LIST OF DEAD IN DISASTER NOW UP
TO THIRTY-SEVENDeath Toll as Result of Boiler
Expllosion on Steamer Steadily Grows as Injuries Take
Additional Victims.(By The Associated Press)
NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—Thirty-seven persons had lost their life tonight, 24 hours after they had been enveloped in flames at sea when the boiler of the steamer Mackinac exploded as she steamed through Narragansett Bay. Four other persons were missing and eight others, than a hundred injured were expected to survive their burns.

The death list grew by the hour, every minute at the naval hospital where most of the victims were taken—men who had been severely burned. Some of the patients who could be removed were taken to the Newport hospital where 25 volunteer nurses ministered to their needs.

Boiler Defective.

The disaster, the worst in Rhode Island waters since the sinking of the Lusitania, in 1915, was the direct result of a defective boiler, Assistant Attorney General Oscar H. Holton told The Associated Press tonight. It had been known for some time that captain of the Mackinac, which was en route to the Larchmont, which sank after being runned by a seaman during a gale.

The Rhode Island attorney general's department will continue its investigation to determine whether there is criminal responsibility in the accident. Holton said he had obtained from the Newport police also started independent investigations. United States Senator James M. Robinson asked Attorney of Commerce Hoover to start an immediate inquiry.

Boiler Exploded.

The state investigators inquired whether the boiler had been overhauled after they found it was old and deteriorated by wear and thinned down "in certain places," said Mr. Holton. "When we secured the name of the explosion, we applied to the Bureau of Standards for a sample of the cross slab extending from the center of the boiler alongside of the longitudinal plates. The test was very good, and the opening was six seven inches wide, extending upward to the rear of the drum."

Only one of the victims was killed in the heat of the steam. He was George E. Hartwell, of Central Falls, a fireman.

Newport marines tonight said the dead were numerous now in view of the fact that more than 700 crewmen are on board.

Cripes Police Forces.

The disaster had virtually crippled the Rhode Island police force, which helped subdue the rebels of the company. Of this number Patrolmen Henry Wickham and Elmer Whitaker, dead and David Burns is missing. Seven other policemen are in hospital.

Convicts Attempt
Bold Break Using
Clerk as HostageSix Men From San Quentin Are Captured After Chase; Air-

Machine Guns Used.SAN QUENTIN, Cal., Aug. 19 (AP)—Six convicts of the state prison here, linking H. D. Miller, prison architect, and his housekeeper, to the property to the Harcourt-Francis to the bondholders, making them a present of the entire capital stock, which had a value of $2,000,000.

The inmates, members of the Daily News, have been attributed in part to its policy of appealing to women.

Mr. Lawson was spoken of as the father of the general strike here in August, 1919, and maintained for four years the movement for government savings banks.

This was a free hand, philistine and callous attitude, and gave-willingly-and-heavily-bribed many on condition that knowledge of his aid never was to become public property.

He was a good Samaritan to hundreds of the poor, was a member of the conservative of the affiliated. His evening paper conducted the Daily News' great fund—which-malathias—a newspaper at Lincoln Park, Chicago, for stock-pooling schemes.

During the war he had the Daily News get out a booklet containing frequent phrases in both French and English, so that all would be informed about France that was intended to be used to the best advantage.

Police Help in Pursuit.

San Francisco police put on with shotguns and telephone messages urged in organization of posse in Central Falls, where the rebels had been.

Nine-foot convicts were in the prison water-tower gang and almost all them believed to have participated in the break.

Two army airplanes from Crayfield responded to an appeal from the prison and dropped a note in the prison yard, while the chasms was still on, saying that the launch will be the flying prisoners.

Famous Publisher of Chicago Dead;
End Comes Quickly

Victor F. Lawson of Chicago Daily News Succumbs at Home; Known for Associated Press Work.

(CHICAGO, Aug. 19)—Victor F. Lawson, editor and publisher of the Chicago Daily News, died at his home today after a long illness of two days.

Mr. Lawson had suffered heart attacks in recent years, from overwork and attacks of neuritis.

At Northampton, Mass., Goodloe occupies the half of a two-family dwelling in which the president and his wife, Mrs. Clarke, live.

At Northampton, Mrs. Goodloe is engaged in finding a new home for her son, Mr. Clarke, and his wife, who had been living at the home of her son, Mr. Clarke, in Chicago.

Mr. Lawson was a Jenny bird.

Mr. Lawson was one of the most influential journalists in the United States, and friends assert his paper was conservative.

Founded Service.

