Labor of Last Three Weeks on Eve of Reward, Appearances at Geneva Indicate.

GENEVA, Sept. 22 (AP)—After three weeks of labor, success seems in sight for the Geneva conference, which is hoped to be a landmark in the history of the 50 nations who are striving to put an end to all war through arbitration and security and a reduction of armaments. A protocol on arbitration and security has virtually been agreed upon and is expected to be ratified by the nations before the opening of the present assembly of the league of nations decided today to recommend the convocation of a great international conference on reduction of armaments in Geneva on June 15, 1925.

The United States and all other countries not now members of the league of nations will be invited to participate in the conference. As soon as the league's assembly ratifies the protocol the league experts will buckle down to the work of preparing the program for the conference, which must be forwarded to all governments at least two months before the time set for the opening session.

The text of the protocol will be presented to the assembly next Wednesday, allowing for two days discussion before the full disarmament commission. The present plans are that 15 states must ratify the protocol before the arms conference can actually be held. Several of these states, probably three or four of them, must have representatives on the council of the league of nations, but the question regarding the number necessary for ratification has not yet been definitely determined upon.

The "big twelve," the name given to the group of leaders handling the disarmament discussion, are proceeding on the theory that the necessary ratification will be obtained. Hence their determination to strike out boldly and fix a definite date for an arms conference which, of course, will be

MANY CHANGES DECIDED UPON

Screen Pass Virtually Eliminated from Football at Denver Meeting on Rules.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 22 (AP)—Virtual elimination of the screen pass was the outcome of the rules interpretation meeting here Saturday of the Rocky mountain conference football coaches and managers. Under the interpretation placed on the ruling by the body, in which was represented every school in the conference with the exception of Montana State and Utah members, any line men going down the field during a screen pass must not interfere in any way with the defense. The burden of the interpretation falls on the officials but conference coaches tonight regarded the decision as practically eliminating the use of the famous pass play. A 15-yard penalty for interference will be imposed to hold the ball on the kickoff. Other rules, in the opinion of the coaches, obscure as to meaning, were clarified for conference use.

The on-side kick also came in for discussion by the coaches who held that although the 1924 rules practically eliminate the kick play, it was permissible for any on-side offensive man to interfere with a defensive man attempting to receive the kick so long as his efforts, in the opinion of officials was directed wholly toward an effort to catch the ball himself and not to simply prevent the defense from obtaining possession of the oval.

BRYAN ADDRESSES FARMER

Democratic Vice Presidential Candidate Bryan Is Interested in Applying Business Principles to Government.

AURORA, Neb., Sept. 22 (AP)—Without naming parties or candidates, Governor Charles W. Bryan, Democratic vice presidential candidate, ran the gamut of outstanding questions of the campaign in an extemporaneous address here Saturday before the largest farmers audience he has had since his speech at the county fair at Madison, Neb. He addressed the non-partisan gathering of the Hamilton county farmers union, which held its sixth annual picnic at the county fair grounds and spoke as a man "who never had time to discuss theories." But as one who was "interested in applying business principles to government."

Governor Bryan dealt primarily on agriculture, but took occasion to pay generous tribute to the women voters of the country, to laud the work of the farmers' unions in wiping out the middle man, to attack the building up of party machines, both state and national, for patronage purposes, and to call upon the people to demand of each candidate that appeared before them to explain specifically his views on "progressive" issues.

FIRE, burglary and health protection, represented in a telephone instrument, costs but a few cents a day.

In the dead of night you may discover your home on fire. You must call for help quickly. A telephone summons brings the department on the run. That's protection.

Police can be called quickly and quietly if you have a telephone. That's protection, too.

And suppose the baby suddenly falls ill. A doctor is needed NOW. The telephone saves priceless minutes. That's the best protection of all.

DAVES RECORD IS UNDER FIRE

Senator Wheeler Launches Strong Attack on Public and Private Actions.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—An assault on the private and public record of General Daves, republican vice presidential candidate, was launched today in Chicago by Senator Wheeler of Montana, nominee for the same office on the independent ticket.

A capacity crowd at a night mass meeting heard Senator La Follette's running mate unleash his oratorical guns and the address was the third of a series delivered in the city during the day. The chink of money along with the booming of flashlight cameras became a regular preliminary to each of Senator Wheeler's speeches, for at a noon luncheon and a 6 o'clock banquet as well as at night, the leaders of the third ticket campaign sought and got substantial campaign fund contributions from his auditors.

