UGLY SITUATION IS CREATED BY PARTY'S ACTION

Observers at Washington Say Ousting of Insurgents Makes Congressional Problem More Complex.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Action of the senate republicans in conferring a reading out of the party at this time Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, and his three chief supporters, Brookhart, Fowler and Ladd, will result in further complicating a complex congressional situation in the opinion of most observers at the capital.

The action has created what several senators described today as "an ugly situation" and since the LaFollette bloc will continue to hold the balance of power at the final session of this congress, beginning next Monday for the leaders generally anticipate little legislative action before March 4, beyond the passage of the appropriation bills.

Senator LaFollette and his supporters have as yet held no conferences with respect to their course at the opening session, but attention was called today to situations under which they could, if they desired to do so, endanger and legislative program agreed upon by the administration leaders by enforcing certain rules of the senate.

Without anticipating that there will be a disposition by the insurgents to adopt such a course, some senators expressed doubt that even all of the supply measures can be put through before the end of the short session on March 4. Their belief is that the situation resulting from the conference action is one increasing the necessity for an extra session of the new congress elected this month.

Many Matters.

Many legislative matters come over from the last session and some of these may receive early attention in the senate. Meantime the house will be devoting the major portion of its time and energy in putting the supply bills on their way. These must have speedy consideration in the house and it is the purpose of the leaders to have the senate marking time while the house is acting on the appropriation measures.

Without making direct reference to the conference action, both the republican and democratic leaders in the senate declared today they looked for little affirmative action other than the disposition of the supply bills. Senator Curtis of Kansas, newly elected senator today, said he hoped to have the senate take up general bills now on the calendar in such order as the steering committee may decide.

HOG SHIPMENTS FROM IDAHO SHOW INCREASE

BOISE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Shipments of hogs from Idaho to Pacific coast markets increased in 1923, while shipments from midwest points to the west coast decreased, according to a statement today by Mark A. Meens, commissioner of the state department of agriculture. Mr. Meens has received reports from the various stock raisers and will receive at a later date reports from Seattle and other coast markets, he said. The reports would indicate, according to Mr. Meens, more hog raising in Idaho.

URGES STATE RECOVER FUND

Cassia County Owes Idaho $5,695.40 Which Should be Collected Says Official.

BOISE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Recommendation that the attorney general's office take immediate steps to recover from Cassia county $5,695.40, due the circulating fund of the state department of reclamation, is made in the report of the audit and examination of the reclamation office by B. E. Hyatt, bureau of public accounts, submitted Saturday. Mr. Hyatt says the account is more than three years old.

"I understand," he says, "that the board of county commissioners attempted to pay the state, but a restraining order was issued and the payment held up. This case is now pending in court. The prosecuting attorney whose duty it is to appear on behalf of the state, has either neglected or refused to take action. Under these circumstances I would recommend that the attorney general department take the matter in hand and bring the case to a conclusion. The state has already lost over $500 in interest on this account, and I would suggest that this case be given as prompt attention as possible."

WOMAN FOUND UNDER BLANKET OF MONEY

Pile of One and Five Dollar Bills Found Covering Middle Aged Person; Identity in Mystery.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—A middle aged woman of apparent refinement was found today in a Brooklyn hospital after being found by a policeman lying face upward in a field under a $700 pile of $1 and $5 bank notes. Her identity was further protected against loss by $700 worth of Liberty bonds and a bank book showing deposits of $1200 in the name of Missa Griffin.

She said her name was Minnie Griffin, but at the address she gave as her home it was said she was not known. She offered no explanation of the blanket of money.

LEGAL BATTLE OVER LETTERS

Notes From Murdered Banker to Young Woman Center of Fight in California.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Nov. 20 (AP)—Legal steps to halt use by authorities or publication of letters which passed between Miss Mary Watkins of San Gabriel, and William C. Foy, Alhambra, and San Gabriel banker, whose body was found under mysterious circumstances near Miss Watkins' cabin in Lytle creek canyon on Tuesday, were launched this afternoon by Miss Watkins.

Attorney Byron Waters of San Bernardino, retained by Miss Watkins yesterday, served writs on county authorities that the letters which were taken from a safe deposit box in a San Gabriel bank yesterday, had not been secured through due process and that he would strenuously resist any attempt to permit the letters to become public.

Goose Through Correspondence.

For two hours officers investigating Foy's death went through the correspondence. Sheriff W. A. Shay described the notes as love letters, but said he would not make them public.

Three statements in the letters.

The investigation of the death apparently was at a standstill tonight. The officers said there was no evidence that would indicate that the murdered Foy, or evidence that connected anyone with his death. Report on the findings of the second autopsy conducted at Alhambra yesterday was not received by county authorities tonight. On this report will depend in a measure at least the conclusions of a criminologist who is aiding county officers in the effort to solve the mystery of Foy's death.

AMBASSADOR IS GIVEN FAREWELL

Jules Jusserand Who Has Represented France in U. S. for 22 Years Soon Leaves.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Jules Jusserand, French ambassador to the United States, who will relinquish his Washington post early in the new year after 22 years as chief of the French diplomatic mission, tonight was guest of honor at a farewell banquet by three Franco-American organizations, the Franco-American society, the Federation of French Alliances and the American Society of the French Legion of Honor.

Recommencing pleasantly in response to toasts and tributes, Ambassador Jusserand drew upon the wealth of his experience in the United States during five presidential administrations to illustrate the friendly relations between France and the progress of Franco-American unity.

The occasion, he said, filled him with emotion and refilled him of a day 22 years ago "when a newcomer to these lands, saw for the first time rising above the waters, up to the clouds, a Babylonian mass of human work, the statue of Liberty, lighting the world with a French welcome for a French visitor, the same who is still for a few more weeks the ambassador of France to the United States."

FAIR WEATHER FORECAST FOR SOUTHERN IDAHO

BOARD GRANTS RAILROAD MEN PAY INCREASE

United States Commission Gives Five Per Cent Wage Raise to 75,000 Members of Union.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Without having heard arguments in behalf of the workers, the United States railroad labor board tonight handed down a decision granting upwards of 75,000 members of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Locomotive Firemen and Engineers wage increases of about 5 per cent, the increase representing the scale agreed to between the New York Central railroad and its engine service employees.

