CHEMIST FINDS STRYCHNINE IN PENNY CAN

Examination of State Expert Refutes Findings in Deaths of Twin Falls Boys by Local Man's Analysis.

Chemical analyses completed last Wednesday by W. V. ... Examination of State Expert Refutes Findings in Deaths of Twin Falls Boys by Local Man's Analysis.

Effort to find cause of the boy's death in the roots of parsnips or other vegetable which he said to have eaten a short time before they were fatally stricken has thus far shed no light on the mystery.

Dr. H. H. Walker, Twin Falls city and county chemist, yesterday announced that both chemists had the same material to work on.

Three pieces of wood were examined under the magnifying glass and no break in the surface of the chocolate was observed.

The candy was then crushed and the residue from examination was taken up with 200 cc. of 90 per cent ethyl alcohol.

lith nitrate. The alcoholic filtrate was evaporated on the steam bath to a syrupy consistency.

Explores Process.

"This was then taken up and dissolved with freshly distilled water, filtered, and the aqueous filtrate, was re-distilled. One-half of this aqueous filtrate was neutralized with ammonium hydroxide. This alkaline aqueous portion was placed in a separator flask and to this was added 10 c.c. of C. P. chloroform. This was shaken continuously for half an hour and the chloroform layer placed in the separator flask. The chloroform plus the extract was then evaporated and the residue taken for the strychnine test.

"All of the standard methods for strychnine identification were used and no strychnine found in the sample.

"In checking the work the chemical analyst, candles in the standard known quantities of strychnine to this family. These "blank" determinations were analyzed at the same time as the unknown and strychnine found only in that candy to which it had been added, thus proving the method used in the laboratory.

IDAHO FARMERS WILL CUT SPUD ACREAGE

crop harvested was as follows: Corn, 10,000; spring wheat, 60,000; oats, 172,000; barley, 95,000; potatoes, 71,000; hay (cotton) 1,045,000.

General Report of Situation.

Based on reports of 5,000 farmers received by the federal department of agriculture, farmers of the nation intend to increase 1925 acreage over 1924 year as follows: All spring wheat, 13.0 per cent; corn, 2.3 per cent; oats, 2.6 per cent; barley, 2.1 per cent; and potatoes, 20.2 per cent. No change is planned for winter wheat acreage, but intention is to decrease the acreage of Irish potatoes 4 per cent. The department's projections are as follows:

It seems doubtful if the general expansion of production contemplated by farmers would be to their best interest. Increased returns for the crops of 1924 were largely due to reduced supplies, other in this country, and not so much as to any increase in demand. The outlook indicates that any marked expansion in most lines would lead to lower prices and result in local satisfactory returns to farmers.

Spring Wheat.

If reported intentions are carried out the acreage in spring wheat will be increased 13 per cent, or nearly 5,000,000 acres. Winter wheat seedlings last fall were increased 6.5 per cent over the previous year. Allowing for average abandonment, however, the increase in winter wheat area to be harvested would be about 4.3 per cent greater than last year, and the increase in all wheat would be about 7 per cent or about 3,000,000 acres.

DRESS UP FOR EASTER

You Pay for a De Laval Whether You Buy One or Not

If you use a worn-out, inferior cream separator, or skimming cream by hand, you are surely wasting enough cream to pay for a De Laval in a short time.

The selection of a cream separator is more important than that of any other machine on the farm, for none other can either save or waste so much, twice a day, 365 days a year.

A De Laval Separator will:

- Skim cleaner for many more years than any other.
- Skim milk clean at lower temperature than any other separator.
- Deliver a higher testing cream, which is more acceptable to the creamery, and easier and less costly to ship.
- And deliver a cream which will make better butter.

Do not be deceived by separators which are claimed to be "just as good and cost less." When you consider its greater savings, greater reliability, longer life, the extra time it saves, and the greater satisfaction it gives, the De Laval is in the end by far the most economical.

"Perhaps," he said, "you will phone these telegrams through to the 'Purple' office, or would you rather I send a message with them?" Troyte got up and went to the telephone. Norbury talked on, addressing an ear in particular...

"I know you'll say she's not an Italian," said Norbury, smiling. "Persian she is not just as you say."

"I don't believe I could ever get it wanted up on account of being so uninteresting myself before she did. So that's that; and there's no use worrying."

"Troyte was talking fast to someone in the foreign office. 'There'll be the devil of a fuss,' said Norbury. 'If Uncle Ned stirs up all these ambassadors and people, and they won't like it. Nobody would like it, I say, Uncle Ned!'"

"Troyte, working readily through Uncle's telegrams, wared an impatient hand at Norbury. 'It's all very fine,' said Norbury to me. 'Uncle Ned may say what he likes, but they won't like it. No ambassador would like being pulled out of his bed at this hour of the night and set on to chase a princess up and down the Himalayan mountains, as if she were a goat or a chamois or some thing of that kind. And we all know why she is! If nobody wants a thing done, why do it? There are lots of unpleasant things every fellow has to do. Why stir up a fuss with unnecessary and naive every-day unconfort-able?'"

Drum Beats Help Laborers Just as soldiers on the march can march farther with less fatigue when stepping out to martial tunes, so music or drum beating will lighten the toll of the laborer. In Korea native laborers were often inspired to greater efforts by the drum music of a hired party who stands by them as they work.

"Natty" the legation at Sophia, said Troyte into the telephone, "and Prague and Bukarest, and Warsaw, and Budapest and Belgrade—" "Just listen to him," said Norbury. "I really don't think he's going to be any good. They wanted me to."

