Rent Situation Is Given Statistician's Attention

Roger W. Babson In Regular Weekly Interview Declares Rents Have Declined 4 Per Cent in Twelve Months.

BABSON, PARK, Mass., Nov. 5.—Roger W. Babson today, in his weekly exclusive interview in this paper, discussed the rent situation in which rents have declined, as well as the cost of living in Canada which is probably unequalled in any other part of the world.

“Statistics about ten years ago showed that rents had declined 1 per cent. While statistics are not available for the entire country, it is probably safe to say that rents today average not more than 4 per cent above what they did in 1924, rents were at the highest figure for the past 20 years and averaged 6 per cent above 1914. Since 1914, rents have been in a slow but steady decline.”

Where Greatest Increase Has Occurred

“When we compare rents today with previous years we find that the greatest increase has occurred in the cities which are most highly developed—like Los Angeles, New York, Boston and Detroit. This is not a criterion of these cities but is the inevitable result of greater rents in New York and Los Angeles—4 per cent per annum, while rents in the intermediate cities, like San Francisco, on the other hand, show an advance of only about .50 per cent per annum, and probably could not be even natural for these cities where rents have increased the most to have the heaviest decline during the next few years. The rate of increase with time has been continually decreasing. When given up highest may come down fastest. When the pendulum swings to the right it likewise swings to the left.

“A recent study made by Babson shows that rents in every city which has an intermediate city between the coast and mountains are in a position to absorb the effects of rents of the cities where rents have increased the most. Water always seeks its level in every place of life.”

What Rents Are Lowest?

“Statistics indicate that from the tenant's view point, the cheapest cities in which to live are Bay City, Michigan; Billings and Butte, Montana, and St. Louis, Missouri. It is interesting that an increase in rent in one city does not necessarily mean an increase in another. Water always seeks its level in every place of life.”

“In contrast to these cities the National Association of Real Estate Boards reports the relatively small amount of money spent by residents on rent in such cities as Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Superior, Wisconsin; Tacoma, Washington, and Wichita, Kansas. Rents in these cities at July of this year were not more than 7 per cent higher than those before the war.”

Rents in these cities at July of this year were not more than 7 per cent higher than those before the war.”

No More Building Shortages

“The building shortage which developed before the war has been largely overcome, and many authorities believe it has been fully compensated for. Only a few cities now report a short supply of building material. Many cities report over-building of some kind. In most cases this over-building is for business purposes, hotels, or expensive apartment houses. Where very short supply exists, it is usually due to the growth and the small apartment. This over-building seems to be most pronounced in the Eastern section of the country, where there is a tendency for large cities to expand rapidly for business offices and apartments.”

The past few months the only section of the country which has shown a slight tendency toward over-building is Florida. More than half of the sections of state real estate are truly out of reason and one realizes this more than 20 years ago.

“Local authorities who are trying to keep property rents down and stabilize the situation.”

Rents per room in the large cities of the country are about the same kind of price as in the small cities. Rent ranges from $250 to $350 per month in cities of 25,000 population to $10 per room per month in the very large cities, the range being $100 to $200 per month. When it comes to apartments we find they run from $10 per room per month to the small cities to $35 per room per month in the large cities.”

These statements should be carefully read and understood by people who are engaged in real estate business in this country. What one considers the rents and cost of living here I wonder if the people of the States have any more money left at the end of a month than if they worked

TARROW DEFENDS NEGRO SUSPECTS

First Three Witnesses for State Testify in Murder Trial Against 11 Colored Persons

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 5. (AP)—The first three witnesses for the state in the trial of Dr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Sweet, and other negroes charged with the killing of white people, took the stand in recorder court today.

Testifying were Charles and Arthur C. Hayes of New York, members of the defense counsel, interrupting frequently to object to the forms of questioning by the state.

The defense attorneys, Herman Kraft, Dr. W. C. Ryan, Wayne county medical examiner, and Inspector Norton M. Shattock of the police department.

Tell of Shooting

Shattock, the first to testify, described the circumstances surrounding the shooting at the Sweet home. There was no resistance at Sweet's home when he came to the shooting and explained in detail the arrest of Dr. Sweet and the other defendants, and the condition of the victims.