About 45 western railroads are affected by the decision. The union representatives had refused to appear before the board to present evidence, maintaining that the body was without jurisdiction and their appeal from a federal court ordering their officers to appear before the board is to be carried to the United States supreme court, attorneys announced.

The board based its decision on information obtained during a similar hearing some time ago.

The dispute involved wage increases and certain operating rules, the employees seeking the increases with the companies asking for modification in rules.

PERSIAN APPEAL TO GENEVA FOR EGYPT PLANNED

Swiss Attorney Summoned by Prince With View of Possible League of Nations Action Against British.

GENEVA, Nov. 20 (AP)—In order to be ready for any possible instructions from Teheran, with reference to a Persian appeal to the league of nations in behalf of Egypt, Prince Arif, Ed Dowd, summoned from Paris today Edmond Privat, the Swiss attorney, who acts as legal adviser to the Persian delegation at Geneva. Mr. Privat, who sits with the Persian delegation at all assemblies, spent the day with the prince going over the situation. He also visited officials of the league and consulted with various secretaries.

The members of the Persian delegation, however, said tonight that this activity should not be construed as an attempt that they expected to have definite orders to make an intervention move in the Anglo-Egyptian dispute. They expressed the belief that Egypt probably asked Persia to act in support of that country's claims. They explained that such a request could hardly reach Teheran before today, owing to slow communication.

Such a request would be discussed by parliament, the delegates presumed, but no instructions they added, could possibly reach Geneva within 48 hours.

Officials of the league point out that Persia could make its appeal in behalf of Egypt under Article XI of the covenant. Clause II of this article declares it to be the friendly right of every member of the league to bring to the attention of the council or the assembly any circumstances affecting international relations which might threaten peace or good understanding.

Pharaoh's move is a move it is thought that under Article XVII of the covenant Egypt could be invited to accept the obligations of membership during the hearing of the dispute with England. Voting places are to be provided at Twin Falls, Buhl, Filer, Jerome, Wendell, Buhl and Springfield.

Voters of the Salmon River irrigation district are expected to be members of the district's board of directors. Members of the present board, all of whom are candidates for re-election, are R. A. Carter, O. E. Parrott, Nelson Hayward, B. Kunkle, J. H. Trendley.

FALLS DISTRICT VOTERS WILL ELECT DIRECTORS

Two directors of the American Falls reservoir district are to be elected at an election to be held Tuesday, December 2, to fill vacancies caused by expiration of the terms of J. H. Barker of Buhl, and H. K. Wylie of Springfield. Both directors whose terms expire at this time, are candidates for re-election. Voting places are to be provided at Twin Falls, Buhl, Filer, Jerome, Wendell, Buhl and Springfield.

CONGRESS WILL TAKE ACTION ON RATE PLANT

Senate to Refer Issue Back to Agricultural Committee; Several Plans Are Now Under Discussion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—When the Muscle Shoals issue is called up on the senate calendar Wednesday, it probably will be referred back to the senate agricultural committee. Administration leaders are known to favor such a course and are willing to concede to demands of southern senators that a time limit be fixed for the committee to report.

Since the enactment of congress last June the Muscle Shoals situation has become complicated by the withdrawal of Henry Ford's offer, the preparation for fertilizer and revision of some of the other bills. Senator Curtis of Kansas, the republican leader, said today it would be difficult to consider the question properly on the senate floor and he thought it should go back to the committee.

INTRODUCE NEW BILL

Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, who led the fight for the acceptance of Ford's bill, will introduce his new bill which has the support of the southern senators. The bill provides for government ownership and either government or private operation of the property for the production of fertilizer for fertilizers and revision of some of the other bills.

It is planned to offer the Underwood bill as a substitute to the Norris bill which is now on the senate calendar. In many respects the two bills are alike but it is understood that Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, prefers his measure and will seek its passage.

NEW OFFER APPEARS

An entirely new offer appeared today from Howard Sutherland, former senator from Virginia, who as a representative of Hamilton & Co., of New York, proposed to lease the property at a yearly rental of 4 per cent of the government's investment up to May 31, 1925. The corporation would operate under government supervision and produce fertilizer, chemicals and distribute power.

WATKINS SEEKS BOND TO AWAIT OUTCOME OF APPEAL TO HIGH COURT

BOISE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Whether Nick Watkins, convicted of manslaughter for the killing of Dave Jennings, must go to the penitentiary or can await the outcome of his appeal to the supreme court in Ada county jail, with privileges of admission, will be decided when Judge L. E. Hinkle, before whom the case was tried, returns from Idaho City about December 15. Decision was to have been rendered today, but counsel for both sides asked leave to be heard so the judge said he would have to postpone the arguments.

Watkins, a former Union Pacific brakeman, was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury at the trial of Jennings also was a brakeman. Judge Hinkle Friday sentenced the defendant to serve five to ten years in the state penitentiary.

MANY KILLED IN SUDAN UPDISING

Khartoum Mutiny Worse Than at First Thought Say Dispatches to London.

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Additional news of the Khartoum mutiny from official reports shows that it was much more serious than at first appeared and caused numerous casualties in the confused fighting. The British Acting British High Commissioner's courageous but ineffectual facing of the armed mutineers and his attempt to reason with them by giving the order to overpower them.

There are still no precise details of the motives for the mutiny, but there is some belief to be a repetition of the Sudan, despite the comparative smallness of the British garrison, because the Sudanese troops are allowed only small supplies of ammunition and could not carry out a serious revolt unless they obtained supplies surreptitiously.

PROFESS NO ANXIETY

Official quarters profess no anxiety that anything serious may arise in the Sudan, despite the comparative smallness of the British garrison, because the Sudanese troops are allowed only small supplies of ammunition and could not carry out a serious revolt unless they obtained supplies surreptitiously.

