Two Country Police Officials Capture Bold Train Robber

Rural Authorities Obtain Confession From 23 Year Old Youth While New York's Best Work on False Oath

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (AP)—While city police officers and justice officials combed Long Island, New York city and vicinity for the robber, thought to be an expert in his line, who on Tuesday night held up the mail clerk on Long Island railroad train and escaped with a $10,000 currency shipment, two country police officials followed a trail of the police which led to the arrest of the robber.

James J. Gentry, a former post clerk and son of a wealthy retired lumber merchant of Lynbrook, N. Y., today pleaded guilty to the robbery and was held in $75,000 bail for the federal grand jury, to stand on $25,000 surety in the Atlanta penitentiary.

All but $114 of the money was found in a hidden territory in the cabin of Gentry's car and in a desk in his house. Gentry lives in Lynbrook with his 17-year-old wife and his mother, but he holds the police and is reported to be holding to obtain funds after he had failed at numerous business lines at Lynbrook.

The ownership of a sports model roadster, from which three farmers had seen the driver through a window, led to the robbery, said the grand jury.

AMERICAN PRESS BEST IN WORLD SAYS COOLIDGE

High Praise Given Editors at Annual Meeting in Washington; Appeal to Idealism Stressed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Pathway to success in American journalism lies in the avoidance of propaganda, the separation of news policies from business motives and the continued appeal to the idealism of the American people, President Coolidge declared tonight in speaking to the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Mr. Coolidge made it plain that he entertained no fears as to the influence of what is sometimes called a "crescental press."

"Some people feel concerned about the commercialism of the press," he said. "They note that great newspapers are great business enterprises and that the newspaper is a business of men of wealth."

Advising the editors as to their greatest opportunity for doing good was that of all-statement, the chief ideal of the American press is idealism.

"I cannot repeat too often that America is a nation of idealists. That is the strength of our people, and that is the strength of our country."

BOISE, Jan. 17 (AP)—Governor C. C. Moore, this morning signed senate bill No. 14, abolishing that part of the statute providing for the payment of bounties on state officers. By repealing this law the state is saving about $300 a day, this is the rate at which bounties "claims" were being paid with the commission of agriculture. The bill was introduced in the senate by McClary of Cassia.

Market Average Shows No Weakness for Last Week, Boston Paper Declares.

BOSTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin said today: "Business has been rather slow and irregular this week with some tendency to clean up small lots at slight concessions, although on the whole there is no weakness in the market and the slight easing in values in Australia as well as in the primary markets has had no reflection in this market, since the rise in exchange has fully offset the decline. There is little news in the way of: "Since the opening in Australia on Monday, prices have held very steady and the demand has been fairly keen. Cross breeds are firm and possibly tending slightly lower in the primary markets. Bradford is disposed to await the London opening."

In the goods market everything is dependent largely upon the heavy weight openings which are expected to show a five to ten per cent rise in the prices over those of last year. "Melair is steady at recent rates."

ITALY'S PREMIER WEATHERS STORM

Action of Chamber of Deputies In Adopting Bill Shows Mussolini Still in Control.

ROME, Jan. 17 (AP)—With the adoption of the electoral reform bill today the Italian chamber of deputies adjourned its present session and the fascist government of Premier Mussolini apparently has weathered another storm which failed to wreck the black-shirt ship of state.

At its final meeting the chamber voted over the electoral reform, an article by article, after having approved that in principle by a vote of confidence given the premier last night. The bill was then passed by a vote of 400 to 100, the provision for plural voting, Premier Mussolini consented to this limitation because of a number of fascist deputies, representing workingmen's constituencies, objected the provision would have effect of reducing the suffrage power of such voters. Otherwise the bill went through virtually unopposed, keeping the provision for a single constituency system and other essential features as sponsored by the head of the government.

ENGINEERS HEAR TALKS ON MANY SUBJECTS

istration laws and report its findings. State Resources.

