ECONOMIC AND ARMS PARLEY BORAH'S PLAN

Idaho's Senator Considers Revival of Proposal for International Conference; Would Discuss Finances.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1 (AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the foreign relations committee, is considering revival of his plan for an international economic conference and the way couple with it a proposal for further limitation of armaments. A resolution designed to bring the principal powers together in a discussion of economic questions was introduced by the Idaho senator last session, but no action was taken on it. Despite the opinion of the Daves plan Senator Borah believes there remain financial and industrial questions that require united treatment by the nations and he has expressed a view many times that armaments and finances should be regarded as related subjects.

Amount of Payments. One of the questions he would like to see settled is the total sum Germany is to pay. Both Germany and Russia he called into consultation on the important international questions now pending. The senator said today he might present a resolution for an international conference shortly, but had not definitely decided whether the conference should be guided by circumstances in determining the form of the proposal and the time of its presentation.

BERLIN, Jan. 1 (AP)—The German valdeterories to 1924 and the greetings of the incoming year are largely colored by the ill feeling over the prospective failure of the allies to evacuate the Cologne area on Jan. 10, 35 forecasts from Paris. While the retrospective views expressed concede that the past year has been one of economic and social progress and the New Year prospects are bright, the German press outlook for the continued improvement of the nations' internal affairs and its foreign relations.

MILLION SPENT IN CHICAGO ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Arrival of 1925 in Windy City Results in Three Lives Lost, Six Injured and $200,000 Fire Damage.

CHICAGO, Jan. 1 (AP)—The arrival in Chicago of young 1925 tonight had cost three lives, half a dozen seriously injured and a $200,000 fire loss. The health of the city itself celebrated his coming by bringing about the city's first big snowstorm of the winter. The expense of ushering in the new year could not be accurately estimated, but hotels, restaurants, cafes and cabarets where the welcome were held last night, estimated that Chicago spent more than $1,000,000 for the reception. Killed by Snow Bullets. Two of those killed, lost their lives who they were hit by stray bullets, supposedly fired by New Year's celebrants. One was killed while riding in an elevated train; the other while sitting in his home. Two others were seriously wounded by being hit by New Year's bullets, one while walking on a street car, and a woman while sitting in her home. The third man killed was shot to death by a policeman when he became involved in the New Year's morning fight and flourished a pistol. A factor in a large apartment building, who celebrated his birthday last night, was shot dead several scores of tenants when he started running up and down the halls firing a pistol after they had complained that there was not sufficient heat. Twenty other men, who were shot and finally carried to a hospital, were in a giddy haze and were not so fully snapped his empty pistol at them. Shot at Party. One man was shot when outsiders attempted to "crash" a New Year's party, where he was a guest, and another was stabbed during a family celebration. (Continued on Page 5, Col. 1)

IDAHO STANDS HIGH IN WATER POWER VALUES

State Ranks Fourth in Resources, With but 7 Per Cent of It Developed, Says Publication.

MOSCOW, Jan. 1.—Idaho stands fourth among the states of the nation in potential water power, but has developed only about seven per cent of it, according to a Hugo Johnson, professor of electrical engineering, in the December number of the Idaho Engineer, published by the Associated Engineers, University of Idaho. Washington heads the list, with California following in second place and Oregon in third place.

The water area of Idaho is divided by Mrs. Johnson into the following divisions: The Snake (44 per cent), the Middle Snake and Salmon rivers and tributaries, and the Southern Snake district. Of the four Idaho districts, Professor Johnson says:

Post Falls Plant.
"The Oeur d'Alene district at present has only one development of importance, the Post Falls plant, with 200 kilowatts at Post Falls. There are many other possible water power sites, easily accessible and of moderate size, so that this district probably will be fully developed in the near future, since it is near to the markets of Spokane and the Transcontinental railroad."

The middle district is as yet practically untouched, the present developments being one 2000 kilowatts at Oxbow on the Snake river and some minor powers around Grangeville. In reality the Snake river in the 70 mile below Lewiston and Idaho Falls with its 870,000 horsepower, as there are 17 power sites where more than 100,000 horsepower could be developed 90 per cent of the time; estimating an overall efficiency of 80 per cent, 800,000 horsepower would be the result even if the water is fully utilized for irrigation purposes. It is estimated that 100,000 horsepower could be developed 90 per cent of the time or 298,000 horsepower if the river be regulated for irrigation purposes. Above this point there are 25 suitable sites on the Salmon where 250,000 horsepower could be developed 80 per cent of the time.

Snake the Deep.

