BOISE, Oct. 16 (AP)—Oliver J. Jones, former convict, and Chet Langer, who had up and robbed the Bank of Eagle, near here, Monday, August 11, escaped from the Ada county jail about 2 o'clock this morning after sawing the locks of their cell with a hacksaw and knocking the night watchman, Charles Stahl, in the head with an iron rod. The night watchman had been called to the cell earlier where the prisoners were charged with more serious offenses were confined to let one of the prisoners who was sick, into the corridor and when Stahl opened the outer door he was struck in the head by one of the robbers then thrown back into one of the cells and locked up, where he remained partially unconscious for about 20 minutes. He gave the alarm summoning the sheriff.

Take Three Revolvers. Jones and Langer broke open the gun case in the sheriff's office and took three revolvers and 100 rounds of ammunition and left the building.

Jones and Langer were the principals in the robbery of the Eagle bank, the former covering the cashier and his daughter with a gun while Langer looted the vaults and cash trays in the office of $12,000.

Within 24 hours after the arrest of Jones and Langer and the other accomplices, Doris Douglas, a waitress, and "Eddie" Ender, the driver of the automobile, which was in control of the robbers during the frame-up of the robbery and until the act was perpetrated and the money cashed, sheriff's officers and the city police force recovered $1947 of the missing plunder. The remaining $775 is still unaccounted for.

Held for Trial. Preliminary hearing was had in the justice court late in August and the robbers held to answer to the district court.

Information was filed in the latter court charging the quartet with robbery, but they have not been brought to trial.

PACKERS FACE COMPLAINT BY U. S. SECRETARY

Discrimination Alleged Against Armour & Company by Wallace; Answer Required December 1.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The complaint against Armour and Company, and Swift and company, announced yesterday to have been issued by Secretary Wallace under the Food and Drug act, charges that these companies with refusing to do business with traders located on the Chicago livestock market and requires an answer to the charges by November 20. A hearing is set for December 1, in Chicago.

The complaint declares that about one-third of all hogs consigned to commission men at Chicago are purchased by traders, although they ultimately are sold by the packers. The Armour and Swift companies are alleged to be restricting and confining their purchases to commission men of hogs not previously purchased or handled by any trader. The complaint declares this to be unfair and discriminatory practice.

Purchase First Hand. Representatives of Armour and company, in a statement today, said the only instructions on the subject given to their hog buyers were that insofar as practicable they should purchase first hand hogs and not second hand hogs, because recent results showed large shrinkage on the second hand hogs, amounting in some instances to as much as 10 pounds per head. Armour and company, therefore, could not afford to buy such second hand hogs on a competitive basis with first hand hogs, the statement said.

Barber Who Admits Causing John D's Baldness Is Found

Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary at Trade; Warned Millionaire of Result.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—Edward Helwig, village barber, who admits that he is more or less responsible for the baldness of John D. Rockefeller, the oil king, tomorrow will celebrate his fiftieth anniversary at his trade.

"I remember shaving Mr. Rockefeller often," said Mr. Helwig today, in talking of his famous patron. "I told him at that time that he would lose his hair, but I obeyed his orders. The doctors had told him not to take a hair massage of the scalp. Yet when I started to rub his head lightly he told me to massage it so briskly that it would be like a bee," he warned him, but he wouldn't listen to me. Now he hasn't a hair on his head." It is at least 15 years since Mr. Helwig has been called upon to perform the tonsorial work for the oil king.

G. O. P. CAMPAIGN FUND $1,714,317

Republican Organization Tells Investigators Amount It Has Spent So Far.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 (AP)—The republican national campaign organization has collected and expended $1,714,317 up to October 10 and the national independent organization had collected $199,535 and disbursed $155,962, according to testimony given today at the opening sessions of the special campaign fund investigating committee of the United States senate.