Investigation made by the University of Idaho college of engineering of the present resources of the state was referred to by Dean Ken C. Crawford, in an address on the "Engineering Department of the University of Idaho" as an instance of work of benefit to the state that is being done by the school. He spoke guardedly of possibility of all-land development in southern and southeastern Idaho, indicating an opinion that the latter region offered a more promising possibility. Mineral wealth of the state that is as yet undeveloped, he predicted would far exceed in value the mineral resources already discovered in Idaho.

He said that the city manager plan of city government is a "great development and that it is a thing which will become general during the next decade," as expressed by Lee R. Cooke of Boise, in an address on the "City Manager Plan and its Application to Idaho." "I commend it to you," Mr. Cooke declared, "not as an abstract thing, but as a real attempt at solution of the problem of municipal administration."

City Manager Plan.

Assembling in cities that adopt the city manager plan means "organized along lines that any efficient industrial or commercial corporation would use in its organization," Mr. Cooke referred to statistics showing that only three out of 350 cities that have adopted the plan since it started 16 years ago, subsequently abandoned it by vote.

The Snake river administrator, Clarence G. Clyde Baldwin, Snake river watermaster, "should be a competent engineer, diplomat, financier, weather prophet, geologist and hydrologist," he said. He outlined the scope of Snake river administration in the district extending from Milner dam to Jackson lake, referring to statistics showing the distance from one end of the district to the other more than 300 miles, and that during the irrigation season there is "distributed among approximately 119 canal companies and irrigation districts approximately 6,500,000 second feet of water for irrigation of between 1,200,000 and 1,500,000 acres of land.

Water Users' Trouble.

Discussing difficulties arising between water users along the river, Mr. Baldwin stated that up river users attribute occasional shortages in their own water rights to construction of Jackson lake reservoir and to drafts made upon the river waters by the lower water users. "The situation is one of potential strife between the two stations with each section entitled to feel that the other is encroaching on its territory by unduly influencing those in actual charge of distribution. In such important and complicated matters partial truth is often coupled with faulty or immature analysis may be more detrimental than no information at all.

To essentials to efficient river administration were given by Mr. Baldwin. "First," he said, "all rights to use of water should be clearly defined and recorded both as to amount and priority. Second, an adequate organization equipped with ample funds and backed by strong police powers, should be available to handle the district at all times with the water supply insufficient to fill the demands on it and at any other time when conflict between record rights occur."

Reservoir Projects.

The story of the American Falls reservoir project from its legislative inception to preliminary surveys and tests to the present when, within a few days, bids for the construction of the huge dam will be opened, was told by James McTemple of the United States bureau of reclamation, who spoke on "Construction of the American Falls Dam and the Effect of Additional Storage Water in the Snake River Valley."

Mr. Temple gave a graphic description of the project and presented a statement of what already had been accomplished toward its completion with statistics as to cost involved as related to the choice remaining to be made in the size of the dam to be built.

Traffic control was discussed by J. D. Woods of Boise, member of a committee provisionally appointed to study this problem. "Idaho's traffic conditions," Mr. Wood stated, "have not been particularly acute owing to the comparatively sparse population; however, it is fast assuming serious proportions and should be given consideration through co-operation with municipal and legislative bodies and a thorough study of results and methods obtained in other states. It is possible for us to approach this problem and obtain concrete results."

Quotes Report.

The speaker quoted from Connecticut reports to the effect that during a recent period "14 of the accidents resulting in death or serious injury, 47 per cent were the fault of the operator; 46 per cent were the fault of other persons; 3 per cent were due to defective equipment, and 4 per cent to all other causes." In this state, also, he stated, it has been determined that commercial cars were responsible for twice as many accidents in proportion to their number as private cars. This condition, he suggested, "brings up the question of regulation, and also under the rule of service commission and law enforcement with teeth."

FATE OF TREATY UP TO COOLIDGE

Ratification of 20 Year Old Cuban Pact Depends Upon Stand President Takes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Whether the late of 1905 treaty is to be ratified or rejected by the senate depends in three measure upon the wishes of the Coolidge administration in the view of leading proponents and opponents of the convention.