"The canyon of the Snake river is more than 1000 feet deeper than the gorge of the Colorado between Yavapai Point and Bullhead camp, and considerably narrower. The average width of the river is 12 feet to the mile, the low water discharge about 800,000 cubic feet per second, a width of a scant 100 feet. Since the rocks that form the canyon walls are such as to make good foundation walls for dams of any height, it is not surprising that this portion of Snake is well adapted to the development of large blocks of power. On the other hand, the cost of construction and of maintenance would be high as it would be expensive to transport equipment and the river is subject to enormous floods. In the southern part of Idaho, the Snake river already has been developed to a considerable extent. The latest figures show more than 200,000 horsepower developed in some 18 plants, mainly under control of the Idaho Power company and the United States reclamation service. There are possibilities for development of some 250,000 horsepower more in the territory and as this is near a growing market it probably will be made available sooner than the power in the lower Snake."

Underdeveloped region is that of the lower Snake and the Salmon, remarks Professor Johnson. This territory is extremely rugged, rough and inaccessible. However, as the power near the coast becomes less and less able to endure the rapidly increasing demands of industry and as the mountain division of the Transcontinental railroad becomes more cleared, the value of this section will be realized more fully.

"The development of this water power means much to Idaho," continues the writer. "It will make available huge blocks of cheap power, which in turn will hasten the industrial development of the state. The growth of local industries will diversify the source of income and alleviate the bad effects of periodical low prices for agricultural products. The new crops, the industrial workers will increase the population of the state, thereby improving the local market for the farmer and the merchant alike. Lower the tax rate and make a still more attractive appeal to Idaho's children to remain in the state by holding bonds."

Is He "Most Notorious Crook in World?"

CAPT. CHARLES W.A. ARTHUR

DURING THE SENSATIONAL "Mr. A." trial in London, it was testified that the British army aide-camp of Balah Sir Hari Singh, heir to the Maharajah of Jammu, Kashmir, had "framed" his master, and led the band of blackmailers who collected $700,000 from Rajah Sir Hari Singh. He was found in a Paris hotel with Mrs. Maude Robinson. The aide-camp, whose identity was kept as secret as that of the Indian potentate, was branded "the most notorious crook in the world" by the attorneys—with the official admission that the potentate was the rajah, it became known the aide-camp was Captain Charles W. A. Arthur, who was immediately arrested in Paris. He denied his guilt emphatically, but it was testified at the trial he received a large share of the $700,000 blackmail.

SPURNED SUITOR SHOOTS WOMAN

Kills One, Wounds Another and Slashes Own Throat in Love Disappointment.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 1.—It was "Johnny's end in love's meeting" last night, when Carlos Bedner, spurned suitor, met Mrs. Mary McNally, as she was returning from a New Year's eve party with her sister and two male escorts.

Bedner opened fire, shot and killed Mrs. McNally, fired another shot at Mrs. Pauline Ludewick, Mrs. McNally's sister, wounded Anne Gjovick, and then slashed his own throat. (At the general hospital physicians today declared Bedner has but a slight chance for recovery.)

Meets Quartet.
Bedner met the quartet and went with them to Mrs. McNally's apartment where the shooting occurred. The two men grouped with Bedner after he had fired the fatal shot at Mrs. McNally and in the scuffle Gjovick received a wound in the hand. Breaking away from the men Bedner then drew the knife across his throat.

DEPARTMENT OF AERONAUTICS IS URGED FOR U. S.

Persons Interested in Aviation Would Have Cabinet Officer in Charge of All Aerial Equipment and Men.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—(AP)—The department of aeronautics in the federal government, with a cabinet officer at its head, is the goal of many persons interested in aviation development. Brigadier-General Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, one of the most outspoken exponents of this idea, expects his plan eventually to receive consideration at the present session of congress.

A secretary of aeronautics, with an assistant secretary, would supervise the proposed new department, as it is envisaged by its advocates. Among the duties of the department would be: the supply of personal and equipment for aerial mail routes; responsibility for national defense; preparation of aerial photographs; granting of aviators' and aeronauts' licenses to all states; promulgation of rules and regulations to govern aviators and aeronauts; supervision over international, interstate and intrastate flying; establishment of training fields; preparation and distribution of weather data; furnishing personal and equipment for coast border and air force patrol for any other department.

In times of peace and war the secretary of aeronautics would assign his duties to the departments for duty aeronautical units, which the president might deem necessary, the Air Academy.

Unassigned officers of the air force would be appointed to conduct an air training academy to train officers in various lines of technical work. Enlisted men of the air force would be recruited after the present manner of the army and navy.