Under cross examination by Mr. Darrow, Shattock said that neither he nor any other officer had attempted to enter the Sweet home after the shooting, though he was expected at the Sweet home after the doctor had moved into the "White" house.

The inspector said he had no other motive for visiting the neighborhood of the scene of the shooting than to prevent his house.

Kraft was called briefly, telling of his identification of Bremer's body at the county morgue.

Dr. Ryan's testimony consisted of his examination of the post mortem examination of Bremer's body, which revealed no hemorrhage following gunning wounds, he testified.

WESTERN ASSOCIATION OF TRAINMEN SELECT OFFICERS FOR 1 YEAR

CHEMICO, Nov. 5. (AP)—A post office department order was served today on the publishers of Judge, a monthly magazine published by the American Association of the Country at Chemico, known as "The Parisian judges." Exception was made to the publication's name because it has nothing to do with the law.

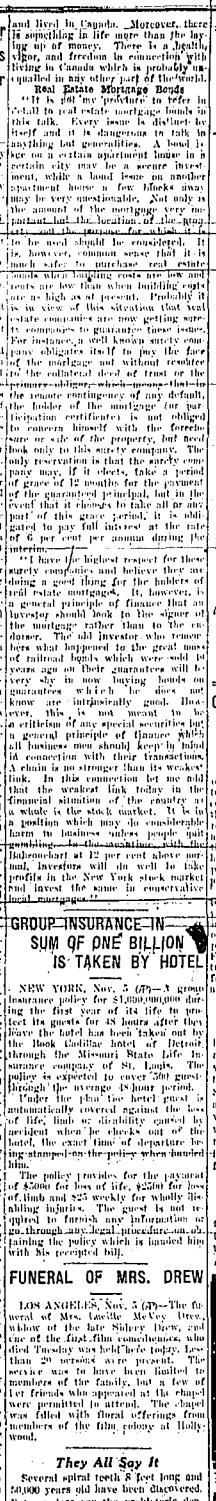

The editors of Judge are at the head of a underworld syndicate for the publication, which the publishers' executive offices, "The judge," were presented with a post mortem examination of their leader while held in the custody of the police, recently. Some suggestions and really comprised nothing but wholesome humor.

Rubber Skin Saves Fruit

A practical new process for preserving tropical fruits, so that the bananas, oranges, etc., may be shipped intact, has recently been invented by a former employee of the U. S. Rubber Co., St. Louis. The process is expected to cover 500 guest through the average 15-month period. Under the plan the hotel guest, when checked out, will receive a little before it is ripe, is wrapped with a thin coating of rubber latex, which, when conjugated, forms a protective skin. The process of ripening is slowed up; it is kept, keeping the fruit in good condition.

Right Way to Lay Carpet

Carpeting should always be laid so that the pile is coming up against the wall when it is torn, so that will save much trouble when sweeping.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DREW

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5. (AP)—The funeral of Mrs. Dorothy Drew, widow of the film star Edward G. Robinson, was held in the First Methodist Church, where she died Saturday evening. She was 30. The service was limited to members of the family, but a few of her film friends attended. The casket was filled with floral offerings from members of the film colony at Hollywood.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Twenty leaders of the dry forces, including platoons of the 14th and 15th regiments, crossed in type their disapproval of the attitude in prohibition shown by General Coolidge, Secretary Mellon, Governor Smith of New York, Mayor John F. Hylan of New York, and the republican leaders in the country.

I Trust Men
On face creams
Notice my results
By Edna Wallace Hopper

For 14 years I have consulted experts on the utmost in face creams. They have all been good, but mostly French.

As a result, at a grandmother's age, I still have a baby skin. Many of you girls envied my complexion, and I told them why.

I searched the world to find these helps, and spent a fortune. Most women can not do that. So I am helping every woman to call the best place.

It is true that you can't buy the edge I am urging you to try them.

One is Youth Cream. It contains products of both lemon and strawberry. The other is French. Both selection known to foster, feed and protect your skin. My own skin, saved by millions, shows how much it does.

Both are sold in two types—cold cream and vanishing. Both have the same essential ingredients. I apply the cold cream at night to foster my skin while I sleep. In the morning use the vanishing type as a powder, laid on as all day protection.

