COURT DECIDES AGAINST BOARD IN WALTON SUIT

State's Highest Tribunal Says Three School Trustees May Be Ousted and Made to Pay $500 Each.

BOISE, Nov. 3 (AP)—D. F. Clark, W. W. Parrish and G. W. Bice, members of the Twin Falls school district board, may be ousted from the board and each forfeit $500, according to a decision of the supreme court handed down today.

The board members, who constitute half of the board, were informed against by E. F. Walton, who sought to have them ousted from office for alleged neglect of duty and pay him $500 each in accordance with an Idaho statute. He alleged 38 causes of action in which he contended the board members neglected their official duties. The district court awarded the judgment asked and denied motion for a new trial. From the order denying the new trial the appeal was taken.

The supreme court was split on the case. Justice William E. Leo wrote the decision and his opinion was concurred in by Chief Justice Charles P. McCarthy and Dana E. Brink, district judge acting as a commissioner. Justice William A. Leo dissented and his dissenting opinion was concurred in by Justice Alfred Budge.

Davis Closes His Campaign with an Address by Radio

Democratic Nominee Delivers Speech at New York to Audience All Over the United States.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—John W. Davis closed his campaign tonight with an address over the radio, the first ever made by a presidential candidate on the eve of election day.

He was heard by numbers too great even for radio experts to estimate. His words were sent out by a chain of broadcasting stations with an aggregate power to carry them to listeners in every state.

It was his final effort to "present the issues that the people might pass judgment on them." He spoke "not merely as a candidate appealing for your votes, but as an American speaking to Americans concerning matters that involve our common welfare and the future of our beloved country."

DEATH LIST IS GROWING FROM DREAD PLAGUE

Three More Die in Los Angeles From What Physicians Say Is Pneumonic Disease; Total of 24.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 3 (AP)—Three deaths here today from what state and city medical men has diagnosed as pneumonic plague, brought the total mortality list attributable to the disease since October 19, to 24, according to an announcement tonight by Dr. W. H. Kellogg, director of the California state hygienic laboratory.

Dr. Kellogg's list of remaining patients isolated at the Los Angeles general hospital, showed six still afflicted with the malady there.

Federal, state, county and city medical men held a lengthy conference tonight with Mayor George E. Cryer, discussing measures to eradicate the disease. All agreed that with prompt and drastic measures the situation could be controlled.

According to Dr. Kellogg and Dr. Elmer B. Pascoe, acting city health commissioner of Los Angeles, two localities in the city and one in the county are under quarantine for the disease.

The largest isolated district, where it originated, taken in approximately 15 blocks of the Mexican quarter and the Chinese section, approximately five blocks more. This area has been under strict police cordon since midnight Saturday.

One house on the edge of the main business district, on South Hill street, where two deaths occurred, also is quarantined. The third sector is at Belvedere, about eight miles north of here in the county of Los Angeles.

Today's conference decided to conduct an exhaustive search for the actual origin of the malady in Los Angeles under the supervision of federal public health physicians, assisted by state, county and city experts.

California Man Is Held for Killing of Former Buhl Mayor

Collins Banned Over to Trial in District Court at Salt Lake; Wife Freed.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 3 (AP)—Mark Collins of Chico, Cal., was bound over to the district court to face trial on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting here on October 11, of C. H. McQuinn, former mayor of Buhl, Idaho.

The case against Mrs. Collins, also charged with murder, was dismissed.

McQuinn was shot by a hand in the southeast suburbs while motoring with a woman companion. Mr. and Mrs. Collins, itinerant automobile tourists, were arrested at their camp near the scene of the murder.

RADIO ADDRESSES BY 2 PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEES MARKS CAMPAIGN CLOSE

President Coolidge and John W. Davis Speak to Millions on Election Eve; Fair Weather Forecast for Country Will Bring Out Huge Vote; Speakers Urge Citizens to Do Their Duty.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—The presidential campaign was brought to a novel and dramatic conclusion tonight with an audience of millions listening in their own homes to election-eve addresses by two presidential nominees.

A far-flung network of radio stations took command of the air to carry to the country the final pre-election admonitions of President Coolidge, delivered from his study in the White House, and of John W. Davis, speaking from a radio studio in New York city.

Never before had the voters witnessed so near an approach to a joint debate a few hours before the opening of the polls between two outstanding figures of the campaign.

Never had so great a multitude been able to hear an address from one platform the voices of the two men who have been lifted to the highest pinnacle of party leadership.

Instantaneously the spectacle jostled out of public view the loud and persistent claims of victory that emanated in the final hours of the campaign from the headquarters of all parties. It overshadowed for tonight even tomorrow's election itself at which the nation will choose between Coolidge, Davis and LaFollette, will elect a new congress and will fill a governor's chair in each of 34 states.

Both the president and his democratic opponent chose the occasion to say a word for a full poll of voting strength, an objective which kept party managers great and small, busy throughout the day and far into the night.

A forecast of fair weather for virtually the entire country, with dry roads in the agricultural sections of the middle west, led to predictions that tomorrow's vote would be by far the largest every recorded in a presidential election.

On election day President Coolidge will remain at work in the White House, having sent his ballot by mail to his home voting precinct in Northampton, Mass. Mr. Davis will be at his home on Long Island, and Senator LaFollette, the third party entry in the three-cornered presidential contest, will cast his vote in Madison, Wisconsin.

All three have arranged to receive complete news reports of the election returns, Mr. Coolidge in his study, Mr. Davis in his Locust Valley residence, and Senator LaFollette in the governor's suite at the Wisconsin capitol.

Two Other Candidates.

