Foreign Affairs Committee of House Favors Appropriation
To Arms Conference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Appropriation of $50,000 to defray expenses of American delegates to the preparatory disarmament conference to be held at Geneva was unanimously recommended by the House Foreign Affairs Committee in connection with a request from President Coolidge.

The administration's plan for participation in the discussion meetings were pressed forward; Secretary Kellogg conferred with Secretary Davis, the war department and presented also his views to General John J. Pershing respecting the selection of army and navy technical personnel that will aid the American delegation.

General Delegates—Delegates to appear before the conference this month and many officers will be selected from among either the present military staff at European capitals or those who have recently been in Europe. The experience of the knowledge of foreign languages also is being considered in making selections.

In view of the fact that the Senate before recommending the expense appropriation, the Foreign Affairs committee delayed the language of the resolution at length and then reconsidered a number of amendments that were offered by Senator Smith, of Massachusetts, Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, Senator James C. Needham, of New York, to instruct the American delegation to present a resolution calling for consideration of the advisability of a general裁军 conference.

A motion to postpone the vote on the amendment was rejected but a number of delegations were adopted.

PASADENA BOARD REPORTS

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP)—The sprint-motorcycle inspection committee, pointed by City Manager Robinson to inquire into the crash of a temporary grandstand at the New Year's Day with the death of two men, living and more than one thousand people injured today, A. C. Shaver, chief building inspector, and C. Buckland, assistant, were exonerated for their failure to use expert judgment and the authority delegated to them in the inspection of the private stand.

The report recommended that the board of city directors take immediate steps toward compiling an adequate building code and an addition be made to the personnel of the inspection department.

WALKOUT ON PAPER.
PUEBLO, Colo., Jan. 6 (AP)—Despite a walkout of printers in the Pueblo Times office, the paper will be published as usual tomorrow morning. Editors and mathees of the players turned out to the last show and explained they had nothing to do with the strike.

The walkout followed the failure of publishers of the two Pueblo daily papers—and the local telephone company to agree on a three-dollar a week wage increase asked by the union members.

SEEK TO GAIN FORTUNE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gambler William Nelson McMillan, 10, began his fight to gain possession of McMillan's Club, a $100,000 estate left by McMillan.

The probate court refused to accept the will on the ground that there was a presumption of undue influence on the part of Stephen who drew up the will.

Miss Isabelle Pope, McMillan's granddaughter, who was given a $100,000 annuity, eight royalties of young McMillan's are contesting the will.

AGREEMENT NOT YET OBTAINED

Miners and Anthracite Operators Deadlocked After Day of Conferences; Meet Today.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—The anthracite labor wage conference adjourned at 10:30 tonight in an absolute deadlock until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Both sides expressed their willingness to continue negotiations in an effort to end the long coal strike. President Lewis of the miners stated that he would regard the breakup of negotiations with an agreement as "public calamity."

Waldo circulated reports that an agreement had been reached yesterday between the miners and operators in the Union Anthracite district. The conference is being held, to the effect that broadcasting stations have spread word throughout the anthracite field that there had been a settlement.

Assurance was given by spokesman for both the miners and the operators that there was no final agreement, but that a situation stood virtually unchanged when the joint conference began shortly before noon.

CATTLEMEN JOIN IN WOOL MEETING

Livestock interests of State, Working on Grazing Prob- lem, to Meet in Idaho Falls.

MACKAY, Idaho, Jan. 6.—The officers of the Idaho State Cattle and Horse Growers' association have accepted the invitation of the Idaho Woolgrowers' association to join with them in holding their annual convention together next month at Idaho Falls.

The dates of the joint convention have been fixed for January 14 and 15 with both conventions occupying the same hotel and the two groups meeting with subjects of general, such as to bring out further the best thought on the vital question of grazing in the forests and the prevention of fires, and also to make a full record for the consideration of congress on the findings of the United States Senate forest and public lands committee which held hearings throughout the west during the summer just past.

