Companion of Dorothy Ellingson Who Killed Mother Tells of Girl's Actions at Wild Party Following Murder.

RAN FRANCISCO, April 2 (AP)—"The dance man," who with 17-year-old Dorothy Ellingson, killed her mother, the night she shot her mother, last January 13, was detailed in superior court here this afternoon by Katherine Moorman, testifier at the recent hearing of the child murderer.

Miss Moorman told of the party that she and Dorothy Ellingson and other girls and young men attended. They danced far into the night, she said. The girls were drinking and were very wild.

"Dorothy was gay," she added. "Watched Playmate." The girl on trial watched narrowly her playmate and occasionally whispered some comment to the jail matron. But throughout today's session, which included the testimony of her father and that of police into the circumstances surrounding the death of her mother, the girl listened stonily.

It was the first day since her trial started, March 27, that she showed signs of fainting. Several times she was agitated and the matron leaned over her with smelling salts, but for every reason she left the courtroom without assistance.

The defense built today most of the preliminary testimony on which it will have questions to alienate, against the testimony of her father, during the day the defense, using witnesses whom the prosecution had called, for the interrupted murder trial, established their own version of the killing, that the girl had killed her mother, as charged. Furthermore, her signed confession to the police was admitted in evidence. Defense counsel explained to the court that this was part of the evidence of the defendant's insanity.

Girl Is Questioned. Chapter of Detective McFarland described his interview of the girl when she was arrested two days after her mother's death. He said they (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

DRY AGENTS ADMIT
ACCEPTING BRIBES

CHICAGO, April 2 (AP)—Thomas E. Jones and John A. H. Jones, former prohibition agents, today admitted to Federal Judge Adam U. Clifton that they accepted bribes of $2000 each and will come into court Saturday to try to convince the judge $4000 was too much money to turn down. Jones said he had been accustomed to being offered bribes of $25 or $50 and could turn them down with equanimity, but was completely bowled over when Al Landoff, extract manufacturer, and Tommy Thomas, ex-habitat impresario, offered him $2000 to forget about finding the party leading a truck with alcohol back in 1922. As a result, he had a complete loss of memory, he explained. He said the size of the bribe should be considered a mitigating circumstance.

Little Less Than $175,000,000 In Cash Price Set in Sale of Dodge Brothers; Big Interests Represented.

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—Some of the country's most powerful financial interests will be associated with Dillon, Read and company, in financing the purchase of Dodge Brothers, Inc., automobile manufacturer, for slightly less than $175,000,000 in cash.

Although negotiations for control of the huge motor company were carried on single-handedly by Dillon, Read and company, the firm will have the support of a strong banking syndicate in underwriting the transaction and offering securities of the new corporation to the public.

Sale to the Public. More than $100,000,000 of the stocks and bonds of the new Dodge company will be sold to the public. The bankers have not yet decided on the total amount of financing, it was estimated in the financial district that by applying part of the Dodge cash reserve to the purchase price the public offering could be limited to about $125,000,000.

Real's winning bid in this payment of at least $200,000,000 for "good will" which is believed to be the highest price ever paid for a business is recommended in a cash transaction.

Mark Godfrey Arrested at Rupert for California Holdup Admits Crime and Implicates Two Others.

HOISE, April 2 (AP)—Mark Godfrey, arrested at the Lone Star ranch, near Caldwell, Wednesday, charged with being implicated in the holding of a passenger train at Valley Junction, California, November 2, 1923, Thursday confessed his part in the holding and told the story of how the affair was staged, according to L. A. Smith, Los Angeles deputy sheriff, who made the arrest. Godfrey was forced, at the point of a gun, to do his part, Smith said.

Two other men, Russell Smith and James Havermale, charged with taking part in the holding, have already been arrested. Smith was taken into custody at Rupert Monday, while Havermale was arrested at Eden, Idaho, last November, was tried, found guilty and sentenced from five years to life in San Quentin prison.

Real Workers Style. The inmates, Smith, Havermale and Godfrey, staged the robbery in real western style, Smith said Godfrey confessed. The three boarded the train at Valley Junction, marked, he said, Havermale was the leader, according to the confession, and fired two shots through the roof of the train, boarding it, then sent Godfrey through the cars with a bat, into which the passengers' watches, money and other valuables.

