Washington Player Gets High Honor; Other Men of American League Named for Meritorious Services.

TWIN FALLS, Sept. 23.—(UPI)—Roger Peckinpaugh, of the Washington club, was selected as the most valuable player in the American League for the 1925 season by a small margin over Al Simmons, youthful star, who has been shooting in the outfield for the Athletics.

Peckinpaugh, just finishing his third year as a major league shortstop, was given a total of 49 points, while 45 possible. Al and Simmons received 41 points in the voting for the honor which was announced yesterday by a committee composed of one veteran baseball writer in each city of the American League.

By a method used to determine the award, each member of the committee picked the player whom he thought had been of most value to his team in 1925 and then ranked these eight players on lots which give first place a value of eight points, second place, seven points, etc., the rules governing the contest, action of the committee previous winners of the trophy are ineligible to the prize. EXTRAORDINARY SURPRISE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (UPI)—Roger Peckinpaugh, of the Washington club, was selected as the most valuable player in 1925, expressed both surprise and regret when informed of the honor by Prentiss in his office.

He was surprised at his sudden fortune and he regretted that Al Simmons, Philadelphia outfielder and runner-up in the award contest, had not won.

"I'm sorry Al didn't get it," Peckinpaugh said. "He's been a great help to his team and has had a fine season. But he has a better chance to do it later on. I would have liked a younger man."

The veteran shortstop, known to friends as "Highball" and "Peck," loves his job and is glad to have it. "I'm up for a few days with a sprained ankle!" He is willing to get back into the game, he said, but is to be given a longer rest in preparation for the world series.

A carnival of southern hospitality

The opening of the famous old Maxwell House, years ago

It was just after the Civil War that the old Maxwell House of Nashville was finished. Rumors of its magnificence had aroused the anticipations of the South, and most of the notables of old Dixie were there that day to celebrate the opening.

What happy excitement there was! What mingling of voices and laughter and music. What speech-making and hand-clapping. And what food!

One account says of that first great banquet, "It was a carnival, a carnival of southern hospitality."

We can picture—moving softly through all the stir and hubbub—the courteous waiters, beating the big dishes that were to spread the fame of the old Maxwell House.

But the most famous of all its good food was its coffee

Year by year its fame grew, till in every section of the country the Maxwell House coffee to be known for its hospitality and its old time southern dishes.

Year after year, the great and the distinguished traveled to it to enjoy its wonderful food. But most of all, their praise was given to the special blend of coffee which the Maxwell House served.

And they carried back to every state in the Union the fame of its rich fragrance and smooth, mellow flavor—the full-bodied goodness of Maxwell House Coffee.

Today the largest selling coffee in city after city

This same coffee that won such praise in the old South long ago, can today be bought at all better grocery stores throughout the United States.

SELLING FORCES

WHEAT LOWER

Increased Sales of Grain Chiefly From Northwest Causes Foodstuff Market Slump.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (UPI)—Increased selling, chiefly from the northwest, brought about a rapid descent of wheat values today and indirectly had more to do with the fact that every day since the market opened has touched the lowest price set this season. Wheat closed weak $1.47@ per bushel, down $1.47@, and May $1.50@-$1.30@, with corn 13@ 14@ off, oats about 4@-5¢ less, and provisions varying from 5¢ to 40¢ decline to a rise of 7¢.

Official reports which were current in the City of Chicago showed taking the brunt of most of the buying sales both against Canadian and United States spring wheat. In addition to the hedging pressure, there was evidence of spreading between Chicago and Winnipeg that forced the market down. Meanwhile, dearth of export business complicated by difficulties in getting the ship of wheat and flour from the United States in the last two months were more than 8,000,000 bushels short of the corresponding total a year ago.

Virtually the lowest prices of the day in the wheat market prevailed at the finish. Figures on European wheat production showed that the present acreage was reduced 10% and wheat areas also received tell-tale signs highly beneficial to crops in Australia and India as well. About the only counterbalance was a report which was afterward denied that all offers of wheat by Russia had been withdrawn.

On the other hand, the northwest sold all day, here, as well as in the west.

Definite information from Washington that the bulk of the 1925 corn crop is out of danger from frost contributed to the acute weakness of the corn market and the December delivery of corn went below 80¢ a bushel for the first time this year. Oats sagged with corn.

In the provision market, the weakness of grain was largely an effect of higher prices on hogs.

TAX RATE FOR COUNTY FIXED FOR YEAR 1925

Commissioners Make Levies of $1.50 on $100 Valuation, Expected to Yield Same Revenue as Last Year.

Twin Falls county's state and county tax levies were fixed Wednesday by the commissioners at $1.50 on each $100 of assessed valuation.

The rate is higher by 15 cents on each $100 valuation than last year, but the total amount of tax levies, however, it is estimated, will not exceed the amount produced by last year's levies because of reduction in the state tax, which is estimated to approximately $1.00 more, as compared with last year's valuation.

The state tax rate in this county is 15 cents, resulting in the same last year. The state income tax levy is increased from 85 cents last year to $1 this year, because of the general increase in bond redemption and interest funds, which constitute fixed expenses. Levy for current expense fund has been increased from 2 cents to 3 cents, and the school fund from 45 cents to 50 cents.

The levy for the agricultural and interest fund, which is used for the county hospital, remains the same as last year at 4 cents.

Value of the county, including real and personal property and its utilities, which was $27,300,000 last year, has been reduced this year, according to estimate of the county auditor's office, to approximately $25,000.