He was one of the founders and officers of the Associated Press, being one of the most vigorous advocates of cooperative news gathering.

He was president of the Associated Press from 1908 to 1912. He has been a member of the board of directors of the present organization continuously since November, 1900.

He was born in Chicago September 18, 1859, the son of Fred and Melinda H. Lawson.

Mr. Lawson completed his schooling at the University of Michigan.

His father, who came to Chicago from western Norway, founded with others the Scandinavian, and was elected to the city council and the state legislature.

At the death of the elder Lawson, the son assumed charge of the interests of the man in the publishing business.

He was thus engaged when Melville P. Grosvenor, then editor of the Chicago Record, was merged with the Times-Herald in 1901, the two papers becoming the Record-Herald.

On May 1, 1914, Mr. Lawson, not wishing to be connected with a paper which he considered was controlled by the bondholders, made them a present of the entire capital stock, which had a value of $2,000,000.

The sum, however, the Daily News has been attributed in part to its policy of appealing to women.

Mr. Lawson was spoken of as the father of the general strike here in August, 1919, and maintained for four years the movement for government savings banks.

This was a free hand, philistine and callous attitude, and gave-willingly-and-heavily-bribed many on condition that knowledge of his aid never was to become public property.

Members of the American Red Cross, the National Red Cross and the Belgian settlement had been in a way associated with the French approach, but here was considerable variance of opinion as to its effect upon French foreign policy.

Large sums of interest accrued to neutrals, were thrown off the Belgian account in that agreement and loans made during the war, were repaid.

ELLINGSON TRIAL IS TO BE RESUMED THIS AFTERNOON IN COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19 (AP)—The murder trial of Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old matricide, adjourned this afternoon until tomorrow afternoon at the treasury and in other offices of the chief counsel for the defense, unfinished. Closing argument for the prosecution will be made tomorrow morning.

Mr. Andrews, who has been in Pakow-Pekow for several days, was on the eve of his return to the expedition, which left on the 20th. Mr. Andrews' absence was due to the bad weather.

The girl was admitted to hospital for another day on the morning of January 13. She was not rallied on to reality.

The defense based its case almost entirely on the plot of temporary insanity.

Find Queen Scallops.

The American sailors also found two small of animal types which Mr. Andrews believes illustrate the evolution of man from the representative stages of primitiveness.

Primitive beasts about the size of rats. Their skulls, fossilized, were found embedded in a rock formation which is dated to three million years ago.

The "stone dwellers," according to the evidence of the trades unearthened by the American expedition, lived in a large number of stone houses, which were damaged by rough weather and thus one plane was left in service.

The "stone dwellers" were found in the hills of the Polar seas beyond the point of the expedition, which reached to the north in 1924.

SIGNATURE OF WIFE REQUIRED IN LAND DEAL

Court Enters Judgments Deciding Issues Involved In Three Real Estate Transactions.

In two out of three actions where judgments were entered in Idaho court here, Wednesday, Judge W. A. Babcock set aside conveyances of title to land, holding invalid, in one case, an assignment and warranty deed on the grounds that the assignment lacked the signature and consent of the wife of the assignor, and, regarding in the other case, that the assignor had no property from parents to their son was sold because of alleged purpose involved to hinder and prevent collection of a debt owed to the federal receiver.

In the third case Judge Babcock declared forfeited all interest claimed by the assignee in a conveyance for sale of land, forfeiture of right to collect any interest being ordered because of acceptance by the seller and his acreage or compound interest on arrearages of payments of interest provided for by the contract, there being no written agreement covering such acceptance.

Plaintiff's Wife's Consent

In the case of Elmer Mikell against Will F. Mikell, Gertrude Mikell and George H. Arts, the court vacated and set aside an assignment of a Carey net entry on 100 acres of Salmon River project land executed by W. F. Mikell in favor of his sister, Gertrude Mikell, and also declared void a conveyance of land subsequently made in favor of George H. Arts, brother-in-law of W. F. Mikell, to receive payment of a debt of $2,900. The land in dispute was held to be communally property to be shared by the plaintiff, Elmer Mikell and her husband, W. F. Mikell, and, ordered Arts to execute and deliver to Elmer Mikell within a reasonable time to the property. The court found that the assignment of the Carey net entry had been made by Mikell to his sister in November, 1912, while Mrs. Mikell was in Sioux City on an extended visit, and that during her absence Mr. Mikell had instituted suit for divorce.