Just before reaching a bridge the three slipped off the train, Godfrey said. Smith and Havermale, he said, captured Russell, Havermale and himself, Deputy Sheriff Smith said.

No decision as to who M. Clementel's successor will be has yet been announced. It is understood, however, that will be none other than the minister of agriculture, a new man will be taken into the cabinet in replacement.

JENNINGS-BOYS FOUND GUILTY

Jury in Second Trial Convicts Accused Men of Theft of Car Taken From Here.

Raymond Jennings and Honta Jennings, brothers, as a result of a second trial in district court here today were found guilty of grand larceny in connection with alleged theft of a Ford roadster, owned by T. M. Goodrich, and taken from here last January 27 to a ranch here in McCallville creek, where it was found some days later by deputy sheriff. The jury returned its verdict in the case after two hours' deliberation. Judgment, Judge W. A. Baker announced, will be pronounced next Monday.

Harkness to Stand Trial

David Harkness, originally a co-defendant with the Jennings brothers in this case, will be brought to trial on charge of grand larceny in connection with the theft of the car, according to statements from the state's chief of police, Deputy Sheriff J. W. Taylor, who was summoned as a defense witness and questioned today by O. C. Hall, defense attorney, as to the state's interest in the car. Harkness, who was a principal witness for the state, testified Wednesday that the Jennings brothers were in possession of the car at the time of the theft. He testified that the Jennings brothers were granted by the court on motion of defense attorneys to withdraw from the trial.

Jury in the Case

In the case two weeks ago in which the jury failed to agree upon a verdict.

Jennings Told Story

In behalf of the defendants, Honta Jennings testified today that neither he nor his brother had had anything to do with the theft of the car, which had been brought by Harkness to the ranch house where the Jensen family resides. Honta Jennings of Hazelton, brother of the defendants, testified that he had visited the defendants at the McCallville creek ranch some on the evening the car was alleged to have been stolen.

In refutation of defense testimony, the prosecution introduced testimony of several witnesses in this case. The defendants were in Twin Falls on the evening the car was alleged to have been taken. Witnesses introduced by the prosecution in this connection included Ray Fowler, J. Wyatt, Charles Young, Harold Ferguson, H. E. Pollard and Ace Mabey.

Meanwhile, R. Stanley Dollar, vice president of the Dollar lines, continued his discussion with counsel for the board over the handling of the sale contract and officials and counsel for the Pacific Mail devoted another day to conferences without any announcement being made concerning their future business relations. The board has not yet decided on any steps they may have in contemplation in the fact of the award of the ships by sale to the Dollar interests. Their conference will continue tomorrow.

During the day President Palmer of the fleet corporation, discussed a number of questions with the board with President Coolidge, but said afterward the row in the shipping board over the California-Orient line sale had not been taken up. Mr. Palmer had previously explained that he was in no position to make a recommendation on the proposed sale.

Former Senator George E. Chamberlain of Oregon, counsel for the Pacific Mail, late in the day issued a statement saying that, judged by past records of the Pacific Mail and the Dollar interests, "the Pacific mail's ownership company will exert itself most strenuously to the two companies to carry out the expressed purposes of the Jones act in serving as a naval auxiliary in time of war and for the purpose of carrying the major portion of our commerce in time of peace."

FIVE MEN AND GIRL ARE HELD FOR KILLING

Arrests Are Made in Philadelphia as Result of Deaths of Federal Agent on the Pacific Coast.

PHILADELPHIA, April 2 (AP)—Five men and a girl, arrested here today as alleged highway robbers, were held without bail tonight charged with the murder of a federal agent in Seattle, Wash., in a fight over bootleg rum on warrants sworn out by the government.

The prisoners, who gave their names as John Bricker, Thomas H. Miller, Joseph Czorny, Harry Green, Jacob Diamond and May Vaughan, were taken in a raid on a house described by the police as a "blind" apartment.

In the place the authorities said they found sawed-off shotguns, pistols of all sizes and caliber and hundreds of rounds of ammunition.

Police said they found letters in May Vaughan's possession linking the prisoners with the Seattle killing and also other crimes on the Pacific coast.