Two vice presidential candidates also prolonged their speaking campaigns until tonight, Governor Bryan, spending the final hours before election in a circuit of five Nebraska cities, and Senator

A NEW POINT FOR YOU TO REMEMBER WHEN VOTING

1. That you may vote for every man on any one of the tickets by putting an X in the big circle at the top of the ticket of your choice.
2. That you can put an X in the big circle at the top of the ticket of your choice and still go over into the other tickets by entering names on the ticket of your choice and placing an X in the small circle at the right of the name you wish to vote for.
3. That instead of placing an X in the big circle at the top of the ticket, you may vote for the candidates you desire by placing an X at the right of their names.
4. When you do this and when you enter names as described in the paragraph above remember these points:
  1. If you wish to vote for Mr. Coolidge vote for all four of the presidential electors on the republican ticket. If for Mr. Davis then for all four on the democratic ticket, and so with the progressive ticket.
  2. When you get down to the candidates for state representative there are nine running and you may vote for any three of them regardless of whether or not they are on a same ticket. The tickets you will find are Brooks, republican; Mr. Caudle, democrat; Mr. Hiner, progressive, in the first line, across the ticket. You might vote for all three of them and not lose your ticket. So again Mr. Gillis is not running against Mr. Lloyd in the sense that because their names appear opposite each other that you could not vote for both. In short you may make any combination of three.

3. But when you get to the offices county commissioners it is different. Here again there are nine men running for three offices, but they are elected by districts. You will find on the official ballot Mr. Kils, Mr. Connor and Mr. Hatfield in line across the ballot, if you voted for all three of them you would lose your vote for that office. You may vote for only one of these three and so likewise in each of the other two districts.

Persia Executes 2 for Imbrie Murder Washington Hears

King Leader of Mob That Killed Vice Consul Is Put to Death; Another Is Also Slain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Execution by the Persian government of David Hussein, king leader of the mob which murdered American Vice Consul Imbrie in Teheran, was reported officially today to the state department. Another man was executed for the same crime at the same time.

The death sentences were carried out after the Washington government had insisted that the two men must receive the extreme penalty despite a decision by the Persian cabinet to commute their sentences. A third man found guilty and sentenced to death was executed some time ago.

A score of members of the mob which killed Imbrie have been given lesser sentences, as they were merely participants in the murder.

The Persian government also has completed other phases of the program announced at the time of the murder. It has made substantial payments to Imbrie's widow and has professed its readiness to meet the entire cost of bringing Imbrie's body home for burial. Under the insistent pressure of the Washington government the Persian army command in command of the forces of Teheran, which should have protected Imbrie, has been placed under arrest.

VOLIVA IS NOT SURE WORLD IS ROUND, HE SAYS

Overseer of Zion, Illinois, Religious Group Makes Statement; Points to Teachings of Bible.

ZION, Ill., Nov. 3 (AP)—Flying around the world does not prove that the earth is a globe, according to a statement of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church community here, who said that a glance at a map of the earth as a stationary plane would show that the journey of the world fliers proved the earth to be stationary as much as it is globular.

Mr. Voliva exhibited an ordinary map of the globe upon which he had penciled the route of the fliers. He said it showed the aviators merely flew in a circle over the flat surface of the earth.

"Advocates of the Copernican globular theory of the earth's shape should note the statement of Prof. R. A. Gregory, one of their foremost authorities," Mr. Voliva asserted. He quoted Prof. Gregory as saying: "Circumnavigation in an easterly or westerly direction does not prove the earth to be globular. It has been pointed out that circumnavigation would be possible on a flat surface with the north magnetic pole at its center."

"The world flight does not prove conclusively either theory, but it does prove one as just as much as it proves the other."

"The Bible plainly and unmistakably teaches that the earth is a stationary plane," continued Mr. Voliva. He submitted abstracts from J. J. Norman, Lockyer, LaPlace, the French astronomer and the late Prof. Woodhouse of Cambridge, in support of his contention.

Town Crier in France.

In the old days the town crier was a recognized institution throughout France. But when the art of printing came in the newspapers drove the town crier out of business. There are parts of France, however, where the town crier still makes his name. According to one of the members of a Company, Eighteenth engineers, in an obscure little village near the town where this unit was camped there is an old man who stands at the main street corner and beats a drum to attract the attention of the populace when there is news to be given out. There is no newspaper. When the armistice was signed the people of that village learned of it from the crier.—The Spiker, France.

When Baby Spasms Arrive.

Babies often suffer from spasms, which causes much discomfort. Dr. A. V. Yippee writes in the Therapeutische Halbmonatshefte (Berlin). But they are not nearly so likely to do this if fed when lying prone, the head raised or turned on one side. Lying on the abdomen is often enough to break the habit. When this fails he has the baby lie on a flat hammock stretched from head to footboard of the crib, and he says the unsteadiness and movements of the hammock, supplementing the prone position, divert the child's attention and make it forget to swallow air.

WHEAT RESISTS RUST ATTACKS

Canadian Farmer Raises Grain That Withstands Disease of Plant; Better Yield.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 3 (AP)—A new variety of wheat which will resist all attacks of rust, a species of fungus which is said to yield from four to six bushels to the acre more than the ordinary variety, has been developed by Samuel Larcombe, a prominent grain grower of Riddle, Man. The new wheat has been tried out in areas in Western Canada infested with rust and came through without damage, according to Larcombe. Larcombe has been a Manitoba farmer for 20 years and in that time has won 3000 prizes on wheat at Canadian and American exhibitions. He won the world's championship for wheat at the Paris Exposition in 1904 and in 1918 the sweepstakes for the best individual farmer's exhibit as well as sweepstakes for wheat in the dry farming section of the International Soil Products Exposition in Kansas City.

Triangular Trade Route

The name "Triangular Trade Route" was applied to the route from the United States to the West Indies; from the West Indies to Europe; and from Europe to the United States. The mainland shipped food and lumber to the West Indies; the West Indies shipped sugar products to Europe; and Europe shipped manufactures to the American mainland, thus closing the transaction.

