question shot at him at the noon session dealt with the comparative efficiency and economy of the Harding and Wilson administrations.

He responded that war made them incomparable, but that the first Wilson administration was entitled to as much credit as the present republican administration, which he declared, "gave away a billion dollars in oil lands in one year."

Peace Days Made Possible.
"Where do you stand on the league of nations?" was the next demand.

"I say that the United States should co-operate with the civilized nations of the world," he responded. "And now that England, France and Germany have liberal governments, the first step toward co-operation is to give the United States one, too. Then we can have peace days instead of defense days."

Other questions raised the constitutional references, which he said he would answer by his night speech.

"We would put the question up to the people," he said. "You can't have a supreme court invalidating child labor laws by five to four decisions. We have no intent to let congress disregard constitutionality in enacting laws. That is misapprehension. But there isn't anything sacred about the supreme court when Harry Daugherty has named three of its members."

Something to Worry About.

"I am blue. I've been rejected."

"Oh, cheer up! There are plenty of other girls, you know."

"Girls be longed! It's an insurance company that has done the rejecting."

APPLE PACKING IN TWIN FALLS OPENS

First apples to be received in Twin Falls for packing and shipping, out were brought in Wednesday afternoon to the J. H. Beaver warehouse, according to Mr. Beaver. Mr. Beaver has contracts with several large eastern concerns for packing apples at his warehouse this fall. Among these are the Steinhardt-Kelly company, which it was announced, had leased the warehouse of Mr. Beaver. This is not true according to Mr. Beaver, as several concerns have contracts like the New York company for packing fruit.

Apples brought in Wednesday were from the Wright and Easley orchards and from the Drey orchards. This fruit, officials say, is of the finest grade and will run high in packing.

EFFECTIVE EDUCATION.

The superintendent of Chicago public schools has recently raised the question of school efficiency. In a report to the board of education he urged an effort to change education from a fourth of July boast to a proved science. He demanded that the schools be made to show definite accomplishments in return for the huge sums spent on them annually.

It is a timely question. Many persons agree that not enough money is spent on education in this country in comparison with the funds devoted to luxuries and to war. But the educators are right who ask that we be sure that such money as is used for education be used as effectively as possible. And that brings up the old question as to what education is or should be.

The Chicago superintendent stresses particularly the "fundamentals" of education. Certainly it should not be too much to ask, he thinks, that a public school pupil, after a reasonable length of time, should know how to write legibly and spell correctly. He deprecates the "chewy" course of a "boy" and asks for a simplification of the curriculum.

On the whole, of course, he is right. Yet it is conceivable that a pupil might learn to read and write well and still remain little more than a mass of perfect empty tanks. If he hasn't learned to use his mind, to decide and solve new problems, if he hasn't grown in mental power and strength of character and moral force, then his legible writing is not enough to make him an educated person.

One of the things which the public schools of this country, and even the higher institutions of learning, need is to have a larger number of citizens think about education and decide what it ought to be and what sort of men and women it should produce. When some enlightened agreement on these points has been reached, the matter of courses of study will be easily enough adjusted.

JAPANESE HATRED.

Japan has a new gospel of hate, "patriotic societies," organized by the American exclusion act, have planted all the telephone poles in Tokyo with a set of rules, conspicuous among which is this:

"Hate everything American; but remain kind to American individuals."
This sounds good, but its logic is worse than its bite. Native, surely, was there such Platonic hatred recommended to a nation.

The Japanese are to hate Americans, or rather American error, with a bitter, implacable hatred, while continuing kind and courteous to American men, women and children. Most Americans will say that it can't be done. At least, it is never done among occidental races. If the Japs can hate on while loving the sinners, they are better Christians than may be found in Christendom. But give them credit for trying.

Smallest Fish of All.

Probably the smallest fish in the world are to be found in Lake Biha in the mountains of the island of Luzon. In the Philippines. The natives call the fish the singurang. It is the smallest vertebrate animal known to science, weighing only half a gram and its maximum length is half an inch. Scientifically known as Mistletoe, it is one of the smallest species would weigh a pound. It would require $10,000,000 of them to equal in weight the 60 tons of the average blue whale.

"Matrimonially Speaking"

My wife leaves change lying around our house.

It may be change for a quarter or change for $5—it doesn't make the slightest difference to her.

She's always sure that the next time she needs some money she'll know just where she left it. But things never work out that way.

It's a goodly reason for her just to ask me for more money than to hunt up this capital that she has deposited in bureau drawers and coat pockets, under pianoteas and table corners, under pin trays and blotters.