On these questions, and practically on all questions of cattle and sheep management, the work of the two associations on the forest and on the public domain, are presenting a united front in a sift of those questions lies proven that the law must be changed.

The importance of these questions, and the points that have been reached in their solution, are such as to find the maximum interest of the entire country, and those in question, but what this will be the largest meeting of cattle and sheep ever held in Idaho.

Other state associations composed of cattle and sheep are holding similar meetings throughout the country and history will mark the winter meeting of the forest and public land and open land associations for the future.

COURT REQUIRES LONG JAIL TERMS AND FINES

Frank Turner and William Kelly, found guilty by a jury in probate court of the two charges of illegal possession of liquor, received legal sentences imposed Wednesday by Judge J. L. Hodges, under which Turner will serve six months in jail and will pay $200 fine; Kelly, six months, four months in jail and pay $400 fine. The accused men were arrested Dec. 26, 1925, on charges of violating禁酒令 in a cache near where the accused men's car was standing when the arrest was made. Both, when the first filled bottles of liquor and beer under the front seat of the car, according to the officers, also was arrested in evidence.

Prosecutors failed to offer the fact that the man had made some resistance when he was arrested.

Why Studebaker Rates on Time Purchases are Lowest

Three years ago Studebaker utilized its vast resources to enable any Studebaker dealer to sell cars on fair and liberal rates to those who buy out of income

And today no car in the world offers lower rates to the time purchaser than Studebaker

Financing rates which most competitive cars cannot approach are made possible by these 5 factors:

1 Stability of Studebaker with one hundred million dollars of net assets, no bonded debt and no bank loans—assurance that no Studebaker will ever become an orphan.

2 Depreciation cut to a minimum by Studebaker's "No-Yearly-Models" policy.

3 Intrinsic worth of the Unit-Built Studebakers which makes them stay sold.

4 One-Profit prices which mean that the purchaser has an equity so substantial that he will not sacrifice it.

5 Re-Sale value maintained by the popularity of Certified Studebakers sold under the famous Studebaker Dealers' Pledge on Used Car Sales.

THESE five factors constitute the basis on which banks of the United States generally provide credit at lowest rates for the buyers of Studebaker cars.

This low-cost-credit-is-placed at your disposal through the Industrial Acceptance Corporation, which is engaged exclusively in financing the sale of cars, now and used, through Studebaker dealers.

Before you buy any car out of income

(whether it is in the field of the Standard Six Coach at $1100 or the Big Six Sedan at $2245), find out exactly how much of your total payment is for the car itself, and how much for interest, insurance, brokerage, etc.

Then get the corresponding Studebaker figures and ask yourself why you should pay out money for the sheer blue sky of excess financing rates.

HANSEN FAVORS FARM PLANNING

Suggestions of E. R. Bennett Extension Horticulturist at Corn Show Bring Results.

HANSEN. Jan. 6 (Special to The News)—Owners of at least four farm homes in this community, it was learned this evening, expect to enter upon five-year projects for remodeling of their houses and homes, according with suggestions for attainment of efficiency and beauty presented at second day's sessions today of Hansen's third annual corn show, for which E. R. Bennett, extension horticulturist, Mr. Bennett has agreed to give his personal assistance in the undertaking, and expects to visit this community three or four times during the planning this year period for this purpose.

"Estimation that is found by millions in farming, as an average, Mr. Bennett suggested ought to be the portion of men and women engaged in farming for their living."

"Unless you are interested in farming and like it," he advised, "the sooner you get off the farm the better."

He suggested plans for increasing efficiency of the farm and making the farm home more comfortable, both in terms of comfort and in the addition of shrubs and flowers and by adding successive improvements to the farm in accordance with a well defined plan.

COUNTIES GET FOREST FUNDS

Uncle Sam Pays Taxes; Minidoka Area Makes Available Total of $6,531.03

Some time around February 1, Twin Falls is to receive a visit from what is known as the "seed" man, to assist the citizens in the growing of various kinds of seed.

