TWO NATIONS IN PERFECT ACCORD

Mussolini and Chamberlain
Discuss Private Questions of International Import.

LUGOHN, Italy, Sept. 30 (AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, and Premier Mussolini clasped hands today aboard the Italian yacht "Giulio Cesare" for more than an hour discussing in private questions of international import.

At the conclusion of their conference they parted with another hearty handshake.

An official communiqué issued subsequently is taken as signifying that Italy and Great Britain are in perfect accord over the international situation and on those problems of Mediterranean hostilities, international and conflicting interests.

SIGNIFICANCE OF MEET.

ROME, Sept. 30 (AP)—Today's conference between Premier Mussolini and Sir Austen Chamberlain at Lughon is looked upon as marking the beginning of the meeting at Thuir between Dr. Stresemann, the German foreign secretary, and M. Briand, the French foreign minister, after Germany was admitted a member of the League of Nations. The Giulio Cesare refers to the meeting as equalling in importance that between Dr. Stresemann and M. Briand, in Imperia, the extreme fascistic meeting of the two nations. The event "means that Rome and London are two names which make people think and hope."

Locarno Pact Guarantees.

The Giulio Cesare recalls that the Locarno pact was guaranteed by Great Britain and France and says that if the present Franco-German agreement should lead to modifications of the treaty of Versailles, this could not come about without the sanction of Great Britain and Italy, both having signatures to the treaty of Versailles and the Locarno pact.

The meeting at Lughon, this paper concludes, shows that the two countries are in perfect accord on other points.

The Lavoro Italia comments:

"Paris and Berlin need not be alarmed over the meeting at Lughon because if the intentions of France and Germany are realized, however, Italy and England both are destined of equitable peace in Europe and would be very glad to collaborate with France and Germany."

"Great Britain and Italy voluntarily pledged themselves to the Locarno pact and to the Versailles treaty; therefore nothing must be done to the detriment of our countries, or even to the detriment of the League. It would not be just that other countries should enjoy guarantees which involved Anglo-Italian responsibilities without corresponding obligations on their part."

PLAN WAR ON WHITE PLAGUE

Scientific and Educational Campaign Against Tuberculosis
Discussed by Speakers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—A scientific and educational war on the tubercular bacillus, which last week took a toll of more than 100,000 lives in the United States alone, was declared yesterday by speakers at the opening of the first conference of the international union against tuberculosis.

Delegates from 22 foreign countries, and more than 1,000 healthy workers from every section of the United States are in attendance.

Secretary Mellon was among speakers addressing the meeting.

Pending development of a useful remedy, Mr. Thornton Smith, president of the union, in his opening address, said, existing hope for successfully combating the disease rests in preventing it from spreading and in removing the human being from birth on infection or ingesting a few bacilli as possible.

Work Among Children.

If the fight against tuberculosis is to be won, it will be largely through work among children rather than adults, was the conclusion of a technical paper presented by Professor G. E. G. Dawson, University of Milan.

Secretary Mellon praised the work of such leaders in the anti-tuberculosis fight as Oster, Dugay, Trudeau, and others who pointed to the reduction in the death rate in the United States from 20.9 per 100,000 in 1900 to 8.1 in 1925 as an indication of the success thus far attained. If the death rate of 1900 had continued, he added, 189,000 persons would have died from the disease in 1925 instead of 26,000.

The secretary asserted he felt ultimate victory in the fight would be achieved by increased educational, sanitary, and medical work.

J. Linton Williams, managing director of national tuberculosis association, said of the success of the Christian service, proceeds from which are used for the eradication of disease, and added: "In 1900, when the fund was started, the sum of $100,000 was the sum it was launched," he said, "but right in

EUROPEAN STEEL COMBINE LOOMS

Producers of Several Countries Enter Agreement to End Competition in Ranks.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 30 (AP)—The steel producers of western Europe have entered into an agreement to form a European steel combine which will put an end to competition within their ranks.

Beginning tomorrow the signatories of the combine—French, German, Belgian, Spanish, and Swiss—will meet in Brussels. The intention is to limit the measure of their capacity to manufacture or to market, but in a fixed proportion agreed on by the steel concern formed.

What effect the regulation on continental production will have upon steel prices remains to be seen. Since neither England nor the United States are participants, they are likely to continue to compete with the European producers. The new force of competition from these two great producers. The only difference will be that they now are in a position to meet this competition collectively.

It is expected that the European producers will be able to stabilize prices by their fixed production.

To Regulate Output.

The annual output of the combining countries will range from a minimum of 20,000,000 tons to a maximum of 30,000,000. The signatories have noted the following percentage of the total production:

Germany, 41.1%; France, 11.1%; Belgium, 11.1%; Luxembourg, 3.3%; Sarre valley, 7.7%.

Belgium's maximum, however, is limited to 235,000 tons, a figure slightly less than the maximum originally accepted by the others on the condition that should the total production exceed 27,500,000 tons, the Belgian industry would be entitled to a larger share.

The others in the combining group of the new steel combine will be Germany, 925,000 tons, France 670,000, Luxembourg, 310,000, and the Sarre 250,000.

Each country is to deposit $1 in a common fund to be used for the manufacture within its allotted percentage.

For each ton produced over and above its percentage, the producing country must pay $4 into the fund. A radius of 10 percent can be paid any time during the year to increase or reduce its allotted percentage of the minimum of 25,000,000 tons.

Under the arrangement, each of the people
