LABOR RULE IN GREAT BRITAIN GIVEN SETBACK

First Government of Workers Virtually Ended With Success of Parliament Demand for Investigation of Sedition.

LONDON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Great Britain's first labor government virtually came to an end at 11 o'clock tonight when by a combination of conservative and liberal votes, the house of commons carried a motion demanding that a select committee of the house investigate the action of Attorney General Sir Patrick Hastings, in withdrawing prosecution in the case of the communist, James H. Campbell, acting editor of the Workers' Weekly, charged with inciting his majesty's forces to sedition.

The government declined to accept the motion and treated it as a vote of censure, which, if adopted by the house would involve an appeal to the country against parliament's verdict.

Debate Sharp.

The debate was sharp and exciting and after it was closed the opposition wanted to drop Sir Robert Horne's motion of censure and vote on Sir John A. Simon's amendment calling for an investigation. On the government's refusal to accept this course, the house divided on the question as to which it should vote on. By a vote of 359 to 198 it decided to vote on the Simon amendment. This was equivalent to defeat of the censure motion, and the Simon amendment became the substantive motion, and was carried 354 to 198.

Announcement of the figures was received with loud cheering and counter cheering.

MacDonald Speaks.

Prime Minister MacDonald rose and said: "In view of what has happened, Mr. Speaker, I move that the house do now adjourn."

This was agreed to unanimously. The premier will see the king tomorrow and ask for dissolution of parliament. It is understood, however, that the government has decided to carry on until the Irish boundary bill is safe and the boundary commission appointed.

There is little doubt that the labor party and the government welcome an appeal to the country thus as they contend, trust upon and are convinced that they will return to the house of commons a much stronger party, even though they may not command a majority in the house over all other parties.

There is no reason to suppose that the king will oppose granting dissolution.

Shenandoah Lands in Texas on 9000 Mile Trial Flight

For First Time in History of Aerial Navigation Airship Lands West of the Mississippi River.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 8 (AP)—For the first time in the history of aerial navigation a dirigible airship came to rest at the landing place west of the Mississippi tonight, when the naval ship Shenandoah was successfully moored for the night at the new mooring mast here.

The fastening of the ship to the mast, the first time that the Fort Worth crew had ever attempted the task, was not accomplished without difficulty, the strength of human hands being necessary to complete the job.

The huge dirigible, which now is making a 9000 mile tour for research purposes of the United States navy, was sighted in the east at 7:10 p. m. Central standard time. The arrival in Fort Worth completed the first 1400 mile lap of the tour that will take the ship on three sides of the United States.

The ship first passed over the landing field at an elevation of approximately 2000 feet and after "pacing" near the surface, it signaled by electric lights that it was having difficulty in transmitting its radio message, because of interference of a June Fort Worth station which was radiocasting a musical program.

Prisoners Used as Target Practice and Example to Others

Chinese Criminals Tied on Carts, Hauled Out of City and Shot to Death.

TIENTSIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Twenty-four criminal prisoners, captured by Peking army forces in the vicinity of Shanhaikwan, were bound on carts and taken outside the city to be used in target practice, a Peking general who gave the order, remarking the preceding would be an example to other bad characters, according to a communication received here today.

Subsequently two spies in the Manchurian forces attempting to take Shanhaikwan, were captured and executed by Peking soldiers. All criminal prisoners captured in the district have been ordered executed by the Peking general in command.

RELIEF GIVEN TWO PROJECTS

Secretary Work Informs Borah

Boise Region Water Charges Are Deferred.

BOISE, Oct. 8 (AP)—Relief to Boise project water users for water charges has been granted under the relief law, according to a telegram received today by Senator William E. Borah from Hubert Work, secretary of the interior. The message also conveys the information that similar relief is accorded to the Black Canyon irrigation district.

Deferred water charges amount to more than one million dollars, the cabinet official states. The Nampa and Meridian districts, also mentioned in the telegram, had previously been granted the extension.

Following is the message from Secretary Work:

"Reference is made to your telegram of September 26 and October 3 and my telegram of October 4, concerning relief to Boise project water users in Nampa and Meridian irrigation, New York Canal company, Black Canyon irrigation district and Boise Payette Water Users association, the amount involved being more than one million dollars. Longer extension under section two may later be necessary, but these should be considered in connection with a program of final and complete relief and the transfer of the project to the water users."