In the case of Oscar Cox against M. E. Finch, sheriff, and the Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco and of the Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco against Oscar Cox and Sam Cox and Avo Cox, his wife, in which hearing was held June 20, last, the court found that a deed transferring title to 100 acres of land in the village of Moulton had been executed by Sam Cox and Avo Cox to their son Oscar Cox after the commencement of an action in court here by the bank to collect a debt of approximately $1500 from Sam Cox and Avo Cox on account of a note secured by mortgage covering the land. The court held the transfer was invalid and entered judgment for the bank for the amount of the debt from Sam Cox and Avo Cox.

Violates Interest Law

In the case of Gertrude Costello against Emma A. Reed and W. J. Reed, the court found that the defendant Reed in January, 1921, had entered into contract with John Costello to sell him 100 acres of land for $1,000 to purchase land in Twin Falls, for $2,500, and that payment had been defauulted and that remains unpaid a total of $10,907.05 on account of the purchase price. The court held that payments of $30 made in April, 1921, and $30.45 made in October, 1922, and accepted by the sellers as payment defauulted, and that payment without written agreement providing for such acceptance constituted a violation of Idaho statutes, and on that account the court declared defauult of all the claims of the sellers to payment of any interest charges under the original contract. A decree of foreclosure was entered to satisfy judgment in favor of the plaintiff defendants.

Outstanding tragedies included the drowning of a young boy, the drowning of a mother of four, the death of two young college students working as members of the search party for the missing McCarran, the drowning of a 15-year-old girl, and the father and 15-year-old daughter, who seriously burned. The college students were West Virginians of Princeton, who, although not members of the crew, were on board the "Hoosier," Providence, a 100-foot freighter, which sank in the middle of the night, Aug. 10, 1924, about 10 miles off the coast of Oregon.

BELGIUM SATISFIED

BRUSSELS, Aug. 16 (AP)—The Belgian government is satisfied with the debt funding settlement as arranged at Washington, and the press has begun to change its recent outcry of "blue."

The finance minister, M. Janssen, is commenting on the settlement as follows:

"Above all we are pleased that we are able to get a good understanding with our financiers. Now we know exactly where we stand. We can lay out a financial program we can execute."

M. Vanderhaege, the foreign minister, said Monday that "we are satisfied" with the United States and granted "sufficient" terms on the big debt.

The newspaper Le Soir remained extremely skeptical of the soul of Belgium, and its American friends were still hopeful.

Belgian commissioners, in opening negotiations, were insistent that the American government should make a payment on behalf of the Belgians to the American people.

More than 500 persons, including buyers from Nevada, Wyoming and Montana, attended the sale, which opened at 10 a. m. and continued until 4 p. m.

Many Still Own

There is left now owing to the United States a balance of $1,000,000,000, or 10 percent of the total debts of the association, approximately $10,000,000,000, the Belgian settlement, in charge of some of the accrued interest having reduced the formal total of the debts of the association to $20,000,000,000, which however only Canada has paid all of the debt and interest marked up against it.

More than 500 persons, including buyers from Nevada, Wyoming and Montana, attended the sale, which opened at 10 a. m. and continued until 4 p. m.

E. O. Walter of Plier was auctioneer with Dean Gardner and Dr. B. W. McLean, who were members of the National Wool Growers' association, was in the ring.

SETS NEW MARK

Officers of the association were present.

Wednesday evening over results attending the sale, which, they said, had exceeded their anticipations and set a new mark for the association's activities in this field.

Profits of the sale, they explained, was to benefit both buyer and seller.

The buyer, they stated, can get at the sale, in one day, a greater assortment than he could see in two weeks of riding and has the materials close together for comparison. The seller, they stated, has the advantage of saving time in getting his goods ready.

They, their staff, will not be compelled to take whatever bid the one or two buyers who happen to find his place are willing to give him.

Principal of Debts

The principal of the Italian debts, negotiations for settlement of which also have been initiated, is $1,047,960,187 and the accrued interest, $100,763, marking a total of $2,139,943,520.

The colonial sum of Great Britain's war indebtedness in the United States was $4,400,000,000, British payments on continental debts, including the funding and loan debts, have been reduced to $1,454,000,000, as of May 16, 1925, with interest payable in addition amounting to $275,000.

The account against Russia at present totals $25,147,082, of which $102,297 is the principal of loans made during the war, and $2,516,594 accrued interest.

LIVESTOCK MEN OF IDAHO UNITE ON LAND POLICY

Wool Growers' Association
Members at Meeting Here

Endorse Platform Based on Findings of Public Hearings.

