Senator Trammell, Democrat, Florida, to Propose Withdrawal of American Approval in Coming Session.

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Withdrawal of the senate's ratification of the world court will be proposed at the coming session of congress by Senator Trammell, democrat, Florida, one of those who voted for the resolution of ratification.

This Florida senator said today, he had decided to make such a proposal because of developments in Europe where an international conference was held to convene under the auspices of the league of nations to discuss the world court. He said that the conference was a complete failure and that the reservations which were made by the nations attending were so numerous that the league of nations was unable to reach any agreement.

Neither did Senator Trammell attempt to reverse the full effect of the campaign against the world court. He said that he was not going to propose a resolution of withdrawal until he had had a chance to see the world court in action. He said that he was not going to propose a resolution of withdrawal until he had had a chance to see the world court in action.

Thus far, only five small nations have signed the world court. These are the United States, France, Great Britain, Italy and Japan. The United States is the only one of these nations which has not yet ratified the world court.

DOCTOR ELIOT.

A few days ago announcement was made of the death of Dr. William Eliot, for forty years President of Harvard University and one of the foremost educationalists of the world.

His contributions to progress were of a kind which appeal to the sentimentality of the world. His work was not superficial, from the standpoint of the public as a whole.

But Dr. Eliot lived a life which played a part which must ever be regarded as notable. He was a reformer whose reforms were based upon hard common sense.

Some years ago Dr. Eliot undertook an analysis of literature in an effort to select the few best books, the reading of which would amount to an education.

During the year, Dr. Eliot wrote numerous articles and books, many of which were published in the Atlantic.

At seventy-seven, Dr. Eliot took a trip around the world. In October, in December, 1911, he was operated on for appendicitis, but notwithstanding his advanced age he regained his full vigor.

President Roosevelt, who was once linked by the "punchline" successor at Harvard, once said: "He is the only man in the world I envy."

RESERVE FUNDS.

There is now general acceptance of the principle that the minimum amount of money to be expended in any fiscal year is not to exceed the amount appropriated by Congress.

PRIZE FIGHT CONTROL.

Jack Dempsey, asking for a license to fight Tom Quinn at New York in September, is told by the state boxing authorities that he can't have it until he fights Harry Wells.

Very likely Dempsey needs a little distance to get his confidence built enough to make him fight somebody a few years later, let the little championship be regarded as a job, like a king's.

The really interesting thing about the matter, however, is the serious way in which pugilism is treated as a public utility. Will there be, eventually, public ownership of prize rings?

CHAPTER XII

The House in the Cedars

Less than half a mile back, along the main road, Laurie found a country garage, in which he left his car. It was in charge of a silent but intelligent person, a somewhat unkempt and heavily middle-aged man, who

Just what that mark might signify was not a problem which stirred Henry Burke's sluggish imagination. Less than twenty hours before his seventh had been born, and his wife was delicate and milk was seventeen cents a quart, and the garage business was not what it had been.

While he was fingeringly lighting a cigarette, Laurie caught a flash of light. Who owned that? He looked back there in the cedar grove, the black overlooking the sound? Burke didn't know. All he knew, and freely admitted, was that he had been there since he himself had come to the neighborhood, "most two years ago."

Laurie strolled out of the garage with a well-worn air of indifference. He was a young man, about thirty years of age, who had been in the position of principal for the past two years.

LASTING QUALITIES ARE AN IMPORTANT FEATURE

Seventy-three years ago, this month, John Mohler Studebaker rolled up his horses before a group of Californians rose from the seat of his "covered wagon"—and announced to the curious throng which had gathered to meet him that he had just completed the trip from Indiana in five months. Eyebrows were lifted in surprise and the crowd pressed closer to inspect more carefully the vehicle which had stood up under the grueling punishment of such a feat in such a short time.

Although history data not record the details of the conversation of the moment, it is probable that the drive explained his feat by "that's no joke—for a Studebaker."

On June 17, 1920, Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City, business man, stepped off the brakes of his Studebaker "Streetiff" and came to a stop before a wildly cheering crowd at the Western Union main office in San Francisco.

Eighty-six hours and twenty minutes from New York to San Francisco, Mr. Jenkins held the record for the time of the fastest continental train. Jenkins slid out from behind the wheel smiling; and remarked, "that's nothing—for a Studebaker."