Every time she cleans house she locates at least ten or fifteen dollars' worth of silver and bills.

"Why—just like finding money, isn't it?" she always asks cheerily. "Aren't you glad you have such a saving vein?"

"I'm glad to know where some of my money goes," I tell her, "but if you're thinking of opening a savings account, I'd suggest a bank—not a ten-room house."

TRICKS PLAYED WITH COIN

Various Methods Explained so That You Can Entertain Your Friends.

The trick of making a coin stick on a surface will greatly puzzle your friends when you perform the seeming magic for them.

Take a coin, and, placing it flat against a door or some other smooth surface, rub the neck and front of your fingers down the coin or more. Take away your hand after repeating a mystic chant, and the coin will stay there. After a few moments it will drop. The explanation is that the rubbing of the coin on the smooth surface heats and drives the air out from under the coin, thus leaving the atmospheric pressure on the exposed face to hold it in place. After the coin has had time to cool, the air gets under it and it drops off. Be sure the coin you use has a good rim on it and the surface on which you put it is very smooth.

Another trick is performed with a bottle, a match, and the coin. Break the match stick so that the two parts hang together by only a few fibers of wood. Place it in a vase on the neck of the unopened bottle, and then on the match lay the coin. Now ask your friends if they can make the coin fall into the bottle without touching the match. The coin or the bottle.

Various solutions will be tried, but the winning one is this:

Dip your finger in a glass of water, and, placing it above the angle formed by the match, allow a few drops to fall in the broken place. The fibers of the wood, swollen by the moisture, will try to straighten themselves, and you will see the angle of the match increase little by little until it gradually works out from under the coin and the money drops into the bottle.

All Right for Seven Cents.

The neighbors said that Jake Newman was strictly honest but "pretty snug." One morning as he was having his sheep sheared he found that one of them was missing. "It must have jumped the fence and gone into Lexie's lot," he said to himself and immediately walked over to Lexie's place. The pasture, picked out a sheep that resembled his own and after a while, got it home and had it sheared. A few days later Jake discovered his missing sheep dead in his pasture. He lost no time in seeking his neighbor. With profuse apologies he returned the sheep and the fleece and explained the whole affair. "Oh, that's all right, Lexie," Lexie replied. "Don't let it trouble you a bit. You're sure it's all right?" Jake asked anxiously. "Sure, sure, Jake. Lexie is likely to be a bit of a troublemaker, but she's all right."

"Well, it ought to be all right. I had seven cents to have that sheep sheared."

The Wise Bellboy.

Among the guests at a small hotel was a woman from a country district. The landlady noticed every night that she came downstairs and got a pitcher of water. One night he asked her why she did not ring the bell for the bell-boy to bring the water to her.

"No bell-boy in room, isn't it? Let me show you."

He took the pitcher of water in his hand and escorted her to her room. Entering the room, he was admitted out to her the pitcher of water.

AN ORGASM BEHOLD!

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale
BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER
MONKEY ZOO LAND

First of all Billie Brownie called upon the Spider Monkey. He was very tame and came rushing down from the high bar in his cage upon which he had been swinging and spoke to Billie and Billie pet him.

"Why were you named Spider Monkey?" Billie asked.

"It is the family name," said Spider Monkey, "and so I naturally have the name too, as I belong to the family."

"But," said Billie Brownie, "you don't eat spiders, do you? Of course I can see that you are a monkey." "Oh," said the Spider Monkey, "you would like to know why the family has been given the name of Spider Monkey?"

"That is just what I would like to know," said Billie Brownie.

"Then I will tell you," said the Spider Monkey.

"You see," he said, "I am black in color and I look like a spider because I have such very long arms and legs. That is why the family has been given the name of Spider Monkey."

"We are monkeys and yet the first one to give us this name said: 'Not only are they monkeys, but they look something the way spiders do with their long arms and legs. Let us call them Spider Monkeys.'"

"So they did. And this is the name we have always had."

The Spider Monkey did some tricks for Billie Brownie and then Billie called on the White-Handed Gibbon, also a member of the monkey family.

The White-Handed Gibbon showed Billie how nicely he walked upon his two feet without using his hands at all, and he came and sat down with his back to Billie so Billie would scratch his back.

"I really think," said Billie, "you should have been named Feline-Walker-White-Handed Gibbon, but perhaps that is too long a name. Anyway you have your name now and I suppose you had better stick to it."

"Besides I was not around when you were being named."

