BABE RUTH NOT BROKE OR READY FOR SCRAP HEAP

New York Yankees Secretary Says Famous Ball Player Has Five Years at Least of Ball Playing to Do; Denies Story.

NEW YORK. March 11.—Babe Ruth is "far from broke" and has "at least five more years" of major league campaigning ahead of him. This was the statement tonight of E. G. Barrow, secretary of the New York baseball team. With Ruth, he said, article published today in a New York newspaper asserting that the Yankee star was "gravelled and fat," has nothing to show for his speculation. Ruth, however, asserted that day he had been "knocked out" and that his "last days are behind him."

The New York club has no facts concerning the full truth brought against Ruth, pointing out of alleged racing debts, paid by Barrow, and the assertions that Ruth is broke and a physical wreck. Evidently he does not vigorously. I know that the Babe has worked hard faithfully this year, the rest before him. In all, I believe, for what he hopes will be one of his best years. When the battle staged with his waist line at Hot Springs.

Injury to Finger.
He is now suffering from a slight injury to his finger, but his general condition, according to all "informed" have from Manager Huggins, is excellent and there is no reason why Ruth will not be in top form again. The remarkable performances he has made over the past few years.

"As far Ruth's financial condition, I can say with authority that he has funds enough to last him a long time. His salary is $25,000 under contract with the Yankees, $25,000 more to run. Taking into consideration his earnings outside the game, I would place Ruth's net income at between $70,000 and $75,000."

"Under an arrangement Ruth has with Colonel Stupack, president of the club, a good share of his salary is held in trust for him by the club. It may be true in the just that Ruth has gambled away a good deal of his money and spent unwisely at times, but I can say that Ruth has turned over a new leaf in this respect. He does not patronize the race now."

THE CHANGING CONSUMER

Trade figures show marked changes in the habits of the American people.
Here are a few of them mentioned by Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance:

We are buying less furniture, less meat, fewer eggs and shoes, more fruit, more sugar and candy and more coffee and tea. All of these are significant as regards the consumers' manner of life and all of them involve big business changes.

People are buying less furniture, apparently, because they are living less in apartments, which require less. They are buying less meat because they are being converted, for health reasons, to a diet containing more fruit and vegetables. They are buying fewer hats and shoes because riding so much in automobiles, they need them less and need their hat and shoes money to buy gasoline. They are eating more sweet fruits and drinking more tea and coffee because these are natural substitutes for alcohol.

Some of these changes are obviously good, especially a lighter diet and elimination of absolute drinks. But there ought to be more shoe wear out, giving the wearer a more wholesome by-product of exercise than they can get behind steering wheels; and there ought to be less sugar eaten, for the good of the nation's strength and other internal organs.

TEACHING SPORTS IN FILMS

Foreign languages, singing and reducing voices may be learned with the aid of a phonograph and the proper records. In the British Isles movie patrons may learn what to do and what not to do in many different sports such as running, rowing, walking, tennis, golf, boxing and racing.

The instructive films are known as Stall's Sporting Life Series, and are said to be fascinating as well as accurate.
Recognized experts in the sports depicted demonstrate the right methods to go through. The rapid cameras make it possible to show these activities with exaggerated slow motion so that every individual movement may be studied. An Olympic Games champion runner, Suzanne Leugren, the French tennis star, well known golf and boxing experts and other figures familiar to the British sport, if not to all of Europe and America, take part.

The pictures are said to be "fascinating with humor" as well as "packed with information," and they are enjoyed by both professional and amateur sportsmen or athletes and even by persons not usually interested in sports.

There are many who would enjoy such pictures. But here the news ends, and the educational films are usually too long a part of any movie program, and are hurried through with to get to the supposedly more desirable thrills of the screen drama.

THE RESPONSIBLE GENERATION

A prominent Canadian is quoted as saying that a boy Scout membership of thirty thousand would just about remake Canada in a generation. He said also:

"It is within the power of the boys and women of one generation to give such a setting for the social and spiritual life of the next generation.
As to greatly affect its character. Can we not now marshal the intelligence, the will and the aspirations of the people to make that setting such as will bring the hope of all the ages, the hope of peace, happiness and noble endeavor, nearer realization?"

There have lately been evidences of a reaction against popular despair over the younger generation. De-luders have risen in many quarters to urge the public to have faith in the boys and girls.

The youngsters are bound to have some of their own, to assert their independence in ways disconcerting to their elders, but to any one who sees the problem surely there is very little that is really new or alarming in this situation. And it is just as well, now and then, to have those old-fogies remind the men and women of any generation that they not only have it within their power to influence their children, greatly, but that their influence is inevitable. Certainly the complainers and wailers might much better be looking at themselves to discover whether they are giving the young generation the right setting for its best spiritual and social growth.

GAS ON STOMACH
MADE HER NERVOUS

For many years Mrs. Conley had on the stomach a nervous and short of breath. Finally she took Aderika and it did her a world of good. Aderika helps any gas on the stomach unless due to deep seated intestinal trouble. It is the best remedy for constipation—it often works in one hour and never gripes.

NEW YORK, March 11 (UPI) — Heavy liquidation of St. Paul Issues, which had been the leading issue on the market, on the widespread circulation of unconfirmed rumors that a reorganization of the railroad was inevitable because of its reported inability to meet heavy financial obligations, coincided with another sharp break in wheat prices unsettled today's stock market. The extreme decline in the active issues ranged from one to five points, with a few minor gains in the more stable stocks. Heavy buying of the stocks and quietness—but before the close—brought about a partial recovery.

St. Paul common sold at a loss of 1.5 points, while the preferred closed at a loss of 2.14 points on the day. The preferred showed a net loss of 2.4-3 points at 17 1/4 after selling as low as 16. Officials of the railroad said they were not able to say anything new in the situation, pending the report of the engineers who recently made a thorough examination of the road's property.

The close was at 17 1/4, up 1/2 point or three points net higher. March closed at 18.