ODDEN, Jan. 6.—The Minidoka national forest made available for distribution to the counties in which it is situated during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, $6,531.03 divided as follows: Custer, $1,259.35; Twin Falls, $1,026.40; and Minidoka, $3,245.28.

Each year 25 percent of the money received by the national forests is turned over to the state in which the forest is located and is used for the planting of trees upon national forest lands.

According to the law it is to be expended for tools and schools, roads, fire protection, timber cutting, etc., but the state, which includes Minidoka, among the counties receiving funds, has no such expenses.

EXTENSIVE CHANGES IN STORE ARE ANNOUNCED

Extensive changes which will result in an entirely change in the interior of the local store of W. H. Wright and Sons, experts in antiques and fine furniture, will be made in the store, which will be repainted and redecorated, following a recent trip to Twin Falls a few days ago by C. A. Wright, general manager, and party.

The entire interior will be repainted and the walls will be repapered, great care being taken of convenience to customers and at the same time permit of a more effective display of stocks, Wright said.

The party will visit the company's other stores at Rupert, Idaho Falls and Pocatello. Mr. Wright will be in Twin Falls county to attend the opening of the new store at the top of the hill stands at the top of the hill.

CANAL COMPANY ISSUES SET OUT IN REGULATIONS

Committee Completes Report For Submission to Stockholders; Dealing With Finances, Water Loss and Seepage.

Resolutions which are to be submitted to the stockholders of the Twin Falls Canal company at an annual meeting to be held here next Tuesday were completed at a meeting here Wednesday of the members of the resolution committee appointed at the stockholders' meeting last Saturday. The committee's report, reported on the part of its members during the past several weeks and consideration of many suggestions and recommendations offered by various water users.

Recommendations

It expresses opinion that "by strict regulation and control of drilling the several types of mining operations can be so managed as to justify the hope that our maintenance rate may not at any time hereafter exceed $100,000 per annum." It further urges that the amount may soon be substantially reduced. It urges extra and continuous efforts toward eradication of various wells.

Placing Debt

We are opposed to a continuance of the practice of erecting a floating debt for the payment of interest on the loss of irrigation water taken from the lower river and see that the same will be placed against the user thereof and not against the company.

It calls for vigorous effort for completion of drainage system of wells for individual and further drilling by the company unless land owners first pay or give proper and adequate security for payment of principal and interest on the portion of the cost of reclamation which is to be met by the company.

It urges the directors to take prompt and effective steps to ascertain the loss of irrigation water taken from the lower river and to point where it is taken from the river and see that the same will be placed against the user thereof and not against the company.

It declares against drilling by enacting a floating debt in the form of short time notes and recommends that this debt be funded "through the medium of a sinking fund payment in equal annual installments, bearing over a period of not exceeding 10 years at the lowest interest rate obtainable."

It calls for payment of interest on bank deposits.

It recommends the directors for inclusion in the budget for this year "an amount sufficient to be adequate for assistance in reduction of water-tapped lands and prevention of such wells."

It calls for action to stop waste of water in sink holes caused by the newspapers of the county at the class of each directors' meeting a prepared statement setting forth the business transaction and that meeting which, in their judgment, will be of general public interest."

The text of the resolutions is as follows:

Whereas an assessment of two dollars per acre has been levied as maintenance charge for the coming season, which is a considerable increase over what we have been compelled to pay in recent years;

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that we regret that conditions are such as to cause the incorporation of the directors to do less than the inherent duty of economy, and believe that by strict economy and the securing of efficiency the expense of operation of our affairs can be so managed as to justify the hope that our maintenance rate will not at any time hereafter exceed that now fixed and the further hope that it may soon be substantially reduced.

The menace of noxious weeds and particularly, Canada Thistle and wild mustard, is a terrible pest and a matter which pertains especially to the welfare of the company, yet it affects our stockholders in so vital a manner and gives rise to a question whether it can not urge the stockholders to make every effort he just forth for the eradication of these and other harmful weeds and command the action of our board of directors to do so during the past session in that behalf.