Complete figures as to operations of the democratic national organization were not obtained, but Lincoln Dixon, manager of the western headquarters testified that his organization had spent $22,500 up to October 10, of which sum all except $500 had been furnished by the national committee. The other $2000 was a personal contribution from George B. Brennan, chairman of the national committee, Illinois, he said. Chairman Borah, republican, of Idaho, stated that he would call finance officers of the democratic national committee later.

From 16,902 Persons. W. V. Hodges, treasurer of the republican national committee, told the senate investigators that the gross total contributed to the republican campaign had come from 16,902 individuals and organizations with total contributions ranging from $10,000 to a maximum of $25,000.

John M. Nelson, national director of the LaBette national committee, testified that the total of $100,535 received by his organization had come from approximately 75,000 contributors in sums ranging from $1 upward, with one contributor of $25,000. Another of $5,000 and three of $1000 each.

Manufacturers and investment and bank bankers were the principal contributors in large sums, he testified. Mr. Hodges said. William Wrigley, Jr., of Chicago, was listed as the only person contributing as much as $25,000. James A. Johnson, manufacturer of Camden, N. J., and Arthur Curtis James of New York city, Hodges testified.

TWO DEAD, THIRD HURT WHEN PLANES COLLIDE; HURTLER 1300 FEET TO EARTH

SAN BEGO, Cal., Oct. 16 (AP)—Two men were instantly killed and a third man a miraculous escape from death at 2 o'clock this afternoon in a mid-air collision 1300 feet above Coronado of two naval Vought airplanes. The dead are: Ensign Merritt J. Flanders, age 24 years, attached to the transport Vega. Robert H. Kerr, aviation chief mechanic's mate, naval station, 2511, resided at San Diego and leaves a wife and three small children. Gunner William Cole escaped with his life when he walked out on the wing of his Vought and plunged head first to the ground, his parachute opening after he had fallen 500 feet. He is suffering from shock but is otherwise uninjured, according to naval pilots.

The mid-air collision, one of the most tragic in the entire history of naval aviation, occurred when Kerr diving with his Vought plane out of a cloud hole. Cole, traveling faster than 115 miles an hour directly beneath, did not see Kerr's plane until the crash. Diving through the cloud hole Kerr had no chance of seeing Cole's plane and the two ships came together with such a terrific impact that the crashing airplanes could be heard for more than a mile. The bodies of Kerr and Flanders were picked up from the wreckage of their plane near the Walter Knott property in Coronado. The plane of Gunner Cole, after striking ground for a brief time, piled up on the Coronado golf links and caught fire.

CARRIERS ASK AUTHORITY TO REDUCE RATES

Violation of Long and Short Haul Clause Sought by Railroads; Decision Rests With Commission.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The interstate commerce commission today took under advisement the application of transcontinental railroads for authority to violate the long and short haul provisions of the interstate-commerce act with respect to rates from midwestern territory to Pacific coast points.

Considering arguments in the case were presented to the commission during the day by representatives of nearly all interests affected by the proposed transcontinental rate reductions. The commission's decision is the next step in the case.

Summarizing the arguments of the carriers, W. B. Schwartz, representing the transcontinental lines, told the commission that a refusal to grant the reductions would be a reversal of the commission's action in every case where such reductions have been granted, declaring that every provision of the law requisite to granting reductions had been met in the present proposal. He argued that the commission's decision to grant the reductions would be a reversal of the commission's action in every case where such reductions have been granted, declaring that every provision of the law requisite to granting reductions had been met in the present proposal.

Creates Competition. Representatives of western and intermediate points affected, the latter contending that the proposed rate reductions would cause undue discrimination against them.

Before its largest aspect the case involves the question whether the railroads shall be allowed to make rates of transportation in order to compete with water services from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific by way of the Panama canal. The railroads contend that with the proposed reduced rates a profit will be lost which would earn a profit while those opposing the reductions contend that the service will be rendered by the railroad at actual cost or less, it not bearing its proportionate share of the general transportation burden.