Now I am old, yet no delicate countenance is a finer complexion. "You are largely healthy, Youth Cream."

I could wish every girl and woman to do what I have done. I will gladly send a sample free to anyone. Learn what it means to you. Clip the coupon.

CO-OPERATION LACK SEEN IN LIQUOR PROBE

Shad Hodgkin, Chamber of Commerce Head and Former Mayor, Makes Pungent Comment in Address.

Twin Falls continuing liquor inquiry is an instance of lack of co-operation in the community that is to discredit Twin Falls, he said.

"The community," Shad says, "is the community that is to discredit Twin Falls."

Hodgkin, president of the chamber of commerce and former mayor of Twin Falls, declared in a speech at the chamber of commerce meeting, Tuesday evening, before a banquet meeting of about 50 members of Twin Falls Credit Association, that such credit is based.

Mr. Hodgkin emphasized the value of co-operation in community building. He praised the credit association as a factor in making for elimination of economic conditions for encouraging development of individual characteristics upon which credit is based.

Discussing the subject of credit from a broad standpoint, Mr. Hodgkin, after a short statement that credit depends upon sound financial and spiritual foundations, called attention to the importance of personal faith in human virtues and rugged honesty, that is essential to all human relationships.

He suggested that merchants in some instances had been loath to sacrifice the value of their business, had offended against sound credit principles by stimulus demand for credit and unduly exacting terms of payment.

He praised the credit association as an agency working for better economic conditions by combatting abuses of credit and bringing about appreciation of the value of credit.

Suggesting that the association might continue its work with that of the chamber of commerce, Mr. Hodgkin said that the chamber of commerce and other civic organizations now exist, and argued for unity of effort through one central organization.

W. H. Brundage, chairman of the chamber of commerce merchants' committee, announced the decision of Twin Falls merchants to close their places of business at 11 a. m. next Saturday, and agreed that business men attend the American Legion's Armistice day exercises in the Elk hall beginning at that hour.

Tells Methods

John J. Hughes, manager of the credit association, outlined methods for controlling losses through bad credit and suggested that the state legislature committee "to work for an amendment to Idaho law to provide for dealing more effectively with bad debts."

Members of the association were reported to bring as guests at this meeting out-of-town business men, each member bringing a guest who is engaged in the same line of business as himself.

The program was arranged by W. S. Alford, president of the association, who presided at the meeting.

SONG LEADER CONDUCTS EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

The special meetings started at the Christian Church Thursday night with George L. Clegg, organist.

George Clegg, organist, of Hillton, was detained at Milton by the serious illness of his wife, Howie, until the next evening when he will be home again, perhaps for tonight's service. Until he comes the service will be carried on as announced each evening at 7:30, except Monday, a regular meeting night, when Clegg will be home.

The W. H. Wright & Sons store, now displaying many new Christmas decorations in its windows, will be open during the special features of these meetings and the public is invited to come and enjoy it.

TURKISH RULER IN POVERTY IN FRENCH TOWNS

Sultan With Small Household Forced to Pawn Valuables to Live; Makes Repeated Calls for Help.

By the Associated Press

SAN REMO, France, Nov. 5.—The aged and half-blind Sultan of Turkey is struggling to maintain his rule and has a small household at the quiet retreat on his beloved Lake Geneva, where he is surrounded by modest relatives and former supporters.

While other former European nobles and nobodies are living in luxury in foreign lands, the Sultan's household consists of a few Government officials, a maid and his modest relatives from poverty.

The aged Sultan recently was spotted in New York, where he was obliged to go to the United States to seek help.

Soon after that he was threatened with eviction if he failed to pay his rent. Things looked black on the face of the Sultan, who had no money to meet his expenses.

He sold his diamond ring and his watch when his sister gave him a situation paying a diamond ring and a rope of pearls.

Scarcely a week ago he left home again when the Sultan's nephews stole his pearls and squandered half the amount realized by his mother's jewels which were sold to a number of French jewellers.

A week ago yesterday he made upon the former monarch's relatives but many of them are in a great deal as the Sultan himself.

The Sultan's relatives, now scattered throughout Europe, are in the last stages of destitution. He and his wife and two daughters are facing eviction for non-payment of rent. When he has started a subscription to their behalf.