President Coolidge can obtain favorable action if he throws the weight of his personal influence in the senate they said today, adding that in the absence of such action the treaty probably would fail to muster the necessary two-thirds majority.

Debate on the 20-year-old pact with Cuba was renewed today with Senator McCormack, republican, Illinois, urging favorable action. He declared that the title of Cuba to the island is so clear that rejection would be considered as "a culpa infortis on our part in the rights of a signatory unable to assert those rights against the mighty colossus of the north."

The Illinois senator was frequently interrupted in the course of his argument. Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, and a number of other senators, are expected to state the grounds that the United States held on the late of Pines to drive a better bargain with Cuba for a naval base at Guantanamo.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, declared that if there was any doubt remaining to the naval base every government official from the president down would have had to have been "a party to the secrecy" and that yet there was nothing in the printed record to indicate such a thing.

GOODING LOSES GAME TO FILER

North Side Basketball Team Unable to Meet Attack of Denman's Men.

Filer defeated Gooding high school basketball squad on the Filer floor Saturday evening by score of 41 to 16, playing the victors off their feet in the early stages of the game. The Gooding team seemed listless and tired and failed to take advantage of the openings offered them to score. This was Gooding's second game in two nights, having played Buhl at Buhl on Friday night. Filer presented a team that was fast and accurate. The scoring of the Filer team was made largely in the first half, and at the end of the half led by a score of 25 to 8.

Adkins and Shinn were the main reasons for the defeat of the north side team, making shots from almost any place on the floor. The majority of the points made by the Filer squad were from the center of the floor. In the last half Coach Denman of the Filer squad made many substitutions, resulting in all the men that were in uniform.

The work of the Gooding team was far below the expectations of their crowd and the passing displayed by them was unusually slow. Bame, and Ascuena were the stellar men on the Gooding team; Rosenbaum showing up as one of the best centers seen on the local court this season. The game was characterized by the fouls called and the general roughness of both teams.

BETTER RADIO RECEPTION

Roger Babson's estimate of three hundred fifty million for radio sets parts and accessories last year was exceeded. This year, trade experts say, the radio expenditure is likely to pass five hundred million dollars.

Certain improvements, however, are desirable. The time has passed, or is passing, when a majority of fans took up radio for the novelty of it and found their chief satisfaction merely in finding that the mechanism would work.

Not one set in a hundred yet reproduces music, even from a local station, as well as the phonograph does. It is said, however, that devices improving the action of loud speakers are now available, making almost perfect reception possible.

HOME WITHOUT A HUSBAND

The first apartment house ever built for women only is nearing completion in New York. It differs somewhat from men's bachelor apartments. Every suite has a good-sized kitchen, fitted with modern conveniences for the housewife.

It is said, however, that devices improving the action of loud speakers are now available, making almost perfect reception possible. If so, that may be the biggest radio gain in 1925.

OPPORTUNITY IN PRISON

It is said, however, that devices improving the action of loud speakers are now available, making almost perfect reception possible. If so, that may be the biggest radio gain in 1925.

That how celebrated "king of the Indies," about to receive an honorable discharge from the Missouri state penitentiary, steps right into a lucrative and congenial job. It is said that he will receive one thousand dollars for an ongoing piano concert in Kansas, and his future is strewn as far as the eye can see with other good fortune.

THE FORUM

DON'T BLAME THE OFFICER.

Editor-Twin Falls, News: Dear Sir: The cartoon appearing in the Twin Falls News of January 17 is a good illustration of our present law enforcement with the high powered automobile in the lead and the antiquated bicycle following as best it can.

The title, "Seems as though there ought to be something we could do about it," leads to the thought that there is something that can be done about it. The first thing we note is the man on the wheel, after the wheel itself, which is the best equipment the department of law enforcement is allowed to furnish under the present arrangements, then the man on the wheel.

The other type of officer, the Babo on the wheel, is no longer in evidence except where you send him to operate so that those people in the high powered car can and will get away from him, and as long as that is what you want, why it stands to reason that that is just what you will get.

The one is the best paid, best equipped man in the country; the other is the very reverse. JOHN SALSHOURY, Twin Falls, January 17.

