

WILL ENCOURAGE CONSOLIDATION OF RAILROADS

Readjustment of Transportation Structure Can Best be So Accomplished, President Coolidge Thinks.

(By the Associated Press) KENOSHA, Sept. 4 (UPI)—The administration intends to do all it can in the next few years to encourage voluntary railroad consolidation in the hope that it will not be necessary to force groupings, rather than those proposed by the present Coolidge administration at White Court, with the statement that in his opinion, consolidations are a necessary fore-runner of a readjustment of the nation's railroad structure.

The president who Wednesday discussed the transportation problem here with Chairman Watson of the Senate committee on commerce, was represented today as believing that the immediate concern of congress should be to pass legislation legalizing the movement of railroads to merger. In the event results contained in the bill are not obtained it is expected that the president would have legislation designed to force consolidation.

No subject for law.

Mr. Coolidge requires that it would be impossible to pass a law forcing one railroad to take over another, but he believes legislation could be passed making it to the advantage of systems to absorb railroads which are in financial difficulties. The president, on other subjects as outlined in earlier news items, said while he has not been able to see the bill, he will give his views on it when it comes to him. He also expressed his opinion that the new tax law would not reduce application of the 1923 tax law and was fully committed to the creation of a department of education and relief.

FORMER GOVERNOR CALLS ON PRESIDENT COOLIDGE

SWAMPSIDE, Mass., Sept. 3 (UPI)—Robert P. Bass, former governor of New Hampshire and a prospective candidate for the vice-presidency of the Republics for the Republicans' semi-final nomination next year, called on President Coolidge.

Mr. Bass has been a Senator from New Hampshire since 1913, representing the latter as an irreconcilable.

In August, 1924, he called on the president and declared New Hampshire would not support the United States candidates to the presidential election as it was then conducted.

Mr. Coolidge spent the morning at his desk, taking a long nap at noon. He was then up again at 2 p.m. to follow the fate of the Shenandoah, and was kept closely informed regarding the wreck of the navy department and naval shipyards.

BAR ASSOCIATION MEETS

LAWTON, Idaho, Sept. 4 (UPI)—The Idaho bar association opened its annual meeting Thursday with Hon. D. L. Cooper of the northern division, presiding in place of Superintendent John E. Clegg, who was to be present. Mr. Clegg's annual address was read before the convention.

A. J. Morris of Portland, was guest of honor, and speakers included George W. Johnson, Frank Murphy of Boise, and Frank Murphy of Boise for the western division.

A message was received from Chester Lovell of San Francisco, who would speak on the same subject on Sunday evening. Morning and afternoon sessions will be held.

WANT TROOPS WITHDRAWN

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 4 (UPI)—General Alfonso, chief of military operations of Vera Cruz and Governor Juan Jose have gone to Mexico City to request the government to agree to a settlement of the dispute over the withdrawal of federal troops protecting ranches and villages against agricultural attacks.

With the withdrawal of the troops, armed bands have made their appearance in the region of San Francisco and Potosi and are menacing La Gloria and Morelos ranches.

OPOSED TO THIRD PARTY

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 4 (UPI)—Advice to Canadian labor against participation in politics as a distinct political party was given the Canadian Trade and Labor congress by James Duncan, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor.

"I don't care about trying that third party stuff," he warned. "We have tried it in the states and it isn't worth it."

LOOTER ON SCENE OF SHENANDOAH WRECK DRAWS FIRE OF GUARD

CALDWELL, Oct. 4 (UPI)—Looting of parts of the sunken Shenandoah, near Avia, early this evening, became so high that the guard at the American Legion post at Caldwell, on guard duty, fired two shots at a man seeking to steal a strip of the cell wall.

The looter was released after he had returned the silk.

CROPS ESCAPE FROST DAMAGE

Weather Conditions of Week Generally Favorable for Maturing Crops and Harvest.

Prosts last week did no serious damage in southwest Idaho, and except for local rains early in the week, weather conditions were generally favorable for harvesting of crops, according to a weekly summary of weather and crop conditions in Idaho issued by the United States weather bureau office at Boise.

The following report from Twin Falls appears as part of the summary:

Light frost Monday and Tuesday morning, no damage, followed by good weather, with temperatures reaching a little below about all thresholds; beans almost ready for harvesting; some digging early potatoes; very light crop; late potatoes doing fine.