The situation of the other 250 members of the imperial family of Turkey is even more acute than that of the Sultan. They are scattered in different parts of Europe and live only by the charity of their friends. When they can no longer afford to live in Turkey, they intend to take about $1000.

Their property was confiscated and their jewels and property confiscated. These fugitives include the Sultan's wife and many friends. And Turkey will remain in Jerome this winter, Mr. Tracy was told by the Pittsburgh banker, who is chairman of the executive committee of the Patriotic Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy and family were traveling visitors in Paris during the late of the week.

Mrs. H. H. Tracy has arrived home from California and will spend the next month for the benefit of her health.

Loddy Spofford has returned from Portland, where he spent several months.

Charming party consisting of Lynne, Robert and Sam Blodget, Michael Collier, Will Meier and Wheeler O'Hearn have returned from a hunting trip in the mountains and obtained a deer.

Mrs. Nellie Christensen and Miss Margaret Christie with Miss Daniel Patock were Saturday shoppers in Twin Falls.

Alta Strain delightedly entered Edmond Heights Club at Jerome on Saturday evening to begin a Hills Bros. program and again was enjoyed. The refreshments were carried out with the Hills Bros. idea.

Alma Lavenia and Jerome, a spic-and-span girl from Waukesha, where she spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Berry of Twin Falls spent the week end with Mrs. E. S. Shepherd of Jerome.

That Wonderful Quaker Flavor

Is true Scotch flavor—
only QUAKER OATS has it

THE one thing to remember in buying oats is that Quaker Oats has the flavor you want. The difference is great.

Oats, originally a Scotch dish, must have a certain Scotch flavor.

There's real Scotch tang to that Quaker flavor.

No other brand has it. None successfully imitates it. It's due to exclusive Quaker milling of the finest, plumpest oats. Milling methods which took some 50 years to perfect.

Makes all the difference in the world. Quaker flavor spills folks for ordinary brands.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. No kitchen mess, busy mornings. Faster than plain toast.

Due to Quaker milling methods, it supplies, too, the "roughage" you need to make laxatives seldom necessary.

HANSEN GIRLS GIVE PARTY FOR BOOSTER BOYS

HANSEN, Nov. 5.—The Worth

Worth girls were hostesses to the Booster boys at a social given at the schoolroom of the Public school. The evening was spent in playing games directed by Miss Eva Brown. Refreshments were served and the guests departed for their homes after having spent a most delightful evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Beekant, Mrs. Dallas Gordon and wife of Edon, and Mrs. F. E. Johnson were special guests of Mrs. V. H. Blakley, organizer.

Sam Wiseman is spending this week hunting deer in the southwest regions.

In response to a message telling of the serious illness of his father, Leo Kelley left for Beaver on the early train Saturday.

Albert and Jinxie Hughes have been unable to have their first walk with attack of yellow jowlers.

Mr. P. S. Bell has returned to Twin Falls and will make his classes here.

Mr. and Mrs. Taynek's son is Wednesday.

The Misses Marie and Lillian Nelson visited over the week end with relatives at Buell.

The young Hansen people attended the dinner given by the M. E. church women at Martha's Wedding eve.

Misses Mary, Helen, Alice, Mrs. Charles Gilbert, Mrs. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Herman East and Mrs. M. H. Taylor.

Misses Louise, a favorite of ours, is giving the number of 30 in Friday evening at her home. The girls come masked and costumed. Hall-o'-ween games were played and several contests engaged in—at 11 o'clock a two-course luncheon was served.

HOBOS STILL INFEST ROADS

Seasonal Travel South for Wanderer Sets in; Tramps Not All Using Flivers.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 5. (UPI)—The old type hobo may be fading from him, but there is a new breed of tramp appearing in the southeast that is the modern millennial. It is yet extant; and of this time has come with his personal peripety southward.

Another of the battered vagabond is on his way. The mode of transportation is some what varied, according to merits of the rods and blinds of the fastidious, while the mobility centers themselves with the old-time "tramp" (tramping) never known the boxer.

Frequent stops are made for company, and the seasonal period of tenancy is not infrequent, and from all directions. This year seems to find an unusual proportion of them with the Panama fever.