ITALIAN COMPOSER SUMMONED BY DEATH

Giacomo Puccini Succumbs at Brussels to Throat Cancer; Son and Daughter at Bedside.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 20 (AP)—Italy's premier operatic composer, Giacomo Puccini, died here today. He came to Brussels a short time ago to undergo radium treatment for a malignant growth in the throat, but his strength gradually gave out and his heart was unable to bear the burdens put upon it by the infection.

While the attending physicians had spoken hopefully, it was known to them Friday that his recovery was impossible. At the time of his death his son and his daughter were at the bedside.

EXPERTS MAKING FURTHER TESTS

Investigation in Furnace Case at Standstill Pending Experiments Being Made.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 20 (AP)—Probe of the Beasley furnace mystery was at a standstill today while county prosecutor, John R. King, and his aides awaited the report of scientific experts, expected Monday or Tuesday.

All efforts of investigators to ascertain how the fatal explosion of the body of Mrs. Adelle Beasley, 50-year-old wife of the Rev. C. W. Sheatsley, pastor of Christ Evangelical Lutheran church, came to be in the furnace on the premises of the Beasley furnace, have been to no avail. Her body was found by the pastor late in the afternoon.

In a statement today the prosecutor declared that he and his aides have run down every clue that has been given them and that their investigation has been as complete as possible with no results.

Wait on Experts.

Nothing can be done now, he said, until the scientific report of Dr. H. M. Brundage, a pathologist, and Chemist C. F. Long, has been given to him. The experts by an experiment conducted on the furnace, will be expected to establish definitely whether Mrs. Beasley was dead when she entered the furnace.

When her husband long ago told her she was dead, according to Chemist Long, who reported to Mr. King that he was unable to find any trace of carbon monoxide in the furnace, he breathed after entering the fire box, he contends, the gas poisoning would have been evident in the blood.

RATE HEARING IS UNDER WAY IN SALT LAKE

Attempts Being Made to Show That Freight Charges Are Prejudicial to Interests of Idaho and Utah.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Testimony seeking to establish that the present freight rate charges on grain and grain products from Utah and Idaho points are prejudicial to the interests of the two states, and that remedial action in reducing the rates by the interstate commerce commission, will be of direct benefit to the wheat growers and allied interests of the two states, was heard at the opening session of the interstate commerce commission hearing before Federal Examiner Myron Witters, here today.

Evidence relating to railroad rates was considered in the hearing on the action instituted by the Ogden Grain Exchange today. The analogous case involving westbound rates will be heard early next week.

Is a Test Case.

The Ogden Grain Exchange case is designed to test the reasonableness of freight rates on grain and grain products from originating territory in Utah and Idaho to points of destination both east and westward.

Important witnesses of today's hearing were Joseph M. Parker, manager of the Sperry Flour company of Ogden, and president of the Ogden Grain Exchange, William R. Allen, manager of the Globe Grain and Milling company of Ogden, and H. W. Prickett, manager and counsel of the traffic service bureau of Utah.

PROGRESSIVES INDORSE RAY M'KAIG AS PARTY MANAGER AT MEETING

BOISE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Indorsement of Ray M'Kaig as progressive party manager for the state and a resolution asking the state committee to call for a party conference early in January, were voted by the Ada county progressive central committee in a meeting in the courthouse. The committee made arrangements for paying the campaign bills.

Indorsement of Mr. M'Kaig was accompanied by a request that he continue in control for another two years. This state conference asked by the Ada county leaders would be held, according to the resolution, before the legislative session got too heavy, to decide plans to strengthen the organization in weak counties and to urge each county to put up a complete ticket at the next election. Possible fusion with the Democrats was not discussed. Right-wing members attended. W. W. Russell, county chairman, presided and G. A. Adams acted as secretary pro tem.

MAN WITH PRICE ON HEADS BACK

John Looney Wanted for Numerous Indictments Ready to Give Self Up, Report.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—John P. Looney, former publisher of the Rock Island, Ill., Argus, wanted in that city to answer numerous indictments against him for arranging murder, is in Chicago today to arrange bonds before surrendering to Rock Island authorities, according to the Chicago White, operator of a private detective agency to whom Looney surrendered last Thursday after coming here from a ranch in New Mexico. White said that Looney intended returning to Rock Island to answer the charges against him Monday and that he would remain in Chicago until that time unless apprehended by authorities in the meantime.

Thanksgiving at Home.

Looney is said to have eaten Thanksgiving dinner with his family at Ottawa, and on his way here to answer the charges against him, he said there is a price on his head.

White, whose investigation in Rock Island of the so-called vice war, was one of the victims of which Looney's son, John, resulted in four men being sent to the penitentiary for slaying, said that he would accompany Looney to Rock Island Monday to see that he got fair play.

BUREAU'S STAND ON BIG PROJECT PUZZLES IDAHO

State Reclamation Association Sees Certainty of No Water From Reservoir Next Year; Force Account Factor.

BOISE, Nov. 29.—Such inquiry as it has been possible for the Idaho reclamation association to make, according to Guy Plummer, its managing director, leads to the conclusion:

1. That there is now no possibility of storage water being available from the American Falls reservoir for the 1925 season.
2. That if it had not been for delays the association believes could have been avoided, around 100,000 acre feet of water would have been available from the reservoir for the 1925 season.
3. "The best we can hope for now," said Mr. Plummer, "is to secure storage water from the American Falls reservoir for the 1926 season, and any further delays would render that forecast entirely unsafe."
4. "We have the assurance of Secretary Work, in a communication responding to our recent telegraphic protest, that 'what we shall work for is to provide water for 1926.'"

"However, we are not wholly satisfied with the purposes of the reclamation bureau. It is our opinion that the bureau has been desirous of bringing about conditions under which the work would have to be performed by forced account. We cannot analyze its attitude upon any other hypothesis; and our belief seems to be strengthened by the statement that the bureau insisted upon 'reported to us' that Secretary Work had taken a position against the forced account plan, upon a contract for the lease of the dam only at this time, which seems to us to be absurd and productive of further delay."