BIG SLUSH FUND CHARGE IS BUNK SAYS CHAIRMAN

LaFollette Accusation Against Republicans Ridiculed by Butler; Calls on Supporters for Finances.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP)—William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, replied to Senator LaFollette's slush fund charges today with the assertion that the "whole story is bunk."

Chairman Butler combined his answer with an appeal to republicans to "contribute and contribute liberally to our fund."

"He alluded again in his formal statement to 'this conspiracy' between Senator LaFollette and the democratic leaders to throw the election in the house of representatives. 'I am glad that the senator has introduced this topic,' the statement said. 'It gives me the opportunity to call on the republican voters of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey and all other states over my own name, and to ask that they at once contribute and contribute liberally to our fund.'"

"I would like to inquire," Mr. Butler said, "as to what is the total of the money he has so far received from the democratic leaders who are engaged in this conspiracy to throw the election into the house?"

Senator LaFollette has simply "pulled an old political trick out of his bag," Chairman Butler said. "It appears to me that for some reason he is anxious to avoid inquiry into his own funds and also to prevent us from raising money."

"As chairman of the national committee, I will say for my party the whole story is bunk. . . ."

CALLED "ABSURD."

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 8 (AP)—Senator Robert M. LaFollette's charge that a "slush fund" was being raised in Pennsylvania "for use elsewhere" in the republican presidential campaign by a committee including W. L. Mellon, brother of the secretary of the treasury, Andrew Mellon, who characterized as "ridiculously absurd," by W. L. Mellon today. "No statement is necessary," said Mr. Mellon. "It's just a lie and doesn't call for any answer."

WASHINGTON HOPEFUL OVER TODAY'S GAME

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Walter Johnson's second defeat at the hands of the New York Giants today cast somewhat of a gloom over Washington tonight. Fans were disappointed because Johnson again failed in an effort to annex a world series victory to his long string of wins for the Senators.

Return of the Senators tonight, however, brightened matters to some extent and from practically every quarter satisfaction was expressed that the battleground for the world's baseball championship had shifted from the Polo grounds to Griffith stadium. The capital has taken as an omen of good luck the fact that Clark Griffith won the toss of the coin to determine that the seventh game, if necessary to decide the title, would be held here.

Giants Pound Johnson For 6 to 2 Victory in Fifth of Series Games

JOHNSON MAY RETIRE FROM PLAYING BALL

Veteran Pitcher Following Second Defeat Says It's Doubtful Whether He Will Be With Club Next Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—Walter Johnson said today after he was beaten for the second time during the world series by the Giants that it was doubtful if he would play ball next year. The big pitcher who waited 18 years to get into baseball's classic, would not elaborate on his statement, but did give a report that he had bought stock in the Oakland club of the Pacific coast league.

"I could not hold them," he said, referring to the game which he evidently considered to be his last appearance in a world series, if not in big league baseball.

"I am sorry," he continued, "I had two chances to beat them, but I could not hold them at either time. Manager Harris was philosophical. 'They made breaks and they beat us,' he said. 'Life is that way. But we'll catch them tomorrow. Zachary will pitch.'"

Boger Pockinbaugh, veteran shortstop, whose absence with a charley horse has been severely felt during the last three games, was determined to play. "I'll get in the game if I break a leg."

McGraw Happy

Manager McGraw was in happy spirits as his team made ready to be escorted by a motor cordon to catch the special train engaged to take the players of both teams to Washington shortly before 9 o'clock.

"I think Neft will be ready to use tomorrow," he said. "His hand was in fair shape today and 24 hours should make a lot of difference. If Neft cannot work, Barnes will get another chance."

The veteran manager would not predict an end of the series tomorrow. "Washington is a good team, and anything can happen in baseball, you know," he said.

COAL OPERATOR IS SHOT DOWN

Mine Owner Seriously Wounded When He Attempts to Open on Non-Union Basis.

ELKINS, W. Va., Oct. 8 (AP)—Leo J. Sandridge, one of the best known coal operators in West Virginia, and prominent in democratic politics, was shot near Philippi today while enroute to the Meridian mines to reopen the operations on a non-union basis. Three men accompanying Mr. Sandridge also were wounded. The assailants fired from the underbrush along the road.