The commissioned personnel of the air force, it is declared, need not exceed 2000; not more than 500 warrant officers would be needed, and not more than 30,000 enlisted men. Provision would be made for an aviation reserve.

General and Chief Brigadier-General Mitchell points out, have separate air forces. Germany has had one for some eight years and Japan is engaged in formulating her own department of aeronautics, although she is completely separated and independent of the others.

Over One Hundred Thousand DOLLARS

Is invested in the printing industry in Twin Falls county, of which more than half represents actual value in type and machinery.

The combined payrolls in the industry in Twin Falls county amount to not less than $1,900.00 or $2,100.00 a week, of which probably $1,600.00 is paid out in Twin Falls.

These are figures which are worthy of thought—for one thing, they prove that Twin Falls may be safely regarded as the center of the printing industry in this part of Southern Idaho.

We repeat—no better printing is obtainable anywhere than may be had in Twin Falls. There are no better workmen, no better material, no place where more attention is paid to the wishes of the customers—no more satisfactory market in which to buy printed matter than the home market—Twin Falls.

Twin Falls printers are actively soliciting the patronage of those using printing.

OXFORD TREATS GIRL STUDENTS WITH CONTEMPT

Hardships Endured at English School by Women; Thirty-Two Americans Graduate; Men Rude in Classes.

OXFORD, England, Jan. 1. Thirty-two American girls have this year taken the short gown and straw-bered, moribund cap, without the board, that make up the uniform of an Oxford woman student. Only eight are in women's colleges, the rest being members of a citizens organization called the Society of Oxford Home Students, which is not a college, although remarkably like one, and not a society of home students. Most of the girls live in the cold and uninviting lodgings for which Oxford is famous. The lot of the woman student of 'undergraduate' at Oxford is not a very happy one. The four women's colleges are all very poor, badly situated and scantily furnished. The Society of Oxford Home Students, however, will not be satisfied until the grand old town of the university is done, fellows and heads of colleges, and the students, are made to get to days when enthusiastic women poured acid on college lawns and corn sprud into college lawns, still mist and suspicion, and there is not among Oxford undergraduates that feeling of resentment against women students which leads Cambridge men to snarl the girls out of the gates and groan when a woman enters a lecture room, yet they regard the non-collegiate as far from kindly. At least it may be defined as an uneasy consciousness of superiority. In the university journals women students are fair but for much crude humor and harsh criticism, and the average undergraduate would not doubt prefer to see them go.

The company of the undergraduate is not greatly improved by the male, and few of the ladies who are met in the reading and harassing restrictions. American girl students are much more popular than their English sisters, partly because they are not excluded, and partly because the Oxford style of men shares the pleasing notion that all Americans are millionaires. Any Oxford non-collegiate who does not sit in the lecture hall is regarded as a student. Where they are not excluded they attend with such zeal that men and students complain bitterly. Women are admitted only to part of the university libraries. This is no great hardship, for Oxford libraries are notorious for their lack of books. One woman student is no uncommon sight in the great Bodleian library of All Souls college. She is seen in a student's room in overcoat, carrying a book of letters. A student has opposition on the part of the men of the university have children who are taken care of by their mothers, and they are slowly developing a social, academic and athletic world of their own, like that of Smith at Wallcut. Many girls are offered to an American girl student is an attractive one.

ORPHEUM

What everyone wondered who saw Harold Lloyd's latest feature Pathé Monday, 'The Great Dictator', was when it was going to be shown. Lloyd's great comedy going to have a heart and stop making people, just as hard that their sides ache. Just as 'Girl Shy' was greater than any previous Lloyd comedy, so is 'Hot Water' greater than any of his previous. When it comes to making people shriek and shout with laughter, Lloyd stands head and shoulders above any other comedian in the field of screen comedy. And once again Lloyd has lived up to his enviable reputation for originality. Not only is the story original, but the way in which he makes you laugh is also unusual and novel. Nothing but the highest praise can be given to the latest of Lloyd's masterpieces of wit and humor and there is not a shadow of a doubt that he will continue to be known as the greatest comedian of all time. Besides Lloyd and Miss Ralston, the exceptionally fine cast includes Josephine Crowell, Charles Stevenson and Mickey McBan. The picture was directed by Sam Taylor and Fred Newmeyer.

NOTRE DAME IS VICTOR IN GAME WITH STANFORD

South Bend Football Eleven Buries Westerners Under Score of 27 to 10; "Four Horsemen" Show Speed.

