(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—The northeastern section of the United States tonight was digging itself from under the heaviest snowfall that fell this winter.

SIXTEEN MINERS ARE TRAPPED BY FLAMES IN MINE

Entrance to Coal Property Sealed in Effort to Put Out Fire so Work Toward Rescue May Continue.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 4 (AP)—The south entry of Herring Mine No. 4 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal company in which 16 men were captured by an explosion yesterday will remain tonight sealed in an effort to extinguish the fire which prevents all attempts to reach the men. Mine and rescue officials planned to keep the mine sealed for at least twenty-four hours, after which an entry will be cut and the fire pum under control. Further efforts to rescue the men will be made on the remote possibility that some may still be alive.
All May Be Saved
The general opinion, however, is that the sixteen men left in the workings have met the fate of three of their fellow workmen whose bodies were recovered last night. The faint ray of hope that all have not perished rests on the fact that several men were seen working in the mine on the night of the explosion. It is believed that they could be saved if they could be reached.

SEVENTEEN PLANS TO CREEP UP ON TAX BILL

Upper House to Meet an Hour Earlier in Effort to Get Reduction Measure Out of Way in Agreed Time.

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—After a seven-hour session tonight, which it was expected would result in the cancellation of the tax reduction bill, the senate tonight voted, 44 to 15, to meet an hour earlier in the morning to speed up the work.
"Completing the first work of work on the changes in the tax bill is the most serious fight impending against provisions reported by the Finance Commission."
Publicity Campaign
Consideration of one of these controversial proposals—repeal of the provision in the present law allowing publication of amounts of income tax payments—was begun today. The proposal to report the amount of income tax returns, which has been a controversial matter, remains to be taken up.
The publicity fight began only a short time before the day's debate ended with an amendment by Senator Norris to report the amount of income tax returns open to public inspection.
Agree to Change
Prior to taking up this proposal, which Senator Coughlin supported, the senate agreed to several changes in the tax reduction bill. The bill, amended by the finance committee, one of these would exempt life insurance companies from the 12 1/2 per cent excise tax already voted by the bill in the senate.
The exemption was allowed because the companies could not take advantage of the proposed reduction of the capital stock levy. Senator King, democrat, Utah, protested against the favorable treatment of the insurance companies.

World Built Up

"We are not satisfied in an effort to tear down, but rather to build up," he added. "In a word, an amendment to the law is not to violate it, but rather to make it workable. The prohibition is in which we live."

Senator Hill told his audience that to legalize the sale of beer and light wine would be to return to the country the position which it has held since the prohibition law was enacted. He said that the country would be worse than it is now if such a change were made.

WOMAN SILENT ON WILL SUIT

DENVER, Colo., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Beyond the assertion that she and her sisters who are suing for a portion of the $50,000,000 estate of the late Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, will get "our fair share," Mrs. Adelle Clark Miller, who was living in the humble suburban residence here, remained silent tonight on the suit filed in Denver, Montana, several weeks ago. The women say they are Clark's legitimate daughters.

Earlier in the day, however, she admitted her identity to reporters and said her mother, whose maiden name was Kate Brooks, and Clark, were married in St. Joseph, Mo., about 1899. Later he married Kate L. Stauffer, stated in Who's Who in America, as his first wife. Mrs. Miller declared, and said that Clark had refused to recognize his first wife and three daughters after he became wealthy.

Her statements, however, conflict with those of the late Senator's copiering Montana associates, who say he was a resident of Montana in 1899 and in that year married Miss Stauffer. "When the paper comes," she said, "we will prove that our mother was Mr. Clark's first wife, that we are his daughters, and that we are entitled to a share in the estate."

SEGO

Richer than Cream in "Whole-Milk" Richness

CREAM is rich in only one food element of milk—butterfat. Sego Milk is extra rich in all the food elements of milk—in butterfat and in the bone and tissue building substances that cream does not contain.

That is what we mean by "whole-milk" richness. It is the quality that makes milk nature's most perfect food.

As Cream—Use Sego Milk undiluted. It does the things you want cream to do—gives fine consistency and flavor to your food.