Mr. Sandridge, superintendent of the Rock Island coal company, owners of the mine, was given orders to resume operations today. For several years the mines operated under an agreement with the union, but after a shut-down of more than a month, it was decided to reopen without union agreement.

Mr. Sandridge was a delegate to the last democratic national convention. Sandridge and three other victims of the shooting were brought to an Elkins hospital. Reports from Philippi were that Sandridge's condition was critical.

Sixth game Thursday at Washington at 2 p. m.
Probable batteries: Washington—Zachary and Ruel. New York—Neft and Goetzky.
Seventh game, if necessary, at Washington Friday at 2 p. m.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—Walter Johnson, the "old master," buckled on his armor today in a final fight for the glory of the world's series victory that he has sought for 18 years, but fate, it seemed, and the mighty bats of his foe turned him back.

Unleashing a furious, ruthless attack, the New York Giants battered the great veteran into defeat for the second straight time, captured the fifth game of the series from the Senators by a score of 6 to 2, and left tonight for Washington with the 1924 world's championship within their reach.

Held Formidable Edge.

The Giants, coming back today with the powerful type of attack that carried the Senators to triumph yesterday now held a formidable edge of three to two games. They need one more victory to clinch the series and give their leader, John McGraw, his fourth baseball crown and a new major league record.

The forces of McGraw who shares the present record of three world series victories with Connie Mack and his Athletics, are heavy favorites tonight to carry off the major honors in one of the games' most spectacular battles, for today they spiked Washington's big gun and left the Senators with shattered resources for the rest of the fight.

If Neft, McGraw's brilliant starplayer, who was prevented from starting today's game by a thumb bruise suffered in his victory over Johnson on the opening day, is able to take the mound tomorrow, the Giants will have excellent prospects of ending the series. If an arm or leg fails, the decision will go to the seventh game, which also will be played in Washington.

Tragic Figure.

Through the smoke of today's conflict Johnson stood out as a gallant but tragic figure, one of the most brilliant baseball has ever known. Another outpouring of 50,000 fans braving the chilliest day of the series, came chiefly in the hope of seeing Johnson hang up his world's series victory. Their sympathies, which have been with the Senators throughout the New

Canadian Police Returning With 51 Wanted for Murder

End of Long Chase Taking Mounted Officers Through a Thousand Miles of Wilderness Is Now in Sight.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Oct. 8 (AP)—The end of a long, long trail, which three members of the royal northwest mounted police have been following since July 1, 1923, and which has taken them through more than a thousand miles of untamed northland of Canada, where canoes and pack dogs were the only means of transportation, was almost in sight yesterday when the three left here aboard the steamship Princess Alice for Vancouver, with five Indian prisoners.

The Indians, said to be virtually savages, are charged with the murder of a 17-year-old Indian boy, whom other members of his tribe suspected of practicing witchcraft. According to the story told, the boy was hanged, head down, to drive out the devil spirits and when this failed, he was cut down and stoned to death. A young girl of the tribe likewise suspected of witchery, is said to have been suspended for three days and nights by one foot and one hand, as a result of which she is crippled.

The prisoners live chiefly on meat, regarding bread with suspicion.

RECORDS BROKEN AT YELLOWSTONE FOR YEAR 1924

Total Travel to the Park for Season Amounted to 144,158 Persons as Compared to 138,352 in 1923.

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., Oct. 8 (AP)—Again, during the season of 1924, all Yellowstone national park travel records were broken, according to official statistics, compilation which has just been completed.

The total travel was 144,158 persons compared with 138,352 in the season of 1923. Of the total 7384 persons arrived previous to the official opening which occurred on June 20. The increase of 5806 or nearly 5 per cent, over last season's total travel is regarded by park officials as an excellent showing, taking into consideration the fact that cool weather prevailed in the eastern and middle western states during most of the summer; that in the farwestern states, exceptionally dry weather conditions detrimentally affected general business and farm conditions; that heat and mouth disease in California, which state always sends thousands to the Yellowstone each year, retarded travel from that great Pacific coast section; and finally that European steamship rates were reduced to such a figure as to induce travel to the national parks, including Yellowstone.

Predict Greater Travel.