His night audience worked up by preliminary speakers, hailed Senator Wheeler's declaration that he had "come to tell something about Daves," first with cheers and then with sympathetic boing, he went straight to quotations from pre-campaign speeches made by General Daves, which showed the republican candidate to be, he said, an opponent of "a free democracy." He proceeded thereafter to an alleged description of banking transactions involving a failed Chicago bank organized by former Senator Lorimer of Illinois, in which he said General Daves had participated.

WASHINGTON IS 2 GAMES AHEAD OF THE YANKEES

Senators Go on Batting Rampage and Defeat Chicago by Score of 8 to 3; Drive Cven-gros from Box.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Washington went on a batting rampage in the seventh inning today, and by driving Mike Ceven-gros off the mound, easily defeated Chicago, 8 to 3, and retained their two game margin over the Yankees, who defeated Cleveland.

Walter Johnson faced the locals and after getting away to a bad start because of an error by Blum, settled down and had little trouble holding the Evans men. It was the fourteenth consecutive game won by the Senators' ace. He also fanned five men, giving him a season's total of 154, and a lifetime mark of 3220.

Harris started the league leaders to victory when he singled to left. Ceven-gros was unable to stop the attack and retired after Blum had sent his club ahead with a double which scored two runs. Johnson was given sensational support, the work of McNeely in center and Manager Harris at second base being outstanding. Fock led the batting attack for the senators with four hits, while Sam Rice ran his string of safe hitting in consecutive games to 29.

The score: R. H. E.
Washington..... 8 14 1
Chicago..... 3 7 0
Batteries—Johnson and Ruel; Cven-gros, Lyons and Crouse.

NEW YORK TAKES GAME.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22 (AP)—New York took the first game of the series from Cleveland, 10 to 4, by staging a five-run rally in the ninth.

Joe Bush outpitched Coveleskie, holding the Indians to seven hits and striking out six.

Pipp's batting was a great factor in the result. In the third inning his double placed Ruth in a position to score on an infield out. His triple in the seventh scored Dugan while his double in the ninth drove in three runs.

A Texas league single by Bengough in the second inning accounted for two runs.

Bush was practically invincible except in the third when Cleveland scored three runs on two passes, two singles and an error.

The score: R. H. E.
New York..... 10 19 8
Cleveland..... 4 7 3

BROOKLYN TEAM MOVES FORWARD

Defeat of Chicago Advances Standing—to Within One Point of Giants.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Brooklyn, by winning from Chicago today, 2 to 1 in 12 innings, advanced to within one point of the Giants, whose game with Pittsburgh, one and one half contests back of the two leaders, was postponed by rain.

Washington retained its two game advantage in the American league over New York as Walter Johnson won his fourteenth straight game by defeating Chicago 8 to 3. The Yankees won from Cleveland 10 to 4 and Detroit defeated Boston, but the Tigers dropped out of the race as they cannot win now even by taking all four of their four contests if Washington loses its six.

The Senators can now clinch the pennant by winning five of the six games, or tie by winning four, even though the Yankees take their remaining six Pittsburgh, by winning all of its eight games, can finish ahead of New York and Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN WINS FROM CHICAGO

Game Goes Twelve Innings with Score 1 to 2; Wheat Gets Double to Center.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 22 (AP)—Zack Wheat's double to right center in the twelfth inning, scoring Mitchell from first gave Brooklyn a two-to-one verdict over Chicago in the opening game of the series here today. Bill Doak, twirling for the Dodgers allowed but five safe hits and turned in his tenth consecutive victory. The Dodgers gain half a game on the Giants by winning today while the New York club was idle because of rain.

It was a pitchers' battle all the way between Doak and Aldridge, the latter weakening in the final inning and allowing two successive hits, which resulted in Brooklyn's victory. The Cubs scored their lone tally in the second inning on a bunt on balls and consecutive singles by Grigby and Hartnett.

The Dodgers scored their first run in the third inning on Grantham's error. Stock's pass and High's single. The winning run came with one out in the twelfth. High grounded out. Mitchell singled to center and scored a moment later on Wheat's stinging double to right center.

The final inning was played in a slight drizzle.

FISHERMEN FIND BODY OF WOMAN IN SNAKE RIVER

Mother of Six Children, Mrs.
J. C. Ault of Gooding, Accidentally Drowned; Husband
Makes Frantic Search.

Fisherman in a boat found the body of Mrs. J. C. Ault, 46, of Gooding, lodged between the rocks in the rapids below Gooding's ferry Sunday morning after her husband and ranchers along the river had spent the night and early morning hours searching along the shores and in the river for her, following her disappearance Saturday afternoon between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock, according to P. J. Grossman, Twin Falls county coroner, who was summoned to take charge of the body.