Then Billie went to call on Fanny, an old lady chimpanzee. She had grown quite old since Billie had last seen her, and she looked as though she felt a little sad that she was old.

"Sure you can; you can phone from here," said that delicate, blonde, mustached official pleasantly. "Phone Murphy's garage, and they'll take you up there. The Josephyne who have the old Perry place, isn't it? Sure, it's about six miles out of town, up in the hills. He meditated a second, and then, with a burst of interest, he added, 'Say, Mrs. Josephyne was in here about a minute ago. Know her car? It must be right outside here.'"

And he obligingly stepped to the door with the newsmen, and looked up and down the street.

"That's the car," he said, indicating one that had been left empty before the post office door. "If you get in there and wait for Mrs. Josephyne she'll be right out of somewhere."

Joe Lathum went across the street again, and took the baby from its mother's arms.

"That's Ellen's car, there," he said, smiling nervously. Lizzie did not speak. Her cheeks were burning with excitement. "I can't believe we're here," Joe chimed in, thought, "in a few minutes we'll see her."

"Oh, don't," Lizzie said, faintly. With the baby on her arm, and the big suitcase in his free hand, Joe went to the waiting motor, and Lizzie, carrying the little suitcase, followed. Her husband's wife and baby in the motor, but she was too nervous himself to join them. She, and walked up and down the street to the bank, and asked a question of the teller.

After a smiling survey of the scene, during which the teller apparently entirely unobserved, the man crossed the street to the bank, and asked a quesdown. Instead, turning his head, he saw a scream-bomb banged, to look Lizzie.

Suddenly they saw her, in a doorway a hundred feet away, talking to some other marketing woman. The same Lizzie, with her blue honest eyes and her sensitive, sweet mouth. There was some new quality in her face and manner; that was it—responsibility, gravity, tenderness. Joe could not tell.

He walked up to her, and she raised surprised eyes.

"Morning, Mrs. Josephyne!"

The puzzled look in her eyes changed swiftly, and she put her hands out and caught at him vaguely, as if to hold a dream.

"Joe Lathum! Joe!" She groined for her handkerchief, laughing as she wiped her eyes; tears of joy stood in his own. "But Joe dear, what brings you here? I simply can't believe it! I can't believe my eyes!" she said.

"Lizzie brought me," Joe grinned. Ellen dropped his hand to go swiftly to the motorcar.

"Lizzie!" she echoed radiantly. Her eyes fell upon the bundle in Lizzie's arms, across which Lizzie must lean to return her kiss. "But—but—what?" Ellen stammered. "You—you haven't got a baby?"

Joe thought that one moment was worth all the fatigue of the long trip. "Haven't we?" he said, as Ellen, standing on the curb with the precious bundle in her arms, opened the tissues that screened the tiny face, and bent her own cheek against the warm, unresponsive little cheek.

"Well, I have never had such a delightful surprise in my life!" Ellen exclaimed. "You darling!" she crooned to the baby. "What did you name him, Joe?"

"We thought a good name for him would be Ellen," grinned Joe. It was good to hear her old laugh again, and she gave the pleasure in her eyes as she glanced from face to face.

"Named for me? My own tiny niece?"

Ah, Joe, you make me proud!" She gave the baby back to Lizzie, and stood for a moment, resting her hands on the car door, and still trying to regain her breath after the surprise.

"Well, now, I'll take you home! I may have something else to do while I'm in town, but it has gone completely out of my head, if I have! I can't wait to get home, to show Gibbs what I've brought with me!"

Talking of little, inconsequential things, as those who love each other, and who meet after years, always must do at first, they drove through the dusty street, and past flat fields where great naked trees bled of shade on the shining brown grass, and so climbed a curving road into the hills.

Why Postpone Economy?

Start Cooking Electrically Now

FACTS are facts. And figures give conclusive proof that electric cooking is the most economical. (These figures show that in 4990 homes served by the Idaho Power Company, the cost of electric cooking during March, April, May, June and July of this year averaged $3.14 a month in each home.)

Why be satisfied with old-fashioned cooking methods, with wasted heat and accompanying higher fuel cost? Why cook in an overheated kitchen and wash smoky, grimy pans daily? Why deny yourself the unqualified comfort, efficiency and convenience of an electric range when you may buy one so easily, so reasonably—and SAVE each day you use it?

"There Is No Substitute for Electric Cooking"

Let us prove to your own satisfaction the economy of electric cooking. Let us show you the convenience of the operation of an electric range. Let us show you the many types from which you may choose. Won't you call for a demonstration—TODAY!
