ACTORS PLEDGE FULL SUPPORT TO PRESIDENT

Executive Well Pleased With Reports on Progress of Campaign; Theatrical Stars Are Guests at White House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (AP)—Satisfaction over the progress of the political campaign was expressed today by President Coolidge who told visitors that after making allowances for possibilities of too optimistic reports he felt very much encouraged over the outlook.

The president was assured this morning at a breakfast party at the White House with about 40 members of the theatrical profession that he would receive "almost 100 per cent of the vote of the actors."

The party turned into a fun festival on the White House lawn after the breakfast with Al Jolson and Raymond Hitchcock leading in songs and impromptu speeches. Mr. Coolidge left for the cabinet meeting with the tunes of a newly composed song "Keep Coolidge" and some of the actors' "presidential jokes" ringing in his ears.

Later in the day the president conferred with Charles A. Littlefield of Lynn, Mass., republican candidate for the house, on conditions in the shoe and textile industry. Mr. Littlefield, who is a guest at the White House, reported conditions in these industries were improving and that a greater improvement would be expected.

Secretary Weeks, who has been in New York for several days, reported to Mr. Coolidge that the national ticket was sweeping that state and that "there was better than an even chance" that Theodore Roosevelt would defeat Al Smith in the gubernatorial race. He said Mr. Roosevelt was making an aggressive campaign and drawing enthusiastic crowds.

Mrs. E. E. Barrett, manager of the city of Warrenton, Oregon, presented to the president a program drawn up by the chamber of commerce of Portland, Ore., for land settlement, development and marketing of products.

BROWN RECEIVES SENTENCE FOR DRY LAW VIOLATION

Henry Brown, who previously had pleaded guilty to charge of illegal possession of liquor, was sentenced Friday by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here to serve two months in jail and pay $200 fine. Brown already has been here a prisoner in the county jail here for 40 days following his arrest at Rogerson by members of the sheriff's force.

THREE MILLION IS G. O. P. GOAL

Republican Chairman Tells Investigators of 'Sum They Hoped to Raise.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, informed the special campaign investigating committee of the senate today that it is the "hope" and "expectation" of his organization to raise a total of $3,000,000 for the national campaign, presidential, senatorial and congressional.

At the same time Mr. Butler denied charges of Senator Robert M. La Follette, the independent presidential candidate, that his committee would mobilize a large mass of funds in certain states during the last weeks of the campaign. His denial was in reply to questions by Senator Shipstead, farmer-laborer, Minnesota.

"We have no such intention and have no such preparations," Mr. Butler said. "We have no ability to do it. We have no funds for purposes of that kind. There is no intention of doing anything of that sort. I want to conduct this campaign in such a way that when I get through it will be some thing to be proud of."

SUGAR FACTORY MAILLS CHECKS FOR HUGE SUM ON LAST-YEAR'S BEETS

Checks amounting to a total of $58,300 were Friday being prepared for mailing by the Amalgamated Sugar company, the amount representing a bonus to growers of beets during the 1923 season. In addition to this checks amounting to $8250 were mailed Friday by the company for beets harvested in the month of September.

With the bonus, beet growers in the territory tributary to the Twin Falls factory will have received a total of $8.38 per ton for their last year's crop.

Notwithstanding the fact that the present year was a most unsatisfactory one for beets from the standpoint of both factory and grower, from 10 to 15 tons to the acre were grown by many farmers in this territory.

BOXER IS SANE ALIENISTS SAY

"Kid" McCoy, Accused of Murdering Lovemate, Feigning Insanity, Report.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (AP)—Kid McCoy, former pugilist, held here under confinement for the murder of Mrs. Theresa W. Mora last August in "mangle and feigning insanity," according to a report made to the district attorney's office late today by two alienists who examined the prisoner.

Both medical men who examined McCoy today, Doctors Paul Bowers and Victor Parkin, had examined him once before, shortly after his arrest.

At that time he was declared insane despite his playful operations with bits of cardboard and tissue paper. This time, after watching McCoy write a letter to "Theresa" and listening to him croon songs to "Theresa," the physicians expressed the unqualified opinion that it was all make believe.

POLICE NET IS CLOSING ABOUT ALLEGED SLAYER

Records of California Grand Jury Strengthen Case Against Man Suspected of Murdering C. H. McQuown.