Transmision Losses

Where a loss is sustained in transmission of water through our franchise Jackson lake, which loss is to the river the river is Blackfoot has heretofore been ascertained and borne by the users of water, and the amount of transmission loss, to the extent must exist below Blackfoot but such loss is now borne entirely by this company.

Now, therefore, be it resolved that our board of directors be and they are hereby urged to take prompt and effective steps to ascertain the loss of Jackson lake storage water from the lower river and see that the same is charged against the users thereof and not against the company.

Wells Drilling

Whereas this company has in previous years engaged in drilling domestic wells and carried on reclamation work, and whereas the same is a valuable asset to the community in the aggregate to a considerable amount, now outstanding, the collection of which is doubtful and, if lost, the July will be to the prejudice of those stockholders who have not had the time to attend the annual meeting of the board of directors.

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that we insist upon vigorous efforts for the collection of these claims in order that the members may, if possible, close without loss.

Be it further resolved, that we strongly oppose the further drilling by the company of domestic wells for individual and further drilling by the company of watershed land under the land owners first pay or give proper and adequate security for payment of principal and interest on the portion of the cost of reclamation which is to be met by the company.

NEWS OF THE DAY AS TOLD WITH PICTURES

RUINED BY FLYING EMBERS—The First Presbyterian Church, Waynesburg, Pa., was one of fifty structures razed in a blaze that caused the death of four firemen and $1,000,000 loss. (International Newsreel)

HONORED IN BRONZE—Near the house where he wrote "The Scarlet Letter," the memorial statue to Nathaniel Hawthorne was unveiled on the Common at Salem, Mass. (International Newsreel)

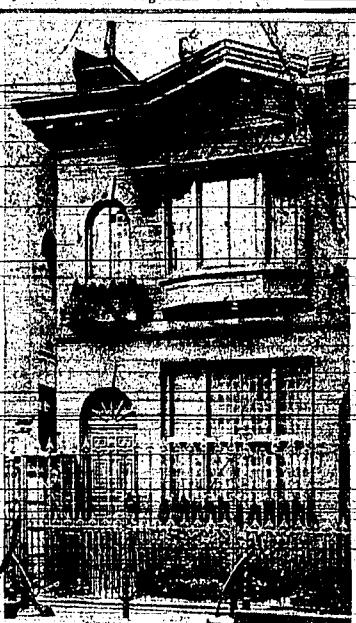

NEW TYPE OF RETOUCHER—Spraying make-up on an actress's face is the latest. The completed job is done faster and better and lies more smoothly. A little powder, applied by hand, is the finishing touch. (International Newsreel)

IN THE LAND OF ETERNAL YOUTH—William J. Connors, Buffalo millionaire, is spending the winter at Miami. So is the flapper young woman by his side, Fanny Ward, the actress, whose years are not so many less than Mr. Connors's, but whose pulchritude is that of a girl in her teens. (International Newsreel)

THIS ROUND-UP—Rock-Nash, better known at Washington as "Young Wilt Rogers," lassoed a likely-looking bunch of fillies who are ladies of the ensemble in "Uncle Sam's Follies," the annual musical comedy offered by Federal circuits. (International Newsreel)

NO STALL ABOUT THIS—It was once the home of thoroughbreds and harness jumpers and trotters, but it is now the palatial residence in East Thirty-sixth street, New York, of J. K. Mitchell, millionaire. (International Newsreel)

IN THE BARREL—His neck means nothing to John Connors, of Boston, who nonchalantly leaps six feet into a barrel while blindfolded. He challenges the world to duplicate his stunt. (International Newsreel)

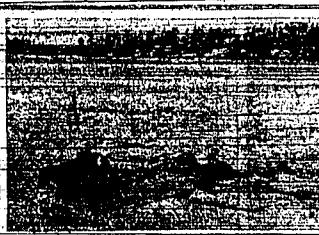

CARPENTERING PAYS—Mrs. Florence Worden is the first full-fledged carpenter in a Miami suburb. With her hammer and saw she supports herself and sends her son through a Southern military academy. (International Newsreel)