When Director of Public Safety E. A. Tamm learned that an effort was being made to obtain their release on writs of habeas corpus he communicated with the department of justice.

Washington which in turn notified the local federal authorities to swear out warrants charging them with the west coast murder.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

These who are inclined to be moon the evils of the present time and walk their lack in having been invited to listen to the philosophy of the Editor of the Pike County Republic.

The points made are not new but they are of a kind to bear repetition. We quote:

If you sit down with a group of men just fifty, it won't be long until you hear something about "the good old days." But nothing is said about the hotel room with the bed and the bath.

When you hear some of these old moonshiners talking about the good old days just remind them of the time when some one had to keep the old fly-buck going during dark times, and the while-swinging the horses on the streets with shavers and push carts; when every home had a fence around it and the husband came home at night with his breath reeking of stale beer, limburger, cheese and onion; when you read your book at night beside an illuminating candle lamp and had to take off the chimney and trim the wick at intervals; when you heated a kettle of hot water on Saturday night, and took your bath in a rubber mat on the kitchen floor; when the pictures on the parlor walls were radio crayon portraits of stars men with long beards and whiskers; when you had to wash your face in cold old days, indeed. When you never saw an orange except at Christ- mas time and never tasted ice cream except on the Fourth of July or at some grand social affair; when the county fair was the only big show of the year; when the children played with empty spools and crochets.

Why, we live more in one glad week today than we did then in a whole year. We have oranges for breakfast almost the entire year around. We have...

down, and we bathe in clean pure rain water and tiled showers. We throw away beautiful crochets with colorful pictures that people would have been proud to hang in the parlor in "those good old days." We drive twenty miles of an evening over paved roads in soft cushioned cars to see a moving picture that takes us around the world and come back to the city that is surrounded by furnace heat, crowded by electric fans. We stop to a little instrument upon a stand in the hall and talk to our distant friends instantly. We tune in on the radio and listen to the band playing hundreds of miles away. We go out to the front seat and enjoy the daily news and read a full account of an earthquake disaster in Japan that happened on that same day. We read of a big ship that is in distress and learn that other vessels are steaming to her aid. We press a button and the house is flooded with light; we turn a little dial on the wall and know that always when the thermometer falls below zero the house will have a temperature of seventy when we awake in the morning. We drop our soiled linen into a clothes chute in the wall and it goes to the laundry in the cellar where an electric machine will wash and wring it. Frigid air in the cellar keeps the food fresh, and the housewife touches a match to the burner under the oven or the kitchen range, adjusts a heat regulator, puts in the meat for supper, and goes away to spend the night while the oven along, meat is cooking. One window is open to admit fresh air and the other is closed against weather-stripped and snow and rain and wind in winter. We go farther, stay longer and get back quicker than we ever did before.

Let me let the old fellow describe you, "we live in the good old days."

WAR IS GOOD ADVICE? Read the Twin Falls News...

M. S. Hoover, Manager, Burgundy Business College, 223 West Main, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Thought I am reminded of the fact that I graduated from your institution three years ago. While attending your school you advised me several different lines to complete my high school course and go on to college education if at all within the realm of possibility. In the advice of several years ago in the subject of this communication.

Since 1921 I have followed your counsel with austerity. At the present time I am pursuing freedom pre-ferred course of the high school course. The knowledge of standard and type writing gained while in your school has been exceedingly helpful in both my high school and college work.

Recently I heard one of your competitors say that you were opposed to high school and college education. Possibly either taking the same stand as he. For the education of his country, I feel inclined to go on record as saying that such contributions are in direct opposition to the interests of the country.

Due to the thoroughness of the courses at Burgundy Business College and the quality of its staff, I feel inclined to believe that it will continue to gain in the race for pre-eminence on the field of commercial education.

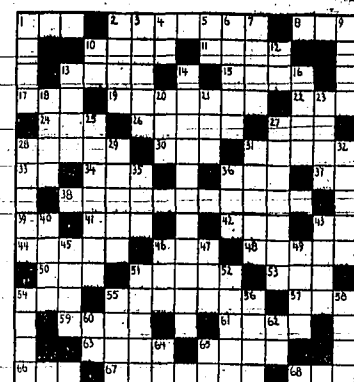

Yours truly, (SIGNED) WALTER R. BOTTCHER, WRITER.