SALT LAKE, Oct. 17 (AP)—An alleged confession to a California grand jury by Leslie Meredith that he participated with Mark Collins in a hold-up in Chico, Cal., strengthens the case against Collins who is held here charged with first degree murder for the slaying of C. H. McQuown of Buhl, Idaho, during a holdup here last Saturday night, police said today upon learning of Collins' past record.

Collins carried a .45 caliber pistol during the California holdup, Meredith is purported to have confessed while Collins told police here he owned no such weapon and was at a loss to explain the presence of cartridges of that size in his automobile.

DISMISS CHARGES AGAINST EIGHT MASKED PARADERS

Charges of interfering with traffic preferred against eight men who were arrested on their recent appearance on the streets here garbed in white hoods and robes of the Ku Klux Klan were dismissed Thursday by Police Magistrate J. L. Mee upon request of City Attorney A. J. Myers.

PROGRESSIVE TO HOLD RALLY.

Albert A. Johnson of California, is to be the principal speaker at a public meeting to be held this evening at the Leaning theater under auspices of the progressive party. Other speakers include W. A. Schulberg, candidate for representative in congress, and Mrs. E. McCauley of Buhl, candidate for probate judge.

ORDERS HALT ON BONDS DELIVERY

Judge Babcock Signs Writ of Prohibition in Suit Against American Falls District.

An order for an alternative writ of prohibition was signed by Judge W. A. Babcock in district court here Friday to restrain the American Falls reservoir district and its directors from delivering bonds of the district under agreement entered into September 24, last, for sale of $2,498,000 worth of the district's bonds to Marshall Field, Galore, Ward and company and Hythe, Witter and company and associates.

Under the court's order this prohibition is to remain in effect until Friday, October 21, when the writ is to be returned to the court and hearing on it is to be made to determine whether the prohibition is to be made permanent.

The court's order Friday was issued upon application filed in the suit brought by Thomas Costello against the American Falls Reservoir district and its directors to prevent delivery of the bonds, on the grounds that in contracting for the sale of the bonds the district exceeded its jurisdiction and did not sell to the highest bidder.

Actual delivery of the bonds to the purchasers under the agreement of September 24 was made Wednesday of last week, and according to advice from Washington, $1,989,316 of the proceeds of the bond sale was last Thursday delivered by E. B. Shepherd, president of the American Falls Reservoir district, to Secretary of the Interior Work, to meet the share of the cost of the American Falls reservoir project to be borne by the district.

Assurance was given Friday by representatives here of the American Falls Reservoir district, that the suit brought by Mr. Costello will not interfere with the opening of bids for the construction of the American Falls dam to take place next Monday at American Falls.

HEAVY WINDS ADD TO DANGER OF AIRSHIP

Shenandoah Hovering Over Oregon-California Border in Battle Against Storms With 1500 Miles Still to be Traversed and Fuel Supply Rapidly Vanishing; Progress Very Slow.

ABOARD THE U. S. S. SHENANDOAH, Oct. 17.—(Via Camp Lewis Wireless).—(P)—Driving straight into the teeth of one of the stiffest winds which she has ever faced and racing against a rapidly diminishing gasoline supply, the navy dirigible Shenandoah reached the Oregon border at dusk Friday night.

For 23 hours the big airship had battled with adverse winds off the California coast in one of the severest tests ever given to a dirigible. Against the strong headwinds the motors were drinking gasoline at the rate of one and one-half gallons a mile, and with a course of more than 1500 miles still to be traversed, the advisability of turning and speeding back to San Diego with the threat of the weather for a long time seriously considered.

After a conference with Rear Admiral Moffatt, Commander Lansdowne decided to hold the ship on its course though it might have been increased from 20 miles an hour to 75 or 80 if headed southward.

BIBLE READING WARMLY URGED

Disciples of Christ in International Convention Pass Important Resolution.

LOVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 17 (AP)—A compromise resolution dealing with war was adopted today by the international convention of the Disciples of Christ. Discussion of the subject had threatened to result in a serious division of delegates and a compromise was effected only after considerable debate.

The resolution as adopted differs considerably from the original text which had included the clause "that the church should not sanction war." This clause was omitted by the committee on recommendations in submitting the report to the convention.

Another split was threatened when J. R. Crain, former adjunct of the chaplain's training school at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., insisted that the resolution be sent back to the committee with the recommendation that a clause protecting the conscientious objector be inserted. The chair ruled that the convention could refer back to the committee but could make no recommendations. Compromise was effected when Mr. Crain, after adoption of the resolution, was allowed to submit an amendment which will be sent to the committee for recommendation. The amendment asked that the "right of personal conscience in objecting to war be recognized."