It is reasonable to predict that practically all of these travel discouraging influences will be absent next year, and that Yellowstone National park travel will exceed 200,000 individuals. Government authorities in charge of the park, the public utility of the park, the railroads reaching its various entrances, and gateway cities and towns are preparing already for travel such as the Yellowstone region has never before experienced.

Of the total travel this year 41,954 persons came by rail, 100,166 by automobile, 225 by motorcycle and 1569 on horseback and on foot, and pre-season unclassified 1124.

The rail travel of 41,954 persons compared with last year's figure of 44,808. The 100,166 automobile-travelers came in 30,880 cars. Last year there were 91,284 automobile visitors in 27,359 cars.

The Cody gateway, or eastern entrance, proved the most popular for automobile tourists. Nine thousand nine hundred and thirty-five cars carrying 32,285 persons arrived there during the season, compared with 9353 cars with 31,680 persons at the West Yellowstone gateway, or western entrance; 8169 cars with 24,633 persons at the northern entrance, holder of this record last year, and 2871 cars with 8768 persons at the southern entrance.

Western Entrance.

The western was the most patronized rail entrance. Twenty thousand four hundred and nine visitors arrived there by rail; compared with 13,420 at the Gardiner gateway, 6999 at the eastern entrance and 207 at the southern.

The automobile travel totals include 1173 cars and 2317 visitors who entered the park more than once during the season.

Visitors to the park came from every state in the Union, from Alaska, the Philippines, Hawaii—and the Canal Zone, and from 23 foreign countries, including England, and seven other countries of the British empire.

Illinois again leads the list of rail visitors, 5892 residents of this state having been classified; New York is second with 3783 visitors coming by rail, Ohio third with 3315, and Pennsylvania fourth with 2908. One-fourth of all of the visitors coming to the park by train came from Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

GERMAN TRADE WITH SOVIET ON DECREASE

Withdrawing From Commercial Field in Russia; Difficulties Encountered in Doing Business With Bolsheviks.

BERLIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Germany's withdrawal from the Russian commercial field becomes more pronounced every day. The Stinnes interests make no concealment of the fact that they have practically ceased all effort to do business with soviet Russia, and every slight investment in that country. Every day the German press contains letters and articles narrating the difficulties which Germans have encountered in attempting to carry on business relations with the soviet government, and reflecting the disappointment that the Rapallo treaty did not bring the business in Russia promised by Rathenau, Wirth, Malitzin and other German political leaders responsible for the treaty.

Business Decreasing.

A German wholesaler who has just returned from Leningrad contributes a letter to the Berlin Zeitung am Mittag in which he says the ability of Russia to export decreases constantly. "It would be a crime," he says, "to export cereals from Russia now when new families are expected. There is no foreign money coming into Russia through the sale of exports, and the importation of foreign goods is stopping. Why? Because the principle of the government is that everything needed within the country has to be provided by the state agencies."

Under Suspicion.

"Any foreigner is regarded as an intruder and is under suspicion," the writer continues. "Any business deal a foreigner handles may be classed as 'speculation,' and may be punished accordingly. The natives dread contact with foreigners because they know they are constantly watched. Hotels are state-owned, and guests under constant control. Every letter is censored. Russia is a country of dictatorship under which business is impossible."

The Administration of Gov. Charles C. Moore

This is the first of a series of statements which will convince the voters of Idaho that Governor Moore deserves their endorsement.

GOVERNOR MOORE stands for strict economy and gets results. He has reduced the number of state employees to the absolute minimum required to properly transact the business of the state. He has reduced state expenditures over THREE QUARTERS OF A MILLION DOLLARS and in doing so has overshadowed the achievement of any governor of Idaho since statehood.

GOVERNOR MOORE reorganized the Fish and Game Department and reduced the force of deputy game wardens from 48 to 33. He is in favor of the utmost protection to our fish and game resources. Under his administration more money has been spent for fish hatcheries and propagation of fish, and less for deputy game wardens than under any other administration.

GOVERNOR MOORE is in favor of full protection of bank deposits, but does not favor any of the plans which have been tried and failed in other states. He refuses to make an empty promise.

GOVERNOR MOORE has maintained 1800 miles of highway and bridges, has built 330 miles outright, has reconstructed 35 miles and had 365 miles improved to standard through the Department of Public Works, with 75 per cent less employees.