PARADENA, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP)—A typhoon of speed whirled out of South Bend, Indiana, and landed today swarming Stanford University's football team under a 27 to 10 score, Notre Dame had speed.

The famous four horsemen were pitted against Ernie. News of Stanford and his greatest and his alma mater with glory, could not offset their repeated charges.

At that, the huge red shifted Stanford outcharged the stout blue jerseyed linemen of Notre Dame and it was owing to their work that the Pacer-Alto institution was able to register 10 points in the face of the fierce pelting of the cavalry from South Bend, Ind.

Scores First Victory.
Notre Dame also added to its list of victories that of having scored the first victory of the year in four intercollegiate games played on the Pacific coast this season.

For the first time in a number of years the Rose bowl was packed to capacity. It was estimated that upwards of 25,000 watched the contest.

At every moment throughout the four periods the Notre Dame men lived up to their reputation for speed in foot and hand.

Incapacitated Start.
The start was unimpressive for the visitors. Grant Reine sent in his second string men to open the fight, but Stanford, strong, aggressive and beefy, shoved them steadily down the field. Stanford called on his stars and the real battle was on.

Stanford's errors, which might not have been very costly against their opponents, were fatal when pulled in the face of Notre Dame. When the Cardinal team slipped the South Bend team had there to take it.

Stanford started the scoring by a placement kick off Cuddeback's too in the first period.

In the second period, for the only time during the game, Notre Dame was able to gain consistently through the big red line. A prolonged drive ended when Layden burst through left guard three yards to a touchdown.

A few minutes later Layden came to the front again, pulled Nevers pass out of the air and sprinted 70 yards for the second South Bend touchdown. Crowley converted it. In the third period secured one of Stanford's offensive errors. Solomon fumbled, he put on his own 20-yard line. He stepped to recover when he might have played safely falling on the ball. Hunt-jinger swooped down on him, shoved Solomon aside, grabbed the pigskin and ran unopposed to a touchdown. Crowley again converted. Later in the period, Notre Dame, leaving red and face, boldly attempted a forward pass within its 20-yard territory, and Nevers pulled it down. The following series of line bucks, nearly all of them featuring the hefty Nevers, who savagely shoved, heaved and ground his way to Notre Dame's eight yard line.

The horsemen from the east were set for another buck but it did not count. Walker passed over the line to Ted Shipkey and Stanford snatched up a touchdown. Cuddeback kicked goal for Stanford's fourth touchdown.

Fourth Quarter Charges.
In the fourth period Stanford had another opportunity. An intercepted forward pass on Notre Dame's 35-yard line put the ball in Baker's hands.

Nevers was called on and in a succession of plunges he led the way to a 20-yard touchdown. He intercepted a pass from Nevers' hands and led a chase all the way for 25 yards across the Stanford half mark. Crowley's did the rest.

The two players centered, trotted and galloped with all the abandon of a pack of wild geese. Nevers was handicapped when he twisted his left ankle early in the opening period and it slowed up his play during the remainder of the game although at Stanford he did appear that any Cardinal back would match any South Bend player. Nevers and Crowley were the most valuable players for Notre Dame.

CALIFORNIA IS VICTORIOUS IN BERKELEY GAME

Pacific Coast Football Team Trims Pennsylvania University by Score of 1 to 0; Lead Throughout.

CALIFORNIA STADIUM, BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 1 (AP)—There was a Quaker meeting here this afternoon and the congregation, numbering some 50,000, was confirmed in the belief that football is a great sport and that the faith of five years is the impregnable of the University of California was justified once more. The creed was reaffirmed by a 14 to 0 victory over the University of Pennsylvania; otherwise the Quakers.

California outplayed Pennsylvania almost, but not quite, from start to finish, the exception being part of the third period, when the visitors made a desperate but unavailing sprint.

Prize Ring Ring.
In the jacket of the prize ring, the game might be summed up in this fashion:

Round One: The boys sparred, but got long. Cal rushed in furiously, chasing Penn toward his corner. Penn landed several hooks in the body but score was dropped by Cal for a count of seven.

Round Two: Penn had the best of Miller performed well but his mark did not make his high mark set by his team mates.

The Lineup and Summary:

some in fighting, but Cal's long range snappers were hitting left. There was a hot exchange in close quarters but Cal had Penn groggy and ready to fall for a count at the bell.

Round Three: Penn came back strong "threw Cal around the ring with right and left." Cal wobbled and covered up, but managed to shove off any damaging punches and was fighting back powerfully at the close.