Shipping interests throughout the hearings and arguments have contended that to grant railroads competitive rates would be to take away from such interest a natural advantage.

CARRIES FIGHT TO LAFOLLETTE

Attorney General Conner Opens Campaign in County Says Wisconsin Man Chief Foe.

TWIN FALLS, Oct. 16.—Special to The News—Vigorous denunciation of the assault on the supreme court led by Senator LaFollette who with his followers, it was declared, constitute the main opposition to the republican party in this campaign, inspired a high point in the address of A. H. Conner, Idaho attorney general, at a public meeting here this evening that marked the opening of the republican campaign in this county.

Mr. Conner shared the platform with republican county candidates and E. M. Goodwin, of Washington, D. C., assistant secretary of the interior, who discussed the national administration, laying stress upon its abolition of governmental expenditures, resulting in reduced local taxes.

Emphasizing the duty of the citizen to register and to vote, he pointed out that this alone is an essential step in the campaign to be accompanied by intelligent thinking and thinking about political affairs.

"The speaker, discussing first the national and state administration, outlined conditions which he said Governor C. Moore had failed to effect, and added: "In addition, a single bond has been issued while Governor Moore has had charge of things. Not only that, we have reduced the bonded indebtedness of our state by $200,000,000. This has been accomplished in spite of the fact that values of property have been going down in these years I am speaking of."

Analyses Departments.

Charges that too many men and too many officers were employed in state government departments, the attorney general after he had analyzed the various departments, showing where each in turn, he claimed, is indispensable.

"The principal opposition to the sound policies of the republican party in this campaign," Mr. Conner declared, turning to the national ticket, "comes from Senator LaFollette. There are many reasons why it would be disastrous to the United States to elect Senator LaFollette. I am just going to mention three of these reasons, but will not discuss them. First Senator LaFollette seeks to do away with the guarantees of the constitution by giving congress the right to overrule the supreme court of the United States. This is the most revolutionary thing which has ever been proposed in all the 135 years of our history, and would destroy the sacred rights which are guaranteed to us in the organic law he would destroy."

"Second, Senator LaFollette seeks to have the government own and operate all railroads in this country. Aside from the question of whether the government could successfully operate a railroad which experience has taught us it could not, I would consider that if the government buys the railroad, they would pay no taxes, and Idaho alone would lose the enormous sum of $100,000,000 in tax revenue. This would tremendously increase the burden on the shoulders of the man who will have a farm or a house or business, and who would have to pay the taxes."

"Third, this would tremendously increase the burden on the shoulders of the man who will have a farm or a house or business, and who would have to pay the taxes."

Attacks War Record.

The third and principal reason why Senator LaFollette should not receive the support of a genuine old-fashioned American in the time of his country's war record, the American people have not forgotten. A man who fell short of the full duty of a patriotic American in the time of his country's war record will not be honored by the nation which he failed."

LOCAL FOOTBALL TEAM TO MEET OAKLEY TODAY

Oakley high school will be the opponent of local gridiron at Oakley this afternoon in the third game of the Twin Falls schedule. Oakley has established a reputation for scrapping the last while, thus assuring an interesting game, thus assuring a company the team should be repaid for their trip. Oakley has lost almost all her best year's squad and will go into the game with a lineup less than the one the locals saw last.

Twin Falls has rolled up an enviable record this far this season, having defeated Vile by a decisive score, and played the Albion Normal to a standstill. The local line is one that has outcharged any line they have been against. The line from Tim and Hank there are already being mentioned as all-star tackles. The work of the end Dwy and Farrar, has been of stellar quality. Farrar proved Grassroots that he is one of the best men in the state on the receiving end of a pass. The Twin Falls backfield is without a doubt one of the best in the section for this season with Tim and Hank doing the heavy work.