Starting out for Atlanta, Wayne, Georgia, attaches a hood-lidly, and before the clings is made in Chicago, there is a clasp of several weeks in a single city. And when the vagabonds reach the far south they have become almost a legend.

It requires many interviews, however, with every man, woman, and child, faced with the problem of housing a number excessively beyond the fore sight of the planners of his calamity or little jail. In this case, he can conveniently escape to the local clubs and thus put in the known trouble of hopping the next freight.

Being of a heterogeneous nature and type, the object of the permanent, it appears, will be dissipation. This is the "bad egg" type, as he is referred to by his fellow travelers. This type of hobo has no place in society, and now one can't think of anything else but trying to get Dempsey back.

He has exchanged his swashy hat, for a black cap, and the old-time tramps wanted in the authorities, and not infrequently are detained, mostly without punishment; for it is a curious experience that the world may be too small for them.

On the east side of New York usually forgets he has a hip pocket which yanked from the rods by a hulky black chief of police in Tammany.

Then there is the contrast — the younger making his first trip and just beginning to dolefully doubt he will ever break even.

A radical, somewhat pathetic change has come in Jack Kearns.

Reverence of relationship between Jack Dempsey and himself was something which Kearns refused to believe in. And he had an idea that the champion was the real type of "spit." He had an idea that the champion was just a roll of that "bad-boy" stuff and that, after going to him, his life would bring him over from Bermuda. There is the other type who will continue his alibi of leavers to personate consumption. Other than work, he had nothing.

But the most horrendous and frenzied to the old type species is the genuine vagabond, who only knows the call of the underworld, in many cases the plain honest boy who is out to see what he wants.

Despite every effort on the part of Kearns for recognition—indeed, there has been more than the past few months—Kearns has clung tightly to his first declaration: "Kearns and I are through for all time."

When the first, cleanup coupe and Dempsey, in the existence of Kearns, went blithely along about his business, Kearns merely snickered:

"Love does a lot of strange things at first. After a while the couple will consider me the other."

In those days, Kearns assumed the attitude of a man who is sure of the outcome of a tangled situation. But as time passed, and nothing but trouble set in, instead of making up with Kearns, proceeded with plans that depicted Kearns entirely from the picture. Kearns began to love the song from and Kearns, in turn, offered him a job.

Of a sudden, Kearns, who earlier had insisted that "Dempsey will have to come to me," hastened to California to attempt meeting Dempsey in railroads. The champion, however, Kearns was waiting—got off the train before it arrived so as to avoid Kearns.

Again and again Kearns made overtures—and just as often as Dempsey rejected them.

Every effort that Kearns has made—and his latest ones have been of an almost frantic nature—in the effort to bring the champion back to him, Kearns once again, domineering and with the haughty ear of the flattest world, has shed his pride because he is not as humble; he has gone every bit as far as the champion, who is now Dempsey's active manager. And the result is nil.

Late in October I met up with Teddy, Dempsey's manager, in Los Angeles. He killed himself with Kearns when the "split" came and I asked: "Where's Kearns?" "In Los Angeles."

"To try to get Dempsey back—that's the way," answered Hayes.

Some of the stories say he's gone there to settle up some red debts, but he's still there, so he's gone out to try to get to the champ and talk to him so you can patch things up.

"Keans is all broken up about this thing," added Hayes. "I never saw such a change in a fellow as he's gone in (one) year. You know he didn't take the thing seriously at first. He thinks he's got a chance to make a living for today. But the changes hasn't. And now he can't think of anything else but trying to get Dempsey back."

He has changed his swashy hat, though, to a black cap, and the old-time tramps wanted in the authorities, and not infrequently are detained, mostly without punishment; for it is a curious experience that the world may be too small for them.

Do you gulp lunch?

So many of us do. And then comes indigestion, that kind of trouble that can easily make you miserable all afternoon.

Hurrying through the noon-day meal is a habit hard to break. But there is a way, easy to learn, that has helped many to dodge indigestion—simply eating a few Peppermint Life Savers after meals. Try them. They often work wonders this way.

Indigestion is a miserable thing. So many people suffer from it. If there's only time that simple method our grandfathers used—peppermint.

Now it is available in a new and really convenient form—Peppermint Life Savers; the little candies with the hole.

They are "life savers"

As aid to digestion