"We have the statement of a reputable and well informed engineer that, if the work had proceeded under the original bids the contractors could have provided an appreciable amount of storage for 1925. Under the re-submission now authorized that will be entirely impossible."

"We are hoping that the proposed conference in Denver between Dr. Elwood Mead, Warren O. Swenden, Idaho reclamation commissioner, and R. E. Shepherd, head of the American Falls district board, will result in the elimination of further red tape and in immediate construction."

"We are thankful to Secretary Work for the interest he has taken, but will ask that he cut still deeper into the reclamation bureau's apparent program of procrastination."

SPORTS NAVY DEFEATED BY DROP KICKS

Four Field Goals Spell Victory for Army in Annual Gridiron Contest.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 29 (AP)—A bar rage of drop kicks, fired from the magic toe of Captain Edward W. Garbisch, broke down the Navy's fighting defense today and gave the Army a spectacular victory over her ancient service foe.

Rising to superheights in the climax to his long and brilliant gridiron career, Garbisch kicked four field goals that represented the entire margin of Army's 12-to-0 triumph in a thrilling, desperately fought struggle before 78,000 in Baltimore stadium.

Covered With Glory.

Before this colorful and notable outpouring, the greatest that has ever marked the annual service game, Garbisch covered himself with immortal gridiron glory with an exhibition of individual skill and dynamic leadership seldom, if ever, equaled in this classic of gridiron classics.

Garbisch, by kicking four field goals, not only performed a feat that has no parallel in Army-Navy history, but throughout the game was an outstanding figure, both on attack and defense, in a triumph that broke a two-year deadlock in the service rivalry and gave the ends the lead in the series that was inaugurated in 1900. As a result Army has now 13 victories to her credit and the Navy 12, while two battles resulted in ties.

BODIES OF CHILDREN ARE FOUND IN CREEK

SEWAREN, N. J., Nov. 29 (AP)—The bodies of James Antal, 4 years old, and his brother John, six months old, were found today in a creek here. Mrs. Elizabeth Antal, their mother, was killed a week ago today by a railroad train about a mile and a half from where the bodies were found.

Police believe that Mrs. Antal, temporarily deranged, cast herself in front of the train after taking the lives of her children. She was last seen alive late last Saturday when a watchman at Sewaren railroad crossing warned her of the danger of walking along the tracks.

UNIVERSITY TO TELL ITS NEEDS

Legislators-Elect From Northern Counties to be Guests of State Institution.

MOSCOW, Idaho, Nov. 29.—Legislators-elect from the 18 northern counties of Idaho, members of the lower house and of the senate, have been invited to be guests of the university Thursday evening, December 11, and Friday forenoon, December 12, just before the convention of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce, which many of them will attend December 12 and 13. This invitation was extended by Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the university, to afford the members of the new legislature an opportunity to inspect the work of the institution and its physical plant and to become advised of its needs before the next session is convened.

The budget to be requested of the next legislature by the university, it is announced, will be considerably larger than in previous bienniums. This increase is necessary, it is stated, on account of the rapid growth of the institution and also on account of the fact that in years past the appropriations have not increased in proportion to the increase in enrollment and in services rendered by the institution in many fields of activity. Increase in enrollment this year is approximately 1500 over the enrollment for the year 1917-18.

Informal Discussion.

The invitation calls for the legislators to be guests at a dinner at Ridenbaugh hall at 6:15 Thursday evening, after which there will be an informal discussion of the work and objects of the university. Friday morning will be devoted to viewing the campus.

It is understood that the legislators will visit the Lewiston State Normal school Thursday and will be guests of the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon, after which they will be brought to Moscow by Lewiston business men.

Many of the legislators already have signified their intention to be present, it is announced, which is taken to indicate that there will be virtually a full attendance. It is presumed that the most of the legislators will remain in town over Friday and Saturday to attend the meeting of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the affair is composed of Dr. W. P. Praser, P. W. McRoberts and Dr. P. C. Beebe.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE SUCCESSFUL AT START

Canvass of Business Houses and Mailing on Approval Proceeds Intensive Effort.

The sale of the Christmas health seals has been very successful in its beginning, according to Mrs. D. L. Alexander, chairman. The canvass of business houses is completed and seals have been mailed to many individuals. Each Saturday until Christmas women will sell seals in various places downtown and at all times seals will be on sale in drug stores and at Klose book store. The plan for using money derived from this sale for purchase of milk for needy children in our schools appeals to the majority of those approached, Mrs. Alexander states.

SPEED CAUSES MANY DEATHS

Toll From 'Auto Accidents Mounts in England Where Conditions Are Crowded.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Motor cars in England have not yet become so common that they kill as many people each year as does influenza, which statistics show to be the case nowadays in America, but the toll of life on the highways is becoming a matter of concern over here, too.

In the past 12 months road accidents increased in number by 29 per cent over the previous year. Sir Henry P. Maybury, director-general of roads in the Ministry of Transport, told a recent meeting of motor manufacturers, that he has been impressed with the growing tendency to increased speeds by all manner of vehicles.

High speed driving is more dangerous in England than in almost any other country with good roads, for the country highways seldom keep to a straight line for any considerable distance. It is doubtful if they ever will, unless automobiles become considerably more numerous and new roads are demanded. One of the charms of England is her winding narrow roads, lined with hedges, and few want to see them given up merely for the sake of getting from place to place in less time.

RUSS NOBILITY IN MOVIE SCENE

German Film Depicting Court Scenes Made With Former Princesses in Picture.

BERLIN, Nov. 29 (AP)—Members of the old nobility of Russia were used recently in a German film to re-enact court scenes which to them had been almost every-day occurrences prior to the uprising of bolshevism which drove most of them out of the country. Included in the group were several princesses and a number of counts who appeared in roles which brought back recollections of former times when great society events were regular features of life under the czar in Moscow and St. Petersburg.

Many of these Russians, all exiles, still retain some of their refinement of other days, and this is the reason of value to them in getting movie jobs where the performers must furnish their own costumes. The Russian women, particularly, have managed to retain numerous furs and jewelry and on this account have been able to get employment at good pay where many Russian film actresses have gone without.