And just as the miners of the alpine days of '49 pressed forward to inspect

Relative of Dead Man Still Sought

All effort to locate relatives of Harry Johnston, who died at the Twin Falls county hospital last Monday evening following a major surgical operation, have failed. Johnston is claimed to be a relative of the Idaho Mining company of Jarboe, with which he was connected, about 10 years ago was the proprietor of a hotel in Nome, Alaska, and at that time transferred business under the name of Harry Johnston to the company of Harvey and Fred T. Johnston, who have resided in those places some years ago.

Johnston is a man of about 45 years of age, and weighs close to 200 pounds. He is tall, dark, and has a mustache. He is said to have been in the north.

Glenn A. Blum, manager of the mortuary where the body lies, stated Saturday evening that large amount of evidence pointed to the existence of a relative of Johnston in the north.

Motorists Escape Serious Injury

Overhaul of two cars that met in a head-on smashup Saturday evening at 8 o'clock and landed in the ditches running parallel to the main highway about one half of a mile east of Ellet were uninjured. A Buick car owned by W. H. Knis was proceeding westward when it struck an automobile owned by J. C. Knis, and both cars rolled into the ditch, where the larger machine (Buick) completely overtook the Ford and came to a stop resting on its side.

Damage to the Ford was extensive. The larger machine was more damaged. Cause of the accident is unknown.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Woman's crowning glory may be her hair, according to Betty Compton, popular screen star whose most recent picture is the Fox Film production "The Palace of Pleasure" at the Orpheum theatre, hair is but a crown of thorns.

Accordingly, Miss Compton, whose long flaxen tresses have been a subject of admiration since she first came into prominence through her work in "The Miracle Man," has franker the crown and adorned the throne. Which is but a long whined way of saying that Betty has bowed her pretty head to the force of necessity and lashed her hair.

But, let it be known right here, that fashion had nothing to do with the case. Miss Compton has defied the tyrant fashion for several years and would have stood out against the whimses longer had not the requirements

"WATCH YOUR WIFE" AT IDAHO
The Universal Jewel picture, "Watch Your Wife," featuring Virginia Valli and Dan O'Malley, opens a two days engagement tomorrow at the Idaho Theatre. The wife for rent angle is furnished by a domestic service bureau that rents out companions to lonely men. An all-star cast are in support.

The other features of the program are an educational Mermaid comedy "Lucky Split," the Idaho First-15 Grams and "Whims at the Wurlitzer" in an organ-overture playing "A We'll O' Neath" as well as the musical interpretation of the pictures.

SCENES CHANGE IN ALAMO CITY

San Antonio, Once a Spanish Settlement, Bows to Progress of Civilization.

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 27. (AP)—Once a Spanish settlement and later a frontier town in the heart of the great southwest Texas cattle country, historic San Antonio has bowed to the progress of American civilization. The Alamo city no longer is the wild-west town that it was once, but is now a city of the twentieth century. The coming of industry and increasing population have changed the atmosphere that was peculiarly hers in another century. San Antonio today is much the same in custom and station as any large American city, as evidenced by the reaction of the populace to "flunkies" from the rapidly diminishing west.

Vestiges of Past Pading
An aged horseman in cowboy garb, at the end of a long journey, guides his steed down the left side of the city's main thoroughfare, dodging automobiles, while after-theatrical crowds pause to stare at this man strange sight. An old Mexican in a dhoty and a heavily bearded Mexican, an intersection against the red traffic light, and adds to the carries of hurrying motorists.
The ringing of traffic bells, the clanging and grinding of street cars, and the humming of automobiles read the air at a busy downtown intersection a few yards from the little buildings where O. Henry lived and wrote some of his stories.

"Six-Gun" Policemen.
The best marksmen with "six-shooters" are now on the sheriff's force and in the police department. Two gun men among the civilians are unknown. In a person publicly displaying a revolver is found to have one in his pocket without permit he is certain to be arrested.

The narrow streets of Spanish-Mexican village days are being widened. Old buildings are being razed and the architectural pride of the city now are large and beautiful structures.

On the "west side," as the Mexican quarter is known, are many small, unpainted shacks which serve as homes just as they did decades ago. But most of the Mexicans have been Americanized. They give into deprecant automobiles and mix in city and wear (with) with the humanness of San Antonio's world-to. The girls and youths affect the same style adopted by the Nordic Americans, and all in all, it is similar to the crowded downtown sidewalks in the north.