The convention also adopted a resolution dealing with the reading of the Bible in public schools. It urges disciples to endorse the movement heartily and "take every step to bring about the desired result."

LIQUOR REPORTED TAKEN FROM SPANIARDS' PARTY

Deputy Sheriff's Investigation Leads to Arrest of Five Men in Kimberly Road Dwelling House.

Two partially filled bottles of liquor were taken from a party of five Spaniards and Baques arrested last Thursday night at the residence of C. O. Wadsworth on Kimberly road, according to Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Jones, whose investigation of complaint regarding reported disturbance on the premises resulted in the arrest. Wadsworth was not at his residence when the arrests were made. The accused men, who were lodged in the county jail here, gave the names of Anita Arriaga and Lexa Yllaramendi of Burley; Joe J. Berrenta and Ramon Marguez of Elko, Nevada, and Antonio Lonn of Twin Falls.

Charges of disturbing the peace were preferred against each of the accused men, three of whom in Justice of the Peace Kennedy Packard's court Friday afternoon pleaded guilty and paid fines of $25 each. Arriaga and Yllaramendi, at Elko under cash bail, will be brought into court probably today; it was stated.

SPEAKS AT MCCAMMON, IDAHO.

MCCAMMON, Idaho, Oct. 17.—Congressman T. Smith, candidate for congressman, whose home is at Twin Falls, spoke here tonight on the tariff and national economic measures. Mr. Smith will speak Saturday evening at Rockliffe and will return to his home at Twin Falls Sunday. He will speak Monday evening at Shoshone.

THIRD VISIT TO CHICAGO ENDED

Democratic Presidential Candidate Stresses Personal Rights in Windy City.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17 (AP)—Sounding again his position on questions of religious liberty and personal rights and endorsing Woodrow Wilson for championing the cause of self-determination in behalf of smaller nations, John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, tonight concluded his third campaign visit to Chicago and started southward to East St. Louis, Ill. and St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. Davis rushed through his last few hours here making three speeches in as many sections of the city tonight. The first was before an audience in the Madison square, the second before a Jewish gathering, and the third before an audience of Polish people.

Without taking into consideration the effect of Mr. Davis' two-day stay in Chicago on the presidential campaign in Illinois, state and local leaders of the party made no secret of their feeling that he had done much to solidify the Cook county democratic factions. It was principally for that purpose that Mr. Davis came into Chicago, at the request of George E. Brennan, democratic national committee for Illinois and in view of the fact of objections on the part of some of his political advisers.

AND MANY A POLITICAL NOSTRUM HAS TURNED OUT THE SAME WAY

Local Mortgage Good Investment, Assertion

Roger W. Babson Tells of Value to be Derived in Putting Money into Home Real Estate Loans.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 17.—Roger W. Babson today pointed out an opportunity for investors that is not only safe and profitable, but renders a distinct local service as well. "Bank accounts are the best of all investments. Most banks are good and many stocks are fair investments," says Mr. Babson. "People should remember, however, that there are other forms of investment that are also good and in some cases preferable. The local real estate mortgage should not be forgotten. This is especially true in these days when the field farther away looks the greenest" to most people. The real estate mortgage under certain circumstances also has additional advantages in the interest of return, margin of safety and the effect of the investment on local business conditions.

Call Loans Made. "Just now when call loans are being made in New York at from 2 per cent to 2 1/2 per cent and commercial paper is selling in all our large cities between 3 1/2 per cent, good mortgages are still yielding 6 per cent or better. I say, 'or better' because in certain sections of the south and west absolutely safe mortgages can be secured to yield 7 per cent and even 8 per cent. The farm loan and joint stock banks have changed the farm mortgage situation somewhat, but good loans at 6 per cent are still available on small houses in the cities and in the country. These houses when occupied by the owner are usually first class security. "In loaning money on mortgages a very important factor enters into the transaction which is often overlooked. For the want of a better name we call it the 'ethical' factor. The value of any mortgage depends not only upon the real property behind it, but also to a large extent upon the character of the borrower. I do not know where you will find a better security for your money than that offered by a young man of Christian character who is endeavoring to build his own home provided that such a loan is protected by a life insurance policy on the borrower. Has an Advantage. "A private investor has a distinct advantage in making a loan in this manner. The bank must loan more or less mechanically—say 60 per cent of valuation—irrespective of the character of the borrower. Sometimes a bank will loan too much to a man who lacks integrity and ability in his own business—a chance of loaning to an honest individual because of this arbitrary 60 per cent limit. The banks often fool themselves by thinking that a house is a house whoever the owner. They forget it is not the number of people in a city which makes value but the character of the people—that city which makes value. An undesirable citizen moving into a locality actually lowers the value of the adjacent real estate. Generally a man of good character coming into a neighborhood tends to increase that value. "When the combination of a desirable property and borrower of good character is found a good investment opportunity exists. Under such circumstances I recommend a loan of money for the building of a home or for a store that is to be used by the borrower. I never advise loaning a young man, an old man, or any other kind of a man money with which to speculate, or money to invest in a business which he does not control.