Because of this fact the German actresses have been talking of starting a movement to organize an actresses union and bar Russian actresses from membership.

Food Refuse Cuts to Cavenem.

If cavenem had not been so accommodating as to leave their remains in caves, we should be without clues regarding the human inhabitants of Europe thousands of years ago. Marcet, the anthropologist, tells of a cave in Jersey, near the Bay of St. Helier, where scientists dug down through some 20 feet of clay and rock rubbish, probably carried there in the course of the last ice age that muffled Europe, and discovered a prehistoric hearth with the large stones that had propped up the fire, and even some of the ashes. Bones were found in a heap of food refuse, which, when examined, proved to be the remains of the woolly rhinoceros, the reindeer, two kinds of horses, of a wild ox and of a deer. Thirteen human teeth were found in the food heap. The diners had also left their knives—flint chipped on one side.

Natural Thermometer.

It was a wonderful sapphire, so it is said, that let the celebrated Dr. Berke to the discovery of the nature of the liquid sometimes found inclosed in the cavities of crystals. The gem in question contained a tube-shaped cavity a quarter of an inch long and an eightieth of an inch in diameter, which was so regular in its bore that it served, by means of the liquid partially filling it, for a thermometer. The contained liquid half filled the bore at 50 degrees Fahrenheit and completely filled it at 80 degrees. A study of the rate of expansion of the liquid led to the conclusion that it must be carbonic acid.—Washington Star.

WOOD REVIEWS
1923 CONDITION
IN PHILIPPINES

Governmental Investments in Islands Better Last Year Than Before, Says General in Charge.

MANILA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Summarizing the operations of all government controlled corporations in 1923, Governor General Wood, in a report to the legislature points out the actual condition of government investments in business; the benefits obtained as well as losses suffered and the measures adopted or believed necessary for the protection of such investments. The corporations referred to are the Philippine National bank, the National Development company, the Manila Railroad company, the National Coal company and the Cebu Portland Cement company.

Although conditions improved during 1923, and the Philippine National bank realized a profit of $1,350,000 from its investments in sugar central, the final outcome of operations of the bank was a deficit of $300,000 with the reserve still $5,000,000 below the legal limit, according to the report of the governor general. Emphasis is laid, however, on the decided backing the bank has given the sugar industry and the resulting increase of production by the government controlled sugar properties to four times the output of 1921. Referring to the Manila Railroad company the report says: "This company shows satisfactory operation under efficient management. The total net profit after deducting profit and loss adjustments for 1923, were $650,000 as against $1,000,000 in 1922. Provisions for sinking funds in part, and paying interest on bonds were made for the first time. However, no dividends were paid on the stock, no reserve was set aside and the railroad company still owes the government about $750,000 interest payments on guaranteed bonds on which no payments have been made." The National Development Company is being liquidated, while the National Coal company lost $175,000 in 1923 with a further deficit of $100,000 expected for the present year, according to the report.

When You Use
Warberg's Aberdeen Coal

You've heard these claims before about other coals, but unless you have tried ABERDEEN, you really can not appreciate just what a surprise is in store for you.

ABERDEEN always fulfills these claims—it is clean, hot, economical coal.

The biggest part of your coal bill is for freight. And you have to pay just as much freight charge for 2000 pounds of poor coal as you pay for a ton of ABERDEEN. The freight charge is fixed. So why pay a big freight charge on a poor coal which costs you more in the end because it gives you soot and clinkers instead of heat.

ORDER ABERDEEN and be free from coal worries. The proof of its superiority is in the Trial Order. When may we send you a ton?

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN DIFFERENT

Now, following the death of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, an odd circumstance comes to light. On the preceding the funeral of the late President Wilson, Senator Lodge received a poorly worded intimation from members of the Wilson family that his presence at the funeral was not desired.

The circumstance claims passing notice because it is so thoroughly unlike what President Wilson himself would have advised had he been in a position to be consulted.

Senator Lodge expressed himself again and again as having full confidence in the sincerity of motive of President Wilson during the League of Nations controversy. He differed with the President, however, as to the wisdom of the action which the President sought to bring about and, like a true man, he stood to his guns and fought the Wilson program and the Wilson plan to the last ditch. Circumstances would seem to have vindicated his course of action. A majority of the American people pronounced against the League of Nations, insofar as the entry of this country into it was concerned.

No, President Wilson himself would hardly have gone to the length of forbidding Senator Lodge's presence at the Wilson funeral.

NATIONAL GOOD FAITH

It went hard to sacrifice the battleship Washington. She made good target practice and proved the merit of her defensive armor. Yet a brand new hull worth $15,000,000 makes an expensive target. And more important than that, in the mind of the average American, was the fact that it left the United States navy weaker than was contemplated in the Washington disarmament treaty, and weaker than many navy men consider really safe.

Nevertheless, it was a good deed, done regretfully but in a good sporting spirit. Uncle Sam had agreed to scrap the half-finished Washington, along with various other craft, as evidence of his good faith in proposing a plan to stop competitive navy-building. And he has kept his pledge, regardless of disputes as to whether the other powers have kept theirs scrupulously, and regardless of American ju-gices who would have dishonored their country by refusing to make good.

The way to disarm is to disarm.
A clear recognition of that truth was the notable fact of the disarmament conference. The United States admitted the principle, and has acted on it without hedging or pettifoggery. So Americans have a clear conscience about the matter.

This example is bound to have a wholesome effect on other nations.
Nothing is needed more in international relations than the practice of good faith in living up to obligations.
Blessed is the nation which, like the righteous man, "changeeth not" even when it "severeth to its own hurt."

