Witnesses in Investigation of Collins' Entombment Tell Strange Stories of Influence of Famous Grotto.

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 11 (AP)—The state official inquiry into the Sand cave rumors relating to Floyd Collins late today turned again into the line of "how rumors." Previous witnesses had been examined at great length concerning rumors that a crime might have been committed, or that it was a publicity stunt, as well as to the early attempts to rescue the man.

There was something in Sand cave that unnerved the best men and all of them were absolutely motionless when they came out. William Hanson, twin mortal wound, before the military court of inquiry today.

Asked by Captain Alexander M. Cheney if there had been any disorder before or after the rescue, Hanson replied that there had been some disorder, but since the arrival of soldiers everything became smooth and most orderly manner.

Samuel H. Matlack of Louisville was recalled to the stand because a telegram from Louisville to the Herald stating that Matlack had been made a member of the rescue party.

Leo Collins, father of the entombed man. Recalling Mr. Collins on the witness stand yesterday he meant an error and that his only criticism of William B. Miller, Louisville newspaperman, was that his paper had given him so much publicity it had gone to his head.

AGRICULTURE IN BETTER BALANCE THAN IN 3 YEARS

Report of Federal Reserve Board Indicates that Position of Farm Industry is Steadily Improving.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—With the acute and lower agriculture continues to improve more rapidly than the problem of drafting farm relief legislation by enactment by the present congress, the federal reserve board reported today that agriculture had climbed to a better balance with other industries at an earlier date than 1924.

The agricultural business gives an indication, the board's monthly report, of receding from its first economic position which had been reached by a gradual advance beginning in the late summer of last year.

A similar condition was presented to the senate committee today by William R. Justice, a member of the president's agricultural conference, who expressed "satisfactory optimism" for the future of the farming industry and declared the farmer was passing through "a period of transition from which his recovery was certain."

Before the house committee, Chairman Carey of the conference, endorsed "satisfactory" negotiations within which his recovery was certain.

SWEDISH ECONOMIC CONDITION IS GOOD ACCORDING TO REPORT

Stockholm, Feb. 11 (AP)—Health stability of Swedish economic conditions is good, contrasted with the depressing effect of the disproportion between industrial wages and market conditions, are the keynotes of the fourth official quarterly report of the Royal board of trade.

The balancing of accounts for the fiscal year 1924-25 shows a budget surplus of $11,041,000, the principal source of this excess revenue being the import duties and the earnings of various state enterprises, such as the state railways. The total foreign trade is increasing rapidly, with the exports gaining faster than the imports.

The Swedish iron and steel industry has prospered, the principal mining company, declaring a dividend of 5 per cent for 1924, as against 2 per cent the year before.

The iron and steel and machine industry are depressed, owing to the fact that the steel market is still in the market scarcely cover the cost of production. A process of wage readjustment is being gone through, which, it is hoped, will restore a fair margin of profit and encourage expansion.

Swedish lumber sales during 1924 amounted to about 100 per cent of the normal production. By the end of December more than 100,000,000 board feet of lumber were on hand, which is 45 per cent more than the corresponding figure a year earlier.

The total exports of Swedish wood pulp during the first nine months of 1924 reached 252,280 tons, as compared with 232,441 during the corresponding period of 1923.

WOULD PROTECT PARTY COUNSELS

LaFollette Insurgents Subject of Plans by Regulars With Respect to Coming Caucus.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—Tribulation to carry out the intentions of barring a dozen LaFollette insurgents from future party caucuses, republican house leaders today mapped out a plan to expel the trouble-makers from the national caucus if any attempt is made to participate.

Representative Trendelenburg of Missouri announced he would offer a resolution to expel from the caucus any member who is not a member of the regular party organization, "brought up" by the supporters of the republican ticket during the 1924 campaign, and there were indications that the measure would have wide support.