Local Mortgages. "In buying local mortgages," concluded Mr. Babson, "you also perform an additional service to your community. The money stays in your own city instead of going to New York or some other financial center, which is usually the case when stocks and bonds are purchased. Moreover, every new house that is built in your community by a man of character adds value to every other house. In helping such a man you are helping yourself and all the rest of your neighbors. I know of no other way of improving business, for the long swing than by encouraging and helping the young men of vision and character to get started. Although the business of the country as shown on the Babson chart is now 2 per cent below normal, this does not apply to every city. Some locales are doing a normal business, some are doing better than normal business because their citizens are maintaining high standards in their commercial life. "I believe that as a matter of good business and public service every investor should invest a part of his money at home where it will encourage the right type of citizens in his community."

THE FORUM

PROBLEMS FOR HAY

Editor News: There seems to be quite a bit of "crying" about the price of alfalfa at the present time. I submit the annual crop and livestock report of the Twin Falls Cattle company for years 1923 and 1924:

ACRES—
Alfalfa	44,463
Pasture	14,895
Beans	19,397

No.	No.
Work horses	7,824
Mares	7,915
Mules	7,876
Cattle	4,119
Sheep	43,695

The difference between average of beans of 19,000 acres will more than take care of any difference in acreage or yield of the alfalfa, besides the amount of livestock, sheep especially, of one-third less, doesn't warrant the price of hay to go to any high figure. If it were the farmers are entitled to a profit on growing hay, but he should consider that it is not grown especially to sell under the best conditions but to sell the livestock and alfalfa as well as the hay. The alfalfa farmer and livestock man met and agreed on a price of $104.00. Why can not we do much as we are asking for a higher price of hay to go to any high figure? I realize there is no law to compel a man to sell if he does not care to, or thinks conditions at some future time will warrant him holding for a higher market, that's his privilege. But if next year's annual report shows the same proportion of decline on the tract it means $1.85 may again be yours. Prices of farm crops and trap take beans for example. The grower that threshed early could have sold for $5.75 per hundred; very good alfalfa today is around $5. Last fall alfalfa growers were offered $8 a ton for alfalfa on the north side. They held for $10. The stockmen didn't or could not see it and left the neighborhood around Hansen bridge, and after the sheep had gone to the range the same hay sold in small lots at $4 or $5 a ton. And what could we do but buy it and hold the livestock on the tract as it means a fair price next season. Yours respectfully, —A. FARMER.

BEDOUIN TRIBE SEEK JUDAISM

Congregation Numbering 1000 'Would Return to Faith of Forefathers.'

JERUSALEM, Oct. 17 (AP)—Part of a Bedouin tribe in Palestine numbering about 1000 persons, claiming to be descendants of Jews who remained in Palestine following the destruction of the Temple, have applied to the government for help in their efforts to return to Judaism. Some of the Bedouin tribe known as "Arab el Simul" is scattered over upper Galilee. Some of the tribesmen are at present encamped at Tabna, on the northern shore of Lake Tiberias, whence they addressed their request to the rabbis of Safed. The claim as to the identity of Jews is based by the elders of the tribe on documents said to be in their possession, showing their ancestors to have been part of the Jewish race. One of the documents of the Simul is a scroll written in Arabic, resembling somewhat in form and content the "Torah" or scroll of the Moslem Pentateuch. Some of the Simul's customs are also said to resemble those of the ancient Jews.

Written Application.

After waiting in vain for action on the part of the rabbis of Safed who apparently were none too anxious to precipitate a proselyting activity of this importance, 25 chiefs of the tribe submitted a written application to the government.

A British official went to investigate the request and examine the claims, reported that while there may be some doubt as to the authenticity of the documents, the earnestness of the Bedouin's desire to embrace, or to re-embrace, Judaism, was unquestionable. The authorities are understood to be proceeding very cautiously, fearing the effect upon the Moslem and Christian population of a wholesale conversion of the tribe.