FEMALE MORGAN—Mme. Seno, at seventy, is head of a bank in Tokyo, and is considered one of the keenest financiers in Japan. (International Newsreel)

REALTOR—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of the oil king, addressed the Real Estate Men's banquet in Chicago, where her property holdings are vast. (International Newsreel)

IN THE NICK OF TIME—Just as this fisherman was going down for the third time under the ice off Stockholm's Passerby Cove he dragged him forth from the icy water, saving him. (International Newsreel)

Germany Now Holds Third Place Among Nations in Sports

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Germany has risen to third place among European nations in sports, which is called the "white sport," the winter games in which Norway and Sweden are admitted to the lead. More than twenty nations and international ski associations have been organized for January, February and March.

The National Ski association has seventy thousand members with an additional 200,000 junior memberships. There are also about 150,000 memberships totaling 120,000. In Berlin there are half a dozen indoor skating rinks, including the largest in the world.

Norway and Sweden still are supreme in ski running, ice hockey and ice skating.

Sightseeing tours of the Bavarian Alps and forest are being conducted through the Alpine specialty of the bunker alpine type airplane of the Junker aircraft company.

Pour-skiing tourist services have been organized by the Trans-European Union of Munich. Two trips from a 15-minute flight over the city and suburbs to a two-hour trip circling the Zugspitze, the highest peak in Germany, are now available.

It is interesting to note that the Germans do not have to do this more warmly than they do for the street.

Among the more touching manifestations of German patriotic life in Germany was the action of 300 hundred of the Ziegengen family of the state of Hessen. For several weeks preceding the holiday they employed sembling toys for the children in a home for the feeble-minded at Treysa near Cassel, which is entirely maintained by voluntary contributions.

British contributions to the Ziegengen home, founded by first men, is frowned upon by the concert bureaus and artists, who believe that the British public's financial support in the occupied regions is being used for broadcasting and recycling prohibited by the allies during the occupation.

"People flocked to concert halls throughout Germany, and the cost of one of the largest concert programs in Germany," claim a number of point of view looking in the piano room were the first to receive.

ESTIMATING FRANK MUNSEY

In the death of Frank A. Munsey, the publishing business of America loses one of its outstanding figures. There can be no question as to the importance of the position which he filled for so many years. And yet it is interesting to note, in a quiet comment upon the man and the divergent views held with respect to the character of the service which he rendered.

Mr. Munsey was a great publisher in both the newspaper and magazine fields. He was also a great money-maker, and it is probable this latter fact which is responsible for a part of the unfavorable comment. But whatever the reason, it is interesting. Here is a fair example, clipped from the Davenport Democrat:

"Frank Munsey left a very fine will in which he gave large sums to his sister, friends and employers, and they gave the bulk of his millions to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Mr. Munsey had made an impressive fortune in the publication of magazines and newspapers. He did not, however, win many plaudits of praise when he passed from the scene of his activities. In this main, this quiet appeal upon his life follows—the man of the greatest editorial writers of the country, and his very brief comment on Mr. Munsey's death ran as follows:

"Rest in Trust."

Frank Munsey, the great publisher, is dead.

Frank Munsey contributed to the journalism of his day the talents of a match-pocket, the insight of a money-changer and the manners of an underworlder. He and his kind have succeeded in transforming an obscure profession into an expert cult.

May he rest in trust."

Mr. Munsey was a very successful publisher, according to his standards. Mr. White succeeds in pointing this out as successfully as the minister who, lacking anything else good to say about the deceased, had replied to the fact that "It was a quiet exit," or the neighbor who broke his silence on another occasion by saying that "One thing about Jim was that he wasn't always as mean as he was sometimes."

Patriotic Insanity.

The most interesting foreign news nowadays is made in Italy, and just now the big news feature is the wave of Italian imperialism started by Mussolini. It takes the form, at the moment, of an outbreak of Italian feeling against Germany.