Maori Faith Healer.
Interpreting Christianity to suit his own ideas and what he believes to be for the best interests of his people, Wiremu Ratana, a Maori faith healer, is reported to be doing an influential work among the aborigines of New Zealand and to be effecting cures which have the appearance of the miraculous. Discarded implements of the halt and maimed are said to testify to the reality of his cures, and his name has become a household word among the white people. He is regarded it as his chief mission to eradicate from the minds of his people that superstition—the sinister growth of ignorance and tradition—which in spite of schools and education continues to hold down the Maori people.

and guards your life, he is your good

Form of Crosses Varies

There is a slight difference between the Latin and Greek crosses.
The lower branch of the Latin cross is considerably longer than the other three, while in the Greek cross all branches are of equal length. St.
Andrew's cross consists of two shafts of equal length, bisecting each other diagonally in the form of the letter X.

Bobbed-Haired Bandit Confesses

CAPT. SUMMERS, BEULAH BAUM, & ART. DOTTORINI

BEAUTIFUL nineteen-year-old Beulah Mae Baum, mother of a three-year-old child, shown here with Captain Elsworth Summers, of the Jeffersonville Ind., police department, and Prosecuting Attorney James L. Dottorini, has confessed that she lured Frank Mark, prominent Louisville, Ky., sportsman and a well-known leader, to a lonely road, where he was held up and shot by James Martin, of Louisville, and Harry Johnson, New Albany taxiab driver.
Mr. Martin and Johnson have confessed, Mark, after being at the point of death, has recovered. After he was shot he crawled to his automobile and drove a mile to the nearest farm house where he collapsed.

"SINNERS IN HEAVEN"

by Clive Arden

"If they manage to kill you, they will soon finish me off!"
He regarded her in silence, for a moment.

"They wouldn't kill you," he said quietly. "Do you understand my meaning?"

Her face went very white. For a few minutes she paced up and down, hands clenched, facing this new terror, striving to control herself before this man whose very look disconcerted weakness. The color of his hair ling, as he stood playing with the weapon in his hands, calmed her, bracing her to a simulation of the same fearlessness.

"Show me," he said, going to him.
Quietly, as if explaining the mechanism of a watch, he explained how it worked.

"I will load it, and fix it ready for you," he concluded.

And the girl who, in England, had shrunk from all dreams, took the little weapon from him eagerly, welcoming it as a valued friend bringing, possibly, the greatest succor of all.

As they sat in the dark hut, upon their upturned suitcases, near the window aperture, the strain upon Barbara's nerves became almost unbearable. With every minute her faith in the electric snare, never strong, grew weaker; until it ebbed away, leaving only a ghastly death, or worse, creeping nearer with the rising of every star.

When, at last, the faint moonlight kissed the revolver, turn the dark muscle to her fluttering heart, place her finger on the trigger.

She clasped and unclasped her clammy hands, sitting upright; then crouching back against the bamboo. Only fear of disgrace in her companion's opinion restrained her wild impulse to rise and flee somewhere—anywhere —to escape this fearful ordeal.

Croft touched her or spoken, her confidence would have snapped altogether.
But he sat perfectly still, his gaze fixed upon the dark slope down which their enemies would come, his mind apparently oblivious to all else.

As she watched him, her fevered brain seemed gradually to grow calm.
Her faith in his confidence and integrity to strengthen. The strain relaxed. Hope struggled feebly with her heart. She no longer felt the wild desire to scream or to escape. Her clenched hands parted, and she sat back with a sigh.

His gaze was of lack of imagination and his sense of fear, face a terrible ordeal with gallantry, are justly called brave; but those who, tortured by these possessions, foreseeing all with shrieking dread, yet meet it with no outward flinch, are true lords of themselves. Some such thought flitted through Croft's mind, as he sat waiting, fully conscious of the suffering silently endured by his companion.

When she relaxed against his shoulder,
he drew a breath of relief.

What seemed a long time passed in the silence and darkness. Then Barbara suddenly raised her head.

"Have I been asleep?" she whispered, in astonishment.

He turned to answer, whipping suddenly forward to the aperture, and craning backward. A snarl had reached his throat, but he failed to utter a word of warning.

Now that the dreaded moment had arrived, Barbara was conscious of an utter lack of agitation. Save that her fingers closed upon his arm, she gave no sign of alarm.

For several minutes nothing more was heard. The girl was beginning to think it had been a false alarm, when all at once a slight rubbing noise reached them, as of something wriggling over rough ground. At the same instant a dark form was dimly dis-cernible flitting, shadow-like, from a remote tree to the shelter of a large rock, then falling to the earth. Presently, from behind this rock, issued a little, snaky, black stream—three or four bodies waddling along on their faint outlines faintly distinguishable.

Minutely sweeping the whole visible horizon with his keen eyes, Croft now perceived other black streams, issuing from other temporary shelters, slowly trickling down the slope. . . . He leaned back.

"They are crawling along upon their stomachs, as I predicted, to avoid detection," he whispered.

Presently, two or three figures detached themselves from the moving mass and wriggled forward with incredible swiftness, leaving the reminder some yards behind.

"Scouts!" whispered Croft.

Barbara caught her breath sharply, drawing back into the hut.

Croft, his eyes fixed upon the advancing figures, laid his hand upon the transmission, which he stretched toward the little key upon which so much depended. No sign of the wire anchoring the hut was visible in the comparative gloom.

A few tense moments. . . . then he pressed the key, keeping it down, giving the spark gap a slight adjustment.

Then, from all around, rose a deafening medley of howls and frenzied yells, partly of pain but more often of fear, as the advancing men came in contact with the wire, seeing the electric bolts spurts his at their bare feet, feeling the sharp and stinging electricity. Those who escaped it were equally terrified, and the whole order broke up. Some rolled upon the ground rubbing themselves, still howling; others fled, screaming, toward the south. A few, braver, tried again to reach the goal; and again retreated, half petrified with fear of the unnatural.

Croft waited until but a few stragglers remained near the hut.

"Now," he cried, "we must show ourselves, and complete the illusion!" He remonstrated Barbara, "Is that necessary?"

"Yes; if it's to be a success."

Seizing her arm, he dragged upon the door, and whirled her round to the landward end.

