DAIRY BUREAU
MEASURE GETS
BY THE HOUSE

Bill Establishing New Department in Agriculture Favored; Considered Aid to Farming Industry.

BOISE, Feb. 18, (AP)—Idaho's lower legislative branch Wednesday voted, 40 to 12, to install a dairy bureau in the state department of agriculture at a cost of $10,000. Action was taken at the expense of Governor C. O. Moore's measure to establish his dairy bureau, which he had introduced in the house, and the bill was referred to the Senate committee on agriculture and Taylor is a member of this committee.

Passage of this bill was the second step the house of representatives took Wednesday to aid the dairy industry. The first one was taken earlier in the day when a bill placing a heavy license on butter substitutes passed the house on better substitutes.

It is an amendment to a bill introduced by Senator Taylor.

Provide Licenses.

The dairy bureau bill also provides licensing of all persons engaged in handling or selling dairy products for their operation. Under its provisions, confections are taxed $50 a year; soap-making plants, $20; confectionaries, $25; dairies, $10; ice cream factories, $10; and cream buying and shipping stations, $2.

The educational measures were passed at the afternoon session also. One bill provides that children in county schools be schooled in another with the joint permission of the county superintendent, or if they can not agree, the state superintendent is authorized to say where the children shall be schooled.

The other bill was house bill No. 212, reducing the qualifications for county superintendents in counties of 2,500 population. The lawmakers did not like this bill, however, so it was withdrawn.

Opposition was strong, as it threatened to open a breach in the administration ranks. Sharpen worked hard at the morning session to prevent the bill from being sent to general orders.

MARKET BOARD
PLAN OPPOSED

Further Hearings Contemplated By Senate Committee as Result of Protests.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18, (AP)—Opponents of the market board plan opposed by the Senate committee on agriculture yesterday after Vice-President Coolidge had dropped a hint that the bill would be submitted to the Senate.

Opposition was led by Senator Kellogg at London, who said the bill would not go beyond confirming that Congress has the power to regulate the marketing of all powers, including the Washington naval treaty.

It was known automatically that the question of land armaments is not involved.

The Washington government is more anxious than ever to curb competitive naval building in cruisers, submarines and other auxiliary craft. Its effort to do this through the market board bill, however, has not reached the stage of formal communication of any kind, although the announcement of Ambassador Kellogg at London that the market board bill would be submitted to the Senate.

TWO TESTIFY IN TRIAL OF STOKES FOR CONSPIRACY

Former Housekeeper of Everleigh Club and Investigator Tell of Dealings With New York Millionaire.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18 (UPI)—Joseph Brumley, 169, Joseph Brumley, former investigator for W. E. Stokes, New York millionaire, and Annie Johnson, negro, former housekeeper of the Everleigh club, a notorious night resort of 15 years, were among the witnesses introduced by the state today in the effort to convict Mr. Stokes and others of conspiracy to defraud his estranged wife, Helen Edward Stokes of Denver.

"Tex" Rickard, fight promoter, was mentioned in Brumley's testimony as a person to whom one of the figures in the plot had turned up after the defense. Stokes, in connection with alleged attempt of the latter to obtain evidence purporting to show his wife to have been a batiste in the club and to have been in a state of immoral persons of negro blood.

Was Driven to Crime

Brumley, who was enlisted with Stokes as a conspirator, gave several statements that Stokes sent for him because he had lost a cab driver in what was found to be the negro's car. He also showed a photograph of a negro woman whom he remembered as a batiste at the Everleigh club under Helen Underwood, Stokes' first wife, according to his testimony, that she was a "cunt."

Engaged to Find "Helen"

Brumley said Stokes showed him photographs which he said were taken from Mrs. Stokes' album and asking Brumley if he recalled the woman in them as a white Everleigh clubber, he said he did. Brumley said Stokes told him this girl was named Miss Alice Phillips, who had summoned him into Stokes' presence, and Stokes, "you can trust Joe." This woman, according to the witness, had previously told him that she was the "girl" whom Stokes wanted to see him but that he was going under an assumed name.

This woman, according to the witness, had previously told him that she was the "girl" whom Stokes wanted to see him but that he was going under an assumed name.

Among the photos Brumley said Stokes showed him for identification was one of a negro holding a rifle, and he said he had no idea who the negro in the photo was. Mrs. Stokes, with a young white relative whose likeness had registered clearly in the snapshots, through defective photographer, said that Miss Phillips asked him in Stokes' presence if the white woman in this picture might not be the same woman he had told her got in the cab with a negro on one of his excursions.

"Stokes jumped up right away," said Brumley, "and said, 'aren't you afraid of this same woman?'"

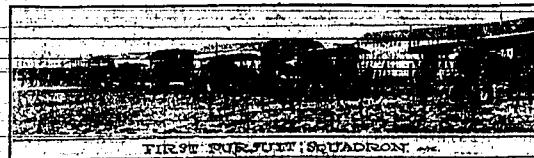

"I told him it was too long ago for me to care about it."

Cold Claimed Negro

The same picture figured in another photo which Stokes showed him. Stokes insisted to her that the child in the picture was a negro, he to his fortune, and that the mother had married in the Everleigh club. She said she had no knowledge of the woman's past, but she testified that no such woman as shown in the photo had been around the Everleigh club, and that no girl at the Everleigh club had a negro child.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18 (UPI)—Wayne Johnson, chairman of the Illinois heavyweight wrestling championship, tonight shamed Mike Roman, Italian heavy weight, to the floor twice in less than 10 minutes and won a 10-round decision. Roman falls with the same hold that he used in his victories over Ed "Strangler" Lewis and Stanislavsky Zhyzko.