Oakley has been somewhat of a dark horse this year, although they have played the Big team to a scratch on last Friday. Little is known of the personnel of the Oakley squad. However, the star of the Big game was "Red" Miller, an Oakley big man who gained the greater part of the Oakley yardage.

Mount Athos' Famous Monastery Destroyed

The famous monastery of Cullandart, on Mount Athos, built in the Middle ages, has been destroyed by fire. Mount Athos, the "Holy Mountain," gives its name to the northernmost of these peninsulas which extend like a three-pronged fork from the base of the Aegean sea. It can be seen from the monasteries of the same name standing amid magnificent scenery. Access to some of the monasteries overlooking the sea is so difficult that visitors have been drawn up in a sack-shaped contrivance operated by rope. Cullandart monastery is a large and splendid one, and the gospels in gold letters on vellum, probably given by the Emperor Justinian, contain about 1100 and a figure of Christ engaging valuable specimens of Syrian ecclesiastical art. In 1916 Cullandart was raided by Bulgarian monks from the neighboring monastery of Zogoraph.

Peculiar Streams.

Many of the streams and lakes of eastern Oregon are strongly alkaline in character. The Rio de Vinagre, the Vinagre river—of New Granada, in Central America, is said from the sulphuric acid in its water. The Rio de Vinagre river in South Africa contains matter which renders it poisonous to fishes in part of its course. In Africa there is a stream that is blue, and indeed it is only diluted ink, owing to one of its tributaries being strongly impregnated with the iron which it absorbs from a ferrous soil, and the other, from impregnating through a peat marsh, being equally rich in gallic acid, the two principal ingredients of ink.

Spring's First Arrival.

The bluebird is among the first, often the first to arrive in spring in the northern part of the United States from the southern states, where this aristocrat has been spending the winter, says the American Forestry association, Wash. D. C. Sometimes more hardy bluebirds will pass the winter as far north as southern New England. The bluebird builds its nest in bird boxes, or in cracks about buildings or in holes in trees, particularly orchard trees. It lays the bottom of its nest with grasses for the four or five blue-white eggs which it lays. The female is paler in color than the male bird.

REVIEW SCOUT ACHIEVEMENTS

Leaders of Movement in Twin Falls Make Report to Contributors to Fund for Year.

Outstanding achievements of the Boy Scout movement in Twin Falls during the past year have been listed by the Twin Falls scout council in connection with a report to be sent out to contributors last fall to the Boy Scout fund. The report includes detailed financial statement indicating that the year's work will be closed without incurring a deficit.

Magnitude of the Boy Scout movement here is indicated by T. M. Robinson, president of the county, in a foreword to the report.

"This is a big, broad movement of much good," the statement says, "and has brought us to the attention of the public by those of every cast and creed. Perhaps you do not realize that there are nearly 100 men in Twin Falls giving voluntarily of their time and labor to this work, and that 272 persons have made cash subscriptions to ward its support for the year 1924.

"This work and your money have made possible an increase of about 100 per cent in the number of registered Boy Scouts so that there are now 191 registered scouts who have been trained in leadership and good citizenship. They have enabled us to give more intensive training to these boys, to create more enthusiasm and a higher order of thinking and to put the work on a firmer and more lasting basis.

Replete With Activities.

"The year has been replete with activities and accomplishments of these boys. At winter camps they have been taught to care for themselves amid hardships and dangers of winter weather. Scout week has been filled with teachings of church attendance, religious education, practical lessons in good citizenship and good government, and that there is always a place for play and physical development in every well rounded character. They have learned to respect honor and respect for the flag and all that it stands for. Tree planting and park beautifying have helped these boys to become partners with the God of nature.

"Many activities of the weeks spent in summer camps can be enumerated, but no many good turns done by early individual boys and by troops during the year.

"Scouting is the greatest step ever taken towards the building of character and splendid American manhood, and we should feel proud of having been able to help in the cause."