We were just in time. Through the door of the chapel at the opposite side of the courtyard came the sound of the wedding march, played on the organ. Tommy, with the princess on his arm, walked out amid deafening cheers. Immediately behind them came Janet Church, a solitary and most unattractive-looking woman. Behind her thronged the Lystrian nobility. All the Count Cassimis were there, except Janet. The half-dozen or so nobles with other names were also there. Janet, in an old gray tweed dress, and our party in our traveling clothes were the only commonplace people. The princess was splendid in a dress much finer, also much longer than the one she had worn when she danced at the Masquerade. Tommy had been fitted out by Count Albert Ostrim in a very handsome, close-fitting suit with a "jockey-tailed" muslin waist, with gold, silver and red embroidery on his neck. Perhaps that was his idea of full dress for a provincial occasion. Perhaps he did it to please the patriarch. The nobles were gorgeous. No one who had not seen the Lystrian nobility in their best clothes can any idea how magnificent they can be. People who understand dress-making and who understand the Lystrian nobility in their own. They would be wasted in the drab monotony of a republic. I think Tommy felt this as he looked at the magnificent scene before him. Fortunately, the sun shone brightly. Every color had its full value. Everything that could glitter glittered brilliantly.

Last of all, attended by an amazing number of clergy, the patriarch came from the chapel door. He wore—but I am not well up in the language of ecclesiastical millinery. His garments may have been cope, chasubles, dalmatics or alb. Whatever they were...

They seemed to be made of shimmering gold. If they were disesteemed and disowned the church in Lystria, the sets of the patriarch's vestments to go a long way toward paying off the national debt. The procession moved slowly across the square until Tommy caught sight of the princess. She was the daughter of Count Cassimis and she had never seen any of us before, and though we knew who she must be, it could only guess who we were. He turned to Janet Church for help. Janet knew me and introduced me. I presented the rest of the party. At last, I began the presentation. I had only got as far as "Nobility" when the princess interrupted me. She rushed forward, threw her arms around Viola's neck and kissed her heartily on both cheeks. "I know you're Miss Temple," she said. "Lady Northey," I corrected. "You may call her Viola Temple if you like," said Tommy, "but my name is: 'Who anybody has a name which everybody else knows them by, why not call them it. That's what I said when I fellow began to stop calling me Bunny after I became Northey, don't you know? I dare say you'd be said to Tommy, 'what you've often heard of me as Bunny Troye, and scarcely know me as Northey. It's just the name with Viola, only, of course, more so, on account of her being much more famous than you of the rest of us.'"

He was undoubtedly right concerning the "name" which Miss Viola Temple, by one of the most popular stage actresses of the British empire had enjoyed. That fact had been at the bottom of Lord Troye's scheme of the Lystrian marriage. With the cold, far-seeing mind with which he was noted, he had seen in the union a double purpose, the saving of his reputation from an unwholesome alliance with a character who did not happen to be a...

LEONARD DEFEATS MURPHY

Twin Falls Boxer Takes Measure of Rock Creek Youth in Main Event at Bks Bookers.

In exactly 65 seconds Young Leonard of Twin Falls, stopped Murphy of Rock Creek with a knockout blow to the jaw that ended in the first round a scheduled eight-round bout that was the main event of a three-bout boxing bill at the Bks Bookers Theatre tonight. After preliminary sparring Murphy attempted to force the fight and Leonard dealt out three stiff jolts to the jaw, sending Murphy to the floor first for the count of eight and then the second count. Leonard's weight was announced as 127 pounds and Murphy's 133 pounds.

Two preliminary bouts were declared draws. Both were closely fought, give and take affairs. The semi-final event between Billy Corbett of Beatrice and Zachariah of Twin Falls was a four-round bout.

"I could about him!"
"He asked her whom she meant and she said: "Jimmy McNamee, a hop-head."
"He killed my mother," the detective quoted her as saying. He added that when he sent men to an address she named and they failed to find "Jimmy" she confessed that it was she who killed her mother, because she had a "date" for a party and she "got the pistol" and fired one shot.

MEMPHIS MINSTRELS

The Memphis Minstrels played to a crowded house at the Orpheum last night giving a varied program of songs, dances and clever stunts.

