Nation Protests Refusal of Powers to Furnish Bill of Particulars for Not Evacuating Cologne Area.

PARIS, Jan. 27 (AP)—Germany's reply to the recent note of the allied ambassadors which was handed to Lord D'Abernon, the British ambassador by Foreign Minister Stresemann in Berlin today, again protests against the refusal of the allies to give immediately a bill of particulars on Germany's alleged violations of the disarmament clauses in the treaty of Versailles. It reiterates that Germany had really disarmed and is willing to be subjected to the evacuation of Cologne area.

The Berlin communication reviews the note of the council of ambassadors which was handed to Chancellor Luther yesterday and which declines to examine the question of non-evacuation with Germany or to go into further details regarding the reasons for maintaining the allied forces in the Cologne zone. The German note then says the allies have given "merely a formal reply which in no sense advances an affair of such grave significance to Germany and European reconciliation."

The Stresemann communication continues: "The allied governments continue to keep the German government, as well as public opinion, in ignorance of the material facts on which they seek to base the decisions they took several weeks ago. The German people again find themselves in the position of being executed the treaty without being given the possibility of defending themselves against these accusations. The allied governments drawn from an unilateral judgment of facts the gravest consequences and, in their last note, refuse in the most formal manner even to examine the affair jointly with the German government."

Making Lead Pencils

To make the wooden tube in which the lead in a pencil is incased, the manufacturer cuts out a board about seven inches long, the width of six pencils, and as thick as half a pencil in diameter. With a machinist he then shapes it into six semi-circular or semi-hexagonal sections, and grooves one side to hold the lead. When the lead is inserted, the halves are glued together. The "lead" in a pencil is composed of graphite.

VAUDEVILLE AT ORPHEUM

Five acts of unusual merit compose the vaudeville bill at the Orpheum theater today.

The Colonial Four have wonderful voices and a great program and they are capable of getting real harmony out of the present-day jazz numbers. It is a beautiful number in every way—good singing, harmony, color, genuine, most entertaining and high-class act.

Dancebo without a doubt is one of the best whistlers in the world. He whistles five distinct tones and is a talented young man with an excellent singing voice, capable of holding down any spot on any bill.

Berry and Smith have played all the best houses in America and come with an act that is somewhat out of the ordinary, inasmuch as it consists of a little of everything—two songs, dance, play instruments and do acrobatic dancing. It is a prettily conceived novelty, well presented and should prove one of the really entertaining hits of the season.

Howard and Hill, past masters of bitum comedy, are billed "Nonense, Nothing But!" They are versatile and talk nonsensical nonsense that makes one laugh and wish for more. An enterprising theater has it on many of their competitors and they evidently share the amusement with their auditors. It is to laugh.

The Larasolas are performers of unique ability and their act is a treat to viewers of the circus variety. They have one of the best acts of its kind in vaudeville and on the American stage today. This act has played France, Cuba and other foreign countries and will be a real treat to any audience.

AT THE IDAHO.
Rumors that Cecil B. DeMille is grooming another Gloria Swanson have been coming out of Hollywood ever since work began on that director's latest Paramount production, "The Golden Bed," which will be the feature the balance of the week, starting today, at the Idaho theater.

DeMille gave screen tests to 40 of Hollywood's most famous beauties before he selected Miss Rich, an blond changed her from a brunette to a blond before acceptance.

Commenting upon the change, DeMille said: "I am quite aware that Miss Rich has scored, post success as a a brunette, but when I tested her as a blonde for my picture I found she fitted into her work with a new deftness that her natural interpretive qualities were greatly enhanced when the 'fringe' was changed."

An honest man's word

More than three hundred years ago, Miguel de Cervantes said: "An honest man's word is as good as his bond." Advertisers must be honest men, if they would remain advertisers. Their announcements are signed. They must tell the truth in their advertising. For their own protection, as well as yours.

What would it profit a man to advertise "Pure, virgin wool suits," only to have you discover they were shoddy? You would soon separate the sheep from the cotton. And you would never deal with that man again. And, further, you would tell all your acquaintances what a skinflint he was.

As a matter of business, if not of personal principle, an advertiser must tell the truth in his signed announcements. That's what makes the advertising columns of this paper such reliable guides to honest merchandise. The printed announcements are bonds between you and the advertiser.

Read the advertisements. Read them regularly. To be informed on the newest and best in everything. To save hours of shopping. To make the family purse do a bigger, better job. To get goods of known quality at the most attractive price.

You would not plan a motor trip without first consulting road maps and guide books. Is it logical to plan a shopping trip without first consulting the advertisements? Read the advertisements. Then go to the stores with your mind more than half made up.

A signed advertisement is, in effect, a sealed bond between you and the advertiser.

