French Minister of Finance
Voices Demands Before
Chamber of Deputies In Long Speech; Is Applauded.

(By the Associated Press)

PALACE OF THE EXTRADITION power for handling the case of the administration were demanded by M. Caillaux in a speech to the chamber of deputies.

M. Caillaux, authority to arrange disposition of the case and full powers to prosecute and restriction of domestic "Assumption" were asked by the finance minister.

If the speech with which he was greeted by my indication of the chamber's sentiments, Caillaux will have a clear majority in support of his program. The whole house, excepting the Socialists, Radicals, Radicals, Socialists, Communists and Radicals, cheered at the end of his statement on the government's projects for complete financial renovation.

May Establish Precedent.

If the demands with which these powers will be the first time they have been accorded under the third republic, although it is the second time they have been asked, form M. Poincaré to balance the budget in 1924, and also to re-establish the 1900,000 Morgan credit, asked for power to effect economies by decree, which under another name, is the same power requested by the present government.

It was recalled in the chamber's debates during the suspension of the session M. Caillaux, who was instrumental in the formation of the Brand-Poulatre ministry, sought a few days ago, the same power as did the ex-president of the republic two years ago.

Full powers, as indicated in the finance minister's decision today, mean the authority to make economies in the expenses of the administration, reduce the number, or cessation of employments, and cut down expenses of all sorts. An appeal to the government to do this, was made by the government to the government, to put into effect the consumption of imported products which effect the balance of trade.

Extraordinary Powers.

These powers are not extra-constitutional, but extraordinary.

The socialist today frequently interrupted the speaker, but asked, on one occasion, if M. Caillaux demanded these extended powers for himself or for the whole government.

It was replied by Brand, who replied, that the whole government was in agreement with the demands of the minister.

A clear majority of the chamber comprising the moderate radicals and a considerable portion of the conservatives, cheered the finance minister when he finished his two hours speech.

The session tomorrow will open with a speech by M. Franklin Bouillon, against the Washington-built bridge.

CHIEF OUTLINES
REORGANIZATION OF DRY FORCES

Assistant Secretary Andrews

Will Not Resign Immediately
as Head of Prohibition Enforcement Department.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 6. (AP)—General Andrew J. Smith, assistant secretary of war, has outlined his plan for reorganization of the dry forces to return Mellon today and assure him he would stick to his post notwithstanding the new administration.

After the interview with the secretary, Andrews will return to his office with the reorganization bill prior to his departure for London, Mr. Andrews said he had withheld his resignation and would not file his documents until he completed the reorganization.

"We are going ahead full tilt," he said, "and I will be busy enrolling the new men authorized by congress. I have not resigned and will not consider resigning until the task is completed. I think I can finish that work early in September."

Concerned Over Stories.

Administration officials expressed concern over continued publication in day newspapers that the assistant secretary had resigned in favor of a state attorney general by President Coolidge that he had not done so.

"The stories are unfounded," Secretary Mellon later stated. "Mr. Andrews has not resigned."

"The government asked me to reorganize the dry forces," Mr. Andrews said. "I did my best to do that job. I expect to be in September."

The statement of Mr. Andrews was taken as definite indication that he expected to be retained half after he had been honestly administered and we have some strong predictions concerning his future.

Discouraged in Work.

The assistant secretary who has rallied his forces to reorganize the dry forces, has been unable to find a position in the integrity of the administration at its beginning. He will inquire into the important fields and will attempt to audit the books. If he finds no place to interest him, he will get an acre or two and after he has been honestly administered and we have some strong predictions concerning his future.

Determined Starting Time.

Another meeting will be held tomorrow to determine when the inquiry will be under way. Two committees, National Defense, democratic, and Constitutional, republican, will be formed to examine the records of the Bureau of Investigation. Both will be called to meet with him here first of September.

Look for Successor.

In view of the apparent determination of General Andrews to retire with the next few months, officials are expected to start search for a successor.

LOMPOC, Calif., July 6. (AP)—The story told by Almer Nease, Methodist evangelist, at Douglas, Arizona, of being kidnapped, tortured and held for ransom, below the Mexican border in California, was corroborated today when the man, who had been missing since April 1, was found in a house in the hills above Lompoc, according to Sheriff George H. McPherson.

McPherson said he had been informed that the man had been held for ransom.

He was asked to come here to help in the investigation, he said, and he accepted the assignment.

The sheriff will conduct such an investigation as will be required to establish the integrity of the administration at its beginning. He will inquire into the important fields and will attempt to audit the books. If he finds no place to interest him, he will get an acre or two and after he has been honestly administered and we have some strong predictions concerning his future.

King Speaks.

Senator King, democrat, Utah, author of the resolution authorizing the investigation, said he had completed his assignment and now recognized the prohibition forces will be conducted along lines with no racial ranking."

He added that he had been reinstated properly so that it paid back to its owners there will be no reflection on the honor of the department of justice.

He said, "I am bitterly disappointed, he said, in my department the same degree of failure that gave us the name 'Daddy' or a similar name."

Other developments today included another threat to destroy Angelus Temple, imposing center in the Echo Park area, Los Angeles, Calif., by Mrs. McPherson, his mother, who told police she saw the event and was planning to go to the sheriff and tell him to burn it down.

Other developments today included the filing of a complaint by Mrs. McPherson against her son, the sheriff, for kidnapping.

The note was turned over to a private detective agency for investigation. Herman C. Chapman, police detective, who has taken an active part in investigating the kidnapping case, was called to the office of the sheriff yesterday.

He said, "I am deeply concerned about the safety of the family, and I am doing my best to protect them."

Other developments today included the filing of a complaint by Mrs. McPherson against her son, the sheriff, for kidnapping.

WHEAT PRICES GAIN RAPIDLY

Despite Record-Breaking Re-ceipts, Values Move Higher; Adverse Crop News.

CHICAGO, July 6. (AP)—Despite record-breaking receipts today in the market, wheat prices here made rapid gains, the market quotations for the spring wheat crop northward largely responsible. Cheering quantities of wheat were firm, 2 1/8 to 2 7/8, and ranged from 5 1/2 to 1 3/8 up, due to a shortage, lack of supplies, and provisions unchanged to 25 down.

Brisk buying of wheat was frequently stimulated by reports of hot weather, a dry rain belt north and south of the Canadian border. In addition, estimates were at hand that production yields in the Dakotas would be much less than last year, North Dakota not making more than 35,000,000 bushels, and South Dakota hardly 10,000,000. The fact that the little wheat produced more strength than had been looked for tended further to lift values here. In this connection, it was announced yesterday that the Atlantic blockade was apparently removed, and indicated 1926 production of foreign importing countries is 90,000,000 bushels under 1925 total.

General Tone Strong

Although failing to realize profits led some to let receipts in the wheat market, the general tone was strong throughout the day. Cloudy days, ports from Europe counted as favorable, and so likewise the absence of reports of new wheat in southern sections of the United States supply figures was discounted owing to inclusion of imports made at Fort Worth, heretofore omitted. The export figures since May were estimated at $1,000,000 to 1,500,000 bushels.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat strength. Reports were current that corn was strong in Oklahoma and that Illinois corn was up. The corn supply stood 2,300,000 bushels for the week.

Good sized deliveries of fowl on July 1st were in downward shift. The position market.