Mrs. Ault, with her husband and six small children live on a ranch near Gooding, had spent Saturday afternoon fishing along the banks of the Snake river. She became tired about 3 o'clock and told her husband that she was going back to the tent which they had pitched nearby. He went on fishing and returned to the tent about five o'clock. Not finding Mrs. Ault there, he started a search for her and when this proved unsuccessful notified ranchers nearby who formed a searching party and started out to look for her. The night was spent in attempting to find the body, the husband by that time being convinced that she had fallen in.

Built Citizens
Dr. J. H. Murphy, Harry Wilson and T. Brown, all of Bull, were on the river Sunday morning fishing and knew nothing of the search. Nearing the rapids in the river below the old ferry they saw the body of a woman lodged in the rocks in the water and managed to get the body out and to a small island nearby. Hurrying to the Gooding ferry, they notified the coroner who was informed of the search and notified the husband.

Mrs. Ault, Mr. Grossman declared, after a thorough investigation, had evidently been on her way back to camp when she slipped on the rocks bordering the stream and fell in, being caught out again. The body had floated almost a mile from where she evidently had slipped and gone in.

The body was taken to Gooding where funeral services will be held. An inquest need not be necessary, Mr. Grossman said. Mr. and Mrs. Ault were alone and enjoying a quieting after strenuous summer of work on their ranch. Their children were not along.

FLIERS RETURN TO SAN DIEGO FIELD

H. Smith, commander of the squadron, dropped the wheels of his air cruiser on the ground of historic Rockwell field, where the army turned out many members of the service. He said that there still remains a great establishment for the training of American army aviators.

Others Follow Fast.
Lieutenant Eric Nelson, wingmate of Smith on the entire world voyage, brought his ship to the field at 10:34:51 followed by Lieutenant Leigh Wade at 10:35 o'clock.

Despite the triple patrol of blue-jackets, marines and cavalrymen Colonel Frank Lahn, air officer in charge of the Ninth corps area, who flew from San Francisco to greet the aviators, and Major Shepley W. Fitzgerald, commander of Rockwell field, had a difficult time fighting their way to the flag-draped reviewing stand. Lieutenants Nelson, Ogden, Harding, Arnold, Wade and Smith, the fliers and their mechanics, with their relatives, members of the reception committee, finally were grouped together for the official welcome.

SHOE MARKET SELLS OUT

Negotiations were concluded Monday whereby the Golden Rule took over the stock of the Shoe Market, established here some five years ago by Thomas McElwain. Mr. McElwain has accepted a position with the Golden Rule, where he may be found in the future. During the years he operated the Shoe Market, Mr. McElwain has built up an enviable reputation for himself and for the business he conducted. His desire to be identified with an organization such as the Golden Rule, however, was a deciding factor in the sale.

BOISE, Sept. 22 (AP)—The first 300-mile endurance horse race to be completed under national rules in the United States this year was finished at Boise-Saturday afternoon when five riders reported to the judges in front of the grandstand at the barracks polo field. Twenty-seven horsemen were entered at the start last Tuesday. Seven started Saturday and two horses were disqualified on the road Saturday because of fatigue. Governor C. O. Moore will announce the winners of the race and present the prize money and trophies at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Gymkana at the barracks polo field.

DISCUSS PLANS OF WORLD TOUR

Preliminary Arrangements Under Way for Baseball Visit to Europe.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Preliminary arrangements for the European tour of the New York National and Chicago American league baseball teams were announced tonight by President Charles A. Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox. It will be the first baseball expeditionary force since the world tour of the same teams in 1913. While the other trip, despite an initial outlay of $100,000, was a profitable venture, the agreement signed this time provides that all profits shall be turned over to charity.

Prospects for the financial success of the trip are far brighter this time than in 1913, President Comiskey declared, as the trip is to be confined to those European states where the American doughboys made the American national pastime popular. The countries to be visited are British Isles, France, Germany, Italy and Belgium.

FAMOUS EXPERT TO VISIT HERE

Ad Topperwein, Greatest Rifle Shot in the World, to Perform in Twin Falls.

Ad Topperwein of San Antonio, Texas, the greatest rifle shot in America and probably in the entire world, will be in Twin Falls on Saturday, October 4.

He will give an exhibition of rifle shooting of all kinds, under the auspices of the Twin Falls Gun club, arrangements for which are now being made. In the shooting profession "Ad" Topperwein is known as the "wizard of the rifle." He can do more things with a rifle than Walter Johnson can do with a baseball, or the late Frank Yates could do with a billiard ball.

