The Amazing Mail

BY RICHARD WASHBURN CHILD. Copyright by P. DUTTON & CO. Waukegan, Ill.

Young man has been so lately and actively a part of the life of the city. His name is Richard Washburn Child. He is a great diplomat, a great writer, a great actor, a great man.

CHAPTER I

He had gone to London the moment he was out of uniform, and he had gone there for a reason typical to him. For most Americans a single track success is an inspiration of life; there is a law that entitles them to the line until some true trials and also an instinct for playing the latest game.

Some money. But "Washburn" got from the United States came down to Ben because it had been a garden next to our place and live in a garden and stay out of London and read by feet on the grass and see nobody and make of questions. And the look in her eyes!

POWER PROJECT WORKERS NAMED

Lewiston Commercial Club Selects 40 Citizens Headed by R. C. Beach to Obtain Site.

LEWISTON, APRIL 18.—R. C. Beach, prominent Lewiston business man, has been chosen by the commercial club to head a committee of 40 citizens who will cooperate with the Clearwater Timber and Inland Light and Power companies in conducting negotiations for the purchase of the site for dam and power plant to be established here by the two companies.

The companies propose to generate power to the amount of more than 12,000 horsepower and to manufacture 200,000,000 feet of lumber annually.

The committee's proposals were accepted by Lewiston city council following submission of petitions signed by more than 200 of the city's leading business and professional men. The property owners, asking that the city accept the offer of the two companies for the passage of the ordinance providing for the $1,500,000 bond election to provide funds for the building of the dam and power project by the city, and withdraw the city's application for a permit to make any improvements in the Clearwater river.

Telegram to Weyershauser. Immediately upon the appointment of the committee Mr. Beach telegraphed to J. F. Weyershauser, president of the timber company at Tacoma, the following message:

"A committee of 40 of our leading citizens and business men has been appointed by the commercial club and I have accepted the honor. This committee is formed to work with your representatives in every way to discharge Lewiston's obligations as outlined at the Tacoma conference. Lewiston is now combined and ready to proceed. May I hear from you?"

Mr. Weyershauser's reply follows: "We thank you for your encouraging telegram of this date. We will open an office at Lewiston at once and will work for much help from the committee."

The proposed power, log storage and sawmill development, it is estimated, will represent the expenditure of at least $5,000,000 in the immediate vicinity of Lewiston. The project also is regarded as securing the clearwater valley extension of the railroad into the timber districts by the Northern Pacific and Union Pacific systems, the railroads being joined with the Clearwater Timber company and the Inland Power & Light company in the plan for the development, the initial investment of which is estimated at about $12,000,000.

BLOOD SELLERS. Five students of Belmont college, Wichita, Kansas, have adopted a novel method of paying their way through college. ### IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Considerable improvement in industrial activities and increased employment was noted during March in metal mining, lumbering, building and general construction and railway activities, says the March industrial employment survey report of the mountain district, United States employment service, that was released for publication today. Resident skilled labor is fully employed and the slight surplus of resident unskilled labor should be readily absorbed within 30 days, dependent on weather conditions allowing authorized programs of outside and general construction to proceed. Practically all manufacturing plants continue running steadily with labor in connection well employed. Scarcities now running full time, and lumbering will extensively truck activities during April. Metal mining is especially active, principally noted in the Clear Lake, Big Wind River and Salmon districts and a moderate demand for experienced metal mine labor exists.

Building and general construction is resuming normal seasonal activity with indications that the extensive construction program will be fully underway within 30 days. Resident building labor is not sufficient.

Preliminary construction has recently commenced on the American Falls dam project, with approximately 125 independent workers employed in constructing installation of machinery and building of spur tracks. While there is sufficient labor available for this project at present, the necessary railway track changes will probably require 300 additional workers in a short time. Prospective applicants on this work should apply to the Utah Construction company, Ogden, Utah, and American Falls, Idaho, and the Oregon Short Line Railway company, Pocatello, Idaho. Municipal improvement construction is gradually resuming in many cities and towns. Agricultural labor has been in strong demand during the month and within 30 days additional demands for sugar beet field labor will be evidenced. Railway employment steady, with indications for increased railway track employment in near future.

TUESDAY'S TALK

Back in the Valley of Beautiful Memories, where the years go when they have finished their work in the big world, there is always a great deal of happy talk going on. Often the days go there to talk when they are waiting for their time to come forth before the World people.

And at this time Tuesday was up there. Tuesday was having a little holiday while Monday was on duty.

The years that had gone before were there, for you know when the Old Year dies he always goes to the Valley of Beautiful Memories. There he is always so delighted that he does not feel and when he welcomes his successor—the little young New Year.

The years tell of the beautiful railway that has happened while they were about—and the things they leave behind in a great big old bundle to be thrown away, for only the lovely memories can be taken along with them. So it is in Fairyland.

The years had been talking quite a little when Tuesday came along. He was dressed in a rather wild and windy fashion, for he was working now in a rather wild and windy month. He sat down in a beautiful green moss chair while the years gathered about him.

"What is the news of the big world?" they asked. "Is the New Year doing well? Not such a New Year by now—this."

"He little years do grow up," said one old year, just as though he would have liked to add now, "I remember that little year when it was only so long."

But they all listened to what Tuesday was saying.

"Tomorrow," said Tuesday, "when I shall be on duty, is the birthday of little Tuesday."

"And I wanted to come here to talk about her with all of you. It seemed only right that I should come here. You know we days have noticed at different times how very lovely and how much loved Dolly is, and we've all, at different times, had the joy of celebrating her birthday."

"Tuesday continued, 'I want to talk to you because here, in this Valley of Beautiful Memories, you know so much about the happiness and the beauty and the richness and the joy to be had from happy memories.'"

"You can throw away ugly memories in your old bundle as you come into this lovely valley, but in the world they can't do that so well. Memories have a way of sticking whether they are good or bad, pleasant or unpleasant."

"And that is why it is so important, so tremendously important that people see that what they do and the way they act and the way their hearts feel will only cause joy and happiness in the world."

"That is the way with Dolly. She has never any unkind memories. She has always made happiness and love. There is something in the way she moves, the way she smiles, the way she laughs, the way she talks, that makes those around her so happy that their happiness goes deep into their hearts and stays there. Beautiful memories are always to be had when those who know Dolly think of her."

"So I have come here, as you see, but not only does Dolly give people happiness when they think about her, all the time she is giving happiness. How? You may ask. Just by being herself.—That is the way she is. It is her secret. I only know it is so."

"Yes, I shall go forth on her birthday tomorrow and I shall see her from the moment she opens her eyes until she goes to bed again at night. I shall be there when the earliest bird will sing her a birthday greeting. I shall be there at six o'clock for breakfast on the pink dishes she always uses. I shall be there right through the whole day until, at night, she gets into her tub and washes with a bright pink wash-cloth and later dries herself with a bright pink bath-towel."

"I shall be there all of tomorrow and I shall see from the expression in the eyes of those who love her what it is in their hearts and how they mean to love, love, love, all the happy returns of the day."

And as Tuesday left all singing a birthday greeting: Dolly, beloved, so fair and so gay, We wish you so many happy returns of the day!

Mrs. F. C. Patterson has opened a place next to the dining theater where she will sell her cooked food every day from 11 to 6—only.