Mr. Trendelenburg's bill, announced after Representative Sinclair of North Carolina had declared he would attend and would stay there until "voted out." He explained his intention today and the prohibition was made that one or more members of the Wisconsin delegation might also attempt to take part in the caucus.

WHEAT PRICES DROP SHARPLY

Heavy Export Purchase of Flour Causes Grain Trade to Give Way to Near Panic.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 (AP)—In the face of announcement of the largest export purchase of flour ever—$10 million—the grain trade today gave way to near panic. For at least the time being, all talk of any ultimate scarcity of breadstuffs was forgotten.

Wheat prices broke to 1 1/4 cents and 8 1/2 cents compared with the day's top figures. Most wheat quoted recently at 1 1/4 cents and 8 1/2 cents, a loss of 2 1/2 cents a bushel.

By a peculiar combination of circumstances, the upset in the confidence of buyers is reported to have originated in lack of demand for feed grain rather than for wheat and rye, the leading trade materials. The use of all grains, however, are to a certain extent interchangeable and the ratio of values for each cereal is only elastic within definite limits as against other grains. Today the limits appeared to have been stretched to their latest degree.

Corn Bumpy Headway
With a viable supply of corn about three times as large as a year ago and with stocks of oats also of unusual dimensions, neither corn nor oats today could be lifted in price, when wheat showed its pronounced disposition to ascend.

In "Wall" news was confirmed that Russia, formerly one of the greatest buyers of wheat, was at present in each straits for supplies that she had purchased over eight 1,000,000 barrels of flour. One reason advanced as to why the news failed to arouse any buying enthusiasm in the wheat market was that the flour purchased was of Canadian origin.

Whether in addition to recent proposals to limit price fluctuations and in various ways official investigations had disclosed and speculative buying the fact was quickly made evident that the wheat market was in no position to withstand heavy selling. Efforts of wheat owners who sought to realize profits on today's advance found the market bare of adequate buying support.

CLUB OWNERS NOT TO BUILD BALL MEMORIAL

American League Magnates Decide to Call Off $100,000 Monument Plan; Place Ban on Exhibition Game in Spring

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 11 (AP)—Club owners of the American League, meeting with President Kenesaw Mountain Landis' administration, voted to withdraw their offer to build a $100,000 monument to baseball in Washington, D. C., and adopted a resolution prohibiting future spring exhibitions game between continents of previous world's series.

The club owners after studying the 1925 schedule, also adopted a plan for a definite schedule for world's series games and ratified the proposal of the baseball advisory council that the baseball "hall" in the pennant race should be awarded to the victor of the world's series play. The proposal to increase the pay of umpires in the world's series from $100 to $150 in city series from $50 to $75, was approved.

Meeting Harmonious. The meeting, with President Johnson presiding, was the directing force in harmonizing in every respect the club owners evidently trying to forget their nation of two months ago in writing their famous letter to Landis regarding Johnson and removing him as a member of the advisory council.

Action to prohibit exhibition games between world's series contestants was taken after the Giants and Senators, participating in the 1924 series, had arranged an extensive schedule of games during their spring training. The action of the club owners will not necessitate the cancellation of the Giant-Senators' games but no such games will be permitted in the future.

Meets Opposition. The offer to build the monument at East Potomac park, Washington, was withdrawn in view of the fact that the proposal had met with opposition, such that it came up in congress. It had been proposed to erect the monument at a cost of $100,000 and on the monument the names of the most valuable players in the league, selected annually, were to be inscribed. President Johnson said an other plan was proposed. The new world's series schedule provides for games 1, 2, 6 and 7 in the 1925 series to be played in the city which was the National league pennant with games 3, 4 and 5 in the American league city. The following year the series will open in the American league rotating annually.

A provision was made that the advisory council shall have power to change the schedule if it should happen that a city in which Sunday baseball is not permitted should win the pennant. The action taken at the joint meeting in Chicago last December, providing that first year purchase players might be sent out on a loan for two years without asking for waivers, was approved.