Round Four: The boys missed several swings. With two hard uppercuts, Cal sent Penn clear across the goal. Cal floored Penn for another count of seven. It was too late for Penn to recover and Cal got the decision by a wide margin.

Shows Its Staff.
Choking metaphor to its figurative winds, California at the outset started to show its staff of victory. A 12-yard pass, Dixon to Young put the ball in Pennsylvania territory. The Penn resistance stiffened and the Bears carried out the strategy of grabbing a short punt within inches of the opposing line, thus regaining the enemy to line up in front of its crossbars. A little later the same scheme was worked. Both times McGraw punted out but the home team failed to bring the ball back for a delay. McGraw finally on a fake dropkick, Young got to the four-yard line. He then plunged over guard for a touchdown. Carlson kicked the goal.

Start Punting.
The Quakers could not gain and started punting on the second down but they made no punts until they ran 11 yards. The visitors made another first down on the next play, but that was all.

In the second period they bucketed their kicking game. After several on-downs, Young threw one to Young, and first down and second down and first down.

Regain on Punt.
A moment later they regained it on a punt. More punts, one of them from Dixon to Mell for 16 yards, brought the ball close to the opposing goal. Young started punting through the half back, apparently rubbing California of a score.

The Quakers came back for the second half all helped up. First down went through for 13 yards. The ball was advanced steadily. McGraw made 12 yards on a reverse. Leth dashed around end. The ball was taken to the California one-yard line where the Bears held for down and punted out.

The Bears then kept the ball out of danger.

Fourth Quarter.
In the fourth quarter there were several fumbles. Captain McGraw of Pennsylvania made what the official scorer called a "great fumble" in three years. The reliable Imlay, too, fumbled. In the Quaker backfield, Field, Leth and McGraw began rallying. But Carey of California knocked down a long pass. Later, the visitors completed several losses but they were for such short gains that the ball was lost on downs.

California scored the other touchdown after Imlay had made spectacular runs around and around straight through the line for the score. Again Carlson kicked the goal and the score was 14 to 0.

CRISIS IN TWO STRAK SISTERS

The children of San Ambrose and San Felix are mere playthings of rock in the Pacific ocean and never have been inhabited by man. The only life which the islands support is that of a few stunted, desert shrubs and a few seals and sea birds, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. The islands were discovered in 1574 by the same Juan Ponce de Leon who discovered and gave his name to the Florida peninsula. The cause of the crisis is the Spanish territory by virtue of this discovery and passed to Chile when that country attained its independence. Supply and demand have played the year 1925, as widely separated tracks in the wool industry, says the Standard Mercantile Foundation, in a survey just completed. Supply is reduced, now to the point where consumption can not be greater than current production. By October, 1924, demand had pushed the index for the price of wool to rest at 251 over the standard of 100 for 1912. Indicating point to a situation which, the next few years when production, which is expanding, will once more bring prices to swing in the range of 100 to 125.

CONGESTION IN SCHOOLS CALLS FOR MORE ROOM

Three More Classrooms Being Fitted Up and Three New Teachers to Be Employed to Meet High School's Needs

With view to relieving crowded condition in the schools that will be accentuated at the beginning of the second semester, January 15, when 75 students are to graduate from junior into senior high school, and an equal number are to enter the junior high school from the sixth A grade, three additional classrooms are being fitted up in rooms once used for mechanical arts classes, and three additional teachers to be employed, Superintendent Ernest D. Bloom stated Thursday.

The three additional classrooms, Mr. Bloom stated, will make possible the use as a study hall of one room now being used as a classroom for the senior high school. Senior and junior classes at the beginning of the second semester are to have one study hall and the sophomore class is to have another.

Two of the teachers to be employed are to join the senior high school faculty, one to teach English and the other history. The third new teacher is to be a member of the junior high school teaching staff.

Enrollment Near Peak

Enrollment in senior and junior high schools now has reached 1931, and will exceed 1900 within the near future, Mr. Bloom stated.

During that school year 112 teachers were employed in Twin Falls schools. This year there are 240 more pupils than last, there are employed only 91 teachers, the same number as were employed last year, Mr. Bloom stated.

Enrollment figures compiled four weeks ago, showed total of 1795 pupils in grade schools, with distribution as follows: Bickel, 600; Lincoln, 697; Washington 498. Since those figures were compiled, Mr. Bloom stated, enrollment has increased in all schools.

Mrs. Plato is one of those who takes issue with the commissioner. She contends that marriage would have been one of those annulled had such regulations been effective, for their first child was born more than two years after it had been married.