(Continued.) "You may hold the right one," he graciously conceded, accepting the request of the most natural one in the world.

"I've got to keep on hand with the left," He extended his hand to the right one, and the right one was very promptly turned toward him, and he felt the cold contraction of the throat he had experienced before.

"I'll keep on heating with the left," he repeated, obediently combining the words with the action, "because about this time Morris ought to be getting back from his call. I've seen him use the main staircase several times; and he's never seen it to-day—unless he's more circumventive than I think he is."

"All the while he bunched, kicked and battered, and he occasionally turned the doorknob experimentally. He had not for a moment forgotten that the lurch or malicious force that had so suddenly opened the door might open it as suddenly. He did not intend to be caught napping, or to have the girl remain in that trap one instant longer than was necessary.

Verily released, her grasp of his arm and slipped her left hand further into his right one. He held it compellingly, but as impersonally as he could. It was a nice job, he suddenly realized, quite a delicate job, in fact to hold that hand in exactly the right way.

self together, "try to brace up!" He spoke her words. "Full yourself together," he urgently repeated. "Don't let yourself go!" The appeal in his voice reached her. "I feel so strange," she murmured. "It's the air; I can't get a deep breath."

He dropped her hands and started an assault on the door that was fringed in its desperation. He would get the girl out of that hole, he decided. If he had to batter down the wall of that door-house—He'd rouse some of those deaf fools who were doing in distant ways. He'd make them think the last trump was sounding.

"Here!" Babshoury was shaking her quickly, almost violently. "You're not going to faint, are you? 'Full yourself together.'"

BE BEAUTIFUL! DARKEN HAIR

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair which faded, thinned or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

shot a warning look at him over her head. "Some one was bound to hear the noise, we kept up. I can't understand why you didn't hear it sooner." "I did hear it sooner, sir," Jenks confessed, abject under the shock he had received. "I heard it for more than an hour. But I didn't pay any attention to it, because I thought it came from somewhere outside." He returned to his original refrain: "She might have suffocated!" "Well, she's all right now. Here you are, Miss Campbell, safe at the door of your own room. Better be down for a while."

MOTOR HURLS LITTLE LAD TO SUDDEN DEATH

Everett House, Seven Years Old, Son of O. E. House, Meets Death in Front of Automobile.

Everett House, seven years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar E. House, 2000 avenue south, was instantly killed when, according to an eye witness, he dropped off the rear of a wagon and started across the street in front of the Gem grocery, 735 Main avenue east, stepping in the path of an automobile by which he was struck and hurled against the pavement causing fracture of the skull.

The driver of the car, reported to have been Harry Covell of this city, carried the fatally injured boy to the doctor's office. Death, according to the physician, had been instantaneous. Wheels of the car did not pass over the lad's body, it is believed. The doctor stated that he did not see the boy, but stopped the car to investigate when his companion, a relative, spoke of an apparent obstruction in the path of the car according to the statement of the driver and his companion and a woman who told the doctor she had witnessed the accident, was proceeding at a rate of speed not to exceed 10 or 15 miles an hour. It was moving to the east while the wagon from which the boy descended was moving in the opposite direction.

On Way Home.

A truck car was pulled down over the boy's face and covered his eyes. It is believed that he neither saw nor save the car that caused his death. He had left the wagon at a point almost directly east of his home, a block distant, and turned in that direction to cross the street.

The body was taken in charge by P. J. Grossman, coroner, who stated Saturday evening that the information at hand indicated that the boy's death was the result of an unavoidable accident, it had not yet been determined whether an insurance policy was held. The driver of the car failed to report the occurrence to police headquarters or the sheriff's office. Chief of Police H. E. Harris and Deputy Sheriff G. E. Jones Saturday afternoon started an investigation which, they stated, led them to believe the fatal accident had been an unavoidable one.

The father of the boy, who is employed as a truck driver by Nye Brothers, was returning from the hospital to contact when the fatal accident occurred. The lad, according to information given the coroner, was one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. House. He was seven years old last Thursday.