Regarding conditions generally in southwest Idaho—the summary continues—“Reasonable weather obtained. Some frost, but not enough to do any damage. A short frost occurred in widely scattered localities. Some frost damage is reported in Adams county, where tender garden and truck crops were nipped, but conditions were highly favorable for maturing crops. The third crop of alfalfa has been harvested. The yield per acre is higher than in the early districts. Threshing is about over in the lower valleys, but in the higher sections harvesting and threshing are still to the fore. Corn is well along; beans are about ready to harvest; all fall crops are maturing in excellent shape. The rains and cool nights have helped the range to fair feed, ample and stock are in excellent condition.”

No Frost Damage.

In southeast Idaho, except for local rains early in the season, the weather was generally favorable for harvesting crops. Light to heavy frosts were reported on the 23rd, but they did no serious damage. Harvesting of corn has been completed in the south and is progressing rapidly in the north. The first crop of alfalfa has been harvested. Early potatoes are being dug and the late crop is doing well. Beets are growing well, but have been injured somewhat by blight and insects. The third crop of alfalfa is making a fine growth. Pastures and ranges are good to excellent.

Fair weather and moderate temperatures prevail in most of north Idaho. Harvesting and threshing is nearing the close, except in the very latest districts. Following the rains of last week, the ground is in good shape and sowing, plowing and seeding has been done. Corn and beans have been harvested. Apples are growing and red along. Alfalfa, grain and root crops are in fair condition. Hay—lettye is making splendid growth.

FLOOD DANGER ABOUT OVER

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 4 (UPI)—Flood danger for El Paso from the Rio Grande was considered past yesterday when waters that inundated portions of the city began to recede.

Troops from Fort Bliss, who were assigned to emergency flood duty, returned to their posts.

Other government officials participated in their efforts around Palens, Texas, home where flood damage was done last month.

It is to be seen if the families, who are being assisted by Red Cross forces, are being raised by popular subscription.

MEXICAN TROOPS MOVING

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Sept. 4 (UPI)—The Douglas Dispatch reports a battalion of 150 Mexican soldiers has been detached from Apodaca, Sonora, to the vicinity of Nazcoar, 10 miles south of the international border, to wipe out a band of renegade Mexicans who last Saturday attempted to drive Chinese residents out of Plateras, and Sustituto, Sonora, near Nazcoar.

THE SPORTS OF A DAY

CHURCH LEAGUE TEAMS TO PLAY ON LABOR DAY

Mormon Champions and Presbyterians Schedule Seven-Inning Classic Exhibition for Monday on Lincoln Field.

Scheduling of an exhibition Labor day game to be called at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon between the L. D. S. and the Presbyterians has been effected by Managers Leavitt and W. T. Kelley, according to tentative arrangement made last evening.

Large attendance at Lincoln Field for the game is expected by many.

The game will be the only one ever played on Labor day. Stars from the church league will be seen in both teams.

With only one defeat during the summer schedule, the Mormons will take the field as winners of the church league pennant. The heaviest portion of the league is included in the Mormon team, whose batting average has fluctuated this past month.

"Eddie" Hart, credited by many with being the foremost pitcher of the league, twice for the Presbyterians fans may expect the classic demonstration of Twin Falls baseball for the season.

Both teams are composed of Presbyterians who are successful business men, and the rebuilding of the Presbyterian team around Hart as pitcher has imparted sufficient strength to the nine to make the Presbyterians fully capable of coping with the Mormons on the diamond.

Simultaneously in Boise, the Christians are raring for the Twin Falls church league championship, while playing the Capital city Campbellites, who are the champions of their league. Manager Patrick expects to leave for Boise on Sunday afternoon with his string which will include Davis, Anderson, Wilson, Kling, Allard, Foster, Paulson, Dusett, Trudel and Parish.

SENATORS WIN FROM RED SOX

Washington Team Rides Rough Shot Over Opponents-to-Tune of 7 to 3.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4 (AP)—Advancing with the confidence which is the mark of every team in Washington, the Senators, headed by George C. Sisler, overcame Boston Red Sox to win their sixth consecutive victory, 7 to 3, and increase their lead for the American league pennant to six full games. The Athletics still in silent retreat after the punishment they sustained earlier in the week, were idle.

The standing:—Wash. Lost, 14; Wash. Won, 22; Boston, 82; Red Sox, 65; Philadelphia, 74; 49; 50.

For the first time since the regular series which marked their downfall, the New York Giants were able to take advantage of a misstep by their principal competitors. They staged an extra-inning rally, defeating Philadelphia 6 to 5 in the tenth, while Pittsburgh lost to St. Louis, 9 to 3. The Pittsburghers, however, beat Pittsburgh's team to eight games.