Although Zionist officials have been approached they have taken no stand in the matter.

Gregg Business College One of Factors in Building City

Business Training Institution Contributes Largely to Community Advancement.

One of the institutions that is contributing in large measure to the up-building of Twin Falls is the Gregg Business College, which, since its establishment here seven years ago by its owner and superintendent, M. S. Hoover, former head of the Twin Falls high school commercial department, has supplied opportunity for securing well-rounded business education of which approximately 1000 students have taken advantage, about one-third of them being placed by the school in desirable positions here and in this vicinity upon their graduation.

Swells Community Revenue. Income of the school from tuition during this period has approximated $25,000, practically all of which has remained in Twin Falls. About one-half of the students have come from points outside of Twin Falls to pursue business education here, and a large proportion of the remainder, if they could not have obtained as good or better business education here would have gone elsewhere for their instruction, so that the income of the college, almost entirely represents a substantial addition to the net revenues of the community. Expenditures on the part of students coming here from other points for food, lodging and other necessities represent a further addition to the community's revenues amounting to $5000 to $7500 annually.

Students Profit Largely. Value to its students of the training given in the college here is almost incalculable. In proportion to its enrollment it is believed that no similar institution has a better record for success of individual students following graduation. One of a number of similar instances is that of a Twin Falls girl who established a remarkable record of completing courses in shorthand and typewriting in only 20 days and without further tuition, qualified for a position in which she now is receiving a salary of $55 a week. Such instances, Mr. Hoover states, are possible where there is exceptional capability on the part of the student, but in order that such success may be attained it is necessary that there shall have been thorough training, and on this fact the school bases claim to their effectiveness and efficiency that is not excelled by any other similar institution.

Graduates in Demand. Indicative of employers' demand for services of persons equipped with thorough business training, Mr. Hoover's records show that only one or two of their former students have been unable to find positions since their graduation. In many instances, Mr. Hoover states, it has been necessary to go outside of Twin Falls to fill the demand for qualified persons with business training. Shorthand, typewriting and book keeping are the basic studies in the business college curriculum, but in addition to these the Gregg college offers training in salesmanship, business law, higher accounting, banking, arithmetic, rapid calculation, letter writing, penmanship, spelling, English, mimeographing, office practice, dictaphone and filing.

Teaching Life Work. Mr. Hoover has been engaged for more than 30 years in teaching commercial courses, both in business colleges and as a member of high school faculties, and he has made this his life work, combining in it the results of extended study and research in the several branches of commercial education with exceptional capability and long experience as an educator. Occupying the entire second floor of the building on Main avenue west formerly occupied by the postoffice, the Gregg business college is well arranged and completely equipped for its work. Long rows of roving desks and comfortable seats have been placed in a large study hall, and in an adjoining room a battery of typewriters is provided for students' practice. Among the recent additions to the school's equipment is an intricate adding and billing machine with which, it is claimed, 101 operations may be performed by the skilled operator.

It is Mr. Hoover's ambition to make of his school a most efficient agency for equipping young men and women to take advantage of the best opportunities in business life, and at the same time to build in Twin Falls an institution that will keep pace with its needs and be a credit to the community.

Comets Not Dangerous. As comets are shooting through space at all sorts of angles to the earth's path, it is not impossible for a collision with the earth to take place. But comets are not dangerous bodies, and the chances of a comet hitting the earth are only one in 5,000,000. If you were to shut your eyes and fire at random into the air your chances of bringing down a bird would be immeasurably greater than those of a comet striking your head. If the earth it would be turned to incandescent dust when it struck our atmosphere, and we should never even be able to find the dust unless perhaps an occasional stone should happen to get through our aerial envelope.

A Conversation. Between 2 and 3 o'clock—at the half-way house of night—I heard slow hoofs below my window, and leaning out, saw under moonshine two great gray horses coming down the road together. They were enjoying a phase of their existence unknown to us. They conversed in little sounds and when one stopped, to snort and sniff at the water of a duck pond by the way, the other also stopped, rubbed his head and neck manifestly up into the starry sky. I saw the moonlight in his big eyes. Presently they put their noses together. Then one gave a slight start—perhaps at the opinions of the other—and side-by-side they sauntered away into the night-hidden landscape.