The luncheon and civic clubs have taken hold. Seven in number, they include virtually all of the city's business and professional men.

Drinks Now Soft.
San Antonio in the old days was noted for the number of its saloons. Now soft-drink stands flourish in great numbers. Main Plaza, where, years ago, cowboys hitched their horses while they "loafed" glasses in barrooms. Now is congested with dozens of parked automobiles.

One custom of yesterday remains—that of laboring with rain. But some footpaths are counterbalanced by fast automobiles.

WOOL DEMAND BECOMES MORE GENERAL; PRICES ARE SLIGHTLY BETTER

BOSTON, Aug. 28. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin said today:

There is a more general and a broader demand for wool, with a consequent slight strengthening in values, perhaps 1/2c for the week. Medium wools are relatively heavier at the moment but there is a decidedly good demand for the finer qualities. Mostly the call is for domestic wools, but some interest is shown also in foreign lines.

Not only do the reports from the wool market indicate a more active demand, but substantial sales of recent orders on heavy weight season goods, but the business is unprofitable, for raw materials reflects the improvement in goods quite strongly.

The foreign markets are in better shape than they have been for a long while. With the miners going back to work in England in large numbers, the industrial situation in Great Britain is much better and this has been reflected in better business in wool and wool textiles with higher prices prevailing. Mohair is steady and moderate demand.

The fall and winter shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1925, to August 20, 1926, inclusive, were 124,819,000 pounds against 112,862,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1925, to August 20, 1926, inclusive, were 271,025,057 pounds as against 256,731,800 pounds for the same period last year. The following quotations appear in the Commercial Bulletin:

GIVES DETAILS OF NEW OFFER OF POWER PLANT

Barry Dibble Explains Scheme Under Which He and Associates Will Supply Municipally-Owned Electricity.

to the people of Twin Falls is set out by Barry Dibble to supply a privately owned electric light and power plant to the people of Twin Falls is set out in a good deal of detail in a letter addressed to the Mayor and City Council yesterday.

According to the letter all present light and power rates will be cut 25 per cent, with cooking, air heating and water heating rates left as they are now.

A bond issue of a million dollars is to be put up by the city, but these bonds are to be secured only by a first lien upon the proposed new plant and the income therefrom, and will not be a tax lien on any city property. Two hundred and sixty-six thousand dollars is set as the price at which the city might reasonably hope to acquire the present plant and property of the Idaho Power company.

The letter in full follows:
Gentlemen:
We have suggested the delay that has occurred in working out a plan by which we could undertake in a feasible Twin Falls with a municipally owned power system. However, we are now in a position to make you a definite proposal of which we believe meets the various questions that have been discussed with you. We trust that it will be entirely satisfactory to you and to the Twin Falls people. To put the matter briefly, we offer to enter into a contract under which we will agree:

(a) To purchase for the city under the option given by William H. Hazen and Louis H. Hazard, to Barry Dibble on June 17, 1926, the Clear Lake Power rights and the real property appurtenant thereto as described in the option. To purchase directly or through condemnation proceedings, if needed by the city such other property as may be necessary for the municipal development and operation of the power plant.

Site at Clear Lake
(b) To construct or cause to be constructed for the city, a works, pipe lines, and a hydroelectric power house with a turbine capacity of 4000 horse power, together with a suitable substations adjoining the power house.

(c) To construct a 14,000 volt three phase transmission line using a single-circuit wire strung for power house to a substation located in Twin Falls.

(d) To construct such other 14,000 volt three phase transmission lines as may be found necessary or desirable for interconnection with other systems and existing and to be erected.

All of this work will be done in accordance with specifications to be accepted and the property delivered in the city ready for operation.

City's Share in Work.
The contract will provide that the city will promptly begin and carry to completion negotiations of condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of the station, distribution system and such appurtenant rights and property of the Idaho Power Company as may be necessary in supplying electricity to customers now supplied by the Idaho Power company from its Twin Falls substation and that the city shall obtain good title in this property. We will provide the city with funds up to $200,000 in any for the property of the Idaho Power company. Since it is impossible to definitely ascertain in advance the price that will be paid the Idaho Power company for its property, it is proposed that we will settle and purchase the power bonds to the amount of $200,000 for this purpose. Should the value of the Idaho Power company be determined to be less than $200,000, the surplus bonds will be returned to the city.