The standing:—Wash. Lost, 14; Wash. Won, 22; Boston, 82; Red Sox, 65; Philadelphia, 74; 49; 50.

At the end of his long hunting when he made three successive strikeouts with only eleven pitched balls, none of which were as much as scratched by the bat, Davis slipped off seven consecutive hits, and held the Mormons down to a single hit, which he got to Hitler for four hits.

Hartman opened the scoring in the initial inning when he made first on an infield error and was batted in by "Bill" Hitler. Cowles left off the third with a hit and after he had taken second on a wild pitch "Bill" Hitler made a run to the aid of the batsman with a sacrifice fly which brought Cowles home.

Three successive hits in the fourth aped the big hitting for the Rockies King doubled and Paulson followed with a single. Trudel knocked in King, but was caught out at second when trying to stretch his base. Paulson scored again and Clark, Johnson and Dickey followed.

Up from the blasters grunted the last of the fifth when the Mormons came to bat with the score tied. Cowles stepped to third where the ball was fumbled, and the shortstop, coming to the rescue, whipped it wildly into the air, whereupon Cowles safely crossed home.

ZULU GIRLS GO TO
THE "ALTAR" YOUNG*Marriage Meldens Paid for in Cattie.

When a Zulu girl goes courting, she wears her mother's kill-for-the-exact reason that otherwise she has worn no clothes at all, writes Grace L. Morrow, a few weeks and armlets a "spur" of beads constituting her whole attire.

In Zululand, just north of Natal, girls must marry early to replenish the cattle kraals. The maturity of a girl is celebrated by a "coming-out" party, her friends visit her, and a goat is killed and eaten. Henceforth she is an "intombi," a marriageable young woman.

In the days of the asobele, or Zulus, they were a well-trained, disciplined people, and could easily exterminate the other tribes. Men were conscripted for military service and could not marry until the chief permitted it.

The cattle are scarce, all the marriageable girls have gathered into the cattle kraal, and set to match the bulls, and make new sleeping mats. They probably have their little flirtations like girls of a whiter complexion, while all the Zulu matrons watch complacently. Meanwhile the bargaining for the brides proceeds. So many come down, so many to be paid.

After the marriages are arranged, all bargaining completed, the bride-elect begin the courtship. Donning her mother's kill and accompanied by a younger girl, she goes to the hut where the "intombi" is staying and sits down. She is not allowed to be induced to enter on the first visit.

Again she visits the bride, and this time, if sufficiently well bribed by presents and promises, she will enter. In this kind of advances and retreats, three weeks are passed before the marriage is consummated.

The girl, now assisted by the women of the kraal, she is growing the hairpin braids which can on no account be worn for life.

Into her tight circle are woven, day by day, coquettish fiber and yellow clay, till a huge hour-glass-shaped erection begins to form on her head.

For three weeks after marriage the bride is excluded from all work, but after that she becomes more or less the drudge of the kraal, doing chores for every one.

When a child is born, it is named after some current event. If born on a Saturday, it will be christened after the Virgin Mary; if born on a Sunday, after the sun; if born on a Monday, after the moon; if born on a Tuesday, after the stars; if born on a Wednesday, after the water; if born on a Thursday, after the fire; if born on a Friday, after the earth.

After the birth, the husband has been prohibited from entering the kraal.

For Safety at Sea

F. V. Spanner, British ship construction specialist, would reduce the number of deaths among sailors on building ships with "soft ends." Mr. Spanner advocates using vertical instead of horizontal plates for the bow structure, with the lines of weakness formed by the joints of the shell and deck plating arranged in such a way that these joints would fall in a more or less predetermined way in case of collision, instead of shearing off by the fastenings in the large and other joints would be such that the gradual overwhelming of this resistance and the crushing back of the bow structure would absorb the energy of the motion of the ramming ship so that it would be brought to a stop without placing the side of the vessel.

The South Sea Style

British naval authorities have abandoned the character of women of pleasure—a cushioned couch upon which lie prostitutes. From Queen Victoria of Britian, who, like Pluto, imminent on the strand, the departure of Captain Cook to the Faraway of Micronesia.

A very beaten in the caravans, part of the South Sea Style, by Capt. Morse Lovett, in Asia Minor.