The San Antonio (Texas) Express says that Topperwein is the best advertisement that town has, because he always keeps the place in the newspapers through his wonderful shooting. The Express is proud, too, because Topperwein took up rifle shooting while he was an apt student at that paper. He got his ideas for a lot of the things he does today while he was working up photographs.

Mr. Rank; address, "Holding the Line," Mr. Bloom; victory song, quartette; benediction, the Rev. Mr. Rank.

graphic layouts for the Express. But that is all of the past.

Green Shoot in the World.
Topperwein today is the greatest rifle shot in the world. We say this because it is right.

On no less than 15 times has he broken all world's records with the rifle in shooting at flying targets. On one occasion he broke 85 out of 100 25-inch targets thrown from an automobile going 30 miles an hour. He first tossed the targets and then shot at them. An other record is 4954 breaks out of 5000 1 1/2-inch targets, and an even more wonderful one is the record of 9999 out of 10,000 1/4-inch flying targets. Topperwein was surprised when he missed the one target.

Possibly the most remarkable shooting with a rifle was at San Antonio in July, 1907, when he shot eight hours a day for 10 days and only missed nine in 72,500 2 1/4-inch wooden blocks that were tossed 25 feet in the air by an assistant. When Topperwein began it was his intention to shoot at 5000 targets a day for ten days, and to create the world's record for this line of shooting. The score paid no attention as the thousands rolled by, and it was in the 7000 block that Topperwein made the first miss, so then the decision was made to shoot 7500 a day, unless the ammunition ran out, which is what happened. Out of the first 50,000 blocks shot at Topperwein missed only four. Not only did Topperwein shoot at the blocks, but he loaded his Winchester every one of the 72,500 times.

Makes Extraordinary Runs.

In this remarkable test of shooting skill and endurance Topperwein had straight runs of 2,440, 13,557, 12,238, and 10,923. It isn't likely that this record will ever be broken. It is a tremendous strain to undergo such a performance. From the standpoint of endurance and the number of targets shot at and broken this feat stands as the world's greatest shooting performance. Topperwein is the originator of many marvelous fancy shots. Also the drawing of heads, such as Uncle Sam, Indian chief and other people prominent in everyday life. To conceive the idea of drawing pictures with his rifle bolts while an artist, and his artistic temperament is still with him. A large piece of tin or cardboard is used, fastened to posts in front of the audience and then as fast as the automatic will fire Topperwein draws the profile of Uncle Sam and others with bullets. In every sense of the word he is a remarkable shooter.

Mr. Topperwein for a space of years has been giving this wonderful shooting exhibition in behalf of the Winchester Repeating Arms company. He is now on tour and will give one of his remarkable shooting exhibitions here on the afternoon of Saturday, October 4, at the local gun club grounds.

He will give exhibitions of shooting with various styles of shotguns and rifles and everyone interested is invited to attend and see the remarkable shooting by the champion. Topperwein in his exhibition uses 14 guns. The exhibition is free in every sense of the word.

The shooting will begin at 3:30.

September 21, 1924.
Editor Twin Falls News:

Would it not have been better if the attached paragraph had been left out and saved a perfectly good editorial?

If these twelve men have rendered a service to society which should earn them the gratitude of all right-thinking persons, what good can come if their verdict is lost sight of and a lesser penalty imposed?

Yours truly,
A SUBSCRIBER.

The paragraph to which our correspondent refers is as follows:

It is possible that Jurko will never be executed. It is not vital necessary that he should be. But the sentence will stand forever as a warning to would-be criminals and there will be many a case where a man will think twice in the future before he starts out to take the mission of the law into his own hands.

Probably the sentence, "it is possible that Jurko will never be executed," is not necessary that he should be.

It is the point aimed at rather than the entire paragraph and, assuming this to be true, we are rather inclined to agree with the writer of the letter.

What, after all, is the sense of having a capital punishment statute in Idaho if its sole use is merely to give men an opportunity to point to it as something that to scoff? If it isn't right, get rid of it; if it is, enforce it.

This is a good sound average view of the matter, it would appear—at any rate it is the view of the Twin Falls News.

It is not as though the law provided for the execution of all murderers, it does nothing of the kind. It leaves to the jury the task of deciding what crimes are attended by circumstances serving to palliate the offense and which are sufficiently deliberate, brutal and cold blooded to merit hanging, and this is exactly as it should be.

But the main lesson, for the immediate present at any rate, is in the verdict rather than in the carrying out of the sentence.