The Dean and the Duck.

The late William Dean Howells while living in London, once entertained Mark Twain, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Bret Harte and other literary celebrities of the past at a sumptuous dinner in his Beacon street residence. While Mr. Howells was serving a duck his knife slipped and the secret bird rolled out of the platter and fell to the floor. "Look out! Here comes the cat!" said Mark Twain. "It's all right," said Mr. Howells. "I've got my foot on the duck."

WOMEN'S HATS IN CONTROVERSY

Winter Styles in Bonnets Brings Out Bitter Fight Among Paris Dictators.

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP)—Winter styles are here, and with them has come a bitter fashion controversy. The "hat question" has arisen between the milliners on the one side and their customers on the other. "Is the 1924-25 winter hat to be the tall Directoire crown and upturned brim, or the little cloche with fitted dome-crown?"

The milliners have replied, it shall be the Directoire, and refuse to make any other kind. Paris women have vehemently objected, and the result has been that a surprisingly large number of straw hats continues to be worn, and the time honored custom of donning velvet hats on the first day of September has been broken.

Kept Summer Hats

At the opening of the fall racing season at Longchamp it was noticed that women steadfastly retained their summer headgear. Meanwhile the show windows of milliners on the rue de la Paix and the rue Royale were overstocked with velvet hats.

"It makes me look too matronly," one of the most fashionable women at the track replied when asked the reason for her failure to adopt the "Directoire." This probably sums up the case for the customers. The milliners have come out flatly and decreed that women must wear square crowns or nothing. It has become practically impossible to find a milliner who will make the stubborn little cloche.

Beware Wrong Hat!

"Beware of the wrong hat! The hat you choose can make or mar not only the ensemble of your toilette, but the charm of your face itself." Such is the vein a woman fashion writer in one of the most widely circulated style magazines advises her women readers. The tendency in hat styles, apart from the square crowns, is distinctly to height. Black panne is prevalent in every modiste's window. If there is any trimming at all, it must stand very high.

Relaxation.

All outdoor sports are beneficial, particularly to the tired business girl, but if she is unable to indulge in exercise during the day she should not neglect to relax and rest for a few moments in the open air before retiring. It is not the sleep that one gets at night that is sufficient for good health and beauty—for one is impossible without the other—but it is the little moments of rest and deep breathing in the fresh air that any one can find time to enjoy that produces that animated expression.

Useless Logic

A ruse is a blind, a blind is a shade, a shade is a shadow, a shadow's a ghost, a ghost is a shade, a shade is a color, a color is paint and paint is rouge. Therefore, by Euclid, axiom one, rouge must be a ruse. And, curiously enough, it is—true.—Yale Record.

This red-brown corklike sheeting looks as though it might be a new kind of roofing; but if you rub it cautiously to the nose, and sniff impudently, you will detect the pungent fruity odor of dried apricots. That is just what it is—dried apricots pressed into this form. It is more quickly made than the regulation dried apricots, and can be used for exactly the same purposes.

THE GUMPS—THE TRIPLE CROSS

NEW AMERICAN
DISASTER TOLL
IS HIGHEST YET

Red Cross Report Shows 735 Killed, 2000 Injured and 44,000 Made Homeless During the Year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—A new American disaster record, including 735 deaths, nearly 2000 persons injured and 44,000 made homeless, and property damage of close to $45,000,000 has given the Red Cross its busiest year in relief operations.

Of the serious disasters of the year which closed July 1, 13 were fires, the most serious being the $10,000,000 Berkeley, Calif., conflagration which was seven cyclones and 14 tornadoes, the latter including one in northern Ohio in June which killed 84 persons rendered 6500 homeless and did property damage estimated at $20,000,000; and another in South Carolina in April which took 74 lives.

The cost of relief services which the Red Cross and its branches and chapters rendered to stricken communities, as shown in the society's annual report, was more than $737,600. A large percentage of the disasters occurred east of the Mississippi in territory where insurance, notably the states of Maine, New York, Vermont, New Jersey and Maryland.

Has 650 Species of Birds.
Costa Rica is about the same size as West Virginia, but over 650 species of birds have been found in that little Central American republic, whereas, in all America north of Mexico only some 600 species are known. And in the Andean region, within an even smaller area, a larger number of birds have been recorded than from Costa Rica. In Andean Colombia, for example, expeditions of the American Museum of Natural History actually secured specimens of over 1,150 species of land birds, more than twice as many as exist in the United States. Canada and Greenland. In tropical South America birds are practically nomadic. They are, therefore, continuously subjected to the influences of their surroundings and do not mix with birds from other localities—two factors of the utmost importance in the evolution of species.

Poetry True Within.
The only true or inspired poetry is always from within, not from without. The experience contained in it has been spiritually transmuted from lead into gold. It is sincere, logical, the most trivial of its affirmations being subversive to it, and suggested by the dominant idea; any departure from those dictates would be the "falsifying of a revelation." It is unadorned with worldly wisdom, deference to prevailing opinions, mere talent or cleverness. Its language is unadorned by the call of bitterness, its joy is never selfish.—James Thompson.

When the sun is particularly hot they retreat into their holes in the ice, sometimes a distance of many feet.—Ladies' Home Journal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—The first of a series of workshops for disabled war veterans, in which they will turn out memorial wreaths, and flowers for patriotic uses, will be opened here the first week in January under the auspices of the Halo club, an organization given chiefly to the interests of former service men.

Thousands of small emblems, the red carnation, insignia of the Spanish-American war veterans, the blue violet of the world war and the purple daisy of the Veteran Corps of the Republic, will be manufactured, according to C. T. Jennings, secretary of the executive council. Orders for poppies from the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars also will be delivered.

Only disabled American war veterans will be employed and the profits deposited in a general fund for the relief of veterans and dependents.