INDIAN PLEADS FOR OLD RITES

Protests to Senate Committee Efforts to Abolish Ancient Customs Practiced.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 8 (AP)—John Still Day, a "medicine man" representing 400 pagan Indians on the Red Lake reservation near the Canadian boundary, protested against the efforts of the Indian bureau to abolish old tribal customs when he appeared before the senate Indian affairs sub-committee during its investigation here.

Mention had been made to the sub-committee that the tribal dances were detrimental to the Indians' crops, and that they interfered with the educational work among the younger members of the tribes.

Still Day is a tall, handsome Chippewa fullblood. He did not wear the garb of the tribal healer, but appeared in the attire of the white man. Speaking through an interpreter he told the committee that he was not the chief nor the great speaker, but protested against "the white man's efforts to take away my religion."

To the statement that the pagan Indian's corn and potatoes "were the worst in ten years because there have been too many tribal dances," Still Day replied that the Indians were "not responsible for the cold weather and the too much rain."

The pagan band lives in a place isolated from the rest of the Red Lake Indians, and its members still indulge in the ancient tribal dances which frequently last two and three days.

Thomas entertained at cards in honor of Misses Della and Dolly Kearley. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Mel Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Moska, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webber and Misses Della and Dolly Kearley.

Robert Fleming left Thursday for California, where he will visit with relatives for a few weeks.

Babson Tells of Human Factor in Investments

Death of Company President Causes Statistician to Discourse on Values of Managerial Heads to Securities.

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 8.—(Special to the News.)—The recent death of Andrew W. Preston, president of the United Fruit company, has again brought up the much discussed question of the human element in investment values. The business world has lost another leader. I, for one, believe that the investment world is poorer, in spite of the fact that book assets remain the same.

The business of the United Fruit company with all probability will continue to go on successfully. We should, however, consider the possible effect of the death of its president in the light of previous financial history. The company has suffered a severe loss, a loss impossible to estimate at this time.

Know Fruit Business.
Mr. Preston not only knew the fruit business thoroughly but had the confidence of both employees and stockholders. He was a real captain of industry, a man of great vision, power and judgment. Although the company may continue to increase its fruit business and its stock may yet sell at record high figures, it would be surprising, indeed, if it does not ultimately suffer market-wise from Mr. Preston's death.

A vessel is always a vessel, and a crew is always a crew but the profits of both vessel and crew depend to a large extent upon the skill and ability of the captain in charge. Wage workers and stockholders are entitled to their fair share of the profits of every business, but in the last analysis it must be admitted that these profits are largely due to the character, judgment, vision and energy of some one individual.

Previous Effects.
In discussing the possible effect of Mr. Preston's death several bankers and investment experts have recalled the effect of similar previous losses. They have cited the fact that the Great Northern and Northern Pacific reached their highest point under the personal management of James J. Hill and that since his death a decline in the prices of these stocks has been almost continuous. They have reminiscenced concerning Harriman and what happened to the market price of Union Pacific and other Harriman stocks after his death. Other instances in our business and financial history substantiate the general rule that industrial securities reached their peak previous to the death of retirement of the founder of the company.

Security Value.
These men still have confidence in the United Fruit company, knowing that it is a sound business and is well entrenched both in the production and distribution of fruits. Most of them are optimistic on the market as a whole and believe that United Fruit will continue to go up with the others, but the situation does bring to mind the fundamental fact that the value of securities lies not in the past production and distribution of fruits, but in the temporary earnings of the corporation, but in the character, judgment, vision and energy of the men in control. Moreover, this fundamental principle applies to all businesses, large and small.

This same idea has been brought out recently by Edna Ferber in her book "So Big". In her "Aug Hemplie" she draws a picture of the founder of the packing industry as it exists today in America. It shows how that great industry reached its peak before his death and that no son or relative has been able to put into it the vision and energy that this founder possessed. Quite by coincidence you can get a detailed picture of this same "Aug Hemplie" in George Horner Loring's book "Letters of a Self-Made Merchant to His Son." The present editor of the Saturday Evening Post was once his private secretary.

In Community.
We see this principle again as it works out in a community. American development is not dependent upon national resources, location, nor inherent wealth. Every city worth while today owes its growth to some one or more men of character, vision and courage, who threw their energy in to the building up of a town. The great danger threatening most of our cities today is that after the community has secured a certain momentum of growth it is apt to think that it can run along without further leadership. This is a great mistake and the best thing that a chamber of commerce can do is to clearly recognize this fact. The men who are giving their lives to the building up of your city should be helped and encouraged.