"You remember that, Uncle Ned? But I was firm about that. 'Not my line at all,' I said. 'I don't like complications and all that sort of thing. Now I was quite right—I simply couldn't stand being set on to persecute some poor girl who'd run off with the chauffeur. And I expect that's what's happened. Look like it anyhow. What I always say is: If a girl wants to marry a chauffeur, let her, and be jolly thankful it's no worse."

"Cable had edged over to the table at which Troyte was sitting at the telephone. 'I'll tell them,' he said, 'to engage places for us in the Warsaw express. We must go tomorrow.' 'I suppose we must,' said Troyte with a sigh.

"Of course we must," said Cable. "Heaven knows what trouble there'll be if we're not there. It's a complicated business and you and I are the only two people who understand the whole of it. Tell them to book two sleepers for us."

"I say," said Norbury, "I say, Uncle Ned, are you really going to go to this what-you-call-it place to see the princess?" "Troyte took no notice of this, so I answered for him. 'She must,' I said. 'As minister for Italian affairs it's his duty to have his hand on the helm when the ship is in the rapids.'"

"Norbury turned to his wife, who had been sitting quietly and very comfortably where Troyte left her. 'She must,' I said. 'As minister for Italian affairs it's his duty to have his hand on the helm when the ship is in the rapids.'"

"Troyte very nearly dropped the receiver in his astonishment. I was a little startled myself. The very last place a man ought to take his wife for a honeymoon is into the middle of a hubbub war, and that, if I could trust Troyte's judgment, was just what there was going to be. 'You can't go with us,' said Troyte. 'I'm afraid if you do,' said Cable."

THREE CHIEFS

The South Pacific will build lines from the Bull country to a main line northward at Glenn's Ferry.
At least this statement is fully justified by the words of counsel for the Union-Pacific System who in Washington on Friday, in connection with an Interstate Commission hearing upon an application by that company for a route from Oregon, declared that when the Wells-Burnett cut-off and the Bull cut-off were built Southern Idaho would need no other railroad connection with the California Coast.

This is the first official advice that has been made by the managed of Bull connection with the Oregon Route. In the interest of a shortened freight haul for Southern Idaho products moving to California.

Southern Pacific, Central Pacific, and have made the statement that such construction here is not well designed. However, men are not given to making base statements. As a matter of fact they talk but little, but what they say generally turns out to be correct.

A glance at a map will show the striking advantage of such a line with the gap between Bull and Glenn Ferry bridged traffic from over an immense area in this State would be shipped via Twin Falls to California.
The arguments of the Boise interests appearing before the Commission, that Southern Idaho needs better connections with California, are sound; and the best, cheapest and most feasible way to provide these is by means of a Bull-Glenn Ferry line.

This line will be built. At least it is not reasonable to suppose that the Union Pacific System official would have made such a statement had it not been the intention to build it.
This section of Southern Idaho is about to come into its own.

GOOD DRIVERS DON'T HAVE ACCIDENTS.

In a remarkable article in the current number of Motor, the reputation of good drivers is discussed. It is stated in an unusual way and the possibility taken that good drivers of motor cars do not have accidents.

It depends upon what constitutes a good driver.
On the basis of the average sample to be encountered on the roads in and around Twin Falls at almost any hour of the day or night, there are few good drivers in these parts. That is to say, but a small percentage of drivers give to the matter of driving the attention it deserves if accidents are to be avoided.

The time will come when an auto accident will be a disgraceful thing and the driver an object of public contum. It has to come, if the accident rate is to be cut down.

Here are two parts of the story presented in the article which deal with the matter of careless or careless driving:
A car on a straightaway road around a wide turn and down a grade passed with good speed, slightly shimmering. The driver tried to stop for an interesting and exciting race with a car that he didn't realize that he didn't know the road didn't he might have in stop at the cross streets. The driver of that good driver always gets his car absolutely under control when he isn't sure of the road ahead.

A child starts off the sidewalk distressfully before a car. The driver passes the child in the street, and a good driver he would have had his eye on the road, both sides of it, and if children were in sight would have had the car under control. Extraordinary circumstances can and do prevail in instances of this kind, but too many such accidents are preventable.

A car slows into another and the driver is that the brakes didn't hold.
There are a number of things which all of a sudden decide not to hold.
There are few steering gears which are not a sudden. Most steering gear accidents as called are due to the driver's inability to take the necessary action at the speed he was traveling. He should know what for this is a safe driving speed and govern himself by circumstances and road conditions. No car in more condition should be taken out on the road unless the driver is capable of "always" operating for the condition.
"Always" means always. The driver of the "chance" driver should be eliminated just as the "chance" highway elimination from public society.
And it was not just that thought about this latter elimination. It was public safety and shame in the heart of the community.

FERRY SLUMBER

Here is a news story passed on for the benefit of those who enjoy slumbering.

Robert Davis, a middle-aged boiler inspector of Syracuse, New York, seeking shelter in the freight car for rain on a bitterly cold morning.

He crawled inside the firebox of a laid-up locomotive. It was cozy there, and he fell asleep. An hour later a fireman climbed aboard and proceeded to fire up. He placed oil-soaked waste and kindling wood in the firebox, and applied a full charge of steam to fire himself impressed by a wall of fire.
It was a situation worthy of Edgar Allen Poe. The prisoner did not die of fright, but he was the one who perished inside the firebox of a laid-up locomotive. It was cozy there, and he fell asleep. An hour later a fireman climbed aboard and proceeded to fire up. He placed oil-soaked waste

and kindling wood in the firebox, and
applied a full charge of steam to fire
himself impressed by a wall of fire.
It was a situation worthy of Edgar
Allen Poe. The prisoner did not die
of fright, but he was the one who he received as he scrambled through those flames over six feet of blinding firewood, and emerged, a mass of flames himself, to the amazement of the fireman.

Perhaps the moral should be added:
Never go to sleep in a locomotive firebox.