It is estimated that the cost of the completed system will be covered by a bond issue of $1,000,000, secured by the income of the power system and a first mortgage lien thereon. The bonds will be a first lien on the property in the city. These bonds will be accepted by us in full payment for the construction work which we will do, and the money which we will furnish. Although $200,000 is regarded as a liberal allowance for the Idaho Power company property, yet in order to be absolutely safe it will be wise to provide that should the value be determined to be more, then the city will loan such other income securities as may be necessary to meet the excess payment due the Idaho Power company.

It will, of course, be necessary that the bonds issued by the city be passed by our attorneys as valid, and it will be expected that the city will carry through such procedure as our attorneys may direct. It may be assumed that the bonds will bear six per cent interest, and that a sinking fund will be set up to repay all the bonds within 20 years, 20th year bonds being repaid by making the required annual allowance for interest and sinking fund also out of the original face value of the bond issue, or $200,000 per year.

For the protection of the bond buyers and all concerned, it will be stipulated that until the bonds have been retired, rates will not be reduced below the absolute first agreed upon, such reduction will make the gross revenue less than $170,000 per year. The rates we propose will cut all the cost, leaving the cooking and air heating and water heating rates the same and water heating rates the same as they are now.

We will also agree, in a separate contract, to operate and maintain the power system for a term of years in a good and efficient manner with the understanding that the revenue will be used:

Utilization of Income.
First—To pay operation and maintenance costs.
Second—To pay interest and sinking fund charges on the investment.

Third—To establish a sinking fund of reasonable size.
Fourth—Surplus to be divided semi-annually as follows:

One-third to be held as a reserve to cover depreciation and to be available for investment in extensions and betterments; one-third to be delivered to the city as a dividend or at the city's option added to the sinking fund; one-third to go to the contractor as his management fee and profit.

Yours sincerely,
BARRY DIBBLE.

SCHOOL BELLS SOON TINGING

Knell of Vacation Days to Sound as September Approaches: "Kids" Reluctant.

TRIPP, Aug. 27. (Special to The News).—School bells toll the knell of vacation days as the first weeks of September are heralded by falling leaves, the invigorating tang of autumn air, and most important, the happy-go-lucky days of school. While the children are reluctant to see the end of their vacation, the school attendance has become time-honored expected things from all youngsters, a new note has been in recent years, and it is being evidenced more than ever before.

Many boys and girls wait the clatter of the school bell with honest admissions of eagerness. Idaho schools of today have achieved—happy combination of work and play, and they have been eliminated, interest have been stimulated, and school days have become attractive days. Students here this year finish happily, proud and in all places from the teachers, yet hopeful anticipation of the fall year in the future, renewal of friendships and resumption of work by the admirably mature "youngsters" of the high schools and the higher educational institutions of the state.

Most schools will start the 1928-29 year September 6. All buildings have been completely renovated and repaired, the facilities have been completed, and everything is in readiness for the opening of the year.

Examinations for teachers seeking certificates by endorsement will be held October 2. Miss Elizabeth Rasmussen, state superintendent of public instruction, has announced recently.

A committee to study the Idaho year and educational program and the organization and program of the educational departments of all the states has been organized by E. D. Bloom, Twin Falls, president of the Idaho State Teachers' association, in formation as a result of the survey. The committee will be made up of all clubs and organizations interested in educational welfare and progress.

The University of Idaho opens the 1928-29 college year on Tuesday, September 10. The student body of the population, expected to be the largest and most representative in the history of the state. The balance of the year will be devoted to family meetings, conferences and registration and that see open Monday, September 10.

The full term of the Lewiston State Normal school will start Monday, September 12. Efforts will be made to complete registration the first day that classes may be started on Tuesday, September 12.

Physical fitness means efficient school work. Parents, it is urged by officers of the Idaho State Parent Teachers' association, should see to it that their children are physically fit prior to entrance or resumption of school work. The Idaho Falls Post observes, "If some of the vacation period has not already been devoted to having your children get their bodies in shape, these things should be accomplished in August. This is up to the parents."

Six suggestions have been made by Dr. Frank W. Hallow, superintendent of Washington, D. C., schools. They are: Medical inspection and examination of every pupil entering the public schools; recording of the physical defects found upon examination; correction of defects by doctors, nurses and dentists; and a health training program in the schools; appropriate instruction in health training; a systematic health training program extending through the elementary and high schools; a reasonable insistence placed on the correction of physical defects as one of the requirements from grade to grade and graduation.