Business is still dull. I have just returned from a trip to some of the leading cities in the eastern section of the United States and of Canada. The bankers, manufacturers and merchants with whom I talked seemed puzzled, they say the future is in surplus of goods on the shelves of the merchants, that fundamentally things are in pretty good shape. The most common expression I heard was that business seems to lack "pop" or seems to be "drifting." The actual situation is pictured on the Babsonchart which continues to show general activity at 7 per cent below normal.

May Lose Interest.
I wonder if it is possible that our business men, owing to burdensome taxation, government interference, or some other cause apparently beyond their control, are losing interest in their business. If it is true it presents an exceptionally serious problem, a problem more vital than that of business depression or even a business panic. If statistics teach anything, they teach that men make values—and that souls make men.

Certain political leaders are preaching today that there should be a re-division of things. Perhaps there should be if such a redivision could come about in a natural way; but in attempting to divide things up we must be very careful that we do not sever the artery upon which business depends for its very life. It is possible that the uncertainty of the political situation is a contributing cause, but I return from the trip convinced that the country's business men are sorely in need of courage and confidence today.

They need this confidence much more than they need any more legislation or new rules. It may be good drama for certain politicians to berate and belittle men like Harriman, Hill, Armour and Preston, it may win them a few votes with the unthinking but before we discount these men—before we load our support on the underdog, just because, as a sporting proposition, it appeals to us—let us appraise these captains of industry. Let's figure what their initiative—and vision meant in the development of America and just how much of the comforts, conveniences and living that we enjoy today is directly due or indirectly due to them. Then let us come out into the open and back the people we believe in, that confidence may again be restored and that we may go forward toward better times for everyone.

Doll's House for Czar

When a young man of twenty-four, Peter the Great of Russia went to Holland, he was working at different jobs so as to be better fitted to become ruler of Russia. In Utrecht he saw a miniature doll's house, furnished down to the minutest detail. In the library were paintings two inches square. Cabinets were filled with thumb-high porcelains from Japan. Special carpets were manufactured for this house, and the linen was woven in Flanders.

Peter the Great took a great fancy to this tiny palace and offered any price for one like it. The builder, a retired merchant, would not accept money for his handiwork, but offered to make one as a gift to the young czar. The Illustrious mansion, completed after 25 years of labor, is now in the royal museum, Amsterdam, says Mentor Magazine.

Health Rules.

Simple rules of health, and too hard to remember, may be reduced to a few brief instructions: Keep serene; use moderation in work, play, rest and sleep; ventilate every occupied room; seek out-of-door recreation and occupations; drink sufficient water; walk, stand and sit erect; breathe deeply; wear light, porous clothing; eat slowly; avoid overeating; eat sparingly of eggs and meats, and eat some raw foods, some bulky and some hard foods.

York games of the series were particularly evident for Johnson. They cheered him in the early part of the game, but as it wore on and Johnson's defeat seemed inevitable they became quieter, realizing that "the Babe" was taking the bitterest setback of his career.

Johnson took the punishment administered by the Giants' bats grimly, but it was a sad spectacle to those who recalled his greatness over nearly a score of years ago when he was the first to reach the door that refused to open to him when he knocked. Yet probably on one realized the tragedy of it all more keenly than Johnson himself, when after "Goose" Goslin's third homer in the series had revived Washington hopes in the eighth inning, the Giants pelted the pitcher for three runs and removed the last uncertainty over the outcome.

Share in Barrage

Every Giant except "Hack" Wilson, shared in the barrage of hits that whittled past Johnson and had it not been for two double plays that checked the Giants in the midst of rallies the margin of victory would have been much greater.

The first of these double killings came in the third inning after the Giants had tallied once and refilled the bases with one out. Jackson scratched an infield hit to Miller and scored on singles by Bentley and Lindstrom after Gowdy fanned. Miller's failure to touch third for a force out of Frisch's boulder to Bluege, filled the bags but Ross Young lined to Rice and Bentley, due largely to poor base running, was doubled at the plate on a relay throw by Johnson.