Among the things that the Twin Falls scout council hopes to accomplish during the coming year, are listed:

Enrollment of more troops; training of more boys in systematic and intensive training for all the boys; enlistment and training of additional scout masters and assistants; organization of Fathers clubs, bringing father and son closer together in scouting.

PASTORS APPRECIATE EDEN'S HOSPITALITY

Lutheran Ministers of District Hold Three Days' Conference in North Side Town.

Hospitality of the Lutherans of Eden, who entertained a conference of Lutheran ministers held here last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, is gratefully remembered by all of those who took part in the sessions, according to the Rev. John Gilberg, pastor of the Lutheran church in Twin Falls, who returned Thursday evening from the conference.

Speakers at the conference included Rev. J. Johnson, president of the Oregon district of the Missouri synod, and the Rev. W. George, director of missions of this district. The Rev. F. C. Braun of Idaho Falls, presented an essay on "Christ's Descent Into Hell," and the Rev. J. Kempf of Squirrel, discussed "The Nature and Characteristics of the Church." At special services Wednesday evening the Rev. E. Techler of Troutville delivered the preparatory address and the district president spoke on "The God-Pleasing and Happy Relation Between Pastor and Congregation."

SOCIETY

Edited by Mrs. E. B. Williams
Telephone 313.

Mrs. F. W. Bronnough entertained with a beautifully appointed luncheon Thursday complimentary to Mrs. Tebbel Lawrence. Covers were laid for eight at a table featuring a color scheme of lavender and pink in the cut cups and place cards, the centerpiece being composed of purple and pink flowers. Wasson served. Sewing and conversation were enjoyed until a late hour.

Mrs. C. Y. Wayman of Berkeley, Cal., who is visiting Mrs. O. E. Lind, was the honored guest at a delightful luncheon given by Mrs. Laura Younger Heller at her home in Castleford on Thursday. Covers were laid for ten, all from Twin Falls, at small tables decorated with roses. Following luncheon the afternoon was spent socially, the ladies motoring home late in the evening.

Mrs. L. P. Nissen was hostess to the Episcopal Guild Thursday afternoon. The usual business was transacted with Mrs. Thomas Robertson presiding. At this time it was voted to assist in providing refreshments for the young people's Halloween frolic which the community service department of the Twentieth Century club was planning. An especially interesting paper was read by Mrs. J. W. Clouser on "Early Religion in China, India, Buddhism, Confucianism." Roll call was answered with quotations from Paulina. The remainder of the afternoon took the form of a farewell party for Mrs. George Leopold, who is leaving the first part of November to make her home in Los Angeles. Mrs. C. C. Siggins, in behalf of the Guild, presented Mrs. Leopold with a silver souvenir plate and voiced the sentiments of each member of the Guild when she expressed their thanks for her efficient aid in the society and their sincere regret at losing her from their list of members. Mrs. Leopold in a few well chosen words thanked the ladies and invited them to visit her in California. After a pleasant social hour the hostess, assisted by Mrs. C. C. Siggins and Mrs. George Easley and Mrs. E. Hollingsworth, served delicious refreshments.

The Baptist Missionary circle, which met at the home of Mrs. George Wiley Thursday afternoon, entertained 21 members and friends. Mrs. George Westcott and Miss Edna Graham assisted. Mrs. Edna Wells reviewed the first chapter of the new study book entitled, "Brethren in America." The program was concluded with a Japanese playlet, the best being composed of Mrs. Paul Smith, Mrs. Evelyn Smith, Mrs. C. E. Sweet, Mrs. Bigley, Mrs. Sam Cox, Mrs. Fred Weddle, Mrs. Edvin Wells, Mrs. L. V. Smith and Mrs. E. L. Fowler. Mrs. Westcott and Miss Graham furnished the music for the playlet. The decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the Halloween season.

The Elks are entertaining the members of the east in the recent minstrel frolic and their friends with a dance this (Friday) evening in the Elks hall. Officers of the lodge and their wives will act as chaperons. Music is to be furnished by the Bluebird orchestra.