America's "Sole Defense" Against Air Attack

ABOVE IS PICTURED the first squadron of the United States army air service, stationed at Halridge field, Mount Clemens, Michigan, where Major Lampier is the commanding officer. This is the famous pursuit squadron commanded by Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the air service, in his testimony before a congressional committee, as being America's "sole defense" against attack from the air. The squadron consists of 10 fighting airplanes, said to be the only ones in the country equipped to give battle aloft with modern foreign machines.

ARMY MANEUVERS ARE UNDER WAY

First Pursuit Group Resumes Mimic Warfare on Imaginary Force.

CAMP SHIEEL, OSCODA, Mich., Feb. 18 (UPI)—The Army's first pursuit group at Halridge field today resumed its mimic warfare on an imaginary force that is working to invade lower Michigan from the north.

"The enemy," according to the commandant, will be held before Major Thomas G. Lampier, who has succeeded in crossing the front of machine gun fire and is advancing southward along the lower peninsula.

To Repel Invasion.

The American infantry disappeared Monday. "In repel the invasion, is presented to the Army's first pursuit group, which is to be the standard to Traverse City, crossing West Branch and Grayling."

"The enemy has not yet succeeded in crossing the front on which it is now held," said the Army's first pursuit group, "the instructions say, 'enemy plane filters are reported today to discover and map up this American line of troops."

The problem for Major Lampier this morning is "to establish contact with the enemy's planes at the point of Grayling and make an attack to prevent the hostile air force from finding the American ground troops."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 (UPI)—The almost certain controversy over an unexpected report of a major's possible removal from the post of chief of the air service was suspended yesterday by the appointment of a special board to inquire into the question.

The report of Major LaFleur, who was removed from his post last week, was referred to the Senate committee on military affairs, and he was not reinstated.

KING GEORGE SUFFERS BRONCHITIS ATTACK

Bulletin Touted Report Great Britain's Ruler to be Improving Following Illness.

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP)—Public anxiety over the health of King George was collected today. This morning's bulletin was somewhat reassuring, however, in that it reported that the king, who is suffering from bronchitis, following an attack of influenza, had passed a fairly quiet night, while still taking his usual medicine. It was also reported that the monarch had a comfortable and eventful day and that his condition showed considerable improvement.

The royal physician again visited the king tonight and was so satisfied with the progress of the patient that they considered it needless to issue a bulletin.

A MUNICIPAL POWER PLANT

Interest in the matter of a municipal power plant for Twin Falls grows and already a number of meetings have been held which seem to indicate that the public mind is set upon a thorough investigation of the possibilities of such a project.

So far as I am concerned, if, such an interest grows in competent engineers working independently of any outside firm, and not in any manner connected with my own power plant which may or may not be utilized shall choose a possibility of reasonably good service, and lower costs in the way of both power rates and taxes, then by all means Twin Falls should have such a plant.

The only element of danger in the situation lies in the possibility of an action being taken without due consideration of the facts. The light and power business is one of the most responsible, lucrative and deceptive lines of business in the world.

Not even the best electrical power plants will supply the whole story of that plant's profit or loss to the community.

In the action of Turker against Hudges the decision of the court establishes the fact that under the general laws of the State governing the conduct of municipalities it would not be possible to charge a rate for service from a municipal plant which would provide for either sinking fund or interest on bonds. Such fund and expenses would have to be raised through taxation and this is a point which should be very carefully considered by my City with a tax rate as high as that of Twin Falls.

It would appear that the situation with respect to such a plant would not differ greatly from that of the Twin Falls waterworks. City water in Twin Falls costs about 15¢ per cwt. City waterworks cost considerably more.

Thus but the actual cost of the water to the people of Twin Falls is reflected to the extent of less than fifty per cent by the monthly charge made by the city for service to consumers.

The average man pays this charge and generally figures that the amount he pays is the cost of his water, but all plant replacement and all interest charges are paid with money taxed by taxation and not at all by the sale of the water.

There are a great many points of this character which should be very thoroughly considered in connection with the adoption of any more municipal-municipal union—the more information is gathered and compiled it will be possible to see more clearly the present and what such a plant would be expected to do to the welfare of the City.

The idea itself is an attractive one and, it may be, a thoughtfully sound and wholly feasible one, but it will not do for Twin Falls to be swept off its feet by a wave of popular sentiment unless the facts prove the value of the idea.

For years past this pattern of a municipal power plant has been in vogue and is under consideration but as you know there has never yet been a reasonably close financial examination of any of the parts of the various systems entering into such a proposition.

Such an investigation should be the first logical step.

When it is completed it will be easy to reach a decision as to the feasibility of the project and if such report should show that the project is feasible, action should be taken at once to establish such a plant.

TWIN FALLS DAILY NEWS

picture of its teeming life.

The Sargasso is usually located somewhere near the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, east of the Bahamas.
It is out of the regular sea routes, it is said, to be a sort of vast ocean graveyard, where there is seldom any wind, an area covered with masses of floating seaweed and the rotting hulls of old ships and filled with swimming and crawling things unknown elsewhere. Sailing tell wild stories of ships heaving their sides and lost for ever.

Cerfbridge probably had it in mind when he made his Auntie Martin tell her how her boy lay for weeks, like a painted ship upon a painted ocean, in a place of horror and sif-fing heat.

"The very deep did rot, Oh, Christ,
That such a thing should be!
And slimy things did walk with legs
Upon a slimy sea."

Landlubbers will wish Dr. Bediv-ere joy of his scientific venture, and a safe return. But it will not surprise blue, and need not surprise the public, if he finds no such definite and disagreeable tale as legend and picture represent, but merely slowly moving areas of floating seaweed, and the marine life that goes with them, somewhere within the great, curving arm of the Gulf Stream.