Bristles on Head

The African crowned crane derives its name from the curious fan-shaped straw-colored crest of wiry bristles that adorn the back of its head, says Nature Magazine. This crest, with the long neck, bare face and bushy black feathers of the top of the head, give the bird a striking appearance.

In the News of the Day

HENRY MORGAN.

MRS. MRS. CARD.

OTTO H. KAHN.

MRS. TOWNSEND MORGAN.

Henry Morgan, American consul-general to Brussels, and father-in-law of Reginald Vanderbilt, is reported persona non-grata to Belgium and will be transferred shortly. Comptroller General McCull, who defies Attorney General Sargent, and will not approve a bill submitted by Rear Admiral Bullard and which had Sargent's O.K. Otto H. Kahn, New York financier, reported to have purchased property in Morocco at a cost of $15,000,000. Mrs. Townsend Morgan, noted society woman, who has just secured a divorce in Reno, although her husband denies the non-support charge.

Moraines of the South Seas.

Woman's beauty and flowing tenacity is next to nature, the great theme of South Sea literature. The early voyagers, who were indeed little sensitive to the charms of nature, felt the full impact of woman.

The first Spanish voyager to the Marquesas Islands records that the women of the islands were "of surpassing beauty, countenance small and graceful forms, and some of them were fairer than the ladies of Lima, who are famed for their beauty." Cook's character admits that "salt water" in this part of the world are complete coquettresses and that few among them is "any inferior to those" conversations.

Women of the South Seas, however, have abandoned the character of women of pleasure—a cushioned couch upon which lie prostitutes. From Queen Victoria of Britian, who, like Pluto, imminent on the strand, the departure of Captain Cook to the Faraway of Micronesia.

A very beaten in the caravans, part of the South Sea Style, by Capt. Morse Lovett, in Asia Minor.

The Thousand Islands

This is the name given to a collection of small islands in the expansion of the St. Lawrence river from the eastern end of Lake Ontario for about 100 miles. It is a favorite resort in New York state and parts of Canada. It is estimated that there are from 1,500 to 1,800 islands in the group. Lampros humeralis, a residence, has been erected on many of the islands. — Kansas City Star.

Marathon Run Legendary

The marathon race in the Olympic games has its origin in a famous Greek legend that after the battle of Marathon, a runner was sent from the field to Athens with the news of the victory. However, there is no historical basis for this. It is merely a legend.

Rome to House Subway

The royal commissioner in charge of the city administration in Rome has appeared in principle plans submitted by an Italian-French group which is seeking a subway concession. The proposals submitted cover the construction of two underground lines which will connect districts in Rome which are especially heavy, the routes having been chosen entirely with a view to affording relief where it is most needed regardless of the heavy expense that this will entail. The narrow streets and congested traffic in Rome make the construction of a railway especially desirable, as the transportation problem will continue to become more difficult as the population increases.

Independent Roads

Sombody's little "pooches" hold up a Westbound passenger train on the Westfield bridge. The man in the car saw the dog walking along the tracks. The locomotive whistle made no difference and the brakes were applied by the humane crew. The train came to a standstill on the bridge. Just then the people noticed it had gone far enough in that direction, anyway, and leisurely retraced its steps, passing under the entire train and ambled off the bridge while the passengers were puzzling over the delay. — Boston Globe.

Saving Lives

Metal nail collars are now used to save the lumber lost by splitting when temperatures drop below zero. The doors and the rear of the steel cars are built with a metal frame and a different nail. Before the nail is driven, one of the collars is slipped over it, preventing it from splitting the wood quite all the way. Thus a hammer blow can be applied directly to the nail head, rendering the nail steady. It is claimed that from 80 to 90 per cent of the time, however, the nail splits, due to the fact that the nail is bent over.

HAVE WE LOST ART OF "GOING TO BED?"

*Here's Writer Thinks So,
and States His Case.*

The modern world does not understand the art of going to bed comfortably. The proceeding has degenerated into a mere act of domestic routine. We just go to bed. Of the seductive pleasure, the enjoyment of doing that comfortably, we have lost the least conception. Men want, Nature, also, that we should go to bed. It takes more effort to go to bed than will, and turn it" permanently. So far as we are concerned, going to bed comfortably counts among the lost arts. And for our ignorance of it we pay forfeit in the shape of insomniac, neurotic, jumpiness and other various other forms of physical and mental disease.

Men, however, in many ways more skilled in the art of good-living than we, know the recuperative value of restful sleep, and they contrast this loss by providing conditions that induce us to "lost them" — so that we go to bed comfortably.