ASKS COURT TO SAY WHO SHOULD RECEIVE RENTAL

Farm Tenant in Quandary, Applies for Resolving—Pending Determination as to Three Claimants.

In a quandary over the problem of which of three claimants should receive his payment of rental for farm land which he carried on this year under lease, James Swanson, through his attorney, E. Paul Thomas, has applied to the district court here for appointment of a receiver of the rental payment pending determination of the question by litigation. The three claimants are the original land owner with whom Swanson entered into the lease last November; a bank, which bases its claim on account of a mortgage secured in its favor by the original owner of the land, and the purchaser of the premises under foreclosure of a mortgage.

ESTABLISHED REPRESENTATIVES
Eastern B. David Co., Inc., New York
City, N. Y.
Globe, Inc., San Francisco

If President Coolidge is not re-elected, who will be the next President of the United States?

No living man can answer, but this much is true.
If he is not elected, the period between November sixth and March fourth next will be one of confusion amounting to chaos.

Those who regard a vote for LaFollette
as a possible means of relief from existing conditions will do well to keep in mind two points. In the first place LaFollette can not possibly be elected and in the second place if Coolidge is not, the troubles of the past four years will seem as nothing compared to the situation which will obtain before an election is completed
in House or Senate.

Even among the super-heated radicals,
there are doubtless few who expect Senator LaFollette to be elected.
But it is interesting to speculate on what would happen, in the event of the success of the "Progressive"
move.

That movement is made up of the most diverse elements imaginable.
A dozen schools of political and economic thought are represented in it.
All would clamor for immediate recognition, and insist that their particular nostrums be forthwith administered to the country with a government spoon. Not since Babal has there been anything like it would be. As a circus it would have everything heat,
but the price of admission would break
the taxpayers.

There would be Socialists who want to divide up everything, and otherwise hasten the millennium; red flag followers who want the modern Russian system of government installed here; I. W. W.'s clamoring for one big union, opposed by the Gompers crowd of organized labor; followers of Henry George who want all taxes nursed against land, and farmers who would not stand for that; foes
of the Constitution, and minorities who feel safer under the protection of that bill of rights. There would be more nuts, cranks, wheels and bolts
than could be used in any machine on the face of the earth, political or otherwise.

ARE WE WILLING?
How many men and women who really regard the Supreme Court as a menace to the liberty of the people and who, by voting for LaFollette, would endorse the proposition of a virtual destruction of the power and authority which it now wields, are aware of the fact that in all the one hundred and thirty-six years since the ratification of the American Constitution in 1789, the total number of acts of Congress declared unconstitutional amounts to but forty.

In one hundred thirty-six years of existence there have been but forty bills passed by the lawmakers of the country which have been pronounced inimical to the rights of the people under the Constitution, and of these forty, a total of fifteen were bills
which were drawn to give more power and more authority to the Supreme Court itself, and to the Federal courts of the country.

Those who have been lead to believe that the Supreme Court is an instrument for the protection of the vested interests and the money power and the trusts and all the rest of the real and imaginary evils of the age would do well to consider the action of the Court on the Adamson bill. Surely Wall Street could not have been pleased over this decision.

Then too there is the decision which said that the passage of a measure by a State prohibiting the right of the schools to permit the use of a foreign language was unconstitutional, and should not become a law. Even La Follette warmly endorsed the action of the court in this case.
The thing right down to cases, has Congress gained the confidence of the people to an extent that they desire to entrust it with the power to pass any kind of a law on the face of the earth, and from which there can be absolutely no appeal?
This is what LaFollette wants.

A Romance of the Spanish Main
CAPTAIN BLOOD
by RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.
"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren
Kerigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.
Cahuaso had attempted yet again
to protest against this.