Players Questioned by District Attorney in Effort to Get to Bottom of Bribery Charges Made.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The district attorney's investigation into the Dolan-O'Connell bribery scandal was continued today when Horace Ford, second baseman of the Philadelphia Nationals, was questioned as to his knowledge of the $300 bribe offered to Heine D. Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, by Jimmy O'Connell, New York outfielder, in a game here near the close of last season. Ford, it was understood, told Assistant District Attorney Brothers, in charge of the probe, that his first knowledge of the affair came when Sand took him into his confidence after the game. According to the testimony taken before Commissioner Landis, Ford advised Sand to "use his own judgment." Subsequently Sand related his story to Arthur Fischer, manager of the Phillies.

Two Other Figures. The examination of Ford followed interrogation yesterday of two other figures in the scandal, Frank Fritch, captain of the Giants, and Sand. There will be interviewed during the next few days in an effort to uncover any basis for grand jury action and indictments.

Fletcher was to have come here next Friday but his hearing has been postponed until Monday, Mr. Brothers announced.

John Couch, Philadelphia pitcher, and George Kelly, Giant first baseman, will arrive here the latter part of the week in response to request for their appearance.

Gaston Again in Classic

"SMOKEY" GASTON, holder of the 1923 championship in the classic American Dog Derby at Ashton is training a new team for what is expected to be a sensational "come-back" at the 1925 trial on February 23.

ASHTON, Idaho, Jan. 27.—With Bud Kent credited with two wins against permanent possession of the American dog derby cup, Smokey Gaston, with one, and Olcott Zarn, present holder of the championship title all in the race contest, in the snow trail classic which will be run this year on February 23, approaches a climax that is expected to make it the most spectacular in the history of the famous event. Further emphasis has been put three times for permanent ownership, and possession of the trophy means more to its winner than any one year's championship. It will signify that he is the winner of a competition that has extended over years, of trail contests, the premier trialman of the country.

It is possible for Kent to win this year. It is possible for either Zarn or Gaston to gain one more leg of the contest and even up with Kent. But there will be a field of other starters comprising one of the greatest groups of fast sled dogs and drivers ever assembled in this country, of the north to fight the issue, and it is possible to implant an entirely new name on the alternative. The dog derby cup was presented four years ago by the Laramie and Pocatello jewelry company of Salt Lake, and backed up by his cash purse which are debited in the year. It has been the goal for some of the most spectacular races ever run with team and sled over the snow trails. Crack formations have come to Ashton to fight it, and they have returned to their homes with the trophy. In defending the championship and contesting for it, drivers have become nationally known. Young Kent, "The Kid," Kent, Gaston, Loyl Hutchinson have become familiar to newspaper and magazine readers the country over. Another UV team year struggle for Earnestness Pays Best. No honor man dare play the trifter. The very thought is repugnant to him. He wants to be rated 100 per cent a man. He wants his word to count for full measure. So he rises above the fecklessness of the trifter. He becomes known for what he does and what he stands for. He may not always realize his ideal, but he tries to make every effort worthy of the name he bears. By acting the man he becomes better than his fellows and his rise to power is the reward of doing what is best. He knows that talent is counted in the recognized trifter, and sees to it that he keeps above suspicion. There's nothing in the trifting game to make a man covet it. There is much to make it despised.

Representatives of a number of churches appeared before the house for a legislative committee to urge participation in the world court. Several changes in key positions at the department of justice in addition to the retirement of Attorney General Stone. And the Sun and Herald comments: "The persistence of the alternate names of the river is one of the local idiosyncrasies of this big town, which is such a curious mixture of old and new, of the ripe fruit and the raw material." # SENATE REFUSES TO ELIMINATE SPECIAL RATE

Preferential Charge Allowed Certain Classes of Publications Remains Unaltered Following Vote.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The senate today refused to eliminate the present preferential mail rate allowed religious, educational, scientific and philanthropic publications, adopting by a vote of 51 to 39 an amendment to the postal law which increases the bill by Senator Butler, republican, Massachusetts, to retain the present rate of 1/2 cents a pound on the advertising sections of such periodicals.

The vote had the effect of reversing the recommendation of the senate post office committee, which favored a uniform rate for all publications, including those in the special classifications.

At the conclusion of the day's debate on the bill which centered about proposed changes in the zone rates affecting the advertising sections of publications, Senator George, democrat, Georgia, urged elimination of the postal law and rate increase bill and a reduction to three cent effect in the fiscal year 1919-1920. A vote on this proposal went over until tomorrow.

Rejection of Bill.

Elimination of the proposed increases in rates would mean ultimate rejection of the entire bill, providing also for postal salary advances, Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, declared during the debate, but Senator George argued that the reduction he proposed would tend to increase rather than reduce revenue to the government.

Reading the testimony of witnesses before the joint congressional committee which conducted hearings on the bill, Senator George declared 800,000,000 pieces had been driven from the second class service by advances already made in the rates. These would return, he argued, to the government.