Again in the fifth after Bentley's homer had brought in Gowdy the Giants were halted by fast fielding. With Lindstrom out Frisch got a double on a Texas leaguer to right center and Young was hit on the knee by a pitched ball, but Kelly hit into a double play via Bluege-Harris and Judge.

Little Roadway

Meanwhile the Senators were making little headway against the southpaw shoots of Bentley, although they threw away good chances to score in both the second and third innings before finally breaking through for a run in the fourth on Judge's single, a sacrifice by Bluege, infield out and Miller's single.

In the sixth Goslin registered his sixth straight hit when he beat out an infield blow, was forced by Bluege and Ruel walked, but Miller failed in the pinch. Three hits failed to produce results in the third. Johnson's hard single to left was wasted when he ran over first and was caught on the return to the infield. It was a particularly bad break because McNeely and Harris followed with hits, only to

OLD PARTIES DO NOT REPRESENT THE PEOPLE ASSERTS LAFOLLETTE

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 8 (AP)—Calling for a new political alignment in the United States, Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent candidate for president declared in an address here tonight that the republican and democratic parties no "more represent the convictions and purposes of the honest conservative than they do those of the genuine progressive."

I deny that our government as it exists today is representative of the people of the United States. I challenge Calvin Coolidge, I challenge every defender of things as they are to refute that assertion. Those who now control the government at Washington do not represent the people of the United States, but those who exploit the people."

NELSON ANSWERS ROADS

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP)—The statement recently issued by presidents of five western railways charging "reckless misrepresentation of the railroads by the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign handbook is on a par with the attack on the progressive candidates and platforms which was made at the convention of the American Bankers' association, last week."

John M. Nelson, LaFollette national campaign manager declared today in a statement. "Both these occurrences," he added, "indicate how greatly alarmed the big business interests are about the prospect of success of the independent progressive candidates."

RED CROSS NOT CHARITY AFFAIR

Manager of Washington Division Warns Against Coalitions With Federations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A warning against lowering the efficiency of the Red Cross by coalition with local financial community chest federations was given today in an address by J. Arthur Jeffers, manager of the Washington division, at the society's convention here. He emphasized that the Red Cross was a membership movement and that financial federations might weaken the potential membership of the society unless the Red Cross officers pointed out to chest officials that membership as well as money was necessary to the welfare of the Red Cross.

Since the Red Cross must be the first organization to respond in case of disaster, being the official organ of the government, he said that "it is imperative that this national and international work receive the careful consideration of every financial federation which Red Cross chapters join as a means of financing their work."

A resolution calling for a definite national policy towards financial federations was referred to the central committee for a report to be submitted to the next annual convention.

DAVIS REPLIES TO ADDRESS OF HUGHES

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 8 (AP)—Answering at length the keynote address made in Cincinnati, Ohio, last week by Charles E. Hughes, secretary of state, John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president, brought his campaign in western New York to a close here tonight and returned again to New York city to prepare for his second tour of the middle west, scheduled to begin Friday.

At Rochester earlier in the day, Mr. Davis paid a tribute to the Jewish religion and race and declared against his intolerance to "any feeling of religious prejudice or racial discrimination whatever." His speech here tonight, however, dealt mainly with political issues between the democratic and republican parties which, the nominee asserted, must be the basis on which thoughtful voters of the country will decide the verdict in November.

WHEAT PRICES GO UP ON ENLARGED BUYING

May Deliveries Quoted at $1.56 1/2 to $1.67 1/2; Corn Flakes Unchanged and Cane Higher.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP)—Wheat prices

scored a break upward at 10:50 a.m. as a result of renewed buying that crop estimates issued this afternoon at Winnipeg would prove bullish. Reports of rain in Canada counted also as a strengthening factor. Closing quotations on wheat were firm. 1-5c net higher, December $1.60 1/2 to 1.57 1/2. Corn finished unchanged to 1-1/4 cents up, oats on 1-8 to 1-6 gain and provisions unchanged to 30 cents lower.

According to the latest unofficial figures, the 1924 wheat in Canada and prairie provinces is 200,000,000 bushels, contrasting with a recently widely noticed estimate of 200,000,000 bushels and with 452,000,000 bushels harvested in 1923. Announcement of recent liberal export sales to the Orient from the United States has also furthered today's re-establishment of confidence here among friends of higher prices for wheat, and so likewise did less optimistic forecasts regarding the outlook for the Australian crop. On the other hand, the market early was depressed by a day's setback in wheat prices at Liverpool by better weather in Argentina, and by views in some quarters here that world shortage of production had been discontinued.