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is sent to the Barbadoes as a slave under orders of King James.
He is bought by Colonel Bishop,
military commander, and meets Arabella Bishop, his daughter, whom he falls in love. Spaniards under Don Diego de Espinosa y Valdes
capture the town. Blood saves Mary Truill and Arabella and captures the Spanish ship. Don Diego betrays him and sends the vessel
under the guns of his brother's ship of Hispanola. Blood tricks the Spanish admiral, and sails for Tortuga, the rendezvous of buccanniers of the Spanish Main. There
the buccanniers prevail on him,
aided by the governor, M.
d'Ogeron, to equip the cisco
Llagas as a privateer. He meets Levasseur, a French ruffian, who has his own ship. Levasseur entails under Blood. The Frenchman is in love with d'Ogeron's daughter Madelon, whom the governor has sent to Europe on board a Dutch
brig. She appeals to Levasseur, who has attracted her romantic heart, to rescue her.

In answer, the half-caste pointed out beyond the frothing surf that marked the position of the reef constituting one of the strongholds
of the main defenses. Away beyond it, a mile or so distant, a sail was standing out to sea.

"There she go," he said.
The Frenchman gazed and stared.
The half-caste shrank terrified before his fury. "Then up anchor, and let us after the Dutchman," he cried.

"Steady, captain. What's that?"
There was a restraining hand upon his shoulder, and the broad face of his lieutenant Cahuaso, a burly,
calous Breton scoundrel, was stolidly
confronting him. "A Dutch brig!"
said he. "Impossible! We should never be allowed."

"And who the devil will deny us?" Levasseur was between amazement and fury.

"For one thing, there's your own crew will be none too willing. For another, there's Captain Blood."

"I care nothing for Captain Blood."

"But it is necessary that you should. He has the power, the weight of metal and of men, and, if I know him at all, he'll sink us before he'll suffer interference with the Dutch. He has his own views of privateering, this Captain Blood,
at I wanted you."

Cursing in his soul, and even before the anchor was weighed, the association into which he had entered was already studying ways of evasion. What Cahuaso implied was true: Blood would never suffer violence to be done in his presence to a Dutchman. But it might be done in his absence, and, being done, Blood must per force condone it, since it would then be too late to protest.

Within the hour the Arabella and La Foudre were beating out to sea together. Without understanding the change of plan involved, Captain Blood, nevertheless, accepted it, and weighed anchor before the appointed time upon perceiving his associate to do so.

All day the Dutch brig was in sight, though by evening she had dwindled to the mere speck on the northern horizon. The course prescribed for Blood and Levasseur lay eastward along the northern shores of Hispaniola. To that course the Arabella continued to hold steadily throughout the night.
When day broke again she was alight in the folds under cover of the darkness, but attracted it with the northeast wind every rag of canvas on her yards.

The Arabella and La Foudre out
to sea.

KIDNEYS NEED
LOT OF WATER

Drink Freely and Often, Also Take Salts if Your Back
Hurts

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority.
An excess of such acids overworks
the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and "loggy." When you kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's sticky
waste, else you have backache, headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, chafed often gets sore, water seeds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physi cian at once or get from your physi cian about four ounces of Jad Salts;
take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then get fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kid neys, and to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not in jure and makes a delightful, efferves cent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—adv.

"I'm just as young as I used to be,
and it's all due to gland pills. Here I am 72, and I feel just as spry and full of vim and pep as if I were only 30 or 40."

This testimony to the virtue of gland treatment was voiced recently by Robert George Laws, a retired London stock broker, during a short visit to this country.

"I was in the Kingston hospital in London when I first tried the tab lets," said Mr. Laws. "After I had taken the fifteenth tablet I left the hospital and haven't been back since.
I still take a tablet now and then, and I think they are the real fountain of youth."

tonic, prepared in tablet form provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment.

PROGRESSIVES ARE BADLY OFF IN NORTH IDAHO

Ravenal Macbeth, Secretary of State Mining Association, Regards Chances of Third Party as Slight.