In coffee, ice creams, and desserts—in all cream uses—Sego Milk provides the "whole-milk" richness for which there is no substitute.

For Milk Uses—Dilute Sego Milk to suit any need. It still has the "whole-milk" richness—contains all the food elements of milk in their natural proportions—is never like the bottom half of the bottle—skimmed milk.

In cream soups, creamed vegetables—in all cooking—the "whole-milk" richness and clean purity of Sego Milk gives substance and flavor that nothing else can give.

Sterilized in sealed containers, every drop uniformly rich in "whole-milk" richness, Sego Milk's "nature's most perfect food" in cleanest form.

Sego Milk costs less than half as much as cream—extra-rich milk, costs no more than ordinary milk.

Ask your grocer for Sego Milk. You'll like it for everything.

Recipe book will be sent free upon request.

MUCH DEBATE ON FRENCH MEASURE

First Article of Financial Bill Would Force Citizens to Declare Earnings.

PARIS, Feb. 4 (AP)—The first article of the financial measure passed by the chamber of deputies today made it obligatory for every person in France having an income to declare the amount under oath. The number of such declarations, it is estimated, would be about 25,000,000 and strict application of this law would mean a complicated mass of documents.

No sooner had the article been read, however, than it was held up to a considerable number of workers and farmers from its provisions.

Small Army Needed

M. Doumer, the finance minister, said it would be impossible to apply such a measure without instituting a new system of additional functioning. The government rejected the opposition but the chamber adopted a principle after a declaration in which it was pointed out that there would be a great difference in the value of the tax rates. It is a matter of justice for the people having incomes are unbelievers.

The debate on the article of the finance committee's measure began with article 25, a concession to the workers. It is the article's becoming a law with direct descendants in inheritance.

By a vote of 201 to 225 the chamber decided to continue the financial discussion tomorrow and not take up the electoral reform bill, which is on the calendar.

This is interpreted in the habit of the chamber to give a breathing spell.

Animals That Possess Keen Senses of Humor

Animals vary greatly in disposition. Some are kind, some cross, some are naturally and good, others are mean and ill-tempered. You could not possibly imagine a sloth smiling or a bullock indulging in a practical joke, but some monkeys, however, possess a sense of humor. A jackdaw and magpie have a distinct if crude sense of humor. The writer has seen a parrot whistle and imitate the whistles of his master. When the dog arrived the parrot went off into a peal of laughter and the hoaxed animal slung away with its tail between its legs. This used to happen almost every day. Another parrot once succeeded in making a trainload of people believe that they had run over a child. Another crisis followed by low moaning (rang out from beneath the wheels. A monkey aboard ship used to amuse itself in the cook's absence by turning on the water taps in order to enter the cook's fury when he found the water running all over the floor. A monkey in the London zoo tried the experiment of tying together the front and hind tails of two other monkeys, and there was a real grin on his face as he joyfully watched the entertainment they provided. Seals are playful, walrus are very solemn. An elephant has a shy sense of humor, but a rhinoceros is stupid. It is a odd, too, that while monkeys have a strong sense of humor, pigs have none.

"Mark" Old Coin

Mark was an old English term for a money of account, originating in the Fourth century and being valued at $5.38. The Scotch mark or mark of the Nineteenth century was worth $4.2. The mark was also used as a weight in several parts of Europe, being divided into 24 parts.

DON'T dose a child for a cold. You may upset the little one's stomach. Get the use what thousands of mothers have learned to depend upon—the simple rub Vicks' VapoRub over the child's throat and chest at bedtime and get the benefit of its two-fold action:

- (1) Direct to the inflamed air passages, loosen the mucus, relieve the throat by the body heat, and
- (2) Direct through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain.

Flattery's Power

An Englishwoman declares that she has never yet met a man she couldn't get round by judicious flattery. "It doesn't matter," she says, "how hard and elaborate a man is, he can't resist the voice of flattery. Sooner or later he begins to puff and is ready to get out of your hand. "You are ever with words," I sneered. "But I'll not be fooled. What have you to say of your own?"