No reason whatever for any mitigation of the verdict has as yet presented itself but further legal process is necessary before that verdict can be carried into effect. There is still the sentence, and after that a review of the case by the Supreme Court. When the last legal body shall have certified to the soundness and legality of the conviction will be quite time enough to begin to think about the ghastly final details.

The jury performed a difficult task in a manner which should serve as a lesson to the jury of the future. And, in date, this is the point which we wish most to emphasize.

A MATTER OF REGRET
It is to be regretted that when a speaker of the standing and importance of Colonel Bryan elects to deliver a Sunday afternoon discourse in our city, the pleasant and satisfactory of both speaker and audience should be so sadly marred as was the case yesterday as the result of the actions of some twenty-five Twin Falls children.

The children played about between the speaker and the audience continuously. They climbed the speaker's stand, laughed, shouted, whistled with one another and ran about to their hearts' content. They were continued again and again by individuals as well as by the police officer on duty in the park, without the slightest effect.

There is, very real lament in Twin Falls today as a result of this

Breakfast Food
"Matrimonially Speaking"
By MRS. HUGH MCKAY

My husband takes great care of all his cuts and scratches.

He's continually painting himself with iodine and wrapping up fingers and toes in cotton and adhesive plaster.

He has a shelf full of necessities of the sort that would make a first aid station look foolish. I almost think that he enjoys every scratch he gets, because he has such a good time fixing himself up afterward.

It's a very quiet week, indeed, around our house that he can't be seen bustling about with some sort of band-aid.

My friends, who don't understand this habit of his often come up to me and say: "I do hope your husband isn't badly hurt. I saw him going down the street this morning and—"

"He's not hurt," I always feel like telling them. "He's only keeping up his medical practice."

Tomorrow: My wife begins talking about a new fur coat at this time every year.

Possibly the kids knew no better, but their parents should have. Such conduct might have been all right at a county fair. It was sadly out of place in the city park yesterday afternoon.

TELEPHONE FAILINGS.
"The telephone operator is often blamed by patrons," says an Illinois editor, "but the operator is an expert and is more apt to speak correctly than the individual who grabs up the instrument excitedly and jabbers in a stream of speaking softly, distinctly and carefully. The eleventh commandment might be, 'Remember thine own short-comings.'"

There is more truth than poetry in this testimonial to the long-suffering exchange girl. Despite her occasional lapses from perfection, she is, indeed, usually an "expert" in her line. Patrons could benefit greatly by observing and imitating her careful caustion, her directness, her brevity and attention to business and her ability to get the most effective use out of a telephone instrument. Many an operator can communicate over a wire more clearly in a whisper than some subscribers do by shouting.

When all's said, however, the most characteristic of the typical telephone operator is her patience with a careless, impatient and exasperating public. When she is treated as intellgently and courteously as she ordinarily treats subscribers, there is seldom any trouble.

Among the game birds there was a collection of "game" birds from the Idaho Game Commission and a number of "game" birds from the Idaho Game Commission.

Schools in Early Days
The first schools were started in the early history of mankind. Schools were first held out of doors and the teaching was conducted orally, similar to the Hindu Brahmin schools. Among the Hebrews the laws were expounded by oral teaching from the porches of the temples. The amount of instruction greatly increased from the more oral teaching of the law until it involved letters and arithmetic. Among the Spartans the education was almost entirely along new lines. Elementary schools became common after the Christian era and in 41 A. D. they were made obligatory. In Athens nearly all of the schools were private, teaching music and literature, reading, writing, arithmetic, geography and drawing. In early Rome the schools taught reading and writing and sometimes arithmetic.

Waves Will Scare Deer
Deer are especially timid in a high wind and will jump in alarm at the sound of the waves splashing on the rocks, says Nature Magazine. They are very sensitive to sudden changes of temperature, and it is most surprising to find none coming out of the woods when a cold northwest wind blows.

Forgotten Masterpieces
An old picture entitled "Jesus Baptized in the River Jordan" was sold at Antwerp the other day. A carpenter bought it for only a few francs. Along impinged an art critic. He discovered it came from the brush of Rembrandt in 1640. He pronounced it worth at least 2,000,000 francs. But the carpenter refused to listen to any of the money offers he has received. —Tokyo Capital.

What the Worm Got
"You will never amount to anything," said the father, "unless you turn over a new leaf. Remember, it's the early bird that catches the worm."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Cuthbert. "How about the worm? What did he get for turning out so early?"

"My son," replied the father, "that worm hadn't been to bed all night; he was on his way home." —Richmond Christian Advocate.