Boston, New York, Baltimore, Jacksonville, Fla., New Orleans, St. Louis, Kansas City, Datto, Mont., Seattle and San Francisco are among the cities already selected for the shops.

Island Women Are Financiers.

The Luo Chou Islands, home of the world famous red lacquer ware, lie between Japan and Formosa, not far from China's eastwise routes. The ware tables, bowls, trays and boxes used daily throughout Japan and China, and sold to thousands of tourists, come principally from the islands of Naha and Shimo. The trade in the ware is conducted by the women, who do all the merchandizing, and in fact have charge of it. They are strictly one-price merchants, the amount first asked for an article being the one at which it is finally sold, no matter how much haggling is done. The women are straight of back and erect of carriage, due to the custom of carrying everything on their heads. No matter what the weight or size of the object they place on their head, and walk off seemingly giving no thought to balancing it.

Baptism in the Catholic church was originally by immersion. According to the Catholic Encyclopedia, immersion as a regular method of baptism prevailed until about the twelfth century. In some places individual Catholic churches baptized by immersion until several hundred years later.

A VOTE FOR

M. E. FINCH
For Sheriff

Means Efficient Law Enforcement, Economy and Square Dealing to Every Citizen in Twin Falls County.

I realize and appreciate the fact that I was placed in office by the voters of Twin Falls County, and that I am indebted to each and every one of such voters. Therefore as your servant and representative it is my first desire to please you by working in your behalf.

I respectfully submit my record as Sheriff for the past twenty-two months and solicit your vote for re-election.

"Live and learn," an old saying and quite true in any calling. I therefore, feel justified in telling you that from my twenty-two months as Sheriff, I am in a better position to serve you best by reason of past experience.

I believe that you will agree with me, and that it is generally conceded that if an officer "makes good" that he is entitled to your support for re-election.

I have been a taxpayer in Twin Falls County since 1910. My interests are all in Twin Falls County, and economy and efficiency mean as much to me as to any voter or taxpayer in this county.

Vote for the betterment of Twin Falls County.

Yours respectfully,

M. E. Finch.

MIDDLE WEST PREPARES FOR RECORD VOTE

Campaign Issues Forgotten by All Parties in Last Minute Rush to Complete Plans for Getting Voters Out.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—Oratory, candidates and campaign issues were almost lost sight of tonight in the rush of elvish leaders and party workers to perfect last minute plans for getting a record number of middle west voters to the polls tomorrow.

Citizens were urged from pulpits and rostrum to exercise their franchise and in Missouri the governor called upon churches and factories to toll their bells and remind their whistles at 4 o'clock to remind those who had not yet voted that the polls were about to close.

The weather man also promised to help in bringing out the vote, predicting clear weather for almost the entire middle west.

Election Eve Quiet.

A Election eve in mid-America was quiet, the major political candidates, with one exception, resting through the day and evening. Governor Charles W. Bryan, democratic nominee for vice-president, closed a day of speech-making with his final address of the campaign at Clay Center, Neb., tonight. Charles G. Dawes, republican vice-presidential nominee, was at home in Evanston, while Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent candidate for president, was enjoying his first stay at his Madison, Wis., farm since he announced his candidacy.

Interest in the contests for congressional places in the middle west tomorrow will be centered about the efforts of the independent group to increase their strength in the house and senate. Regulars of both major parties have waged vigorous fights against such insurgents as R. W. Brookhart of Iowa, and against the farmer-labor senator, Magnus Johnson of Minnesota.

Klan Issue Up.

The Ku Klux Klan issue is more prominent than any other in the state races. In Kansas the gubernatorial contest is three-cornered, William Allen White, the editor, having entered as an avowed opponent of the Klan. He is running as an independent. The democrats in the state today charged that two leading klansmen had been expelled for refusing to support the republican candidate. Klan officials, however, denied this. The Klan also was an issue in the Indiana and Oklahoma campaigns and to a lesser extent in Illinois and other states. J. C. Walton, who was deposed as governor of Oklahoma, after a dispute with the Klan, is seeking vindication by contesting for the United States senate as the democratic nominee.

Texas voters have the opportunity of voting for a woman for governor for the first time in the history of the state. Mrs. Miriam C. Ferguson, the democratic nominee, is seeking the office from which her husband was removed by action of the legislature.

G. H. MULL GETS CONTRACT.

BOISE, Nov. 3 (AP)—Charles H. Mull, contractor of Twin Falls, has received the contract to build the new bridge at Lowman over the south fork of the Payette river, it was announced today by the Boise national forest. The total cost will be approximately $20,000. In a letter to the forestry officer Mr. Mull says that 90 tons of cement, steel and equipment will have to be packed into Lowman, and he wants to know what the condition of the roads is at this season. The material will be shipped to Banks and freighted to Lowman. How soon work will start will depend on whether the roads are passable.

RADIO ADDRESSES BY TWO CLOSE CAMPAIGN

After Wheeler winning his long speaking tour in Baltimore, having concluded his campaign Saturday, Charles G. Dawes rested at his home in Evanston.

During the day new figures regarding campaign expenditures were filed in Washington. But in no case did the totals given bring party statistics down to date. The latest official reports made to any government authority show collections of $3,742,000 by the republicans up to October 31; of $18,311 by the democrats up to October 29, and of $245,000 by the LaFollette-Wheeler managers up to October 10. Chairman Borah of the senate campaign fund investigation committee announced that no statement of committee conclusions would be issued pending a resumption of hearings after the election.

The final check of money issued tonight by political leaders did not differ materially from their estimates of several days ago, although each headquarters declared it had received reports of a definite last-minute drift to its candidate.

The republican claim to a minimum prediction of 350 electoral votes for Coolidge, out of a total of 531 and declared that figure probably would be surpassed in a landslide carrying with it a decisive republican majority in the new congress and sweeping republican tickets into office in all doubtful states.