For the Heavens. There was a collection taken at our church to clothe the heathen in Africa. I handed my wife two quarters, saying, "Well, here are a couple of bits for the heathen, anyway." My little boy heard the conversation and didn't see the money passed. A few days later the minister called, the little boy asked the minister whether the heathens were "pious", the minister for answered in the affirmative, and asked why he asked the question. "I said the little boy, "now I know why papa gave mamma a couple of buttons to put in the box the time you took up the collection." It took me some time to straighten out the situation. —Chicago Tribune.

Long-Standing Enmity For 125 years after the accession of William of Orange to the throne of England, France and Great Britain were unrelentingly enemies, and were often engaged in open war on each other.

STATE OF IDAHO. Department of State. I, F. A. Jeter, Secretary of State of the State of Idaho, and legal custodian of the acts of the Legislature of the State of Idaho, do hereby certify that the attached is a full, true and correct copy of SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 7, enacted by the Seventeenth Session of the Legislature of the State of Idaho, proposing an amendment to Section 3 of Article 15 of the Constitution of Idaho.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State. Done at Boise, the Capital of Idaho, this twenty-first day of August, A. D. 1924. (GREAT SEAL) F. A. JETER, Secretary of State OF THE STATE OF IDAHO. LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF IDAHO. SEVENTEENTH SESSION. IN THE SENATE. SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 7. By Committee on Irrigation and Water Rights. Joint Resolution to Be Submitted to the Electors of the State of Idaho by Ballot or Approval, Proposing the Amending of Section 3 of Article 15 of the State Constitution of Idaho, Relating to the Appropriation of the same for Manufacturing Purposes, to Be Limited as Approved by Law.

Be Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Idaho: Section 1. That Section 3 of Article 15 of the Constitution of the State of Idaho, which reads as follows: "Section 3. The right to divert and appropriate the undiverted waters of any natural stream to beneficial uses, shall never be denied. Priority of appropriation shall be determined as between those using the water; but when the waters of any natural stream are not sufficient for the service of all those desiring to divert and use the same for any other purpose; and those using the water for agricultural purposes shall have preference over those using the same for manufacturing purposes. And in any organized mining district those using the water for mining purposes or milling purposes connected with mining shall have preference over those using the same for manufacturing or agricultural purposes. But the usage by such subsequent appropriators shall be subject to such provisions of law regulating the taking of private property for public or private use, as referred to in Section 14 of Article 1 of this constitution."

Section 3. The Secretary of State is hereby directed to publish this proposed constitutional amendment once a week for six consecutive weeks, prior to the next general election, in one newspaper of general circulation published in each county of the state. But the usage by such subsequent appropriators shall be subject to such provisions of law regulating the taking of private property for public and private use, as referred to in Section 14 of Article 1 of this constitution.

Section 2. The question to be submitted to the electors of the State of Idaho at the next general election, in order to determine whether they will approve or reject the amendment proposed in Section 1, shall be as follows: Shall Section 3 of Article 15 of the Constitution of the State of Idaho be amended to read as follows:

Section 3. The right to divert and appropriate the unappropriated waters of any natural stream to beneficial uses, shall never be denied; provided, however, that when the same is for power purposes such use shall be subject to such limitations as may be prescribed by law. Priority of appropriation shall give the better right as between those using the water; but when the waters of any natural stream are not sufficient for the service of all those desiring to divert and use the same for any other purpose; and those using the water for agricultural purposes shall have preference over those using the same for manufacturing purposes. And in any organized mining district those using the water for mining purposes or milling purposes connected with mining shall have preference over those using the same for manufacturing or agricultural purposes. But the usage by such subsequent appropriators shall be subject to such provisions of law regulating the taking of private property for public or private use, as referred to in Section 14 of Article 1 of this constitution.

Presently that attracts and compels respect is not always a matter of birth. To be sure a man reverts the standing of his grandfathers and takes a running start from their shoulders. But life's arrow is large and admits all comers. It takes the poor but noble boasts him to wealth. It as often takes the pampered son of the rich—and introduces him to a life of toil. Sometimes he doesn't take kindly to it, so he lands in the common dump where all failures drop sooner or later. Money is a rod-and or a curse and the way we use it shows what we are.

RIGHT HERE AT HOME. It is high time that people began to give serious thought to the question of a selection of the men who are to serve as public officials after November 6, next, in Washington, but right here at home.

Much information has been offered with respect to the candidates of the various parties for President and Vice President. There has even been some publicity in the interests of those who will represent Idaho in the United States Congress, but to date there has been little said with respect to the candidates for State Legislature and County officers.