Those natives who remained uttered loud, fearful shouts, at sight of the two white figures; falling upon their faces, they stretched out arms of supplication, babbling what seemed to Barbara unintelligible nonsense. Those fleeing turned, halted, then likewise fell upon their faces, terrified at these apparitions in the starlight.

For a moment the girl thought her companion had lost his senses. Loosing her arm, he sprang forward with a bound, his arms wildly waving. Appearing instantaneously, his white shirt and handkerchief increased the supernatural effect in eyes used only to a dark naked skin, he went through a pantomime of world features. Now and then this was interspersed with extraordinary intermissions marred between clenching teeth and cruel, drawn-back lips. The wild awful fury, seeming to emanate from every por-terified her; he looked every inch a savage himself. His wild babble here strong resemblance to that of her pursuer. Apparently the prelate natives understood the meaning of the discourse; for occasionally eager hands were raised in supplication, accompanied by cries or moaning replies.

Suddenly, as if at some command, the howling ceased, and the natives stood still. With another scorch of wild words, he wheeled round, and to her amazement, threw his arms around her, pressing her close. . . . What seemed, in the excitement of the moment, like a cloud of smoke, together with a sharp exclamation, momentarily dated her senses.

She felt herself lifted bodily, whirled back again round the hut and in at the entrance; while, from without arose a fresh confusion of howling cries, with the faintest humming feet of the warriors, terrified by the magically effects of the revolver shot in the dusk, dashed for their lives away in the slope.

Once inside, he leaned back against the bamboo, still holding her close. His breath coming fast, every nerve tingling, primitive man among primitive men, after the savage state into which he had worked himself.

"Well done!" he panted, laughing wildely. "The revolver—just then—was an inspired idea! I fired in a puff of smoke, finished the trick!"

Barbara gasped, too much astonished to realize that she was still clasped in his arms, having forgotten the existence of the revolver during the last scene. It hung from her hand, still smoking a little from its accidental discharge.

"What—were you doing?" she stammered.

Again he laughed wildly. "Telling them we were sent here by their gods, and should blast the island into a thousand bits if they showed us hostility!
You saw the effect?"

"I did indeed!" Realizing their position, she tried to free herself, but his arms tightened.

"Among natives," he continued, exactly, "a wife is taken to her husband. To—make you doubly safe, I told them you were my—my wife."

"Your—?" Words failed her. More vehemently she struggled, suddenly afraid of him, of his savage grip, and of the eyes which glittered strangely in the semidarkness.

But ordinary shackles of restraint had fallen from Croft for the moment.
Since those wonderful hours of the night before, the girl had assumed a new prominence in his mind. He had become acutely aware of her, as he had never yet been aware of any woman at dozens of things, which with only one forgotten in the general confusion of everything seen.

Yes, I loved saying 'hello' to so many friends, but next time I go to the zoo I shall see a few and really
see them.

"I overheard some children saying the same thing. I put on my invisible coat, and I heard them say:
'Next time let's see just a few animals, really, and then we'll see them
try to kick to every one in a day.'"

Kicks With His Head
Small Edgar, who had often expressed a desire for a goat, finally became the proud possessor of one. A short time afterward his grandfather
asked: "Well, Edgar, how do you like
your new pet?"
"Don't like him at all," replied the
little fellow.
"Why not?"
"Cause he kicks with his head."

Language of Their Own
Tommy claimed that he and his dog,
Snap, could understand each other.
The other boys seemed skeptical and
wanted to know how it was possible.
"Well," Tommy explained, "he knows what I mean and I know what he means. I understand him by the way he wags his tail. We have a language of our own."

HURRIED ZOO VISIT

"Just rushed in to say 'Hello!' said Billie Brownie as he arrived at the zoo.

"I'm like a zom-
ber who haven't
much time to spare
but who like to run
in and say hello to their friends, so I've come to see
my zoo friends."

"Glad to see you,
Billie," said Boma,
the chimpanzee.

"So am I," said
Windy, the orangutan. And the other monkeys in the monkey house all
told Billie Brownie
how glad they were to see him.

"Well, here are things," said the Three-Toed Sloth. "Did you ever see like myself?"

Billie Brownie had to laugh at that.

"Isn't it splendid the way my horns go straight up into the air?" the Saddle-Lipped Rhinoceros asked Billie.

"And my square lips are fine, too," Billie was pleased to think that the Rhinoceros thought so well of his appearance. As he had been speaking to Billie he wondered at first if Billie felt that his looks were so strange.
But the Rhino was quite satisfied.

"I'm a dreadful fellow," said the Gila Monster, a most enormous lizard.

"Yes, I'm the only bad lizard, I do believe. It's a family characteristic, or habit, or way."

"I'm a jolly, say little creature," said the Collared Lizard. "At least that is the way I feel now."

Billie admired the Collared Lizard's graceful manner of running and of jumping.

Then he went and spoke to the frogs and the bears and the zebras and the lions.

He also went to speak to the pelicans and the elephants.

He saw Mr. Spectacled Owl and his assistant, and they would give him his splendid black and white feathers and his great eyes with the dark feathers about them which made him look as though he wore spectacles.

He called, too, on the elk and the elk told him that he was soon to shed his antlers and they would give him again by spring when they would be velvety and he would rub them upon the trees.

"In the summer," he said, "I shed my coat, and I look quite shabby."

"But then it is hot in the summer and it is too much to bother about the appearances then."

"At least I feel that way about it and so do all the members of my family."

"The camels feel the same way, too," Billie called to Mrs. Buffalo, and her son who was now six months old, and a fine looking young buffalo or bu-falo he was.

He also said hello to the tigers and the leopards and the griffins and the penguins.

He stopped and played with the little penguins and enjoyed them immensely.

He talked to the Fox family and altogether saw a great many of his friends.

"Oh, I was in a hurry," he said after he got back home to Brownie land.
"I shall not try to see so many."

"It is like trying to see everything in a place in one day."

"It is better to see a little and
see it thoroughly
and so enjoy it
than to see a great many things, which
which will only be forgotten in the general confusion
of everything seen."

Yes, I loved saying 'hello' to so many friends, but next time I go to
the zoo I shall see a few and really
see them.