The rates suggested by Senator George were 1 cent a pound for the first zone, two cents for the third zone, three cents for the fourth zone, 3 1/2 cents for the fifth zone; four cents for the sixth zone; five cents for the seventh zone, and 5 1/2 cents for the eighth zone, all applicable to advertising sections of publications.

Rate Proposal.

The bill proposes rates of three cents for the first three zones, six cents for the next three zones and eight cents for the last two, and these are less than recommended by the postoffice department.

Early lines were broken in the vote on the preferential rate amendment. Senator Simmons, democrat, North Carolina, led the first for the proposal, which was vigorously opposed by Senator Moses who argued that the preferential rate was unfair to general publications. Senator Simmons insisted it was a well established principle of congress to allow preference for educational, religious, scientific and similar organizations.

Principles of Justice.

Declaring the action obtained by the Morgan estate against Owenby in a supreme court decision to be "a precedent which would be a stain on the law," Senator Heflin said he would judge Mr. Stone's "conception of the intent of the constitution" by his argument in that case.

"Mr. Stone is going to his aid and requires him to do anything in the face of a case which denies to the person proceeded against due process of law," the Alabama senator asserted. "No attorney is justified in taking advantage of or solemnly invoking the aid of the courts which would deprive the humblest citizen of the right to appear in court and be heard in reply to the complaint filed against him."

Debate on H. B. 16

After taking up practically the entire day's session with debate on House Bill No. 16, proposing to make the Idaho Technical Institute at Pocatello a four-year college, members of the lower branch of the eighteenth Idaho legislature today defeated the measure by a vote of 25 for the bill and 30 against it. Six members paired their votes and one member was absent.

It was a distinct fight between north and south Idaho; the south contending that by virtue of paying a larger proportion of taxes, having the larger assessed valuation and showing a greater gain in population it was entitled to a school of higher learning. The north with its best against the wall, held out for an undivided state, one Idaho and one university.

Ada County Stand

Ada county's delegation, having no fiscal interest in the bill and desiring to be guided by the best interests of the state, probably defeated the measure, one of its members said. As one man the five voted against the bill. It was learned that the delegation was not determined on which side it would vote until late this morning when word was received by them that the state board of education was against the bill. Had they voted for it the result of the roll call would have been exactly opposite.

"Debate was concluded at the morning session and a recess was taken at noon until 2 o'clock in the afternoon."

Benjamin F. Kerlin, Lately Returned From Minnesota, Believed Not Hurt Seriously.

Benjamin F. Kerlin, former pastor of the Church of the Brethren here, walking on the highway about a mile east of here at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening was struck down and injured by a truck driven by Homer Hollister of this city. Belief that Mr. Kerlin's injuries were not serious was expressed by a physician who made an examination in his office where the injured man was taken by the truck driver. Injuries apparently were confined to Mr. Kerlin's head and left shoulder. Mr. Kerlin was removed after the examination to his home southwest of this city. He had recently returned with his family from Minnesota, where they had spent several years.

Rain obscured the view of both the driver and Mr. Kerlin, who was leaning over on the highway when the accident occurred. The driver stated that he did not see Mr. Kerlin until too late to stop the heavy truck. Mr. Kerlin was thrown to the pavement by the impact and fell clear of the car's wheels, it is believed.

Believing that the cattle industry is suffering through lack of tariff protection, the report said such protection also was needed on certain oil-bearing products of plant or animal origin and for certain phases of the dried fruit industry. The commission refrained from making specific recommendations as to the tariff but it "nevertheless wishes to be understood as sympathetically recognizing the need of protecting our agricultural commodities."

GROWERS OBTAIN MONTANA BEANS

Carload of Seed Leaves Billings to Supply Needs of Southern Idaho Association.

A carload of 60,000 pounds of Great Northern beans, raised on the dry land farms in the vicinity of Billings, are the Billings (Montana) Gazette in a recent issue, was recently shipped by Gray and Gray of Twin Falls, Idaho to be used as seed by the Southern Idaho Bean Growers' association, the largest producers of Great Northern beans in the United States. The day the shipment left Billings, after an examination of the beans, stated that they were the best he had ever inspected. The Montana raised bean is considered a source of color and size.

The shipment was one of the first made by the local company to be used for seed purposes. All the others have been used for food. During 1924 local carloads of 60,000 pounds each were sent into Missouri, Colorado, Kansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Maryland and West Virginia, Oklahoma and Idaho. The men to whom the beans were shipped were so pleased that they requested a second shipment. The Montana Great Northern bean, in the last two or three years, has gained a foothold in the east and south and the market is increasing rapidly. It is expected that within a short time another shipment of seed beans will leave Billings for the western part of the state where they will be used to plant 2000 acres during the coming season in a section where beans have not been previously grown to any extent.