Democratic headquarters repeated its expression of confidence but went no further toward specific claims than to issue a statement saying that all the border country from Maryland to Oklahoma, including the Dakotas and that would carry also a substantial block of states in the east and in the west. Indiana, New Jersey and Oregon were mentioned as likely to go into the democratic column.

As for the LaFollette managers, they again declared that a "great victory for the progressive cause" was in sight. They insisted that whatever the outcome of tomorrow's voting, the independent group had established itself as a permanent factor in American politics, which ultimately must force a reconstruction on party lines.

INQUIRY BODY MAKES REPORT

Republican Contributions, $3,742,000; Democratic, $618,311.97; Progressive, $245,000, Says Board.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Final pre-election campaign fund reports of the republican and democratic national committees filed today with the senate committee investigating campaign expenditures showed that the republicans had received $3,742,000 up to October 29, and the democratic contributions totaled $618,311.97 up to October 29.

The last report received from the LaFollette-Wheeler organization showed total contributions of $171,831, but John M. Nelson, LaFollette's campaign manager, has testified to receipts of $245,000 up to October 30. Also in testimony before the committee in Chicago, William V. Hodges, republican national treasurer said the total receipts up to and including October 31, was $3,742,000.

Borah Speaks.

Chairman Borah declared today that the committee would not issue a partial report before the election of the testimony produced at the hearings. The committee felt, he declared, that the best statement was in the figures which came in today and which speak for themselves.

Other political organizations submitted reports to the clerk of the house of representatives. The socialist party reported that up to October 27 receipts totaled $6005, and expenditures $2300. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment reported total receipts of $15,235 and expenditures at $13,351 up to October 31. The Anti-Saloon League of America reported an expenditure of $977 between October 25 and October 31, while the prohibition national committee reported receipts of $6230 and expenditures of $4028 up to October 27.

Report Made.

During the period from October 21 to October 25, the republican committee reported contributions of $421,492 and expenditures of $392,880. The democrats reported contributions of $125,492 from October 21 to October 29, but a disbursement report was not included. The democratic report also showed that the national committee had advanced $69,200 to democratic state organizations.

Today's report showed that republican headquarters at Chicago during the five days from October 21 to October 25, had received $188,040.25 and disbursements $134,670.12, while the New York office received $222,541.11, and spent $224,801.79. Of the disbursements, the report showed that $100,500 was advanced to republican organizations in Illinois including Cook county, and $55,500 was advanced to the New York state committee.

But the choice would be made by the present contest evenly balanced, but not by the new one that is to be chosen tomorrow.

So the People May Know

With respect to the matter appearing in newspapers in the last day or so under the heading, "So the People May Know," giving the alleged reasons of Sheriff Finch as to why no attention was paid to my complaint, I desire to make answer.

Sheriff Finch states that the car was gone two days before the matter was reported to the Sheriff's office. This is not true. It was reported the following morning by Harry Kinsey and I was in the office on the evening of the day following the occurrence. He says that I did not furnish a clue. Again, I say this is not the case. I have as witness Charles Larsen, who was with me later when we had such a clue.

Sheriff Finch refers to the Daniels case when the child ran against the car I was driving. But I was held blameless in the matter. He refers to me as a reckless driver. Can he find a single place where I have ever been arrested in Twin Falls County or the State of Idaho or in any other State for reckless driving or on any other charge of any kind?

He admits that the accident to the Daniels child was unavoidable. In this he tells the truth.

As a citizen of Twin Falls County I called upon Sheriff Finch for service in the office which he holds and I feel that Sheriff Finch was not equal to the occasion and that I have a right to better treatment than I received at the hands of him and his office.

I have exercised my privileges as a voter in settling forth the facts in the case because I do not wish to see him again in the office of Sheriff of Twin Falls County.

My reputation is not that of a reckless driver and Sheriff Finch is very well aware of the fact. The plain truth of the matter is that he failed and neglected to take the proper steps when my child was run down by a passing car and endeavors to excuse his failure by censuring me. This is poor business for a sheriff.

OUR JOB TODAY.

Politically, there now remains only the matter of the vote to mark the closing chapter in one of the cleanest and most interesting campaigns in the annals of politics in these parts.

Unquestionably a heavy vote will be cast and this fact should be regarded as altogether good. The best way in the world to purify politics is to see to it that every qualified voter is a politician to the extent at least that he or she will take the trouble to mark
a ballot.

In Twin Falls County every effort will be made to see that a representative vote is cast. In most of the towns an organized movement has been formed to assist in this work. Good weather conditions will constitute an important factor to say nothing of the general interest always manifested in a presidential year campaign.

The campaign is now at end. May the number of ballots cast today establish a new record in the annals of citizenship in Twin Falls County.

ELEVENTH HOUR STUFF.

Of course everybody is wrong, but charges of misadvising will not refute
the fact that when the present hours of county commissioners claimed that they saved the taxpayers eighteen hundred dollars a year by refusing to accept an increase of six hundred each in their salaries they and their advisers are indulging in some remarkable reasoning.

They didn't refuse to accept such salary because such a salary was never authorized or offered. A change in the statute of the county from second class to first class would have meant such an increase and it is now stated that the commissioners took the position that if the change were made they would decline to accept the increase.

This is a very laudable attitude for public officials in the circumstances
but it is pretty hard to twist the facts
into a saving of the sum these men
said they didn't accept if the change was made. It is noted that the campaign advertising matter settling forth the savings of the present board no longer contains this particular "saving."

If this be mud-slinging make the most of it.

BALL IN OLD ENGLAND.