SEILS GARTLER, NOW IN KANSAS—WHEAT QUEN?
BURLINGTON, Kan., Aug. 25. (AP).—Gartler, known as the "cattle queen," Mrs. J. A. Watkins now has the title of "wheat queen."

No woman—and few men—planted more acres of wheat or harvested a larger crop than did Mrs. Watkins this year. She owns 1,500 acres of good Kansas land and it is virtually all planted to wheat. Her husband has had time to figure the normal yield, but 50,000 bushels worth at least 40,000 is a conservative estimate.

When Mrs. Watkins' husband died in 1902 he left her a large cattle ranch. For eight years she managed it, buying, breeding, feeding and selling in competition with the best men in the state. She has heard of the possibilities of southwestern Kansas land and slowly but surely she has been buying up cattle ranches and wheat farms, and she has been building up her wheat land holdings.

TWO TINY WHITE FLOWERS
ATLANTA, Aug. 28. (AP).—A tiny white flower, growing in a small garden, was discovered by a young girl on this island of the Aleutian group, near Kodiak, Alaska, when she was 10 years old. The flower was named "Mrs. J. A. Watkins" and it is now being grown in the garden of the state university at Twin Falls.

Wheat Harvest is Ended at Jerome

JEROME, Aug. 28.—The wheat is completely harvested on the north side. At one time, which continued for a week or more, the mills were completely jammed with grain. Although the average yield was not up to normal, a very large acreage was harvested.

A clover crop recently harvested on the north side northwest of Jerome by the Hansen brothers averaged 40 bushels to the acre on a five-acre tract. H. H. Hansen left the last of the week for New Meadows, Idaho, where he will visit relatives.

Construction of a new service station in Jerome is taking place on Main and Locust streets.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Peterson of Jerome, on August 21, a son, to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hansen, at Jerome, Idaho.

W. T. Strickland and family have returned to Jerome from a year spent in Kansas. They made the trip in a car and are glad to be back to home.

Announcements have been received in Jerome of the recent wedding in the state house in Boise of Miss Winifred Keithly of Milwaukee, Idaho, and Mr. L. M. Keithly, formerly of Jerome. Miss Keithly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Keithly and sister of Governor Keithly. Mr. Keithly is employed by the Idaho State Highway Commission. Mr. Keithly is a popular Jerome boy, having made his home and received his education in Jerome. The wedding was held at the state house in Boise, where Mr. Keithly is employed.

Maurice Lamplun has gone to the city of Colorado, where he will attend school.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Robertson and family are enjoying a trip through Yellowstone park.

The Taylor Players, who are fulfilling the school's engagement in Jerome at their last theater here, are leaving for their next tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Cogswell and Miss Mary and Francis Langer, of Jerome, are enjoying a trip in Oregon this week.

O. M. Munson has returned from Idaho Falls, where he spent several months with his family. Mr. Munson is assistant instructor in the Jerome school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abramson left in response to a burial call. Wednesday morning for Salt Lake City when they had received news of the death of Mr. Abramson's mother.

Mr. A. Bishop of Jerome has been appointed to the township committee for the 29th annual convention of the American Fishers' association at Atlantic City, September 29. In the appointment being announced by T. J. Thumacher of Philadelphia, president of the association.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hanks and family were week end shoppers in Twin Falls. Miss Hanks' dress was returned from the summer in Boise.

Miss Hanks was accompanied by her mother, who will spend some time visiting relatives in Jerome, and will return to her home in Boise on Friday.

75 PER CENT OF RESIDENTS IN SASKATCHEWAN FARMERS

REGINA, Sask., Aug. 27. (AP).—Saskatchewan is the biggest farm in the world, in the belief of Hon. J. G. Gardiner, premier. Seventy-five per cent of the province's population lives in rural areas, while the other 25 per cent is composed of city dwellers. It is dependent on farming for its prosperity. There are 416,426 farms in Saskatchewan.

Saskatchewan, with an aggregate acreage of 257,000,000 acres, and Mr. Gardiner. "Average farms in 300 acres, and average area under crop is 200 acres per farm. Gross agricultural wealth of the province is $1,682,478,000. While Saskatchewan produces about 76 per cent of Canada's wheat crop, the largest also go in extensively for diversified agriculture."