No feature of the coming election is of more importance than this and none should be given greater attention. Those who are not familiar with the list of candidates should take the time necessary to familiarize themselves with it.

WHAT ABOUT THE HOME TOWN? A man's reputation in his own stamping ground should be regarded as something of a factor when it comes to the matter of selecting him for any job.

Mr. Samuels has resided in Shoshone County for a long time. Presumably, it is superfluous to say that his name is one of the likely to be selected to fill this State in the chair of the Chief Executive it is fair to assume that he would have received a tremendous vote in his own County.

What special qualifications must a man have for such a job to enable him to overcome a virtual reputation at the hands of those who know him best? Those familiar with his record will have none of him. What does he offer to the balance of Idaho that would warrant the balance of Idaho in overlooking the action of the voters of Shoshone County?

"It was a very funny speech to make," said Nurse Fog. "By course we couldn't be cut with a knife. It was silly even to have said such a thing. 'We're not sandwiches or pie crust or anything like that. We can't be cut with a knife, whether we are thick or thin.'"

CHAPTER XIV—Continued. The simple words, and more than the words, their tone of ineffable disdain crossed the passion that never slumbered deeply in Levasseur. "He opened the door, and lunged her brother through it."

The Dutchman's master, purple in the face, stood forward to hear the pirate, followed closely by an elegant, pale-faced young gentleman in whose Levasseur recognized his brother-in-law elect.

"Captain Levasseur, this is an outrage for which you shall be made to answer. What do you seek aboard my ship?" "I believe in something of which I am being robbed. But since you chose war and opened fire on me with some damage to my ship and loss of life to five of my men, war, it is, and your ship a prize of war."

"No, no!" she panted. "Yes, yes," he mocked her, and his mockery was the most terrible thing of all. He crushed her to him brutally, deliberately hurtful because she resisted, and kissed her whilst she writhed in his embrace.

"I must run for shelter there, and conceal her," said Levasseur. "I do not trust this oppressive boat. A storm may catch us before we make land."

Levasseur looked and caught his breath. Two ships that at the distance seemed of considerable burden were heading towards them, some five miles away.

"Our brief separation has been, might I protest, a busy morning in my life," he said. "The fact that accompanied the Arabella was a Spanish vessel of twenty-six guns, the Santiago from Puerto Rico, with a hundred and twenty thousand weight of cargo, fifty thousand pieces of eight, and a crew of ten thousand men in Jewels. A rich capture of which two-thirds, under the articles went to Levasseur and his crew."

Then it was the turn of Levasseur, and black crew the brow of Captain Blood as the Frenchman's tale was unfolded. At the end he roared a cry of disappointed. But Levasseur answered him, as he had answered Caluso, that a ship was a ship, and it was ships they need against their projected enterprises. Perhaps because things had gone well with him that day, Blood ended by thrugging the matter said, Theroupan Levasseur proposed that the Arabella and her prize should return to Tortuga there to unload the cargo and await the further adventures that could now be shipped. Levasseur meanwhile would effect certain necessary repairs, and then proceed south, await his admiral at Balboa, and for their enterprise against Maracaibo.

To Levasseur's relief, Captain Blood not only agreed, but pronounced himself ready to set sail at once.

No sooner had the Arabella departed than Levasseur brought his ships into the lagoon, and set his crew to work upon the erection of temporary quarters ashore for himself, his men, and his enforced cargo during the careening and repairing of La Foudre.

CHAPTER XV. THE RANSOM. In the glory of the following morning, sparkling and clear after the storm, with an invigorating, briny tang in the air from the salt-pools on the south of the island, a curious scene was played on the beach of the Virgin Mags, at the foot of a ridge of bleached dunes, beside the spread of sail from which Levasseur had improvised a tent.

Enthroned upon an empty cask that the French filibuster to transact his business, the business of making himself safe with the Governor of Tortuga. Before him, guarded by two half-naked negroes, stood young O'Geron. Near at hand, and under guard, mademoiselle his sister sat, a little behind a hillock of sand. Levasseur addressed himself to M. O'Geron.

"I refuse—utterly and absolutely, do you understand? So do your worst, and be damned for a filthy pirate," cried O'Geron. "Remember your sister's honour is in pawn to me. Should you forget to ransom with the dowry, you will not consider it unreasonable that I forget to marry her. M. O'Geron observed the grey despair that had almost stamped the beauty from her face.