A German newspaper organizes itself as "Our Industrial Revolution," and demands control of the South Tyrol and of Trentino, Italy, which leads to central Germany.

A patriotic movement started by an aristocrat named Monfatti sets forth these principles:

"The strength of Italy is in its people."

"The Italian must enter Italy."

"The Italian must enter Italy."

"Italy must enter Italy."

his crowd bring the World War. The Germans come to believe it, and look at Germany now.

The best service that any country can do for itself is to take the spirit of such patriotic nonsense and shut them up in lawless asylum.

PARTICIPATORS

Motorists are becoming pathfinders, remarks an automobile writer.

"During the last year, thousands have shown an inclination to get off the beaten path and explore. While the many improvements made in the motor car, giving it greater dependability and comfort and wider range, drivers do not find roads ready any more. Motorists are beginning to pioneer where a few years ago it was a village of follow-the-leader."

This characteristic is shown increasingly all over the United States, and still more strikingly in Canada and Mexico, where the jowly of good highways gives ample scope for pioneering.

It appears also in uncivilized parts of the world. A notable example is the use of automobiles in the fabled Gobi Desert of Mongolia, a region never traversed except by camel until American archaeologists went exploring there in American motor cars and showed that it could be done.

In this last case, it was nothing but finding that discovered what undoubtedly the oldest and most remarkable record of nomadic life in the world, and originated the most sport of hunting antelope and mountain sheep in touring cars.

Moreover, in that expedition, says its leader, it was discovered that the Gobi Desert is not the lone, lop-waste it has been supposed to be, but is the region of the geographical last word in the Great American Desert. There are Andes regions where water for irrigation can be found at a depth of only 15 feet. And there are in many other quarters of the world, remarks Mr. Aspinwall, American Indians are destined to play the role played by "The Covered Wagon" in the pioneer development of this continent.

CHAPTER I

Dick was alone, and looking out at the sea.

"I'm not used to being alone," he said, "but I'm not used to being alone."

He had been alone since the day he came to the Arctic.

"I'm not used to being alone."

He had been alone since the day he came to the Arctic.

"I'm not used to being alone."

He had been alone since the day he came to the Arctic.

"I'm not used to being alone."

He had been alone since the day he came to the Arctic.

"I'm not used to being alone."

CHAPTER II

About the shabbiest trick that fate can play on us is to bring us into the world with a silver spoon in the mouth, and then, when we grow accustomed to it, change it into cheap powder metal. It leaves an unpleasant taste for years after, and some never quite get rid of it.

Dick looked at the white piece of pasteboard thrust into his hand.

"And I don't know anything worse," he said.

Nevertheless, all that afternoon and evening the fancy clung to him that his future was in some way inexplicably mixed up with his father's old yacht and the girl with the silver spoon.

She had been his mother's pride, his joy, his delight, his everything.

WHEAT RALLIES DURING THE DAY

Predictions of Larger European

Purchases of Breadstuff
Sends Grains Upward.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Predictions of larger purchasing of wheat for Europe during the remainder of this year had more or less to do today with a 1% rise in market prices up four cents higher from yesterday. The parts of better domestic demand for flour were also a factor. The wheat market closed strong. "It's not the case that there is no demand," said one. "The price is up 1% to 1.55. Corn finished at 1.2 to 5¢ advance; oats virtually unchanged and rice, after varying from 10¢ decline to 2¢ rise.

Contrasting with the late upward swing of their wheat market was general opposition trend in the first half of the day. As far as the degree of this temporary weakness was concerned, the fact that relative strength of European quotations had failed to bring about any actual buying here at the start, in the course of the day, some leading empanelled houses were active showed that support for the market was not poor. Meanwhile, it is evident that importers made every effort to get up holdings at various fixed limits in order to stop losses were forced into operation.

At the end of the trading session, developed after talk became current that Wall Street was skirmishing for another big bond material and that another one was likely to be won in Steleia, Indiana, where it was was simultaneously going on that wheat acceptance from Shanghai and Hong Kong might prove to be the beginning of expected broader foreign demand.