Idaho's livestock interests are satisfied with the national public lands policy as now administered unless certain proposed reforms on which they have agreed at a series of 11 public hearings held throughout the state during the months of June and July, last, are adopted, it was announced here Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Idaho Wool Growers Association, at which more than 100 Idaho sheepmen voted almost unanimous endorsement of a platform setting forth these proposed reforms.

The platform insists that reorganization of the forest service should precede any change in the administration of the public lands and demands that "under no circumstances do we want the public land administration leased by the individual states."

High Sprout of Boise, former president of the Idaho Wool Growers association, who objected to the platform proposal for placing the forest service under the jurisdiction of the department of the interior, cast the only dissenting vote against the adoption of the platform.

The platform is to be presented as representing the views of Idaho stockmen at a series of public land hearings—including a hearing before the Senate public lands committee, to be held in Salt Lake, beginning next week.

C. Dosen, president of the Idaho Wool Growers association, was authorized by vote of the meeting to approach a committee of three members to present the Idaho platform at the Salt Lake hearings. Personnel of the committee will be announced with the next day or two, Mr. Dosen stated.

Industry Discussed

The sheepmen who, during the day, had attended the association's fourth annual ram sale at Filer, were at their meeting here Wednesday evening at the Hotel Filer. Frank Taggart, head of the Idaho wool land western wool exchange, who also caused wool market conditions—and asserted that the situation is as yet unsettled but that the immediate indications are on the whole favorable, and by Kay Wood of Chicago, who discussed the lamb market and the outlook for the sheep business and asserted that the sheep industry as located in the Northwest has indications of greater security as to its future than any other business in the United States."

Entertainment numbers of the sheepmen's meeting, which was held in connection with a banquet at the Hotel Filer, included selections played on the banjo by Mr. Copeland, who also sang; a solo by Mrs. Copeland; the Ophraum theater orchestra, and several numbers by Benoit's Hailie orchestra. A profusion of flowers with which the banquet tables were decorated was taken after the meeting to the county general hospital to be distributed among patients.

Platinum Text
The public land platform adopted by the meeting was submitted in the form of a report by the association's public land committee by its chairman, R. T. McNamara of Buhi. Its text was as follows:

1. Rights to legalize, or a long-term lease to issue, which would give the public domain survey and classified.

2. All of the domain that then comes under "grazing land" to be administered by the same bureau or the grazing department of the forest service, and under the same rules and regulations and that right be legalized.

3. That all allotments or privileges on the public domain be adjudicated by a court just as the water rights were.

4. That the sheepmen, when they want the public domain surveyed and classified, shall be entitled to a fee.

If we can not get these reforms substantially as above we prefer to have the public domain left as it is.

POSTOFFICE AT EDEN IS ROBBED

Burglars Force Way to Postal Funds and Break Into Garage; Take About $100.

"I'm glad that tooth stung in the taffy an' come out. I've been scared to swaller it home night."

(Copyright, 1925, Associated Publishers, Inc.)

Surmising the robbery, an interested citizen of Eden, Idaho, joined up with the postmaster at Eden, 20 miles north of here, according to reports received from Sheriff Stanton at Jerome, and hunted the postoffice and the Eden Auto company garage, of approximately $100 in cash and articles. The robbers, after taking between $5 and $10 from the Eden postoffice, entered the garage and captured a leather belt and made away with money found inside leaving checks found in other letters scattered about the floor.

After visiting the postoffice the robbers forced their way in the rear of the Eden Auto company where they took a Chalmers car belonging to the company and drove it to the garage and drove down to the Robinshop shop where their own car was stalled in the mud. After hauling their own car out of the mud the robbers took battery and gasoline from the Barnes car and returned to the garage where the glass door to the office was shattered.

After getting off the car and $100 was taken from a cash register which was secured with a hammer. The safe in the office yielded three sets of keys with which the robbers attempted to open the gasoline pump in front. Being unable to get the pump to work the robbers set fire to the gasoline pump hose and drove away.

At mid-hour Wednesday evening Sheriff Stanton and his deputies were still without definite clews as to who the robbers were.

American Falls reservoir district directors met at regular session here Tuesday for the purpose of giving formal approval to the 1925 annual water assessment.

Public Lands—After those reforms have been satisfactorily accomplished (and not until then) we want:

1. The public domain surveyed and classified.

2. All of the domain that then comes under "grazing land" to be administered by the same bureau or the grazing department of the forest service, and under the same rules and regulations and that right be legalized.

3. That all allotments or privileges on the public domain be adjudicated by a court just as the water rights were.