"I overheard some children saying
the same thing. I put on my invisible
coat, and I heard them say:
'Next time let's see just a few animals, really, and then we'll see them
try to kick to every one in a day.'"

Kicks With His Head
Small Edgar, who had often expressed a desire for a goat, finally became the proud possessor of one. A short time afterward his grandfather
asked: "Well, Edgar, how do you like
your new pet?"
"Don't like him at all," replied the
little fellow.
"Why not?"
"Cause he kicks with his head."

Language of Their Own
Tommy claimed that he and his dog,
Snap, could understand each other.
The other boys seemed skeptical and
wanted to know how it was possible.
"Well," Tommy explained, "he knows
what I mean and I know what he means. I understand him by the way he wags his tail. We have a language of our own."

CLOSING WHEAT PRICE

REPORTED UNSETTLED

CHICAGO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Preparations for expected big deliveries here Monday on December contracts outweighed in the wheat market today the effect of unfavorable weather for the Argentine crop. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 5-8 cent lower to 1-2 cent higher.

December $1.25 to 1.54, and May $1.62 to 1.62 1/2, with corn 1-1/2 to 1-1/4 cent, oats at 1-1/4 decline to 1-1/4 advance and provisions unchanged to 30c higher.

Argentine reports saying the wheat turned colder again and that further damage by frost was looked for were largely responsible for an upward tendency which the wheat market showed during the early dealings. Besides, Argentine crop estimates were being reduced, and it was asserted that 20 per cent of the Australian crop had already been disposed of.

As the end of the day approached however, month end adjustment of accounts became the chief influence and with much selling to realize profits the market underwent something of a setback.

What wheat deliveries Monday, no matter what the volume might be, would pass into strong hands, helped to check any pronounced weakness in values. Absence of rain where needed in the domestic winter wheat belt also was more or less of an obstacle to the price downturn.

On the other hand, receipts in the northwest continued liberal, and total primary arrivals were in excess of last week's figure and those of a year ago.

Corn developed independent strength owing to current gossip that no large movement of new crop was in sight. Adverse crop news from Argentina was an additional incentive to buyers.

although usually foreign conditions have little effect on corn values. Some demand for oats also was ascribed to needs from Argentina.

Provisions needed in line with the hog market.

NEW EFFORT TO RECOVER GOLD HERE PROPOSED

Californians to Finance Undertaking on Snake River if Test Succeeds, Chamber of Commerce Is Advised.

A new attempt is to be made to recover gold from sands of Snake river in this region, according to advice in the hands of Charles F. Dwight, secretary of Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

In furtherance of the proposed enterprise Mr. Dwight has agreed to furnish to the inventors of a placer mining machine at Oakland, California, samples of Snake river sands for the purpose, apparently, of convincing financial backers of the undertaking that gold can be removed with profit from these sands by means of that device.

Statement of the inventor in a letter to the chamber of commerce secretary is to the effect that two inventors who are familiar with this region will furnish funds for the enterprise if the proposed demonstration to be made at Oakland with a small machine proves successful.

"I know that I can save practically all of the values, both gold and platinum, as I perfected the machine in British Columbia on what is called Wreck beach and have been given very favorable reports on results of its work," the inventor writes.

One of the reports referred to by the inventor was given by a miner who stated that he has had 35 years experience in placer mining in California, Arizona and Alaska; that he has seen 30 or 40 different gold saving machines, and that this one is the only one that he considers practical.

The present venture serves to recall the fact that the first human inhabitants of Snake river valley in this region were placer miners; that ruins of their dwellings are to be found now in the canyon north of Hansen and elsewhere along the course of the stream, and that the poet, Joaquin Miller, was inspired to write a memorable description of Shoshone Falls while on a visit to this region as a young man with a party of miners.

Nominal gold production has been credited to Twin Falls county during recent years by government reports.

NEWSPAPER STOCK SALE CONTROVERSY APPEAL

Purchasers From Whom D. M. Denton Was Awarded Judgment for $2444 Carry Case to Supreme Court.

Record on appeal to the state supreme court has been completed by C. L. Bowen, deputy clerk of the district court, in the case of D. M. Denton against D. F. Detweller and others, wherein defendants are appealing from judgment on a verdict returned in June, 1923, that awarded $2444.10 to plaintiff.

Suit was brought by Denton in this case to recover $2000 and interest claimed as balance due on purchase of 3800 shares of stock of the Twin Falls Times Publishing company, of which he was president and manager. Defendants denied liability for payment of any sum in excess of $11,000 which they testified they had already paid for the stock. The publishing company, an intervenor, denied Denton's claim to ownership of the stock in question, and asserted its own claim to winter judgment might be awarded against the defendants.

Defendants beside D. F. Detweller were Elmer Amund, L. B. Hill, S. N. Pittullo, J. A. Crom, Peter Erickson, H. Murphy and Frank DeKlotz.

LEAVES SERVICE OF BONDHOLDERS

G. M. Hall Terminates Work of Ten Years as Representative of Investors in Project.

G. M. Hall, since 1914 representative for the Salmon River Bondholders Protective committee, Saturday terminated his official connection with that organization, which in the future is to be represented here through Idaho Irrigation company offices of which Murray Brookman of Richfield is manager, with A. J. Lindemer in charge of the company's offices that were moved here from Richfield about two months ago.

Mr. Hall announced Saturday his retirement as representative of the bondholders' committee and stated that he had not formulated definite plans for the future, although, he said, he expects to remain in Twin Falls, where he has property as well as on the Salmon River project. He will continue to serve as president of the Salmon River Canal company.

Mr. Hall came to Idaho ten years ago as the agent of the bondholders' committee that was formed following the failure of the company that built the Salmon River project irrigation system, and for several years he served as project director, contributing largely to the solution of problems into which the project and its settlers were thrown.

Prior to coming to Idaho Mr. Hall with his family had resided for many years at Rocky Ford, Colorado, where he was one of the organizers of a large irrigation project of which he was superintendent for several years.