Very few Americans have ever learned to wax enthusiastic over,
or even to enjoy mildly, the English game of cricket. And very few Englishmen have ever discovered the truly excellent points of our game of baseball. During the World War when Americans—soldiers—played—baseball games in London and drew popular English spectators along with the doughboy crowds, the Britishers were interested as they would have been in any activity of the Americans, but their hearts were not touched by the game itself.

Now comes a very distinguished Briton urging the adoption of the typically American game in his native land, and, what is stranger yet, making a few passing allusions to an cricket which might almost have come from a native American.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of the immortal Sherlock Holmes, takes his stand for baseball thus:

"What is essential is that there is a splendid game which calls for a fine eye, activity, bodily fitness and judgment in the highest degree. This game needs no expensive leveling of the field, the outfit is within reach of any village club, and it takes only two or three hours in playing. It is independent of wet wickets and a player is on his feet all the time and not depending on a pavilion bench while another man makes his century. If it were taken up by our different association teams as a summer pastime
I believe it would sweep this country as it has done in America. At the same time, it would no more interfere

My husband hates to answer the door

Often he pretends to be so interested in something he's reading that he doesn't hear it.

Quite frequently he calls to me that he's just started shaving or dressing, or taking a bath—though when I saw him a few minutes before he had no idea of doing any of these things.

When we're both sitting in a room

he's heard the bell, he regards the ring-

"It's probably a package for the

it's just some small boy going around

I've often thought what a lucky

THE TENCH DOCTORS

"It was a long time ago that they thought we were such good doctors,"
said Little Tench.

Little Tench was a very small fish.
He had only lately come to the aquarium.

"A number of other members of his family had come, too."

"I'll tell you why we were thought to be such good doctors," Little Tench continued.

"You will please me greatly if you do tell me," Billie Brownie said.

"It was this way," said Little Tench.
"Years ago," he began, "we were used to make poultices. Not very pleasant for us, perhaps, but an honor, nevertheless to be considered so important."

"Then a story got around that we would like the wounds of any injured
member of the pike family and heal
them in this way."

"It was really more of a story than anything else. The pike family, at any rate, haven't any great love for us—unless you consider their eating us
is loving us."

"I don't believe it is really. I notice people come to the aquarium, and they feel very fond of each other, but they don't show it by eating each other."

"We are silly little fishes. We aren't very bright. We're stupid and sleepy and lazy."

"We have to sleep a lot, and often people can pick us right up while we're having a nap, and we hardly notice it."

"But we are strong, and we can stand hardship. We don't mind it if we go for a while without food. We will eat mud, too."

"And you know we're not taking away food from any others when we eat mud, for mud isn't popular as food."

"We eat little insects and mollusks and bits of pond plants, but we can't complain during summer dry seasons when we have to stay in ponds that are nothing much more than dried up mud places."

"Well, Billie Brownie, I hope I have told you enough about ourselves,

and that you have been interested."

"You see, I cannot tell you too much, because it might take up much of your time; and when you went back and they asked you what the news was you'd say that you had used up all your visiting time by talking to me."

"I don't want to use up all your time. Then, as I said before, I am pretty stupid and I haven't much to say for myself."

"You've done splendidly," said Billie Brownie. "I am glad to hear your story, and your story will be enough
this time for the Brownies and Fairies, for they have never heard of you before."

"I had never heard of you until today when Mother Nature told me you and other members of your family had lately arrived from Europe and that it might be nice to see you."

"How it had been nice," asked the Little Tench.

"Very nice," smiled Billie Brownie.
"Well, then," the Little Tench said,
"you will excuse me if I do not talk any more."

"I have no more ideas in my sleepy, slimy head. I must sleep now."

"They may say fish is brain food,
but I don't see how they could improve their brains by eating members of my family, when we're so stupid."

"But, Billie Brownie, it is rather nice to be stupid."

"We are known to be stupid, and we don't have to try to appear bright."

"We don't have to make any effort to keep up a conversation, and we don't have to try to think up clever things to say."

"We can have a very easy time.
Perhaps that is why we live a good while. We don't tire ourselves out by thinking too hard."

"Really, Billie Brownie, it is very restful to be stupid. Good-by."

And the sleepy Little Tench joined his sleeping brothers and sisters and mothers and nuns.

A Forest of Riddles

Here is a whole "forest" of riddles,
and the answer to each is the name
of a tree:

What does the sea wash against?
Beach.

What tree is on your hand? Palm.

What does a carpenter use? Plane.

What is another word for grievous?
Pine.

Source of Mental Health

In society you will not find health,
but in Nature. You must converse much with the field and woods if you would imbue your health into your mind and spirit as you exert for your body. Society is always diseased, and the best is the simplest. There is no scent in it so wholesome as that of flowers, nor any fragrance so penetrating and restorative as that of everlasting in high pasture. Without that our feet at least stand in the midst of Nature, all our faces
would be pale and livid.—Thorau.

Captain Blood

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone adaptation with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

CHAPTER XXI—Continued
"He said that," she cried. "He
did that?"

"He said that," she cried. "He
did that?"

"You weigh—oh, so heavily and bitterly—is the thought that but for the words in which yesterday I repelled him, he might have been saved. And now he is lost—back at his outlawry and piracy, in which ultimately he will be taken and destroyed. And the fault is mine—mine!"

"You have no cause for shame,"
said he. "As for your sorrow,
why, if it will afford you solace—
you may still count on me to do what man can to rescue him from this position."

"You will do that?" she cried
with sudden eager hopefulness.
"You promise?"

"I promise," he answered her.
And then, retaining still the hand
she had surrendered to him—"Arabella," he said very gently, "there is still this other matter upon which you have not answered me.
This matter that concerns myself,
and all my future, oh, so very seriously. This thing that Blood believed, that prompted him—that
that you are not indifferent to me." He saw the fair face flush, and he pulled thoughtfully at his lip.

Bishop laughed coarsely.