"No, you dog! A thousand times, no!" "I beg that you will spare your self and your sister," said the Captain, "by being reasonable. I have been too modest. But since I have said twenty thousand pieces of eight, twenty thousand pieces of eight, twenty thousand pieces of eight, twenty thousand pieces of eight, twenty thousand pieces of eight."

Startled, Levasseur and his officers looked up and around. On the crest of the dunes behind them, in sharp silhouette against the deep azure of the sky, they beheld a tall, thin figure, a man in a long, black, and white dress, a crimson sash plume curled about the broad brim of his hat, affording the only touch of colour. Underneath was the lawyer face of Captain Blood.

SAMUELS STOCK ON DOWN GRADE CONNER STATES

Idaho Attorney General Makes Critical Analysis of Candidate's Proposal for Taxing Mines.

That the Samuels stock among Idaho voters is steadily depreciating and that the candidacy of Governor Moore is gaining in strength in every county which he has so far visited, is the statement of A. H. Conner, attorney general of Idaho, and candidate for the same office on the republican ticket.

Mr. Conner spent a few hours in Twin Falls yesterday afternoon, leaving in the evening to fill one or two speaking engagements before returning to Boise.

"The chief burden of Mr. Samuels' plea for votes in the farming community is that if he is elected governor he will compel the big mining companies of the state to pay taxes on the value of the ore in their mines," said Mr. Conner yesterday.

Mr. Conner claims that the mines are escaping their just taxation by reason of the fact that they are taxed upon their net profits rather than upon the value of their ore bodies. This argument might sound well, but it will not bear analysis.

In the first place the mining industry is a "swasting" industry. When a ton of ore is taken out of the ground it is gone forever, and can never be replaced, and the lift of a mine is determined by the number of tons of ore which is available. It must be remembered that mining companies pay taxes upon all its improvements, buildings, machinery and land it owns just the same as anyone else. The difficulty is when we come to assess and tax the ore in the ground that no one can look in the mine and tell how much ore is there or what its quality or value will be. An expert can guess at it, but sometimes the guesses of experts are a long ways off.

So the scheme was devised a great many years ago, and it is operated successfully of taxing the mining industry upon its net profits, instead of upon the purely speculative value which might be attached to ore in the ground, and on the tax rolls for this year the mines of Shoshone county alone are paying net valuation of over five million dollars of net profits. This is fair to the producing mine and encourages development by the small prospector who is struggling to bring his property to the producing stage.

Applies to Samuels' Mine.

"The fallacy of Mr. Samuels' argument can be easily demonstrated by applying it to his own coal mine. The lowest estimate made by any of the experts of the amount of coal in the ground at his mine is ten million tons. Certainly no one would quarrel with the statement that the ore is worth 25 cents per ton to Mr. Samuels after the costs of production have been taken out. As a matter of fact, estimates are high as a dollar a ton have been made of the net profit which could be made from this coal, but take it at 25 cents. This would make the coal in the ground have a value of two million and a half. If we assess this at say 50 per cent of its value, we would have one million valuation of a million and a quarter on this unmined coal, but if you figure the tax at only 1 per cent which is less than the taxes average in the county where the mine is situated, this would mean $25,000 in taxes each year.

"Neither Mr. Samuels nor anyone else could pay this amount of taxes on the undeveloped coal, and operate his property. Mr. Samuels has agreed to ship two cars per day. As a matter of fact, he has not even averaged one car per day, but if he shipped the maximum amount of two cars per day for 300 days in the year, this would be 600 cars at 50 tons to the car and would mean a yearly production of only 30,000 tons of coal. If we figure his profit on this at 25 cents per ton, he would still be $42,500 short of having enough to pay his taxes. If he netted even a dollar a ton on this coal, he would fail to have enough to pay his taxes by the round sum of $20,000.

Aburdity Evident.

"The very absurdity of Mr. Samuels' scheme is evident when it is applied to his own mining property.

"He knows that his scheme will not work and he is only advocating it in agricultural communities where he attempts to make the farmer think that he is being discriminated against in the matter of taxation."

"Tomorrow's car—today"

The Star Car

"Tomorrow's Car Today" exactly expresses the advanced engineering features of the New Star Car. The New Star Car is so far in advance of its competitors that there really is no comparison. As an example, today the Star Car offers as one of its many exclusive features a smooth, easy-working Disc Clutch. No other car in its class has a Disc Clutch today.

Flexible Power

The Most Important Element of a Motor Car Is the Motor. The Continental Red Seal motor in the New Star Car is a revelation in power and flexibility. It is a delight to drive a Star—so easy, quiet and smooth.