TELLS REVIVAL PURPOSE

High points in the sermon on the subject, "What is a Revival, Anyway?" delivered by Dr. E. P. Luce, evangelist, at the Methodist church here Wednesday evening, were the following:—Christianity is a continual, vital, it is worth fighting for.

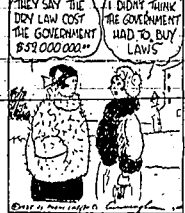

It is a continually means everything, it is means nothing. "A God given revival is a God given revolution. It is a true revival means self-education along three lines: Is my business honest and square in God's sight? Is my life kind and free in the home? Do I love God supremely?"

—To love things more than God is to break out one commitment, but all commitments. —To love things more than God is to break out one commitment, but all commitments. —To love things more than God is to break out one commitment, but all commitments.

—To get right with God—the greatest asset that any man can have is the habit of "right knowledge" that he is right with God and man.

Governor is Opposed. It has developed Governor C. C. Little, after much deliberation, has said if the bill passes the three-eighths must be deducted from the general ad valorem levy if the sum of the two is greater than the levy of two years ago.

The house will, in all probability pass house bill No. 125 providing that couples desiring to marry shall give 10 days' notice to the county recorder who is required to post such notice in the court house. This bill was before the house yesterday for final consideration but some of its friends thought it should be amended to remove certain defects that might, if it were enacted into law, prevent it from being workable. These defects were corrected today by amendments and it was reported back to the house for recommitment that it no longer is amended. It was introduced by Dewey of Canyon.

Farm Institute Lecturer Delivers Powerful Address on Subject, "Our Neighbors."

HANSEN, Feb. 11 (Special to The News)—A powerful address delivered this evening by E. T. Thornd of the International Harvester company, on the subject "Our Neighbors," was a crowning feature of the second day's sessions of the second annual Hansen corn show and farmers' institute that was opened here Monday evening to continue for four days. Her neighbors, the speaker asserted, are all those with whom we rub elbows, in the community as well as in larger groups. A whole well-acted policy, he declared, is an impossibility, and a policy can be successful only when it benefits alike all that it affects.

From C. Moore, poultry specialist of the University of Idaho, extension division, who spoke at the closing session of the institute Thursday evening on "The Importance of Agriculture."

Lecture Topics. Mr. Elmer at the morning session discussed farm acre's with reference especially to corn, and his subject this afternoon was "Cooperative Marketing." Speakers at the women's session this afternoon were Miss Zella Wigert of the International Harvester company, who spoke on the pressure kettle for cooking and Mrs. Esther N. REGULATION OF HOUSES TO HOUSES

Business Men at Dinner Meeting Declare in Favor of Measure for Protection of Community and Consumer.

A meeting of about 50 Twin Falls business men at a merchants' banquet, Tuesday evening at the Elks Club, following discussion of provisions of an ordinance adopted in Portland to regulate activities of home-to-home peddlers and peddlers, authorized by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of three members to Twin Falls municipal commission with reference to it in the morning in Twin Falls ordinance will view pertain to production of the community and consumer.

Bliss' Case Indorsed.

In connection with discussion of this case the committee of commerce (blue card) system for regulating activities of peddlers for contributions from business men was made a topic for debate, with the result that the meeting voted unanimously for retention of the system.

Price Rise and Fall.

On this occasion also Irvin Gray, manager here for the American Express company, announced a reduction in express transportation ranging from 10 to 25 per cent to be made effective March 1, next, and W. Zeena Smith of the Tolan Bakery announced that the price of bread in Twin Falls would be advanced one cent a loaf beginning to day in consequence of increasing prices of wheat and flour.

Viewpoints Clash.

Discussion of measures for regulating activities of peddlers and peddlers, with expressions from opposing viewpoints when a representative of a concern that employs canvassing in sale of its wares, expressed views in formal session of the several subjects presented.