"Well, hunt him in his hair, right under the board of the King of France, and we'll take him this time. If we reduce Tortuga to a heap of ashes."

On that expedition they sailed
two days later, and would be some three months after Blood's departure—taking every ship of the fleet, and several lesser vessels as auxiliaries. To Arabella and the world in general it was given out that they were going to raid French Hispagna.

CHAPTER XXII
THE SERVICE OF KING LOUIS
Meanwhile, some three months before Colonel Bishop set out to reduce Tortuga, Captain Blood, besieging his hold, had blown into its rock-bound harbour ahead of the winter gales, and two days
ahead of the frigate in which Lord Wolverstone had sailed from Port Royal a day before him.

In that hour anchorage he found his fleet awaiting him, the four ships which had been separated, in that gale off the Lesser Antilles,
and some seven hundred men composing their crews.

His captains, Langthorpe, Christian, and Yewville, were on the jetty to receive him, and with them
were some hundreds of his bucanners. When they plucked him with questions, he bade them await the coming of Wolverstone, who would satisfy their curiosity. He took his way alone to the flag house of M.
d'Ogeron, there to pay his respects to his friends, the Governor and the Governor's family.

When the Old Wolf cast anchor
in the harbor a few days later, it was to him all turned for the explanation they were about to demand of Blood. Now Wolverstone had only one eye; but he saw a deal more with that one eye than do most men with two; and he had the sound heart of a hero in that heart much loved for Peter Blood.

Anon when ashore he was beset by questioning bucanners, it was from their very questions that he gathered exactly how matters stood. He learned that the exploded ship, the Windward Passage, that they cruised in vain,
and after a month of it, returned empty-handed to Port Royal, there to find awaiting them the most disgraceful news from the Old World.
The megamall of Louis XIV
had set Europe in a blaze of war.
The French legation was ravaging the Rhine provinces, and Spain had joined the nations leagued to defend themselves from the wild ambitions of the King of France. And there was worse than this: there were rumors of civil war in England, where the people had grown weary of the bloated tyranny of King James. It was reported that William of Orange had been invited to command.

Weeks passed, and every ship
from home brought additional news. William had crossed to England, and in March of that year 1688 the heart in James that he had accepted the crown and James had thrown himself into the arms
of France for rehabilitation.
To a Rhineman of Sunderland's
this was disgusting news, indeed.
It was followed by letters from King William's Secretary of State informing Colonel Bishop that there was war with France, and that in view of its effect upon the Colonies,
a Governor-General was coming out to the West Indies in the person of Lord Willoughby; and that with him came a squadron under the command of Admiral van der Key-len to re-enforce the Jamaica fleet against eventualities.

"The Bishop realized that this meant
the end of his supreme authority, even though he should continue in Port Royal as Deputy-Governor.
Lord Julian, in the lack of direct news to himself, did not know what it might mean to him. But he had been very close and confidential with Colonel Bishop regarding his hopes of Arabella, and Colonel Bishop more than ever, now that political events put him in danger of being retired, was anxious to enjoy the advantage of having a man of Lord Julian's eminence for his relative."

"There is one obstacle in our path," said his lordship, "Captain Blood. The girl is in love with him."

"The brazen baggage! By God!
I'll bring her to her senses."

"Don't be a fool, Bishop! Listen, man. She has a constant mind.
As long as Blood lives she will wait for him."

"Then with Blood dead, perhaps she will come to her silly senses."

"Now you begin to show intelligence," Lord Julian commended
him. "That is the first essential step."

"And here is our chance to take it," Bishop warned to a sort of enthusiasm. "This war with France removes all restrictions in the matter of Tortuga. We are free to install it in the service of the Crown.
A victory there and we establish ourselves in the favour of this new government."

"Ah!" said Lord Julian, and he pulled thoughtfully at his lip.
Bishop laughed coarsely.

"Well, hunt him in his

WHEAT MARKET HURT

BY PENDING ELECTION

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—With the United States wheat supply on wheat reaching a total of almost ninety million bushels today and with the grain exchanges closed tomorrow on account of election, the wheat market showed a downward tendency most of the time today. Closing prices here on wheat were unsettled, 3-8 to 1-16 net lower. December $1.39 3-4 to 1.39 7-8, and May $1.45 5-8 to 1.45 7-8. Corn finished at 3-8 off to 1-4 advance; oats varying from 3-8 decline to 1-8 gain and provisions unchanged to 2-5c down. Although an increase of 2,135,000 bushels shown today in the domestic visible supply of wheat was by no means a surprise, the announcement had a noticeable effect toward emphasizing the views of traders on the bear side of the market. It was pointed out that being and with the trade as a whole disposed to avoid any immediate new ventures.

Something of a rally, which came during the last hour of trading in the wheat market, was ascribed chiefly to profit taking on the part of early sellers. On the other hand, weakness at Winnipeg about the same time attracted considerable notice, the Winnipeg market losing some of its premium over Chicago. Increasing pressure to sell low grade wheat at Winnipeg was reported.

Bullish unofficial statements of the 1924 yield of corn helped to rally the corn market from declines due to sympathy with wheat and to excellent weather for conditioning corn. Oats followed.

Packers' selling eased the provision market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—MEX

price movements took place in today's stock market with trading featured by the extensive pre-election evening up of commitments by professional speculators. Standard rails and industrials displayed a firm undertone while a number of specialties, particularly in the food group, were bid up briskly on what appeared to be buying for the account of pools.

There was marked absence of trade news during the day. Marking up of the call money rate from 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent was generally regarded as evidence to the heavy transfer of funds around the first of the month and was not much of a market factor.