For them, there is no stripping off warm clothing, a pleasant bath in two cold sheets; no such nomenclature as hot-water bottles; that heat only a small patch of glazed surface and thereby make the rest of it feel colder to the aching limbs of a would-be sleeper. When they warmed a bed, they wanted it to be comfortable all over, provided it was definitely easy for the weary to creep into.

If it's modern houses possesses a warming-up it hangs on the wall as a precious antique — that must not be touched lest the shining luster of its polished copper should be dimmed by ineptive handling. And the bed-clothes are so thin, so delicate, so easily torn that it promises to fill with glowing embers and wrapped round with a piece of blanket to prevent burning the sheets, the warming-powder was thrown into the bed and moved slowly up and down until every inch had been so perfectly adjusted that the bed was a perfect nest.

In between the sheets he or she would snuggle gratefully down into their caressing embrace and go luxuriously to sleep.

And what jolly beds the old folks had! Not the hard, bone-torturing mattresses stretched upon iron frames that we use, but those "ticks" stuffed with dried feathers and straw filled with down. One lay softly upon them and felt at ease. In an old "four-poster," with its curtains closely drawn, all outside distractions were excluded — one could not help but sleep. Real bed comfort vanished with the four-poster, and, indeed, it was something to be grieved about.

examples of these increased in numbers. But they have been elected from houses in which they once held pride of place among the most cherished household goods — Exchange.

Cupid Pitching

Judge Summersfeld was deplored the tightness with which people marry these days. They are not getting but a game and a fast-paced game at that. One of these days I expect we'll have a matrimonial world series.

"Only the other day a young friend came to me all radiant, crying: 'Betty has accepted me; Betty has accepted me.'

"The following day I met him again and noting 'the blushing' took out what was the trouble.

"She changed her mind," he explained. "I asked her why and she wouldn't give any reason and then she said:

"Tell you what: Propose to me and we'll make it the best two out of three." Los Angeles Times.

Napoleonic Mementoes

Napoleon's birthplace, the house at Ajaccio, Corsica, has been given to the French government by Prince Victor-Napoleon, who, in return, has received the Roman sword of honor presented to Napoleon when he was First Consul, and the superb cloak by Clodion. These formed part of the personal estate of Napoleon I and were the object of litigation for nearly 20 years between Empress Eugenie and the French government. Prince Victor inherited this litigation with the rest of his property, but by the present arrangement it is definitely settled. The sword and cloak are now in the Decorative Arts museum.

Modern Buses for Moscow

Moscow, which from time immemorial has depended upon the horse-drawn omnibus and the conveyance trolley car for its transportation, will soon have its own motorbuses. Eight omnibuses of the London type will make their appearance soon, and it is the intention of the municipal authorities eventually to obtain sufficient additional vehicles to establish connections with suburban areas. The officials say, in effect, that they will relieve the fearful congestion on trolley cars and trains, and will also encourage part of the population to move to the suburbs.

Seasoning Paper

In the paper industry, as in the lumber industry, seasoning of the newly manufactured product is essential. Paper seasoned or dried in the old-fashioned way by being hung on cords in a drying loft suffered from those dried by mechanical means. That is the reason in this way. Before a paper is ready for writing paper, it has to be dried. Bleeding paper is the only marked paper. China clay is used for the better grades.

What is of great value to you may be lost, what contains also waste paper? What "Ad" reads "the bill."

CORN REGISTERS CHARD SETBACK SHARON SETBACK

Price Moves to Woll Over a Dollar Then Goes Backward
Almost as Fast.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4. (AP)—There was a lively back-and-forth in corn prices today after jumping to well above $1.00 a bushel September delivery, a result of selling to cash profits. Price prospects of early weather and of showers likely to check damage to the corn crop did much to start the selling. All grain closed weak, corn 1-3¢ to 1¢ lower, September 75-8 and December 85-8 to 5¢-10¢. Wheat finished 2-18¢ to 1¢ lower. December 45-6, 1-2¢; April 45-6, 1-2¢; May 45-6, 1-2¢; June 45-6, 1-2¢ off and priceless varying from 2¢ decline to a rise of 12 cents.

At first the course of the corn market was governed by the fact that reports for September harvests had been in the west and that reports had been almost non-existent of the east. It later developed, however, that country officials of the east had increased an account of their bushels-in-value, at the same time as the west had increased an account of their bushels-in-value.

At this point, however, the market was at a standstill.