The progressive party has nominated candidates for the state legislature in three out of the 16 counties in north Idaho, but in not one of the three will they elect. Kootenai, Lewis and Nez Perce are the counties where nominations have been made.

This is the statement of Ravenal Macbeth, secretary of the Idaho Mining association, who arrived in Twin Falls on Thursday on a business visit, following an extended tour of the northern part of the state.

Mr. Macbeth is one of the better known democrats of the state, having served for something like eight terms as state senator from Custer county, where, for a number of years, he was engaged in the mining business.

"I usually when a man is an applicant for a highly responsible position," said Mr. Macbeth yesterday, "the parties to whom the application is made make very careful inquiries of those informed as to what manner of man he is. In the case of H. F. Samuels, the applicant of the progressive party for the highly responsible position of governor of the state of Idaho, the people, in some sections, have neglected to ascertain this information though it was easily available from the people of Shoshone county with whom he lived and worked for over 25 years and had accepted him at his valuation of himself."

"For many years Mr. Samuels managed the Success mine, employing 150 to 200 men, annually which means with the big labor turnover in Shoshone county he had 1500 to 2000 men in his employment during the period of his operations. He was the president of a bank at Wallace; the proprietor of the leading hotel in the city, and interested in a number of business enterprises in the county."

"Mr. Samuels was unquestionably well known to every voter in the county, and one would naturally conclude that when he became a candidate for governor in 1923 his candidacy would have received favorable consideration from those who knew him so well."

"But not so. They know him too well, for with 4200 votes cast in Shoshone county this year for the republican, democratic and progressive candidates for governor, Samuels, the progressive, received only 490 votes, the number of votes of the T. W. W.'s and socialists, approximately, that were estimated to be in the county by the republican and democratic party workers."

"Withstanding this rebuke from those among whom he had lived and worked for so many years and to whom his record as an employer of labor, which to him was an inferior commodity—bank president and hotel proprietor, was an open book, he has the audacity to again ask the voters of Idaho for their suffrages."

"A significant feature of which the voters should take cognizance is the decision of certain of his leading supporters. Messrs. P. E. Johnson, his former state chairman, Dow Dunning, progressive candidate for congress in the Second district in 1922, and former State Senator Fairchild of Adn county. These gentlemen in statements given to the press in explanation of their having withdrawn their support, stated, 'Samuels, if elected, would not be governor as he was but a puppet in the hands of Ray McKaig, who would be the real governor of Idaho; and that it was impossible for any decent citizen to stomach McKaig and his methods.'"

"Ray McKaig, the apostle of Town-

MRS. JULIA DAVIS ADAMS of Copenhagen, Denmark, daughter of John W. Davis, in an interview in New York city, declared she would vote for the democratic presidential nominee, not because he is her father, but because his fundamentals are right and his sympathies are broad.

A SUSPENDED SENTENCE for disorderly conduct was meted out in New York to Norman Stollig, whom Rudy Poe, Broadway dancer and great-grand-son of Edgar Allan Poe, charged with making love with a gun during an automobile ride.

EXPLAINING HER $250,000 breach of promise suit against Thomas A. Hanna, multi-millionaire builder of New York, Elizabeth Gormley, 29-year-old divorcee, declared he was "bold but ideal."

levism, the former nonpartisan league boss, and now the chairman of the progressive party, is too well known for me to comment upon him; but with the record of Townsleyism that ruled North Dakota, I can safely state that with McKaig, Townsley's apostle, and his gang in control of the state house, the people would some morning awaken and find the state wrecked.

"In north Idaho, from which section I recently returned, I found the progressive party was rapidly disintegrating and that the voters were returning to their old party alignments. I can confidently predict Mr. Samuels will not carry any one of the ten north Idaho counties."

Complaint in the case was signed by E. P. Bunch, and the action was prosecuted by the prosecuting attorney's office. Felix was represented by Attorney E. V. Larson.