Camel's Great Value
Camels in Central Australia are said to be more primitive than those of the rural world during the time of Abraham. It is a roadside country traversed daily by camel caravan and yet a land of great possibilities. It has been the camel which has held Central Australia—the camel first, and then the goat (for its domestic value), and after that the donkey as a pack animal. The camel performs wonders in endurance and reliability amid big distances. The importance of the goat is great in the scheme of things. There is no family without a goat herd. Like the camel, it is marvellous what they live on. Amusing incidents often occur connected with the extraordinary appetite of the goat, which, so far as food is concerned, has no fastidious habits.

A well-known author on leaving his house one morning forgot a letter he had intended to mail. During the afternoon something recalled it to his mind, and as it was of considerable importance he hurried home.

The letter was nowhere to be found.

He summoned the servant. "Have you seen anything of a letter of mine lying about?"

"Yes, sir."

"Where is it?"

"Mailed, sir."

"Mailed? Why, there was no name or address on the envelope."

"I know there wasn't, sir, but I thought it must be in answer to one of them anonymous letters you've been getting lately."

Birds of the Night
Nightbirds and whippoorwills work chiefly at night, when most other birds are out duty, and at daybreak their work is taken up by the swallows and swifts. These birds are provided with big, scissor-like bills, and as they swing through the air over wide areas of country they scoop up almost unbelievable numbers of insects.

Homing pigeons probably are closer to the human family than any other form of winged life. The birds have remarkable intelligence. They mate in pairs and the female of each union has exercised her right of suffrage to the extent that the male helps her in hatching out the eggs and in caring for and feeding the young.

"Mailed, sir."

"Mailed? Why, there was no name or address on the envelope."

"I know there wasn't, sir, but I thought it must be in answer to one of them anonymous letters you've been getting lately."

Birds of the Night
Nightbirds and whippoorwills work chiefly at night, when most other birds are out duty, and at daybreak their work is taken up by the swallows and swifts. These birds are provided with big, scissor-like bills, and as they swing through the air over wide areas of country they scoop up almost unbelievable numbers of insects.

Homing pigeons probably are closer to the human family than any other form of winged life. The birds have remarkable intelligence. They mate in pairs and the female of each union has exercised her right of suffrage to the extent that the male helps her in hatching out the eggs and in caring for and feeding the young.

What the Worm Got
"You will never amount to anything," said the father, "unless you turn over a new leaf. Remember, it's the early bird that catches the worm."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Cuthbert. "How about the worm? What did he get for turning out so early?"

"My son," replied the father, "that worm hadn't been to bed all night; he was on his way home." —Richmond Christian Advocate.

ZOO ANIMALS' STORIES

"I haven't much to say for myself today," said the Gaviel, "except that I am a crocodile. That is, I am an important member of the Crocodile family. But my nose is very long and curls up looking."

"Here in the zoo they use a fine word about my nose. They say it is elongated. Isn't that a fine word?"

The Tawny Frog-Mouth was sitting upon the perch in his house in the bird house.

"I am from New South Wales," he said. "That is many miles from here. I'm a rare bird. I'm sure you've never seen many like me. Doubtless you've never seen any like me. I'm not to be found flying around this country."

"They say our family is halfway between the families of Owls and Goshawks."

"That doesn't mean that we stop halfway between those two families if we see one either side of us. I don't know that either would find ourselves situated just in that way."

"But I mean that we're halfway like one of those families and halfway like the other."

"I do hope I'm clean," it certainly has a good mouth even if I don't say the right thing.

"My mouth does look something like a frog's mouth, doesn't it?"

"I am about as fat as a very fat pigeon. Well, I'm more than that and I'm larger than a pigeon, too; a good bit larger."

"I don't present a very deep sleep. My mouth is a pretty pale yellow affair, isn't it? Not a dull-looking beak for me!"

"Nor for any of the members of our family."

"I wear a rather shabby black-leather suit with grayish streaks in it, and I don't look very dashing but I don't mind."

"I am the One-Horned Rhinoceros from India," said Miss Rhinoceros. "There was great excitement before I came. There is a Two-Horned African Rhinoceros over yonder. But I am quite different.

"I Am a Furry Little Animal."

"Yes, there was great excitement when they were expecting me."

"For days before I came the keeper said to all his friends:

"I expect a fine lady Rhinoceros in two days, or three days at the latest. She is coming by boat. You must surely come and see her."

"And they've been coming to see me and drawing pictures of me and asking all about me."