Commodities houses turned to the buying and the market closed at near record levels.

Corn and oats were upheld by the restricted movement of the corn crop and by reports that reductions in the number of hogs slaughtered through December. Most deliveries of provisions reflected eductions in prices and in current market prices.

Cats Permitted to Roam at Will in London, Court Says

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The right of a cat to roam at will in the court of an English judge has ruled that the owner is not responsible for keeping his feline pet from home and can not be compelled to pay legal expenses that fall prey to the feline intruder.

London reporters watch the case with interest. They point out that English civilization and law had not along quite comfortably since the Norman conquest without deciding that it was safe to let cats prowl forthwith to consider the question of issue, which he said "has a man's full rights to roaming."

He decided in the affirmative and declared that the Duke of Wellington, buckler and sword, had the value of eight hundred pigeons and two lambs. Buckle owned the pigeons and the Duke the lambs.

There is bad news for the law, however, from Sir William Gopin, one of England's most famous artists, for the boys, and girls, and Greenwich Village, Monte Carlo and similar places, give us most of the entertainment, according to "Liberator," and determining atmosphere for artistic careers.

Sir William asserted that he can no longer afford to work more than 12 hours of straight on his feet, sleep less than he goes to bed, eat no dinner, and sleep through until the next morning. That he has now decided to give up his art, and mind is clear and air body rested. In the late afternoon he walks in Hyde park.

Leavers of Opera in England have formed a national opera trust in order to raise by popular subscription a fund of $50,000 pounds ($25,000) to support the legitimate opera companies in England. The chairman of the board is head of the board of trustees and local committees will be formed in all parts of the country.

Opera is open to a tremendous audience in England. Not only does the state offer no assistance, as is done in many European countries, but the government collects large sums from the public through the income tax. Grand opera always draws good houses but the cost of production is so great that the subsidy disappears.

The half-way house seems to want to live up to the English taste.

There was an effort to set up a half-way house in the time of Queen Victoria and it was given up as unprofitable.

Those were the days of collectors. Gifts of every sort were heeded together in houses with the result that Marborough House had much of the money collected.

In this fare he is on the stage nearly all of the chief causes of depression in British business. At least that is the opinion of Sir Hugh Jones, the celebrated financial lawyer.

"Men and employers must put their backs into it and work at the need," said Sir Hugh. "I am not in favor of the Labor Exchange clubs." "My young days there was no leaving the office on Friday and coming back Tuesday morning."

Clementine Dunn, novelist and drama critic, has started writing to women that they can not brush up half-penny coins in exchange for other they start to work if they expect to compete with men.

In an address to the girls of Tonbridge County, she urged them to compete with men in every way possible and conserve every bit of energy they hope to win success in a world where there are many employments who are exacting most hard and wholesome systems.

Gill Griffith has taken Edwin Hall into his confidence, telling him of life in the Old West, and the world he had helped to make a better place to live in.

Col. Dempster, W. C. Johns, James Kirkwood, and Harrison Ford, are in a highly gripping picture, thrilling all the spectators.

Exciting is the action of the plot which sweeps through gripping scenes of romance, Justice and murder, reaching a Climax in a suspenseful cyclone, which ends in the spiritized acting of the chief characters, and dominated at all times by the master hand of Griffith.

With its sympathetic eye, Ford impresses the audience with his manly-minded phase of a hardened little flapper's complex nature. His father's death and his mother's absence, Marbles and weeping though he is, there something lovable and pathetic about him. Harrison Ford's interpretation of justice and law is the best thing he has ever done and James Kirkwood plays the role of the uncompromising, plucky attorney, the greatest hero of New England conscience with admirable restraint and whole-souled zeal.

In the matter of confirmation of confirmation thereof from the bodies of county commissioners.

After the consideration of the request for cancellation of certain taxes against W. G. Nevin, trustee and collector, the board agreed and the clerk instructed to notify the treasurer of such action. This order covering the cancellation, came requested by the board on January 1, 1925, file number 20027, presented by