Unfavorable weather did a good deal to rally the corn market from a decline due to wheat weakness in wheat. Besides, gossip current that the government crop report tomorrow would turn out to be more bullish than has been generally expected. There was talk, too, that whereas the wheat, rye and oats markets have advanced considerably of late, corn has been held off or followed after grain, declining early with sellers taking profit.

Provisions were inclined to sag. Commodity houses and speculators on either side and packers were inactive.

TRADING SLAGGISH

ON STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—Except for rather better feeling of some of the high priced public utility stock, the market was extremely sluggish with prices in the general list moving irregularly lower. Absence of many traders in observance of the Jewish religious holiday was reflected in the volume of business, total sales again approximating half a million shares.

UNITED STATES STEEL COMMON

United States Steel common fluctuated within a range of 5/8 of a point closing unchanged at 107 7/8. Independent steels made no response to reports of possible mergers as a result of the fall sales again approximating half a million shares. The weekly steel trade review, Baldwin and Studebaker showed small fractional recessions. American Can, which has sold as high as 131 3/4 in the early trading later fell back to 130 1/2, up 1/4 on the day.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—No changes occurred in the raw sugar market today. Cane remaining at 6.02, duty paid. Sales reported were 3500 bags.

DUMB BELLS

of Peru, second half October shipment 6.03.

Raw sugar futures were quiet and subject to small orders either way, ending and trade buying caused early advances of 1 to 3 points, but liquidation by commission houses checked the upward movement and weakened prices which were finally unchanged to three points net lower. December closed 5.53, May 6.19, July 5.28, July 3.75. No refined sugar was unchanged, 7.15 to 7.20 for fine granulated.

COMMERCE BODY BACKS WORK ON JARBIDGE ROAD

Fund Here to Match Subscriptions of Nevada Citizens and Oregon Short Line.

Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce directors, at a meeting Wednesday evening, authorized appointment of a committee composed of Frank Magol, William Simpson and A. D. Adams, to take charge of a campaign to raise in Twin Falls $2500 for cooperation with Nevada citizens who have contributed a similar amount, and the Oregon Short Line, which has contributed $500, for improvement of the road between Twin Falls and Jarbridge, Nevada.

The directors' action in this regard, which followed receipt of reports of the action of the Nevada citizens and the railway company, marked a forward step in a project that was entered upon several months ago, in connection with which a delegation of Twin Falls business men last summer went to Jarbridge for a conference that had immediate results.

Important trade relations with the Jarbridge gold mining center that would be stimulated by betterment of the road have been a principal factor in furtherance of the undertaking.

TALKS PLAN FOR TEXTILE CENTER

Wool Growers' Secretary Tells
Rotarians Conditions Favor
Manufacture Here

The possibilities of a wool manufacturing plant in Twin Falls similar to those at Provo, Utah, and Oregon City, Oregon, were dealt with at length by Donald McLean at a regular meeting of the Rotary club on Wednesday. Mr. McLean gave a number of interesting figures tending to show the entire feasibility of the plan. He pointed out that Twin Falls was practically the center of the sheep and wool industry of the west. Sixty-five per cent of the total wool crop of the country is produced in the west, according to Mr. McLean, and 75 per cent of that is grown in Idaho and the immediate surrounding states.

Only about 35 per cent of the raw Idaho wool, which is now shipped out of this section for manufacture consists of wool, the balance being grease and dirt upon which the shipper pays the freight across the country. The importance of geographical location with respect to raw products from the standpoint of manufacturing was discussed at length, investigation tending to show that the most important factors in the growth of any section in a manufacturing sense being the proximity of that section to the raw material area of production.

For the past two years he has been a resident of California. George W. Aldrich, at one time a member of the firm of Selim and Aldrich, a former mayor of Twin Falls was also a guest of the club.

Thomas M. Robertson, president of the Twin Falls Boy Scout council, told of the financial status of the Scout movement here, and announced preliminary plans for the further carrying on of the work during the coming year.

C. E. Doeth, president of the club, presided.

There are no children and no community property is involved.