The Land-Lizards were very gossiped lizards and their funny expressions were quite delightful. Their mouths were yellow and the skin was rough and had many little yellow horn-like decorations.

"We used to sleep under cactus trees," they said. "Each one of us had a bush to himself. But here we share several cactus or cacti trees which were brought along when we came."

They crawled over each other and did not seem to mind if one walked right over another's back to creep to the place he wanted to reach.

And another would look up and say that way with his head up and his front feet resting upon his neighbor's feet.

The Python spoke in his hissing fashion.

"We big snakes change our skins about six times a year. Pretty superior are we in the way we change our skins. We pull the old one off inside out as we get out of it and our new skins grow so nicely underneath."

"I," said the Slow Loris, "came from India. They said that the life in the zoo would not agree with me, but I have been here for four years and it has agreed with me perfectly. As you see, I am a furry little brown animal. I am not much larger than a very, very large rat. But I'm not a rat. I belong to the monkey family, though I'm one of the lowest forms of that family."

"Don't you admire the dark, dark brown streak down my back? And don't you think my huge eyes are very remarkable? Well, if you don't, I do not care, for I am not very friendly."

Some pretty little lizards, with gray and red throats were in a sandy house next to the one where the Slow Loris lived, but he sat in a corner of his cage and looked at the water and the visitors with his huge, huge eyes, but he didn't make friends with any one.

BRYAN SPEAKS ON RELIGION AT PARK SERVICES

Former Secretary of State Is Heard by Large Audience; Praises Work of Settlers of Twin Falls Country.

William Jennings Bryan, famous politician and lecturer, spoke at the 3:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Shoshone Saturday night to most of the Twin Falls country.

Mr. Bryan, who spent the time preceding his address Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Perrine at the Blue Lakes ranch, opened his address by complimenting the pioneers of the Twin Falls country for their fortitude in conquering the desert and turning it into a fertile valley where, through the help of irrigation, some of the largest crops anywhere in the United States are grown.

Prairie Settlers.
He praised the work of the men who came into the Twin Falls region when it was but a wilderness and sand, of the building of dams to divert the waters of Snake river to irrigate the desert and of the money in which it was invested. He told of the early struggles of I. B. Perrine in settling at Blue Lakes in the Snake river canyon. He compared the manner in which plants were made to grow in the Twin Falls section to the way in which a better understanding is brought about through sharing the work of God and the teachings of Jesus Christ. Mr. Bryan declared, does not always use the opportunities he has to grow up like the trees and flowers around him. He told of his several visits to the home of the Perrines and declared that each time he had been outwitted by the beauty of the country and by the work that is being performed in this favored section.

Story of Spring.
Mr. Bryan, in his address, made an illustration of the need for a strong or observance of religious ties, the story of a spring, which he prefaced by saying that the springs along the Snake river are much more interesting to him than those of Florida, which perhaps has more springs than any other state in the union. He pointed to the manner in which the springs of the canyon come gushing from the melting of snow and ice, which refreshes and asking nothing in return, while the stagnant pools of some places along the river are repulsive, having nothing to give, which he declared illustrated the difference between a noble and a selfish life.

Drawn Upward.
He again pointed to the spring which rises from the earth gushing downward unless prevented and soon reaches the lowest level where it mixes with the stagnant pool and he declared that the same thing is true of the human soul. The spring must be forced upward to the better things of life rather than permitted to go downward where he soon mixes with the lower strata, which he struck at the teachers in colleges, which while developing the intellectual, ignore entirely the religious side of life. Some even teach atheism, he declared, and induce the student a great deal more than they help him. He turned to the "unimpaired" religion of the United States, which he said was greater than in any other country. He asserted that the number of murders in America was larger than that of any other civilized country in the world. Power also have been punished for these murders than any other place.

Many Robberies.
Robberies, too, he declared, are steadily increasing with little material progress being made to combat them. Immorality is rampant, he said, which can not be stopped through more schools or through the development of material things. It will take the teachings of Jesus Christ, correctly followed, to overcome this, the speaker declared. Mr. Bryan spoke of his progress through the west in connection with his political activities in which he was speaking for John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, and his failure, the vice presidential candidate. He declared, could stop the crime.

Official of Parks Pleased With New Idaho Attraction

Congressman Smith and Party Return from "Craters of the Moon"; Albright in Favor of New Roads.

Congressman Addison T. Smith returned from the Craters of the Moon national monument, having remained at Shoshone Saturday night to meet Colonel William Jennings Bryan, and come with the committee to Twin Falls. Mr. Smith knew Colonel Bryan when he was in congress in the early thirties and he has enjoyed his acquaintance during intervening years.