The first part of the program was in regular minstrel form and many of the musical numbers were exceedingly well rendered. O. G. Duke sang many kept the audience in good humor throughout the entire performance. A number consisting of selections upon clarinet, saxophone and violin was unusually well received. An act, were all the specialty numbers. The troupe is made up of both men and women, all with good voices. Solo and ensemble dancing and singing constituted the major part of the final section of a performance, which was entertaining throughout.

ORPHEUM

The great shipwreck scene in Norma Talmadge's latest photodrama, "The Only Woman," now showing at the Orpheum theatre, nearly cut the lives of several film actors. The storm grew unexpected ferocious and it was necessary for the entire company of 60 to land in small boats. One boat, filled with men, capsized. However, all were rescued.

LOCAL MANAGER FOR SWIFT TELLS COMPANY PLANS

Chicago Packers to Employ About 75 Persons During Peak Season at Twin Falls Branch

Just as soon as this is secured to the land purchased by Swift and Company in Twin Falls next week, will be taken looking to the beginning of construction, according to B. W. Anderson, local manager of the company, who is now in Twin Falls, in active charge of the company's operations.

"I have not yet seen the plans," said Mr. Anderson Thursday. "I understand they are already made and ready. The company has not as yet a sum of $100,000 to be used for land, building and equipment in Twin Falls. Local bids will be asked for and all labor and material so far as possible will be secured locally. It is hoped to get started on the plant in the very near future."

In explanation of the delay in actually securing this to the ground purchased, Mr. Anderson stated that every requirement in connection with the purchase has been complied with, due to the fact that certain special permits on Twin Falls residents and the necessary formalities by mail are consequently taking more time than would otherwise be the case.

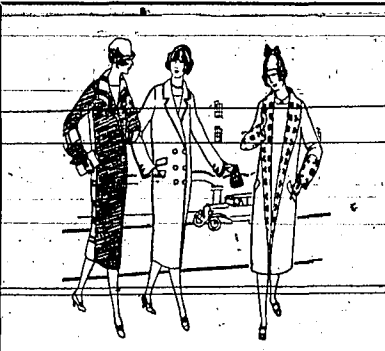

Begin With Eggs

"We are now actively in the market for eggs," said Mr. Anderson, "and will utilize our storage facilities arranged for with the Twin Falls Feed and Ice company for this end of the business until our own plant is built. I hope to take in around 150,000 pounds during April, May and June and will begin active buying next week."

"Our plant when completed will handle eggs, poultry and cream. We will also engage in the cheese business but this last is a separate department and I am not presently informed as to the decision on these one way or the other. Should we handle cheese, however, it will be on a purchase rather than a manufacturing basis."

Expensive Extension

"Our plant should be in operation within four months. Our Mr. Collins will be on the ground as soon as the land definitely passes and there will be little delay of any kind in the height of the poultry season."

STEEL LAYING TO BE RESUMED

Short Line Calls for 30 Workmen to Begin Extension of South Line Railroad.

Extension of the railroad from the Short Line to the main line will begin immediately, according to a statement of Oregon Short Line representative who requested Secretary Charles P. Dwight at Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office Thursday to endeavor to obtain a force of 30 workmen to leave here soon after 11 o'clock today for Hagerman to begin the laying of steel at once.

Applications for this work, Secretary Dwight advised, will be paid at the rate of 38 cents per hour for 30-hour day. They will be required to furnish their own tools.

Laying of steel on the line was suspended about three weeks ago, when employees in charge announced that the railroad would be closed for two years until the road on which steel at ready had been laid was halted. Lasting operation have been pushed since that time, several forces of workmen being employed and a steam shovel being used at gravel pits to furnish material for the work.

October, November and December, we will probably employ in the neighborhood of 25 persons, all of whom with one or two exceptions, will be laid right here in Twin Falls. Our payroll from month to month will naturally vary but there will be no change in the months and we expect to increase and add to our business as fast as the business can be developed.

"Yes, we will supply an active market for poultry of all kinds, but when we speak of poultry we speak primarily of chickens and turkeys. Eggs will be the main line of activity for the season."

Mr. Anderson stated that a plant of the general character suited to a town situated as is Twin Falls would probably be housed in a two-story building. Decision as to material had not been reached, he stated.