Nearly two score stocks attained new peak prices for the year including Maxwell Motors "A" and "B," United States Distributing Company and preferred, United States Steel Iron Pipe, Commercial Solvents B, Postum Cereal, Loose-Wiles Biscuit, American Radiator, Savage Arms, Montgomery Ward, Baldwin preferred, Brooklyn Manhattan Transfer preferred, and United States Nickel preferred. Daniel Boone Wool on Mills and Otis Reel broke through their previous year's lows.

A Surfeit of Art

When I was a schoolboy and was to have a new knife I could not make up my mind as to which was the prettiest in the showcase, and I did not think about it. I was particularly proud of it, and so I chose with a heavy heart, but when I looked at my purchase at home where no glittering blades came into competition with it, I was astonished to see how handsome it was. To this day my new knife looks better out of its sheath than it did in it, with other new hats. It begins to dawn upon me now that possibly what I have been taking for uniform ugliness in the galleries may be in fact to others, but certainly it is to me. I have been to the Academy of Fine Arts in New York because there were but a few hundred paintings in it, and it did not surprise me to go through the list. I honestly hope it is to others, but certainly it is to me. # TEN THOUSAND ARE EXPECTED TO VOTE HERE

Heavy Registration and Manifestation of Interest Indicates Record Making Balloting in County.

Not less than 10,000 voters in Twin Falls county today will cast their ballots for candidates for president, governor and other state and county officials, according to indications on the eve of the election.

Total registration was estimated by County Auditor C. C. Higgins at between 10,000 and 11,000 and extra ballots were printed Monday to meet indicated increase in the number of voters. The number of registered voters increased rapidly during the last day or two of the registration period that ended Saturday, and this fact is regarded as indicating interest in the election which is expected to result in a greater number of ballots being cast today than there were cast in 1920 when the largest vote in the county's history was polled.

Absentee voters' ballots voted by 125 electors of the county who will not appear at the polling places, will be counted in today's election in this county. These ballots will be delivered to election boards in many precincts today by the county auditor's office.

In view of the indicated large vote political leaders Monday advised early voting. Effort is to be made to get as many voters as possible to the polls in the forenoon. The polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

MOTORIST RUNS DOWN CYCLIST

Charles Zimmerman, Telegraph Messenger, Severely Injured; Driver Held to Answer.

Charles Zimmerman, 17, employed here as messenger by the Western Union Telegraph company for two months past, was struck down and severely injured Sunday evening at the intersection of Shoshone street and Sixth avenue north by a car reported to have been driven by Donald Linville, who was later arrested by the police on charge of reckless driving. Zimmerman was thrown from the bicycle on which he was riding and received fractures of his left forearm, one left rib and one bone of the left leg. He was taken to the county general hospital where his condition Monday evening was reported to be favorable. His relatives live in Ohio and he has made his home here since entering employment of the telegraph company at the residence of F. J. Foster, manager here for the telegraph company.

The accident occurred at about 8:30 o'clock. Zimmerman, according to his statement, was on the right side of Shoshone street and the Linville car coming toward him was at his left. Reaching the intersection, Zimmerman stated, Linville cut the corner and crashed into the bicyclist.

On arraignment Monday before J. L. Merriam, Linville pleaded guilty to charge of reckless driving and hearing was fixed for Wednesday next.

CLAIMS VOTES FOR C. O. P. ON PARTY RECORD

Congressman Smith Closes His Campaign Here With Strong Appeal for Indorsement of Administration.

Calling for indorsement of the republican national administration on its record with respect especially to measures beneficial to farmers and labor and deprecating proposals for a change that he said would be "disastrous to prosperity," Congressman Addison T. Smith Monday evening in his last town closed almost two months' active campaign for reelection, speaking before an audience of between 300 and 350 persons in the Lavering theater here and sharing the platform with Lieutenant Governor H. C. Baldrige who also is a candidate for reelection. The speakers were introduced by Sh. L. Hodgkin, Twin Falls mayor and former member of the republican state committee.

Under the present tariff law, Congressman Smith declared, agriculture in Idaho has developed and benefited largely. He referred in particular to development in this region of sugar beets, and bean production and wool growing. Prosperity for agriculture in this region, he said, so far removed from markets, he said, would be impossible without the advantage given by the protective tariff.

Referring to statistics showing that 40,000 acres or approximately one-fifth of the area under the Twin Falls irrigation system, had been developed this year to the production of beans, Congressman Smith stated that Idaho beans could not be marketed without tariff protection in competition with Japanese beans that were brought to this country as ballast in ships and with practically no expense for transportation.

"How any one can engage in bean growing in this country and oppose the protective tariff," Mr. Smith exclaimed, "is a mystery to me."

Declaring that if F. E. Samuel, progressive candidate for governor, under delusion with respect to the tariff schedule on wheat, Mr. Smith explained that the much-discussed rebate on shipment of Canadian wheat to American mills is permitted under the tariff law in order to encourage grinding of Canadian grain by American mills. The rebate is effective only when the miller grain is transported back to Canada, and it is further provided that the flour thus milled must contain 30 per cent American wheat.

If it were not for the protective tariff, Congressman Smith declared, it would be impossible for American wheat growers to pay wages that American workmen now are receiving and American markets would be flooded with the products of lower-paid foreign workmen. Mr. Smith referred also to the immigration act as a measure that had stabilized American wages.

In reference to proposals of President Coolidge for the presidency, Congressman Smith declared against the democratic nominee, Mr. Davis, because of his expressed purpose if elected to reduce tariff schedules, especially on farm products, by 50 per cent. This, Mr. Smith pointed out, would be possible by exercise of authority vested in the president by the tariff act.

Senator LaFollette, Congressman Smith stated, "is so constituted that he appeals to prejudices and seeks to upset conditions as they are because he has not been instrumental in bringing them about." Mr. Smith referred to the fact that LaFollette has been identified with the republican party for many years and that as late as June 9 of this year he was an active candidate for the republican nomination.