Mr. Smith accompanied Congressman Smith to the Craters of the Moon monument on Friday, where they met, by prearrangement, H. M. Albright, superintendent of Yellowstone national park and assistant director of national park service, who had been directed by the secretary of the interior to make an investigation of the monument with a view to laying out a road system. L. N. Haynes, the official photographer of the Yellowstone park, was also in the party, as were former Senator Dubois and his daughter, Margaret.

Sees Possibilities.
"I am pleased to say," remarked Congressman Smith, "that Superintendent Albright was enthusiastic regarding the possibility of developing the Craters of the Moon national monument as one of the most unique sections of the western country. Mr. Albright stated that the formations, extinct craters and lava flows were very much like those in Hawaii, which have been created into a national park. He predicted that as soon as roads could be constructed so as to make these places of interest accessible to automobilists that thousands of people would visit the craters annually, and that the white sand dunes in national parks, with the exception of Yellowstone, presents a great deal of sameness, that Craters of the Moon national monument offered something different to the tourist which would make the place one of the most popular scenic attractions in the country."

Governor Moore was represented by Mr. Wood and Mr. Axline of the state highway organization, who are co-operating with Mr. Albright and Samuel O. Paisley of Arco, who will be appointed white the summer of 1925. Mr. Paisley has, at his own expense, built some roads and trails and had also placed signs directing the tourists to the most interesting sections of the park. As the representative of the secretary of the interior and national park officials in any plans which may be formulated regarding the care of tourists, concessions, etc."

He urged the citizens of the United States toward a higher religious plane. It is up to the citizens themselves to do this.

Combined Chorus.
Mr. Bryan's address was preceded by music by the combined church choir under the leadership of Mrs. I. H. Masters. Three numbers were sung. They were: "America," "O'ward, Christian Soldier," and "Hail to the Chief." Rev. A. G. Pearson of the First Presbyterian church was chairman of the meeting and introduced Mr. Bryan with a short address in which he characterized the speaker as "the great American."

Rev. H. G. Humphrey of the First Methodist church offered the prayer. The people's stand was filled with prominent Twin Falls citizens who acted as a reception committee to Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan was driven from Shoshone to the Blue Lakes ranch by Asher B. Wilson of Twin Falls, democratic candidate for congress, who later took the Great Commuter to Hazon in time to catch the evening train there in order that Mr. Bryan might have a better opportunity to view this section of the country.

ADKINS TRIAL STARTS TODAY

Man Held on Manslaughter Charge to Face Court; Attorney Moves to Dismiss Case.

The trial of John Adkins, charged with voluntary manslaughter as the result of the death of a Basque sheepherder from injuries received in a quarrel near the Salmon dam June 1, will open in the Twin Falls County district court this morning before Judge W. A. Babcock. Charges of first degree murder were at first filed in connection with the case and the defense, represented by Attorneys Shull, L. Hodgins of Twin Falls and Ben Busmann of Buhl, entered a motion in court for the dismissal of the case, inasmuch as at the preliminary hearing Adkins was held to the district court on charges of voluntary manslaughter instead of first degree murder.

It was the contention of the defense that under the Idaho law a higher charge could not be made once the lower court had held a lighter charge. After argument the prosecution and defense agreed to go on with the trial on the manslaughter charge. Adkins, it is charged, hit a Basque sheepherder over the head with a cane after he had been attacked. From the injuries the Basque died later at the Twin Falls county hospital. Defense contends that Adkins was forced to strike to protect himself after the Basque had attacked him. At the time Adkins was lame and walking with the aid of a stick.

ROCK CREEK JIM IS LAID TO REST; OLD FRIENDS AT SERVICE

Rock Creek Jim, aged "Shoshone" Indian, known to the earliest pioneers of this section, was buried Monday at the Twin Falls cemetery following funeral services at the J. G. Pearson chapel which were attended by his daughter, Maggie, an Indian friend and two nephews from the Fort Hall reservation who were accompanied by A. F. Eldridge, as well as other friends of the aged Indian.

Rev. A. G. Pearson of the First Presbyterian church officiated at the services and at the graveside. Rock Creek Jim died at the Twin Falls county general hospital Saturday evening at 11 o'clock following an illness of several weeks from pneumonia. According to those familiar with his affairs, he was fairly well to do, owning between 30 and 75 head of cattle on his ranch above Roseworth and the possessor of numerous ponies. His affairs will be taken care of by the Fort Hall supervisor and the residue of his estate turned over to his daughter who will continue to make her home at the ranch.
